Got That Address Handy?

A Christmas list of military addresses will be printed again this year. Relatives and friends of men and women in the armed forces are asked to submit those addresses to The Wayne Herald between now and the deadline on Nov. 12.

The list, which will be published Nov. 19, will serve as a handy reference for anybody who wants to send cards or gifts to those in the military service. Make sure the address is correct and written plainly. Write "Christmas List" on either the envelope or letter.

State Says County Needs New Signs

Results of a summer survey of Wayne County traffic control signs show the need for a considerable amount of improvement in the county's signs and sign system.

The Traffic Engineering Division of the Nebraska Department of Roads, Lincoln, carried out the statewide survey during the summer to assist counties in determining location for traffic control devices.

Most stop signs are 18 inches wide, or two sizes below the minimum size of 30 inches as suggested by the state. The state engineering division recommends the signs be replaced in that many of them are non-reflectorized and in poor condition.

Crowmen from the state carried out the survey in Wayne County studying location and condition of stop signs, yield signs, curve signs, school signs, railroad warning signs and others.

Results of the survey and suggestions for updating present signs have been provided to the county up to an adequate standard for safety purposes.

The survey notes a lack of town direction signs in the county and also suggests a few changes be made relating to slow signs and dead end signs.

At a future date, the Bureau of Public Roads will withhold county federal aid secondary funds for road construction from any county that is not in substantial compliance with the plan and the

Rooms for Hunters Wanted

Farmers in the Wayne area with some extra rooms on their places could turn those rooms into money makers this winter. And they could do so at little cost.

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce is asking for farmers in the area who would be willing to house hunters this fall and winter to contact the Chamber office as soon as possible. Reason: letters from out-of-state hunters are already beginning to arrive at the Chamber office. The hunters are requesting information on food and lodging facilities.

Ambassador Title To Wayne Man

J. Alan Cramer, Wayne businessman, was elevated from the rank of Envoy to that of Ambassador during the third annual meeting of the Nebraska Diplomats last week.

A total of 24 men were advanced from Envoy to Ambassador during the meeting, held at Columbus last Thursday night. Another 11 men were named Envoys in the Diplomats.

The Nebraska Diplomats is a group of 150 of the state's business, professional and civic leaders who have pledged to assist the Nebraska Department of Economic Development in a variety of industrial development efforts.

Ambassador is the rank conferred upon those men who have made a minimum of three personal calls on industrialists in other parts of the nation during the past year. Envoy is the beginning rank in the organization.

In reporting on the activities of the Diplomats over the past year, James W. Monroe, Economic Development Department director, said that Envoys and Ambassadors in the Diplomats have contacted 229 companies in 78 cities in 25 states and five foreign countries—all at their own expense.

Voters Must Register For General Election

Deadline for voter registration, before the general election in November, is set at 6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 23.

Norris Welbie, county clerk, said last week that he has made arrangements at the following locations for residents of Wayne County to register to vote if they have never registered, or to re-register if they have moved recently:

- Hoskins: Commercial State Bank between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. except Saturdays.
- Whinside: Village clerk's office from 9 a.m. until noon Monday through Friday.
- Carroll: Farmer's State Bank from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. except Saturdays.

Waverfield: City clerk's office during regular hours.

Wayne: County clerk's office during office hours.

Welbie explained that a new state law requires a person who has not voted in two consecutive

Bang and Crash Heard Often on Slick Streets

Rain, sleet and snow turned Wayne streets into slippery slides and skating rinks for local motorists Thursday and Friday. Wayne police were called to investigate seven accidents involving 15 vehicles during the two-day period.

Hilda Rude, Castana, Iowa, was driving a 1965 Chevrolet headed the wrong way on a one-way street around 1:15 a.m. Thursday on the Wayne State College campus, police said. She collided with a parked 1969 Chevrolet owned by Larry Fuoss; both autos were reported to have over

WS Homecoming Getting in Full Swing

Homecoming activities will keep Wayne State busy this week, with a theme of "United We Stand" conspicuous in the program and decorations.

Coronation of the queen will be the initial event at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Rice Auditorium. As a special feature, dance students will present a rock ballet.

Loren Kamish, chairman of the homecoming committee, said the public is welcome to attend the coronation and all other activities of the week.

