Santa's Arrival Kicks Off Holiday Season

Santa Claus, the guy who needs no introduction, arrives in Wayne Friday at 1:30 in the afternoon. Santa's arrival and this issue of The Wayne Herald officially kick off the Christmas season in Wayne. About 50 businesses and stores in and around Wayne have advertisements in this issue of the newspaper as they begin their holiday promotion.

Every night the stores in Wayne are open, plus several other times, the visitor from the North Pole will be in his house at different locations in Wayne, handing out free candy and taking down the lists of things youngsters want for Christmas. Parents are invited to take their children to see Santa and let them talk to him.

Stores will be open tonight (Thursday) and Friday and Dec. 10, 11, 15, 17, 18, 21, 22 and 23. Santa will also be in Wayne the afternoons of Dec. 12 and 19 and all day on Dec. 22 and 23.

Again this year the merchants in Wayne are sponsoring free movies for the youngsters. Those attractions: "4 Clowns" on Saturday, Dec. 12, and "The Circus" on Saturday, Dec. 19. Both shows are scheduled for the Gay Theater at 2 o'clock.

The first in a series of cash give-aways is scheduled for Friday in Wayne when stores participating in the Chamber of Commerce affair post the numbers selected in a drawing at 2 p.m. in their windows. There will be 20 numbers posted, with the $50 cash prize going to the person holding the number listed first. If the person with the top number doesn't step forward in one of those stores at 8 p.m. Friday, the prize goes to the second one, and so on until there is a winner.

Shoppers in the city have been receiving those tickets for several days now.

Those $50 cash prizes pave the way for five drawings for $500 each. Those drawings will be handled in the same manner as the ones for $50 each, except they are posted at 1 p.m. and there are 50 numbers posted.

In addition to the cash drawings in the citywide promotion, there will be the usual Cash Night drawings at 8 o'clock. This week's prize is worth $200 to the person who is present when his name is announced in the stores taking part in the weekly affair.

Letters to Santa Arriving

Several young girls have already written their Christmas letters to Santa Claus, care of The Wayne Herald.

Among the things they would like for Christmas are "a television and a pretty new red hat." They promise to leave the usual goodies for the Christmas eve caller.

Any other young people who want to tell Santa Claus what they want for Christmas should get their letters off as soon as possible. If they want to have it printed in the Wayne Herald, as the ones from the little girls mentioned earlier, make sure to address it in care of the newspaper.

The first group of letters to Santa appear in this issue of the newspaper.

Power District Honors Retiring Board Member

The Wayne County Public Power District board of directors honored Alfred G. Sydow and his wife with a dinner party Friday at Norfolk in observance of his coming retirement from the board at the end of the year.

Cal Comstock, manager of WCPD, noted that Sydow is the last of the original directors to retire. He said Sydow was active in getting the WCPD project organized and was elected to the first board of directors Mar. 1, 1938. He was also elected as the board's first president and served in that capacity city 28 of his 32 years on the board.

Comstock said the first major problem the original board faced, other than extending lines throughout Wayne County and half of Pierce County, was that of power supply. Sydow spearheaded efforts to provide the area with adequate power. Comstock noted, to assure its economic growth.

In 1956 the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative was organized with 24 rural power districts as members. Sydow served as president See POWER BOARD, page 8

Several Treats at Fingertips

Several treats await readers of this issue of The Wayne Herald. Samples: A look at pollution in Wayne County. A follow-up to the picture editorial on the pollution existing in the city of Wayne, this feature can be found on page three of section three.

Three color photographs in one advertisement. A unique production attempt by the newspaper staff, it can be found on page one of section three.

Weatherman Has Instant Replay On Thermometer

Does history repeat itself? The answer is yes, at least when it comes to November temperatures. The daytime high and nighttime low temperatures Nov. 25 and 26 were identical last year and again this year with a 60 degree high and 30 degree low on Nov. 25, and a 50 degree high and 26 degree low on Nov. 26. There was no precipitation during the past week or during the same period last year.

November was the driest month of the year in 1969 for Wayne County residents with a total amount of precipitation measuring .10 of an inch. Total precipitation for November this year, however, measured 1.61 See WEATHERMAN, page 8

Forage Workshop Set

Area farmers are reminded that the first session of the upcoming Hay-Pasture-Silage workshop series is slated from 7 to 9 p.m. Dec. 10 at the North-east Station near Concord.

George Rehm, agronomist at the Northeast Station, points out that the workshop series is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Nebraska and is open to all farmers in northeast Nebraska. At the first session, Dr. Wally Moline, state forage specialist from Lincoln, will discuss forage crops that are adapted to northeast Nebraska for a balanced forage program and forage crops that can be used in special and emergency situations. Fertilization of forage crops will also be covered at this session.

Rehm adds that the workshop series is designed to give farmers information that will help them increase income from forage acres.

Cars Hit in Allen

William E. Ronney, 17, Waterbury, reportedly escaped injury around 2:40 p.m. Sunday when the 1963 Ford he was driving was northbound on Harrison Street in Allen and collided with a parked 1966 Buick belonging to Rowena Ellis, Allen.

Trooper W. G. Watson, Wayne, investigated the collision. He said the Ford was damaged on the left front and rear, and the Buick was also damaged on the left side.

Judge Busy As 9 Fined In Two Days

The office of Wayne County Judge Luverna Hilton was a busy place Monday and Tuesday as nine persons appeared in county court to face various charges and fines.

Those paying $5 in court costs and fines were as follows:

- Speeding: Don Bahde, Kearney, $13, and Phillip Nugent, Kingsley, Iowa, $20.

Wins Baton Trophy

Vickie Stoltenberg, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Stoltenberg, Carroll, placed first in the novice division of the National Baton Twirling Association's opening national baton contest held in Omaha Saturday.

Miss Stoltenberg received a trophy and is now eligible to enter the intermediate division of future contests. She is a student of Mrs. LeRoy Damme, Winside.

College Art Show Rustic, Attractive

An art show that's different has been catching unusual attention at Wayne State's Fine Arts Center this week. Kathy Hanson of Omaha, a 1968 WSC graduate in art, and Pearl Hanson of Wayne, a senior art major, (pictured above) are the creators of what they call a "two woman art show." An amazing variety and quantity of work — most of it created since last July — is displayed in a rustic, rural motif. The works include sculpture, pottery, prints, crafts, drawings, watercolors, and batiks. Carlos Frey, art faculty member, noted that the show is attracting closer and longer attention from passersby than any show he can remember. The display will remain through Saturday. Many of the items are for sale, or already sold.

Post Office Seeks Everybody's Help

The postal employees at the Wayne post office are being forced into working extra hours in order to deliver mail which is insufficiently addressed, reports Postmaster Don Wightman.

Wightman said earlier this week that it is the responsibility of the people who send mail to make certain that the addresses they use on their packages and letters are correct. If they are not sure of those addresses, he said, they should check first before sending anything through the mail.

Many times the people who are receiving incorrectly addressed mail could help everybody involved by obtaining a card at the post office which they can fill out and send to the people or business sending them mail. This would cure many of the problems, such as those caused by banks or business suppliers sending mail without a full address.

Wightman pointed out that the U. S. Post Office no longer has a directory service which would let the employees make corrections on mailing lists. Tight budgetary controls have eliminated this service, he said.

How does all this apply to people living in Wayne? Wightman said that even though somebody has lived here for 30 years, it does not mean they will get their mail if it comes in incorrectly or insufficiently addressed. The young distributors in the post office may never have heard of these people and such mail could end up in the dead letter basket. A person may have only 50 letters to mail, the postmaster said, and they think the problem of delivering them is a minor one. But multiply that by 300 and you have a mountain of letters for the local post office to handle, he explained.

Thief Is Likely Hoping to Draw Christmas Cash

A thief or thieves broke into the rear of the Farmer's Co-op at 310 Main Street sometime either late Thursday night or early Friday morning and, according to the police report, took two cartons of cigarettes and 375 Christmas cash-drawing tickets.

In other police news officers investigated three accidents during the past week involving seven vehicles.

A 1966 Buick driven by Lawrence Shupe was southbound into the Super Valu parking lot around 2:50 p.m. Nov. 25 and stopped. He was struck, police said, by a 1962 Buick driven by Darlene Price backing from a parking stall.

Kenneth Otte was backing a 1967 Chevrolet out of a driveway in the 1300 block on Sherman Street Saturday, officer noted. See THIEF, page 8

Cat Mentor to Speak at Banquet

Del Stoltenberg, one of the major reasons for the Wayne State football team's exemplary showing this year, will be the featured speaker for the annual appreciation dinner for the Wayne High football players Tuesday night.

The dinner, scheduled for 7 o'clock at the Student Center on Wayne State campus, is being put on again this year by the parents of the players. The public is invited to attend.

Tickets for the dinner are available at $2.50 each at either the State National Bank or the

WS Student Injured As Auto Rolls Over

Norman H. Von Seggern, 20, Tekamah, a Wayne State College student, was taken to the Pender Community Hospital by the Pender rescue squad following a car accident Monday morning 10 miles south of Wakefield on Highway 16.

Trooper W. G. Watson, Wayne, investigated the mishap and reported Von Seggern was westbound on Highway 16 in a 1969 Chevrolet around 10 a.m. and apparently fell asleep at the wheel. Watson said the auto was going west and made the curve to the north, skidded into the east ditch and made one complete roll. Von Seggern was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises, Watson said, and released.

County Legion Posts Hold Annual Meeting

Members of American Legion Posts throughout Wayne County met at the Vet's Club rooms Monday night for an annual business meeting and election of officers. Wayne County Commander Carl Scheel presided over the 10-member assembly.

Officers elected for the coming year included Orville Lage, Pilsner, county commander, and Ollan Koch, Winside, county vice-commander.

The Legionnaires went on record approving the expansion of the veteran's burial plot in the Greenwood Cemetery by Wayne County.

Chris Bargholz, county veteran's service officer, explained the most recent veteran's benefits related to housing loans.

It was decided by the group to carry out the "Gifts to the Yanks That Gave" program on an individual post-level. In the program Legion posts contribute money or gifts to be sent as Christmas presents to those in veterans hospitals.

Beauty in Spotlight at WSC

Freshmen at Wayne State College will enjoy their special day Saturday. That's when they crown the Queen of the Green, and the upperclass passants have no vote in the matter. Candidates for the title are, clockwise from center front, Rosie Anderson, Lyons; Leslie Samelson, Hartington; Michele Hirschman, Madison; Marilyn Noecker, Crofton; Becky Fox, Bellevue; and Sherri Skelton,Ralston. The Student Union Board chose the six finalists from 12 nominees by dormitories, judging on poise, appearance, intelligence, attitude and personality. The winner will be announced Saturday night at the annual Queen of the Green dance.

Allenites Have Run of Bad Luck

An Allen family was having a bit of bad luck the past few days.

It began on Tuesday of last week when Mrs. Raymond Ellis fell down her basement steps and broke her left arm.

That's not all. At 1 a.m. Thanksgiving morning Mrs. Ellis went to the Dixon County Feedlots northwest of Allen to get her husband when he got off work. When they were returning to Allen a deer ran in front of them south of the Ernest Starks home on Highway 9.

Mrs. Ellis swerved to miss the deer and ran into the ditch on the east side of the road. The couple escaped serious injury when a steel post rammed into the front of the car on the passenger side.

But last Thursday was also a special day of thanks for the Ellis family. It was both Thanksgiving and Mrs. Ellis' birthday.

Tire Laws Stiffened

The Department of Transportation has announced that deep-tread, winter-type tires (snow-treads) manufactured after Dec. 31, 1970, will have to meet the same minimum performance levels as conventionally treaded tires, according to information received from the Nebraska Department of Roads.

The requirement was issued by the Department's National Highway Safety Bureau.

"Since deep-tread, winter-type tires must often perform at the same motor vehicle speeds and driving conditions as conventionally treaded tires, it is in the public interest that they meet the same minimum performance levels," said Douglas W. Toms, director of the National Highway Safety Bureau.

