$500 Checks Stuff Five Stockings

by Merlyn Wright

"I'm going to keep that ticket," "I just can't believe it," and "It's really wonderful!" were comments buzzing around the Wayne Chamber of Commerce office last week after five area people each won a $500 check in the Christmas drawing.

Mrs. Bill Chance, Wayne; Mrs. Art Weirshauer, Emerson; Mrs. Gus Stuthman, Wayne; Gerald Meyer, Wakefield, and Ray Butts, Wayne, had arrived at the Chamber office earlier in the evening, each having one of the first five ticket numbers of the 50 posted in participating stores.

Mrs. Chance said she checked the numbers on her tickets and discovered she had the first number on the list about 2 p.m. The other winners found out they had one of the top five numbers at various times throughout the afternoon.

Floyd Bracken, Chamber manager, said he was surprised it was the first five numbers that won the $2,500 Christmas cash giveaway since in the previous six $50 drawings winners often had numbers farther down the list.

"With so many tickets out," Bracken said, "and so many college students gone, it is surprising that we didn't have to go on down the list before coming up with five winners."

Representatives from the five stores where winners had received their winning tickets along with purchases were on hand to congratulate the top ticket holders. These top five tickets had been given away by Bill's Market, Kuhn's Department Store, Wittig's Super Valu, Coryell Auto and McNatt's Hardware.

One of the $500 winners had more than 600 tickets. Another had only about 50.

All the $500 check holders visited about what kind of a day it had been and how completely surprised they were. Gerald Meyer noted "It's my wife's birthday today, too." Mrs. Art Weirshauer said it was also her husband's birthday. They quickly agreed it would be a day to remember.

After the drawing businessmen and ticket holders agreed that the Chamber, by giving away five $500 checks this year instead of a new car as was done a year ago, had come up with a promotion that interested more people because more people were winners.

Prior to the $2,500 drawing, six people won $50 each in weekly drawings which started early in December. Those winners were Mrs. Stanley Johnson, Mrs. Glen Hiltorf, Phyllis Mausbach, Mrs. Joe Corbit, Mrs. Clarence Boling and Mrs. Don Miller.

Bracken said later that it is a good possibility the Chamber will broaden the cash giveaway even a little more next year.

No One Injured As Two Cars Hit

Two cars collided three miles north of Winstate on Highway 35 about 5:30 p.m. Monday. The Wayne County Sheriff's office investigated the mishap and reported that neither of the twodriviers nor their passengers were injured.

Officials said Paul Blaser, Norfolk, accompanied by four passengers, was northbound in a 1969 Ford and was signaling to make a right turn onto a county road, Gwendolyn P. Peters, Elgin, driving a 1962 Ford and accompanied by a passenger, was also northbound behind the Blaser vehicle.

The investigating officer reported Mrs. Peters as saying she dozed off and woke up, saw the car signaling ahead, but was unable to avoid striking the auto.

Dates Set for Property Assessment

Assessments of personal property is set to get underway Monday at the Wayne County courthouse.

Henry Arp, assessor, reminds taxpayers that the assessment dates for 1971 are as follows: Automobiles filed after that date will be subject to penalty. Taxpayers must go to the assessor to have property assessed, he noted.

There will be an assessor at the courthouse from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on all days except Saturdays and Feb. 12 and Feb. 15.

Mrs. Gus Stuthman, Wayne; Gerald Meyer, Wakefield, and, Rev. Butts, Wayne. Larry Chamberlin presented the checks as part of his role as Santa.

Best Stories, Photos Coming

What were the top news stories in The Wayne Herald in 1970? What were the top pictures?

Those two questions will be answered in next Thursday's issue of The Herald, the first one to be published in 1971.

The unpredictable weather of 1969 — ranging from blustery cold to sweltering heat — earned the honors for top story last year. Also named important during 1969 were the defeat of the city complex proposal, the two-car crash south of Wakefield which killed three people, deaths of young people from the Wayne area in the Viet Nam and the numerous successes of the area athletic teams.

Other stories among the top 10 named for 1969 were the pay increases for the school teachers and city workers, the city council and school board elections in the spring of '69, naming several Wayne State facilities after three local people, opening of the Center (Citizens Center in Wayne and the Senator of Allen's successful attempt to obtain federal and state aid in building a sanitary sewer system.

Again this year, the top 10 stories of interest to the readers of The Herald will be chosen by the newspaper staff. Also, the top five photographs used during 1970 will be reprinted in Thursday's issue.

Getting Liquor For Minor Puts Man Behind Bars

A Hoskins man, charged with procuring alcoholic liquor for a minor, was one of 11 persons appearing before Judge Laverna Hilton in the Wayne County Court during the last few days.

Elroy Brogren, 22, was fined $300 and given a 15-day jail sentence Monday upon being found guilty of the charge of procuring alcoholic liquor for a minor. He also paid $17.50 in court costs.

Three Wayne residents, William Scott, Susan Elming and Earl Beeks, each paid a fine of $10 and $5 court costs for allowing a dog to run at large.

Others appearing in the county court and their fines are as follows:

—Warren Thune, Norfolk, obtaining goods by false pretenses, fined $20 and costs of $7.50.

—Curtis Mantey, Norfolk, and David Luethenhaus, Humphrey, each paid $10 fines and $5 court costs on charges of speeding.

—Kenneth L. Levin, Thurston, was fined $10 and costs of $5 for following too closely to another vehicle.

—John Dougherty, Osmond, was fined $15 and costs of $12.60. See FINES, page 2.

SS Help Offered

Robert Swan of the Norfolk Security office will be in the Wayne County courthouse in Wayne next Thursday, Jan. 7, from 9 to 11 in the morning. Anybody with questions about the program should make a point to visit with him during those hours.

Ingalls Receives Ak Scholarship

Harold Ingalls, Extension agent for Wayne County, has been named to receive one of four Ak-Sar-Ben scholarships, according to Nick Newberry, chairman of the Ak-Sar-Ben scholarship committee.

The recipients of the scholarships, which are worth $150 each, will be used for graduate study at the three-week Extension Winter School at the University of Arizona at Tucson. The schools slated for Jan. 25-Feb. 12.

An additional 16 scholarships are available for Extension staff members to continue their education later this year.

Named with Ingalls to receive the scholarships were John Lindsey of Douglas County, Elton Perry of Gage County and Leon Thompson of Custer County. All are county Extension agents.

Chamber's Annual Dinner Approaching

Friends of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce are invited to attend the coming annual banquet at the local city auditorium in the middle of January.

The banquet will feature Emmett Butler of Newton, Iowa, nationally known public speaker.

The Chamber is emphasizing again this year that the dinner is not limited just to businessmen and their employees. Farmers and anybody interested in the success of the local Chamber of Commerce is urged to attend the dinner.

Wayne Co. Official Dies

Memorial services for 72-year-old George Stolz of Carroll, a Wayne County commissioner for 17 years, were held Sunday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Carroll. Stolz died late Thursday afternoon at his home following a lingering illness.

The Rev. G. W. Gottberg officiated at the rites. Mrs. Arthur Cook and Mrs. Gordon Jorgensen sang, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Fork. Pallbearers were Gilmore Sals, Edward Fork, Arnold Hansen, John Peterson, Robert Peterson and Clifford Rohde.

Auto Tags Go on Sale January 7

Motor vehicle license plate tags for 1971 are slated to go on sale Jan. 7 in the treasurer's office at the Wayne County courthouse.

Treasurer Leona Balde said Monday that the treasurer's office will close today (Thursday) 3 p.m. and will remain closed through Jan. 6 to allow for a staff change and to complete the semi-annual statement. The office will open Jan. 7 with Treasurer Leon F. Meyer in charge.

Miss Balde said there will be no change in license fees this year. Following is the schedule for fees: Passenger cars, $15.50; farm trucks of one ton or less, $18.50 and $22.50 in excess of one ton; commercial license AUTO TAGS, page 2.

Wayne Firm Cited In State Magazine

A Wayne business firm has received recognition in a state-wide publication for completion of an addition to its plant.

Cavhart Lumber was one of several businesses across the state commented on in the "Nebraska Notes" column of Nebraska on the March, quarterly publication of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development.

The local firm has completed a 5,500 square foot expansion of its truss and component manufacturing facility. The company has been making roof trusses since 1957 and began fabricating wall panels, floor and trim components in 1967. Present plant capacity is estimated at near 350 homes a year.

Wakefield Residents Win Holiday Prizes

A Wakefield woman won $300 and another resident won a new bicycle Dec. 23 in the Wakefield Christmas drawing sponsored by businessmen.

Mrs. Mable Thomsen was president of the 9 p.m. drawing and heard her name called for the $300. Norman Starna won the bicycle.

Sarna and his ponies arrived in Wakefield that same evening with sacks of candy for all the youngsters.

Area Postal Services Affected by Holiday

The post offices in the Wayne area will be closed New Year's Day this week.

There will be no window service in city or rural delivery at the post offices. Mail will be placed in lock boxes at the offices and special delivery services will be on a Sunday schedule.

The following day, Saturday, there will be no window service at the post offices. However, there will be city and rural delivery service. Mail will be placed in lock boxes and special delivery services will be maintained. Collection and dispatch of mail will be made on a Sunday schedule on Saturday also.

