

'That Was Good'

Tammy Lesberg, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lesberg, Wayne, was one of several hundred applauding throughout the Wayne-Carroll school system's first vocal concert this fall at the high school lecture hall Friday evening. Groups performing during the concert included the junior high girls glee, freshman choir, concert choir and chamber choir. LeWayne Carlson, vocal music instructor, was director. Applause from Tammy and a filled auditorium brought an encore from the concert choir.

Pork producers are urged to use caution when feeding low quality drought-damaged, moldy or blighted corn. According to Bob Fritschen, Extension swine specialist at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station, some 1970 corn may represent a potential problem.

Since variable cropping practices in combination with restricted or limited rainfall may have changed the nutritional profile of corn, Fritschen suggests that a laboratory analysis of corn be considered as a basis for ration formulation. He noted that this is particularly important when formulating rations for small pigs or gestating animals on a limited energy diet.

While blighted corn itself is generally not considered a problem in Nebraska-grown corn, the possibility of some blighted corn being used, particularly in conventionally mixed complete rations, cannot be ruled out. Fritschen pointed out that once blighted corn reaches trade channels it will be difficult to identify, especially as it becomes mixed with some normal corn. He noted that a current report involving feeding blighted corn to poultry showed that prolonged clotting time is another problem that may result.

A related problem, according to Fritschen, is that of molds. This generally falls into two areas. One is growing down with the breeding herd. He noted that periodically reports are received where breeding problems occur when sows or gilts are turned out on downed or droughty corn. The problems range from protracted or false estrus to abortion. Some reports state that the causative factor is the estrogenic (hormone) activity of certain molds. Since weather conditions this fall appear to favor an environment conducive to mold formation on downed corn, producers should be alert to the possible consequences.

The second problem associated with molds is related to complete mixed feeds. Fritschen noted that a subtle change apparently takes place within the diet. This change precipitates spontaneous bleeding, either internal, external or both. The subtle change is believed to include the formation of molds or fungi that free mycotoxins. This condition is known to be associated with vitamin K. Fritschen said that while the exact requirement for the vitamin has never been established, University of Nebraska research has shown that two grams of menadione sodium bisulfite (vitamin K) per ton of complete feed will prevent prolonged clotting time as well as prevent the onset of the bleeding syndrome. Since the presence of the toxic agent cannot be easily identified, the addition of two grams per ton of menadione sodium bisulfite should be considered routine especially for pigs weighing up to approximately 100 pounds.

Area Schools Await Supreme Court Hearing

By Merlin Wright

Many questions remain unanswered regarding an economic squeeze being felt by nine area schools brought on by lawsuits in the courts concerning non-resident high school tuition.

Questions unanswered include: When will the Nebraska Supreme Court hear the non-resident tuition case appealed from the Wayne County District Court;

how long after the hearing will a decision be handed down; can the affected schools even get a full 65 per cent of the non-resident tuition funds for last year and this year; will Wayne and Winslow school boards consider turning away non-resident pupils, and why haven't idle tuition funds been invested?

As the situation now stands, the District Court case questioning legislation regarding the setting of mill levies for non-resident tuition is being appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court. More recently, 16 Wayne County taxpayers filed a notice of intention to appeal to the District Court the order of the Wayne County Board of Equalization levying taxes for the current year. When the petition itself is filed, it is likely to tie up non-resident high school tuition funds again this year.

The financial squeeze is being put on the schools since budgets are set one year in advance and they are expected to receive 100 per cent of the non-resident tuition funds.

District Judge Merritt C. Warren ruled earlier in last year's suit questioning the legality of LB 910 that 65 per cent of those tuition funds tied up by the suit would be released so schools could continue educating the high school students attending from outside the taxing district. The remaining 35 per cent, or $59,813.32, was not to be released until final outcome of the Nebraska Supreme Court hearing.

Art on Display

Wayne State artists—two of the faculty and one student—have art works on display in the annual fall exhibit of the First Federal Savings and Loan of Lincoln. Ray Replogle is represented by two sculptures, Garv Woodward by a print, for which he received a purchase award. Pearl Hansen, a junior major in art, has two pieces of sculpture in the display. The show is sponsored by the Associated Artists of Omaha.

No one seems to know exactly when the case will be heard by the high court.

County Attorney Don Reed has noted that when the case does come before the court, attorneys for both the plaintiffs and defendants will file briefs and several weeks after the court has heard oral arguments it will render an opinion.