'Night Before The Wedding'
'Tell Me You Love Me, Junie Moon'

TV out of order? And the repairman says it will be another week? Pick up one or both of these books at your public library for a change of pace this evening. If you are a rapid reader or a scanner, and can time the children out and make yourself oblivious to everything around you, you can probably zip through both of these in a long evening. So stack the dishes, fold away the work you brought from the office and start with "Night Before The Wedding," a suspense novel by Gordon and Mildred Gordon.

The Gordons are a husband and wife team who specialize in suspense novels, also adapting them for the screen. This romantic story features a pretty young secretary, Gail Rogers, who is engaged to her employer, a criminal lawyer, and is making plans for her wedding, just a week away. Miss Rogers is drawn into a criminal plot which leaves her terrorized, though still clear-headed. Leary of everyone she comes in contact with during the week that follows, she as well as the reader, begins to suspect that everyone, including her fiancé, his clients, an old high school boyfriend and the police officers and psychologist, is against her. Interspersed with many tense moments are flashes of humor, human warmth and realism which draw the reader quickly to a surprise conclusion.

In "Tell Me You Love Me, Junie Moon" by Marjorie Kallie, Arthur and Warren, decide to set up housekeeping together upon their release from the hospital where they have spent considerable time with their various handicaps. Their actions set up quite a stir among other patients, hospital personnel and new neighbors. This book is the story of their unusual arrangement, the obstacles they encounter, and how they overcome them, and in addition is a deep study into the personalities of each. The reader is almost embarrassed at being forced to face, head-on, Junie Moon, her face and ego deeply acid scarred; spoiled, lazy Warren, a paraplegic with an unusual knack for getting others to do his will, and Arthur, who is losing out to an undiagnosed disease the fight for control over his muscles.

This story gives one an abrupt look at a part of reality most of us choose to look past. Perhaps the situation is a bit far-fetched, but the characters are not. We have all met, and chosen not to know these three, or their counterparts.

You will also be able to see this drama at the movie theatre in the near future.

D. Dvorak Marries

Donata Diane Dvorak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dvorak, Sidney, and Timothy M. Liewer, Osmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Liewer, Osmond, were married Sunday afternoon in rites at St. Mary's Church, Osmond. Father Barkepp officiated.

Honor attendants for the couple were Nick Nichols, Sidney, and Rodney Engler, Osmond. Gary Steckeberg and Steve Borgman, Osmond, were ushers and Mike Liewer and Pat Connolly were altar boys.

A reception for 100 guests was held following the ceremony at the church parlors.

The bride, a graduate of Sidney High School, is employed as a cosmetologist at Helen's Beauty Salon in Sidney. The bridegroom was graduated from Osmond High School and attended Vocational Technical School at Sidney. The couple are making their home at 1028 14th Avenue, Sidney.

The bride's mother is formerly of Hoskins and has many relatives there.

Dinner guests in the Etter home later were Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. Anderson, the baby's grandparents; Mrs. Alex Jeffrey, great grandmother, and Mr. and Mrs. John Swanson, Omaha. Afternoon callers were the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Kirtley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anderson and Lillian Anderson.

Linda Hagedorn, Gary Redel Marry

Linda Hagedorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hagedorn, West Point, and Gary Redel, son of John Redel and the late Mrs. Redel, Wayne, were married Nov. 21 in 1 p.m. double ring rites at St. Mary's Catholic Church, West Point.

The Rev. Thomas Sellentin officiated. Mrs. Tom Brazada sang "Because," "Lord Answer Me" and "Salve Regina," accompanied by Luella Buse at the organ.

The bride appeared at her father's side in a floor length gown of white sateen, accented with jeweled chantilly lace appliques and fashioned with A-line skirt which swept into an aisle wide waltz train. Her elbow length, lace edged mantilla cascaded from a bow and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Attending the bride were Janet Schlickbernd, West Point, maid of honor, and Rose Ann Vogel, Howells, and Lois Schlickbernd, bridesmaids, who wore floor length fashions of red chiffon, styled with white satin bodices. They were jeweled velvet and illusion hands in their hair and carried white fur muffs adorned with red carnations.

Best man was Dean Hagedorn, brother of the bride, and groomsmen were Dennis Redel, brother of the bridegroom, and Reed Wacker, Winslow. Ushers were Robert Hagedorn, West Point, and Randy Jacobson, Winslow.

The guest list included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Hagedorn and great grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Spenner, all of West Point, and the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Elsie Nelson, Winslow.

A reception and buffet luncheon were held at the Guardian Angels auditorium following the wedding. Serving as hosts to the event were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Redel, Mary Ulrich and Glenn Barstle registered guests and Barbara Stratmann and Marlene Hagedorn arranged gifts.

Linda Hron, Fremont, and Diane Throner, West Point, served punch and Mrs. Darrell Braesch and Mrs. Ray Ruskamp cut and served the cake which had been baked by Mrs. Vincent Hassler. Waitresses were Marcia Thib, Linda Wiesen, Vickie Wagner, Kathy Wiese, Benta Rief, Luella Buse, Peggy Prinz, LuAnn Schlickbernd, Mary Beth Hagedorn and Donna Ruskamp. Mrs. Willis Mahler was in charge.

The couple took a wedding trip to Wisconsin and are making their home at 429 North 156th Street, Bennington.

Laurel Couple Observes 50 Years of Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kraemer, Laurel, marked their golden wedding anniversary last week with a family dinner in the Verl Carlson home, Wakefield.

Decorations included a floral centerpiece with flowers representing each of the couple's children and grandchildren, and their one great grandchild. The four tiered anniversary cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Iner Peterson and Mrs. Verl Carlson, was cut and served by Mrs. Eugene Kraemer and Mrs. Fredrick Kraemer.

The couple's children are Bill Kraemer, St. Paul, Minn., Eugene Kraemer, Menomonee, Wis.; Fredrick Kraemer, Allen, and Mrs. Verl Carlson, Wakefield, all of whom were present with their families.

Mrs. Gordon Helgren arranged the program of Christmas carols and a pencil game, which was won by Mrs. Alvin Willers. Secret sisters' names were revealed with a gift exchange and new names were drawn for next year. The group decided to present a resident of Dahl Retirement Center a Christmas gift this year. On the committee to handle arrangements are Mrs. Carl Damm and Mrs. Mary Kleper.

The hostess served punch and cookies at the close of the afternoon, January 5 meeting will be with Mrs. Arlan Thies at 1:30 p.m.

Northeast Extension Notes

by Anna Marie Kreftsis

STRETCH Christmas $3 Stretch your imagination and you can stretch your Christmas dollars.

Start by planning early and setting a specific sum to spend on gifts. Determine the amount you can spend in cash and the sum you can pay on credit with bills falling due after Christmas. Total the amount you can afford to spend and stick to it.

Do-it-yourself presents will stretch Christmas dollars. Put the children to work on simple gifts and add a personal touch through your own handwork. A decorated small tree, a stocking filled with a small personal or household items or packaged foods might be appreciated by some folks on your gift list. When on the lookout for gifts, do some comparative shopping. Prices may differ as much as 25 to 35 per cent from store to store.

Interest rates paid by Christmas savings clubs are usually very low. The person wanting to stretch Christmas dollars will do better to put his money where it will earn higher interest rates. It takes thought and time to select the gift appropriate for each person on the list. The choice is not necessarily the most costly gift.

THINK! - Before you loose something up.

Just had a little argument with your husband, your wife, your boss? Cool off before you take the wheel of your car.

The emotionally upset driver is often not a safe driver—he has other things on his mind as he goes down the street or highway, often at high speed.

If you are still thinking about that argument, if you are depressed or in a mood where you do not seem to care what happens, if you are worried about a personal problem, think twice before you drive a car.

Injuries Loom Important in Area Sports Circles

by Norvin Hansen

Injuries will play a big role in area basketball and wrestling circles this year—at least for a few weeks.

Probably the hardest-hit is Laurel's basketball team. The Bears will have to do without valuable George Schroeder due to a knee injury suffered in the last game of the football season. A junior, he had a big hand in helping the Bears to runner-up honors in last year's Class 'B' state basketball tournament.

Also short-handed because of football mishaps are the Wayne High basketball team, where senior Dick Tietgen is sidelined by a back injury (also suffered in the season finale a few short weeks ago), and the Wakefield wrestling team, where Devon Fisher and Steve Kraemer, both juniors, are mending broken bones.

Fisher, who will probably wrestle this year in the 112-pound class, is nearly recuperated from a broken leg suffered in preseason football practice. He will probably be out of action another two weeks.

Young Kraemer, a regular last year at 115 pounds, will be out for some time longer than Fisher as he waits mending of a broken collarbone suffered about a third of the way through the grid season.

Here's a quick glance at what the area basketball and wrestling coaches have to say about their squads:

Wayne

Don Johnson, who stepped up to head basketball coach at Wayne High this year to take the place of Dick Nelson, says he is putting a lot of emphasis upon running to make up for a lack of height.

Tallest player he will probably start Friday night in the season opener against Blair is 6-3 junior Kyle Wilson. Others who are bidding for a starting assignment include junior Lonnie Biltott at 5-11 and seniors Mike Creighton at 5-10, Rod Cook at 5-10, Steve Peterson at 6-1 and Don Mau at 6-1.

Tietgen, who saw quite a bit of action as a junior a year ago, stands about 6-1. Johnson expects Tietgen to be out at least until after Christmas.

Good ball handling, which Johnson says is starting to develop on the squad, will also help to make up for that lack of height.

What has Blair got this year? Something the Wayne team will have to learn to overcome—a big man. Blair's 6-5 asset scored 15 points a year ago against Wayne. He'll probably be looking to score a lot more this time around.

With little hesitation, Johnson points to Laurel as the area's cage powerhouse again this year in spite of the injuries the squad is suffering from. Also fielding respectable team this season, says Johnson, are Pierce and Madison.

And on the local wrestling scene, Don Koenig fields six returning lettermen: junior Mark Bierman at 138 pounds and seniors Jim Meyer at 132, Chuck Pierson at 132, Tony Pfeiffer at 145, Rod Slevers at 155 and Steve Kamish at 185.

Injuries figure slightly in this area, for Kamish is suffering from a minor neck injury suffered in practice and Shane Giese, a junior, is waiting for a broken collarbone to heal fully before he gets into the thick of things. That injury was suffered in football.

Meyer is the only one of the some 39 out of wrestling who has seen state tourney competition. He went last year, along with then seniors Alan Wischoff and Doug Maurer.

One thing Koenig has going for him is depth. Again this year, thanks partly to the biggest crop of freshmen since the sport was started a few years ago, the team is three and four deep. Only exception to that is the 105-pound class where Terry Pfeiffer is the lone man now.

Toughest foe the Devils will face this year, according to Koenig, is Albion. Also deserving of respect are Schuyler and Wahoo.

Wakefield

Lyle Trullinger, in his third year as mat coach for the Trojans, will be calling upon five returning lettermen (Fisher is the sixth) to help him mold a team before Tuesday night's opener at home against Wisner-Pilger. Those lettermen: sophomores Dave Carlson at 119 pounds, Bob Twitte at 132 pounds and Kirk Gardner at 167 pounds, and seniors Steve Oswald at 126 pounds and Jerel Schroeder at 145 pounds.

Two of those have the experience gained from competing at the state tournament at Lincoln-Gardner and Oswald.

Trullinger says his squad is larger, stronger and more experienced than a year ago. He lost only five grapplers off his varsity squad of a year ago—two by injuries (Fisher and Kraemer) and three by graduation (Tom Nicholson, Bill Gustafson and Dave Lehman).

He will look to that squad to improve on a disappointing season a year ago when his squad was able to rack up only one dual victory.

Although the new head basketball coach at Wakefield, University of Nebraska graduate Ernie Kovar, doesn't have to worry about injured players, he does have a big job of rebuilding before him.

All five starters from the Trojan crew of a year ago are gone due to graduation. Kovar, who taught a year at Herman and then was assistant basketball coach at Ramoul, Ill., for two years, will have to depend heavily upon his only returning lettermen—6-2 Rick Olson and 5-11 Rob Mavis, both seniors.

Jockeying for starting slots against Winside Friday night are those two seniors, transfer from Emerson-Hubbard Pat Starzl, Dave Scheel, Kevin Peters, Kim Kline and Dave Gardner. Starzl and Peters are juniors, Scheel a sophomore and Gardner a senior.