Feeders to Tour Facilities at IBP

A cattle confinement tour to the Iowa Beef Processors' confinement station at the Denison, Iowa plant and the large confinement feeding plant at Aurelia, Iowa, are the two planned stops for the coming tour being planned by the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association.

The tour is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 3. Storm date is the following Wednesday, Feb. 10.

Bus pickup will be at Wakefield, Emerson and Dakota City. Reservations for bus transportation should be made with Bob Boals of Dakota City during the Association's annual meeting in Laurel on Jan. 25. Reservations may also be made earlier.

Need Subs For Readers

Readers of The Wayne Herald might wish to let the television set this weekend because they will be without Monday's issue of the newspaper.

No paper is being printed over the weekend because the New Year's holiday falls on Friday and almost all businesses will be closed that day. Many businesses will close Saturday also, as will the newspaper, offering their employees a three-day weekend.

Normal publication of two papers a week will resume next week.

Wakefield Grad Given Academy Appointment

A 1970 Wakefield High School graduate is among 27 young men recently nominated from the 1st Congressional District by Representative Robert V. Denney for 1971 appointments to the U. S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo., and the Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Meyer of Allen, from the rank of cadet staff sergeant to that of cadet first sergeant and given the duties of first sergeant in Company A, 1st Battalion in the Brigade.

L. Col. B. J. Patterson, professor of military science at the school said that the two youths were advanced in ranks for performing their duties in excellent manner at the Academy.

County Vets Quizzed

Veterans' income questionnaires must be completed and returned to the Veterans Administration not later than Jan. 15, 1971, reminds Chris Bargholz of Wayne County Veterans' service officer.

The questionnaires were sent to over 16,000 Nebraska veterans, widows and parents who are receiving benefits. Unless the questionnaires are timely returned on time, the January check will not be released by the VA.

Bargholz said he will help all residents of Wayne County in the proper completion of the questionnaires. His office is located at 108 Main.

Three Winners Named In Decoration Contest

Three Wayne families have discovered decorating their homes for Christmas can be rewarding in more than one way. Named early this week as first, second and third place winners in the 1970 Kiwanis Club home decoration contest were Mr. and Mrs. Walden Felber, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mallett and Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Farrens.

Gift certificates made available for the contest by the City of Wayne were presented to the three winners during the regular Kiwanis Club meeting Monday in the Woman's Club room.

Felbers won a $25 certificate for taking first place and Malletts won $15 for second. The Farrens received $10 as third place winners. The gift certificates are to be applied toward the purchase of an electrical appliance.

Cal Cornstock, chairman of the Kiwanis committee in charge of the contest, said judges from Winstate, Carroll and Concord traveled in separate cars throughout the city Wednesday, night judging decorated homes on a point system. He said points were scored on theme, layout, originality and lighting. Only homes using city utilities were

Former Minister Makes Recording

The Rev. Eugene Golay, former pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Wayne, recently made a recording of a sermon titled "What's a Family For?"

The message of the sermon would appeal to people of all ages and denominations but is headed at families with young children. On the other side of the record there are several choir selections.

Rev. Golay was pastor of the church in Wayne in 1949 and 1950. He left Wayne to go to Nashville, Tenn., to join the National Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church, where he served for several years.

He also served a church in Arizona before going to California. He is presently pastor of the North Glendale United Methodist Church of Glendale, Calif.

Mrs. Vernell Krueger and Mrs. Mildred Krueger presented an organ-piano duet and Joyce Wagner gave the Christmas prayer. Nursery school class members presented gifts which were sent to the Beatrice State Home.

'Sip, Sit, Savor' Suggests AAA

"Sip... sit... savor" are the key words for alcohol celebrating this year, according to AAA Consumer Motor Club in its "First a friend... then a host" safety campaign.

Party hosts have a moral responsibility, AAA advised, to care for the best interests of their guests and make certain they arrive home safely after their party. But not only is it the responsibility of the host, but also of the guest to make sure he is in the proper shape to drive home safely without endangering his own life and the lives of other AAA, realizing the inevitability of drinking and driving during the holidays, offers these hints for party-goers.

—Drink moderately. The body disposes of alcohol at the rate of one ounce of liquor per hour.

—Never drink on an empty stomach.

—Driving abilities begin to become impaired at about .05 per cent blood alcohol content or lower, medical authorities agree. A 150 lb. person drinking 5 ounces of liquor in one or two hours after a meal will have a blood alcohol content of .04 or .05 per cent.

—A person who is nervous or tense should drink very sparingly, as the .10 per cent blood alcohol level can be reached in this state after very few drinks.

—Drinking combined with drugs can be deadly. If taking medication, avoid alcohol completely, whether driving or not, as this combination can be fatal.

—Neither black coffee nor a cold shower will affect a person who has over-indulged. The only aid is passage of time.

Duo Club Meet Held at Church Monday Night

Nine couples from Grace Lutheran Church attended the Duo Club meeting Monday evening at the church. Vicar and Mrs. Dennis Lassensack presented the program, a skit on what Christ's birth in this age would be like.

On the refreshment committee were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fichtenkamp.

Work day at the church, for taking down the nativity scene, has been set for Jan. 3. Next regular meeting will be at 8 p.m. Jan. 25.

Northeast Extension Notes

by Myrtle Anderson

Avoid Unnecessary Repair Bills
If a new washer or dryer or both made your Christmas complete, now it's up to you to keep it in good working order.

Turn to the use-care manual that should have come with the appliance. Read it from cover to cover before ever operating the appliance and refer to it often the first few times until you are familiar with the machine operation.

Should the manual not be entirely clear to you, consult the dealer where the purchase was made for more detailed instruction.

A few pointers for preventing need for repairs for clothes washers:

—Empty pockets and shake out napkins. Coins, nails and small spoons, even hanging around, can chip porcelain and make rough spots.

—Put baby socks and other small items in mesh bags or load them into the washer under heavy items so an overload rise won't carry them into the pump.

—Don't overload. Clothes need to move freely to result in better soil removal.

—Avoid odd unbalanced loads such as one heavy shag rug. Better that it be sent to a commercial laundry.

—Measure detergent according to directions for your washer to avoid oversudsing.

—Turn off the valves on the water supply to the washer to relieve pressure on the water valves when the machine is not in use.

Now for a few suggestions on the use of the dryer:

—Don't forget to empty the lint trap each time the dryer is used.

—Turn metal buckles and trims to the inside of the garments or pin fabric over them to prevent their banging and eventually chipping the porcelain of the drum.

—Do not dry rubber or plastic garments in the dryer or anything that has just been dry-cleaned.

—If possible, vent to the outdoors. The humidity of the air drawn into the dryer affects drying time. If the laundry area is stormy, the moist air is drawn into the dryer and slows down the drying process.

Omaha Church Is Scene Of December Wedding

Jaynes Street Community Church of God, Omaha, was the scene of the wedding Dec. 19 of Cynthia Jean Dierking, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Dierking, Amelia, to William Christian Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hansen, Randolph.

The Rev. Richard Diek officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring rites and Sue Young, South Sioux City, sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "Because," accompanied by Karen Orr, Omaha, Mrs. Russell Johns, Bennington, was organist.

The bride appeared at the side of her father in a too length gown of empire styled white velvet, fashioned with lace edged high neckline and cuffed bishop sleeves. Matching ivory lace edged the double tiered cathedral length mantilla she wore, and she carried a triangular cascade of jack straw and white daisy pompons and red roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. William Hubel Jr., Fwing, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Strand, Lincoln, and Pearl Hansen, Wayne, sister of the bridegroom. Their high waisted gowns were fashioned with deep purple velvet bodices above floor length skirts of lavender crepe. Velvet bows accented the back waists and their headpieces were of purple net and velvet. They carried nosegays of pink carnations, white daisy pompons and purple seashell status.

Also in floor length gowns of purple velvet were cousins of the bride and bridegroom, Kelly Nelson, Fremont, and Mary Schmale, Carroll, who were flowergirls. Candlelighters were Marilyn Nimmerman and LaVon Hoeglund, Sac City, Iowa.

Lornie Hansen, Dubuque, Iowa, served his brother as best man, and Loren Hansen, also a brother of the bridegroom, and John Claus, both of Wayne, were groomsmen. The men wore black trimmed, white double breasted jackets with tuxedo trousers. Mike Williams, Decatur, Dave Zach, Gary Stegner and Duane Backstrom, all of Wayne, ushered.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Dierking chose a long sleeved cerise velvet dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Hansen wore a navy blue crepe and both had white orchid corsages.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Johns, Bennington, served as hosts for the reception held at the church parlors for about 100 guests. Mrs. Charles Murphy and Mrs. Travis Nelson, Fremont, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Earl Yonohro, Minnetonka, Minn., served the groom's cake and Mrs. Ronald Johns, Bennington, poured. Donna Forbes, Atkinson, and Mrs. Lornie Hansen, served punch.

Mrs. Margaret Hansen registered guests and Kathy and Janet Schmale distributed rice to the guests. Gifts were arranged by Dawn Murphy, Fremont, and Deann Johns, Louise and Amy Kozol, all of Bennington. Waitresses were Mrs. Alan Rowse, O'Neill, and Jean Svoboda, Wahoo.

