NORTHEAST EXTENSION Notes

by Joycelyn Smith

Outdoor Cooking

With summer coming it's time to move to the outdoors and enjoy the atmosphere. Thousands of food naturally follow, and dining becomes relaxed and informal. Outdoor foods must fill the day's nutritional needs with an appealing variety of flavor, texture and color.
The choice of meat usually forms the basis of the completed menu. Nearly any cut of meat that is suitable for broiling, panbroiling, panfrying or roasting may be successfully cooked over the coals. Less tender cuts of meats are more successfully barbecued if they are marinated for several hours or commercial tenderizing agents used.
A low to moderate cooking temperature is most often recommended. The required cooking time will depend on the kind, shape, size, temperature of the meat when it is about to be cooked (preferably room temperature), the heat maintained during the cooking (wind direction and weather) and the desired degree of doneness.
Use of a meat thermometer is the only accurate guide for a perfect roast. It should be inserted into the lean of the meat at a slight angle so that the tip is in the center but not resting on the rotisserie rod or in fat. Make sure there is plenty for everyone.
When shopping plan on 1/2 to 3/4 pound of boneless steak or roast per person. Usually, takes 3/4 to 1 1/4 pounds per serving.

Meal to remember

A barbecue-brunch can be a meal to remember. Start with a meal of assorted meats. Then stir up a skillet of superb scrambled eggs. When the eggs are partially cooked, add grated cheese (3/4 to 1 cup for eggs). Serve on hot buns or rolls, topped with bits of bacon or ham.
When possible, food should be served immediately after cooking. Food is safest at temperatures above 140 degrees F. and below 45 degrees F.
A cooler can be made from two cardboard boxes, one smaller than the other. Use at least half inch thickness of newspapers to cover the bottom of the larger box. Set the smaller box inside and line the space between the sides. Place chilled food and ice into the small box, then close the small box lid. Place another layer of newspapers, cover with the outside lid and keep out of the sunlight.

People Ask Us--

QUESTION: Why should I call your funeral home instead of another — aren't all funeral homes about the same?
ANSWER: The C & O Railroad once rejected surveyor George Washington's bill for $300 with instructions that he return the bill terminated. Washington re-submitted the bill itemized as follows: Nails and stakes, $5.00; knowing where to put the nails and stakes, $295.00.
The same is true for mortuaries. They all sell caskets, but here the similarity ends. The casket in a funeral service can be purchased at any mortuary, but it is the professional skill of funeral home personnel and their knowledge of the family's needs that make the big difference in a funeral service.
The years of experience of the professional staff at Wiltse Mortuary is your assurance that we are qualified to serve you. Our mature awareness of your benefit rights as well as your civil and religious responsibilities is the distinguishing factor that sets Wiltse's apart from other mortuaries.

Outdoor Cooking
"With summer coming it's time to move to the outdoors and enjoy the atmosphere. Thoughts of food naturally follow, and dining becomes relaxed and informal. Outdoor foods must fill the day's nutritional needs with an appealing variety of flavor, texture and color.
The choice of meat usually forms the basis of the completed menu. Nearly any cut of meat is suitable for broiling, panbroiling, panfrying or roasting may be successfully cooked over the coals. Less tender cuts of meats are more successfully barbecued if they are marinated for several hours or commercial tenderizing agents used.
A low to moderate cooking temperature is most often recommended. The required cooking time will depend on the kind, shape, size, temperature of the meat when it is about to be cooked (preferably room temperature), the heat maintained during the cooking (wind direction and weather) and the desired degree of doneness.
Use of a meat thermometer is the only accurate guide for a perfect roast. It should be inserted into the lean of the meat at a slight angle so that the tip is in the center but not resting on the rotisserie rod or in fat. Make sure there is plenty for everyone.
When shopping plan on 1/2 to 3/4 pound of boneless steak or roast per person. It usually takes 3/4 to 1 1/4 pounds per serving steak or roast with the bone. Chickens that weigh 2 to 3½ pounds will serve two people. Figure 1 to 1½ pound servings of beef ribs, 1½ to 2 pounds of spareribs is adequate for one person.
Creativeness adds the necessary spice to the outdoor meal. You might try lardering your dinner by combining chunks of meat with vegetables and fruits. It's a gay sight to see the colorful chunks strung on skewers sizzling on the grill. You can shewer anything that you can broil.
A barbecue-brunch can be a meal to remember. Start with a platter of assorted melon wedges. Then stir up a skillet of superb scrambled eggs. When the eggs are partially cooked, add grated cheese (3/4 to 1 cup for eggs). Serve on hot buns or rolls, topped with bits of bacon or ham.
When possible, food should be served immediately after cooking. Food is safest at temperatures above 140 degrees F. and below 45 degrees F.
A cooler can be made from two cardboard boxes, one smaller than the other. Use at least half inch thickness of newspapers to cover the bottom of the larger box. Set the smaller box inside and line the space between the sides. Place chilled food and ice into the small box, then close the small box lid. Place another layer of newspapers, cover with the outside lid and keep out of the sunlight.

