Board Shrinks Hospital District, Sets Election

The city of Wayne and portions of Hunter and Plum Creek precincts are areas remaining in a proposed hospital district following a revision of boundary lines by Wayne County Commissioners Floyd Burt, Joe Wilson and Ken Eddle.

As required by law, the county commissioners also voted to put the issue of the proposed hospital district before the voters within that district. An election has been set June 22.

Norris Weible, county clerk, said any registered voter living within the boundaries of the proposed district may vote on the issue.

County board members, after considering requests from 14 precincts to be excluded from the original area proposed for the Logan Valley Hospital District, voted Monday to grant those requests.

Remaining land area in the proposed district consists of the north half-18 square miles—of Plum Creek Precinct and about 24 square miles in the west section of Hunter Precinct, just east of the city of Wayne.

Original boundaries for the proposed district included the following precincts: Hancock, Bronna, Plum Creek, Chaplin, Brana, part of Hunter, Deer Creek and Wilbur in Wayne County; Concord, Clark and a part of Logan Precinct in Dixon County, and 15, 16, 20 and 21 precincts in Cedar County.

Valuation of the area enclosed by the revised hospital district boundaries has been estimated by the county assessor's office to be $9,538,925. This figure is based on real estate and personal valuation only and does not include motor vehicle or special valuations.

Valuation of the original district was more than $44 million. County officials voted to exclude the major portion of the proposed hospital district

Wakefield Is All Ready To Host Scout-O-Rama

Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and scout leaders plan to be arriving in Wakefield Saturday by the car load with a total of 800 expected for the annual Lewis and Clark Boy Scout District Scout-O-Rama.

Dennis Boehme, district executive director, said earlier this week that final plans are made and events scheduled from 2 to 8 p.m. at the Wakefield Legion Hall during the Scout-O-Rama include a pine-wood derby, tug-ow-war and tire races. He said plaques will be given winners in each afternoon event.

Booths on display will be judged, according to Boehme, on the following points: scouts in uniform, knowledge of a subject as shown by a boy's participation, originality and courtesy of scouts.

Boy Scout Troop 175 is reportedly having a booth on rabbit raising and will be giving away live rabbits.

The county-wide organization is open to all men between the ages of 21 and 35. Regular meetings are held on the first Tuesday of each month.

Booths on display will be judged, according to Boehme, on the following points: scouts in uniform, knowledge of a subject as shown by a boy's participation, originality and courtesy of scouts.

Boehme said those buying tickets to the affair should note that although the tickets say the Scout-O-Rama is at the Wakefield Elementary School, the location has been changed and the entire program is to be held in the Wakefield Legion Hall on Main Street.

The Wakefield Lions Club and the "M. C. Waldbaum Co. are sponsoring the event.

Scouts are expected to attend from Wayne, Thurston, Dixon, Cumming and Cedar Counties.

Tickets are $1 and are available until a new scout. Children under eight years of age and scouts will be admitted at no charge.

College Chuckers Whittle at ERA

Wayne State's pitching corps has lowered the team earned run average to 1.21 from the 1.35 that ranked Wayne third nationally on the last NAIA chart.

The second-ranked team at that time had a 1.32 ERA, No. 1 team, 1.06.

Sophomore Ron Nelson of Wausa has moved into first place among Wildcat pitchers with a .577 ERA on 31 innings.

Senior Gary Jamieson of Abbia, Iowa, who had led the NAIA with a zero ERA, now is Wayne's second placer in ERA, .801, after giving up one earned run to Chadron State and suffering his first loss as the Eagles beat Wayne 6-3. Greg Kamp, junior from Omaha, has an .819 ERA.

The loss in the second game at Chadron followed Wayne's sixth straight win, a 5-0 blank of the Eagles. It was the seventh shut-out for the Wildcats in a 13-7 season, and it was the fourth straight shutout for winner Kamp, now 5-1. Wayne's scheduled double-header with Northwestern Tuesday at Orange City, Iowa, was postponed because of a wet field, possibly till Friday.

Saturday afternoon Wayne hosts Kearney State in a Nebraska League Conference twin bill that may settle the championship. Wayne is 3-1 in NCC play. Peru 2-2, Chadron 1-1, Kearney 0-2.

Wayne-Dodge Duel Promises Top-Notch Ball

Fans of top-notch high school baseball would do well to make a point of seeing Friday's contest between Wayne and Dodge at the local ball diamond.

