Jaycees Plan Display Of Fireworks July 4th

Wayne residents will not need to leave town this July Fourth to see a big fireworks display, according to Darrell Moore, publicity chairman for the Jaycees.

Moore said Wednesday that the Wayne Jaycees have decided to sponsor a fireworks display again this year. He noted that some people expressed disappointment in the display last year because it contained small exhibits. "We're going to have a big aerial display this year," Moore said.

The Jaycees have donated the first $50 towards buying the fireworks and plan to ask for contributions to make the show a big affair.

In other decisions made by the group Tuesday night, it was decided to change the time of the meetings at the Chamber of Commerce office on the first Tuesday of each month from 7:30 to 8 p.m.

Moore reports the Jaycees are presently conducting a county-wide fund drive for multiple sclerosis. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Preston are in charge of arrangements.

Eight cases of honey left over from Honey Sunday are being put up for sale at the operation at the APCO service station on north Main Street at half price—50 cents a container. Moore said proceeds will go to aid the program for the mentally retarded.

Jaycees set June 19 as the date for holding their annual awards banquet. Time and place have not been decided. A Mr. and Mrs. Jaycee will be picked for outstanding work.

Winside Plans MS Fund Drive

Plans are underway in Winside to kick off a fund drive for multiple sclerosis, according to Mrs. Doug Barry, chairman.

She said it is the first MS drive to be held in the community.

The campaign will start Saturday and be conducted by St. Paul's Walthor League and Band Booster volunteers.

Those helping with arrangements include Mrs. Marvin Kramer, Mrs. Dean Janke, Mrs. Don Langenberg, Mrs. Vernon Miller and Mrs. James Winch. Walthor League youths will carry out the house-to-house drive and Band Booster members are planning a bake sale to raise funds June 19. Proceeds will be contributed to the MS campaign.

The national MS fund drive is traditionally held between Mother's Day and Father's Day. Contributions are used in the attempt to solve some of the mysteries of the neurological disease for which there is presently no known cure.

Area People Attend 'Consultation'

Towns along Highway 20 from Atkinson to Allen and Ponca were represented last week in a meeting to discuss trends in the United Methodist Church.

The meeting, "Consultation on Highway 20," was held at Plainville with representatives from Ponca, Allen, Dixon, Laurel and Randolph in attendance.

Main purpose of the meeting was to discuss the diminishing membership and the rising budget problems affecting churches.

The group also discussed what might be done to realign parishes along Highway 20 in order to make the best use of the pastors.

Those in attendance at the meeting, unique to this part of the state, felt that the parishes could be realigned to alter membership so no parishes would be eliminated.

Another meeting is scheduled for this month at Osmond.

Attending the meeting from Allen were the Rev. J.B. Choate, Kenneth Linafelter, Gaylen Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stapleton.

The meeting grew out of the concern of the Plevin United Methodist Church over trends in membership and population.

From there the idea grew until it included all parishes along Highway 20.

Other towns along Highway 20 represented at the recent meeting included Osmond, Ewing, Page, O'Neill, Royal, and Alderson.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION Notes

by Joycelyn Smith

Are you ready for a vacation? To have a carefree one—plan ahead.

Your home must be ready, too. Homes that look vacant are the target of burglars, so make your home look lived in while you are away.

Discontinue routine deliveries and pickups by telephone or letter, not by a note left outside your home. The post office will hold or forward incoming mail at your request. Ask your neighbor to remove circulars left on your doorstep.

Arrange to have your lawn mowed regularly if you will be gone for a long period.

Only partially close your blinds. Tightly drawn blinds are a tip to burglars. An automatic timing device used to turn lights on and off in one or two rooms at night is an excellent safety device.

Notify the local police department of your planned absence. Some communities they make a special check of homes they know are unoccupied.

Lock all doors and windows. Make a final check just before leaving.

Give house keys to a friend or neighbor in case an emergency entry is necessary. Never leave keys under a mat or over a door.

Inform a neighbor where you can be reached while gone. Also notify your neighbor of changed plans.

If you want your vacation plans published, do so after your absence. Prospective burglars do watch the newspaper for such articles.

71-72 officers. David Langenberg, 1971 president, responded. Mrs. Carol (Bronzyski) Heitman gave the secretary's report; Cecil Prince, the treasurer's report and Mrs. Dorothy (Dianeberg) Stevens, the historian's report. Mrs. Virginia (Jackson) Holmgren accompanied group singing of the school song.