People Ask Us--

QUESTION: Why should I call your funeral home instead of another - aren't all funeral homes about the same?
ANSWER: The C. & O. Railroad once rejected surveyor George Washington's bill for $200 with instructions that he return the bill itemized with instructions that he return the bill itemized as follows: Nails and stakes, $25.00; knowing where to put the nails and stakes, $205.00.
The same is true for mortuaries. They all sell caskets, but here the similarity ends. The casket in a funeral service can be purchased at any mortuary. But it is the professional skill of funeral home personnel and their knowledge of the family's needs that make the big difference in a funeral service.
The years of experience of the professional staff at Wiltse Mortuary is your assurance that we are qualified to serve you. Our mature awareness of your benefit rights as well as your civil and religious responsibilities is the distinguishing factor that sets Wiltse's apart from other mortuaries.

WSC to Rely on Pitching in NAIA Play-Off

By Dick Mantley
Pitching will be the main strength when Wayne State takes a No. 1 seeding into the NAIA District II baseball play-off today (Thursday) at Ralston.

The Wildcats, with a 20-8 season, are matched against 16-9 Hastings in a 2 p.m. first-round game Thursday, following the 11:30 a.m. clash of No. 2 seeded Dana, 17-10, and No. 3 UN-Omaha, 14-14.

Tonight the first-round losers play at 6 p.m., then the first-round winners at 8:30. The loser of Game 3 will bow out of the double-elimination playoff.

Friday action is scheduled at 6 and 8:30 p.m. A seventh game, if necessary, will be played at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Wayne Coach Fred Pierce has a pitching staff with three listed among the top 30 on the latest NAIA chart, and the team earned run average ranked third. Since then, the team ERA has dropped to a tight 1.08, which might be good for second on the next NAIA list.

Currently, sophomore right-hander Ron Nelson of Wausa leads Wayne hurlers with a .375 ERA and a 5-1 record, plus one save.

Greg Kamp, junior from Omaha, is second in ERA at .750 and he leads in win-loss record at 7-1, 48 innings.

Gordie Jorgensen plus one save. Gary Jamieson, senior from Albia, Iowa, 4-2, has an .884 ERA. The ratio of strikeouts to walks pleases Pierce good reason for giving Pierce.

"Usually we figure on strikes and walks being about equal," he said, "but our pitchers have struck out 150 and walked only 67."

Kamp leads in the strikeout statistics, 52 in 48 innings pitched, while Nelson has fanned 44 in 48 innings.

Besides Nelson, Kamp and Jamieson, the Wildcat mound corps has several other dependables—among them sophomore Charlie Solano of Sidney with a 3-1 record and 1.31 ERA in 34 1/3 innings.

Jerry Nicolarsen, junior from Hastings, has missed most of the season with a sore throwing arm, but should be ready for at least playoff pitching. In last year's district playoff, Nicolarsen pulled an iron-man performance when he pitched 7 2/3 innings of relief, then—after a 15-minute break—pitched a full nine-inning winner.

Also a potential reliever is freshman Mike Reifert of Hartington, a burly Marine Corps veteran who showed good form

Jim Andriik in his one game, winning in 6 1/3 innings with a 1.33 ERA. Wayne batting, though down from a fine .308 season last year, currently is a respectable .265.

Current leaders, both at .333 are junior Gordie Jorgensen, right fielder from Wayne, and freshman Jim Andriik, an Omaha South High graduate, third baseman. Jorgensen is the team leader in stolen bases, eight, and Andriik leads in hits, 28, and times at bat, 84.

Another Omahan, George Jones, a Benson product and junior center fielder for Wayne, is batting .320, leads the team in runs, 25, and in walks, 20. He is tied for second in stolen bases, six, with right fielder Ron Prokop of Fremont, the team's only senior.

Close to the .300 mark is sophomore shortstop Steve Helying, Granville, Iowa, now .294. Catcher Pete Filippic of Parma, Ohio, leads the Wildcats in runs batted in, 21, and home runs, four, with a batting clip of .253. Also .253 is John Ege, second baseman from Sioux City.

Athlete of the Week

Karen Grone

By Norvin Hansen

A Winside student who narrowly missed a chance at competing in a unique state track meet this Saturday becomes the first girl to earn recognition as "Athlete of the Week" since the column began late in 1969.

The youth breaking the "sex barrier" is Karen Grone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Grone of rural Winside. She's a junior at Winside High.

Earning her recognition in the column was her performance at the Class C district track meet at Wisner-Pilger last week when she finished third in the high jump, fourth in the 880-yard run and ran on the 440-yard relay team which ended fifth. But, says her coach, Jim Welch, her performances all season probably qualify her for the recognition.