The game, rained out Monday, will pit the leading contenders for a trip to the state baseball tournament.

Scheduled for 3 p.m., the game would only have to closely resemble the last meeting of the two teams to provide fans with plenty of enjoyment.

In that meeting, played at Dodge on April 8, Wayne came away 1-0 losers after nine innings of play.

Scheduled for mound duties for the Blue Devils, says Coach Mike Mallette, is Mike Ginn, losing pitcher in the first game between the two teams. In relief will be Rod Cook, who was scheduled to pitch in Wednesday's game at Wakefield.

They had evenly matched clubs battled last season for the honor of going to the state tourney. Wayne, twice victims of the scrappy team in regular season play, downed Dodge in the district finals to earn the ticket to Lincoln.

Wayne High took a 5-1 record into Wednesday's road game.

Devils Are 2nd In Track Meet

Wayne High's track club collected 36 points on the way to taking second place in a triangular at Stanton Friday afternoon.

Taking first in the meet with a total of 110 1/2 points was Stanton. The Stanton freshmen club came up with 25 1/2 for third place in the meet.

Big contributor for the local team was Dale Tomrde with a first in the long jump, second in the triple jump, third in the 60-yard high hurdles and third in the 100-yard low hurdles.

Also gaining points for Wayne were Jim Meyer with thirds in the 400-yard dash and the 100-yard dash, Kerry Jech with a first in the two-mile run, Dan McCright with a second in the 880-yard run, Roger Meyer with a second in the mile run, Darrell Blank with a third in the mile run and Ed Bull with a fourth in the 300-yard dash.

Wayne's two-mile relay team took second place.

Helpers Needed

Some energetic painters are needed Sunday afternoon to help paint the stadium at the Wayne ball park. Time to be the 1:30.

Members of the Lions Club, Wayne County Jaycees and local baseball association plan on showing up for the project.

says Hank Overin, city recreation director. However, Overin said, more helpers are needed if the job is to be finished in one day.

Volunteers are asked to bring their own paint brushes with them.

The stadium painting is one more step in a project to clean and fix up the local ball diamond.

Pierce Girls Cop Honors

Pierce High's girls track team compiled an even 100 points to roll to an easy victory in the first Husker Conference track meet at Winsor-Pilger last week.

Coming in behind the Pierce team were the host club with 77 1/2 points, Stanton with 52, West Point with 43, Neligh with 40, Plainville with 25 1/2, Wakefield with 19, Laurel with 14 and Tekamah-Herman with one.

Scraper and Bloomfield failed to score in the competition.

Placing for the Wakefield team were Keagle with a tie for third in the 440-yard dash, Kober with a fourth in the 300-yard dash and a fifth in the 100-yard dash, and Bard with a fifth in the 880-yard run.

Wayne State's tennis team handed a 4-3 defeat to Doane here Tuesday night. The visiting netmen had previously lost only to the University of Nebraska.

The play-off, pitting first half league winners State Bank against second half winners Wayne Body, was held last Thursday.

Baseball Addicts At Allen Ready

Young baseballers in Allen and six area towns will compete again this year in a summer baseball program.

The league will include Allen, Emerson, Jackson, Hubbard, Martinsburg, Ponca and Newcastle. Emerson is new to the league, which last year had just six towns.

There is a chance Newcastle may not compete in the league. Representatives from the seven towns met in Martinsburg Wednesday night to organize the league for another year.

Competition in the league—which will include Pee Wees and Midgets again this season—will probably get underway Sunday, May 23. There will be games each Sunday and probably two Thursday evening games in order to complete the season and league tournaments by the first week in August.

Last year Allen had a program for youngsters in the community because there were too many to take part in the league play. A similar program is planned this year.

South Sioux Clips

Local Golf Squad

South Sioux City's golfers shot three fine rounds Tuesday afternoon to sneak out a dual win over Wayne High at the Wayne Country Club.

South Sioux came up with 178 strokes in the competition, Wayne with 187. Competition was on the front nine holes.

Wayne's Kyle Willis and South Sioux's Bruce Smith tied with rounds of 90 for medalist honors.

Other Wayne scores used in the competition: Rick Field with 46, Doug Sturm with 48 and one of the rounds of 53 turned in by Scott Ehlers and Rex Murray.

