Tex Sends Yankees Luck

Ticket sales for the Mineral Water Bowl began picking up the past few days, reports Dr. LeRoy Simpson, athletic director at Wayne State College. Simpson had about 150 tickets left for sale late Monday. He began with nearly 400 tickets to the bowl game, the first one for a Wayne State team in the school's history. Simpson and the football players had good reason to think that it's no small honor to go to that post-season affair. In the mail last week Simpson received a note of good luck he was to pass on to the team from a resident of Austin, Texas. The Texan said he found out that the Wildcats were headed to Mineral Springs, Mo., by reading an article in the local newspaper, The American Statesman. A student at Wayne in the summer of 1943 while in the Army Air Force, he wished the team continued success. The Texan's name is Harry P. Kleschick. The Wildcats will take on Franklin College in the 1:30 p.m. game Saturday afternoon. The game will be broadcast over the local radio station, KTCB.

Seven School People at Meetings

Three administrators from the Wayne-Carroll school system joined four members of the board of education to take part in professional meetings at Lincoln last week. The group attended the meetings of the State School Boards Association and the Nebraska Council of School Administrators. The school administrators, Superintendent Francis Ilaun and Principals Deryl Lawrence of the high school and Richard Matterer of the elementary school, met in the University of Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. The school board members, Lynn Roberts, Dorothy Ley, Morris Sandahl and Dean Pierson, met in the Radisson-Cornhusker Hotel. Among the subjects taken up during the two-day affair were differentiated salaries schedules, valuation of personnel, school board administration relationships and pupil-teacher relationships. Wakefield Juniors Engineer 'Off the Track'

Wakefield High School Juniors took an audience of several hundred people inside an old-fashioned railroad depot Monday night and gave them a 90-minute look as to what can happen when a train derails and forces an odd mixture of people to spend a night together waiting for a relief train. The three-act comedy, "Off the Track," portrays in humorous fashion what can happen when boy meets girl and when an old maid doesn't meet anybody but wishes she could. Thrown together for an unplanned 24-hour confrontation were college girls, an Italian lady and her daughter, a college man, an old maid, a persnickety woman of wealth, a young man and his fiancée, an old gentleman hard of hearing, the station agent and his handy man. The characters, each with a unique personality, seemed to enjoy playing bumper car with their ideas and frustrations resulting in a traffic jam of emotions. Acoustics in the Wakefield Elementary School gym, where the play was presented, are unusually good. The result is that cast members can be heard easily without microphones anywhere in the seating area. In fact, the acoustics are so excellent that it is necessary to shut off the furnace fans during a presentation because they, too, like the other sound, can be easily heard. Shutting off the heating fans resulted in a temperature being a little on the cool side Monday night but with the action on stage, not too many people minded. When it is possible for every cast member to be heard clearly, more interest is generated in a production. Not only were characters heard but acting honors must go to Dale Hansen for his portrayal of a not-to-well-educated hands man named Silas Dobbins, and to Carol Roberts who came on strong as an inquisitive old maid by the name of Miss Fidge McDougal. Other cast members and their parts were Steve Kraemer, station agent; Ruth Gustafson, Linda Tullberg and Janet Helkes as attractive college girls; Betty Rhodes, Italian woman; Carol Mills, Italian woman's daughter; Jerry Nicholson, college student; Kevin Peters, old gentleman hard of hearing; Devon Fischer, Willie

A Glimpse at What's Inside

You'll find them on pages six and seven of section one. —A letter from a former resident of Winside pointing out that the so-called depressed region of Appalachia has a lot in common with Winside, Nebraska. County Agent Harold Ingalls tries to explain what function that program serves in his column on the Farm Page.

Go WS Wildcats, Whip Franklin College Saturday

By Dick Manley

"We'll play just about the way we have been playing all season." This is Wayne State Coach Del Stoltenberg's strategy to counter the aerial warfare he exports from Franklin College Saturday afternoon in the Mineral Water Bowl at Excelsior Springs, Mo. "Our players have seen a lot of football in the air this year," he noted, "but we haven't seen anything quite like Franklin's run and shoot offense. It's something like Emporia threw at us last year." Stoltenberg might have winced at that last remark, remembering how Emporia bombed Wayne, 56-0, in the 1969 opener. However, he has a more recent memory — this year's opener when Wayne shackled Emporia, 31-3, with a furious defense against Hornet passing. The difference was a Wayne squad much matured from See WHIP FRANKLIN, page 9

Workshop to Spotlight Drug Usage

People from as far away as Genoa and Albion are expected in Wayne next week to attend the third in a series of drug education workshops being held across Nebraska by the State Department of Education. The workshop is scheduled for Wayne State College Monday through Thursday. On the local team which will take part in the all-day sessions are Tom Kerstine, student at Wayne High; Dick Keidel, representative from the community; Mary Ann Cottrell, member of the school staff, and Deryl Lawrence, principal at Wayne High. Among the schools who have pre-registered for the conference are Pender, Randolph, Wisner, Norfolk, Stanton, Hartington, Emerson-Hubbard and Homestead. The workshop is the result of President Richard Nixon's decision to make funds available to state departments of education to help develop drug education programs for school people, students and people in the community. Workshops have already been held in Chadron, where about 50 people turned out in spite of a six inch snow, and in Kearney, where about 130 people turned out. Other workshops will probably be held at Lincoln and Omaha. Among the subjects which will be discussed at the workshop are the causes of drug use and abuse, pharmacology of drugs, selecting wholesome alternatives to drug abuse and developing school curriculums and community programs for effective prevention of drug abuse. A large portion of the workshop will be devoted to small-group discussions. The teams which will attend from the various towns across

'Coupon Days' Here Again

"Coupon Days," the annual Thanksgiving promotion of the Wayne merchants, is here again. Stores and businesses across the city are offering various specials and sales to their customers as they begin the holiday season. Inside this issue of The Wayne Herald you will find advertisements from most of those merchants. Many of them are offering clip-out coupons which shoppers can turn in to save money on certain items. A total of 7,500 copies of this issue of the newspaper are being printed for distribution across the area. The printing is the first extra-circulation issue of the winter holiday season.

Raw Weather Hampers Shoot

Cold, raw weather cut down on the turnout for the Izaak Walton League annual Thanksgiving turkey shoot at the Wayne airport Sunday afternoon. However, about 30 gunners braved the cold to take part. Winning turkeys in the competition: Larry Haase and Tom Bronger, both of Wayne, one each; Randy Ellis of Allen, two; Denny Mau of Pender, one; Young of Heemer, two; J. Ross of Howardan, Iowa, one, and C. Benson of Sioux City, five. Taking home hams in the shooting were Stan Johnson of Wayne, Ellis, Ross, Young and Haase, all one each. Musical selections were presented between acts by members of the high school music department accompanied by Mrs. Lyle Trullinger. Cake and coffee were sold following both performances Monday and Tuesday nights.

Minors Pay $100 Fines

Four area youths charged with being minors in possession of alcoholic liquor were among seven persons appearing in Wayne County Court Friday through Monday. Judge Luverna Hilton fined each of the following four minors $100 and $5 court costs: Gene Weible, Winside; John E. Hale, Wisner; Richard T. Bohlenkamp, Wisner, and Jim J. Korzh, Pilger. Paying $5 court costs and fines for illegal parking were Freddie Hlasenpflug, Omaha, $15, and Earl Laetkenhaus, Humphrey, $10. Ronald Fink, Wayne, was fined $20 and costs of $8.05 on two See MINORS, page 9

'Dear Santa Claus: Here's What I Want'

Alright, young readers, here's your chance if you want to write a letter to Santa Claus this year. As in the past, The Wayne Herald will print as many letters to Santa as possible. If you want to have your letter printed in the newspaper so Santa can have a chance to read it, write it up and send it to the newspaper. If you have trouble in writing, ask an older brother or sister for some help.

