Scouts Set Date for Paper Drive

Wayne Boy Scoia Troop 175 will begin picking up old newspapers again in Wayne and Winside Nov. 28. Rowan Wiltse, scoutmaster, said the Scouts hope to be able to pick up papers in both communities on a monthly basis.

Wiltse said, "We are asking that wherever possible the people the their pare for bundles as we will have to store the paper for as long as six months." He noted, "This is not the same type of drive as before since the regular Scout drives ended this spring, but we have found a new buyer for the paper on our own."

Residents in Wayne and Winside are asked to put their old newspapers on porches or steps where they will be visible from the street. Wilste asked that no magazines or silek paper publications be included in the papers. Only newsprint is wanted, as other papers contain substances that slow down reprocessing the paper.

By gathering the papers Scouts help the nomeowners get rid of papers, help save cutting more trees for wood pulp and also earn funds for their various Scout programs. Troop 175 is planning to camp out at See PAPER DRIVE, page 8

Board members of the Wayne Hospital Foundation decided in a meeting last Friday to launch a petition drive, beginning Satur-day, for the formation of a hosday, for the formation of a hos-pital district in the immediate pital district in the immediate area.

The board has worked about a year acquainting area residents with preliminary plans of a proposed hospital district and will now seek signatures on petitions that would bring the matter before courty commissioners.

that would bring the matter be-fore county commissioners.

Bob Lund, Foundation presi-dent, noted that various organi-zations will assist in getting pe-titions circulated throughout the area and that in all cases local persons in each community will be contacted to help. Lund said the board hopes to have the cir-culation of petitions completed by Dec. 1.

Petitions will first be handed out Saturday at the city audi-torium during the Hospital Aux-terium of the person of the circulation of the circulation of the torium during the Hospital Auxtorium during the Hospital Aux-iliary's annual bazaar, land torium during the Hospital Auxiliary's annual bazara, Lundsaid.

Prellminary boundaries for the proposed district include the following precincts: Han ock, Brenna, Plum Creek, Chapin, strahan, part of Hunter, Deer Creek and Wilbur in Wayne County; Concord, Clark and a part of Logan Precinct in Dixon County, and 15, 16, 20 and 21 precincts in Cedar County.

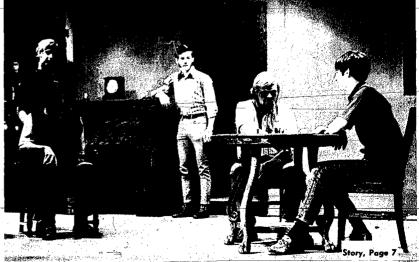

Ken Olds, Foundation secrecincts in Cedar County.

Ken Olds, Foundation secretary, nöxed Tuesday that petitions to form the hospital disstrict must be signed by no less than 10 per cent of the freeholders lessiding in the area involved, or about 420 signatures.

After 10 per cent of the freeholders have signed, the petitions, will be presented to the county commissioners, who in turn would call an election so everyone affected could vote on the formation of the district. If formed, then a höspital district board would be appointed by the commissioners.

A fact sheet prepared by the Mayne Ilospital Is foundation board points out that the present Wayne Ilospital Is inadequiate and cannot be expected to meet the future requirements of Medicare, the State Ilealth Department or those of the State Fire Marshal. One thing was fairly predictable before Wame State and Hirsm Spott clashed on the football field Saturday. With both camps demonst on defense, it was likely to be a close match, the victory going either way. And that's the was it turned off. (1986). The waste of football. Over 100,000 Acres Now in CAP Program

More than 106,000 acres of Nebraska farm and ranch land stand open to public hanting in the state, thanks to cooperation of landowners under the Cropland Adjustment Program of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Large green-and-white ASCS signs mark the boundaries of CAP Farms as "public access for hunting, hiking, fishing and trapping," While permission of the landowner is not required to enter these areas, hunters will still be on private property and should conduct themselves accordingly, says the Game and Parks Commission.

For Hunting Violation

A Wayne youth, Duame L. Backstrom, paid a fine of $10 and costs for trespassing while hunting, reports the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

State law and common courtesy require hunters to ask permission before hunting on private land, without permission, the hunter is guilty of trespassing.