Kovar, who says he hopes one of his strong points will be at the forward positions, doesn't kid himself about the tough schedule his squad faces. He looks for Oakland-Craig, Scribner and West Point High to field potent teams in a East Husker Conference which promises to be as strong in basketball as it was in football.

Allen

Buster Yannon, another University of Nebraska graduate, switches from football to basketball coaching duties Friday night when he pits his Allen High team against always tough Parca at Allen.

Probably among those who will be called upon to play in that tilt are returning lettermen John Warner, a 5-11 junior, Jerry Gogger, a 5-10 senior and Loren Reuter, a 5-8 senior. Gary Troth and Brian Linafelter, both 5-10 seniors, are mending injuries suffered in competition—Linafelter a knee injury from football and Troth an ankle injury from a basketball scrimmage.

Others who may see action Friday: Duane Mitchell, Jerome Roberts, Paul Ruback, Ray Brantlinger and Pete Snyder.

Injuries are playing no part in either the hardwood or mat action at Winside.

Winside

Harold Stimpson has seven grapplers seeking another letter—sophomores Doug Anderson at 98 pounds, Dave Jaeger at 105 pounds and Dean Krueger at 155 pounds, junior Larry Cleveland at 185 pounds and seniors Dale Miller at 138 pounds, Terry Jaeger at 145 pounds and Dennis Wade at heavyweight.

That many returning lettermen gives Stimpson the nucleus of a strong squad, especially considering that four of them have the experience of last year's state tourney under their belt—Jaeger, Cleveland, Miller and Wade.

That squad opens the season Tuesday night against Pender, a school which only this year began the mat sport.

State's Archers Back in Fields

Firearm-deer hunters in Nebraska finished their 1970 season recently, leaving the rest of the state's big game hunting in the hands of some 4,000 archers.

So far this year, a record 4,670 archery permits have been issued, and 602 hunters have already ended their season on a successful note by bagging a deer. During the entire season last year, 4,122 permits were issued and 761 bowmen scored for a success ratio of about 18.5 per cent.

Archers have about 30 days left of a 95-day season in which to bag their deer. The hunt opened on Sept. 18, closed for the nine-day firearm-deer season and reopened Monday to run through Dec. 31.

Archery-deer permits can still be obtained, either in person at Game Commission offices in Lincoln, Norfolk, Bassett, Alliance and North Platte, or by applying by mail. Application forms can be obtained from conservation officers, Game Commission offices and some 1,200 permit vendors across the state.

2 Area Bowmen Score

A couple more area archers scored recently. The latest to bag deer with bow and arrow include Randy Chamberlain of Stanton and Gordon Leader of Crofton.

Eagles Nearing 1970-71 Cage Opener

These three returning lettermen — plus two who are injured and will miss some action — will help Buster Yannon form a basketball team at Allen High this year. Yannon is in his first year at Allen, taking over from Don Kruse. The Eagles meet Ponce at home Friday in the season

WSC Football 1970 Now History

By Dick Manley

Football 1970 went into Wayne State's record book Saturday with seven wins, three losses, and while that third loss left an unhappy memory, the season ranked as the best since the 9-0 of 1949.

Wayne bowed, 40-12, to Franklin College, Ind., in the Mineral Water Bowl at Excelsior Springs, Mo., Franklin's win giving it also a 7-3 record.

Perhaps the best recap of what happened is this: Wayne's Wildcats had done to them what they did to their victims this year — take the breaks and frequently make the breaks.

The Grizzlies' passing was no surprise, but their defense was. It converted three lost Wayne fumbles into first-quarter touchdowns, and Wayne did not muster a scoring rally until defensive heroes turned the fourth-quarter tide.

It was Sam Singleton, Wayne all-time rushing leader, who pulled off the first spectacular — an 87-yard punt return for a touchdown, making the score 24-0. Trying for a two-point conversion, Singleton lobbed a pass under heavy pressure, but it fell short.

Wayne's next defensive break came with recovery of a Franklin fumble on the Wildcat 47. Freshman quarterback Tim Denham engineered a scoring drive of five plays and connected with senior end Jim Fletcher in the end zone for a 14-yard play. Another two-point effort turned into an interception.

The 53-yard drive included two slamming runs of nine and 15 yards by senior Doug Radtke, usually a defensive back, who played a lot of offense after starting fullback Jerry Ludtke suffered a knee injury on Wayne's first offensive play. Radtke totaled 40 yards, to tie Franklin's fullback Mike Bailey for rushing honors.

Franklin's first-quarter avalanche included a 32-yard fumble return by Blair Jackson (the kick for point went wide), a seven-yard run by Bailey and Tom Hauswald's kick, and a 42-yard pass to Bob Englander from sophomore quarterback Phil Powell, No. 2 ranking passer in the NAIA. Hauswald kicked the point again.

Early in the second canto, Powell shifted into running gear with a 19-yard option sprint to the Wayne one, then sneaked the final yard to end first-half scoring at 26-0.

Ferocious defense stymied long gains either way in the third quarter. One defensive gem was the season's eighth interception by halfback Charlie Wendt (the team's 22nd of the season, a school record). Powell heaved another of his pro-type long bombs in the fourth quarter, and wide receiver Bruce Hickman pulled it in for a 39-yarder to the Wayne one. Wayne defense stopped Bailey on the first play, but Brad Alburts scored on the next effort. A Powell-Hickman pass added the two-pointner.

Singleton's punt return touchdown came next, followed by another Powell aerial-attack building a 40-6 margin, with Hickman nabbing the final five-yarder.

That halted Powell to a 257-yard game total, eight yards over his season average.

The passing statistic, plus Wayne's seven fumbles — losing three — told the game story. Otherwise the Wildcats and Grizzlies battled on even terms.

City Recreation Cagers Open Play

Team V clipped Team VI, 46-42, in the only closely contested game in the opening round of the men's recreation basketball action Monday night in the city auditorium in Wayne.

Tom Dendinger paced the winners to that come-from-behind victory with 19 points. John Dorcy threw in 12 to help him with those duties. High for the losers were Dennis Spangler with 12 and John Matson and Steve Schram with 10 each.

Team V trailed the losers at 23-21 at half-time, then tied it up a 33-all going into the final eight minutes.

Team I knocked off Team II, 54-42, in the night's opening game when Hank Overin poured in 18 points, Harlan Freese 15 and Paul Relmors 11 for the winners. High for the losers was Don Kramer and Boeckenhauer with an even dozen each.

The other game was a runaway. Team III clobbered a short-handed Team IV, 64-29, behind the 20-point scoring of Dick Dittman and the contributions of Ron Dalton with 11, Carstens with 10, and John Rebensdorf with nine.

Brendt Lessmann came in with 16 for the losers while teammates Terry Lutt added five and Jim Keating four.

Next Monday night sees Team I playing VI at 7 p.m., V playing IV at 8 and III playing II at 9.

Cage Game Off

The Wayne High basketball team will have nearly two full weeks to prepare for the Dec. 15 date with Laurel, thanks to a cancellation of the Wayne-Papillon game on Dec. 12.

Wayne's Don Johnson, head coach of the Devils, found out a few days ago that Papillon did not have Wayne on its schedule for that date. Consequently, the game will be wiped off Wayne's slate.

The Devils, who face Blair in the season opener Friday night, have an open date Friday of next week, Dec. 11.

Johnson said it is too late in the season to try to fill the vacancy Dec. 12.

Antler growth is not a reliable means of telling the age of deer. Close examination of the teeth is a more accurate method.

Laurel

Not too much can be said about the Laurel cage team, a team which is almost a carbon copy of the one which put a lot of people on notice a year ago when it battled to runner-up honors in the Class B state meet at Lincoln.

But injuries are causing Coach Larry Moore plenty of headaches at the present. Out with a knee injury is junior George Schroeder, the victim of a play half-way through the Bears' final football game. Also suffering from a football injury to his knee is Rick Smith. Steve Erwin, 6-6 senior, sprained his ankle slightly a few days ago but is nearly up to par now. Don McCoy, another senior, is slightly hampered with a tendon injury to one of his wrists.

With that in mind, Moore looks for no easy games, especially in Friday's opener against Norfolk Catholic.

Moore sees two West Husker foes as fielding good basketball teams this season — Pierce and Stanton.

His players have a big chore ahead of them if they want to equal or better last year's enviable 25-2 mark. West Point High marred their perfect string in the Husker play-off and Cozad knocked them off in the state tourney finals.

Court Veteran

Gary Soden eyes the hoop from the free throw line in the Wildcat's gym at Winside High School getting ready for the season's opening game on the home court Friday against Wakarusa. Soden is the single returning letterman on the WHS squad and is going into his fourth year of play.

season, says Simpson, should be Battle Creek. Stanton will also field a respectable group of wrestlers, he says.

Jim Winch, cage coach at Winside, isn't so fortunate. He has Gary Soden, a 6-1 senior, as the only returning letterman. Winch lost by graduation the other four starters — Dave Witt, Fritz Weible, Scott Duerling and Doug Deck.

Even at that, he anticipates a respectable showing for his team. He points to his men underneath as one of his assets. Providing him with some of that help are Jon Behmer and Bob Krueger, both 6-2 juniors, and 5-10 Kevin Johnson and 6-1 Kevin Frevert, both seniors. They give him more height than he had a year ago when the Wildcats began a year which ended with an 11-8 record.

Lewis and Clark Conference powers in the west end, says Simpson, will be Randolph, a school which gained in size after the closing of the Catholic high school, and Coleridge, one of the perennial contenders in most L&C sports action.

New, Old Music Theme for Annual Concert

The annual Christmas Concert of Wayne State's music department, scheduled for Tuesday, will be programmed on a theme of "Christmas Music of the Twentieth Century."

The idea, said Dr. Cornell Runestad, choir director, is to illustrate the mixture of new and traditional in a body of seasonal music whose observation has attracted composers over the centuries.

Performing organizations for the 8 p.m. concert in WSC's Fine Arts Center will be the college choir and madrigal singers, directed by Dr. Runestad, and the brass choir directed by Dr. Lee Mendyk.

Dr. Robert Johnson, chairman of the communication arts department, will narrate a performance of Ron Nelson's "The Christmas Story" for choir, brass and baritone solo, to be sung by James Steinko of Council Bluffs. This extended work, written in 1959 by Nelson of the Brown University music faculty, is considered a significant recent addition to Christmas choral literature.

Another larger work to be sung by the choir is the "Fantasia on Christmas Carols" by Ralph Vaughan Williams. Written early in this century, the Fantasia is based on several traditional English carols. Vance Wolverson, Underwood, Iowa, will sing the baritone solo; Marcia Schieffer, pianist, Crofton, and Heather Jackson, Omaha, will assist.

The madrigal singers, a select group of 15 voices, will perform the "Christmas Carol" by Kodaly and several traditional carols in contemporary settings. The brass choir's program includes the familiar "Suite of Carols" by Leroy Anderson.

Harpist Karen Orr of Omaha will play traditional Christmas music in the lobby before the concert.

Dr. Runestad, new to the WSC faculty this year, taught at Concord College, Minnesota, and came to Wayne from the University of Illinois.

Members of the 68-voice choir include:

I See By The Herald

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harrison, Mark and Scott, Blair, were Thanksgiving dinner guests in the Mrs. R. W. Casper home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Owens, Wayne, and Bonnie Owens, Grand Island, returned Sunday from Evansville, Ind., where they had visited in the Walter Ludwig home since Nov. 19. Miss Owens attended the National English Teachers Convention at Atlanta, Ga.

Sue Young, South Sioux City; Lorna Luben, Wisner; Bonnie Witt, Wisner; Mary Lou Belling, Beecher; Dianne Joinsen, Laurel; Jeanne Kneiff, Newcastle; Leon Koehlimos, Pilger; Keith Krueger, Wakefield; Bruce Linafelter, Allen; Janice Myers, Plainville; Monte Niemann, Carroll; Marcia Schieffer, Crofton; Mary Trudy, Randolph, and Diane Young, Pender.

Bonds Make Fine Christmas Gifts

"This year, U.S. Savings Bonds make better than ever Christmas gifts," Henry E. Ley, Wayne County chairman for the Treasury's Savings Bonds Program, said recently.