At Wisner-Pilger, Karen just missed gaining a berth in the state track meet at Grand Island this Saturday by faltering in the high jump. Because she missed once at a lower height, the runner-up honor and ticket to Grand Island went to a Homer girl.

Although she took fourth in the 880—the first time in two years she has been defeated in the event, winning three times last year and twice going into the district meet—she broke her own record set last year. She raced the circuit in 2:51.9, several seconds faster than her 2:55 mark a year ago.

She helped the relay team set a new school record of :57.7 at the district meet, breaking the :59.3 of a year ago.

She has cleared 4-10 in the high jump this season to tie the record set by Diane Wacker in 1968.

Which calls the asset to girls athletes at Winside a "natural runner—one of those who doesn't have to use any effort when running."

She has taken part in track the past three years at Winside. Looking at her performances this year at the district meet, her opponents better be ready for her next year. She probably won't miss out on that ticket the second time around.

Plans Underway For 2nd Annual Baseball Tour

Plans are nearly complete for the second annual baseball tour by the Legion and Midget players from Wayne.

The tour is scheduled for June 1-3 and will include games with Broken Bow, Aurora and possibly St. Paul.

The youths, between 20 and 25 of them, will leave shortly before noon on Tuesday, June 1, and will play at Broken Bow that evening. The two teams will either practice at Broken Bow the following day or will play a game with St. Paul if one can be lined up. The third day of the trip will include a game at Aurora.

The teams will return to Wayne after the Aurora game. Games are scheduled with Norfolk on Friday, June 4.

A year ago the two clubs tallied a 5-1 record in the tour as they took on Broken Bow, St. Paul and Norfolk.

Costs for taking part in the baseball tour is $2 for gas for the bus which will carry the players and sponsors. The boys must pay their own expenses along the way.

Hank Overlin, coach for the teams, and one other adult will make the trip. Anybody who would like to volunteer to go on the tour should contact Overlin.

Father-Son Combo A 1st in All-Star Basketball Contest

Although a father-son combination isn't too uncommon in Nebraska high school basketball, it will happen for the first time in this year's All-Star High School Basketball Game in Lincoln.

The father is Roger Higgins, coach of the North squad, who will have his son Mike as a guard when the North goes for its first win on August 20 at Pershing Municipal Auditorium.

The Omaha Cathedral pair will be joined by still another Cathedral team member, Hillary Howard, to give the Class B school its first representation in the three-year-old all-star affair.

The only area athlete to win a spot on the squad is Laurel High's Steve Erwin. Also on the team are South Sioux's Terry Roost and Elkhorn Valley's Rick Rathwisch.

The selections were made jointly by the basketball committee of the Nebraska Coaches Association and the coaches of the two squads.

Assisting Higgins with the North is veteran mentor Fred Letheby of Madison.

Named to coach the South Squad were Paul Forch of Lincoln East and Jim Smith of Hastings.

The North Squad will train for

Steve Erwin

Roger Higgins

a week before the game at Wayne State College. The South Squad will train at Kearney State.

The Cathedral team could prove to be a thorn in the South's side as the Omaha school rated near or at the top of Class B in most polls conducted during the basketball season. Only an upset in the district tournament kept Cathedral out of the state tournament.

Toppling the height chart at 6'6" for the North are two centers, Howard and Sidney's Tom O'Connell. They will both give away two inches to the South's biggest team members although the height differential between the two squads is less than one inch.

O'Connell led his Sidney team to the state Class B tournament with over a 20 point per game scoring average and a rebounding mark of 15 per game. Sidney coach Don Christians feels O'

Connell has definite college potential.

Adding to the North's height is Laurel's Steve Erwin, a 6'5" recruit of University of Nebraska basketball coach Joe Cipriano. Erwin, who averaged 21 points per game, can clear the ball out quickly to start the fast break, Laurel coach Larry Moore indicated.

Another 6'5" forward and center is South Sioux's Roost, who led all scorers in the Sioux City area with over 20 points per game. According to Coach Rhy Casey, "Terry has tremendous body control and loves to block opponent's shots."

Although from a team that won only four games, North Platte's Dave Peterson hit for 18.4 points per game and 72 per cent of his free throws. Also president of the student body, Peterson will be North Platte's first representative in the all-star game.

A pair of Columbus teammates, Dick Hansen and Neil Klutman, will join Peterson from the Big Ten Conference.

Klutman provided the floor leadership for the Discoverers from his guard spot and led coach Jack Johnson's team in scoring, rebounding, assists, and steals.

Hansen operated along the baseline for Columbus and provided valuable backup scoring punch. Lincoln High coach Alden Johnson rated Hansen "a good defensive player."

Sending its fourth representative to the all-star game in three years is Lincoln Northeast. Ken Maresh, a 6'2" center for coach Ed Johnson, will move forward for the all-star contest.