Other area people fine for hunting violations: Ronald C. Denny of Stanton, $10 and costs for insufficient number of life preservers; Wyman L. McCain of Crofton, $110 and costs for insufficient number of life preservers; Wyman L. McCain of Crofton, $15 and costs for insufficient number of life preservers; Wyman L. BIG RED VIEW FROM THE WOW BOOTH By RUSS BALDWIN *****

There have to be some mighty happy and satisfied mem-of the Nebraska football team and coaching staff this

There have to be some mightly happy and satisfied mem-bers of the Nebraska football team and coaching staff this week.

The Kansas State confrontation was another so-called "must" game for Nebraska. A win was needed to assure at least a share of the Big Retitle, A convincing win was needed to finally impress those disbelievers from other parts of the country, that Nebraska was one of if not the best teams in the country.

A big win was also needed to demonstrate to those repres-to finally impress those disbelievers from other parts of the country. A big win was also needed to demonstrate to those representatives from the Cotton, Orange and Sagar Bowls that Nebrasia should be included in their bowl plans. Well, you know what happened. It's history now.

The defense intercepted heralded Lynn Dickey's first pass attempt, and the offense on the first play from scrimmage sent Johnny Rodgers into the end zone on a 30-yard run for a quick, one-douchdown lead. Thus, the pattern of the game was established in less than three minutes of play. From that point on it was a continuous combination of superlative defensive play giving the offense the opportunity to demonstrate its explosive wares.

On offense it was almost a dead heat between the passing and covering the passes.

We do not usually rehash a game in this column, but the performance of the Nebraska team as a complete unit against kansas State merits more than just Sunday morning coverage. The way the libskers played is really what it is all about. The daily practice sessions on the field are tough, but necessary to practice the physical execution of plays and assignments. The daily skull sessions may get boring but are also necessary to practice the physical execution of plays and assignments. The daily skull sessions may get boring but are also necessary to practice the mental phase of execution. The coaches strive for a combination of perfect executation through their guidance while the players strive for the same goal through their performance.

To perform the way the Huskers did last Saturday is a credit to the coaching staff and the team members as a near, pleture-perfore example of "putting it all foogether." In fact, the game film should be set apart from all others to be shown to demonstrate how the game should be played, both offensively and defensively.

Turkey Hunters Call It Quits

Turkey hunters in northwest Nebraska put up their shotquis and bows at sunset on Sunday as shooting ended for the 1970 fall hunt.

Some 1,700 hunters held permits for the hunt and 478 hunters bagged their birds on the first two days of the season. Gunners in the Nibbrara Unit were ahead of last year's opening weekend pace, taking 156 birds for a success ratio of about 33 per cent. Those in the Hound Top Unit maintained 1969's opening weekend pace of 27 per cent success with 272 birds. By Tuesday last week hunters in the Nibbrara Unit had surpassed the entire 1969 season success with five days of hunting still remaining. More than 45 per cent had scored by sundown, compared to a success ratio of 43 per cent for the entire 1969 season.

Complete statistics on the entire season will be compiled by Game and Parks Commission game technicians shortly after the Nov. 15 season closing. Last year, both units tailled 43 per cent hunter success for the fall season.

Devil Soap Scrimmage Set

Followers of basketball on the local scene will get a chance for a preview of the 1970-71 Wayne High squad during a soap serfimmage Monday night at 7 o'clock in the high school audi-o'clock in the high school accuration inm.

The team, which will be trying to better last year's 5-14 mark, will take on the faculty in the affair. Admission: a bar of soap to help the athletes get by this season without worrying about soap for showers.

Don Johnson, new at the helm of the Blue Devils, reports considerable enthusiasm among the two dozen boys who have turned out for the team this year. Helping form the core for this year's team will be the returning lettermen from a year ago; imior Lon-nie Biltoft and seniors Don Mau, Dick Tletgen, Rod Cook and Mike. Creighton.

Joinson replaces Dick Nelson, who resigned this summer to accept an assistant coaching position at Augustana College in Sloux Falls, S. D.

The Devils open their season Friday, Dec. 4, at Blair, First home game is during the Wayne State Holiday Tournament over Christmas vacation.

Athlete of the Week

Anderson, Johnson, Kirchner. Swanson, Pehrson

Although keeping them straight may have given the coaching staff fits at times, the offensive line for the Laurel Bears produced one of its finest efforts last week as the Bears smashed Scribner, 24-14, to rap uptheir first Husker Conference championship in four attempts.

For that effort, the offensive line earns recognition as the latest "Athlete's) of the Week." Making up the line enter Steve Anderson, 6-1, 225 pounds; guard Brent Johnson, 5-4, 155 pounds; guard Jim Kirctner, 5-8, 166 pounds; tackle Regg Swanson, 6-2, 180 pounds; tackle Regg Pehrson, 5-11, 170 pounds.