For traveling the bride wore a self-fashioned wool dress and coat ensemble in rust and beige. The couple took a short wedding trip to St. Louis, Mo., and are making their home at 3055 South Windom, Wayne.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Chambers High School and is a senior at Wayne State College. The bridegroom, a 1967 graduate of Wayne High School, is also in his senior year at WSC.

Alan Derry's Marry Dec. 29 in Omaha

Married Dec. 29 in 1 p.m. rites at St. Luke's United Methodist Church, Omaha, were JoAnn Koepke, Omaha, and Ensign Alan P. Derry, Norfolk, Va., who each walked down a side aisle to meet at the altar and recite the marriage vows they had themselves written, pledging their love in marriage, love in Christ and love as they share their lives as physicians.

The bride, a medical student at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, Omaha, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koepke, Hoskins. The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Ruth Zoya, Simi, Calif., is a 1970 graduate of the University of Nebraska. He is stationed with the U. S. Navy in Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. Koepke, a patient at Clarkson Hospital, Omaha, was escorted to her daughter's wedding by Doctor Merrill and Dr. Louise Eaton, Omaha.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a floor length A-line gown of white linen, styled with bell sleeves. Her floor length veil cascaded from a white fur headpiece and she carried a white fur maff with pink baby roses.

Attending the bride were Judy Koepke, Hoskins, sister of the bride, who was maid of honor, and Lana Koepke, Hoskins, also a sister of the bride; Joy Anderson, Omaha; Louise Schilling, Albuquerque, N. M., and Jan Warkentin, Lincoln. They were identically gowned in maxi fashions of pink velveteen with ruffled, white blouses. Each attendant carried a long stemmed pink rose with the peace sign on it.

Best man was Norman Derry, Simi, Calif., brother of the bridegroom, and groomsmen were Galen, Gary and Lonnie Koepke, all of Hoskins, brothers of the bride, and Jack Ritchie, Milford.

Devils and Bears Fall, 'Cats Win in Tourney Opener

by Dick Manley

Wednesday action in the Wayne State Holiday Basketball Tournament finally brought host Wayne State into the 8:30 p.m. championship battle against Western New Mexico following the Norfolk Catholic-West Point High School title clash at 7:15.

Wayne State had a chance to win its third straight tournament crown in the college division, but two-time champion Laurel's loss to Norfolk, 60-46, in Tuesday's first round ensured a new high school king.

Wayne High, a 61-49 victim of West Point Tuesday, was scheduled against Laurel in the 5:30 p.m. Wednesday consolation.

In the college division consolation for third place, Evangel and Missouri Western were matched at 3:30 Wednesday. Western New Mexico's Mustangs came from behind to beat the Evangel Crusaders, 68-62, and Wayne State led the Missouri Western Grizzlies all the way to a 62-53 decision.

For excitement and suspense the New Mexico Mustangs worked well in all over the other games. Evangel handled the Mustangs easily in the first 12 minutes or so, climbing to a 26-13 spread before the New Mexicans started chipping away. By halftime, Evangel led by only 37-33.

Wayne State pulled up to several ties, the last one of 57-57 with 4:30 to go, then went ahead to stay, 60-58, on a three-point-er by Sam Olney. Bobby Stone led the winners with 16 points while Evangel's Roy Gibbs led all college scorers at 22.

Wayne State put together its best performance of the season. Coach Ron Jones thought, in shacking Missouri Western.

Senior forward Steve Hoffman hit a college-career high of 19 points as the Wildcats worked with precision. They were especially sharp on defense. Dennis Stefles scored 13, Jerry Woodin and Dan Quinn 12 each. The Cats had control all the way and led by 41-29 at intermission.

Wayne State plays two games next week, the first on Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Rice gym against Southwest Minnesota, then Thursday at Kearney State, Southwest Bell Wayne, 66-55, at Marshall Dec. 11.

DEVILS Mike Creighton, Don Mau, Kyle Wills and Lonnie Bliloff, left, defend against this trio of West Point.

TIME TO MOVE: Laurel's Paul McCoy gets ready to pass as a Norfolk Catholic defender moves in on him during Wayne State tourney action Tuesday evening.

10 WS Gridders Named All-Nebraska

Ten Wayne State football players earned the honor of All-Nebraska College Conference for the 1970 season, by choice of conference coaches. Kearney State also had 10, Chadron State six, Peru State none.

One Wayne gridders, sophomore Charlie Wendt, Ralston, received honorable mention as a deep back.

Inconsistent Wildcats Fall at Rosalie

Windside High demonstrated the Cats' ability to have more than one life as they put their 2-3 mark on the line Tuesday night against a fired-up Rosalie squad.

Windside's coach, Jim Winsch, said, "We played two entirely different ball games in the first and second halves." Windside, at one time 30 points behind, rallied to within six points in the second half, but suffered a 59-50 loss in the second game of the opening round of the Christmas holiday tournament at Rosalie.

"We were really terrible in the first half," Winsch said. "We played a different kind of ball game in the second half and came back to within six points of Rosalie after being 30 points behind. In the second half we got back to playing our normal defense. It looks like if we would have had a few more minutes we could have tied."

Two Wildcats used their talents to get into double figures: Jon Behmer, high scorer with 18 points for Windside, hit eight field goals and hit two of four at the free throw line. Gary Soden contributed 16 points with seven field goals and two for two free-throw tosses.

Rosalie's Roger Nelson, Rod Nelson and Mark Lundholm were all double-figure point men: Roger with 21 points, Rod with 14 and Lundholm with 12.

The Wildcats met Beemer in a consolation game Wednesday night in the final rounds of the tournament. Beemer's off went up against Rosalie in the championship match.

Next action for the Wildcats is the invitational tournament at Coleridge slated to get underway Monday night. Windside will meet Randolph Tuesday.

Merry Christmas and welcome back to Husker football. The day-to-day debates and conjectures resume with the Huskers getting ready to meet LSU in the Orange Bowl New Year's Night. It will be a battle of Nebraska's powerful offense against LSU's stingy defense. NU has outscored its opponents 409-177, while LSU has allowed only 96 points while scoring 277 themselves.

The game will also feature a battle between two of the nation's winningest coaches: NU's Bob Devaney with a 14-year record of 113-28-6 for a .789 percentage, and LSU's Charlie McLendon with a nine-year mark of 70-23-0 for a .753 percentage.

One comparison which is ridiculous is the overall bowl record of both teams. It has been pointed out that LSU's bowl record is 8-2-1 compared with Nebraska's 5-5-0, Nebraska is 1-2 in the Orange Bowl.

How past bowl comparisons can mean anything is beyond us. You're talking about completely different personnel and in some cases even different coaching staffs. Yet this seems to be a case peculiar to college football.

It is almost as ridiculous as the Big Ten's ruling which prohibits the conference champion from going to the Rose Bowl two years in a row.

In college athletics there is an automatic turnover of personnel each year, and you never have a holdover more than three years in a row concerning individual players.

So let's look at the game strictly on the basis of Nebraska and LSU's personnel of this season, forgetting what they might have done in the past.

The way we look at it here, Nebraska's offense will once again prove to be awesome, in spite of LSU's fine defensive record, and the Husker defense will be equal to the task of holding LSU's offense.

It looks to us like the Big Red comes away the winner by at least two touchdowns.

Stantonite Fined

Timothy F. Goetsch, 18-year-old Stantonite, was one of several hunters recently fined $10 and costs for having a loaded shotgun in a motor vehicle.

Also being fined lately for hunting violations: James Kerber Sr., Robert Huston and Edward Bomar, all of Norfolk, $10 and costs for hunting without permission or trespassing.

Bunny Hunt Changes

Cottontail hunters going out after bunnies after Jan. 1 will do so under new regulations, as bag and possession limits change for 1971.

Beginning Jan. 1, the daily bag limit of cottontails will be seven and the possession limit will be 21. During 1970, bag and possession limits were 10 and 30 respectively.

On Feb. 28, the season will close for the first time since 1962.

by Norvin Hansen

West Point High and Norfolk Catholic squared off Wednesday evening to determine the champion of the high school division in the annual Christmas holiday basketball tournament at Wayne State College.

The two teams had little trouble getting their first-round foes - West Point with a 61-49 decision over Wayne and Norfolk with a 60-46 win over defending champion Laurel.

Wayne saw a 17-11 lead at the end of the first quarter slip away in the second period as West Point's balanced scoring attack and shooting from outside proved difficult to cope with. Wayne had gone ahead in the opening frame on some nearly perfect shooting as Lonnie Bliloff, Mike Creighton, Steve Peterson and Don Mau hit their first attempts from the field and Kyle Wills hit three for three at the line.

That shooting accuracy, 54 per cent for the quarter, dwindled to a meagre 10 per cent in the third period as West Point - as Wayne went just over seven minutes without scoring until Wills hit a jumper inside the key with 50 seconds left. Score at that point: 43-31 - a considerable change from the 32-29 deficit the Devils took into the period.

The Cadets used stalling tactics successfully throughout the final frame, forcing fouls by Wayne, and continued getting two and three shots each time they put the ball up.

Senior Mike Creighton played a large role in keeping the Wayne club in the contest in the closing moments. He hit 10 of his 18 points, tops for the Devils, in that final period, most of them on driving lay-ups and inside jumpers.