"The interest rate is higher than ever, and the popular E Bond has a shorter-than-ever maturity period," he said.

"The recently announced one-half per cent bonus brings the effective rate of interest on Bonds bought today to five and one-half per cent if held to maturity — and E Bonds now mature in only five years, 10 months.

There are other reasons for buying Savings Bonds as gifts, Ley pointed out.

"You don't have to worry about style, size, shape or color. And they're priced to fit almost any pocketbook. They're indestructible — if lost, stolen, mutilated, or destroyed, the Treasury will replace them free of charge. They're patriotic, too.

"It's easy to buy Bonds. Your bank has them available in denominations ranging from $25 to $1,000. And you now have a choice of four colorful and free-gift envelopes.

"While Savings Bonds are especially appropriate at Christmas time, they are ideal gifts for almost any occasion," Ley added.

"For birthdays, new babies, anniversaries, graduations, weddings — you name it — Savings Bonds are the gift that keeps on giving," he said.

These six wrestlers at Wayne High will be seeking another letter this season under Coaches Don Koenig and Larry McClure. Clockwise from bottom left: Tony Pflueger, Chuck Pierson, Steve Kamish, Red Steverson, Jim Meyer, Mark Beiermann. The Blue Devils open the season tonight (Thursday) against Blair at the city auditorium. First action gets underway at 6:30.

Options in Business Career Day Subject On College Campus

What opportunities are there in business? Wayne State College students will have a chance to learn today (Thursday) during a career day sponsored by two business organizations on campus, Delta Sigma Pi fraternity and Theta Xi Omega sorority.

Willard Jones, senior from Davenport, Ia., chairman of the event, said 11 professional men and women will explain their specialties in business, finance and law.

The consultants: Lynn Hutton, Jr., Norfolk, law; Paul Synder, Sioux City, banking; Duane F. Hughes, Sioux City, insurance; Robert L. Pelkey, Norfolk, civil service; Dr. Robert Raymond, University of Nebraska, accounting; Mrs. Jewell Piper, Norfolk, secretarial; Bob Mohaco, Omaha, data processing; Dave Kellett, Norfolk, retailing; James Warner, Sioux City, investments; Dr. Orvid Owens, Wayne State, business education; Max Lundstrom, Wayne State, talking on "Selling Yourself."

Each consultant is scheduled to speak several hour-long seminars from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Connell Hall.

Three autos collided Sunday near the intersection of Seventh and Main Streets. Police said a 1968 Chevrolet driven by Michael Slevers was northbound on Main and stopped at the traffic light at Seventh Street. Daniel Frink, Norfolk, driving a 1967 Chrysler stopped behind the Slevers' auto. A 1956 Chevrolet driven by Scott Kraemaer, also northbound, struck the rear of the Chrysler, police said, pushing it forward into the Slevers' vehicle.

He got off to a shaky start last year when he was new in his position as head coach, taking over from John Jermier. Last year the Wildcats lost their first four games before rallying for a 7-4-1 season.

He will speak to a group of football players who also surprised many people this year. Allen Hansen's Blue Devils finished the year with a 7-2 record and runner-up honors in the west end of the Husker Conference. Many had predicted a season less successful for the prepsters since Hansen had back only two boys, Steve Kamish and Chuck Weible, off last year's starting units.

Allen High Grad Scores High in National Exams

A graduate of Allen High School has been notified she received exceptionally high grades in the examination which must be taken by all graduating medical technologists in the United States. Carol Hassler, a graduate of Wayne State College, received the highest grade in the bacteriology division and rated eighth from the highest in an average of all divisions of the test.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rastede of Allen, she earned the title of MT (ASCP) Carol Hassler. She did her internship in the Pontiac General Hospital in Pontiac, Mich., where she continued as an employee until September of this year when she moved to Colorado Springs, Colo. She is now working in the St. Francis Hospital at Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Hassler, a 1966 graduate of Allen High, is the wife of Pvt. Don Hassler. Their address is 1209 S. Nevada St., No. 32, Colorado Springs, Colo. 80903.

College Cagers Finally Upset at Home

Startling news! Wayne State lost a basketball game at home Tuesday night. That had not happened since the Holiday Tournament of December, 1967, when Westminster College, thirty-eight consecutive home victories followed that loss before Northwestern College downed the Wildcats Tuesday, 75-57.

defense produced the first Red Raider win over Wayne since January, 1964, in Orange City, Iowa.

The Wildcats have one more home game before Christmas, next Tuesday night against Midland, at 7:30. The 5:30 preliminary will match the Wayne junior varsity, now 2-0, against Sioux Empire College of Hawarden, Iowa. The junior Wildcats downed Northwestern's JV, 87-76, Tuesday.

Of course, in that span, Wayne lost only 12 other games anywhere.

Northwestern took the first lead, then trailed briefly before going ahead to stay, 12-10, and led at the intermission, 36-31. The Wildcats scrapped to a three-point deficit, 52-49, midway in the second half.

Red Raider scoring ranged from the 19 by Jerry Van Es down to 13 while Dana Trotholz paced Wayne with 13. Randy Rohlfesen hit 12, Dennis Siefkes 10.

Rex Tovera of Brewster, Kan., holds Nebraska's state record for striped bass. Tovera pulled the 4-pounder from Lake McConaughy on Aug. 5, 1969.

It is meant to distinguish the holder as a true hunter, one wise to the ways of Nebraska's many game species. Three levels of skill are recognized through the Mixed Bagger Awards: Marksman, Sharpshooter and Expert. To qualify as an Expert, a hunter must fill requirements for all eight species covered by the award. Sharpshooters must make good on six of the eight game birds and animals, while Marksman must score on four of eight. Requirements for each species: pheasant, two; quail, three; partridge chicken, one; sharp-tail grouse, one; duck, two; goose, one; cottontail, four; and squirrel, two. While gunners need not take all the species the same day, they must fill the requirements for one species and have it certified the same day by a conservation officer.

8 Bears Seek Another Letter Under Moore

Although some are the worse for wear, these returning lettermen at Laurel probably have big sights ahead of them. Coached by Larry Moore, last year they had a lot to do with Laurel's coming in runner-up in the Class B state basketball tournament. Cozad knocked them off in the finals. Kneeling from left: Steve Erwin, Paul McCoy, Brent Johnson, Steve Smith, Steve Burns. Back row: Regg Swanson, George Schroeder, Rick Smith. The Bears open the season Friday night against Norfolk Catholic.

1st Applications for State Hunting Awards Arriving in Lincoln

With hunting seasons in full swing, the first applications for the Game and Parks Commission's Mixed-Bagger Awards are arriving in Lincoln. The award was originated by the Commission last year to recognize sportsmen who enjoy and excel at many different kinds of hunting, rather than just concentrating on one or two species.

Hunters Fined

Three northeast Nebraska hunters have joined the long list of people who have been fined for hunting violations this year. Roland Becker of Hartington, Patrick Kuehn of Fordyce and John Bergerson of Norfolk all paid fines of $10 and costs for carrying a loaded shotgun in a motor vehicle. Paying a fine of $10 and costs for hunting with an artificial light was Roy Anderson of South Sioux.

services, to the organist and the pallbearers; all for their kind services. Mrs. J. M. Strahan, Mrs. Warren Callahan and Jim Strahan. d3

WE WISH TO EXPRESS our sincere thanks to all the relatives and friends for their thoughtfulness and for food, flowers and memorials given during the recent loss of our mother and grandmother. Our thanks to Dr. Roy Matson and the hospital staff. Our special thanks to those who served the dinner and lunch, to the singer, organist and pallbearers for their services. The family of Mrs. George Meyer. d3

WE WISH TO EXPRESS our sincere thanks to all our relatives and friends for their thoughtfulness and for food, flowers and memorials given during the recent loss of our mother and grandmother. Our thanks to Dr. Matson and Rev. Kirtley. Also to the ladies of Faith Circle who served the lunch, and to Gordon Nedergard and Paulette Merchant for the music and pallbearers for the service. The family of Catherine E. Winterstein. d3

WE WISH TO EXPRESS our sincere thanks to our kind friends and relatives for food, cards, memorials, flowers and other kindness shown us. A special thank you to Pastor de Freese for prayers at the time of the loss of our loved one. Mrs. Herbert Thun, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Warner and son and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stephenson and family. d3

A VERY SINCERE THANK YOU to all who were so kind and understanding at the time of the passing of our loved one. To our pastor and wife, the John Eppersons, Dr. Matson, nurses and hospital staff, ladies of the church for lunch, neighbors and friends: For the beautiful flowers, cards, food, memorials, and all expressions of sympathy we are so grateful. The family of Levi Glese. d3

I WISH TO EXTEND my sincere thanks to all the relatives and friends who remembered me with letters, cards, calls and gifts during my recent stay in the hospital and since my return home. All was very much appreciated. Harry F. Suehl. d3

Wakefield Cage Nucleus Small

Assistant Tim Pehrson, left, and Coach Ernie Kovar, right, have a big job ahead of them at Wakefield High this basketball season. The two, both new to the school system, have only Rick Olson, next to Pehrson, and Rob Mavis as returning lettermen this year. Kovar, taking over head mentor job in place of Dennis Crippen, will get a good idea of what his cagers will be able to do this year when he pits them against Winside at Winside Friday night, the season opener for both teams.

Pollution in Wayne County

Although many people will disagree, pollution in Wayne County is definitely a problem.

The problem is bigger than we had imagined before taking on the job of photographing some of that pollution for a follow-up picture editorial to the one we did on the pollution which exists in the city of Wayne. That first picture editorial appeared in last Thursday's issue of the newspaper. The follow-up appears in this issue.

If you disagree that there is pollution on the land and small streams in this county, get in your car Sunday afternoon and start driving around the countryside. If you're on the watch for it, the pollution which exists within just a few miles from your home will stand out sickeningly.

True, that pollution may be quite small. A couple rusting car bodies in this section. A few sacks of garbage in that road ditch. A six pack of empty beer cans along the side of a small stream. But if that kind of pollution exists in a part of the country where overcrowding is unheard of, imagine what problems exist in and around large cities such as New York, Chicago or Omaha.

It's probably safe to say that had those large cities attacked their pollution early, it wouldn't be the overwhelming problem it is today. Maybe the city and the county governments in Wayne County should be doing much more than they presently are in the same area. What do you think? — NLLH.

Cemetery Plots for Vets

Representatives of the VFW, Legion and WWI Barracks recently approached the county's commissioners with the idea of the county purchasing a plot of ground in Greenwood Cemetery containing at least four lots to expand the area in which veterans may be buried.

There is already an area in the cemetery for veterans, set aside before the turn of the century, but there are only about six grave sites remaining.

The organizations, after contacting representatives in Winslow and Carroll, met with the commissioners to see if the county is interested in adding to the Greenwood Cemetery veteran's plot. A veteran in Wayne County and his wife could be buried in the plot, according to the plan, if they so desired. There are many veterans, of course, who prefer being buried in private family grave sites. Others prefer burial in a designated area for vets.

We think the commissioners would be taking a step in the right direction should they decide to make additional space available in Greenwood Cemetery for the interment of county veterans.

As long as there are military services there will be veterans. It appears that after a man has given a portion of his life, if not all of it, to the service of his country, it is only right that there be an appropriate place available for his burial.

The commissioners are taking the idea into consideration and plan to meet with organizational representatives again soon. — MMW.

City Council Earns Thank You

The decision by the city council in Wayne to spend about $5,000 to put the Wayne ball park back into good condition should make a lot of people happy. We think we speak for many taxpayers when we say, thanks for finally making the decision.

The local ball park is in poor condition. In fact, it's in terrible condition considering the large amount of use it gets by people of all ages in all activities. The baseball park is not, as its name might indicate, a place where baseball is the sole activity. It is used almost 12 months a year for such things as recreation football, girls' softball, men's recreation softball and summer baseball. Since it is used so extensively, it doesn't seem to us too much to ask that it be in good condition.

That $5,000 the city will spend on fixing up the park will go toward painting and repairing the bleachers and grandstand, purchasing new fiberglass seating and installing new lights. Although more money could probably be easily spent on the public facility, we feel that amount will go a long way to making the park another of Wayne's assets. — NLLH.