The five prepeters are all senior sons of Mr. and Mrs. Art Anderson of Laurel, Mr. and Mrs. Evert Johnson of Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kirchner of Concord, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Swanson of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. El-wood Pehrson of Laurel.

They tearmed up to overpower Scribner's defense Veterans' Day, allowing the Laurel runners to plug their way to 355 yards rushing on the sloppy field. That rushing of ense was the highest output of the Bears since their opening game, at Bloomfield. Coach Vince Bramer said the major share of the praise for that output goes to those five players and their superb job of blocking.

Had not those five players come through for Bramer, it could have been a different story in that play-off. Bramer had decided before the opening ickoff to throw a ground attack against the Trojans. The sloppy field and the blustery who made that decilation almost treversible. The Bears, considered by many one of the finest passing teams in north-east Nebrasia, collected only 35 yards on aerials, hitting four of 15 attempts.

Three of those offensive Himmen also turned in fine defensive efforts against Scribner: Anderson came up with eight tackles and four assists, Swanson with six and five, and Pehrson with four and six. The other two linemen didn't see much action defensively in the play-off.

When the line was called upon to provide protection for quarterback Steve Erwin on pass plays, it came through. For instance, against to Willi

Besides those two boys names Regg, there was a Regg Lubberstedt out for football at Laurel this year. And, to make it even worse, there was a Steve McCorkindale, Steve Smith, Steve Burns and Steve Erwin the coaches had to keep straight from Steve Anderson. Maybe the parents of boys in the Laurel-Congord area could get together in the future and choose-names which wouldn't to the football of the staff of t get together in the future and give their coaches gray hair.

Bears 8th in State

The Laurel Bears, relishing their perfect 10-0 mark on the football field this year, pulled down eighth spot on the final listing of the top 10 Class Beams in Nebraska by the Omaha World-Herald.

The Bears ended the year the winningest Class B team in the state but earned no higher ranking from Conde Sargent because of the large number of Class C squads they faced this year.

Taking the state Class B crown was powerhouse Lincoln Plus X. Although sporting only a 5-3 mark, the Plus team camed the crown because of the stiff competition it faced all season and the wins it racked up over Class A schools.

Wayne Man Uninjured As Auto Rolls Over

As Auto Rolls Over

A Wayne man escaped injury around 7:10 a.m. Monday in a one-car mishap slightly less than three miles north of Wayne on Highway 15.

Trooper J. Turgeon, South Sloux City, investigated and reported that Ronald Brockman, 20, was northbound in a 1987 Chevrolet and lost control of the vehicle at the crest of a hill. Turgeon sald the auto left the road and entered a field on the west side of the highway, skidded, and rolled over.

Brockman was reportedly unhurb but Turgeon sald the car was estimated to be a total loss.

Here Come the Mice!

/ Cooler fall weather may invite visitors to your house - including such unwelcome ones as cluding such unwessessing control of the house mouse, a gray rodent, lives and breeds within the house, and its numbers increase to feeds upon fruit, crackrouse, and its numbers increase rapidly. It feeds upon fruit, crack-ers, stored cereals and other food crumbs. It is more active at night. It usually nests behind baseboards and walls, often gnawing wood and cotton for nesting material.

Mouseproof your house to keep mice out. If a garage is attached to your house, make sure all doors are ingood regair and tightly closed. A mouse can get in through a hole the size of a nickel.

Replace any broken windows or torn screens at ground level and shut all the cellar windows and doors. Usually, mice won't gnaw their way in—they get inside through existing openings. And they usually come in at ground level; they seldom climb up to look for an opening.

The best control for mice is still the trap. Peanut butter or bits of bacen are a most effective bait. Commercially prepared baits also control mice, but don't use them around the kitchen or in places where young sters or pets can be tempted. Also, remove any dead mice immediately.

As an added precaution, put tans or hait near strategic on, who has taught such classes for 17 years, will be the instructor.

Eligible veteran students must attend class 12 hours per week. The class will meet four hours per night on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. Field trips, tours and other educational demonstrations may be held in lieu of class room instruction if approved in advance by the class director. The approved curriculum calls for instruction in farm accounting, fundamentals of animal nutrition, swine production, dairy production, be of cattle production and crop production. At the time of approval, there were 28 veterans enrolled, it is hoped that enrollment will reach a minimum of 30 students soon, said Smith.