Paper Drive Set

Wayne Boy Scout Troop 175 will be picking up old newspapers in Wayne and Winside Saturday. Scoutmaster Irwan Witse has asked that the papers be tied in bundles, if possible, as they will be put into storage. Bundling will help in loading and unloading the papers. Residents in Wayne and Winside are asked to put their old papers on porches or steps where they will be easily seen from the street. Scouts will begin picking up papers around 9 a.m., Witse said, so residents should have them on the porch early Saturday morning.

Post Office Asking For Help This Year

It's not too early to start thinking about addressing and mailing those Christmas letters, cards and packages, says Jim Wightman, Wayne postmaster. Wightman says that anybody planning on mailing gifts or letters overseas during the holiday season should check first with the window clerk to find out the best available dates. Be sure to wrap the packages securely, address them with ink on the outside rather than with stickers and make sure not to wait to the last minute to send them off, he says. Wightman says that those using the mails this holiday season can help speed the mail service by using ZIP codes and by not waiting until the last minute to send off their mail.

Social Security Man Plans Another Visit

Robert Swan of the Norfolk Social Security office plans on being in the Wayne County courthouse this coming Thursday, Dec. 3, to help anybody with problems they may be having with the federal program. Swan, who will be available for help from 9 to 11 a.m. next Thursday, said that people can continue working and still receive Social Security benefits, if your earnings are not over $1,680 for the year, you can still receive full benefits, he said. If your earnings are over that amount, you may still be eligible for some benefits, he noted. Anybody with questions about Social Security should see Swan when he is here next week or should call the Norfolk office at 371-1595 for information.

State's Air Pollution Subject of TV Show

Air pollution in Nebraska—a critical subject of statewide interest—is the focus of a special program, "Clear and Air," to be seen Monday at 7 p.m. on the Nebraska Educational Television Network.

Highlights of a recent public hearing by the state air pollution council in Lincoln (Nov. 12) will be seen, including excerpts of testimony of representatives of industry, government and the general public.

According to Walter J. Franche, state air pollution control officer, the hearing was held to define the technical goals of air pollution control and to review the air quality standard proposals under consideration by the council.

Joel Fowler, senior producer of public affairs for the NET Network, said the public hearing attracted over 250 people, including school children from the Lincoln-Omaha area who came by special bus for the hearing. The special report was videotaped by members of the public affairs unit and a University of Nebraska television remote crew.

You name it, the 1970 Wayne Herald all-star football team's probably got it. Height, weight, speed, savvy, experience. And probably in the right proportion to make it one of the strongest squads in the short history of the annual event.

The eight grid coaches from the schools in the West Husker Conference—Wayne, Laurel, Bloomfield, Pierce, Plainview, Madison, Neligh and Stanton—named 23 players to the offensive and defensive units of the third annual mythical team.

Leading that parade of stellar prepsters are seven from Laurel and six from Pierce. Wayne placed three young men on the team, Stanton two and Plainview and Bloomfield one each.

Three of those Laurel scrappers—linemen George Schroeder, Steve Anderson and Paul McCoy—made a good enough impression on the coaches of their opponents to rank mention on both the offensive and defensive units. Another player going both ways, Kim Thomas of Pierce, duplicates his double duty of a year ago.

Joining those four on the offensive line are Laurel's Jim Kirchner and Regg Pehrson and Pierce's Terry Wragge and Mike Christensen, making that part of the offense a strictly two-school affair. Pehrson and McCoy tied for honors as offensive linemen.

Named to the offensive backfield: Laurel's Steve Erwin and Jerry Sarha, Wayne's Tom Pflueger and Stanton's Marland Erbst.

On the defensive line are Laurel's Schroeder and Anderson, Wayne's Chuck Weible, Pierce's Kirk Hever and Plainview's big Bob Lingenfelter.

Forming the defensive backfield: Pierce's Thomas and Mark Luebe, Wayne's Mike Creighton, Laurel's McCoy, Stanton's Scott Burtwistle and Bloomfield's Randy Yaeger.

Madison and Neligh failed to place representatives on this year's squad.

Laurel's Vince Bramer has a fine honor added to his perfect season of 10 wins and no defeats by being tabbed by his opposing loop coaches as mentor of the 23 boys. That honor was earned by Wayne's Allen Hansen last year, the first year for it.

Senior Steve Erwin, no newcomer to northeast Nebraska sports buffs, quarterbacks the all-star team for the third straight year—no mean effort considering the quality of athletes in the area over the past three seasons.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Verdel Erwin of Concord, he is the only player selected unanimously for his spot. Nearly receiving that vote of confidence from the coaches were Pierce's Thomas, one of the most respected football players in the conference the past couple years, and Laurel's Schroeder, a young junior already making quite a name for himself among followers of area football and basketball.

This year's squad, if it ever got on the field together, would make any high school coach in the state beam with confidence. A quick look at it gives proof to that.

—For height: big 6-8 Bob Lingenfelter of Plainview, only a junior, or 6-6 Erwin of Laurel.

—For weight: husky Steve Anderson of Laurel at 230 pounds or, again, Lingenfelter at 260 pounds.

—For speed: flashy Jerry Sarha of Laurel or Tony Pflueger of Wayne, both capable of explosive gains.

—For savvy: take your pick, for you don't run in this company without something upstairs to go along with natural ability.

—And for experience: players like Marland Erbst of Stanton or Thomas of Pierce or McCoy of Laurel who have been workhorses for several seasons for their coaches.

Here's a look at the players making up the offensive line:

—George Schroeder: A junior who ended his football season in the play-off with Scribner when he suffered torn ligaments in his knee, he was the leading pass receiver for Laurel, catching 39 aerials for 584 yards and a 15-yard average. He also ranked high in defense by compiling 48 tackles and 29 assists. In the Bear Club, he ranked in second place with 33 points. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Schroeder, who farm east of Laurel.

—Steve Anderson: The big man on Bramer's squad this year, this senior was the man quarterback Erwin followed every time a few yards were needed in a critical situation. And for good reason—the center stands 6-1 and weighs in about 230 pounds. Some of Mr. and Mrs. Art Anderson of Laurel, Steve came up with 48 tackles and 37 assists and recovered four fumbles. He tied for third place with Regg Pehrson with 77 points in the Bear Club.

—Paul McCoy: Coach Bramer says that pound for pound McCoy is the toughest football player in northeast Nebraska. Some of the senior's statistics bear that out. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCoy of Laurel, he led his team in tackling with 81 solos and 47 assists. He pirated three passes, recovered

Bramer He

Vince Bramer, coach of the winningest football ever to come out of the Laurel area, has been named by his fellow coaches to lead the third annual Wayne Herald West Husker Conference All-Star Football Team.

Bramer, who has never had a losing season in his seven years at Laurel High, guided the 1970 Bears to a perfect 10-0 season, his first perfect showing since 1964 when he helped lead Laurel to a perfect 9-0 year.

For that effort the other coaches in the west end of the Husker Conference named him to take over the spot held by Wayne High's Allen Hansen last year. Hansen a year ago also produced a team which went all season without suffering a loss—9-0-1 after being tied by Pender in the Husker Conference play-off.

Said one of the coaches about the Laurel team: "It is always easy to see that the Laurel team makes the fewest mistakes and is the best disciplined of any team we play."

Laurel, Pierce Dominate 1970

two fumbles, scored 22 points, caught 13 passes for 235 yards and a 18.1 average. And he led the Bear Club with 96 points. Not bad for a 5-10 150-pounder.

—Jim Kirchner: Another product of the Concord area. Jim gets praise from his coach for just being a fine lineman.