Drug Workshop

Wayne is fortunate to be one of several sites in Nebraska selected for scheduled workshops on drug use and abuse. The workshop got underway Monday afternoon and concludes today (Thursday).

Representatives from schools throughout northeast Nebraska have been on the Wayne State College campus this week participating in the workshop sponsored by the State Department of Education. Federal funds were made available by President Nixon to help state departments of education throughout the nation develop drug education programs for school people and people in the community.

There are undoubtedly still folk who cannot imagine that area high school and college students are being lured into misusing drugs. Such people still believe drug abuse is not as yet a small town problem. They are very wrong.

There are those in Wayne who have experimented with drugs and now are reportedly peddling the drugs to others. It is a sorry business all the way and all too often a youth may die as a result.

Why do young people, who surely cannot be totally ignorant of the disastrous result of drug abuse, want to experiment with something that has the potential of being deadly? The proud owner of a new car is not going to pour sugar into the gas tank just to find what happens, so why would a bright healthy youth abuse his body with drugs just to find out what happens?

We're grateful that the workshop on drugs was held in Wayne and hope that the education program will be carried back to every school represented. Perhaps if the drug education program can continue on a student-to-student basis, the problem of drug abuse can be whipped.

Acid is simply not the answer to life's complex problems. — MMW.

Stanley Says He's Quitting As State Education Head

LINCOLN — One of the first jobs of the "new" State Board of Education will be the selection of a state education commissioner.

Cecil Stanley, who has the job now, says he doesn't want to keep it. Stanley was appointed in 1969 after the board dismissed Dr. Floyd A. Miller on a 5-3 vote.

The Legislature that year adopted a law setting the commissioner's term at two years and directed the board to consider at its first meeting after each general election whether to keep the incumbent commissioner or hire a new one.

That law was a result of the controversy which swirled around Miller's firing. Until the new law was passed, the commissioner had served "at the pleasure" of the board with no term.

Stanley was tapped to move from assistant commissioner for vocational education to the top job. He said at the time he agreed to do so only because "an emergency now exists for the Department of Education."

He said he had never sought the commissionership and wasn't seeking it then. After two years on the job, Stanley still isn't interested in a career as education commissioner.

"It's been a wonderful experience. Every member (of the board) has tried not to put me under pressure and the schoolmen have been very cooperative," Stanley said.

"It's been pleasant and I'd just as soon terminate it on that note."

Stanley said when he accepted the appointment as Miller's successor he did so with the understanding that he could return to his job as assistant commissioner for vocational education when the two-year term was up Feb. 1.

He said he understands one board can't obligate another and the new board

the SOBER FACTS

DRUNKEN DRIVERS KILL FIVE TIMES AS MANY AMERICANS AS DOES VIETNAM WAR

The Vietnam War has killed more than 27,000 Americans over the past five years . . . but drunk drivers have killed 134,000 persons on U.S. highways in the same period.

must decide whether to give him back the vote-ed position.

He said the only way he would even consider continuing as commissioner is if he were asked to pay "100 per cent of the board — not seven of the eight members, but all of them — and if there were an expression from the schoolmen that they wanted me to remain."

The five members who voted against Miller early in 1969 were Dr. Allen P. Burkhardt of Norfolk, Lloyd Wright of Reynolds, John Wagoner of Grand Island, Mrs. Deborah Shepherd of Lexington and John Lunday of Omaha. They became known as "the majority."

After the general election, only Burkhardt and Wright remain on the board. Mrs. Shepherd was defeated by Mrs. Marilyn Fowler of Lexington and Wagoner was beaten by Gerald Whelan of Hastings. Lunday didn't seek re-election.

The three-member "minority" on the Miller issue — and many others — was composed of Frank Landis of Lincoln, Norman Otto of Millard and Robert G. Simmons Jr. of Scottsbluff.

Simmons was defeated Nov. 3 by Mrs. Shirley A. Petersen of Amelia and Otto has been selected to serve as Governor-elect J. J. Exon's administrative assistant and will have to give up his board seat.

Mrs. Fowler, Whelan and Francis Y. Knappell of Omaha, who was elected in Lunday's district, are expected to become allies of Landis. Most state board observers think Exon will appoint someone of Otto's philosophy to fill the vacancy, giving the former "minority" a majority status.

Mrs. Petersen is expected to join with Burkhardt and Wright in a new "minority."

Machinery Balks
The legislature is going electronic. A computerized system of bill drafting has been installed to handle the preparation of legislation during the 1971 session. But the legislative staff was having troubles getting it into operation in the early stages.

Emory Burnett, the assistant bill drafter assigned to "mother hen" the sophisticated equipment, said, however, he was confident it would be operating smoothly well before the crush hits just prior to the opening of the session Jan. 5.

Council Meets Dec. 24
The Legislative Council, the off-season research arm of the legislature, meets next week to hear reports from study committees.

The council, which is made up of the full membership of the 1969 Legislature, will open its two-day session with a report from the Constitutional Revision Commission.

It's during these council meetings that electioneering for legislative leadership posts usually hits high gear.

Among the candidates mentioned for speaker for the 1971 session are Sens. J. W. Burbach of Crofton, C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, Herb Dulis of Gothenburg and Harold Simpson of Lincoln. Other names may pop up as the new session approaches.

Under rules proposed for the next session, the speaker would have much more power than ever before.

Some observers have speculated that it would be like in 1971 if Burbach is elected speaker and the rules are adopted to make him a real force. Burbach opposed Gov.-elect J. J. Exon in the Democratic primary last spring and is known to have strong differences with Exon on several issues — particularly natural resource district reorganization and elimination of the food sales tax.

Exon opposes the natural resource district legislation adopted last session. Burbach has sought a way to implement it so that it meets with a minimum of public objections. Exon has campaigned for elimination of the tax on food items, while Burbach has said it's better to col-

$200 Could Help Santa

Marlin Schuttler of rural Wayne could have had $150 to spend on Christmas presents or anything else had he been present in a participating Wayne business firm Friday night when his name was called at 8 p.m. as winner of the Cash Night drawing. The drawing, usually held on Thursday night, was held Friday—last week due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

The give-aways—money will amount to $200 this Thursday night. If that person whose name is called is present in a participating store, he or she will be $200 richer.

Floyd Bracken, manager of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, noted Friday night that the last four jackpot winners have won at the $200 mark.

Will there be a fifth $200 winner Thursday? That, Bracken noted, is the big question.

All you need do to have a chance at winning the jackpot is to register in a participating business firm in Wayne and then be present in one of those stores at the time your name is called at the weekly drawing.

I See By The Herald

Mr. and Mrs. Don Lutt and Debby, Wayne, returned Friday from Mt. Clemens, Mich., where they had visited Mr. and Mrs.

Frank Lutt and Brian James since Nov. 21, Sunday they attended baptism services for their grandson and went to the Detroit-San Francisco football game.

Frank (Bus) Strahan, LaPlante, Calif., and Mrs. Betty Strahan Krieger, Nebraska City, were in Wayne last week to attend services for J. M. Strahan.

WHS Senior Describes Adventures in Germany

Kathryn Hepburn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hepburn, Wayne, is the first Wayne High School senior to study overseas in the Americans Abroad program. She is currently living with a family in Schonberg, Germany, located in the Taunus Mountains 20 miles from Frankfurt, and attends St. Angela Schule, an all-girls Catholic school in Koenigstein.

Kathryn lives with Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Brux and their five children. She describes some of her experiences in the following letter written to her parents Oct. 30.

Dear Family:

"Last Sunday afternoon, the Brux family took me to Saalburg in the Taunus Mts. This is the site of the reconstructed ruins of an ancient Roman fortification. During the early history of Germany when the Romans occupied the country, a long wall called the Limes was built across the entire length of it. Along this wall, the Romans built watchtowers and castles as fortifications against the Goths, or German warriors. Many large German cities today, such as Freiburg, Stuttgart, Worms, and Cologne, have arisen from such Roman fortifications.

"The reconstructed Saalburg ruins are one such example of Roman fortification along the Limes Line. It was an ensemble of large public buildings and private houses, all surrounded by a high stone and turreted wall, and a moat. Inside these buildings today, one can see the everyday items used in the lives of these Romans, and objects used for warfare. These included handsomely decorated shoes, combs, eating and cooking utensils, jewelry, crude farming equipment, and catapults for stones and arrows. One could also observe the ancient heating system of these huge, half-timbered buildings: a tremendous fire was built in one small room, and warm air flowed from here through ducts underneath the floors. It is especially commendable when one realizes that these methods were employed by a civilization existing over 1200 years ago!

"Last Wednesday was the feast day of St. Ursula which has a special significance for St. Angelaschule since it is run by an Ursulian Order of nuns. Consequently, after a special high Mass, an Ausflug or Spaziergang was proclaimed for all classes! This meant a day of wandering and adventure for each class. My class "wandered" straight to a Gasthof on the edge of the forest in a nearby town, where it commenced to merrily chat and drink Heisse Apfelwein (a typical German drink somewhat like hot cider only with alcohol) for two hours. It was really hilarious because some girls tried to translate some dirty German jokes for me into English, and one can imagine what was added and subtracted in translation!

"The major of Schonberg presented me with two free front row tickets to a play given by the amateur theater group last Friday evening, "Hebraten ist immer ein Risiko" (Marriage is Always a Risk). It is an English comedy-mystery, and by hanging on to every spoken word I was able to understand the most important points.

"The following day we had only 3 hours of classes as that was the beginning of the week long Herbst Ferien or autumn vacation. (Gott sei Dank!) That morning during the first two hours of chemistry, our teacher showed us slides on Berlin. He is quite acquainted with the city and was eager to share his knowledge with my class, as it is now making high-strung plans for a week-long trip into the city in mid-November. For me, of course, this imaginary tour of the "Island city" was particularly interesting. The program ended with a few appalling pictures of dead persons and their futile attempts to cross the Iron Curtain. All the windows in the buildings on the street adjacent to the wall in the East Zone are cemented shut, because too many persons have tried to jump out of them into the West. The wall itself is an ugly thing—a high stone structure topped by masses of barbed wire, which stretches from northern Germany south to the border of Czechoslovakia.

"By the way, Soviet House Minister Gromyko and his German counterpart Walter Scheel met at Schloss Hotel in Kronberg yesterday. (Kronberg flows directly into Schonberg.) The Schloss Hotel is very well known because it was once a castle. Anyway, he was only here for a matter of 6 hours, so the public didn't get to see him. I find it also noteworthy that Prince Philip of England has a cousin in Kronberg, so he frequently spends some vacation time here!

"My trip into the Black Forest last weekend was really great. The landscape there is beautiful now with all the trees turning the mountains into blankets of red and gold. Large, old and velvety rich green Tannenbaums are also plentiful, and have given the Schwarzwald its name. Hen and Frau Knispel and their 18-year-old daughter Siegrid are a marvelous family and have invited me to come again (alone!) for 8 days during Christmas vacation when they will take me even deeper into the Schwarzwald and show me all the picturesque places of interest! Herr K. is especially interesting to talk with and answered eagerly all my questions. He was a prisoner of war in Calgary, Canada for four years, and so speaks some primitive English. The Knispels live in a small town just south of Karlsruhe, which is one of the larger German cities (300,000). Saturday evening we all drove into the city to window-shop, and there I saw a beautifully illuminated castle which was once inhabited by the governing baron of the area. The Germany Supreme Court is now in Karlsruhe. It was in Leipzig before the war but was later moved as Leipzig is now in the East Zone!

"The next morning they took me to church in a lovely structure from the Middle Ages—"St. Martin's". This part of Germany is famous for its oxygen-rich and invigorating air, and many of the smaller towns in Schwarzwald are old resort spots.