To complicate matters for the nine schools, there has not been sufficient money in the county's tax fund to pay all of the 65 per cent of the non-resident tuition rates released to the schools by the court for last year. Schools have received about 54 per cent of the 65 per cent the court allowed them.

After hearing earlier this month about the latest intention to petition in District Court, which if and when the petition is filed will likely tie up non-resident tuition funds again this year, M. J. Masten, superintendent of the Winslow Public Schools, said, "These people continuing to push the issue of non-resident tuition rates are pushing city schools toward non-acceptance of non-resident students. Their action leaves the public schools little alternative."

Winslow High School has 37 non-resident students attending while there are 198 such students enrolled in Wayne High School. The total number of non-resident pupils enrolled in the nine schools affected by the lawsuits is 283, according to Gladys Porter, county superintendent of schools. Most of the nine schools' non-resident tuition fees are near the $1,000 mark, so the amount of money in question involves approximately $283,000.

Frederick H. Mann, Wayne, one of those signing and initiating the court suits, was asked recently as to what the alternatives are.

Organize Chess Club

A new activity, chess, is on the Wayne State College scene. Following a challenge for competition from students at Platte College, Columbus, Wayne responded by organizing a chess club.

The first meeting is scheduled for 7 tonight (Monday) in the Student Center Birch Room. Students, faculty and staff are invited. The invitation also says to "bring your own board and set if you have one."

School Men At Workshop

Two area men, Ken Carlson, guidance counselor at Wayne High School, and Principal Ronald Kramer, Winslow High School, were among those attending a Law Enforcement and Corrections Conference at Norfolk Wednesday. The workshop was sponsored by Northeastern Nebraska College.

Conference speakers included Clarence Meyer, attorney general of Nebraska; Garth Dawson, former Wayne police chief now lecturing for the Nebraska Peace Officers Association; Maurice Sigler, warden of the state penitentiary; and G. L. Kuechel, chairman, Department of Law Enforcement and Corrections at the University of Omaha.

Sigler emphasized the great potential in law enforcement work for young graduates. He noted that young people should be encouraged to enter into one of the many specialized fields of law enforcement work.

High Speed Open House Visitors Take Lead To Star in Video Film For Fine$

Speeding continues to take the lead as the first most common charge in the Wayne County court. Five persons appeared before Judge Luverna Hillon on speeding charges during the last few days while four others were booked for varying reasons.

Paying $5 court costs and fines for speeding were George Siddham, Council Bluffs, Iowa, $30; Clarence F. Miller, South Sioux City, $12; Joseph L. Savage, South Sioux City, $12; Douglas H. Bethlers, Pender, $15, and James P. Jessen, Wayne, $10.

Michael A. Bebee, Wayne, was fined $15 and costs of $5 on a charge of reckless driving.

Clifton Springer and Madeline Springer, both of Macy, each paid $25 fines and court costs of $5 on charges of intoxication.

Fined $100 and costs of $5 for possession of alcoholic liquor by a minor was Lawrence P. Harrington of Laurel.

Total fines and costs amounted to $259.

such a conference, Haun said, by signing the list in the teacher's room. The high school will not schedule general all-day parent-teacher conferences this year.

Parent-teacher conferences have been scheduled for all day on Nov. 12 and 13 at both the elementary and the middle schools. Students will not be attending classes either day.

Seventy-six Wayne-Carroll teachers will be attending conventions Thursday and Friday. Haun said classes in the schools will be dismissed early Wednesday afternoon on the following schedule: Wayne Elementary, 2:20; middle school, 2:25; high school, 2:30; and K-4 students at Carroll will be let out at 2:45 p.m.

School Schedule Set at Wakefield

Halloween parties and a parade have been scheduled Wednesday for Wakefield Elementary School pupils in kindergarten through the third grade.

Pupils will parade down Main Street in Wakefield at 2 p.m. Parties are scheduled later.

Students in grades four through six plan to go roller skating at the Wakefield Roller Rink starting at 2 p.m.

Wednesday is also the day when students in all grades will have the opportunity of having individual pictures taken. Elementary school students will have pictures taken during the morning hours and high school pictures are slated for the afternoon. Derwin Hartman, elementary principal, said the kindergarten who attend school in the afternoon will have their pictures taken at the high school.