Marine Reunion Planned

Members of the Marine Corps throughout northeast Nebraska are being sought in order to find out if they would be interested in taking part in a Marine Corps Birthday Ball in early November.

The get-together of the Marines, both active and inactive, would be held on Nov. 10, the day the Marines were established.

Winter Storms Have Momentary Beauty

Winter storms create a lot of problems for Wayne area residents. They also create a lot of beauty. Friday's storm, which dumped about five inches of snow in this part of the state, left many trees and bushes hunched over under the heavy weight of the wet snow. Scenes such as this one in Wayne were common until winds and melting destroyed them Friday afternoon.

Tourism Meet Set Wednesday

Anybody with some ideas on how Wayne can attract more tourists is being urged to attend the meeting scheduled for the Wayne High School lecture hall this Wednesday.

The meeting is set for 7:30 in the evening and will include showing a film about how Broken Bow took advantage of its name to build a profitable tourist trade.

Tickets for the evening are selling for 50 cents and can be purchased at the Wayne Chamber of Commerce office, sponsor of the meeting, or from several businessmen in the city.

Especially being urged to attend the meeting are the people who work in service stations, hotels and motels, restaurants and the like, for they are the ones who meet the travelers first.

Tax Man Here Soon

James Cleveland, field representative for the Nebraska Department of Revenue, will be in the Wayne Chamber of Commerce office all day Friday to help any area businessmen with problems they may be having.

Going Fast Costly for Six of Nine

Six of the nine persons appearing before Judge Luverna Hillon in the Wayne County Court during the last few days paid fines on the charge of speeding.

Paying $5 in court costs and speeding fines were John Sandahl, Carroll, $13; Gene Weibie, Winside, $13; Noran Ditman, Winside, $15; Thomas Barnes, South Sioux City, $15; John Smith, Lake View, Iowa, $16, and Glenn

Allen Appreciation Day Stated

Residents of the Allen area are being invited to take advantage of the coming appreciation day being planned by the Allen Commercial Club.

The event is scheduled for this coming Saturday, Oct. 17, at the Allen fire hall and will feature free taverns, baked beans, potato chips and coffee and milk. Food will be served from 4:30 to 8 p.m.

The appreciation day gives the Allen merchants a chance to thank the people in the area for their patronage over the past months.

WS Student Misses $100 Prize Thursday

A Wayne State College student, Jon Roberts, could have had a big financial boost toward his education had he been in one of the Wayne stores taking part in the weekly Cash Night drawing when his name was selected last Thursday.

Roberts would have won a check for $100 if he had been present for the 8 p.m. drawing. Since the prize was not collected, it will jump to $150 for this Thursday night.

The prize is up for grabs each Thursday evening. To be eligible for the drawing, you need only register in one of the stores taking part in the promotion. You must be over 18 years of age to register and you must be present in order to win if your name is called.

No Communication Gap

Wayne State's Campus Patrol now is on call by almost instant radio communication, every day and night. A recently acquired portable radio is the key to the new system.

Larry Fuoss is holding the unit while Dick Wert looks on. The two Wayne men joined the patrol this fall, bringing its strength to five. Patrol Capt. Doreld Soden said the radio makes campus police available within seconds. When the college telephone switchboard is being operated — 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday — a call to the Wayne State number, 275-2200, will be relayed to the police by a radio transmitter in the Hahn Building.

At other hours, persons wanting the patrol should call the city police station, which will then radio the campus police.

Christmas Near For CC People

Christmas may be nearly a dozen weeks away, but Friday's snowstorm made it seem much closer. And to those in the Wayne Chamber of Commerce involved with the Christmas promotion, Christmas is closing in fast.

Floyd Bracken, secretary of the local Chamber, said Friday that he urges all businessmen who will be taking part in the cash giveaways during the holiday season to get their orders for tickets into the Chamber office as soon as possible.

The tickets are those the merchants give to the shoppers for each $1 purchase. The numbers on the tickets are used in the drawings for the numbers to post

Van Skids Off Road

A Wayne businessman escaped with bruises when his van overturned around 6:45 p.m. Thursday slightly less than two miles west of Wayne on Highway 35.