Wayne	17	12	4	16	--	49

Only other Blue Devils in two figures was junior Kyle Wills with 12 points. He was joined by Jim Engelhart with 19, Dennis Brockmeier with 17 and Hal Wagner with 12.

Rebounding leaders for Wayne were Wills with 14, Saul with eight and Mau with six. Wills, bothered with injuries this season and so far able to place together only a semblance of last year's quickness and smoothness, trailed the big Norfolk club throughout. Behind by 29-24 at intermission, the Bears had several turnovers and were unable to keep up with their foes against Oakland-Craig in an away contest Jan. 8, the Eagles waltzing until Jan. 15 to host a potential Randolph club.

Tuesday night's loss to Allen by the Wakefield crew was a nightmarish experience. Three starters fouled out (high scorer Pat Starzl, Rick Olson and Dave Scheel) as the Trojans saw a 28-21 halftime lead disappear in the third period as Starzl was the only Trojan to connect from the field. Score going into the final period: Allen 36, Wakefield 32.

Allen, paced once again by 5-8 scoring machine Loren Reuter, pulled away from the Trojans in the final period by collecting 21 points to Wakefield's eight.

Starzl had 14 points for shooting honors for the losers, followed by the 10 each of Olson and Dave Gardner, a recent addition to the starting line-up.

Reuter pushed his season scoring average over the 20-point mark with his 27 counters. Next closest to him were John Warner with nine, Jerome Roberts with eight.

In Monday's opening round of action, the Eagles were unable to stop Pender's Barry Mable.

Mable stuffed in 30 points, five more than Allen's Reuter as those two led their teams in scoring.

Allen trailed throughout the contest: 22-14 at first quarter, 38-30 at intermission, 54-38 at third quarter.

The Trojans were bothered by

Allen's shooting accuracy from the field (82 per cent on 15 of 18 shots) as they were troubled by the hosts in the opener.

Sophomore Dave Scheel was the only cager for Wakefield who could muster a scoring threat - he came up with 19 points for scoring honors for both squads. Emerson-Hubbard placed three in double figures: Don Fuchser with 17, Dale Luaders with 11 and Mark Christensen with 10.

Kim Klime and Starzl shared rebounding honors (for Wakefield with 13 each, Scheel hauled in 11).

Athlete of the Week

Roger Anderson

By Norvin Hansen

Watch for the name of Winside's Roger Anderson when the first ratings of high school wrestlers are issued late in January by the Omaha World-Herald.

The way young Anderson is going, he stands a good chance to get a high ranking from the mat coaches in northeast Nebraska.

In the meantime, he will have to settle for The Wayne Herald's "Athlete of the Week" tag, a honor he earns for coming off the mats with a gold medal during the Logan Valley Invitational tournament last week. As such, he is the first wrestler to grab the "Athlete" spotlight away from area basketball players this winter.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Anderson of rural Winside, Roger wrestled his way to championship status in the 126-pound class at the Logan Valley affair, contributing 16 points to Winside's total of 67. Those 67 points put the Wildcats in second place behind respected Valley, who tallied 74.

He took the top medal in the tournament by pinning all three of his foes - in 3:41, 5:11 and 1:10.

He was the only Wildcat wrestler to earn top honors in the tourney, although teammates Dean Krueger and Larry Cleveland battled to runner-up positions.

Winning isn't new to this wrestler. In three dual meets before the tournament he earned the victory honors - by an 11-0 mark against Pender, by a 1-10 pin against Norfolk and by a 5-23 pin against Stanton.

A year ago as a junior Anderson found it almost impossible even to make the varsity wrestling squad at Winside. Reason: he had to wrestle against seniors Steph Carlson, eventual state champion at 115 pounds, and Mike Jagger, who wound up third in the state tournament at 123 pounds.

But Anderson has developed into a "real solid wrestler" who has started realizing the fruits of hard work, says his coach, Harold Simpson. Simpson says the senior has faced some fine competition already this season and will be a fine asset to the Winside squad. Anderson, says his coach, is countering the moves of his opponents and is taking advantage of their mistakes very well.

He may not have earned a letter in wrestling last year, but it'll probably take some act of God to keep him from one this year.

Allen Racks Trojan '5' For 3rd in Holiday Meet

Allen drubbed Wakefield, 57-40, to take third place in the Christmas holiday tournament at Emerson-Hubbard Tuesday night. The hosts knocked off Pender, 46-42, in the championship contest.

Allen fell to Pender Monday evening, 77-55, and Wakefield suffered a 54-38 loss to Emerson-Hubbard.

The action for the quilts from Wakefield and Allen marks their last action until later in January - the Trojans going up against Oakland-Craig in an away contest Jan. 8, the Eagles waltzing until Jan. 15 to host a potential Randolph club.

Tuesday night's loss to Allen by the Wakefield crew was a nightmarish experience. Three starters fouled out (high scorer Pat Starzl, Rick Olson and Dave Scheel) as the Trojans saw a 28-21 halftime lead disappear in the third period as Starzl was the only Trojan to connect from the field. Score going into the final period: Allen 36, Wakefield 32.

Allen, paced once again by 5-8 scoring machine Loren Reuter, pulled away from the Trojans in the final period by collecting 21 points to Wakefield's eight.

Starzl had 14 points for shooting honors for the losers, followed by the 10 each of Olson and Dave Gardner, a recent addition to the starting line-up.

Reuter pushed his season scoring average over the 20-point mark with his 27 counters. Next closest to him were John Warner with nine, Jerome Roberts with eight.

In Monday's opening round of action, the Eagles were unable to stop Pender's Barry Mable.

Mable stuffed in 30 points, five more than Allen's Reuter as those two led their teams in scoring.

Allen trailed throughout the contest: 22-14 at first quarter, 38-30 at intermission, 54-38 at third quarter.

The Trojans were bothered by

Allen's shooting accuracy from the field (82 per cent on 15 of 18 shots) as they were troubled by the hosts in the opener.

Sophomore Dave Scheel was the only cager for Wakefield who could muster a scoring threat - he came up with 19 points for scoring honors for both squads. Emerson-Hubbard placed three in double figures: Don Fuchser with 17, Dale Luaders with 11 and Mark Christensen with 10.

Kim Klime and Starzl shared rebounding honors (for Wakefield with 13 each, Scheel hauled in 11).

Stanton '5' Nips Laurel

Scoring 37 points may have been a record high for Laurel's Steve Erwin, but it wasn't quite enough to get the Bears by a determined Stanton quiet last week.

Laurel, trailing 31-18 after a dismal first half, suffered his third loss this season and had to take a gloomy 2-3 mark into this week's Christmas holiday tournament at Wayne State College.

The defeat at Stanton was doubly embarrassing for the visitors. The Bears are defending Husker Conference champions and Stanton was their second Husker foe this year. They had knocked off Wayne, 71-64, in their first Husker outing.

Erwin, who took command for Laurel in the second half and nearly pulled his squad to a victory, made 15 field goals and hit five of six free throws as he turned in his best effort to date. He hit 12 of 15 field goals the second half as Laurel pulled to within one bucket of the Mustangs.

Only teammate Paul McCoy figured importantly in Laurel's scoring attack, which had sputtered along as the Bears hit only seven of 24 shots and four of 12 free throws the first two quarters. McCoy had 10 points.

Stanton, led by Marland Erbsal's 14 points, shot 38 per cent from the field, hitting 23 of 40 attempts. Displaying balanced scoring, the Mustangs had two other players in two figures: Guy Miller with 12 and Randy Havens with 10.

Rick Smith, out with a knee injury suffered in football, saw his first limited action in the contest. A 5-9 guard, he came up with two points and turned in a fine showing, said his coach, considering the amount of work he has had.

Leading rebounders for Laurel were Erwin with 18 and McCoy and Regg Swanson with seven each.

BIG RED VIEW FROM THE WOW BOOTH

 By RUSS BALDWIN
 WOW Sports Editor

Merry Christmas and welcome back to Husker football. The day-to-day debates and conjectures resume with the Huskers getting ready to meet LSU in the Orange Bowl New Year's Night. It will be a battle of Nebraska's powerful offense against LSU's stingy defense. NU has outscored its opponents 409-177, while LSU has allowed only 96 points while scoring 277 themselves.

The game will also feature a battle between two of the nation's winningest coaches: NU's Bob Devaney with a 14-year record of 113-28-6 for a .789 percentage, and LSU's Charlie McLendon with a nine-year mark of 70-23-0 for a .753 percentage.

One comparison which is ridiculous is the overall bowl record of both teams. It has been pointed out that LSU's bowl record is 8-2-1 compared with Nebraska's 5-5-0, Nebraska is 1-2 in the Orange Bowl.

How past bowl comparisons can mean anything is beyond us. You're talking about completely different personnel and in some cases even different coaching staffs. Yet this seems to be a case peculiar to college football.

It is almost as ridiculous as the Big Ten's ruling which prohibits the conference champion from going to the Rose Bowl two years in a row.

In college athletics there is an automatic turnover of personnel each year, and you never have a holdover more than three years in a row concerning individual players.

So let's look at the game strictly on the basis of Nebraska and LSU's personnel of this season, forgetting what they might have done in the past.