Veterans are eligible if they were in service six months or longer, any part of which was after January 31, 1955, received an honorable discharge and are engaged in full-time farming, either as a hired man or self employed. The Veterans Admin-istration will pay the veterans a monthly training allowance of $141 with no dependents, $165 with one dependent, $190 with two dependents and $10 for each addi-tional dependent.

Area veterans desiring to use their GI Bill entitle ment to further their farm education should contact their local service officer or Gael K. Gaer, Thurston County veterans' service officer in Pender. Veterans living outside of Thurston County may attend the class.

The Amazon River has 50,000 miles of navigable waterways, according to the National Geographic Society's book "Exploring the Amazon". An oceangoing freighter can sail 2,300 miles upriver and in some place find water beneath its kele deep enough to cover a ten-story building.

How to Close the Box?

We were afraid the Wayne city council was opening a Pandora's box when agreed to let residents of the city circulate cil was opening a Pandora's box when it agreed to let residents of the city circulate petitions in order to have the parking regulations in their neighborhoods changed. It sounds fine and Endoy, letting the people determine what kind of parking they want along the streets where they live, but what happens when those petitions start coming in? What happens when not quite all the residents of an area agree about what regulations are needed? What happens when the desired regulations seem unjustified? What happens when the people seem to want something that the council considers dangerous or detrimental to the area and the city as a whole?

What happens is that the council is compelled to turn down the requests for changing the regulations, creating the same thing the council tried to avoid when the petition idea was agreed upon—ill feelings by a large number of people.

Right now the petition process has a pretty poor batting record. Out of five pettlons given the council, not one has been approved. However, the council committee which has recommended what todo with each of the pettlions is reconsidering an earlier recommendation and it may be that at least one of those five requests may be approved.

Apparently, the council solved little of the basic problem when it decided to let the present parking regulations stand and permit the people more of a say in whether to change them in certain parts of the city. The problem will probably remain until the councilmen decide to dispose of it in one of two ways: by letting the people, through the petition process, have almost complete say in what particular constitutions are needed throughout the city. There will be criticism either way the council moves, but the move will have to be made if this problem is ever to be solved. — N.LH.

Sex Education in Our Schools

It'll be interesting to see what happens early in December when the State Board of Education holds its public hearing on those recommendations about teaching sex education in the schools across the state.

education in the schools across the state.

The recommendations – both pro and con – are the result of a study made by a board committee. The majority report by the committee recommended that responsibility for instruction in that touchy area should be left with the local school districts. The minority report called for the suspension of all comprehensive programs. effective the first of the year.

The board took no action on the recommendations but those recommendations will probably be considered further during the regular monthly board meeting the day after that public hearing.

We hope the board is able to stand its ground in the face of what promises to be severe criticism by many of the opponents of sex education in our public schools. The board will probably be called upon to keep its hands off of a subject which should be left completely to the parents and churches. It will be a test of strengths to see who prevails in, the meeting, if it ever comes about.

in Our Schools

It seems fairly simple to us that sex education—If we can put aside the comotations it raises in the mind—is a subject which each individual should know at least the basics about. One of the best ways to teach those basics is by qualified people in classroom situations. If seems highly desirable that information about that subject be taught before the countless old wives' tales warp a person's view of it. Therefore, it seems only logical that a certain amount of sex education be included in the cirriculum of our public schools.—NLH.

will bring change. As county government governs more people, provides more services, uses more money and assumes more responsibilities, it will continue to grow and change. One of the changes effective Jan. I will be increased salaries for some of those serving in county offices. The change is long overdue.

In 1965 the legislature set a minimum of $5,400 for the clerk, treasurer and assessor. This schedule went into effect Jan. I, 1967. The clerk of the district court, super intendent of rural schools, sherlift, county attorney, service officer and commissioners have been reclying less than $5,400. Without question, most anyone has a rough time of it living on about $100 a week before deductions these days.

The last Nebraska Legislature set a new minimum for 1974 of $6,500, or $125 a week for some county offices.

These salary figures may not be adequate within another 12 months. We feel one of the important things that will confront county commissioners in 1971 is that of the important things that will confront county commissioners in 1971 is that of making sure-salaries-are-adequate. Regardless of the business, attractive salaries are necessary to hire and motivate competent help.

Another change coming in 1974-15that of Wayne County being divided into three new districts each containing approximately the same number of people. Each district is represented by a commissioner. Districts were originally drawn so as to include similar number of square miles. Federal law requires districts now have a similar number of oppulation rather than land area. The new districts are necessary as a result of the one man-one vote federal ruling last year. Wayne County now has a superintendent of roads and we believe his work during 1971 will make considerable difference in that department of county government.