The Wayne County Sheriff's office investigated the mishap and reported that Vernon Predoehi was eastbound in a 1969 GMC Handi-Bus. After hitting a slick spot in the road, the vehicle skidded and rolled over into the south ditch, according to officers.

The van was reportedly a total loss. Merchandise in the vehicle was also damaged.

Before driving, 'SAFETY CHECK' your car... gas, oil, lights, tires, loose items on rear window deck.

by Martin Wright

Wayne may not be a big city, but it's sure "nuff a fun city where some of the fun occurs by accident.

For instance, early last week a Wayne businessman's wife parked her blue Oldsmobile across the street from a local auto agency while she went to a nearby doctor's office.

After seeing the doctor, the lady returned to her parking place only to find the car was gone. She called her husband, thinking he had picked it up. 'Noppe!' Thinking maybe the auto agency had erroneously taken the car to service it, she checked across the street. 'Noppe!' But wait a minute, "one of the salesmen said, "I believe..."

The salesman called his boss who had driven to Sioux City for some parts, and asked, "What kind of car are you driving?" "Pontiac." "Are you sure? Better go take a look," advised the salesman. Upon returning to the phone, the dealer used a few colorful words trying to explain why the car he was driving was a blue Olds belonging to a neighboring businessman back home. He had the right town but the wrong car. It was one of those days. To top it off, he doesn't happen to run a GM agency.

It seems our dealer friend had parked a blue Pontiac in the stall and, unknown to him, a salesman had driven it away. Then the lady in the blue Olds took the parking spot. Seeing the blue car was there as he had left it, keys were still in it as he had left them, the dealer got in and headed for Sioux City.

Is there anything else in the great out-of-doors that is enjoyed so much by so many as the multi-colored trees at this time of year? Have you noticed the brilliant hues of those trees across the street west of the county courthouse? Actually, there are spectacular colors anywhere you look.

We always make a trip to Carroll, Winside and Hoskins once a week and Wayne County never looks the same on any two trips. For instance, Thursday afternoon the yellow leaves were trembling in the shivering temperatures right along with the green and brown leaves. Most of them have either fallen by now or are worn out from wrestling with the wind. There is a lot of interesting scen-

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

A secret ballot by the Humphrey school board ended up in a split vote, 4-4, on whether the board should support the controversial proposed constitutional amendment concerning giving state tax money to non-public schools.

According to the Madison Star-Mail, secret ballots are not new to the Humphrey school board even though such ballots have no legal basis.

A native of Onocela is the new police chief of Plainville. Bill Miller, formerly of Nebraska City, began his duties in Plainville last week.

Neligh High remains a Class C school this year, according to The Neligh News and Leader. A total of 580 students are enrolled in the school system this year.

Class placing of schools is determined by the number of boys in a school. Following are the number of boys in the West Platte Conference schools: Stanton, 107; Bloomfield, 100; Plainville, 119; Neligh, 123; Madison, 128; Laurel, 130; Pierce, 146; Wayne, 222. Schools with over 129 boys are placed in Class B.

A Wisner man, Herbert Albers Sr., was honored last week by Ak-Sar-Ben as one of six recipients of Ak-Sar-Ben's Agricultural Achievement awards.

The awards are presented each year to people making outstanding contributions to agriculture. Albers was chosen for his leadership in livestock feeders activities.

Jim Engelhart and Kathy Reppert were named king and queen during homecoming activities at West Plain High recently. The coronation followed the football team's 15-0 victory over Oakland-

Craig. Four students from Randolph High had auditions Saturday for selection for the Nebraska Music Educators Association clinic at Creighton. Auditioning were Debbie Borst, Jana Buchanan, Kevin Leapey and Sylvia Truby.

The two traffic lights at Pierce have been called "bargain basement" by a representative of the Nebraska Department of Roads.

The representative urged the Pierce city council last week to have the lights removed because they cannot be justified on the basis of need. He said a study of the two intersections revealed that there is too little traffic to justify traffic lights.

Correction story in the Cedar County News of Hartington. "Richard Steffen and Cynthia Steffen, students at the University of Nebraska, are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Steffen of Fordyce. In last week's paper they were credited elsewhere."

Mark Ensminger of Pender was named all-around top cowboy during the recent Little Britches Rodeo at Ponca.