He'll get competition for the forward position from Arlington's Tom Anderson whose coach, Alan Ott, rates him as an excellent ball handler. Anderson, a four-year letterman, has been an all-conference selection since his sophomore year. A career point total of 1,089 and school record of 43 points for a single game are indicative of his scoring threat.

Another potent scoring threat is 6'11" Rethwisch of Elkhorn Valley at Tilden. He averaged 27 points per game and held the school record of 42 points in a single game. He also has earned a 75 per cent free throw shooting mark during a three-year varsity career.

Class C runner-up Elkhorn will put its second athlete in two years into the all-star game in Jack Wesolowski. The 6'4" forward-center is rated by Elkhorn coach Gene Kruger as one of the finest defensive ballplayers ever to play at Elkhorn.

Training camps for both squads will open on August 12. The South is unbeatn in the series, winning 60-45 in 1969 and 91-60 in 1970.

Lone Laurel Lass

Captures Berth in State Track Meet

Jane Pearson, a sophomore at Laurel High School, will be the lone representative from her school in the girls state track meet at Grand Island this Saturday.

The youth threw the discus 92'3" in the Class B district track meet at Wisner-Pilger last week to earn her second place behind Pierce's Sue Stragg and a berth in the state affair, the first for girls in several years. Winning throw was 94'6".

Laurel's girls' team ended the day's competition with four points. Blair walked away with top honors by scoring 58 1/2 points. Pierce took second with 46. The host school was fourth with 25 1/2.

Two Wakefield girls will be competing Saturday in Class C competition—Rachel Bard in the 800-yard run and Susie Kober in the 200-yard dash.

Coaching the Laurel girls this year were Mrs. Mary Ann Ward and Lynn Elasser.

Wayne High Golfers

End Regular Season Victors at Plainview

Golfers at Wayne High closed out the regular season of action Tuesday by winning a four-team meet at Plainview.

The local team used only 164 strokes during the action to nose out Neligh, in second place at 168. Plainview, winners by one stroke over Wayne in the recent Husker Conference meet, came in third at 175, followed by Hartington High at 177.

Todd Boruff, a junior, was medalist for the day's action with a fine round of 39. Other scores of the varsity golfers: Dave Kudrna with 40, Kyle Wills with 41 and Rick Field with 44.

The local reserve team won its competition at Plainview, finishing with 134 strokes to edge out Plainview at 137. Plainview's second reserve team finished with 143 strokes, Hartington with 168.

Scott Eshlers and Mark Schram, both freshmen, shot rounds of 41 to tie for other golfer for medalist honors.

Rain Hampers District Play

Spring rains hit the Wakefield area over the weekend and into the first of the week, forcing the opening round of Class B district baseball games to be postponed from Monday to Wednesday of this week. Water was still standing on the Wakefield diamond early Tuesday morning. In the tourney are Wayne, Wakefield, Allen, Dodge, Bancroft, Ponca and Snyder. Winnebago dropped out of the meet.

Local Youths Raise Nearly $80 in 'Walk'

Fifteen ambitious seventh and eighth graders at Wayne Middle School raised nearly $80 during their participation in the International Walk for Development Saturday.

The group left Wayne shortly after 8 Saturday morning, vowing to walk to Laurel and back in order to raise money to fight hunger in America and abroad. A dozen of them finished the 30-mile journey.

Each youth was sponsored by an adult who promised to pay a fixed amount for each mile walked. Several teachers at the middle school sponsored students on the walk.

Although the walk was long and hard, everyone had fun, according to the three youths who helped plan the project, Dave Dunning, Jim Iphurn and Donn Dutton.

Taking part in the project, the first one by the students, were Brian Bebee, Damon Rockwell, James Baier, Jana Russell, Patty Barclay, Lori Lesh, Kris Nedergaard, Debbie Walker, Cindy Beeks, Julie Park and Sam Heppner and the three coordinators.

The money raised in the walk will go to the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation in Washington, D. C. The foundation will split the money collected from similar marches across the nation Saturday, giving just over 40 per cent toward work against hunger in the United States and a similar amount for the same work abroad. The rest stays in the foundation.

The local youths picked up the idea for the walk, which they plan to repeat next year, while studying current events in their social studies class under Dan Johnson.

An article in a small weekly newspaper they receive in connection with the study told about the walk. Goal of the walk was to raise $5 million. It is the second year for the event.

Painters Needed At Ball Diamond

Volunteer painters are needed Sunday afternoon to help finish up painting at the Wayne ball park.

Anybody who wants to volunteer a few hours on the project should bring along their paint brushes, reports Hank Overin, director of the city recreation program. Work will start about 1:30.

The painting is part of considerable work that is being done at the diamond. Included in the work was the moving of the dugouts and fixing fences around the seating.

A long road stretches out in front of this group of youngsters as they start their walk for money to fight hunger. The group left Wayne for Laurel Saturday morning.

quest by Cecil Wreft to expand his trailer court in the east edge of the city to the city planning commission.