Class reports were given by Edna (Trangeman) King, Lincoln, 1911; North Brugger, Wayne, 1921; Frances (Nelson) Koch, Winside, 1931; Russel Baird, Winside, 1941; Warren Holmgren, Winside, 1951; Mary (Jaeger) Meleher, Stanton, 1961.

Charles Jackson made the presentation of corsages to the five Reed sisters who graduated over 50 years ago, Eva (Oted) Lewis, Winside, class of 1904; Bonnie (Oted) Moses, O'Neill, 1906; Ina (Reed) Damme, Sioux City, and Ida (Reed) Moses, Wayne, both 1911, and Ruby (Reed) Sweigard, Winside, 1918.

Corsages were also presented Chris Anderson, Norfolk, earliest man to graduate (1908), and Tris Prince, Winside, earliest woman to graduate (1905), and Sandra Waller, Whittier, Calif., Sharon (Vee) Cohen, Portland, Ore., and Dan Podall, Oregon, attending from the greatest distance.

Also among the guests were Mrs. Kent Jackson who graduated in 1921, and her granddaughter, Barbara Jackson, who graduated in 1971.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson were in charge of entertainment. Taking part were Mr. Jackson, Don Longnecker, Russell Prince, Mrs. Clarence Heffner, Mrs. George Farran, Mrs. Dean Janke, Jim Jackson and Bart Schellenberg.

Officers named for the 1971-72 year are Ivan Reese, president; Don Wille, vice-president; Mary (Larran) Weible, secretary; F. F. Warnemede, treasurer; Dorothy (Jensen) Anderson, program chairman; Gloria (Holtz) Evans, table chairman and Eric Jaeger, historian.

The meal was served by St. Paul's Lutheran Church Ladies Aid association. Dancing followed the program.

Granddaughter Wed May 29

The Rev. Ted Blilow, president of John F. Kennedy College at Wahoo, officiated at the afternoon wedding uniting Miss Frances Johnson and Daniel Adrian Noden in marriage May 29 in the garden of the bride's parents home at 812 Bellevue Blvd., N., Bellevue, Neb.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. John Noden, all of Bellevue.

Grandparents of the bride are Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson of Wayne and Bellevue, and William M. Johnson of Ottawa, Kans. Grandparents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hishop of Omaha.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of dotted swiss and Venice lace. Bands of lace accented the high stand-up collar and Juliet sleeves that featured wide traditional pointed cuffs. The gown was designed with an empire bodice and an elbow shirt fullness in the back. Lace daisy motifs were scattered at random on the gown. Her cathedral length mantilla of imported illusion was bordered with Venice lace and was held in place by a small cap. Her only jewelry was her earrings which had been worn by her great-grandmother on her wedding day. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of shasta daisies and baby's breath.

Maid of Honor was Margaret Noden, sister of the groom. Bridesmaids were Christine Beckman, Karen Baker, both of Bellevue, and Cheryl Bridgeford of Omaha. They wore gowns of dotted swiss in shades of pastel featuring long full sleeves and empire styling. Their white crocheted garden hats were trimmed with matching dotted swiss. They carried bouquets of tinted daisies.

Flower girl was Rhonda Whiteacre of Ottawa, Kans. She wore a short white dotted swiss dress with pink and blue embroidered flowers and a garden hat with streamers. She carried a basket of daisy petals. Train bearer was Julie Wilson of Denton Neb., and Terri Turnwall of Lincoln. Messenger and music assistant was Peggy Turnwall of Lincoln. They wore short dresses of white dotted swiss with blue underlining and garden hats with streamers. They all had miniature corsages of carnations.

Best man was Andy Anderson of Omaha. Groomsmen were Vern Westcott, Tom Noden, brother of the groom, and Richard Johnson, brother of the bride, all of Bellevue. Troy Whitacre of Ottawa, Kans., was ring bearer. They all wore white dinner jackets with black lapels and white and black ruffled shirts with dark trousers.

Patricia Wisnand of Bellevue played the wedding music and accompanied Jan Shepherd of Bellevue, who sang "For All We Know," and "Whisper Thou Goest."

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the garden.

Mrs. Lester From of Wayne was Lincoln hostess. Judy Turnwall of Lincoln and Paul Huelspan of Salina, Kans., were greeters. Mrs. W. W. Whitacre, aunt of the bride, of Ottawa, Kans., cut the bride's cake. Alice Noden, sister of the groom, cut the groom's cake.