Hartman noted that teachers will be attending area conventions Thursday and Friday. School has been dismissed for that two-day period.

He also pointed out that parent-teacher conferences at the elementary school have been slated for Nov. 5.

Parents will receive notices from the school, Hartman said, regarding the time they should attend. Conferences have been divided into three time periods. The first session is set from 8:30 a.m. to noon and the second session is scheduled from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Evening conferences will be held between 7 and 9 p.m.

3 Winside Residents In Car-Truck Crash

Three Winside residents escaped serious injuries around 9:40 a.m. Wednesday when a car and truck collided five miles west of Wayne on Highway 35.

The Wayne County sheriff's office investigated and reported that the Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Hillpert, Winside, were eastbound in a 1970 Oldsmobile. The Hillpert auto was in the process of passing an eastbound 1964 International truck driven by Elmer W. Monk, Winside, when the truck started to make a left-hand turn onto a county road, authorities said. Both vehicles left the highway and ended up in the north ditch.

All three persons were treated by a doctor in Wayne and released.

The sheriff's office said both vehicles had extensive damage.

Books were awarded to the kindergarten, sixth grade and sophomore classes as those grades had the largest number of parents attending the meeting.

The Rev. Robert V. Johnson, Salem Lutheran Church, read scripture and offered the invocation.

Mothers of Junior students served lunch. The PTA will meet again Jan. 18, 1971.

Students of the Madison community received a lecture and warning from Police Judge Virginia Geary concerning unnecessary horn honking. The judge warned some 20 young people that future action of this type would result in a formal complaint and fine.

The Oakland Chamber of Commerce is planning a fun night for members of that community. A parade and costume party for youngsters through the eighth grade will highlight the event.

Can You Help Me?

Wayne State College students with problems they would like to talk over with someone may now pick up a telephone between the hours of 11 p.m. and 2 a.m., Monday through Thursday, dial a number and reach someone who will listen.

The unique service offered by the college and ministers in Wayne is programmed through the Cooperative Christian Ministries telephone number 375-1298.

Setting up such a service requires training telephone counselors and then, of course, it means the counselors do not get any sleep until we hours of the morning. Volunteers manning the listening posts apparently don't mind losing a little sleep if it means helping another human in need.

telephones were used recently by a person or persons sick in mind, resulting in four bomb threats to the college, then all news media wanted the story. When students put telephones to good use helping those who are having problems, such a story of getting involved gets little coverage.

We prefer to believe that 99.99 percent of the WSC students are sincerely searching for avenues of getting involved with life in such a way as to help other humans. They do it without much publicity. But we live in a society that puts the greater emphasis upon the sensational, consequently a campus bomb threat caused by a look on the telephone is considered "news" while those using the telephone to uplift discouraged or depressed youths must do it outside the spotlight.

Now wouldn't it be great if the bomb-threatening looks would realize their sickness and call for anonymous help on the crisis telephone? If they ever do, someone will be there to help. That is the real news. — MMW.

A Fairy Tale

Once upon a time in never-never-land there was a thriving young community whose name has long since been forgotten in the dusty past. This community was much like other communities in the country—aggressive, forward-looking and contained many of the attributes of what we now call the All-American Community.

One thing set this little village apart from others in the country, however—its love for the past. One fine day some of the villagers were sitting around talking of the past and one of them suggested that they do something to preserve the past. Immediately there was an enthusiastic, almost overwhelming response in favor of the idea.

After much excited and animated conversation the group decided that the idea was much too good for just their little village—that they should instead include all of the outlying provinces since they too loved the past... and they did.

Soon the entire province was buzzing with the idea—and they decided to collect relics from the past and to house them in a building (also from the past) and call it a museum.

By and by the building was moved to a spot at the east edge of the village where it did in fact become a monument to the long forgotten... long forgotten ideas, long forgotten plans, long forgotten aspirations. — GRA.

How Would You Feel?

A 34-year-old Dixon County farmer headed north on a county road around 10 a.m. Thursday moving his $10,000 combine to another field job. This time of year is a busy season and everyone in the farming business wants to get as much work done as possible during good weather.

As this fellow started to cross a bridge over Logan Creek about a half mile south of the Northeast Station, the left front wheel of the combine broke through rotten bridge planks. As a result, he came close to losing his machine and possibly his life in the ravine.