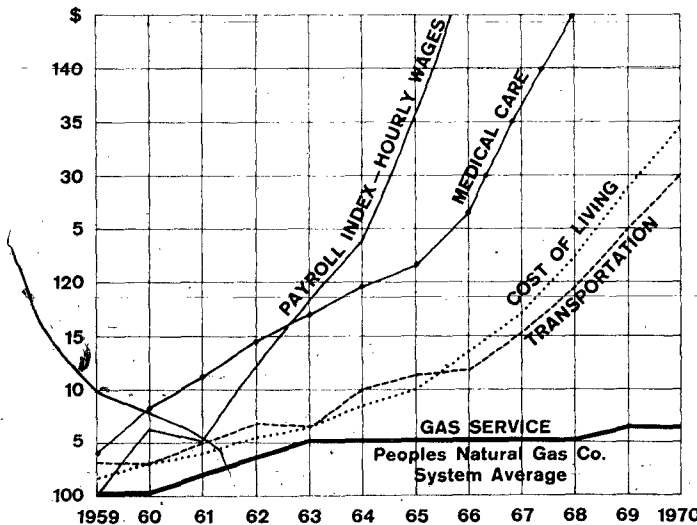

A senior, he blocks well and gets-out of the line very quickly, says Bramer. He had 38 tackles, 28 assists, two pass interceptions and one fumble recovery this year. With 72 points, he was fifth in the Bear Club, standing 5-7 and 160 pounds.

—Regg Pehrson: Also a senior, he was one of the main coaches in Laurel's fine offensive line which almost without fail provided the quarterback with fine protection on pass plays. Son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wood Pehrson of north of Laurel, he gained praise from his teammates for his fine blocking ability. In tackling, he had 44 solo efforts and 43 assists this season.

—Kim Thomas: "I just hope I have another one to coach like him some day," said Pierce's Boyd Blomkamp of this prepster. At 6-2 and 200 pounds, he gained respect from everybody he played against this season. A fine athlete in track (he went to state last year in the 440 and mile relay).

What more can we say?

Not much. When you see on the chart above how the cost of natural gas from Peoples hasn't gone up like most everything else, it tells a pretty good story. A story about a lot of wonderful modern living you get at a very low price. And isn't it nice that natural gas from the Peoples people can do so many things for you. Very small cost, plus great versatility, equals one of today's (and yesterday's and tomorrow's) greatest values!

ids All-Stars

That's an indirect compliment to the coaching staff of that squad.

The 1970 Laurel High team, ranked eighth in the state at the end of the season by the Omaha World-Herald, rolled over Bloomfield, 48-14; Neligh, 62-0; Pierce 28-7; Plattview, 56-8; Stanton, 42-12; Crofton, 72-0; Madison, 66-6; Wayne, 30-12, and O'Neill, 42-8. The Bears defeated Scribner, 34-14, in the loop play-off.

A total of seven Laurel players were named by the eight coaches in the West Husker Conference to The Wayne Herald all-star squad. Three of those were named to both offensive and defensive slots.

Bramer has chalked up a record of 57 wins and 10 defeats in his seven years at Laurel. Those season marks: 9-0, 9-1, 8-2, 6-3, 8-2, 7-2, 10-0.

A graduate of Kearney State College where he competed in football for four years, Bramer came to Laurel after coaching for two years at Shelby. While at Shelby he had a 9-10 record on the football field. He's a native of Mason City, Iowa.

he had 82 tackles and 58 assists this season. He is a senior.

—Terry Wragge: A classmate of Thomas, Terry had 51 solos, 24 assists while playing defensive middle guard. Blomkamp calls him about the best team player on his squad. He and Thomas were chosen honorary co-captains by their teammates late in the season.

—Mike Christensen: One of the most improved players on the Pierce team, this senior hauled in 20 passes for 244 yards and two touchdowns this year. At 6-2 and 185 pounds, he is only starting to show what he can do after growing about four inches and gaining 30 pounds since last year.

The all-star offensive backfield has to be one of the finest which could be assembled in the west end of the Husker Conference this year. Sketches of the preppers named to it:

—Steve Erwin: His coach credits him with a lot of know-how on the field. In fact, twice in the play-off game Erwin read the Scribner defense, threw out the coach's play and made first downs with his own calls. Both were crucial plays, Bramer points out. He's been the starting quarterback at Laurel for the past three years, had a good hand in helping Laurel to runner-up honors in the state Class B basketball tournament a year ago and jumped 6-0 in the state track meet last spring. His record stands by itself.

—Jerry Sarha: This senior has potential he doesn't even know about, according to his coach. A speedy 150-pounder, he carried the ball 87 times for 735 yards (8.4 average), tying Steve Burns for rushing honors on the team. He scored 96 points, second behind Erwin's 120. He also returned 17 punts for 314 yards and an 18.5 average. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Al Sarha of Laurel.

—Tony Pflueger: Son of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Pflueger of rural Wayne, he was Wayne's fastest back this season. Hansen calls him the most improved back since a year ago when he saw only limited action as a junior. He carried 102 times for 549 yards, scored eight touchdowns and two PAT's for 52 points and the scoring lead for the Devils.

—Marland Erbst: A big 6-1 and 193 pounds, he was leading rusher for the Mustangs, carrying the ball 166 times for 1,073 yards and a 6.5 average. He also scored the most points on his team, 98. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Erbst of Stanton.

The all-star defensive unit doesn't have to take a back seat to that offensive squad. A look at the line gives an indication why:

—Chuck Weible: One of Wayne's big men at 232 pounds, he tied Steve Kamish, an all-star a year ago, in tackles this season. Both had 58 solos, 38 assists. He was the most improved blocker the Devils had this season, according to Hansen. He's a senior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Weible of Wayne.

—Kirk Heyer: A tall 6-5, Kirk receives praise for his versatility. He was able to play almost any position given him this year, even filling in as quarterback when the regular got injured. As a junior he went to state in the 880 and the mile relay.

—Bob Lingenfelter: A grizzer standing 6-8 and weighing 260 pounds doesn't need much said about him. Says his coach: "They never tried to run at us on his side of the line." Although he turned 16 just a few weeks ago, he's already earned three football letters at Plainview.

—And, once again, Laurel's double duty men, Schroeder and Anderson.

Back Paul McCoy

The backfield-defense rates high, too. It's makeup:

—Mike Creighton: Quarterback for the Devils this year, he completed 36 passes of 95 attempts for 522 yards and seven touchdowns. He also returned six punts for 133 yards, scored six times and intercepted a pair of aeriels. On defense he came up with 25 tackles and 12 assists. A senior, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Creighton of Wayne.

—Scott Burtwistle: Named with Doug Podoll as honorary co-captains of the Mustangs, this senior week in and week out worked to his limit, says his coach. Named most valuable lineman by his teammates, he compiled most defensive points among the Mustangs. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Burtwistle Sr. of Stanton.

—Randy Yaeger: Although named to the defensive unit, this prepster gained respect for his offensive abilities. He carried the ball 698 yards in 141 tries and caught 24 passes for 340 yards, both team-leading efforts. He played defensive back the last half of the season and came up with several tackles which ruined touchdown runs, says his coach.

—Mark Luebe: One of those players plagued by injuries (he suffered broken bones the last three years), he showed this year some of his potential. He caught 10 passes for 282 yards and four TD's, had five kick returns for 145 yards and pirated two passes.

BIG RED VIEW FROM THE WOW BOOTH

WOW Sports Editor

Eleven games with no losses and one tie, that is the statistical story of the Nebraska Cornhuskers regular season. However, the biggest score of the season came last Saturday, the final game. While the opener against Southern (al) was a cliff-hanger, Nebraska was never behind in that contest. Against the Sooners of Oklahoma, Nebraska had to play catch-up football for more than half the game before finally winning, 28-21.

While many fans were disappointed in the size of the score, Nebraska did prove they do have the ability to come from behind and then hold off a strong threat from the opposition. Make no bones about it, the Oklahoma team that played the Huskers was a good one and when Nebraska failed to score on their first drive, losing the ball on Oklahoma's five-yard line, the Sooners picked up the momentum and thought and played as if they had no doubts they were going to win the game.

Sometimes we as fans get a little too greedy. It is not only good enough to win, but when it is as consistent as it has been this year, we expect super performances on every play and are disappointed when they do not happen. This should not be the case. Let's not forget all the pleasure the Huskers have given us over the season and the fact that they did come back and defeat an aroused Oklahoma team should be cheered just as highly as if the score were 51-0. In fact, I think this final game was just the tonic to have prior to the Orange Bowl game. You know the Huskers don't want another cliff-hanger like the Sooner game and will be ready for anything the opposition will provide.