"That evening I took the train out from Frankfurt (alone!) to attend a sparsely populated meeting of the AFS committee in this area. Andreas picked me up at the station, and we drove together to the "American House". This is a large, modern building for all American activities in the city of Frankfurt, and consequently the building most frequently bombed in anti-American demonstrations. At the meeting I met two young men who had just returned this past summer from a year in the States—one in Kansas, and the other in Iowa! The Kansas is the inverted hippie-type (fifmy, again) and a real yoga enthusiast like myself. I stealthily got my hands into a big thick AFS notebook, with about half the contents pertaining to me and the Brux family. I really find it fantastic the way AFS Germany treats each of its new members, with such watchfulness and tender-loving-care. Barbel and Ulil from AFS Hamburg have written such marvelously sweet and encouraging letters in which they express such a real interest and concern in my adjustment to Germany. I am also corresponding with another girl living in Hessen who just returned from a year in Cincinnati, Ohio. She's just frothing with advice, because as she gushes, "I want to repay somehow for my year in AFS!"

"On Wednesday, Matilda and I attended the Hungarian Kammer orchestra concert in Kronberg. Unlike the symphony orchestra concerts in Frankfurt, this group is small (only string instruments) and the audience was more intimate. The first number was a flute concert, which was heavenly perfect. A relevant newspaper quote: It's very true that when one is too close to things, one doesn't see them properly. Have you perhaps noticed that when you've been abroad for a time and then come back to your own country, you notice things you always took for granted? Or that a foreign visitor opened your eyes to aspects of your national life you'd never seen before? This is one of the things that makes student exchanges and foreign travel so worth while; not only that one gets to know other peoples' way of life, but that one begins to question parts of one's own."

NU Initiates Include Three Area People

Young people from Carroll, Randolph and Emerson have been initiated into the University of Nebraska's Sigma Tau, national all-engineering honorary.

New initiates receiving their keys included Mark Johnson of Carroll, Michael Huvalik of Randolph and Charles Plummer of Emerson. Named to receive one of five $100 scholarships was Dennis Kinkald of Hartington.

Sale Date Advanced

Food stamp sales are normally held on the second and fourth Wednesdays at the Wayne County Welfare Office, however Mrs. Ethel Martelle, director, said the food stamp sale slated for Dec. 9 will be advanced two days for this one time only and the sale will be held on Monday, Dec. 7.

Mrs. Martelle said the stamps will be sold again on the regular fourth Wednesday date which is Dec. 23.

Latest figures show there are a few more than 100 persons now purchasing food stamps at the county assistance office.

Board's Function Still Misunderstood

Legislation establishing a board of examiners for county highway and city street superintendents is more than a year old, yet some misunderstanding still exists as to the board's scope and function, says the Nebraska Department of Roads.

Purpose of the board is to assure uniformity in the administration of street and highway funding and construction throughout the state. This is accomplished by examining individuals who hold the positions of highway and street superintendents and ascertaining their ability to:

- Develop and annually update long-range plans based on needs and coordinated with adjacent local government units;
- Develop annual programs for design, construction and maintenance;
- Develop annual budgets based on programmed projects and activities, and
- Implement the capital improvements and maintenance activities provided in the approved plans, programs, and budgets.

Political subdivisions employing qualified personnel in these positions are eligible for incentive payments from the state highway allocation funds. These annual incentive payments range from $300 to $4,250 for cities and villages and from $3,000 to $4,250 for counties. Amounts are predicted on population of the political subdivisions. Incentive funds are to be used for highway and street improvements, or for the payment of superintendents' wages.

The board of examiners is a seven-member group whose primary function is to determine an individual's qualifications for his job as county highway or city street superintendent. Board members are appointed by the governor, four representing the counties, three the municipalities.

The board must conduct semi-annual examinations in the Nebraska Department of Roads auditorium in Lincoln during April and October, but others can be scheduled when required. Applications for the tests must be made at least one month in advance with cutoff for the coming April exams March 8, 1971. Applications can be obtained from the Nebraska Department of Roads, P. O. Box 94759, Lincoln, Nebraska 68509.

A five-step criteria has been established for the examinations. These include review of the applicant's experience, a personal interview and a three-part written test composed of true-false, multiple choice and essay type questions.

The questions are developed by the board and vary from exam to exam. Basically, the questions are phrased to test the applicant's experience and awareness of the duties of county highway and city street superintendents.

The law provides that any individual who has served satisfactorily as a county highway or city superintendent for one year prior to Aug. 4, 1969, may continue to serve for a maximum of five years from that date without being licensed. Political subdivisions using this exemption do not lose their incentive payments until the deadline. Eligibility for such exemptions must be certified to the board by the local governing body.

9 Million Vets Affected by Law

A major piece of legislation designed to assist millions of veterans to get their own homes was signed into law recently by President Nixon.

One provision eliminates an ending date for GI loan benefits for all veterans who served after Jan. 31, 1955, and also restores these benefits indefinitely to nearly nine million Korean Conflict and World War II servicemen who did not use them earlier.

C. W. Nixon, director, says another provision offers a program of loans for mobile home purchases to veterans for the first time - up to $10,000 for a mobile home alone and up to $17,500 if he gets a lot to place it on.

A third provision authorizes the VA to make direct loans in any part of the country to certain seriously disabled veterans who were entitled to specially constructed housing.

Nixon also called attention to provisions of the new law which: (1) Eliminates a VA funding fee of .5 per cent on guaranteed and direct home loans to veterans who served after Jan. 31, 1955. (2) Authorizes the VA to guarantee loans to refinance existing mortgage loans or other liens on homes owned and occupied by veterans. The guaranty may be for 60 per cent of the loan, or $12,500, whichever is less. (3) Authorizes VA to guarantee 60 per cent or up to $12,500 of loans for veterans to purchase family units in condominium projects insured by the Federal Housing Agency, and (4) Eliminates January 31, 1975, as the terminal date for VA's direct loan program.

Veterans wishing assistance and information should contact the VA regional office at Lincoln, or their local county veterans service officer.

PWP Group Hears About Rehabilitation

Norfolk Area Parents Without Partners heard about vocational rehabilitation as Len Reinders from the Norfolk Regional Center, Northeast Mental Health Clinic, spoke to the group at the recent meeting.

Reinders, a vocational rehabilitation counselor, told of the services available to residents of the Norfolk Regional Center's 22-county catchment area and how persons may qualify for these services. He told the group that the services are for those who have experienced adjustment problems or mental or emotional difficulties.

To qualify for services, a person must be an active or former inpatient or outpatient of a mental health facility. Reinders pointed out that he works closely with the Northeast Mental Health Clinic (the Outpatient Department of the Norfolk Regional Center) and travels with the team to the monthly satellite clinics in Dakota City, Bassett, Alnsworth and Valentine, where he sees clients and visits area businesses and schools.

In addition to counseling and training, Reinders may provide financial assistance if necessary and physical aides such as prosthetic appliances to enable the client to adjust to physical handicaps. He added that patients at the Norfolk Regional Center may participate in vocational training and programs designed to help them readjust to living in the community after hospitalization.

Sales Tax Necessary For Rummage Sales

Sales taxes must be collected and remitted for rummage sales, according to George T. Backe, chief of the state sales tax division.

Holding a "rummage" or "garage sale" simply to dispose of surplus items would not come under the category of an occasion sale even though the seller does not plan to have future garage sales, said Backe.

Backe points out that Nebraska law requires a retailer to obtain a sales tax permit from the state tax commissioner and to collect sales tax on the sale price of the tangible personal property sold. Any person who sells tangible personal property at a "garage sale" to final consumers is classified as a retailer.

To make the collection and remittance of sales tax as simple as possible for persons holding garage or similar sales, the tax commissioner has made temporary sales tax permits available.

Persons planning to have garage sales should contact Jim Cleveland in Norfolk or call the Nebraska Department of Revenue in the Capitol in Lincoln to obtain a temporary sales tax permit and pertinent information prior to holding a sale.

District 95R to Dedicate School Complex Sunday

Residents of School District 95R plan to dedicate the new half-million dollar Winside Elementary School at 1:30 p.m. Sunday. M. J. Masten, superintendent, said Mel Olson from the State Department of Education, Lincoln, will give the dedication address.

Others slated to appear on the program include representatives from Dana-Larson-Roubal and Associates, Omaha, who will

Official Vote Tally Shows Thone Winner By 39,000 Votes

Charles Thone, Republican, defeated petition candidate Claire Callan by almost 39,000 votes in the First District Congressional race in Nebraska in November's general election.

He defeated Callan by 79,131 votes to 40,919 votes, official results of the election reveal. The official results were released by the State Canvassing Board early this week and were reported in a story in Tuesday's issue of the Omaha World-Herald.

George "Bill" Burrows, Democratic candidate, received only 36,240 votes in the election.

J. J. Ebin, Democrat, defeated Governor Norbert Tiehm by nearly 50,000 votes - 248,532 to 201,594. American candidate Albert Walsh received only 10,913 votes.

In the race for the U.S. Senate, Republican Roman Huska defeated Democrat Frank Morrison, 240,894 to 217,781.

present the building they designed to Dr. D. H. Verba, representing the board of education; Principal Ronald Kramer, representing the faculty, and to Mayor Vernon Hill, representing the community. J. Allen Schlueter, elementary principal; Robert Koll, president of the board of education; Ralph Gray, State Department of Education; Superintendent M. J. Masten and the Rev. Paul Reihers, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, will also participate in the ceremonies. The Winside American Legion will present the colors.

District 95R voters approved the $495,000 bond issue for the structure Dec. 3, 1968 with a vote of 424 to 70. Total cost of the project is approximately $524,000. Grading was started in June 1969 with construction getting underway in the fall of that year.

The new building is located immediately south of the high school and the two structures are connected by an illuminated mall.

The new stainless steel kitchen in the building is conveniently located near the multi-purpose room where students in the lunch program eat their noon meal. The multi-purpose room also serves as a physical education gym and an auditorium with a large stage equipped with up-to-date lighting for stage productions.

The elementary classrooms are carpeted and illuminated by both natural and artificial light. The building includes a general science and mathematics laboratory, reading room, library, work room, lounge, offices, conference rooms, restrooms, a large band room with small rooms where individual students may practice either instrumental or vocal music. There are storage areas, locker rooms, and a classroom for vocal music students.

A dedication program was slated originally in September but due to details in the building not being completed, dedication ceremonies were rescheduled.

Elementary students first used the new classrooms when school started this fall. The stage and auditorium were first used for a public performance when the Fine Arts Club presented the musical "Oklahoma" Nov. 20 and 21. A total of around 500 persons attended the two performances. Acoustics in the auditorium proved to be excellent.

Those attending the dedication Sunday will receive a dedication program which includes a picture of the Winside Public School complex and floor plan of the new building.

Alcoholism Workshop Set at Norfolk

Wayne area residents interested in what's being done in the field of alcoholism will have a chance to hear experts from Omaha, Lincoln, Hastings and Norfolk when they take part in a three-day Alcohol Studies Workshop at the Norfolk Regional Center next week.

The workshop will be held Monday through Wednesday. Dr. Howard Herrick, clinical director at the Norfolk Regional Center, will discuss the alcoholism program in the Norfolk Regional Center's catchment area, while Dr. Robert J. Fox, unit director of alcoholic services at the Hastings Regional Center, will talk about the alcoholism treatment program at Hastings.

Dr. Tervin L. Hoxey, chief of alcohol and drug services at the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute, will present current medical and psychiatric aspects of alcohol use to the workshop participants.

John W. North, director of the Nebraska Division of Alcoholism, will comment on "Establishing a Workable Perspective in the Field of Alcoholism." He will be assisted by Monty McMahon, coordinator of the Alcohol Studies Program.

K. Patrick Okura, administrative director of the Division of Preventive and Social Psychiatry at the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute, will address the group in a "Resource Roundup" and also talk about the concept of community mental health as related to alcohol.

Bill Benefits Sportsmen

Sportsmen throughout the nation will benefit from some $5 million in federal funds for hunter safety programs and wildlife restoration, thanks to a bill backed in Congress by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

The Dingell-Hart Bill, already signed into law by President Nixon, involves no new tax. Instead, it takes funds derived from the 10 per cent tax already levied on handguns away from the general revenue fund and places the money for use in sportsmen's programs. The 11 per cent federal excise tax on rifles, shotguns and ammunition has gone for such programs since the Pittman-Robertson Act of 1938. But, until the Dingell-Hart Bill, money from the tax on handguns has always gone into the general fund.