Good fortune smiled, however, and a small steel support beneath the bridge saved the equipment and possible personal injuries. It was a close call and it delayed his work schedule for most of the day.

How would you feel as a taxpayer to have had that experience? Would you have laughed it off assuming that the county just hadn't had the time to get around to check all of its bridges? Would you just have accepted it as one of life's problems and assumed there wasn't enough money in the county's road funds to pay for making the bridge safe? The farmer reacted just like any taxpayer would and should to a case of obvious negligence. Is there any excuse in this day and age for allowing bridges or roads to become unsafe?

We're glad Wayne County now has a superintendent of roads who will soon take over that position on a full-time basis. His watchful eye will undoubtedly avoid a similar accident occurring here.

We believe it is also time the silent majority of taxpayers start putting up a howl from one end of the county to the other about having to put up with highways that drain road funds but wind up as being a strip of patches on patches.

Considering the taxes paid, it seems like the taxpayer is getting a raw deal when he still has to drive on a wash-board highway from the Emerson corner to the Hoskins corner.

And how do you like the ride from Wayne to Laurel? It does little good to have the front end of a car aligned when one is going to be driving on highways that should have been replaced long ago.

We suggest you talk to all candidates running for political office Nov. 3 on both the state and county levels as to what they are planning on doing to better the road situation in this area. — MMW.

Several hundred needlework, craft and hobby articles were on display, and instructions for making each item were offered for sale.

Each visitor who registered received a gift donated by the Federal Land Bank Association of Hartington and each hour a drawing was held for one of the gifts donated by the various clubs. Refreshments were also served.

Clubs participating in the fair were Laurel Farmerettes, Busy Fingers, Dayland Daisies, Arts and Crafts and Willing Workers of Coloridge; Lunar from Hartington, Nightingales, Facts and Fun, Thrifty, Silver Star from Belden, Hartington Home Craft, Modernettes and Our Night Out (Cedar County officers are Mrs. Paul Meier, Laurel, chairman; Mrs. Gordon Graham, Coloridge, vice-chairman; Mrs. Roy Carlson, Coloridge, treasurer, and Mrs. Marvin Royle, Coloridge, secretary).

Your Place in the Stars

by Tom McDermott

Dear Tom McDermott:

I am enclosing a carbon copy of a letter which I wrote to a smart alec who had a very derogatory article concerning astrology in the World Herald. The article is attached hereto. I shall appreciate your returning both of them after you have read them. I hope that you wrote, or if not, you will. Sincerely yours, a Reader in Omaha.

The article in question was written by Mr. Dick West, the Omaha World Herald's Washington reporter. Mr. West wrote a short piece about astrology and it appeared in a column of his (which I had never read before) which seems to be of a political bent. The columnist wrote, jokingly, that he thought astrology would be more "accurate" if it were to use the time of conception instead of birth. Although it wasn't a caustic article, my reader in Omaha must have thought so. Many astrologers today actually do use the time of conception, but only in connection with the time of birth. My "Reader in Omaha," in any event, had a grand time calling Mr. West various low and high sounding names in her letter. For shame! I suggest that she follow some of those rigid Hindu breathing exercises next time she reads a similar article.

Dear Tom McDermott:

Regardless of our ages, I realize that "practice" means to aspiring astrologers. Although, personally, I am not one, I have had my horoscope drawn by so many "experts" and have been misled a mile. But there are people who are gifted in their chosen fields - perhaps you are one. And, regardless of the "misses," I still believe that there is something to astrology, just as there is to "scrying" which I practice at.

There are many things in this world which we humans have no answer to, and I am happy that at last all is not kept secret any more, and that people can at least talk about these things without embarrassment. Most sincerely, Mrs. Cleopatra Porreault, Manchester, New Hampshire.

This letter, like so many of the others that I receive, has a terribly tarnished view of astrology. You know, it's really amazing what people will believe in. I have hundreds of letters from people who have received not only false but harmful information from illegitimate astrologers, yet "believe" in the subject. It isn't astrology, because it just as easily could have been palmistry or tea leaves. The astrology I'm interested in will never attract the interest of the masses, just as chemistry or physics never has. Astrology isn't perfect, but many of its true practitioners are scientists little removed from those more accepted by society. This sun-sign astrology as promulgated in magazines and newspapers has done more to harm astrology's real truth than anything else. Who's to blame? Such people as those "astrologers" who mislead thousands for the sake of the Almighty Dollar. Sometimes astrologers are worse than the followers. Kepler, the great astronomer of ancient times spoke the truth in one of the most eloquent quotations on astrology that I have ever read. Here it is:

"A warning to certain theologians, physicists, and philosophers . . . who, while rightly rejecting the superstitions of the astrologers, ought not to throw out the baby with the bathwater. Because it should not seem incredible that from the stupidities and blasphemies of the astrologers a new, healthy and useful learning may arise." (Johannes Kepler, 1610).