So as the county moves into its second

Impressions of Nebraska: 1857
In June, 1856, Henry M. Burt left his home in Northampton, Massachusetts, for the "great West." His travels eventually took him to Nebraska Territory, where he the "great West." His travels eventually took him to Nebraska Teriflory, where he was first employed as a surveyor, and later became the editor of the short-lived BELLEVUE GAZETTE. In 1839 or 1860 Burt returned to Northampton where he continued in the publishing business until hid death. In a letter to his count dated May 25, 1837, Burt described his trip to Nebraska and revealed his impressions of the West. Pollution Watchdogs Needed, State Study Committee Says

LINCOLN - A study committee's re-port to Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann recom-mends that a new department be created in state government to handle pollution Lyman of Lincoln, said responsibilities for pollution now are scattered throughout several agencies and the establishment of a new department than accessary first step toward preserving Nebraska's environment.

first step toward preserving Nebraska's environment.

The Governor's Study Committee on Environmental Control was formed by Tiermann last summer and asked to report this autuma on its findings and recommendations.

Tiermann had appointed the committee in compliance with a promise he made in an Earth Day speech to a University of Nebraska audience.

The nine-member committee wrote a 59-page report and presented it to the governor at a press conference late last week.

a 59-page report and presented it to the governor at a press conference late last week.

The new agency – which the committee suggested be called the State Department of Environmental Protection – should have strong enforcement powers and solid budgetary and staff support, according to the report.

The proposed department, the committee said, should be empowered to write rules and regulations to help it enforce state anti-pollution statutes.

The department should monitor, inspect and survey the environment and eable to investigate any complaints filled with it, the report said.

It he investigations or the surveys turned up any emergency situations, ac-turned up any emergency situations, according to the committee, the agency should have the authority to seek temporary injunctions in the name of the state to stop pollution practices.

The department also should be authorized to seal any equipment or vehicles which are causing pollution emergencies, the report said.

The agency also would have the power to hold hearings where necessary to get information which it considers important and give alleged polluters an opportunity to explain their side, the report added. The committee report said an environmental advisory council—composed of 11 citizens and six state government representatives—should be formed to replace three existing councils.

The report recommended the new council replace the Water Pollution Control Council, the Air Pollution Control Council and the Radiation Advisory Council.

The 11 citizen members of the new The 11 citizen members of the new council would be appointed by the governor. The six ex-officio members would repre-sent the State Department of Agricul-ture, the State Health Department, the Department of Water Resources, the Game and Parks Commission, the Soil and Water Conservation Commission and the Uni-versity of Nebraska, according to the versity of Neoraska, according to the report.

This council would advise the department on the establishment of environmental quality standards, the adoption of control programs, the development of plans, the administration of federal and mental quality standards, the adoption of centrol program s, the development of plans, the administration of federal and state financial grants, the evaluation of the effectiveness of the pollution control twork and the preparation of the department's budgets. The budgets, the report said, should be greater than the combined budgets for the existing anti-pollection operations. "It is obvious from the study committee hearings," the report said, "that if Nebraskans are to have the degree of environmental protection shich they desire, the budget and staff support of pollution control must be expanded in future years."

The committee ddn't recommend a separate laboratory for the proposed new department, but it did urge that a committee of professionals be formed to study the situation.

The report said many of the pollution problems facing Nebraska "are general in nature, involving broad public rights- and injury, rather than specific personal rights and injury, the secure of the degradation of the state's environment, or to enforce the public rights with regard to the environment, unless the can prove a personal lanjury."

Because of this, the committee said, the department should have the authority to act in behalf of the people in bringing action against alleged pollution sources, "Nebraska's efforts to obtain a centre of the control and control are hampered (today) by low budgetary.

I had first met Manny during the International Show in 1968, at the bar of the Conrad Hilton in Chicago. It was the cocktail hour while drinks were only $1.35.

in Chicago. It was the cocktail prices the better, for then the defour while drinks were only $1.35.

Manny was from New York. Was in imports, had a car franchise and evidently had made a fortune. His globular diamond ring and Tiff any wristwatch flashed in the blue and red neon lightis. Blg, big 10-gallon Stetson, tailored western shirt and sult. Shiny boots that had recently swum the Florida Everplades.

Manny was showing at the international, sort of, At least the bull was there (one-third was his). Manny had never seen the "There to four though the handshake on his presenting his $75,000 part-interest check in fact, he had never seen any other of his $67 $2,000 cows.