The request was for an additional seven trailer lots along the north side of 58th Street.

Other council action resulted in:

-Setting a hearing for June 8 at 8 p.m. on the request by Gordon Shupe to rezone a plot of land on West Seventh Street. The planning commission has recommended that the request be denied.

-Ordering the city engineering firm to map out where sidewalks would be built along both sides of Lincoln Street north of Seventh. The decision followed the recommendation from the street committee that sidewalks be constructed there this summer since it is one of the areas receiving highest priority from both the committee and school officials.

-Eliminating Sunday evening opening of the landfill northeast of city because of little use during those hours. The closing will be effective May 23.

-Learning that two places which sell beer and liquor in Wayne are having their licenses suspended for five days each for selling beer to a minor. The license at The Pub will be suspended this week and the license at Melodee Lanes will be suspended starting the last week this month.

Survey Planned By Youth Group

A youth subcommittee for juvenile delinquency, headed up by Ed Bull of Wayne, met in Nortolk Thursday night in a joint meeting with members of the Region 11 and 25 Joint Planning Commission for Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.

Bull and his committee of youths decided to make a survey of 25 juveniles in each high school within the eight counties represented on the crime commission. Those counties are Wayne, Pierce, Antelope, Madison, Stanton, Knox, Cedar and Dixon.

The survey is to determine the extent and source of youth problems.

Funding for the survey and other activities of the youth subcommittee is made by the State Crime Commission.

Wayne High School is represented on the committee by Bull and Lisa Lesh.

Norris Weible, secretary of the crime commission, reported a decision was made Thursday night to invite judges from the eight counties and top area probation officers to the next meeting in June to assist the commission in drawing up a juvenile probation plan.

Garth Dawson of the State Crime Commission informed the regional commission recently that $16,000 may possibly be available for funding such a probation program.

"The fact that the election has been called off at our request does not resolve our needs. Something must be done to meet this need," Ols said. "We still have a need for a new hospital and better medical care."

Ols believes people opposed to the district hospital plan still recognize the need for a hospital. "They seem to object to the method used," he said. "The hospital district plan was handled about the only way possible under existing state laws, according to Ols."

The total resident population of the United States on January 1 was 205,056,000 persons.

Bent rails and dumped cargo resulted from the derailment.

Deraillment Causes Much Damage to Tracks Near Allen

Two other views of the derailment near Allen Monday give an indication of what happened. The four cars created a zig-zag effect as they plowed into the earth after the car behind the locomotive went off the tracks and tipped on its side. The other three remained upright. The car which landed on its side dumped most of its heavy cargo onto the right-of-way. The derailment tore up several feet of track and bent the rail severely.

A zlag effect is created by the four cars which ran astray.

SS Q & A

Q—I am receiving Social Security checks for my son. He will be eighteen years old in 6 months. It is my understanding that he can continue receiving benefits after age eighteen if he is going to school. When should I contact the social security office regarding his school continuation?

A—Your son can receive Social Security benefits after age eighteen as long as he remains unmarried and is a full-time student. The Social Security Administration will send you an application regarding his school activity after age eighteen. He should receive this form about three months before his eighteenth birthday. If he does not receive this application, contact your Social Security office.

Q—How can I increase my Social Security benefits?

A—Your social security benefits can be increased by two methods. The first way is when everyone (Social Security beneficiary) gets an increase from an enactment from Congress. The second method is by additional work. Additional work and earnings can increase your benefits if you are receiving benefits on your own record and your earnings are higher than other years earnings which was used to compute your benefit amount. If you are receiving a dependent's benefit, your benefits will be increased as the worker's benefits are increased because of additional work.

The Wayne Herald

Young Bunyan at Work

Young Terry Rhoads, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rhoads of Wayne, had a big job before him during the rainy weather earlier this week. The little leaguer took on his big tree with his small toy hand saw. He said he was going to haul the tree away when he finally got it cut down. The weekend rain which carried into early Monday morning kept most area youngsters from their usual outdoor activities.

Caps and Gowns

Hundreds of area youths, seniors in their respective schools, are about to don caps and gowns for baccalaureate and commencement programs. Graduating, like other experiences in life, is a personal accomplishment on the ladder of growing up. Although thousands have previously had the thrill of getting a high school diploma, it is still a fresh, unique, individual experience. Some graduates are planning on college or some type of advanced training. Others are facing tours of duty with Uncle Sam. We assume that schools and educational opportunities are better than ever here in America but that quality does not erase the many questions a graduate must ask himself about his future. If you grade feel just a trifle uncertain about your future as you hear "Pomp and Circumstance" accompany you down the aisle, rest assured that you are experiencing normal emotions also faced and handled by many others before you. Those graduating during years of World War I, the depression years, World War II, the Korean War and again during the long years of fighting in Viet Nam, all faced living and working in a world having multiplied problems. Even as those grads were determined to make a place in the world for themselves, we are sure you will also. The days your class will be together as such are now few and numbered, you are about ready to challenge the world on your own even as you have dreamed of doing for some time. Congratulations as you graduate. — MMW.