Actually, the Huskers would have scored a lot more against Oklahoma if there had been more time to utilize the offense. This is a credit to Oklahoma. Their ball control, as a result of their continuous rushing offense, ate up many minutes that normally would not be utilized by a team using more of a passing game.

Nebraska's offense played their usual fine game, but the Sooner's wishbone running offense gave the defense problems all afternoon. On the plus side, the defense was there when it meant the difference between a tie or loss compared to a victory and is to be commended for that.

As we have said before, it is always more fun to win, and the Nebraska coaches, players and fans have had more than their share a month away in Miami.

We congratulate Mr. Devaney, his staff and the entire team for a super effort with the appropriate results for this 1970 season. They have done more than was expected and will go down as one of Nebraska's finest, if not the finest, football team in the school's history.

Wakefield, Allen Gridders Chosen

Here's a look at those five football players from the Wayne area named to recent all-conference teams.

Kirk Gardner, a sophomore, and Rob Mavis, a senior, were named as Wakefield's representatives on the East Husker squads. Gardner made the first all-conference defensive team and the second all-conference offensive team. Mavis made the second defensive unit.

John Warner, a junior, and Loren Reuter and Mike Isom, both seniors, are Allen High's representatives on the Lewis and Clark All-Conference Teams.

Warner made both the offensive and defensive units chosen from players in the east end of the loop. Reuter made the offensive squad, Isom the defensive squad.

Singleton Ends Season 2nd in Rushing

Wayne State's fine running back, Sam Singleton, ended the football season in second place in individual rushing, according to figures released by the District 11 (Nebraska) National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Singleton, who will have one more game ahead of him before the season ends, completed the regular season with a total of 1,087 yards in 295 rushes for a 126.3 average per game.

Kearney State's John Makovicka, the nation's leading scorer with 126 points and 21 touchdowns, led the rushing column with 248 rushes for 1,483 yards and a 148.3 average per game.

In third place in rushing was Mike Sallier of Doane with 1,001 yards in 224 tries for a 100.1 average.

As a team, the Wayne State Wildcats take a fine defensive record into Saturday's Mineral Water Bowl at Mineral Springs, Mo. Saturday. The squad was third in District 11 in defense, giving up 1,887 yards (715 rushing, 1,172 passing) for a 309.7 game average.

Tops in defense for the season was Hastings with a 183.7 average and 1,470 total yards yielded (546 rushing, 924 passing). Dana was second in defense with 1,849 total yards for a 215.4 average per game. Dana gave up 977 yards rushing and 872 passing.

Offensively, Wayne did not fare as well this season. The Wildcats were sixth of nine teams reporting, amassing 2,551 yards for a 283.4 average. That total came on 1,872 yards rushing and 679 yards passing.

The team with the top offense was Kearney with 4,137 total yards (3,013 rushing and 1,124 passing) for a 413.7 average per outing.

Two Area Gridders On All-State Team

Steve Erwin, senior at Laurel High School, gained one of the highest honors a high school football player can receive when he was named last week to the Omaha World-Herald Class B High School All-State Team.

The selection of Pierce's Kim Thomas, also a senior, for the team gave the West Husker Conference two representative on the squad.

Erwin, starting quarterback for the Bears in the past three years, helped guide his squad to a perfect 10-0 mark this year and to championships in the Northeast Nebraska Athletic Conference and the Husker Conference.

At 6-6 and 200 pounds he gained 1,808 yards in total offense. Most of that yardage—1,380—came on 81 pass completions. He scored 120 points for the Bears.

Statewide honors aren't new to Erwin. Last year as a junior he was named to the World-Herald's Class B all-state basketball team.

Thomas, without a doubt one of the toughest blockers and tacklers in northeast Nebraska, helped his team to a 7-2 mark this year. He's 6-1 and 195 pounds.

Both Erwin and Thomas were named to the Wayne Herald West Husker All-Star Team announced this week.

Considered for the 11-man team were George Schroeder, a junior at Laurel High, and Warren Stork and J. D. Alexander, seniors at Wisner-Pilger High.

NEN Cagers Listed On Lancers' Roster

Several northeast Nebraskans helped kick off the first basketball season for Mount Marty College in Yankton this week when the Lancers went up against Northern State College at Aberdeen.

Included on the basketball roster are two former Lewis and Clark all-star players: Lou Luebe, 6-4 and 205 pounds, and Gerald Throener, 6-5 and 195 pounds. Both are graduates of Norfolk Catholic and were named as seniors to the Top 20 named to the Norfolk Daily News. Throener is a native of Stanton.

Also on the roster are 6-4 Stan Ketter and 6-0 Sid Leise, both graduates of Wymore High School, and 6-4 Robert "Y" Thling, a graduate of Hartington Cedar Catholic High.

The Lancers, who will play Wayne State at Wayne on Feb. 16, average only 6-2. Gary Guy at 6-7 and 230 pounds, a senior transfer student from St. Benedict's College of Indiana, is the biggest player on the squad.

Coaching the first Lancer team is "Buddy" Geisler, former coach at McCook Junior College where he guided the cagers to the Nebraska Junior College Conference Championship in 1967-68 and to the Empire Conference Co-Championship in 1967.

Mount Marty, a private school, began accepting men as full-time students in 1969 and began its intercollegiate athletics program this fall.

Students in the Wayne-Carroll school system were dismissed from school early Wednesday afternoon for time off from school for the Thanksgiving holiday.

The students, who will return to school Monday morning, were let out of the elementary building at 2:15, out of middle school at 2:20 and out of high school at 2:30.

Students at Laurel, Allen, Wakefield and Winside are also taking advantage of a two-day Thanksgiving vacation.

LHS Council Suggests Codes

The school board of the Laurel-Concord school system will probably get to look over some recommendations on dress codes when it meets for its December meeting in a couple weeks.

The Laurel High student council has suggested that the board approve regulations concerning school dress which would have girls wearing blouses inside their skirts when the blouses have tails. Those blouses could be worn outside when the girl wore slacks. Boys would have to tuck in their shirt tails, according to the regulations suggested by the council.

Discussed by the council during a recent meeting were such activities as a basketball homecoming, a sock hop, a sweet-heart dance and a "free day."

Council members attending the recent convention at South Sioux City were Jim Kirehner, council president, and David Deyloff.

Whip Franklin -

the 1969 flock of youngsters who lost their first four games. Since then the Wildcats have won 11, lost two, tied one. Each of the losses was by seven points. In those 14 games Wayne has outscored the opposition, 390 to 117.

Stoltenberg figures his defensive secondary is seasoned enough against passing to stick with tested techniques. Wayne foes have scored five times by the pass, only six times by rushing against a defense that has yielded 79 yards average, now ranks 15th on NIAA rushing defense.

"Our problem will be to put pressure on Franklin's fine passer," Stoltenberg said. "He's good, no question about that."

Franklin's problem is something else — stopping the break-aways of fullback Jerry Luedtke and the bulldozer drives of fullback Jerry Luedtke, plus some tactical passing by quarterback Marty Going, who has completed 33 of 80, scoring on four, and been intercepted only twice. Singleton has averaged 120 yards, Luedtke 39.

Another problem for the Indiana team: outmaneuvering a Wayne defense that has intercepted 21 passes, recovered all but one of 18 enemy fumbles, and scored five touchdowns on returns.

Six Wildcats gained all-star selection in NIAA District 11 last week, among 23 players named by coaches. Seven others rated honorable mention.

One of the four Wayne all-stars on offense was Singleton, a senior who posted two new Wayne rushing records this year — most yards in a season, 1,087, and most yards in a career, 3,082. With passing added, his total offense is 3,195.

Laurel Stores Ready for Christmas

Stores in Laurel will be open Saturday evenings starting this weekend to better serve holiday shoppers in the area, reports the Laurel Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber notes that the stores will also be open the evenings of Dec. 16, 21, 22 and 23.

Weather

A cold front acting as a keystone for high winds swept over the area Saturday night plunging wind-chill temperatures below the zero mark through Sunday. The 30 to 40 m.p.h. breath of '01' Man Winter continued through Monday, but switched to the south Tuesday bringing warmer temps back into Wayne County.