The way we look at it here, Nebraska's offense will once again prove to be awesome, in spite of LSU's fine defensive record, and the Husker defense will be equal to the task of holding LSU's offense.

It looks to us like the Big Red comes away the winner by at least two touchdowns.

Two Leftys Area's Biggest Scoring Threats

by Norvin Hansen

The tall and the short of it capture the attention of anybody pouring over the scoring statistics of the five area cage teams at Christmas break.

The tall: Laurel's 6-6 Steve Erwin, leading the scoring parade with a handsome average of 22.8 points per game.

The short: Allen's 5-8 Loren Reuter, skipping along on Erwin's heels with a fine 19.8 average.

Those averages were racked up by the two cagers (left-handers, by the way) in their first five games this winter as basketball action now moves into its second quarter. Whether they can sustain those averages in the tourney competition over the holidays will be interesting to see.

Erwin was able to break the 20-point barrier after a slow start this year primarily because of a 37-point spree in Laurel's losing effort at Stanton last week. He had tallied 114 points in five games going into the Wayne State tournament this week.

Reuter, showing the scoring consistency this season, had come up with 99 points in his first five games prior to the tournament at Emerson-Hubbard the first two nights this week.

The others among the top 10 scorers from the quintets at Laurel, Allen, Winside, Wakefield and Wayne:

—Winside's Gary Soden with 74 points in five games for a 14.8 average.

—Wakefield's Pat Starzl with 55 in four games for a 13.7 average.

—Laurel's Steve Smith with 66 in five games for a 13.2 average.

—Wayne's Don Mau with 38 in three games for a 12.7 average.

—Allen's John Warner with 54 in five games for a 10.8 average.

—Winside's Jon Behmer with 49 in five games for a 9.8 average.

—Wayne's Mike Creighton with 29 in three games for a 9.7 average.

—Wayne's Rod Cook with 29 in three games for a 9.7 average.

The Wayne Blue Devils, with Mau, Cook and Creighton among the top 10, were the only quint to have three players high in scoring this early in the year. If they are able to stay there as the season ages remains to be seen.

The five clubs took a 9-13 collective record into the holiday tourneys, with only Wayne (2-1) sporting a winning mark.

Wakefield's Rick Olson, with a 9.0 average in four games, nearly made it into the top 10. He had scored 36 points going into the E-H affair.

Fans of a different brand of basketball—Globetrotter style—will have a chance to shake off their holiday doldrums Jan. 10 when the Magicians of Basketball appear at the Sioux City Auditorium.

Tickets for that appearance are selling for $4, $3 and $2 and can be ordered by mail from the auditorium box office. A self-addressed, stamped envelope should be included with orders.

Fishermen in the area finding themselves lapsing into wishes for warmer weather might enjoy an article in the January issue of NEBRASKA. The story, "Shadows in the River," follows brothers John and Jeff Schuckman as they try to land some linkers from the waters below Gavins Point Dam. Their weapon: now an arrow. John holds the state archery record for piddletfish—38 1/2 pounds.

Wrestling fans are reminded to keep their eyes open for the first Omaha World-Herald rating of prep wrestlers across the state. That feature should come out some time the latter part of January. Several area grapplers are currently vying for listing.

Acknowledgments to Wakefield's Kirk Gardner for the Christmas wishes and the complement on coverage given Trojan athletes in The Herald. Kirk, a sophomore at Wakefield, was one of the area youths named "Athlete of the Week" during the football season.

Anderson Medal Winner at Logan View

by Norvin Hansen

Winside's Roger Anderson, who found it difficult to even get a starting position on last year's varsity wrestling club, fought his way to a gold medal in the Logan View invitational tournament last week.

Anderson, a senior, pinned all three of his foes—in 3:41, 5:11 and 1:10—on his way to championship honors in the 125-pound weight class.

A year ago Anderson had to take a back seat to seniors Steph Carlson and Mike Jaeger, both competent wrestlers in their weight classes.

Anderson's performance in the tournament keeps his record perfect for the season and played an important part in Winside's coming in second in the meet. The Wildcats finished with 67 points, seven behind winner Valley.

Two of Anderson's teammates came in second best in the tournament—Dean Krueger in the 155-pound class and Larry Cleveland at 185 pounds.

Krueger pinned his first two foes before losing, 5-1, in the finals. Cleveland also pinned his first two opponents, then lost a 3-0 overtime decision after ending up tied at 6-6 at end of regulation play.

Taking third places in the tournament, which featured respectably from Bergan and Oakland among the teams invited: Rob Langenberg at 122 pounds, Dale Miller at 136 pounds, Terry Jaeger at 145 pounds and heavy-weight Dennis Wade.

Earning fourth places: Dave Jaeger, 105 pounds, and Steve Suchel, 112 pounds, and Steve Suchel, 112 pounds, and Steve Suchel, 112 pounds.

Failing to advance in their weight classes were Felix Perrin, 98 pounds; Doug Lage, 119 pounds, and Galven Stevens, 157 pounds.

The Winside wrestlers were scheduled to take part in the holiday tournament at Howells on Wednesday of this week. Their next dual action will be at Hartington on Jan. 7.

Winside Quint to Vie in Coleridge Tourney

Winside High's quintet, just this week tested in tournament competition in the Rosalie affair, will take part in an eight-team invitational tournament at Coleridge next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

The Wildcats will go against a strong Handolph team the first game Tuesday night. Following that game will be the Wynok-Coleridge tussle.

Opening the tourney Monday evening will be the Wausa-Hartington High game, followed by the Ponca-Hartington (cedar Catholic) contest.

Semifinals are scheduled for Wednesday evening, finals for Friday. Opening games are set for 6:30 and 8 p.m.

Handbills advertising the Winside High basketball games incorrectly list a Lewis & Clark Conference tournament for Coleridge Jan. 4-9. There will be no conference tournament this year; however, there will be a divisional play-off between winners of the west and east loops. That affair is set for South Sioux City on Feb. 16.

Next action for Winside after the invitational at Coleridge is at Osmond on Jan. 15.

Wayne, Wisner Bowmen Score

Bowmen from Wayne and Wisner head the latest list of successful hunters to deer this year.

Among the successful: Charles Myer of Wayne and Wisner's Gene Ott and Roger Swatman.

Also scoring lately have been Richard Turpin of Ponca, Dallas Heppner of Norfolk, Orvall Kuester of Norfolk and Marlon Smith of Crofton.

The deer hunters will have to unstring their bows and hang them up until next fall come New Year's Eve, the final day of the archery-deer season across the state.

This year a record 4,894 archery-deer permits were issued, considerably more than the previous record of 4,122 in 1969. Some two weeks before the end of the 1970 season, archers had reported in with 722 deer, a success ratio of nearly 15 per cent. Success for the 1969 hunt was 18.5 per cent.

Going Ice Fishing?

Ice fishing time has arrived over much of Nebraska, but every year anglers new to the game are plagued by the same questions—how much and what kinds of ice will safely support their weight?

The safe load is not entirely dependent on thickness, but there are some reliable rules of thumb to use as guidelines, according to the Game and Parks Commission.

For example, about three inches of clear blue lake ice will safely support one man, and four or five inches will bear the weight of several anglers in single file. Cars and pickups require eight inches or more. Slush ice is only about half as strong, however, so fishermen should double these figures when encountering these conditions.

Anglers should also bear in mind that old ice is not as strong as new ice of the same thickness, and ice formed from melted snow is weaker than that formed by freezing lake water.

Bears to Defend NENAC Title

Followers of the Laurel High basketball team are being offered a chance to see the Bears in tournament action again next week during the Northeast Nebraska Athletic Conference Basketball Tournament. The Bears are toumey defenders.

The tournament is scheduled for Bloomfield next Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

Competing for top honors in the annual affair are Laurel, Pierce, Crofton, O'Neill, Plainview and Bloomfield.

Pairings: Tuesday—Pierce vs. Bloomfield at 7 p.m. and Crofton vs. Laurel at 8:30. Thursday—O'Neill vs. first game winner at 7 and Plainview vs. second game winner at 8:30. Championship game will be played at 8:30 Friday evening, preceded by the consolation contest at 7.

BATTLIN' FOR REBOUNDS are Wakefield's Rob Mavis (dark suit) and Allen's Gary Truff as Eagles John Harner (54) and Jerome Roberts (42) look on. Action's from the Emerson-Hubbard consolation game Tuesday night.

Pheasant Experiment to Be Tried

An experimental method of pheasant production using game-farm hens, wild cocks and fenced-off nesting cover will be tested by the Game and Parks Commission in 1971 as a probable method of increasing pheasant numbers in areas deficient in natural nesting habitat.

The project will involve placing wing-clipped game-farm hens in one-acre plots of alfalfa surrounded by a five-foot wire mesh fence. If everything goes according to plan, the hens will be bred by wild roosters and hatch their eggs inside the protective fence.

About two weeks after the eggs hatch, the hens should molt and fly out, and the chicks should be old enough to clear the fence and leave with them.

If successful, this method could be one solution to the problem of declining pheasant numbers in areas where nesting cover has been lost to intensive agricultural practices. Over the years, much of the state's natural nesting cover has disappeared as farmers have converted creek bottoms, weed patches, idle acres and other wildlife habitat to production of cash crops.