Julie Soseman and Marcia Leeder, both of Omaha, were in charge of the punch bowls. Phyllis Evetensky of Ralston poured coffee. Waitresses were Judy Turnwall of Lincoln and Kathy Flala of Bellevue.

Debbie Meyer of Wayne was in charge of the guest book. Vickie Watts and Jeanne Donnelly, both of Omaha, were in charge of gifts.

but have they stopped to think about what happens to that dollar they spend away from home? Part of it will go to support the schools, churches and public projects of the community in which that dollar was spent. All well and good. But what about the schools, churches, etc. in our own community? These must also be supported. Don't short-change our hometown and yourself by scattering dollars elsewhere . . . keep them working right here for you and yours!

Bridge Completion Nears

If good weather holds, in about four weeks farmers and motorists will be able to use the new bridge being constructed near the city landfill just northeast of Wayne. The steel and concrete bridge, which will replace the wooden one torn out by the floods early this spring, will cost between $35,000 and $40,000 when completed. It will have a 60-foot span in the center. There will be two 30-foot concrete approaches. Federal assistance is being used to help construct the bridge.

Who Has the Right Advice?

Minutes of a recent meeting of the Wayne County commissioners show that the county board paid a Norfolk law firm $225 for professional services regarding the proposed Logan Valley Hospital District.

When the three board members were asked during their regular meeting Tuesday why the Norfolk firm had been paid for legal services, one board member returned the question, "What business is it of yours?"

The Wayne Herald has made it a policy for a good many years to analyze county expenditures, believing the residents of Wayne County have every right to know how every tax dollar is spent.

If this sets a precedent, it could mean the commissioners may either ignore or bypass the county attorney at will. It could mean that taxpayers would be buying legal advice for their commissioners from two different sources.

Horse Race Litigation

Breeding and racing fine horses is nothing new for Nebraskans. In the files of the Nebraska State Historical Society is a copy of the Official Report of Meeting of the Board of Appeals of the American Trotting Association, meeting in Chicago, on May 5, 6 and 7, 1895.

Case 1463—W. P. Dickinson, Chicago, Ill., and J. W. Swartbrough, Wheaton, Ill., vs. St. Joseph Fair Association, St. Joseph, Mo.; John J. Lamborn, Wilcox, Neb.; and A. Arnold, Napton, Mo. Appeal from decision of member in $3,000 3:00 class at St. Joseph, September 13, 1895, involving the horses "Guy L." and "Prince," who were protested as being ineligible, due to their entry having been made after the proper time for the race. Ordered: That the appeal be granted; the protests against the horses be sustained; the member at St. Joseph be ordered to at once pay into the trust fund of the American Trotting Association the entire amount due as winnings in said race.

Case 1464—This case was identical with case No. 1463 in substance and evidence, and the decision and order is the same.

Case 1466—C. L. Garrison, Sutton, Neb., vs. Saline County Agricultural Society, Wilber, Neb.. Application for return of fine. The applicant was fined $50 by order of the Judges of the races at Wilber, Neb., September 8, 1895, for tampering with and pulling his mare "Bonnie" in the free-for-all race, and notice of said fine was forwarded to the secretary of the American Trotting Association. Thirty-nine dollars of this fine was retained from the winnings of the mare and sent in, and the balance, $11, was collected at the next place where Garrison was found entered. He then made application for return of the fine, and supported his application by an affidavit, stating that in his opinion the fine was unjust and should not have been imposed. Ordered: That the application be denied.

Case 1484—R. F. Carsey, Independence, Iowa, vs. Lincoln Park Association, Lincoln. Application for an order on the Lincoln Park Association of Lincoln, for the third money in the 2:33 trotting class, over the track at Lincoln on October 31, 1895, on the ground that the bag, "Combine" owned by the applicant was entitled to first and third money. Only one other horse remained in the race to the finish, the third competitor, the b.h. "McTavish" having been withdrawn. Ordered: That the case be continued, with an order that the member deposit the money involved in the trust fund of the American Trotting Association, pending decision of the case. Lacking further reports of the Board, there is no information on the outcome of Case No. 1484.

Gov. Exon Not Complaining As Legislators Head Home

LINCOLN—The system of annual legislative sessions, inaugurated this year, drew a mixed response.

The modal voyage under a constitutionally limited time schedule caused some hurried action as the 90 days ran out, leading some critics to complain.

But Gov. J. J. Exon wasn't one of those complaining.