Temperatures for the past few days are as follows:

AHS Juniors Present Laugh-O-Rama

Perhaps they didn't know when they were well off, or maybe they were just gluttons for punishment, but Hercules Nelson's uncle and aunt had long wanted him to come spend a week end with them. And to top it off, they even went so far as to say he could bring his bosom pal, Wilbur Maxwell. So with suitcases in hand, the boys arrive at Uncle Bob's set for a big week end.

The fun begins in "Finders Creepers," a three-act laugh-rama presented by Allen High School Juniors Friday, and Saturday, when Hercules and his buddy find out that their host's job is that of an undertaker. Members of the cast took their audiences, totaling approximately 500 people, on a two-hour laugh-filled adventure.

Hercules and Wilbur, both 13 years old and just-sized versions of a keg of dynamite, are terrified to think of staying in a funeral parlor. They are already to go home when they find there is another guest in the house by the name of Jason Ougley who "ran out of gas." His funeral is pending.

Wilbur and Hercules decide to remain in the mortician's business place, however, after meeting two pretty girls.

Ougley, supposedly a corpse, walks around, reads the paper and scares the life out of Hercules when he crawls in bed with him. The boys are shaking in their boots not knowing that Ougley isn't really dead. Someone had tried earlier to do away with Ougley, so he decided to make his family think he was dead, then show up at his own funeral and trap the guilty party.

The comedy unfolds as Hercules and Wilbur set out as self-made detectives to solve the case, which they finally do after throwing everything into a chaotic condition.

As the play ends the attempted murderer is found, the maid and caretaker have decided to get married, and a live-wire grandma also gets her man.

Characters were well cast and directed by Mrs. Betty Dahlquist, assisted by Rita Book. Cast members and their parts included Gaylord Strivens, Wilbur Maxwell; Lynn Carlson, Hercules; Paula Reuter, Celeste; Kathy Chapman, Nina Ougley; Shlor Kles, Frankie; Vickie Hirsch, Aunt Mary; Scott Stallone, Uncle Bob; Darcy Swanson, Granny; Jerry Gieger, Mr. Ougley; Fred Moore, Dr. Brown; Nadine Shortt, Madeline; Glenn Trube, Harry Schuster; Janice Kraemer, Daphne, and Gary Lanser as Claude.

Honors for exceptional characterization in the comedy go to Strivens and Carlson with lead parts, however all 14 cast members gave top notch performances.

Special mention must be made of Darcy Swanson who delighted the audiences with her portrayal of a hep cat granny. Allen High School students always put forth extra effort in the production of a play in that they must construct their own stage as well as sets in the school gym. Rita Book and Ray Brentlinger were in charge of the props. Joan Koester, Paul Roebek, John Warner and Melissa Emry made up the stage-planning crew.

Other committee members included Linda Adams and Evelyn Johnson in charge of make up; tickets and programs arranged by Shelley Creamer and Melissa Emry; sound and lighting handled by Mark Roebek, Gene French, Butch Hamilton, Larry Lindahl and Rick Dowling; advertising arranged by June Smith, Darcy Swanson and Dick Lux; and Evelyn Johnson, Linda Adams, Lorraine Hall and Janice Kraemer were in charge of the food sale following the play.

Taxes Due

Communist Plots Spotted

The spectre of creeping communism received a shot in the arm recently by the owners of an area locker plant which is being forced to close because the plant does not meet state standards.

In a paid newspaper advertisement the owners of the plant said that such invasion by state inspectors will cause the people in the state much suffering unless it is brought under control.

Communication Is Vital

Can You See?

"Oh, say can you see . . ." are likely some of the more familiar words of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

After looking over the accident reports kept by the Wayne Police Department, there are undoubtedly many motorists in Wayne who, upon having a near accident, have wanted to shout, "Say, can you see?"

A glance at the accident reports for the month of November reveals a high percentage of in-town collisions occurring when a driver was either backing out or pulling out of a parking stall and didn't look to see if there were oncoming vehicles.

Most of the collisions took place in the vicinity of a traffic light or on private business parking lots.

We wish those people who see communists lurking everywhere in our society would read the children's tale about the boy who cried wolf so many times that the fact finally lost its scare effect. Doubtless, there may be people in America who are dangerous to the established society.

Although they are probably very wrong, the people shouting wolf in these two cases are making use of a very popular and usually very successful ploy. If you want to get people to oppose something, start pointing out the communist plot lurking behind it.

Wayne has both parallel and diagonal parking systems, but it would appear that the number of accidents occurring does not favor either system when it comes to leaving a stall.

When an ice-coated street is partially to blame for an accident, most everyone who has ever driven can more or less understand how the collision may have happened. But when the streets are dry, it is a bit hard to understand how drivers can back right out of a parking stall, or pull out of one, and ram another motorist.

Whether one is driving in Wayne or elsewhere, it would be a good idea to use extra caution in trying to avoid, if possible, those who fail to have their vehicle under control and do not look where they are going.

Say, can you see? — MMW.

Remember when having a telephone was considered a luxury and how rapidly it became a necessity?

Remember when having a telephone was considered a luxury and how rapidly it became a necessity? The use of the telephone saves many steps, dollars and even lives in cases of emergency.

Realizing just how vital it is to communicate in a complex business world, we believe there is a serious communication gap existing in at least one specific area of county government, namely the road department.

Prices of road maintenance equipment in the way of patrols and trucks increases annually, hence county equipment must be used to a high degree of efficiency over a period of years in order to make it pay for itself.

There is some talk about installing two-way radios in the cabs of the county's trucks, road maintainers, commissioner's vehicles and in the courthouse.

Two-way radio in the cab of a maintainer or truck is like having a telephone at hand. The radios would come in handy particularly in the case of winter storms and snow-blocked roads.

In the days of the horse and buggy it wasn't so necessary for men in a business to keep in touch, but in this spare era when technological advances are such that two-way radios are mass produced and economically feasible, we think the county commissioners would be taking a right step in having such equipment put to use in county vehicles.

The President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, Washington, D.C. 20210

At the pleasure of the governor are scanning the "help wanted" ads. Agriculture Director Elmer Schlapoff already has learned he will be succeeded by Lincoln newsman Glenn Kneischer.

Exon also has announced the selection of former Sen. Norman Otto, an aid to Gov. Frank B. Morrison, as his top administrative assistant.

The governor-elect spent nearly a week in Florida catching up on his rest after the campaign and the immediate post-election flurry before he returned to his interim headquarters.

Upon his return, he found an appointment list which had him meeting someone almost every half hour. On the schedule were lobbyists, state senators, county officials and others who wanted to make early contact with the man who will captain Nebraska's ship of state the next four years.

In addition to settling on an administrative staff to begin on January 1, preparing an inaugural address and trying to maintain his heavy appointment schedule, the governor-to-be also had to turn his attention to the drafting of budget recommendations.

Still unsettled late last week was the question of whether Exon's budget proposals should cover one fiscal year or two. The issue arose because the voters Nov. 3 adopted a constitutional amendment which requires annual sessions of the legislature.

Another portion of the constitution says the lawmakers should make appropriations covering the period until their next regular session. Because of the amendment, the next session will be a year away.

So, annual budgeting instead of the two-year budgets, right? Not necessarily, what he proposes for the constitution directs the governor to submit budget recommendations for a biennium—or two-year period. If the governor is offering two-year budget proposals and the senators are making one-year budgets, there's a problem.

Exon met last week with Executive Director George Gordes of the Legislative Council and other legislative officials to discuss the situation. According to reports, the issue wasn't resolved yet.

One suggestion has been for the governor to give an interim accounting of the state for the coming year and a less specific recommendation for the following year.

However the mechanical problems of budgeting are resolved, Tiemann said Exon will find it "impossible" to make good on his pledge to hold the line on spending. Too much of the spending momentum is out of a governor's control, Tiemann said.