Volunteers Needed

Volunteers are needed to serve on a planning board to help with groundwork for next year's environmental fair in Wayne. Volunteers should be interested in doing something to halt the pollution of our environment and be willing to serve several hours a month on the board. If you don't think there's a pollution problem in the Wayne area, open your eyes the next time you're out for a Sunday drive. Notice the sacks of garbage tossed in the creek beds, the empty six packs of beer cans along the road, the smoke pouring into the air from fires around the countryside. If you want to do something about that, if you want to try to change the way people misreat the environment, volunteer to serve on the planning board. Call the Wayne Chamber of Commerce at 375-2240 if you or your group would like to make next year's fair a complete success. — NLH.

Everyone Gets Hurt

Marketing may be likened to a child's fun with dominoes. After the little black rectangles are standing on end in a row and the first is knocked down, then each remaining domino falls in succession. With farm-run eggs around 18 cents a dozen and hogs at 17 and 18 cents a pound, the man on the farm has been and is being hit hard. Those understanding agricultural economics here in the Midwest must realize prices that hurt the farmer also directly affect the in-town businessman. If the farmer makes money he will spend a lot of it in town. A market that causes the farmer to lose money also loses money for the city businessmen because the man on the farm can't spend profits that are lost.

We do not begin to pretend to understand the many complex factors involved in agricultural marketing. One thing we do understand is that rural and urban people are all swimming in the same economic pool. What affects one also affects the other. If everyone would work together seeing to it that the farmer gets a fair price for his perishable products, it would make a better economy for all. Remember the old saying that its the squeaking wheel that gets the grease? Isn't it time, or past time, for every person in urban business to stand up alongside the farmer and demand fair profits for everyone? Remember the dominoes. — MMW.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor: A medical doctor completing my internship in Colorado in approximately two months after graduating from the University of Nebraska College of Medicine last June. I wish to be a general practitioner and to live in a rural area when I have completed my military obligation. I was very interested in coming to Wayne to practice since I went to school at Wayne High School and lived in Wayne for many years. After receiving my April 29th copy of The Wayne Herald, I will be making plans to practice elsewhere. I was indeed surprised and shocked to learn that there were already sufficient medical facilities in the area and that I can not believe that there are people who think that medical facilities that were adequate during the 1930's are still sufficient now and will be in the future for their own children. I would like you to know that the chance of Wayne attracting any young doctors like myself has now been greatly diminished. There are too many progressive communities (Ponder, Aurora and Auburn, etc.) with enough foresight to build adequate hospitals and attract new physicians to those areas. The new type of practice of rural medicine is in groups with alternating night coverage instead of each doctor covering his own practice every night. This allows the doctors to see their own families occasionally and provides a chance for each doctor to get some sleep and thus be rested and mentally sharper when he sees patients the next day. Believe me, I know how my medical school classmates feel and Wayne now has very little chance of attracting any young doctors to this area. If you will only notice—there has not exactly been a flood of young doctors into Wayne, Laurel or Winslow, etc. in fact they are leaving or retiring. I can only praise the magnificent, unselfish work that the doctors in Wayne have been doing, but what do you intend to do when they retire? I can only imagine how disappointed they must feel at this time. The day in which each small town has its own doctor is rapidly dying and soon will be dead. I can only pity the Wayne County commissioners and the people of the Wayne area for their own myopia. Things do change and they will change—evidently—without the people of the Wayne area. I wish that I had written this letter much earlier, but I had confidence in the people of my area. Kenneth M. Olds Jr., MD

Claim Jumping in Washington County. When the Territory of Nebraska was organized and opened for settlement, land laws permitted settlers to claim land before it had been surveyed. Upon completion of the surveys, the settler was allowed to take legal residence on the quarter section that most closely corresponded to the property he had originally claimed. Because there was no defined boundaries for property, claim jumping was commonplace. The following accounts of claim jumping are taken from Washington County histories to be found