The bill, which passed unanimously in both houses of Congress, was supported strongly by sportsmen's groups for some four years. While many states gave verbal and written support, Nebraska's Game and Parks commissioner from Laurel, will take part in the resource roundup and discuss ongoing programs in northeast Nebraska.

The workshop is designed to Commission was the only state agency to testify before Congressional committees in behalf of the measure.

Under the new law, the money will be turned over to individual states according to a formula based on area and number of paid hunting license holders, as with other wildlife restoration funds. According to the formula, Nebraska's share from the handgun tax would be about $50,000 annually.

A clause in the bill allows each state to use up to one-half of its share to carry out a hunter safety program, which could include construction and operation of public outdoor shooting ranges. If a state elects not to undertake a hunter safety program, the funds would be available to underwrite regular wildlife restoration projects.

The federal share of projects undertaken under the new law would be 75 per cent, with the state covering the remaining 25 per cent of project costs.

'Dino' - A Roller Coaster of Deep Emotion

by Merlin Wright

"Dino," presented Nov. 24-25 in the Laurel High School auditorium by a cast of Laurel-Concord Juniors and seniors, just has to be one of the better dramas to hit the high school theatre circuit. The play packs an emotional wallop and dares project a lesson.

The moving play, first seen on Studio 1, CBS TV, was written by Reginald Rose. Critics note that "Dino" may be the playwright's best.

Greg Carlson gave an extremely convincing performance playing the part of the 17-year-old Dino, a complicated youth who has realistic problems with his family, neighborhood and himself. At the age of 17, Dino has just finished a four-year sentence in reform school and returns home. This is where the script picks up the story in act one. He gets home only to find his parents still too busy to really care what he does as long as he stays out of their way. Dino's younger brother, Tony, played realistically by Gordon Olson, is running around with a gang and asks Dino to lead the gang in a robbery.

While trying to decide whether to return to his old ways and lead the gang, Dino fights his way through sessions with a psychotherapist and falls in love with a girl he chances to meet. After a lot of personal turmoil, Dino finally discovers himself and the meaning of love. He decides against gang warfare and instead leads a fight to discover his place in society.

"Dino" is a story that could happen anywhere at any time and puts a heavy emotional load on the cast in that the characters in the play are called upon to run the full gamut of emotions from tears to laughter.

There is no room in "Dino" for on-stage smiling, giggling and laughter nor in the script which often creeps into high school presentations during awkward moments. In a drama containing a lot of basic psychology related to individual and family relationships, the Laurel-Concord crew did a tremendous job in projecting tense emotions over the four nights.

In one scene Dino is slapped violently by his father. The audience has already chosen sides in the confrontation and Dino has the sympathy. But how do you fake a violent slapping spree? Jim Kirchner played the part of Tony's father. Kirchner and Carlson demonstrated professional skill in this particular slapping episode and the audience had no doubt but what Dino had taken a beating.

Another scene of violence exceptionally well staged involved Dino and two other youths in a fight. Carlson knocked them both down in the portrayal of a very up-tight Dino.

The audience was permitted to share Dino's internal hatred and conflicts via splendid acting. Dino eventually breaks down in the psychotherapist's office and weeps. Again the audience rides the emotional roller coaster with him.

Staging "Dino" calls for full stage action with the boys' bedroom extended out from the stage to the left of the audience. A Settlement House is center stage and the psychotherapist's office is on stage right.

Not only is "Dino" an exciting play, presented with a quality of excellence, but the L-C crew went to work with the first curtain at 8 p.m. and the final curtain fell at 9:30 p.m. The moment the curtains closed between acts the Laurel High School stage band seated directly in front of the platform, took over and sounded very much like a professional orchestra. Those kids can really play and nearly had the audience in the aisles.

Ella Larson directed the production. Cast members and their parts included Greg Carlson,

2 Brothers Arrested

Two men have been arrested near Pender by the Thurston County sheriff's office in connection with the stabbing death of a youth near Ponca City, Okla. The two men were identified as Antonio Leroy, 33, and his brother Edward Leroy, 29. The pair was arrested on an Indian reservation near Pender, according to reports. The brothers were sought in the stabbing death of Mark Buffalohead, 16.

Area Athlete Hall of Fame Material

A former Wakefield football player should be high on the list of athletes a newly formed group should nominate for the Hall of Fame, according to Wally Provost, sports editor of the Omaha World-Herald.

Provost featured Wakefield's Clarence F. Swanson in his column in Sunday's World-Herald, noting that Swanson qualifies both because of his outstanding efforts while playing football at the University of Nebraska and because of his impressive public service record.

Swanson, who played his last football at Nebraska in 1921, holds the Big Eight records for most touchdown pass receptions in one season and for a varsity career. That's a major accomplishment, says Provost, considering the streamlined ball which improved passing accuracy and the extended playing seasons which came later.

Swanson caught nine passes for touchdowns in eight games in 1921, bringing his three-year total to 12. Missouri sprinter Mel Gray in 1969 matched the one-season record.

Off the football field Swanson's accomplishments are probably equally impressive, the sports editor says.

Swanson, who was back in Wakefield a few years ago to introduce Bob Devanes, athletic director at Nebraska, during an athletic banquet at the school, served six years on the board of education at Lincoln, was a three-time president while serving on the NE Board of Regents from 1954 to 1966 and was named president of the Alumni Association in 1945.

Swanson made All-America teams chosen by the Kansas City Star, the Pittsburgh Dispatch, Sporting Magazine, Chicago's Walter Eckersall and the Boston American, Provost points out.

Grantland Rice said of him in his nationally syndicated column: "If one had to name the three greatest ends in America, he could make no great mistake in selecting Muller of California, Swanson of Nebraska and Kiley of Notre Dame."

Said Provost about the Wakefield product: "... one of the best athletes and friends Nebraska has known."

Stoltenberg Speaks At Kiwanis Meeting

Wayne State Coach Del Stoltenberg had nothing but praise for his coaching staff as he recapped the WSC gridiron record for the past season during an after-dinner address Monday at the Wayne Kiwanis Club.

Stoltenberg told the club, meeting for a noon luncheon in the Woman's Club room, "Football is very emotional—and a game of momentum." He said 11 members of the WSC squad would be lost via graduation. The coach also fielded numerous questions concerning the Mineral Bowl game and the recruiting system used by the WSC athletic department.

Stoltenberg said he expects recruiting to be easier now due to this season's win-loss record.

Kiwanians will assist in the distribution of hospital district petitions this week. Club members assisted in transporting the American Field Service Club around town Tuesday evening during their door-to-door sale of Christmas note cards.

During 1969, hunters reported 16 accidental shootings to the Game and Parks Commission, including three involving fatalities.

'Rumble Strips' Saving Lives

Highways with "rumble strips," the built-in alarm clocks, on Nebraska highways are saving lives all across the state, the Department of Roads reports.

The strips, bars of granite chips half an inch thick bonded to the road surface, cause vehicle tires to "rumble" as they pass. The sound alerts drivers to potential hazards ahead, usually intersection stop or "dead ends." The built-in alarm patterns begin about 1,000 feet before the stop sign.

There are 27 such carefully-chosen rumble strip locations on the system and are being renewed as their three-year useful life ends. The first rumble strip installations were in 1964. They have received good public acceptance.

There was one minor complaint, quickly remedied by a DOT maintenance crew. As the workmen began unloading their gear to put down a rumble pattern, a Humphrey-area farmer came out with an understandable protest. He said he wouldn't be able to sleep with his window open if the roadway "alarm clock" growled at intervals through the night.

The crew saw his point, packed up, and put the strips at another appropriate location on the road—but out of the farmer's earshot.

Department officials point out that the rumble strips are not an accident cure-all. They are designed to alert driver audibly to an unexpected hazard, as they do on 26 primary and secondary roads, or to break the monotony of long-distance driving, as one pattern on the interstate does. Thus, roads officials say, they are another useful tool in making the highways safer for everyone.

Winside Conferences

Parent-teacher conferences were held in the Winside Public Schools Tuesday and Wednesday last week. Among the many parents conferring with teachers at the high school Wednesday was Mrs. Ronald Kittle who visits with Dallas Park, math instructor. Elementary classes were dismissed both days and high school pupils were dismissed Wednesday noon.

Laurel Youth Attends National 4-H Meet

Watching the National 4-H Dress-Retrieval at Chicago's week was Lori Chase, 17, of Laurel. Miss Chase was one of Nebraska's delegation which modeled ensembles they had made in 4-H work. Three of those in the delegation earned $1,800 in scholarships at the affair, the 49th National 4-H Congress.

Some 1,600 delegates representing every state, Washington, D. C., Puerto Rico and Canada, participated in the Congress. In assembly programs the delegates were challenged through the theme - We Care. They were recognized for their accomplishments and treated to a variety of cultural and educational features.

The 4-H'ers toured the museums and other points of interest in the Windy City. They sang together, prayed together and met their counterparts from across the country. All delegates and their leaders enjoyed The Singer Company's 'Pop' Concert featuring Chicago's Symphony Orchestra and Conductor Arthur Fiedler.

The Establishment, a musical group, appeared and The Kids From Wisconsin entertained the delegation. Delegates listened to The Brothers and The Sisters at International Harvesters luncheon, admired Miss America at the General Motors luncheon and were entertained by a host of television and entertainment personalities at other events.

Big Smile

Bringing down deer with his bow and arrow is getting to be old hat for archer Neely "Butch" Isom of the rural Allen area. Isom, a teacher at Allen High when he isn't out stalking deer each fall, brought down his dear Friday morning while hunting in Dixon County. The deer, which field dressed out at 148 pounds, is his second one this year. He got his first deer, slightly smaller, prior to the firearm season. Hunting with him when he scored the second time was his brother-in-law, Larry Mawitt. There had been four deer checked in at the Wayne County courthouse by Friday, said Isom, and he and hunting partner Darrell Doeschler of Wayne have checked in three of them.

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

If the Amalgamated Meat Choppers' strikes develop as they have been systematically planned, "Good-by Blue Chips" in the cattle market. Even two consecutive tosses of snake eyes on the dice tables at Las Vegas during the Livestock Expo would be more kind.

Truthfully, my concern is not the union members who are used carelessly by union heads. Let's strike, boys, and every short-sighted dropout echos, "Yeah, man, why not?"

My concern is not plants whose management delays contracts too long and develops infrequent communication between the company and new workers on their expansion program.

My concern is the farmer-feeder and the direct and indirect consequences—chiefly price collapse. Also, the unusual movement of livestock and carcass beef from normal channels. And the unconcern and inability of the industry to defend itself, and the apparent ignorance of farm-related associations.

In 1969, IBP was struck at Dakota City. To prevent equipment sabotage, Currier Holman closed three of their eight plants—Le Mars, Fort Dodge and Mason City—which were once competitive purchased by IBP under court challenged conditions, creating a vacuum devoid of aggressive livestock activity. Usually second in price average only to Chicago, the 200 by 150-mile region became Dullsville.

Recently, due to the Monfort strike of Greeley, Colo., thousands of heavyweight steers were shipped to IBP. Result: IBP order buyers on the Sioux City and Omaha yards were as effective as water or a mosquito repellent. This 60-odd car battalion of county driving friends-to-the-farmer were bidding from $9 to $100 under the sheet. In turn, buying competition eased off, making it the second time in one year that the area had been unmercifully neglected.

Choice beef over 700 pounds became a toy—with beefmen nationwide trying to be the first to escape the drop. Results: the Chicago line top fell from 22.25 to 29.25 a hundred. Choice 1,200-pound steers became less popular than a losing politician.

One will say, "Oh, but the average weight jumped." No indeed; one pound below 1969—1,129 pounds versus 1,128. The week of Nov. 13, 1970, Prime and Choice Steers average weights in Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City, Sioux City, East St. Louis, St. Joseph and Sioux Falls were all below 1969.

What actually happened was the change of psychology, a change of attitude. The total fear of price collapse! Whose loss? The union workers (or not the union ex-cultives with their Houdini disappearing act), the packer and the big loser, the feeder. Monfort and the union had a choice. That cattlefeeder was innocent.

The question rises: What rights do cattlemen have? So far, none. So far, the entire industry has sat on its hands and absorbed periodic financial beatings satisfied that they remain powerless.