Dear Editor:

I read with interest an article from the Daily Telegraph in Sunday Magazine Nov. 8-Nov. 14, 1970, of Bluefield, W. Va., sent to us in Clinton by my mother-in-law of Spanishburg, W. Va., Mercer County. The article was entitled "Reflections on a Tour Among the Depressed Appalachia in the Eyes of a Nurse." Carol Hafeman is the young nurse from Kimball, Nebr., whose views were set forth in the article by Gretchen Fiel of the Western Nebraska Observer.

I do not beg to differ with Carol, but rather my reason for writing is to show another view of the part of Mercer County I know, and to compare it with my hometown of Winslow in Nebraska. I hope to show that Wayne County and Mercer County have much in common—people, living people who are not unlike.

I know that my husband and other West Virginians feel that articles written about Appalachia are sometimes misleading, or as my mother-in-law wrote, " . . . maybe I'm too close to the subject to see."

The winding road that leads into and out of Spanishburg is lined by many nice homes, wooden or stone or brick, a new church and new school additions. The straight road running east and west through Winslow is lined by many pretty fenced farmhouses, mostly original homestead houses, a nearly new church, new school and additions. The guy at the gas pump in Spanishburg waves neighborly to cars going through. The guy at the gas pump in Winslow waves neighborly to cars going through.

Minors make damn good money in West Virginia, so do farmers in Nebraska. You can see poverty in West Virginia AND Nebraska.

Some of my husband's aunts and uncles in West Virginia never completed high school. Some of my uncles in Nebraska never finished high school. Some of Phil's classmates finished college. Some of my classmates finished college. Phil and some of his classmates did not stay in Mercer County, I and some of my classmates did not stay in Wayne County.

My people in Nebraska are close-knit and warm-hearted and concerned about their fellow men. My husband's people are close-knit and warm-hearted and concerned about their fellow men. My people in Nebraska are concerned with saving the land and air. My husband's people in West Virginia are concerned with saving the land and air.

Medical service, Carol says, is at a premium and even people who can afford it have a hard time getting adequate care. Well, in Wayne County my folks seldom saw doctors and dentists. They seldom took us to doctors and dentists. My husband and I will do better about taking our children to doctors and dentists. Young parents in West Virginia will do better about taking their children to doctors and dentists.

"Many of these people are unaware that education is available for physically handicapped or mentally retarded children. . . . (That was said of the mountain people, it could just as well have been said of the farm people.)"

There seems to be a large percentage of physically handicapped or mentally retarded children, perhaps the result of generations of intermarriages among the same family, the article about Mercer County said. That sounds like a tale told in jest of the stereotyped picture people have of mountain folk, and taken seriously, as seriously as my believing Phil when he wanted to tell me before our marriage how much I'd like his home state and hometown.

"Why," he said, "I have an aunt who sits on the front porch and rocks and smokes a corncob pipe." Of course he was being satirical, because he knew I, too, had a stereotyped picture of life and people there. Oh, he has an aunt who is fun to bring enough to try it, but so do I have an aunt in Nebraska who is fun loving enough to try it.

"The mountain people find great enjoyment in their music and folklore, most of which have been handed down from one generation to another. Now an effort is being made to preserve the folk music and lore . . ." the article says.

The farm people of German, Danish and Swedish background in Winslow are preserving the traditional things. The Old Settlers' Picnic draws thousands of people for celebration and remembering yesteryears. The women still can peaches and apple butter. They quilt, fix Lutefisk, make sommer wurst, bake kuchen and

Mrs. Farley disagrees with the picture in the article drew. Wayne

Dear Editor: The author of the editorial "Progressive Change," Thursday, Nov. 19, in his discussion of the future redistricting of Wayne County, has overlooked an important problem in the redistricting process. This is a problem resulting from the presence of the residential student body of Wayne State College.

This residential student body now comprises 20 or 25 per cent of the entire population of Wayne County. Most of its members are not of voting age, and most of those who are of voting age are registered in some county other than Wayne.

The problem is, consequently, that if the redistricting by population is carried out in such a way that the Wayne State campus and adjacent rooming-house area are included in a single district, that district will be chosen by a very small electorate, one far smaller than that in either of the other two districts. This is just the sort of situation that the so-called "one-man-one-vote" principle was invoked to avoid.

Two possible solutions for this problem come to mind.

One solution is to redistrict the county in such a way that each of the three districts contains an approximately equal fraction of the residential student body population on the campus and in the adjacent rooming-house area. This method could assure roughly equal electorates for each of the districts since in each district there could be similar "mixes" of student and non-student population.

However, it also almost inevitably would lead to the creation of at least one district with an indefensibly peculiar shape. This is particularly the case since the city of Wayne, owing to Wayne State College, contains more than half the population of Wayne County, yet it is close to the northeastern corner of the county. With the possible exception of Atoka, there is no community in the county east of Wayne; by contrast, there are four west of Wayne—Sholes, Carroll, Winslow and Hoskins.

The other solution is to redistrict the county not according to raw population figures but rather according to numbers of registered voters. This procedure could assure that the electorate in each district was about as numerous as that in each of the other two. On the other hand, the procedure might be challenged in court. However, it might be defended there as a method designed to More LETTERS, page 3

What Made Nobby Run? Tiemann Wants Answer

LINCOLN—What made Nobby run? That's what lame duck Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said he has been wondering. The defeated Republican chief executive told newsmen the other day he probably should have followed his original impulse — not to seek a second term.

He said he was persuaded by others that he should ask the voters for another four-year lease on the Statehouse office so he could complete projects he had started.

That doesn't mean, Tiemann said, that he wasn't giving all he had during the campaigning this year. He said he worked hard and really thought on election day that he had won his battle. The polls he had seen, Tiemann said, showed he was widening his gap over Democrat J. J. Exon.

The polls were wrong. Tiemann said the voters may have misled the pollsters or the survey procedures may have been faulty. He wasn't sure.

As he looked back over this term, the governor said the real turning point in his life probably was the passage of the sales-income tax package in 1967.

Most Nebraskans, he said, expected the new tax system to provide them with measurable relief from property taxes. It didn't happen and Tiemann said he was blamed.

The governor said he tried to explain during town hall meetings and in other appearances that property taxes are levied by local governments — not by the state — but the argument didn't sell.

He claimed property taxes actually would have been much higher than they are if the state government weren't sending back sales and income tax revenues to the local levels through aid to schools, cities and counties.

There were other factors involved in his defeat, he said, but the tax issue transcended them all.

As for his personal future, he said it is too early to tell. He said he wouldn't rush into anything. One thing, however, he did say with certainty — "There's not much opportunity for public service left for me in Nebraska. I don't intend to hang around and run for every office that opens up."

Tiemann also was claiming there probably would be no federal appointments. A suggestion by Newsweek Magazine that Tiemann might be inserted into the Nixon lineup in place of another Nebraskan, Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, was considered unlikely to close Tiemann associates.

The closest the governor has come to a prediction about his own future is a comment that he probably would remain in Lincoln long enough for his oldest child, Mary, to graduate with her class from Lincoln Southeast High School.

While the governor ponders his future, many of his agency heads and other Tiemann staffers are doing the same. Gov.-elect J. J. Exon has promised he wouldn't be inductive as he exercises his appointment privileges but he said the voters indicated they wanted a change in the Statehouse and he would see that they get one.

Most of the department heads who

(Continued from page 2) cope with a problem of representation that can arise in only a tiny fraction of the more than 3,000 counties in the United States.

Nothing in this letter should be interpreted as derogatory to the splendid young adults who make up the student body of Wayne State College. The facts are that as a group they cast few votes in Wayne County, they pay few Wayne County taxes and they benefit from few Wayne County government services. In other words, they are largely isolated from the government of Wayne County. One may hope that they would be among the first to accept for themselves a treatment in the redistricting procedure that befits their exceptional status.

People Ask Us--

QUESTION: We have never joined a church in the Wayne area. What will we do when we lose a member of the family?

ANSWER: A funeral service is essentially a religious function of great spiritual significance. Its purpose is to conclude the physical existence of someone we love with the knowledge that God's will has been accomplished. At this time it is a priest or minister to whom your family should turn. He is your logical counselor by virtue of his training and dedication.