He said on the final day last week that the new system had worked just fine. Perhaps one reason for his approval was the advantage it gave him in his campaign to prevent the adoption of legislation to grant partial exemptions for some classes of business and farm property.

Throughout the five months of the 1971 session, Exon toyed with the idea of seeking to reach a compromise with Sen. J. W. Purbach, waging a battle over the personal property exemption issue.

It reached a climax on the final day of the meeting.

Time was on the governor's side. Purbach's final plan was passed by the Legislature on a 22-16 vote and the bill was dispatched immediately to Exon's office in what proved to be a forlorn hope the governor would promptly return it with his veto.

Exon, however, chose to postpone the veto until after adjournment, forestalling any attempt to override the veto. Purbach toyed with the idea of seeking to extend the session beyond the 90 days, but that would have required 40 votes—a total the Crofton senator conceded was beyond his reach.

So the 1971 session ended without any implementation of Amendment 10, which the voters had endorsed last year. Exon maintained the endorsement was given on the basis of promises personal property exemptions wouldn't raise the state's sales and income taxes.

The proposal sought by Purbach—although much more modest at the end than it had been when he started last winter—would have pushed upward the sales and income tax rates because the state would have been required to replace revenue lost by local governments.

Countries Get More Cash

The Exon-promoted tax rates for 1972, however, were considered in jeopardy despite the failure of the personal property bills.

The governor tried to prevent the sales tax rates from climbing above its current 2 1/2 per cent level and the personal income tax levy from jumping any higher than 13 per cent (it's 10 per cent now).

But one of his vetoes the lawmakers did have a chance to override on the final day was on LB 707. That bill raised the city-county aid kitty from $9.7 million to $12.6 million, with counties reaping the major benefits.

When the senators voted 32-15 to override Exon's objections, and to adopt the $2.9 million increase, they may have pushed the demands on state revenues beyond what can be raised with the 2 1/2-13 rates Exon sought to hold.

An official determination, however, won't be available until this fall when the State Board of Equalization convenes to set the rates for the 1972 calendar year.

School Aid Bill Dies

In addition to the city-county aid bill, the lawmakers rescued two other measures from Exon vetoes on their final day.

One authorizes a legislative committee to take part in the selection of the architects and the approval of specifications for the state office building, fieldhouse and Beatrice State Home activities building to be constructed from cigarette taxes.

The other establishes a controversial system for dealing with varying property valuations in taxing districts which span

About 70 youngsters from ages five through 11 spent several hours last week learning how to ride a bicycle safely.

The youths, students in the 11th annual Wayne police department bicycle safety school, learned how to use proper hand signals when riding on city streets, went on group rides in Wayne to practice using the signals and obeying traffic regulations, and competed in races at the Rice Auditorium parking lot at Wayne State College.

Pat Hatley, assistant police chief in Wayne, was in charge of the school again this year. He issued each youth in the school a "driver's license" and a safety sticker after Saturday's races.

Among the activities during the three days of the school include, clockwise from top left:

Registration by Officer-Hatley of John and Theresa Melena, children of Mr. and Mrs. John Melena of Wayne, on the opening day of the bike school Thursday.

Instructions by Hatley on giving the correct turn signals while riding their bikes.

Practicing what they've learned: leading this group is Tommy Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Fletcher of Wayne.

Getting set for a race Saturday morning.

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

Al Nelson, your cartoonist, is filling in as "trail boss" for Ed Collins while he continues the pursuit of beef promotion on the Eastern Seaboard.

You ask, "Why promote beef when beef is at its highest level of the decade?"

Mom, inflation erodes our economy on every front. Every labor union contract negotiated calls for higher wages, power companies are granted a 13 1/2 per cent across the board increase, taxes soar, operating costs double and the federal government feeds inflation with a postal increase of 66 to 86 for a postage stamp.

Two cents doesn't sound like much? Mom, that's a 33-1/3 per cent increase.

Dressed beef has fluctuated between the $45 and $50 neighborhood for a period of three years. Increased feed costs, higher interest rates, labor, maintenance and operating costs contribute daily to accelerated expenses for beef production. Ranchers, feeders, packers and everyone connected with the industry feel the constant drain on our life's savings to provide funds for our economical survival.

In no manner is it possible to reduce our fixed costs. Consequently, the need for "beef promotion."

Compared to the wage spiral and living costs in the metropolitan areas, beef is the biggest bargain of the century, produced by farmers and ranchers with little or no profit.