The local golfers see plenty more action on the local course, hosting Norfolk Catholic Friday afternoon and Hartington Cedar Catholic Tuesday afternoon. The Husker Conference golf tournament will be held on the local course on Friday of next week, a day before the Husker Conference faculty golf tourney.

Baseball Tournament Subject of Meeting At WHS Tuesday

Representatives from the eight schools who will send baseball teams to the high school district tournament in this part of the state will meet Tuesday at Wayne High School.

The representatives will decide the site for the coming tourney, the pairings and the dates.

Schools in the district include Wayne, Wakefield, Allen, Winnebago, Ponca, Dodge, Snyder and Bancroft.

Intramural Reps At Wayne State Are Selected

Winners of an honor called Intramural Representative at Wayne State College are Ruth Register of Fremont and Bill Tabbert of Manly, Ia.

The distinction is awarded annually by the Intramural Council to two students who do the most to promote intramural sports. Although the award does not consider athletic participation, both Ruth Register and Tabbert did compete in many intramural sports.

Miss Register, a junior majoring in physical education, represented Neihardt Hall on the Intramural Council. Tabbert, a senior majoring in industrial education, represented Bowen Hall. More than three-fourths of Wayne men students participate in at least one intramural sport, and more than half of the women compete.

2 Loop Track Meets Set for WS

Track fans might want to keep two days open next week so they can take in high school action scheduled for Wayne State College's track and field.

Scheduled for next Wednesday, with Madison High as hosts, is the Husker Conference track meet. Athletes from all 16 schools are expected for the event.

The next day, May 6, will see athletes from Lewis and Clark Conference schools taking part in competition at Wayne State. Hosting that event is Osmond High.

Athlete of the Week

A complete performance, something that's a lot harder to come by than many people realize, is exactly what the latest "Athlete of the Week" produced last week.

That honor goes to Mike Ginn, a junior at Wayne High School, for his all-around effort in Wayne's 9-0 smashing win over Wakefield.

Proof of that versatile showing are these statistical tidbits: —Pitching nearly perfect ball by striking out 20, giving up no hits and allowing only three men to reach base—two of them on free passes, one on an infield error.

—Striking a grand slam home run to blow the game apart in the bottom of the third frame with Wayne ahead by 1-0.

—Going three for three at the plate (singles the other two times).

—Scoring three of Wayne's nine runs and accounting for five of Wayne's eight runs batted in.

Ginn's coach, Mike Mallette, called the performance one of the most complete ones he has seen from a high school athlete in many years.

Described by Mallette as very coachable, the junior reverts on his fine control, good curve and better-than-average change up to keep ahead of the hitters. That ability to keep the hitters off stride is the major reason he's given up only one run in 24 innings on the mound.

Ginn's performance at the plate against Wakefield, it should be noted, wasn't something foreign to him. Going into Wednesday's game, he was second in batting average. Leading in that department was Rod Cook with .529, Ginn was right at the .500 mark. Cook, Wayne's other starter, and Ginn were tied with seven RBIs after six games.

Further proof, if it's needed, of Ginn's importance to the Wayne club is evident in the six stolen bases he compiled in those six games—one less than team leaders Cook and Mike Crelginton.

Overin Expects 8 Back For Town Team Baseball

Eight men who saw considerable action in Wayne town team baseball uniforms a year ago are expected back for another season, reports Hank Overin, who will be managing the local club again this season.

Overin says he expects the following men to don suits again this season: catchers Jerry Webber and Gordie Jorgensen, pitchers George Eymon and Dean Elford, first baseman Denny Ewers, second baseman Dave Tietgen, third baseman Randy Johnson and shortstop Mark Johnson.

Also showing interest and expected to play for the local team, says Overin, is Larry Meler, a standout for the Oberlin team last year.

Tryouts for the club, which will be competing in the Tri-County League for the second straight year, will be held Monday evening from 7 to dark at the local diamond.

Overin said the schedule for the season is now being worked out and will be made public in the next few weeks.

Season tickets, which can be purchased from Ted Babe at the State National Bank in Wayne or from any member of the local baseball association, are selling for $6 for families, $5 for couples and $4 for individuals.