Young Ensminger came in first in the senior boys bulldogging, second in the senior boys calf roping and third in the senior boys bareback riding. Marla Ensminger came in first in the junior girls pole bending.

Ponca businessmen held their annual appreciation day Saturday at the Legion Hall. Featured were free pancakes and coffee.

The cost of it was, I believe, $9,700. He further explained that John Kate was a real good mayor, and would not stop at cutting corners if it was for the good of Wayne.

We want to thank our local real estate agent for sharing these memories with us. Undoubtedly, there are many stories that could well be told about the growth and development of our fair city. The job we all face now is to see that Wayne continues to develop as a great place in which to live and work. Any town in which you can take your neighbor's car to a nearby city, without any hard feelings, must be a fun place in which to live. Wayne is the place.

Dear Editor:

Please mail us two copies of the paper with the report of the Wayne-Stanton football game.

By the way, how do you approach the school for football reports? Do you use a form for them to fill out? If so, would you please send me one? However you do it, I want you to know that you do a wonderful job covering all the area football games. Mrs. Harvey Podol

Time for New Signs?

Like all material things, traffic signs wear out. Even as it is not the owner's fault that a car ages, neither is it the county's fault that its traffic control signs age. Aging and the need for replacement happens to all material things.

Some of those fellows in the traffic division of the Nebraska Department of Roads in Lincoln surveyed secondary road signs this last summer, not only in Wayne County, but throughout the state.

Results of the survey may be found elsewhere in this issue of the paper, but the general opinion of the state is that the majority of the signs in our county are extremely poor.

It appears most of our stop signs are only 18 inches across when the state's suggested minimum size is 30 inches. Rectangular traffic signs are most easily seen and many of those in Wayne County are not that type.

Another observation made by the state crewmen in the summer report is that there is a lack of town direction signs in the county.

The report on the survey was sent to the county commissioners. It is being taken, or will be taken, under advisement by them. There are Federal funds and other matters, of course, which the commissioners will want to give consideration.

We hope our county will find a way to participate in the sign improvement program suggested by the state for two reasons. First, if all counties in Nebraska participate, it will mean all of the signs will be standard regardless of where one drives in Nebraska. Secondly, the updated signs will be more easily seen and could possibly therefore save a life.—M.M.W.

Randolph Situation Clarified

We hope everybody in the Wayne area read the letter by the superintendent of the Randolph school system in The Public Pulse in Friday's Omaha World-Herald. The letter should come as a welcome relief to those who oppose the proposed constitutional amendment which would provide state aid to private schools.

Superintendent Neil Kluber said that the Randolph school mill levy increased from 28.14 to 42.1—13.96 mills—the year after the closing of the Randolph Catholic School system. Noked Kluber, that increase cannot be attributed solely to the closing of the private school, for the levy would probably have increased between five and six mills had the private school system remained open for the 1970-71 school year. Also, some of the increase was due to an increase in bond and building indebtedness which had been necessary because the public school system was already overcrowded and in need of repair, he said.

Mr. Kluber was not writing the letter in order to get into the growing argument over state aid to non-public school systems. However, he had become disturbed that those in favor of that aid are using the Randolph situation in order to prove that it creates a financial burden upon a community when a private school is forced to close. One proponent had said that the Randolph mill levy had jumped from 28 to 52 mills due to the closing of the Catholic school. Another said it increased 20 mills. Kluber said they are oversimplifying the Randolph situation.

As we move closer to the November election, we will hear more about the financial burdens which communities will have to bear if we do not approve state aid to non-public schools. We hope the public will become informed about what will really happen should we approve state aid to private schools. What will happen will be the broadening of the long-standing separation of church and state principal, the start toward higher taxes because of the necessarily higher costs of the state helping support two separate school systems and the move toward state support of selective and undemocratic schools.

We think these consequences detrimental enough that we urge defeat of this proposal.—NLH.

Grid Coaches Watching for All-Stars

Football coaches in the West Husker Conference should be able to start telling pretty soon who their selections will be for the coming Wayne Herald All-Star Football Team.

The team, the third straight since it was initiated by the newspaper in the fall of 1968, will be announced early in November after the finish of the play-off between champions in the west and the least divisions of the Husker Conference.