Despite this quote's age, I'll wager that any intelligent astronomer in our country will agree with Kepler. Astrologers do.

(Reminder to all readers: A copy of "The Basic Principles of Astrology" has been placed in the Wayne Public Library. Read it. Got a question? Send it to The Wayne Herald and see it answered in print.)

CHARLEY THONE EXPECTED TO WIN

Political observers this week were saying they expected Charley Thone to win the race for First District Congress on Nov. 3.

Thone, a 41-year-old attorney who was born on a farm near Hartington, has promised to "break new ground in the areas of rural revitalization and farm income." Thone said that farm income has not had relief from the economic pressure of the farm since World War II. He said he will raise farm income to balance other state activities.

Other priority issues Thone has pledged to fight highways and education. Campaign headquarters are at 1001 1/2 S. 10th St. in Hartington. He has organized a campaign and has support from local business and labor organizations for Social Security programs.

President Nixon said about Charley Thone's experience in Washington: "I know from past experience, the great help you can be to this Administration and I look forward to working with you."

Thone has served as Administrator. Assisted by two U.S. Senators from Nebraska, and as assistant U.S. District Attorney from 1952 to 1954. He has an M.A. in law and is a member of the Nebraska Bar and has three children.

Central Catholic Topples Unbeaten Blue Devils

by Ron Anderson

A sky-high Central Catholic team proved to be too much for Allen Hansen's Blue Devils Thursday night. The West Point club brought Wayne's 5-0 record tumbling down, in their homecoming tilt.

In commenting on the Devils' first loss of the year, Coach Hansen remarked that the West Point team was mentally up for the game for three reasons, "No. 1, everyone is always up for an undefeated team, No. 2, it was their homecoming, and No. 3, it was the first game of the season for senior Mark Westman." Westerman, 180-pound quarterback for the Blue Jays, had been sidelined up until the Wayne High game with a broken arm.

Two pass interceptions proved costly to the Blue Devils early in the ball game, as it set up the first six-pointer for Central Catholic. That touchdown came with 10:13 left in the second stanza on a five-yard pass play. Westerman booted the extra point to give the Blue Jays their early 7-0 lead.

Another Wayne mistake, this time a bobbled pass play, set up the second West Point touchdown. Dropped on their own seven, the Blue Devils were forced to punt, giving Central Catholic the ball on the Wayne 34-yard mark. Another pass play from eight yards out put the score at 13-0 with 1:28 left on the clock. Senior halfback Jim Kenny was able to block Westerman's point-after attempt.

The second half saw the Blue Devils momentarily come alive. Following a roughing the kicker penalty against the Blue Jays, which gave Wayne possession on the 24-yard line, the Wayne club battled to the one-yard line. Wayne quarterback Mike Creighton then took the ball into the endzone for Wayne's only score of the ball game.

Final scoring came in the fourth quarter with 6:14 when a double reverse brought the Blue Jays to their six-yard line. From there the strong Central Catholic team bulldozed through the Wayne line for their touchdown. Westerman's pass attempt for the extra point was no good, leaving the final score at 19-6.

Lonnie Biltoff was the spark for Wayne's flagging defense, carrying the ball 10 times for a total of 50 yards. Halfback Tony Flueger took the ball seven times for the Blue Devils, picking up 32 yards.

Steve Kamish, Lonnie Biltoff, Dave Johnson and Dave Tietgen

highlighted Wayne's defensive action. Kamish had eight tackles and five assists, plus a block punt to his credit. Biltoff was credited with nine tackles and two assists; Johnson, eight tackles and four assists; Tietgen, six tackles and five assists.

Going After Number Three

The Wayne State junior varsity football team will go after its third victory Monday night when it entertains the Yankton JV at 7:30 in the WSC Memorial Stadium.

In their first two games, the junior Wildcats soundly beat Midwestern, 41-13, and the Mondayside JV, 33-14.