Also in the league this year are Laurel, Randolph, Coleridge, Wausa, Bloomfield, Verdigris and Orchard. Last year Wakefield and Ponca were members of the league, but they have dropped from the league to join up with the Nebraska-Iowa league, outgrowth of the old Northeast Nebraska league.

By Mrs. Verl Jackson of Winside, turned off the highway into the farm driveway of Lowell Pohrt to discharge passengers.

The Jorgensen auto, a 1963 Ford, was southbound and stopped in the lane of traffic just short of the farm driveway to pick up a youngster getting off the bus. Nielsen said Mrs. Jorgensen was alone in the car.

A 1969 Rambler, also southbound, driven by Mrs. Olson apparently struck the Jorgensen auto in the rear causing it to spin around and hit the left rear corner of the school bus sitting in the driveway.

Trooper Nielsen reported minor damage to the bus and no injuries to any of the youngsters aboard.

He said both autos received extensive damage.

Wives Jenkins, Lynn Baileys, Winside, the Alex Eddies, Randolph, the Bob Eddle family, Harrington, and Doug Dreesen family, Westfield, Iowa, were dinner guests Sunday in the Mrs. Margaret Cunningham home for Pam's birthday.

Free Empire's Clinic At St. Paul Sunday

An umpire-clinic, open to all interested in officiating baseball, will be held at the American Legion Post in St. Paul, Sunday starting at 1:00 p.m.

Although sponsored by the Nebraska American Legion, the clinic is not limited to those of officiating Legion sponsored baseball. The Legion encourages and welcomes the attendance of umpires working any and all baseball programs, especially those working summer youth programs. There is no charge for the clinic.

Key instructor for the clinic will be George Hametz of Lincoln, assisted by members of the Legion's athletic committee. With 26 years of experience as an umpire, Hametz is well informed on both the rules of professional baseball and the league program. His past experience included officiating for the state Legion tournament 20 times, national regional tournaments 10 times, national American Legion World Series nine times and the College World Series 10 times.

Those attending last year's clinic were complimentary about it and found it well worth their time.

The Joynt — Result of A Young Man's Dream

By Marlin Wright

"It's spelled with a 'y'," said Dennis Robinson in spelling out the name of his first business venture — The Joynt.

The local business, first opened in December, 1969, is as different in content as it is in name. In fact, only one other shop in northeast Nebraska — in Norfolk — is even similar. That firm, however, is combined with a stereo tape shop.

Robinson said there is a similar store in Omaha. "I always had a dream of trying to have a shop like it," he says. Now he does and last September he and his wife, Melodie, moved The Joynt from its first home to the building which John McCullough Furniture on Main St. The Robinsons said it is sometimes amusing to see people's bewilderment when they first step inside The Joynt thinking they are going into the furniture store. After the surprise wears off, the people leave.

Although most of their customers are high school and college age, the Robinsons would like to have as customers people of every age. Dennis said there are a few older people now who have been in The Joynt. He recalls one elderly lady who looked over the store, got acquainted with them and then went around telling her friends that "those kids are doing a great job."

Robinson said there is no doubt but what it took time for the store to catch on, especially at its first location.

After the firm first opened, Robinson remembers, there was a good deal of skepticism, particularly among older people, as to just exactly what went on at The Joynt.

Some rumors were so extreme that some people thought kids might even be shooting heroin there. Other stories going around town had it that The Joynt was selling drugs, he said.

Candles come in numerous shapes and sizes as displayed by Melodie and Dennis Robinson, managers of The Joynt.

And what does The Joynt sell? In the small shop are displays of everything from Mickey Mouse shoulder patches to pictures illuminated by black light.

Specialties include multi-colored figurines and animal-shaped candles, mostly all scented, as well as floating candles, imported in cense from India, three-dimensional comics, new and used rock and soul records, huge posters, leathercrafts, hand-carved wooden boxes, neckties, earrings and beads.

Some Not Deducting Enough, Reports IRS

Some people are not having enough federal income tax withheld from their paychecks and may wind up owing the government a large amount when they file their 1970 returns, says Richard Vinal, district director of Internal Revenue for Nebraska.

The solution? Arrange for additional withholding with your employer, who has been furnished information necessary for that purpose.

The standard deduction, formerly 10 per cent, has been increased to 13 per cent. The withholding system allows a 13 per cent deduction for all wage earners who are not entitled to the low income allowance.