Several factors make this method of propagation appear attractive. One is the fact that game-farm hens are more tolerant of crowding while nesting than wild hens. Recommended spacing for hens in brooding pens on game farms, where eggs are collected for artificial incubation, is 200 to 400 square feet. On the other hand, the maximum density for wild hens is approximately one nest per acre.

For the Commission's study, the three pens will be stocked with 10, 20 and 40 hens, allowing slightly more than 4,000, 2,000 and 1,000 square feet per hen respectively. Large watering devices and self-feeders would make for minimum care of the plots.

Unknowns that could make the program unworkable on a wide-scale basis include stress on hens and subsequent abandonment of nests due to crowding, lack of response from wild pheasant cocks to the penned hens, loss of hens to predators, inability of a hen with chicks to leave the pen and excessive cost in relation to birds produced.

Former Wakefield Injured in Accident

A former rural Wakefield resident, Calvin Swagerly of South Sioux City, escaped with a fractured collar bone and other minor injuries when his truck and the mobile home he was towing were hit in the rear by another vehicle Dec. 21. Swagerly reportedly pulled off to the side of the interstate highway between Beresford and Vermillion, S. D. to check equipment when struck by a second tractor-trailer. Swagerly's truck was overthrown in the mishap. Swagerly was taken to Beresford hospital and released the following day. The driver of the second truck was not injured.

the SOBER FACTS

Looking Which Way?

Horace Greeley once penned, "The illusion that times that were are better than those that are, has probably pervaded all ages." He was likely right.

As we look at the year now ending and the year ahead, there is a tendency to believe that times were better years ago and will likely be better in the years to come, but are not so good right now. Such an idea is illusion.

Was it a good year for Noah when a great flood destroyed all but those in the ark? Doesn't it depend upon the way one looks at it? It was a bad year for those who perished, but those who survived were glad to be alive to start a new society. So has it always been with mankind. Disaster and triumph color each date on the calendar. Man daily attempts to overcome disaster and start a new society for himself.

Sure, you could look at all the mini-disasters that came your way in 1970. You might even be justified in wrapping yourself up in a bag of self pity for the next 12 months because you got such a rotten deal this year. What good would it do?

Wishing for last year's garden to return is foolish. It grew, flourished and was consumed. Why waste time looking back when there are gardens to be planned for 1971?

Let's reach back and cling to gleaned wisdom letting its use turn our head forward into the new year. Avoid joining "The Unreachables" who prefer living in the unreachable past and unreachable future while ignoring the present.

Actually, the present is a very good time in that it is an hour in which we may each contribute something toward bettering the world.

The viewpoint from Noah's Mt. Ararat is one thing. Working for a better society in the valley is another. Regardless of how you are looking, Happy New Year. — MNW.

Capital News —

Proverbial Jolly Season Ends Jan. 5 for Senators

LINCOLN — It's still the season to be jolly. But not for long. The Legislature convenes Jan. 5.

It's not so much that legislators aren't jolly as individuals. Collectively, however, they are sometimes given to scragging. In true democratic fashion, of course.

It shouldn't take long for the battlements to be drawn for the initial skirmish. That should be over the proposed changes in the Legislature's own rules.

The rule book was overhauled during the interim by the Executive Board of the Legislative Council. The Board's suggestions — which include some highly controversial items which upset legislative traditions — will come up for consideration the first day.

Also scheduled for the opening session will be the election of the 1971 Legislature's officers. That evening, the committee on committees will meet to hand out the committee assignments for the session.

The election of the speaker and the other officers could spark some floor incendiaries as various factions seek to gain control. If the new rules are adopted, the speakership, particularly, will be a plum because that post is due for added power and responsibility.

The committee assignments are dealt out in a complicated process. The membership of the committee on committees is chosen by caucus of each of four geographic areas.

A lot of pre-session politicking goes on by senators who want to get duty on their favorite committee. Their chances for a choice assignment rise or fall, depending upon the composition of the committee on committee delegates from their area.

Because committees hold their hearings on different days, it's sometimes tricky to apportion the membership. An attempt is made to have all areas represented on each committee, adding to the difficulty of making the assignments.

The first job of the committee on committees is to name the chairman of each standing committee. Pressures build when this is being done and, some observers claim, promises of later support for legislation sometimes are made by senators anxious to get certain chairmanships.

After the organizing and the inauguration ceremonies for the new governor, the lawmakers will get to work on the state government issues which will confront them in 1971.

Sure to draw its usual quota of fireworks will be redistricting. Because of the 1970 census, the Legislature will have to draw new boundaries for congressional districts, its own senatorial districts and a series of other districts to assure each Nebraska an equal vote.

Consideration has been given to easing the pain of legislative reapportionment by increasing the size of the unicameral to the constitutional limit — 50 members.

There now are 49 state senators. That figure was chosen to avoid ties, but observers have said attendance is so unpredictable that the full senate seldom is on hand and the chances of an even number answering a particular roll call are just as high as an odd number.

By creating an extra seat, there would be less revision of boundaries outstate. Sarpy County, which includes rapidly-growing Bellevue and some of metropolitan Omaha, will qualify for two senators, instead of one because of population expansion since the last redistricting.

One or more new senate seats will have to be created in the Omaha area of Douglas County, too.

In rural areas where there has been a loss of population, the district boundaries will have to be made bigger. That inevitably means one or more rural senators will find himself redistricting out of office.

The burden probably will fall on senators from odd-numbered districts because they come up for election in 1972, the effective date of the new boundaries.

Here are some other issues to be considered by the 1971 session:

—An omnibus drug control bill which law enforcement officials say will give them better tools to combat a problem they claim has spread to every community in the state.

—Appropriations putting the state in the sewage treatment business as a partner with city and federal governments. The addition of state aid for these anti-pollution projects will reduce the costs to cities and villages which are required to upgrade the treatment of wastes they dump into streams and rivers.

—Implementation of the constitutional amendment adopted by the voters Nov. 3 which grants the Legislature authority to classify personal property and exempt any classes it wishes. Business inventories and farm machinery are the classes some groups are anxious to have exempted and battles may develop on a method to reimburse local subdivisions for the property tax revenues they would lose.

—The natural resources district legislation adopted by the 1969 session and due for review by the 1971 session.

—The 18-year-old vote, which congress (with U. S. Supreme Court interpretation) has granted for presidential and congressional elections. Nebraska's constitution was changed to allow 20-year-old voting this year and an attempt to lower the limit two more years is expected.

—Consideration of the proposals submitted by the Nebraska Constitutional Revision Commission.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS ARE PICKPOCKETS!

Besides costing more than 28,000 lives a year, the drunken driver also raids the pocketbooks of other drivers to the tune of $12 billion annually, which is reflected in higher auto insurance premiums.

Dear Editor:

Pollution for many of us has become a household word. We, as housewives, can do something about pollution, namely water pollution. One of the most rapidly spreading water pollution problems in the chemical compounds category comes from phosphates. Detergents contain more of this compound than any other man-made product.

Some algae live in all still or sluggish water, such as lakes. A plentiful supply of phosphorus causes the algae to grow very rapidly until they appear as a huge mat of green slime on the water. As they multiply, they eventually exhaust one or more of their nutrients and die. Bacteria attack the dead algae, using more and more of the oxygen in the water and creating an obnoxious odor. Finally the mats of dead algae become heavy with bacteria, sinking and filling the lake so that first a swamp and then a mudflat is created. This process, known as eutrophication, takes place naturally over a period of up to several million years. Now, however, the process is being accelerated very rapidly in many places, and the principal cause seems to be the quantities of phosphorus entering the water.

For those who would like to reduce the amount of phosphates they contribute to the water supply, "Consumer Reports" has recently published a list of common soaps and detergents with their phosphate content. The list indicates the amount of phosphate found in a single load of laundry if the minimum amount of soap or detergent recommended by the manufacturer is used.

Way Back When

30 Years Ago

January 2, 1941: Bernise, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lenhoff of Randolph suffered a leg fracture when the horse he was riding slipped on an icy highway and fell with him. Wayne firemen took advantage of a course of instruction offered them through the Smith-Hughes act, which included the best fire fighting methods and was given by specialist in the work. Now improvements include: Nuisance store will be enlarged and redecorated. City Grocery has added a meat department. Council Oak is being enlarged and redecorated. Esther Schroeder related her trip to Chicago for 4-H Club Congress at Kiwanis Club last Monday. This year marks the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of Wayne.

25 Years Ago

January 3, 1946: Val Peterson, former resident of Wayne, files for state position. Peterson filed for the Republican nomination for governor. The Wayne Vets Independent basketball team jumped into an early start and won over the Wakefield Townies 44 to 39. Wayne County tuberculosis fund totaled $3695.54 as reported by Sgt. Marie Wright. Yankton High basketball team won over Wayne High 35 to 10 at a game played at Yankton. New officers were installed Monday at the Wayne Kiwanis Club. They are C. L. Pickett, president, David Theophilus, vice-president, Mayor Herman Lundberg, treasurer, Dr. H. C. Coff, secretary and E. W. Huse, immediate past president.