Capital News — Budget Committee Receives Standing Ovation at Capitol

LINCOLN—There was a rare event last week on the legislative floor—the budget committee was given a standing ovation. The committee had labored four months on its recommendations for appropriations to finance state government's operations during the coming fiscal year. The bill had its initial test on the floor, and sailed through without a "no" vote. It still had two more steps to make before adoption, but there didn't appear to be any problems on the horizon. After the bill was advanced from general file, Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter said the budget committee members deserved a standing ovation. Chairman Richard D. Marvel said there never had been such a display of appreciation before, to his knowledge. Marvel has headed the budget committee for six sessions. No sooner had the operations budget been given first round approval on the floor than the committee was back in session to take up the capital construction budget. There was no way to be certain that construction recommendations would receive the same friendly treatment on the floor the operations bill had, but the committee added three projects to the list Gov. J. J. Exon had endorsed. That triple play was designed to forestall amendments on the floor which could have the effect of breaking the budget open. The committee inserted appropriations for planning of a law college building at the University of Nebraska's Lincoln campus, a classroom facility on the UNO campus and an applied sciences building at Wayne State College. None of these projects had been given Exon's approval. But there was reason to think attempts would be made on the floor to add them if the committee didn't. Remembering what happened in 1969 when floor amendments added $11 million to the capital construction bill in a single afternoon, raising the price tag so high the bill didn't get the necessary 33 votes, the committee added the three projects itself. The logic was that even more construction projects would be tacked on by the full legislature if the bill was breached on the floor. Construction costs for the three buildings weren't included, but planning money was. The committee, in effect, committed itself to financing the construction in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1973. The total cost of the construction bill for this fiscal year would be a little more than $6 million under the committee plan. That's about $600,000 more than Exon had recommended in his Feb. 4 budget message.

The operations budget had been about $1 million below the Exon recommendations in general fund appropriations. Those are the funds supplied, basically, from the sales and income taxes.

In the all-funds category, including general funds, federal funds, cash funds and revolving funds, the committee's bill actually called for more spending than the governor had proposed.

One of the reasons is that the committee increased tuition at the state colleges and for non-resident students at the University of Nebraska above what Exon had included in his recommendations. That action had the effect of increasing the cash fund appropriations for the colleges and the university.

Meanwhile, money matters of another type were occupying the senators as well. Two plans for increasing the state aid to schools were on the board and the lawmakers were taking their time deciding which one to choose, if either one.

Exon had promised to veto any plan which increases the state aid program beyond the current $35 million a year currently being appropriated to the local school districts.

The last plan to get moving across the legislative board was one which would add $50 million to the present $35 million, for a total of $85 million. Ten million dollars of the additional $50 million would go to equalization payments and the other $40 million would be dealt out at a rate of $120 for each student enrolled in the school district.

The other plan, one giving preliminary endorsement earlier, would increase the state aid program by $54 million. All the extra money would be ticketed for use in the equalization phase of the program.

EQUALIZATION is a system which helps those districts with high enrollments and low valuations. In other words, school districts which require extremely high mill levies to provide enough revenue to operate the schools.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, the "father" of the school aid program launched in the 1967 legislature, said the senators ought to conduct a study before the 1972 session begins and examine all the possible formulas for distributing the aid.

Warner said, however, it is important that a bill proposing a substantial increase in the present $35 million is passed this session, so the sales and income tax rates can be adjusted to start providing the revenue to make the payments.

Once that is underway, Warner said, there still will be time to find the best method for allocating the aid. But there wouldn't be any extra money to distribute unless the tax collections start soon.

The idea behind the state aid hike is to provide identifiable relief for property taxes. There have been complaints that the $35 million now being distributed isn't enough to keep the mill levies at the local level from rising.

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

The time is late 1972, a political year. Let's envision some of the possible bumbling of the presidential aspirants as they seek the agricultural vote across America. Place: All across the agricultural United States. First, may I editorialize by adding that the closer you listen to a successful politician, the less you learn. That is, unless you too have political ambitions. The name of the game is doubletalk. The sincerity is questionable. Scene: A national farm show with 200,000 people expected to attend. Suddenly called off. Why? Simple. Spiro Agnew decided to participate.

Insurance companies immediately cancelled all coverage. Why? Simple. Spiro shattered the cranium of Doug Sanders, with a shank. For a politician, a golf shank is a normal logical approach, same as placing welfare food expenses under the USDA, same as this year's 20% crop program which will cause a two-stroke penalty when the five million plus bushel crop hits this fall. A shank is a good evasive stroke to avoid the pitfalls of the smooth farrow — much easier to cheat in the rough.

Spiro smashed the head of a female tennis partner in California, demonstrating that one can never safely get ahead of a politician.

But imagine Spiro getting involved on the Big Green or Big Red tractor. He would rev up the engine till the black smoke caused running eyes, shift gears, release the clutch and — wham — right into the middle of the curious crowd.

Or take the President. Expect not one answer to any agricultural problem in any campaign. Replies yes, solutions no.

(This is not a political column. I could care less who is elected. Ask a rancher or a farmer a question, you get an answer. Ask a politician a question, you get in the mail an autobiography of words spoken, of meetings and committees attended.) Recently, Richard had a momentous moment for agriculture — he taped a farm program. In glowing honey-dripping phrases he congratulated agriculture for getting itself in the superb position of being able to export. Export? Why?

Why, should the richest nation in the world be happy when farm prices become so pitiful that agencies can't sell and transport overseas and make a profit? Is the dollar-in-balance so acute that unprocessed agricultural raw materials can be shipped overseas? Mom, try to name one other industry that ships raw material overseas.