ANYONE CAN DIAL "O"

An operator can put out a fire or give medical advice, but knowing the problem, she'll connect you with someone who can help. That's why it's a good idea to teach children, as soon as they're old enough to understand, to dial "0" in emergency. Tell them to speak clearly into the mouthpiece, giving name, phone number and address.

bell bottom trousers and water beds — plastic containers filled with water and used as mattresses.

Why do people, particularly those of college age, buy the big wall posters? Dennis pointed out that college students cannot ordinarily afford paintings to use in decorating the walls of their rooms or apartments. The posters are reasonably inexpensive and therefore popular.

Students Hear Jobs Explained By Businessmen

A total of 15 persons attended vocational exploration night at Wayne High School Tuesday evening.

Ken Carlson, guidance counselor, said that although the attendance was disappointingly small, those present found it worthwhile and were able to take full advantage of asking questions of the 20 local businessmen participating.

Personnel from Wayne and the surrounding area on hand to explain their fields of work and answer questions included the following: Don Johnson and Mrs. Paulette Hendricks, airline and stewardess occupations; Mrs. Pat Wert, beautician; Mrs. Ralph Etter, secretary; Jerry Malcolm, accounting; Tracy Mason, business manager; John Vaccaro, construction; Dave Kruse, computers, and Arnold Marr, conservation and forestry.

Other participants included Bill Wilson, electronics; Cal Ward, farming and related industries; Mrs. Orville Evelyn, interior decorating; Budd Bornhoft, law; Henry Warrelmann and Alan VanBuskirk, mechanics; Mr. S. Bill Woehler, medical technologist; Kenneth Ulrich of Norfolk, social worker; Francis Haun, teaching; and Dr. Jay Liska, veterinarian.

Purpose of the annual program, Carlson said, is to expose students to people involved in various jobs or occupations so they can ask questions about particular fields of work.

Newspapers - Where the Action Is

We think that shoppers in the Wayne area will show a great deal of interest in the special "Vagabond Weekend" promotion being put on by The Wayne Herald and 37 merchants.

The promotion offers shoppers a free weekend of one over a dozen cities in the Midwest, somebody wanting to get away from the summer heat might choose to go to Denver or Colorado Springs. A person who has never been past the Mississippi River might pick Cleveland for his vacation if he wins one of the eight free trips.

There are no strings attached in the promotion. Shoppers merely have to register in each of the participating firms once each week. No purchases are required.

The large value of the promotion points out a number of things.

First, it is ample proof that shopper in the area are wise to spend their shopping dollars close to home. Dollars spent in local stores not only help pay taxes to provide services to residents of the city and surrounding area, but also give the businessmen an opportunity to offer his customers valuable side benefits such as the "Vagabond Vacations."

Second, it shows that smart businessmen choose newspapers when they want to get the most out of their advertising dollar. National studies repeatedly show that a dollar spent for advertising in a newspaper does more good than one spent elsewhere.

Third, businesses who decide to advertise in The Wayne Herald are fully aware that their advertising serves two purposes. It lets the advertiser get his message across in a medium that he knows people pay attention to. The newspaper, something which people pay cash to receive, is not tossed in the trash when it arrives. It also lets the newspaper operate as a newspaper. The advertising money that is spent in the newspaper is what permits the reporters and photographers to cover a wide variety of events. Without that income, the newspaper would very likely cease to exist.

The next time you sign up for the free vacation, tell the owner you appreciate his willingness to spend money to try to provide something of value to his customers. He'll appreciate the compliment. — N.H.H.

Signal Problems

Problems continue to plague the Seventh and Main Street intersection. There is little doubt but what the intersection is the busiest in the city.

The corner was widened and traffic signals were installed late in 1968 after considerable time had been spent convincing the state of the need.

After the intersection was widened and new concrete approaches were poured, something was wrong with the approach north of the corner on Main so it had to be torn out and replaced.

Sensitive wires, buried beneath the four approaches to the corner, are activated automatically by the presence of a vehicle. If you are southbound on Main Street, for instance, and there is no other traffic from the east or west, the automatic sensing device triggers the traffic signals in about four seconds allowing you to proceed through the intersection. When all four approaches contain traffic, the signals rely on a built-in timer.

Last fall the sensitive wiring device went out of service due to a technical problem of expanding concrete pinching the wires. The result is the signals have operated only on a specific time sequence during the winter. The problem is not a major one but does hamper the flow of traffic to some extent when it is at a minimum.