Clergymen in the Wayne area are known for their compassion and understanding. Those people who do not have a church affiliation will find many friends volunteering to help them select a clergyman. Our personnel are familiar with many religious denominations and can be helpful in this choice.

NEW Agers Listed On Lancers' Roster

A northeast Nebraska youth is among 12 University of Nebraska engineering students who have joined a dozen engineers to form a "protége" association. The purpose of the association is to allow students to work with professionals for one year, bringing out the practical aspects of material learned in class.

The program is sponsored by the Engineering Executive Board of the NE College of Engineering and Architecture and was arranged by Brad Barta of Merna.

Among those students taking part is Richard Luebbers of Osmond.

Nursing Career Offered by Army

The United States Army is offering qualified young men and women an opportunity to prepare for a professional nursing career through the Walter Reed Army Institute of Nursing (WRAIN) Program.

"If their application is accepted," said Sgt. Clevenger, local Army recruiter, "nearly all educational expenses are met by the Army for four years. In addition, they receive the pay and allowances of an E-3 (PFC) but do not have to attend any military training."

Prerequisites include high class standing in high school and satisfactory performance on the College Entrance Examination Board or the American College Test.

The first two years are spent in an accredited four-year college or university of their choosing. There they take general educational and pre-professional courses. The Army pays tuition and fees to the college. The student receives monthly pay and allowances for his or her room, board and personal expenses.

The candidates then enroll for the last two years in the University of Maryland's School of Nursing. The Walter Reed Army Medical Center provides clinical nursing and other educational experiences.

Upon graduation and successful completion of a state licensure examination in professional nursing, the candidate is commissioned a first lieutenant in the United States Army. The obligation for service is three years.

If you are interested in being a member of the corps, contact Sgt. Clevenger at the Selective Service office in Wayne.

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

The American farmer has recently been victimized by the most horrendous sell-out in agricultural economic history. And, by their own coach and alumni, association — the USDA and the university agriculture systems.

Nice guys, nice individuals, but misnamed. Not pro farmer, not pro agriculture, but pro consumer.

At a time when the railroads laugh at an offer of a wage increase of $1.32 per hour and when factions of the GM workers scuff at a $360 lifetime pension rise...

...the limited escalating cost of living clause, the farmer is found with 15¢ hogs and a beef trade riddled by cheap competition: domestic chickens, pork and import beef.

How did those 15¢ hogs happen? Over supply, you say? Rubbish!

In 1969 hogs rose from $19 to $27.50 per hundred. These were produced on $1.00-$1.10 corn. A raise.

From February thru September, 1970, hogs dropped from $29.50 to $19 — and now down to $16 or less — on $1.35 corn. A drop.

How? Simple. The USDA released two unfair, inaccurate and unneeded pig crop intention reports. One in February predicting some 13 per cent increase, the other in July predicting a 17 per cent increase!

You say, "But the USDA was right. Look at the October hog runs." Farm Moms, the USDA report was like a soothsayer telling a rancher in Cheyenne that he would step off a curbing and break an ankle. Not wanting to risk the six-inch curbing at the 6,000 feet altitude, our hero moved to Miami. There the ankle is broken — from a six-inch curb fall at sea level. The recent October $3 drop is not the problem. The damage was the prior $10 per hundred weight. A free fall, from 6,000 feet. A fall caused by the USDA's psychological price-setting propaganda.

The fact is the total hog slaughter from 1970 thru September, using both federal inspection and commercial kill, was 60,538,800. This sum was almost two million head below the 1969 kill of 62,520,800. Concentrate on this: A $20 a head 1969 rise on the two million more hogs. A $25 a head collapse initiated by pig intentions.

Last year I spoke to some 40 farm groups from Garden City, Kan., to McCook, Neb., to Ilwaco, S. D., to Ashton, Iowa, to Atkinson, Ill. Even to beef picketeers at Leviton, New York. At each meeting I asked for a show of hands for anyone who filled out a USDA crop, cattle or feed or pig intention report. I have found but three. Three!

Farm Moms, I daily speak on over 90 radio stations and over a dozen TV stations. Of the thousands of cards I receive, none mention telling Uncle Sam of intentions.

Today's article is not for political argument. Both parties have failed agriculture. Without cooperation, farmers and ranchers are merely pawns. And so are their associations and organizations.

Not one group came forward to oppose or question the authenticity or use of these reports.

Who do the reports help? Oh hogs, the consumer. In crops, the giant grain speculating houses. On cattle, the futures speculators, also well stressed a panic-point for packer buyers.

The November six-state cattle on feed report showed a two per cent increase over November, 1969, seven per cent over October. So what? Once born, that calf or yearling is either on grass or in a lot. No additional cattle exist. But the report's psychological shock had the national dressed market on the defense needlessly within two days.

Why does the USDA transmit these reports to every broker, speculator and newswire service? Why, by the department that is supposed to represent farmers, ranchers?

I propose this solution: Transfer 97.2 per cent of all USDA civil servants to a new US Department of Consumers, under the "Great Compromiser" Clifford Hardin or even "Cousin" Orville Freeman, computerized attorney. Australia loves them!

Then get about 300 good active cowmen and three hog producers, a dozen grain farmers and put them under some leader like Charlie Phelps of Iowa and Bill House of Kansas. Then open the chutes and let agriculture fly! Just one time, before dying, I'd like to see the leader of any university age system or the Extension service or of the USDA fight for the farmer. One leader not afraid to face up and tell other departmental secretaries and political VIP's in D.C. to go to Hades. To face up. To tell them that high farm prices are for the betterment of the USA.

"Happy Thanksgiving" from...

Truthfully, I'm tired of burling lawyers and inexperienced educators playing a role of "Compromising Mr. Perkins."

In agriculture, a federal-credibility gap exists. By error or by intent I do not know. But what happened to hogs could again happen to cattle as it did our last June. That report of an all-time record crop was nothing but a price restraint.

All I know is I have never met one incompetent who had been relieved of his duty, nor relegated to the janitor service. From consumer: hats off to seniority. But it is no help to agriculture!

Area Farm Families Attend Bureau Meet

People from Dixon and Cedar Counties took part in the state Farm Bureau Convention at North Platte Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

Dixon County residents at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bradman of Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fisher of Wakefield and Ernest Swanson of Wayne. At the affair from Cedar County were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dicks and Clarence Johnson of Laurel.

Drive to arrive — ALIVE!

County Agent's Column

by Harold Ingalls

Agriculture Extension Service — At a recent conference in Lincoln those of us in the Agriculture Extension Service were a bit shocked and surprised at some remarks made by panel members representing the news media.

On the panel were a small town news editor, the farm editor for a metropolitan newspaper and the general manager of an out-state radio station which is highly farm oriented.

The gist of their remarks indicated that we in the Agriculture Extension Service assume that most people know who we are and what we do. They said this is just not so.

The people on this panel had been given the assignment of appraising how effective Extension programs are. In preparation for this assignment they made a point of surveying people to find out what they knew about the Extension Service.

From what they told us it is evident that we haven't done a very good job in this area.

For example, one of the panel members had asked a number of people what the term cooperative meant in our official title. Not one came up with the right answer, which is, that ours is a service provided through the cooperation of federal, state and county governments.

For those who may not know, the Wayne County Extension office is located on the lower floor in the southeast corner of the courthouse. These are new quarters for us since early August. Formerly for some 20 years the office was on the upper floor.

The office assistant, Mrs. Ed Grone, is there to serve you from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. each week day. In the office you may obtain free publications from the United States Department of Agriculture and the Nebraska Experiment Station on a wide variety of subjects relating to agriculture and home economics.

Nebraska law provides for the establishment of county Extension offices and authorizes funds from local taxes to support the program. An elected county Extension board supervises the operation of the county office, mainly the expenditure of county tax monies.

County Extension agents are employed first by the State Extension Service, a department of the College of Agriculture, University of Nebraska. County Extension boards may approve or reject agent employees. Our immediate extension supervisor headquarters is the Southwest Station at Concord where Cal Ward has the dual role of district Extension director and station superintendent.