Oil business? No. Tankers come from the Near East and South America. Steel business? No. Ocean barges daily cross the Gulf. Subsidized grain goes to Poland so cheap that in Chicago it saw 59¢ canned hams from the old country.

Any time grain is so cheap it can move overseas, farmers have had it.

We can expect Hubert saying exactly the right thing to please the listeners... and change names and pages as he flies to his next assembly. All friends of the farmers, but no questions. Ask nothing about meat imports from Australia. Ask nothing of federal Taylor grazing rights in the mountains. Ask nothing of $16 hogs or foreign products in the school lunch programs.

Always the answer begins: "We are working on that in our committee..."

Or Muskie, trying to out-babysit Hubert in the primaries. After his potato processing plant scandal he may forget the farm tour and prefer the hippies.

Can you imagine Clifford Hardin asking the farmer for a vote? He hardly spoke to two farmers all year. Sophisticated faculty halls, yes, dirt farmers or sweating ranchers, no. It will be an interesting year to watch. Promise and excuses galore, but it will be difficult to explain how New York City welfare recipients receive more spendable income than do over a quarter of the farmers of the United States.

I am not arguing rights or wrongs, just reflecting how these ex-lawyers all return to the solution every four years!

Odd how politicians apologize to the masses if food stuff goes up three tenths of one per cent and tell of continuous measures and efforts being made to correct this "injustice." But, standing in front of the farmer, he tells of prices being too low.

'Man Is Only Steward of the Soil'

Soil Stewardship Week, a nationwide observance which places emphasis on man's obligation as stewards of the soil, water and other related resources, will be observed locally May 16-23, according to Ross Armstrong, chairman of the Dixon County Soil and Water Conservation District.

"The World and They That Dwell Therein," the theme of this year's observance, underscores the responsibility which each citizen has in fulfilling his or her role as caretaker of the realm, he explains.

The Dixon County district and some 3,000 companion districts throughout the nation along with their state and national associations are sponsoring the event for the 17th consecutive year.

Among the local events designed to encourage widespread recognition of Soil Stewardship Week are individual church services, emphasizing the actions of man needed to better care for our natural resources, Armstrong points out.

The Dixon County district has distributed upon request to churches of all faiths, bulletin inserts, posters and booklets created particularly for this year's observance.

The materials were prepared by the National Association of Conservation Districts, in consultation with a soil stewardship advisory committee composed of leading church men in the nation.

Members of the Dixon County SWCD board are Armstrong, Kenneth Green, Jerry Thomas, Harold Fischer and Willie Harder.

Q.—At what height should bluegrass lawns be mowed now, and later in the season?

A.—The first time, the lawn can be mowed to a height of two inches. The next time, raise the mower to cut to a height of 2 1/2 inches. And in the middle of June, go to three inches.

County Agent's Column

by Harold Ingalls

A "One-Shot" Affair
With limited supplies of hybrid seed corn this year, particularly of N cytoplasm, Nebraska farmers will "only" go round once in corn planting, a situation (320) combined, should be placed with the seed. With coarse textured loamy sands and sandy loams, less than five pounds per acre of nitrogen and potassium should be seed placed.

Excessive fertilizer placed with the seed actually competes with the germinating seed for soil water. The result is reduced germination, seedling damage, delayed emergence and stand reduction.

3. Planter Plates — Since hybrid seed varies in size, selecting the right planter plate is essential.

4. Planter Speed — Although improved corn planters are made to operate efficiently at higher speeds, 3 1/2 miles an hour is probably the most efficient planting speed.

5. Soil Moisture — Finally, place seed at 1 1/2 inches to two inches deep in moist soil. Unnecessary tillage prior to planting can dry out the surface soil again, causing poor or uneven stands.

1971 is not the year to do a poor planting job. A little extra time now will save time and money during the entire growing season." Flowerday concluded.

May 20 Deadline
Farmers wishing to certify seed corn crops should submit applications before May 20.

Crops included in this deadline for certification are wheat, oats, barley, rye, bromegrass, wheatgrass, crownvetch, sweet clover and first crop alfalfa.

The applications are available from county extension offices, and completed forms should be cleared through respective county offices before they are sent to the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association Office in Lincoln.

Farmers who apply for certification of their fields may later cancel if drought, flood, hail or some other unforeseen circumstances prevent completion of certification. In such a case, all fees, with the exception of $1 are refunded.

The key to an attractive lawn
is proper fertilizing

That's why Scott's TURF BUILDER is America's favorite fertilizer for developing thick, green lawns. Turf Builder supplies a prolonged feeding, releasing its nutrients as the grass plants need them. So there's no wasteful over-feeding or surge growth to cause extra mowing.

Turf Builder makes your lawn grow thicker, greener, sturdier. It's a pleasure to use—clean, lightweight, odorless. Nothing to mix or measure, just pour it in a spreader and walk over your lawn.