Plans call for correcting the problem this summer. — M.W.

Nebraska

Indian Soldiers at Fort Sidney

In 1801 the Secretary of War authorized the enlistment of several companies of Indians, both for the cavalry and infantry. At least one of seven companies formed was stationed in Nebraska, an account of which was published in the Omaha Weekly Bee of August 30, 1893, found in the collections of the Nebraska State Historical Society.

Rev. George A. Beecher of Kearney has written to Secretary Herbert Welsh of the Indian Rights Association of Philadelphia, in the interest of the Indians enlisted in the regular army, and especially by those of Company I, Twenty-first Infantry, stationed at Fort Sidney, Neb. During the past year Mr. Beecher says he has seen a good deal of the company mentioned, which is under the command of Lieutenant Seay, and he believes that in the enlistment of Indians as regular soldiers the Indian problem has been partially solved.

In his letter Reverend Beecher stated: "Their quarters are as neat and clean as any of the white men's; in person, each soldier is as tidy as can be. He takes pride in everything he does when the merits of the deed are based upon the principles of true qualities of a soldier. He is proud of his uniform, and is more than willing to give up his striped blanket and bear the flag."

"Intemperance is not more common among the Indians than among the whites. I am confident that if the companies now enlisted are given the same amount of drill and individual training as the white man there can be no questions as to the result."

General Brooke of the Department of the Platte commented upon Beecher's letter, saying, "There is no doubt that Mr. Beecher is right, in the main. So far as my experience with Indians as soldiers has gone, it has been perfectly satisfactory, and there are five companies in my department. . . . As to their future, I have a good deal of hope, and believe much advancement will be made by them."

Even so, there was much criticism of the policy within and without the army and by late 1895 only two companies remained in the service, and they too were soon disbanded.

Dear Editor:

I think the people of this county remember the city trying to get a new fire station. They condemned the old one. The voters turned down the high priced building. The city built on the old fire station, they have plenty of room and everything worked out fine.

The fire marshal did not order the city to build a new hospital. An addition can be built on the present hospital to the west or north and the present hospital can be remodeled. Other hospitals have been remodeled.

I don't think the hospital board should decide my taxes should go up because they get carried away with their thinking. The people of this county are afraid if the hospital board gets the right to build a hospital they will get carried away and build an expensive building. When we go to a hospital we go there to get well. We don't care how thick the carpet is or if a rest room is in every room.

Capital News —

Budget, District Boundaries Facing State's Lawmakers

LINCOLN — With many of the "easy" decisions behind them, Nebraska's legislators are bumping into the tough problems of the 1971 session.

Problems like the budget. And redistricting.

By the time this is published, the budget committee is expected to have put its final approval on the appropriations bill it is recommending.

The committee's version was expected to exceed Gov. J. J. Exon's recommendations in several categories. The University of Nebraska is one. The committee recently voted 5-4 to provide the university with $3.7 million more in general fund money than the governor had suggested in his original budget message.

The spread wasn't actually that great, however, because Exon had made some concessions during the negotiations that extended over many weeks between him and NU Chancellor Durward B. Varner. According to the best information made public, the university would get a little more than $1 million above the final Exon figure.

There may be attempts on the floor to raise the NU appropriation even higher than the committee agreed to. Even at the committee level, the university is more than $14 million away from its original requests for state tax money.

As for redistricting, the fights are being fought mostly in private these days. The metropolitan Omaha delegation held its own meetings to decide how to draw districts to accommodate the extra Douglas County senator and the additional lawmaker due neighboring Sarpy County.

The Lincoln senators also gathered privately to decide how to redraft the Lancaster County districts.

Similar sessions were held by the "outstate" senators. The two seats which have to go to the Omaha area—because of its population growth—have to come from the remainder of the state.

There wasn't anything official available yet, but it appeared that one of the incumbents who would lose out would be Sen. Ellen Craft of North Platte, but she had already announced that she didn't plan to seek re-election.

The other senator who would see his home district dissolve could be Sen. Willard Waldo of Dewitt. Again, that wasn't official and Waldo has indicated he is working on his own redistricting plan.

Revenue Behind Expectations

Nebraska's taxes aren't bringing in as much money as had been expected, according to Tax Commissioner William E. Peters.