Trojans Fall to Strong West Point

Whefield's season record fell another mark to 2-5 for the season Friday night as they fell to West Point, 27-8. The game, played at West Point, was that team's standings in the East Husker conference race to four wins and three losses.

West Point completely dominated the Trojans racking up a total of 317 yards for 15 first downs to the Trojans' 99 yards and seven first downs.

West Point's Dennis Brockmeier sparked that team's offensive efforts, snaring one touchdown aerial and kicking three extra points to lead the evening's scoring with nine points.

A rundown of the game scoring is as follows:

A 20-yard run by West Point's Wayne Nitzsche in the first quarter. Point after by Dennis Brockmeier.

—Jim Sutzman on an 11-yard run for West Point in the second quarter. Brockmeier kicking the point after.

—A 55-yard pass from Dennis Brockmeier to Kim Wagner in the second quarter with Brockmeier again kicking the extra point.

—Wagner again passing to Jim Engelhart for West Point from three yards out. The point after attempt by Brockmeier no good.

—A quarterback sneak by Trojan quarterback Kevin Peters from three yards out. The point after attempt by Brockmeier no good for two points.

A new man to the Trojan lineup got praise from Coach Lyle Trullinger for his offensive. Junior back Don Rouse carried the ball eight times for the Trojans, picking up a total of 45 yards. Fullback Kirk Gardner was also cited for his offensive efforts. Gardner carried the ball 11 times for an even 50 yards.

Powerful Stanton Handily Trounces Wayne Frosh, 34-6

The Wayne High freshman football squad was simply overpowered in their game against the Stanton reserves last Monday night, according to game observers. The locals dropped the contest, 34-6.

Wayne's only scoring came in the second quarter when Bill Schwartz hit Kerry Jech with a pass that was good for 40 yards and a touchdown.

Offensive standouts for the frosh squad were Gordon Cook, carrying the ball 13 times for 56 yards; Jech, taking the ball eight times for 35 yards; and Randy Workman who handled the ball eight times for 16 yards.

Defensive standouts were Mike Duskala and Jech with five tackles each.

Now with a 3-2 record, the young Blue Devils will go to Norfolk Wednesday for a 3:15 p.m. game. The final game of the season, an earlier scheduled contest with Norfolk, was postponed because of the weather.

Football and Girls?

Football fans who enjoy the sight of a well-turned ankle should be at the Allen High School football field at 7:30 Tuesday night.

Two distast teams, all members of the Allen FFA chapter, are scheduled to battle it out that evening in a flag football game. Football coach Buster Yannon and AHS teacher Kent Halverson are coaching the two teams.

Only about 50 deer and 100 antelope were left in Nebraska at the turn-of-the-century, according to the biennial report issued by the Game and Fish Commission for 1901-1902.

KNOW YOUR DUCKS

90 points	hen mallard, black duck, wood duck, redhead, canvasback, and hooded merganser
20 points	drake mallard, hen pintail, and ring-necked duck
10 points	drake pintail, gadwall, scaup, teal, widgeon, and all other species of ducks and mergansers

A new point system determines the daily bag and possession limits for the 1970 season which opens on October 10. Hunters may take anywhere from 2 to 10 birds daily, depending on the sex and species bagged. Each species and sex of duck is assigned a point value, either 90, 20, or 10 points, and the daily limit is reached when the last duck taken brings the point total to 100 points or more. The possession limit is two daily bag limits. The season runs through December 18 east of U.S. Highway 83, and through January 7 west of U.S. 83. Shooting hours are sunrise to sunset.

NEBRASKA GAME AND PARKS COMMISSION

NEN Paradises Open to Hunters

Gunners in northeast Nebraska are being offered more than 5,300 acres of prime hunting lands in seven of the state's special use areas, providing game ranging from shifty squirrels and fast flying game birds to hefty white-tailed bucks.

The seven areas include Wood Duck Special Use Area southeast of Stanton. Though hunting pressure is likely to be heavy on opening day, this area is generally lightly used the rest of the season. Pleasant and quail hunters, who hit the field on Nov. 7, will probably find plenty of game here.

Also open are the Basswood Ridge Special Use Area near Homer and Yellowbanks Special Use Area near Battle Creek. The heavy stands of timber and rugged terrain of these areas offer enough challenge for even the most ambitious squirrel hunter.