On the station staff specialists in crops, livestock, forestry and home economics who conduct programs in cooperation with county Extension agents. We have a radio communications system which connects us with the Northeast Station plus 10 county Extension offices and seven mobile units used by specialists.

The College of Agriculture serves three important functions and it is so divided for administration. First is resident teaching, second is the Experiment Station, which conducts research, and third is Agricultural Extension. In practice there is some overlapping in these functions.

The College is further subdivided into subject matter areas such as agronomy which in turn includes crops, weed control and soils. In each subject matter area we have people performing one or more of the functions listed earlier — teaching, research and Extension. Many of the specialists at the state and area level do both research and Extension.

The College of Agriculture is one of some dozen in the University, which was founded as a result of the passage of the Land Grant College Act about 1860.

In 1914 the federal government passed the Smith Lever Act which provided for grants to Land Grant colleges to establish the Extension service. So we get federal funds administered through the College of Agriculture, state funds as a part of the University of Nebraska and county funds to support the local office.

The total state Extension staff devotes one third of its time to 4-H Club work. In our case it is nearer one half.

A great deal of the home economics program is conducted through organized home Extension clubs.

Finally, our job in general is to relay the information from research in agriculture and home economics to outstate residents.

4-H Club News

DAD'S HELPERS
Dad's Helpers 4-H group, Dixon, met Nov. 16 at the Dixon School House. Ray Stohler, County Agent, spoke on various projects members could choose for the coming year. Safety was chosen as the club project.

Floyd Blooms and Duane Whites served. There will be no meeting in December. Next meeting will be Jan. 18 at the school house.

Film Successful

"The New Pork — An Exciting Taste Treat," released in mid-October, has already been booked for several hundred showings, according to John D. Lane, secretary of the Pork Industry Committee of the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Developed for use in home economics classes, the 20-minute film is appropriate for youth and adult audiences. Free-loan scheduling of both the 20-minute film and segments is being handled by a commercial film distributor. After Feb. 1, the 20-minute version will be available at $125 per print for purchase by interested groups.

The film features a young food editor of a large metropolitan newspaper who develops a series of articles featuring pork. The full color movie follows her as she selects pork cuts in a large supermarket and prepares and photographs a large variety of cooked pork dishes.

The five topics covered are the nutritive value of pork, quick meals with pork, the elegance of pork, outdoor cooking with pork and the versatility of pork.

Search Now on for Adventurous Youths

The search is on for bright, mature youths who are willing to spend six weeks with a family overseas and help promote international understanding. It's all part of the 1970-71 4-H Teen Caravan which will send youth groups to countries in Europe, Far East, Latin America and Caribbean.

A $3,000 national scholarship is available for the trip, says Dr. John Orr, associate state 4-H leader. Teens between the ages of 17 and 20, can inquire at the local county agent's office for further information and application blanks. Applications are due at the state 4-H office by Dec. 1.

Four-H Caravan members may find themselves helping a host brother hoe a garden in Norway, working on a language study with a host sister in Barbados or attending a local 4-H Club meeting in the Philippines.

Besides the stay with the host family, the Caravan program includes a ten-day educational tour of nearby countries, and some programs offer language training.

Each Caravan group is made up of 10 to 15 participants, and is accompanied by a responsible group leader who assists with planning and conducting the program, says Dr. Orr.

The Teen Caravan is conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation in behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service. The program in the host countries is arranged in cooperation with the 4-H counterpart organization.

A seminar in world agriculture and food problems, Seminar Ag-192, will be offered second semester by the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

"The purpose of the seminar is to introduce and discuss the critical factors related to international agriculture," according to Dr. William Colville, professor of agronomy. The seminar is an effort to make students more aware of the problems of world agriculture.

Topics for discussion include: food production and human nutrition problems; the effect of land tenure systems and agrarian reform on agricultural production; cultural consideration in agricultural assistance program development; the role of research in international agricultural programs; the implication of national agricultural policy related to agricultural development, and the identification of necessary conditions for a dynamic agricultural sector.

The seminar will meet Tuesdays at 4 p.m. and will be taught by NU personnel who have had experience with international agriculture are urged to participate in this seminar.

Lewis and Clark Lake began filling with the completion of Gavins Point Dam on the Missouri River in 1957. The reservoir contains some 540,000 acre-feet of water.

Local Youth Gets Scholarship

Gregg Jager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jager of Wayne, is the recipient of a $150 scholarship provided by the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben. He is in the agricultural machinery mechanics technology program at the University of Nebraska School of Technical Agriculture at Curtis, an educational institution which prepares young men and women for on and off-farm occupations in a variety of fields. Gerald Huntwork, assistant superintendent at UNSTA, presented the Ak-Sar-Ben award.

Wayne Officers Check Rash of Auto Mishaps

Wayne police officers have been called to investigate a rash of 12 auto accidents occurring in the last two weeks.

A 1970 Ford pickup driven by Albert Fuoss, stopped behind another vehicle stopped at Third and Main Streets for a traffic light Nov. 14, police said. A 1962 Dodge driven by Amy Echtenkamp could not stop in time, officers noted, and hit the pickup.

Marjorie Field, Wayne, was pulling out of a parking stall near the Third and Main Street intersection Nov. 16 and was in collision with a 1958 Oldsmobile driven by Merton Marshall, Wayne.

Officers investigated an accident in the 100 block on West Third Street Nov. 15 when a 1965 Chevrolet driven by Nancy Ehlers was stopped in the traffic lane waiting for a traffic light to change. Police said her vehicle was hit in the right rear fender by a 1965 Chevrolet driven by Edward Siemann, Wayne, backing out of a parking stall.

Ken Everingham, Wakefield, was going east in the Lil' Duffer parking lot on Nov. 19 when his 1970 Chevrolet was in collision with a 1967 Chevrolet, driven by Susan Finang, backing from a parking stall.

Jeffery Meyer, Winser, was southbound on Nebraska Street Nov. 19. Officers said he failed to stop at a stop sign at the intersection of Seventh and Nebraska Streets. His 1970 Chevrolet collided with a 1966 Ford, driven by Donald Cary, Wayne, westbound on Seventh Street.

Lloyd McNeil was northbound on Main Street in a 1963 Chevrolet Nov. 19 and was making a right turn onto Third Street when in collision with a 1968 Chevrolet, driven by Gertrude Vahlkamp, pulling out of a parking stall in the 200 block.

Vicar Talks to Club
 Vicar Dennis Lassanske of Grace Lutheran Church, Wayne, addressed the Wayne Kiwanis Club Monday noon following a Thanksgiving luncheon in the Women's Club room.
 Vicar Lassanske said he is studying for the Lutheran ministry and is spending his vicarage year working with the Rev. E. J. Bernthal and with Lutheran students on the Wayne State College campus.
 The ministerial student used the topic, "The Art of Thank-giving as Thanksgiving." He noted that the pilgrims marked the first Thanksgiving in brotherhood. Using selected portions of the Psalms, Vicar Lassanske challenged his listeners to be thankful in all things.

New Minor Added
 The College of St. Mary's at Omaha has added a new minor to be offered to second semester students beginning this year.
 Health Physical Education and Recreation is the designation for the field of study to achieve a minor. Students wanting an elementary or secondary minor will be required to complete 24 credit hours to receive a minor in the field.

SMILE! Then everybody will wonder what you've been up to.

Firm Reports Sale Of Business Stock

The Business Development Corporation of Nebraska, authorized in 1967 by the Nebraska Legislature, has sent a report of stock sales to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

The BDC is a privately organized and financed corporation created to provide a new type of credit pool plan for deserving small businesses when bank credit is not available. By meeting these firms' needs for funds for working capital, new machinery, plant expansion or construction, the Corporation is designed to help promote the economic development of the state. Wayne is one of 52 cities in the state in which stocks in BDC were sold. Buyers in Wayne purchased a total of $2,260 of the stock, an amount considerably higher than that sold in other Nebraska cities of similar size. The Nebraska Legislature requires that the Corporation have at least $200,000 paid-in capital stock before it is authorized to transact business other than that which relates to its organization.