I personally do not retire nor retreat so timidly. Each day on over 100 radio or TV programs I forecast and comment on the cattle and hog, live and dressed markets, on futures, trends, shifts, buying procedures, etc. We favor no systems, no associations—just to stabilize and build markets. To pay your fight.

I sincerely believe there is an answer. And that is to review conditions through the courts.

There are two basic time-consuming approaches. First, to test the responsibility of the monetary loss of cattle because of ill-timed strikes. I am in no way opposed to any union's right to strike, but I do question their right if damaging the rights of others. As in the railroad problem, why not a mandatory, cooling period, giving cattlemen an opportunity to liquidate or seek alternate avenues?

Second, a cease and desist order. Why should two working factories, labor and management, neither wanting a strike nor understanding the full rights and position of the other, walk up and down or sit on their swivel seats awaiting children to hunker cry and stockholders to wait. Meantime, have union leaders tell about their past exploits. When they won union battles with the Big Four, Great Victoria, all right, forgetting to mention to their attentive captive brotherhood audience that in Chicago, Omaha, Sioux City, St. Joseph, South St. Paul and Kansas City not more than one of an IBP plant remains. And few past workers were transferred or employed today.

But the third case is a winner: the civil rights of a farmer. A farmer should have rights, too, you know, despite his box of voting power, and desire to be independent singularly.

My question: What Human Right is abused the moment an escalating cost of living clause is included in any labor contract? Think of that, you farm moms.

If the national budget, if the national fiscal balance are essential, set the projected future calls for ever increasing wages and costs, then if the cost of living goes up, all wages contractually rise. Therefore, airplanes, bullets, paper clips, plastics and on and on also rise. The budget is knocked lopsided. Envision Secretary Laird calling Nebraska farm boys, get those feed costs down. How can I learn on a war if boys go clear up to 16c, and look at corn, orville ironman had it down to $1 and low goofed up to $1.25—you let leaf blight in. Also, what is 30-40 higher. I can't give 22 generalists their private transports, and we must cut military hotel facilities in Washington from suites to private rooms.

"Have you ever tried counting Charolais in a Snow Storm?"

Revision similar calls from Health, Education and Welfare and Commerce, and Interior, and State, and even the Post Office Department. What is there to cut? Not automobiles, cut that steel is affected. Cut plastics, and chemicals suffer and research will degress.

No hell—Simple Simon. Who grows a corn regardless of prices? Who blinds follows the dog collages, the feed promotions, the neophyte breed association regardless of stand? Who quad-annually votes blind, regardless of the candidates' qualifications, going Democratic in the South, Republican in the Cornbelt, and not counting elsewhere? Who's Right, Mr. Farmer.

So, who brings in the phone (cattle on feed, crop and pig intention reports) who permits ever increasing import quotas?—The farmer guide and I (author and confessor) and—The Department of Agriculture.

I believe that every farmer has a civil right, but that right is removed by each and every cost of living clause in every contract.

I care not how high go the wages of a member of the United Automobile Workers, nor meat cutters, nor railroad trainmen. But I do object to the resulting overwhelming direct stigma on more agricultural existence. Let cost of living clauses go unheeded and by 1980 Australia will be complaining of the cheap U.S. cattle prices. By 1980, expect soybean hamburgers to be second only in popularity with the college crowd to pot and LSD.

Now, I need help—your help—but not as much as you need to help yourselves.

our prices due to their contracts. Therefore, I am entrusting a law suit into the hands of John P. Donley of Greeley, Colo., and a consulting firm in Chicago, to be prepared and issued against all Monfort Union Stewart and the Amalgamated itself—holding these individuals responsible for my losses and all other livestock losses nationwide resulting from these chaotic conditions, and asking the removal for now and forever of the cost of living clause in their ensuing contract with Monfort.

Moms, this case has such potential magnitude it could change such injustice in ALL labor contracts. If won, there would be no need to ever include food prices in such contracts again. Farmers' rights would be freed.

Farmers, this is not for me. But for you. The cost, the research will be enormous. The resistance might be nationwide. Attorney batteries with the proficiency of the Minnesota Viking line will do battle. Therefore, we will need your help.

The $13 per hundred drop in hogs worth millions of November votes, cost the American farmer over $300 million (on only butcher stock). Finished cattle have already been ruptured three billion off the 1969 summer levels.

I am only an idea man, not excelling in detail. This will be your fight.

You are now fighting for your more agricultural existence. Let cost of living clauses go unheeded and by 1980 Australia will be complaining of the cheap U.S. cattle prices. By 1980, expect soybean hamburgers to be second only in popularity with the college crowd to pot and LSD.

Now, I need help—your help—but not as much as you need to help yourselves.

Farm Management Association
Some interest has been expressed in the formation of a Farm Management Association in northeast Nebraska. A meeting to explore this project has been scheduled at the Northeast Station east of Concord at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 9.

Doug Dues, Extension farm management specialist will lead the discussion. Reports from our neighboring states, Iowa and Kansas indicate that this type of organization has been operating successfully for more than 20 years.

All interested farmers and their wives are invited to attend. Four-H Makes the Difference
The theme of a series of 4-H Council forums being held in Nebraska during November and December explains 4-H Council work—4-H Makes the Difference.

A look at the who, what, how and why of 4-H will demonstrate how 4-H makes that difference. Who does 4-H affect? Logically, the youths between nine and 18 who are enrolled in 4-H are the largest group. They live on farms, in small towns, in large cities, in suburban areas. The families of 4-Hers provide interest, support and cooperation. In return, a 4-H project may result in closer family unity. Volunteer leaders learn to understand young people as they provide guidance to help 4-Hers reach their goals. 4-H also makes a difference to the community through community and public service projects.

What difference does 4-H make? 4-H has always been primarily interested in helping youth develop to their potential. Through the concerns of the 70's, 4-H can use its knowledge, resources, the service of its volunteer leadership and membership to effect troubled areas such as nutrition and health, environment, citizenship, careers and education, family relationships and community development. How can 4-H make the difference?

The 4-H difference comes from additional learning experiences that can strengthen and support learning from other sources. It is based on learning by doing, with projects related to family situations. Group experience through club membership provide opportunity for growth because members take on responsibilities to plan and carry out the group goals. Youth have a chance to form a learning relationship with interested, concerned adults. Special activities opens new doors to many youth through 4-H Club Weeks, Leadership Conservation Camp, Leadership Short Course and People to People Exchange program. Why does 4-H make a difference?

4-H team consists of members, leaders, local governing boards, staff members at county, state and national levels and donor groups and friends of 4-H.

Scout Paper Drive

Set Early in 1971

Rowan Wiltse, scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 175, reports the Scouts picked up approximately 35,000 pounds of old newspapers in Wayne and Winslow during the paper drive Saturday. Wiltse said the Scouts plan to hold another paper drive Jan. 30, 1971. By saving old newspapers through December and January, residents of Wayne and Winslow can help the Scouts raise funds for camping next summer. Wiltse noted.

Farm Workshop Starts Next Week

Area farmers are reminded that the first session of the upcoming hay-pasture-silage workshop series is scheduled for the Northeast Station near Concord on Thursday, Dec. 10.

The meeting will start at 7 and last until 9 p.m.

George Helm, agronomist at the Northeast Station, points out that this workshop series is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Nebraska and is open to all farmers in northeast Nebraska.

At the first session, Dr. Wally Molino, state forage specialist from Lincoln, will discuss forage crops that are adapted to northeast Nebraska for a balanced forage program and forage crops that can be used in special and emergency situations.

Fertilization of forage crops will also be covered at this session.

Helm adds that this workshop series is designed to give farmers information that will help them increase their income from their forage acres.

Wool Payments Begin in April

Payments will be made beginning about the first of April on marketings of wool and mohair completed in 1970 and reported by Jan. 31, 1971, reports Harry Heinemann, chairman of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee.

He reminded producers that the 1970 marketing year under the wool and mohair program ends Dec. 31.

Wool payments are based on the difference between the incentive price (72 cents per pound for shorn wool marketed in 1970) and the average national price for marketings during the year. Wool and mohair sales made after Dec. 31, 1970, will not be eligible for payment until early 1972.

Incentive payments are made through ASC's county offices to all producers who file applications and present the necessary sales receipts and other records.

Heinemann reminded producers that sales documents must show all details of the sale were completed during the current marketing year, including passing title to the buyer. There must also be a record showing either actual delivery or transfer of control of the wool or mohair to the buyer, and the buyer's total purchase price must be clearly stated.

Proof of ownership for at least 30 days is an important requirement, the ASC committee chairman said.

To be eligible for payments, producers must own for at least 30 days the livestock from which the wool or mohair was shorn and the unshorn lambs on which they apply for payment. Records must be presented which clearly establish compliance with the 30-day ownership requirement.

Requests for 1970 marketing year payments under the National Wool Act may be filed with the Wayne County ASC's office as soon as the sales documents are available but should be filed no later than Jan. 31, 1971 to ensure early payment, Heinemann said.

Rec Project Okayed

A community in northeast Nebraska is one of two in the state to receive approval for federal grants in aid to help develop outdoor recreation projects. The communities: Howells and North Platte.

Howells will continue development of a recreational complex adjacent to a swimming pool already completed under an earlier segment of an existing project.

The second phase of that project, estimated at $75,700, will include picnic, playground and camping facilities, park lighting, a water system, restrooms, a combination ice-skating rink and tennis court, roads, parking areas and landscaping.

Federal money from the Land and Water Conservation fund, administered in Nebraska by the Game and Parks Commission, will pay 50 per cent of the estimated project costs. Another 25 per cent will be paid by the state. The communities involved pay the remaining 25 per cent.

'Off the Track'

Harvest Nearly Complete

Farmers in Wayne County have nearly 100 per cent of their corn and soybeans harvested, reports Harold Ingalls, county agent.

The farmers made good use of a few days of fine weather recently to bring in a large number of acres of corn and beans, amounting to about 95 per cent of the crop harvested in the county.

Farmers realized about half a year this year, says Ingalls, because of the damage done by the extremely dry weather during important phases of the growing season.

Leaf blight, feared by farmers throughout the Midwest this season, caused no damage in Wayne County, according to the agent, although it was identified as being present here.

Although some farmers had small yields on their oats, corn and beans this year, there were some farmers in lowlands and creek valleys who were not hurt by the dry conditions. Ingalls said that some farmers are reporting corn yields of over 75 bushels to the acre. A normal yield for corn in Wayne County is about 55 bushels to the acre, he said.

Road Sensors Being Tested By Road Men

Nebraska motorists of future winters may be aided by a new safety innovation now being tested by the Nebraska Department of Roads.

Ice-moisture detectors, designed to detect the presence of rain, frost and ice on a road surface will be under the close scrutiny of DM maintenance men for the first time this winter.

Detectors are located at two bridge sites in the state. Each set of detectors consists of two stainless steel, disklike sensor heads, one reporting temperature changes of the road surface, the other detecting the electrical resistance of the road surface. Electrical resistance varies with the presence of water, frost or ice on the surface.

The detectors are about two and a half inches in diameter and three inches deep. Sensors are installed in the tire track of the road surface, in the passing lane, and are six to eight inches apart, one in front of the other. They detect and correspondingly alert the appropriate maintenance office of the presence of moisture, frost or ice. Information is relayed from the bridge to the maintenance office through buried cables. Telephone lines or radio signals may be used to transmit the information.

In the maintenance office a display panel will light up—red for icy surfaces and amber for wet surfaces.

The detectors cannot be fooled by chemicals, such as calcium chloride or salt, which lower the freezing point of water and are often used to clear icy roads. At a temperature below freezing, water on the sensor would indicate that the roadway had been salted and the unit would react by energizing an impulse to turn off the ice indication to the warning system.

Sensor heads are made of stainless steel and are not affected by snow removal equipment.

Since bridge surfaces tend to frost over quicker than other road surfaces—due to air exposure from above and beneath—this is the most appropriate location for the new safety device.

Predictions for their future use include establishing a warning system at the site to alert motorists of immediate hazardous driving conditions. Signs placed at the bridge would light up with messages signifying "wet" or "icy" conditions.

William F. "Buffalo Bill" Cody starred the first rodeo at North Platte, Nebr., on July 4, 1882.