Last year the team was dominated by Wayne and Pierce players. The Blue Devils filled nine slots on the defensive and offensive teams. The Blue Jays filled seven slots. Both teams had one player gaining both offensive and defensive callings — Dan Sutherland for Wayne at offensive running back and defensive linebacker, Kim Thomas for Pierce at offensive tackle and defensive lineman.

Wayne's Allen Hansen was named coach of the all-stars. Sutherland graduated last year, but Thomas has a good chance of being a repeater as a senior this year.

The head football coaches at the eight West Husker schools will again choose the members to the all-star team. They can nominate players only from the other seven schools and cannot choose men from their own teams.

Making the team from Wayne along with Sutherland a year ago were Roger Boyce at offensive center, Les Fehtenkamp at offensive guard, Ken Jorgensen at defensive lineman, Randy Helms at defensive back, Randy Helgren at defensive back and Steve Kamlish at defensive lineman. Kamlish was a junior last year, the rest seniors.

Stanton's only contribution to last year's squad was Marland Erbst at offensive running back position.

Laurel placed Jim Schroeder at defensive linebacker, Paul McCoy at defensive linebacker and Steve Eyrwin at quarterback.

Bloomfield and Neligh placed one man each on last year's squad. Plainview and Madison failed to land a player on the team.

Reserves Switch Foes

The Wayne High reserve football squad will be taking on Laurel in an away game Monday afternoon instead of West Point Central Catholic as originally planned. The West Point game has not been rescheduled yet.

Digging Out

Mud and silt are being removed from Ikes Lake bucket by bucket. Crewmen started dredging operations at the lake northwest of Wayne last week. The local Isaak Walton Chapter is conducting a fund drive to help pay the $3,000 cost of renovating the lake. Anyone wanting to contribute toward rebuilding the popular fishing spot may send checks to either Norris Weible, league president, or Bill Richardson at the Morning Shopper.

License Misuse Costs Fisherman

Another Wayne resident, Albert N. Anderson, joins the ranks of those misusing their hunting and fishing permits this year.

Anderson paid a fine of $10 and costs, $45 liquidated damages and nine trout confiscated for being over the limit for trout.

NU Graduate Invited To 1st Annual Meet of Science Department

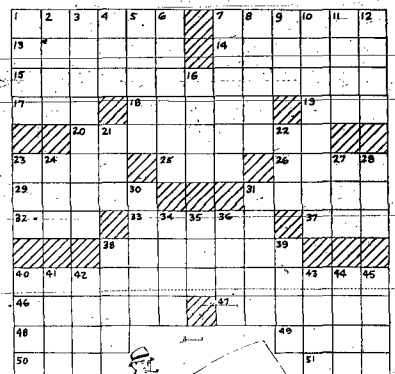

All alumni of the University of Nebraska Department of Animal Science are invited to attend the first annual alumni meeting of the department Oct. 23-24 in Lincoln, according to Dr. John Ward, associate professor of animal science.

The weekend activities will begin with the Little Ak-Sar-Ben Show in the Judging Pavilion (Old Horse Barn), sponsored by the Block and Bridle Club at 7 p.m., Oct. 23. Breakfast will be served the following morning in the Omaha Room at the Nebraska Center to recognize and honor alumni.

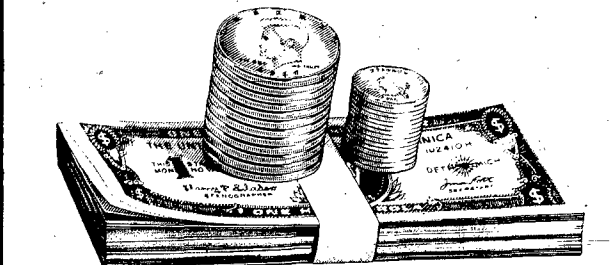

Immediately after the breakfast an open house will be held at Marvel-Baker Hall. The Nebraska-Oklahoma State football game will conclude the activities.

An attempt has been made to contact all alumni as well as those former students who have participated on departmental judging teams or who, by taking animal science courses work, would be considered alumni. Any animal science alumnus who has not been notified is urged to write to the department for information, Ward said.