Peters announced the other day that the revenue this fiscal year probably would be $4 million below the total expected. That would mean the surplus which had been counted on by the budget-drafters may not be as large as they had thought.

The trend, Peters said, will continue into the coming fiscal year. He predicted the 1971-72 fiscal period would see revenue levels about $5 million under projections.

The chief reason, the tax commissioner said, is the income tax. It wasn't providing the state treasury with the revenue fiscal planners had forecast.

Peters said the lower tax harvests were due to a "soft economy."

The Peters announcement arrived just before the Budget Committee completed its work. The revised revenue projections mean there will be at least $9 million less to appropriate—barring tax rate increases, which Exon had said he would do his best to avoid.

Food Tax Reaches Floor

The governor's bill to eliminate the sales tax on food at the grocery counter—instead of providing a refund through the income tax—has reached the floor.

The measure had been stuck in the revenue committee for weeks. The eight-member committee was split down the middle on the issue. There weren't enough votes to kill it or advance it.

But Omaha Sen. William R. Skarda Jr., who was carrying the bill for the governor, asked last week that the full legislature raise the measure out of committee.

His motion prevailed, but the vote was a close 26-21.

Among the supporters of the Skarda motion were senators who agreed to raise the bill but who said their backing would stop there.

The statehouse speculation is that the Exon bill will fall and that the food tax will continue just as it has. That means a $7 refund per person as a credit on the income tax.

Earlier in the session, Sen. J. W. Burbach of Crofton got a bill passed to increase the refund to $10, which he said more accurately reflected the average amount a Nebraskan pays in sales taxes on his groceries. Exon vetoed that bill and the lawmakers declined to override the veto.

ETV or Law?

Still undecided at deadline time was the question of which agency should occupy a new building being built on the University of Nebraska's East Campus in Lincoln—the educational television network, for which it was started, or the NU Law College, which Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter has recommended be the tenant.

Carpenter has promised to bring the issue to a head soon.

Telephone Is Handy For People on SS

During the month of March, 35 percent of the claims received in the Norfolk social security office were taken by telephone, according to Robert Polkey, district manager.

Most of these people did not have to leave their homes to apply for social security benefits. The information needed to complete their application was given to a representative over the telephone and the applicant was mailed for signature and returned by mail to the social security office.

"It is not usually necessary for a person to come to the office to take care of any type of social security business," he said. "Take a tip and save a trip. Call 371-1595 before you visit," he said.

The Norfolk office expects to handle about 50 per cent of its business by telephone within the next few months. These calls can be made without cost to the caller even when they do not live in the city where the office is located.

The Norfolk office can help a person file a claim, file for Medicare, get a social security card or obtain other services or information.

Polkey explained that people already receiving social security can call the Norfolk office, 371-1595, for information and assistance.

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

The Place: Brooklyn
The Scene: Front Room
The Year: 1990

A child sits on his grandfather's lap. The grandfather is only 57 but has been retired from the wholesale meat business since 1973, forced retirement.

"Grandpa, what is work?"

"Boy, I left the house at 5 a.m. Went to the plant to break sides of beef. Staved all day, too."

"Did you like to work?"

"I didn't know it then, but I do now. I loved to work. Course we had a strike every three years. Some fellows didn't like work."

"How come you ain't working now, Grandpa?"

"My old boss bought meat by the truckload from packing plants way out in Nebraska, Iowa, Colorado, even the Dakotas. We sold restaurants, hospitals, colleges and small stores. We sold on credit, gave weekly deliveries and special services. Even found black market meat during the war. Then the giant chains moved in."

"Giant chains, Grandpa?"

"At first they had meat counters where meat was cut fresh instead of being put in izzi-glass."

"At one time, butchers talked to people. Then they pacified the little women. Smooth over a tough cut, maybe, or a fat pork chop."

"New beef plants made fortunes slaughtering cattle. But every corporation has to grow or the stockholders think there is no progress. So they built and built."

"Then they sent efficiency experts around who decided that slaughtering cattle and making $5 a head was only half the answer. Why not slaughter and do the breaking, too?"

"Our plant was one of the biggest in New York City. But western packers built plants that in their hallways dollar flow. Makes something called a 'float.'

"Nowadays, beef stands for days in those meat counters. Most chains feature imports, like French wine—beef from Australia, New Zealand, Honduras."