"What are cows worth?" he asked. Then answered himself, "Three to four thousand dollars? I saw where a Samantha Witch, half-sister of Double Shot Rye brought $37,500. Our executive vice-president sold it to his father-in-law. All subject to capital gain, too."

We drank and talked on. His aim: to be on the Association National Board. And why not? They were his type of people: all computerized and indoctrinated in public relations.

Next morning I drove Manny to the Halstead Avenue entrance. A sharp knife would have helped Manny had luck! Two of his bulls had been improved, had been stered (accidentally by a computer-directed New Jersey cowboy). Not the 25t bull prices, but 29c a hundred—against a 31c open top. The steers were too heavy, the packers explanation, weighing 1,204 lbs., but half the size of their father. Odd, everything Manny had been lectured was size, size and more size. Then why raise big cattle f you eventually get docked? Manny was OK then. The break down happened in the Internal Revenue office.

Lincle Sam decided Manny was not entitled to tax alleviation as his operation was a mere hobby. "Andyary, Mr. Frisible, steers cannyl be capitalized, merely figured as ordinary income." Six-years of nothing except a box of chains and registered number tags.

Top Production Of Forage Land Workshop Goal

Farmers in the Wayne area are being offered a chance to increase their forage production for maximum net profit, according to George Rehm, agronomist at the Northeast Station near Concord.

Rehm announced last week that a hay-pasture-slage workshop series will be held at the Northe-east Station and at Plainview this winter in order to give out

The workshop series at the Northeast Station a mile east of Concord will begin early in December. Sessions will be held there on Dec. 10 and 17 and on Jan. 14 and 22. The meetings will start at 7.30 p.m. and will last until about 9:30.

The other series of meetings will be held at the high school in Plainview. Meetings will be held there from 8 to 10 on Dec. 8 and 15 and Jan. 5, 12 and 19. There will be a registration fee of $5 for the Plainview series. There is no fee for the series scheduled for the Northeast Station.

included in the sessions will be information on using special purpose crops such as sudar grass and sudan sorghums, rec-ommendations on fertilizers for pasture and hay production, fer-tilizer requirements for silage crops and production of quality silage.

Also to be discussed will be diseases of forage crops, estab-lishment of alfalfa and grasses and economics of hay, pasture and sliage production.

County Agent's Column

Winning the West
Since Colonial days, America had been looking for a cheap fence that was "horse high, pig tight and bull strong." In the East, farmers had timber and stone to fashion fences, in the Prairie Plains, there was neither.

Barbed wire had been invented. Crop far mers fenced in land liong to them. Robert Frost said about New Brigland that good fences sometimes led to range wars and threatening 'loss of scalp'' to intruders on one's property.

of scalp" to intruders on one's property.

Behind the salesmen of barbed wire came the salesmen of wind-mills. This machine—first produced on a large scale in 1875—brought a new water source to cattlemen, particularly to those who had been fenced out of their former water holes by barbed wire. It also enabled cattle producers to keep the rangeland from getting overgrazed, as they could subdivide their pastures, each with a windrid!!

Most Evergreens-brop Needles

Most Evergreens Drop Needles Don't worry if some of your evergreens are dropping needles. Pines, spruces and similar evergreens usually start dropping a year's growth or needles in early fall.
In Scotch pines the three-yearold needles turn vellowish and

In Scotch pines the three-year-old needles turn yellowish and then fall off. The red pine usual-ly drops its four-year-old needles, while white pine normal-ly keeps only one or two year's growth.

The younger, green needles are at the ends of the branches. While this shedding operation is in progress the trees appear to be in trouble. However, a hard wind or heavy rain knocks the old needles to the ground and the tree again appears normal.

A summer of heavy rains or drought may upset this natural process and cause more than the normal number of needles to drop. In such cases, if a tree keeps its current year's needles in a green healthy condition, it will continue to grow the following year.

Another Area Survey
The Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment and unemployment in the Wayne area during this week, Guy A Lutz, director of the Bureau's regional office in, St. Paul announced today, In addition to the regular questions on employment asked each month, the survey will again collect information about supplemental or part-time jobs and the number of hours devoted to them.
The Bureau will also ask whether each person included in the sample voted in the November election or had been registered to vote. Similar questions were asked in 1968, 1966 and 1964. The households to be interviewed here are part of a scientifically designed sample that is representative of the entire U.S. population. The employment and unemployment statistics are colected monthly by the Bureau for