WSC's Singleton Still Ranks High

Wayne State's fine runner, Sam Singleton, remained in second place in rushing statistics among the Nebraska colleges, according to the sports information director of the District 11 National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Singleton had racked up 432 yards in 92 carries during the three games going into Saturday's battle at Chadron State. That total put him right behind Kearney State's John Makovicka who had rolled up 586 yards in 103 carries in four games. Makovicka had scored 13 touchdowns for 78 points to lead the nation in scoring.

Wayne State's defense had earned the college third-place ranking going into Saturday's tilt. The Wildcats had held their opponents to 305 yards a game, placing them behind the Midland Warriors with 215 yards per game and Dana with 237 yards a game.

Wayne's Marty Going had connected on 13 passes for 169 yards so far this season to place him near the top in passing. Top quarterback in that category was Itoeco Gonello of University of Nebraska at Omaha with 741 yards on 45 of 102 attempts. Gonello had been intercepted 12 times and had thrown eight for touchdowns.

Greg Walker is one of the top pass receivers in the state, grabbing five for 72 yards. Tops in that category was Rick Watson of Chadron with 32 passes for 583 yards.

Officials Explain Present Draft Policy

Selective Service officials clarified their policy recently regarding draft vulnerability for those young men with low lottery numbers who entered the 1970 draft pool too late to be inducted before the end of the year.

Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, Selective Service director, said that registrants whose lottery numbers were reached by their local boards during 1970 but were not issued orders for induction will be given top priority for draft calls during the first three months of 1971. They will be called ahead of members of the 1971 draft pool during those months.

Tarr said that relatively small numbers of registrants will be affected. Tarr also reaffirmed his prior announcement that no local boards should induct men this year above sequence number 195. Some local boards have not reached this level in meeting their monthly calls so that the precise number reached will vary across the country.

Those registrants who are available for induction but whose numbers are not reached during 1970, generally those with sequence numbers above 195, will drop into reduced priority in 1971 and should not be drafted unless there is a national emergency.

The general three months limitation on liability is a safety valve policy to insure that no members of the 1970 draft pool are unduly subject to more than 12 months of prime vulnerability, Tarr said. "We expect the carry-over group will be relatively small and will be inducted during the early months of 1971. However, if our estimates on the size of this group are wrong or if draft calls are unusually low we want to insure that the young men are not penalized by an indefinite extension of their liability," Tarr said.

"If any young men are not inducted in the first three months they will be placed in a reduced priority group," Tarr said, "except for those who may be on procedural delays when the March call is issued and would have been called but for the delay." Tarr said that those men will be ordered for induction soon after they become eligible for induction.

"The regulations have always been clear that some men will be carried over from 1970 into 1971," Tarr said. "The new regulations define the carry-over group more precisely and also introduce a three months limitation on the length of the extension."

Tarr said the carry-overs will be registrants who would have been called earlier in 1970 when their number was reached by their local board, but who could not then be called because they were either in a deferred status or were exercising various procedural rights available under Selective Service Law.

"Fairness requires that these men be effectively exposed to a draft obligation," Tarr said. "All of the carry-overs will have been in the 1970 draft-eligible pool for less than 12 months and in the great majority of cases the effective exposure will have been only a few months. In every case the non-availability of the men earlier in the year meant that men with higher lottery numbers went in their place. We must try to achieve basic fairness between those men," Tarr said.

"At the same time, Tarr commented, we should also recognize that the original intention of the lottery system was to expose no one to top priority draft exposure for more than 12 months. For this reason we have introduced the general three months limitation on the carry-over." The Director said that orders have been issued to State Directors instructing local boards to begin identifying registrants in the appropriate priority group "as soon after the last draft call of the year is issued by the local boards, probably some time in late November." Boards will attempt to notify those men in the extended group as soon as possible, Tarr said.

The Executive Order also provides that a registrant can be inducted after he has reached age 26 if he has extended liability to age 25 and has been issued an order to report for induction prior to his 26th birthday.

The provision however prevents the board from issuing an order after a registrant's 26th birthday even if he was involved in a delay which prevented the board from issuing an order before that date. This policy simply regularizes what has been Selective Service practice for many years, Tarr said.

Tarr said that the order also prevents a person in reduced priority from dropping into a lower draft priority while he is deferred and not vulnerable. The new order requires that the I-A registrant be re-assigned in a draft priority status which he held when he received his deferment or exemption.