20 Years Ago

January 4, 1951: Wayne County Board of Commissioners elected. F. Meyer County Board Chairman to succeed P. L. Jones. Failure to click at the free throw line cost Wayne State Wildcats a game Tuesday night when the Augustana College five dropped the teachers, 63 to 55. Records in the county judge's office show that 66 marriage licenses were written during the last year. Joe Erickson, Wakefield, marketed 59 Hampshires at the Sioux City market receiving $18.85. Wayne volunteer firemen extinguished a grass fire at the J. K. Johnson farm last Saturday. A total of 25 car licenses were issued during the eight-hour day in the office of the county treasurer. An average of over 40 per hour.

15 Years Ago

January 5, 1956: A 200-acre Wayne County farm part of the late Nels Nelsen estate, was sold to Adon Jeffrey, Wayne, at auction at the courthouse Tuesday for $24,550 an acre. Ruth Ann Troutman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Troutman, was named winner of the Wayne County 4-H cherry pie baking contest Thursday afternoon at the REA building. Purchase of Ellis Firestone Store was announced this week by Merchant Oil Company. One of Bob Merchant said he will take possession of the Main Street store Jan. 15. Wakefield and Wisner girls were the top winners in the annual Wayne Herald Christmas Coloring contest. Sandra Herbolshelmer, Wakefield, was the winner of the division for kindergarten. First, second and third graders: Lucy Schmidt, Wisner, won the older division.

10 Years Ago

January 5, 1961: Mortgage burning ceremonies were held New Year's Eve at the First Baptist Church in Wayne, along with the annual business meeting and waiving services. Christine Peterson, 6, and Linda Altemann, 12, were the first place winners in the annual Wayne Herald Coloring Contest in their respective I and II divisions. One of the nation's finest college concerts will appear in Wakefield Jan. 28. The Gustavus Band of Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn., on their annual tour, will present the concert in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Robert Carhart will head the Wayne Chamber of Commerce for 1961, succeeding Ted Armbruster.

Dear Editor:

I want to thank the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and the Wayne merchants for the $500 check given me at Christmas time. Also, I want to thank them for the fair way they conducted the Christmas drawings.

This is something that I thought always happened to someone else. I really didn't think it could happen to me.

I did not check my numbers until 7:30 p.m. Then I suddenly felt an urgency to check our numbers. Mine was the third number. Of all the numbers we had, the winning ticket was one from—a $2 purchase.

Thank you again. It was an experience I'll never forget.

Mr. & Mrs. Gus Stuthmann
(Editor's Note: Mrs. Stuthmann was one of five people who won $500 cash prizes in the 1970 Christmas cash drawings arranged by the local Chamber of Commerce. Also winning the cash gifts were Mrs. Bill Chance of Wayne, Mrs. Art Weirhauser of Emerson, Gerald Meyer of Wakefield and Ray Butts of Wayne. The drawing for the gifts was held on Wednesday of last week.)

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

"Twas the day before Christmas, And all through the State Capitol Building Hardly a creature was stirring (Oh yes, bourbon or Scotch hibernals) Not even a mouse."

Here I pause. There were some mousy characters stirring. This was their big day, National Television Day for the U. S. Statistical Department. The day that David Brinkley, Walter Cronkite and Frank Reynolds would expound on the cost of living index. The National Budget would be saved or ruined. Presidents made or busted!

In fact, Mom, in fifteen years the Statistical Department had risen from the office just behind the janitor's broom closet to an upstairs corner room facing the traffic light. Why, they were allowed two telephone numbers—with a hold button. And a secretary. Of course, no typing qualifications were needed as no farmer ever filled out a report nor wrote them a letter. But, she made a good Mrs. Olson cup of coffee and wore her skirt well below her knees.

Today, Timothy P. Pity and Joekio Q. Northerlund were stringing marionettes. Both pale and weak from the tremulous task on their narrow shoulders.

They were U. S. statisticians. Their specialty was reaping information about farmers. Of course, neither had knowledgeably talked to a farmer (Joekio once had asked the directions to the State Fairgrounds of two browned fellows with white foreheads, but he thought they were wig models on vacation).

"Do you think we'll be mentioned by name, Mr. Northerlund?"

"No, Mr. Pity, the chance for such personalization is 0.05%. The only prior individual mentioned was when Mr. Arthur S. Stuck, while in Viet Nam, turned in his PX grocery tape as the damage to Jungle Pat and mosquitos done when air spraying DDT. Mr. Stuck is now a charter member of our Hall of Fame."

"Will the Pig Intentions report be so tremendously, Mr. Northerlund?"

"Oh, only the inner sanctum in Washington who programmed the computer have that key—they and their brokers."

"Brokers, Mr. Northerlund?"

"Yes, Mr. Pity. Rumors are that advance information DOPS leak out to several Chicago mercantile brokers. With the cost of living index climbing, and with union members all owing escalating wage clauses based on our findings, there is a need to protect one's financial position. That privilege is our final reward before retirement—our nestegg and security to old age."

"Mr. Northerlund, you are considered a leading statistician on all crop and livestock reports. Were you once a farmer?"

"I was raised on an Arkansas chicken farm. My Daddy and I raised the tallest Johnson grass in Van Buren County. The day of our farm sale, antique dealers came clear from St. Louis and Dallas. I graduated in the lower third of my ag class at Oklahoma State. Being too small to hoist 100 lb. feed or fertilizer sacks, I went into government service. Since no one ever offered me a job in private enterprise, I stayed. Only the night manager left on the ground floor at the USDA building has more seniority."

"Mr. Northerlund, how did you reach the new pig intentions report?"

"Simple. As an economy move, I picked up back issues of farm magazines at the credit office. With these, I can arrive at an indisputable figure. Besides, farmers never complain about reports, just weather and money. Last June when I gave southern Nebraska and Iowa a record prediction for corn despite a drought, no farmer questioned it. Most merely thought they were personally being punished for unpure thoughts while their neighbors prospered."

"How do the magazines help, Mr. Northerlund?"

"Simple. Take this quarter. I found that three feed companies promised one extra pig per litter; two pharmaceutical houses promised three more. A farrow house manufacturer heralded an increase of two extra pigs, a heating division of a giant petroleum firm promised two, a breeding service promised three extras—without using a boar. However, I discounted that statistic 13 of 15 on lack of female cooperation."

"A certain truckbed got one extra pig to market, as did three commission companies. The Public Health had eradicated hog cholera, scours, milk fever, whooping cough, even eliminated. An Iowa State Extension specialist said his project was to permit farrowing only between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Three breed associations promised two extra pigs, all heavier."

"Mr. Pity, it all added up to 23 head to the litter, with a final average weight of 397 pounds. For that reason, I originally predicted a 213% pig crop increase. But, advertisers do stretch the truth. Using my secret theory done only in private, I arrived at my final estimate which I mailed to Washington."

"What is your secret?"

"Mr. Pity, you are now old enough to know. I believe in fate and justice and witches and warlocks, numerology, astrology and gypsy fortune tellers. But my secret is I throw darts at a board bought in Druid County in Scotland."

"Sir, last February and July, your report predicted big increases. Hog prices dropped $12 a hundred, yet through September two million less hogs were slaughtered. Don't farmers complain?"

"Move that snowmobile over, Sonny, 'cause I've got the fastest foundered steer in the west!"

"Mr. Pity, farmers don't receive those statistics. Those are for the speculators and brokers. Our duty is cheap food. If I can get hogs down to $12 a cwt., I've been promised a place in the Statistical Hall of Fame. I should make it by April."

Dixon County Farmers 'Conservation Minded'

Dixon County farmers showed considerable interest in conservation during 1970, according to the Soil Conservation Service office at Wakefield.

Over 100 farmers applied some sort of conservation on their farms, report SCS officials. A list of the practices used during the year and the number of farms using them:

Wildlife wetland development, one; grass waterways, 11; diversion terraces, 13;

Farm ponds, eight; terraces, 20; erosion control dams, 15;

Drainage tile, two; tree plantings, 34; grass seedings, 29.

Several farmers who planned some type of conservation work this fall were not able to complete the work because of the wet soil conditions. Early freezing temperatures also prevented conservation work being done on a number of farms.

"Because of the association of soil and water erosion to pollution, more farmers are recognizing the importance of erosion control measures such as contouring, grass seedings, terraces and dams, say the SCS officials.

Those officials are available for discussing and planning all types of conservation practices with emphasis being given to those who help control agricultural pollution.

Farm Lease Fairness Subject of Circular

The fairness of your lease is discussed in a circular authored by Philip A. Henderson, Extension economist at the University of Nebraska.

EU 70-184, entitled "Is Your Lease Fair?" discusses in detail the contributions of the tenant and landlord as a basis of rental terms, an estimate of interest and taxes on land and improvements, the cost of maintaining improvements and repairs, maintenance cost of machinery and equipment, personal property tax, labor, a per cent of contributions made by each, and suggestions on how to test your present lease. Tables express figures and comparisons clearly.

A copy of "Is Your Lease Fair?" can be obtained at county Extension offices.

Popular Blue Book Is Now Available

The widely used Nebraska "Blue" Farm Account Book, devised by University of Nebraska agricultural economists, is now available to provide Nebraska farmers with the business records necessary to successful farming operations.

The "Blue" account book, No. FM5-1, is helpful for income tax reporting, as both receipt and expense items are broken down to provide easy transfer to income tax forms.

Within the account book are records for landlord expenses and receipts, live-stock produced and sold, social security items and a farm map and land use record for the production of crops.