"The government now has the people eating minimum-grade calves that have no beef taste. Hand out fancy recipes, Marinade this and sauce up that. Why, used shoe-leather junked up would taste the same. Chicken's cheap, pork too. Their producers also built big buildings and fed inside. Comfortable, but not often profitable. Marinated it all tastes the same."

"Today's feature in the paper, look, 'soybean hamburgers' made with plastic bones and flavored dog food."

"Grandpa, why don't people buy that packaged beef?"

"No salesmanship. Most other businesses have salesmen. Who would buy a car without a push? Or a suit of clothes?"

"Fresh meat was once cut every few hours, but now it sits in cases for months. Quality changed, too. Now little marbling, no exterior fat, no taste either."

"Grandpa, was it a mistake for those big western packers to cut meat?"

"Well, boy, they all grew bigger and bigger till they went broke."

By the way...what'll we do if we find one?

Aerial Photos, Ground Studies To Aid Watch

A strip of land on either side of Highway 81 in northeast Nebraska will be used in an eight-state corn blight watch this summer.

The strip of land, four miles on both sides of the highway, will be photographed from 60,000 feet using infrared color and black and white film, according to David S. Wyson, University of Nebraska extension plant pathologist.

The photography will be done by National Aeronautics and Space Administration aircraft. The airplanes will photograph strips of land eight miles wide and 100 miles long.

Counties included in the Nebraska watch are Cedar, Ford, Pierce, Madison, Butler, Fillmore, Jefferson, Platte, Richardson, Polk, Saline, Seward, Thayer and York.

The film of the cropland will be sent to Purdue University where the photographs and reports from ground observers will be analyzed for incidence of southern corn leaf blight, other disease, insect, drought or other distress problems.

Good Guide for Planting

There's a better guide than dates for planting corn, soybeans and grain sorghums—it's the soil temperature.

Optimum dates for planting do not fall the same every year, but when soil reaches 50 degrees you know you are ready for corn.

The best time to plant grain sorghum is when the soil temperature at two inches is 70 degrees—usually late May or early June. This will insure quick emergence and minimize weed problems. Sorghum seed planted too early in cold soil invites trouble.

A good time to plant corn is when the soil temperature at two inches reaches 50 degrees early in the morning, even though there may be some killing frost in the days ahead. Research shows that corn seed will not germinate when temperatures are below 50 degrees, so 50 degrees is actually the minimum temperature for planting corn.

The best planting time for top yields of soybeans is when soil temperature at a two-inch depth reaches 50 degrees. This is usually about May 20 to 30th. Soybean seeds put in colder soil are very apt to rot, resulting in a poor or uneven stand.

If for some reason soybean planting is delayed, it is wisest to stay with the adapted variety for your area.

The best time to plant grain sorghum is when the soil temperature at two inches is 70 degrees—usually late May or early June. This will insure quick emergence and minimize weed problems. Sorghum seed planted too early in cold soil invites trouble.

A common oversight is the failure to adjust the herbicide rate to soil type. Generally, higher rates are recommended on clay soils than sandy soils. Soils extremely low in organic matter require minimum rates.

Herbicide Success

Successful results with herbicides require many management decisions on the part of the user. Become as familiar with the chemical as possible before using it. Know the weed species present in your fields and make sure the chemical you select gives control of your most troublesome weeds.

The label contains most of the information required for successful application. There is no better time spent than reading the label and becoming thoroughly familiar with the "do's" and "don'ts" of the product.

Mechanical problems sometimes are encountered when using herbicides. Insufficient agitation in the sprayer tank or trying to get by with too little water allows wettable powders such as atrazine to settle out.

Improper size screens or spray tips frequently cause missed areas. Use 50 mesh or coarser screens in the sprayer.

Operating sprayer pumps at too high pressure may cause spray particles to become so small that a slight breeze will carry them away from the area being treated. Forty pounds pressure or less is all that is necessary with most field equipment.

Different size nozzle tips or worn nozzles will cause uneven distribution and poor results. Granules or liquid herbicides applied in bands during windy conditions may result in the band being deposited to the side of the row or uneven distribution of the herbicide.

A common oversight is the failure to adjust the herbicide rate to soil type. Generally, higher rates are recommended on clay soils than sandy soils. Soils extremely low in organic matter require minimum rates.