Did ya hear about the one that got away? We've heard about the Savings Bond that got lost. About the one that got stolen. And the one that got burned. We've heard them all. But don't think you could ever really lose your U.S. Savings Bonds. Because they don't really get away. Least not for long. That's because Bonds are replaceable. And we replace them. For a duplicate or for full payment. Whichever you like. You know, your government is about as safe a place as you can make an investment. Sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Cadet Nedergaard will serve during the fall term as a flight sergeant with the rank of cadet master sergeant. He was selected for the position because of his leadership and effectiveness ratings.

During the past summer, the cadet was a survival training instructor for sophomore cadets in the rugged Rampart Range area surrounding the academy. He also completed training at the academy which qualified him as a Federal Administration-certified glider pilot.

Cadet Nedergaard will be commissioned a second lieutenant and awarded a B.S. degree upon his graduation from the academy.

Cadet Robert E. Nedergaard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon M. Nedergaard, Wayne, is among the 821 cadets who have entered their junior year at the U. S. Air Force Academy.

As he began his third year at the academy, Cadet Nedergaard was named to the Superintendent's List for his outstanding achievement in both academic and military performance. He will be granted special privileges and wear a silver star and wreath insignia recognizing the academy superintendent.

Academy. As he began his third year at the academy, Cadet Peterson was named to the Commandant's List for his outstanding military performance. He wears a silver wreath insignia recognizing the honor accorded him by the academy commandant of cadets.

Cadet Peterson will serve during the fall term as a flight sergeant with the rank of cadet master sergeant. He was selected for the position because of his leadership and effectiveness ratings.

He also completed three weeks of special duty at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, in Operation "Third Lieutenant," a program which provides cadets an opportunity to perform as junior officers.

Cadet Peterson will be commissioned a second lieutenant and awarded a B.S. degree upon his graduation from the academy.

Snow Causes Change In Democrats' Plan

The Democratic gathering scheduled for the Dixon County fairgrounds Sunday afternoon had to be changed to the Concord school auditorium because of Friday's winter storm.

Scheduled to make their appearance at the Election-Count-down Barbecue were Frank Morrison, three-time governor of Nebraska who is now seeking election to the Senate; J. J. Exon, candidate for governor; Bill Durrows, candidate for the House, and Stan Matzke, candidate for Secretary of State. Also planning on attending was Ronald Beagan, Lieutenant Governor candidate.

The barbecue was hosted by Democrats in Dixon County. Invited to attend were people in Dixon, Wayne, Cedar and Thurston Counties.

VISITING at the Kiwanis luncheon Monday, Allen Beermann, left, deputy secretary of state, and Adon Jeffrey talk over some of the proposed amendments to be on the ballot in the November election.

Amendments Explained By Deputy Secretary

Allen J. Beermann, deputy secretary of state for the past three years and now a candidate for secretary of state, was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club Monday following a noon luncheon in the Woman's Club Room. Beermann spoke to the club explaining the proposed amendments that will appear on the ballot in the November election. He noted, "We are facing the most critical set of constitutional amendments that have ever throughout the state. He pointed out that the proposed amendments will appear three consecutive times in the newspapers prior to the election and urged his hearers to clarify the proposed amendments in their own minds before voting on them. Noting that Nebraska is one of the few states in which voters may mark a sample ballot at home where they can do some thinking about candidates and proposed amendments, and take that sample ballot into the voting booth with them, Beermann advised all voters to take advantage of this privilege. He said to read the amendments after entering the voting booth would take at least an hour. He suggested making up one's mind ahead of time by marking the sample ballot and then taking the sample ballot into the voting booth and marking the official ballot accordingly.

Former Carroll Man Named 'Outstanding'

A former Carroll native, Millard Raulston of Crystal Spring, Miss., has been selected as one of the Outstanding Young Men of America. His biography will appear in the 1970 edition of the book, "Outstanding Young Men of America." Married and the father of two children, Raulston is the son of Mary and the late Virgil Raulston of Norfolk. He graduated from Carroll High School and attended the University of Nebraska. He spent four years in the Navy. Raulston is presently employed as the superintendent of the chip mill of a paper company in Hopewell, Miss.