Financial summaries and net worth statements are also contained within the "Blue" book. The blue account book can be purchased at county Extension offices for a nominal cost.

Beef Nutritionist Headlines Meet Of NEN Feeders

Walter Woods, beef nutritionist from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, will report new cattle waste control experiments at the Mead Experiment Station at the annual meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association. He will also review recent cattle feeding experiments.

The annual meeting will be at the Wagon Wheel in Laurel on Monday evening, Jan. 25.

Election of officers and a talk by Mel Kuska of the Nebraska and National Feeders Association will also be featured on the program. A social hour at 6:30 will precede the dinner and meeting.

"A Carpenter"
My history map shows that Nazareth was a very small community in a rural county of farmers, fishermen and village folks. Badly in need of a Rural Development Program, no doubt. Unfortunately, they had no legislature to appropriate tax money for university-trained professionals to serve them and their county. But they did have a carpenter—a man with remarkable teaching talent who showed uncommon interest in the unsophisticated, the unknowing and the possessors of his county. He held no university degrees, no credentials, no membership in any society or club, no titles to anything—indeed, nothing to command the people's attention, let alone their respect.

But he had a Plan. To the villagers, it could easily have been an Urban Development Plan. To the country people, a Rural Development Plan.

Although he had never taken any courses in educational psychology or methodology, this carpenter introduced two new teaching methods to get across his plan—very revolutionary for his day:

Parables to make his lessons crystal clear to the common people whom the intellectuals had long scorned.

Dialogue to encourage the masses to question his teachings and thus learn more deeply by participation.

He reinforced these teachings with extraordinary skills—healing the sick, raising the dead, changing water into wine, feeding thousands—from a handful of bread and two fish.

His Plan started with a project he called repentance. This didn't bother the establishment too much, but after he threw some sharp money changers out of the public temple, the leadership started looking for ways to shut him up—and do away with him, if necessary.

They managed it, though the Judge in the case washed his hands of the whole thing.

And after his execution and burial, this carpenter did what no other man has ever been able to do. He escaped from the grave.

Ever since then, men have tried to put his Development Program to work—in rural and urban areas—with little success.

Some say the time may soon be ripe for it. Some say it will never work.

Some say it is a do-gooder scheme backed by clever communists.

Some say it is a capitalist ploy to keep the people appeased.

A few say the carpenter will return with magnificent legions to make it work next time.

The remains of mammoths that roamed Alaska thousands of years ago are so perfectly preserved in the ice that scientists can identify in their stomachs summer plants on which the huge animals last fed.

Silage Quality, Quantity Important

The quality of silage is just as important as the quantity.

This was the message relayed to area farmers by Dr. Wally Molino, state forage specialist, at the most recent session of the series of meetings on Hay-Pasture and Silage held at the Northeast Station, reports George Rehm, agronomist at the Station.

Dr. Molino also pointed out that the stage of maturity at harvest has a major influence on quality and digestibility.

Dr. Don Sander, state soils specialist, emphasized that fertility requirements of the silage crop are different from fertility requirements of the corn grain crop, Rehm noted. Sander said that farmers should be concerned with adding the nitrogen and phosphate needed to provide for top production of the silage crop.

This series of meetings on forage production will continue on Thursday, Jan. 7, at the University of Nebraska research facility. The scheduled starting time is 7:30 p.m.

Topic for the next session is "Fertilizer Recommendations for Alfalfa Production and Grass Pastures." All area farmers are invited to attend and bring a neighbor. The Northeast Station is located a mile east of Concord.

Colombian Doctor Visits Local Clinic

by Merlin Wright

Chilled by near-zero temperatures in Wayne, Dr. Didiaco Arango of Bogota, Colombia, noted during a recent visit here that temperatures in Bogota usually range between 55 and 60 degrees and it is "the spring all the time."

Dr. Arango, a professor of clinical veterinary medicine in the National University in Bogota, arrived at Iowa State University in Ames early last summer for a 10-month study of new techniques, procedures and medicines.

A part of the 10-month course is that of making actual observations in established veterinary clinics. Dr. Arango spent one week with a veterinary clinic in Carroll, Iowa, last June and recently spent two weeks working with Doctors Jay and Ken Liska at the Wayne Veterinary Clinic.

"It has been very interesting to discuss livestock problems with Dr. Arango," said Dr. Jay Liska, "and we think we have a time with disease here. You should hear some of the problems they have in Colombia."

Although Dr. Arango was working with the local veterinarians to learn updated procedures, Dr. Jay Liska explained, "We have also learned a lot from Dr. Arango."

When asked if he had noticed any particular differences in the veterinarian schools in Colombia and the United States, Dr. Arango said, "Yes, there are many differences between schools. Here in United States you have plenty of materials and equipment. You use many materials only once and dispose of them. Not so much money in Colombia. They throw few things away."

The Colombian professor noted they had a lot of grass-fed beef in his country but not many hogs and even less poultry. He explained that having fried chicken in Bogota is a real treat.

Dr. Arango studied at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, in earlier years of his education. He and his wife, Susana's first three boys was born while they were in the U. S. consequently the 11-year-old youth is an American citizen. Dr. Arango said the boy will have to decide when he is 17 in which country he wants his citizenship. The couple's other two sons are 9 and 6 years old.

While talking about prices in Colombia, Dr. Arango pointed out that a 1955 Chevrolet is worth $3,000 and the cheapest new car is priced around $4,500. He said most of those who are able to afford cars have models built in the 1950's.

Dr. Arango returned to the Iowa State University last week-end and will return to Bogota Feb. 20 where he will resume his teaching duties.

There's a lot to be said for AK-SAR-BEN'S ACE program.*

Last year, Ak-Sar-Ben's agricultural, civic and educational programs brought valuable awards and recognition to many of the state's well-deserving citizens. For example, Ak-Sar-Ben awarded more than 500 scholarships last year to students, nurses, county extension agents, vocational agricultural instructors, teachers, firemen and policemen at nearly every university and college in Nebraska. And Ak-Sar-Ben gave improvement grants for county fairs totaling $40,000 and premiums to 4-H and FFA totaling $50,000.

Bringing to over 150 the number of towns aided in Nebraska, Ak-Sar-Ben provided life-saving, fire-fighting and hospital emergency equipment. In the area of agriculture, Ak-Sar-Ben continued to support the Nebraska 4-H Camp and to bestow Agricultural Achievement and Pioneer Farm Family awards. Good Neighbor awards, were given in recognition of outstanding civic service.

And that certainly says something for your organization.

*Ak-Sar-Ben's ACE program is a vast continuing effort to promote agricultural, charitable and educational causes in Nebraska.

People Ask Us--

QUESTION: How can I plan my estate to avoid the red tape Mrs. J. went through when her husband passed away?

ANSWER: Estate planning is a complicated and exciting science. Everyone who owns anything a car, house, bank deposit, insurance, business, retirement benefits etc. has an estate. This estate, regardless of size, represents the most important money in the world to those left behind. The care, maintenance and conservation of this estate is absolutely essential.

As you would not treat a member of your family for a serious illness, do not attempt to be a "do it yourself" estate planner. Contact your attorney or the Trust Officer of your bank. These men can be among the most important people in your life.

WS Coach Ron Jones Is Kiwanis Speaker

Kiwanis Club members meeting in the Woman's Club room Monday received a first-hand report on the Wayne State College basketball squad and their record for the season.

Following a noon luncheon, Ron Jones, WSC head basketball coach, told Kiwanites that though his squad was young and without a lot of experience, they were shaping up and had been playing a lot of talented opponents. He said they hoped to soon improve on the present two-win, five-loss record.

Cal Comstock, chairman of the Public and Business Affairs Committee presented a first-place $25 gift certificate to Mrs. Walden Felber and a second-place $15 gift certificate to Mike Mallette for winning in the Kiwanis Christmas home decorating contest. Third place winners, Mrs. and Mrs. Harold Ferris, were unable to attend the presentation ceremony. They will receive a $10 certificate.

Fire Kills Chickens

Twenty-seven rare-breed chickens and a number of pigeons suffocated Sunday, Dec. 20, as the result of a brooder house fire at the Mike Pobek home at Hoskins.

Hoskins volunteer firemen were called around 11:15 p.m. when the blaze, reportedly started by an overheated heat lamp, was noticed by a passing neighbor. The Pobek family, asleep at the time, were aroused and told of the blaze.

The fire caused considerable damage to the floor of the brooder house.

Santa Has Problems

Santa had mechanical trouble Dec. 19 when he arrived in Windsor on a snowmobile. He finished his route on foot when his powered sled stalled at the west edge of town.

When he arrived at the Windsor auditorium there were about 300 youngsters present to greet him.

The Windsor Community Club and businessmen sponsored the St. Nick's visit. Assisting Santa in distributing the sacked treats were Richard Miller, president of the Community Club; Allan Koch and Julius Eckert. Alfred Miller and Dale Langenberg were in charge of arrangements and also helped Santa.

THANK YOU

Since it is impossible to thank each and every group individually, we would like to take this means of expressing our thanks to the many, many club groups, organizations and scout troops who gave so generously with gift boxes, candies, cookies and fruit. These gifts, as well as the Christmas caroling, made the holiday season much brighter and happier for our patients.