Here in the Midwest we produce top quality USDA Choice to the consumer's specifications. We select cattle from the finest herds in the West with blood lines that would make an English Duke jealous. Cattle are fed under ideal conditions with top quality grains and forage for a minimum of six months a year.

Then, Mom, a most ironic situation occurs when the cattle leave your farm or feedlot and are slaughtered at a local packing house—they lose all identity. No longer are quality cattle important. No longer is the method in which the cattle were fed given any consideration. All you have left, because of our indifference and negligence, is a red piece of meat that cannot be identified from competitive foreign beef produced cheaply without the aforementioned expenses.

Our farms and ranches can no longer prosper and survive under the slipshod marketing methods we have employed in the past. The time has come to stand on our own two feet and shout about the top quality product you are producing. Tell the consumers, for they have an unlimited appetite for quality beef.

A man should be proud of his product and identify it with his name and brand. Live cattle carry your brand. Who not your beef carcasses? With the identification of your product, you can create a market that will command a premium for the "adillac of beef."

Your beef, Mom, and with it the financial rewards that you are entitled to.

New Publication Available

A new publication, "Waste Management for Feedlots," has been released by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service to aid farmers and stockmen in meeting a requirement of Nebraska law that livestock waste problems be under control by Dec. 31, 1972. Management of livestock wastes has become a major concern for livestock producers with the passage of state and federal legislation requiring that stockmen prevent wastes from running off their property or from entering water courses.

"These laws are part of the national effort to improve our environment by enhancing the quality of streams in the interest of public health and safety," explains E. A. Olson, UNI Extension agricultural engineer, in the introduction to the new publication, FN-71-795.

Specifically, the pollution act states that it is unlawful for anyone to cause pollution of any waters of the state. It is also unlawful to discharge any wastes into waters which would reduce the water quality below the standards established by the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council in 1965.

The circular, available through county extension offices, provides guidance and information to help livestock producers develop facilities that will, by proper waste management, help them prevent pollution.

The first part of the circular deals with selecting a new site for livestock production facilities. The second part deals with methods of controlling and managing waste runoff for existing or new lots.

These techniques are based on results of recent research on waste management by USDA Agricultural Research Service personnel and the University of Nebraska.

Conserve Feed Nutrients

A plastic cover over a hay stack out in the open may more than pay for itself by conserving nutrients which are valuable at feeding time.

These were the findings of South Dakota State University dairy research comparing hay harvesting and storage methods on 10 representative farms in northeastern South Dakota.

First cutting alfalfa hay on each of the 10 farms was placed in at least two stacks, one covered and the other uncovered. Five farmers baled and the other five stacked their hay loose.

The plastic sheets cost 28¢ and 56¢ per ton of baled and loose hay covered, respectively. Reusing the plastic sheets more than one season would reduce these low costs still further. The value of nutrients saved by covering hay stacks was $1.69 per ton, based on the amount of digestible dry matter saved.

Corn Leaf Blight Present in Nebraska

Southern Corn Leaf Blight has been reported in Nebraska for the first time this year.

The SCLB fungus has been positively identified in a sample of volunteer corn from a field of Douglas County. University of Nebraska-Lincoln plant pathologists announced Friday.

The plant disease specialist team of Dr. M. G. Bossalis, department chairman; Dr. David W. Soggin, Extension plant pathologist; and Gil Cook, graduate student, said samples of infected leaves were collected from a field known to have been infected with the disease last year.

Tests have been conducted by the university plant pathology department since last fall to determine the overwintering potential of the fungus in Nebraska. The fungus has been isolated from corn residue and found to be alive and pathogenic in greenhouse and laboratory tests.

The infected volunteer seedlings from the Douglas County field collected May 21 strongly support the suggestion that the partially decayed, surface debris of last year's corn crop has provided the source of inoculum for infection of the volunteer corn in this field, the plant pathologists said.

Samples of corn seedlings have also been taken from numerous other fields in several east-central counties and many findings of SCLB infection will be released as soon as laboratory analysis is completed.

Refuse Permit Act Doesn't Apply to Most Cattle Feeders

The Refuse Act permit program does not apply at this time to agricultural runoff and irrigation return flow, according to the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. The permit program he said, applies only to feedlots which had an inventory of one thousand or more animal units at any time during 1970 and which discharge their waste from a single point source—a pipe or channel—into a navigable stream or tributary. An animal unit is that which has a live-weight live-weight demand equivalent to one beef steer. One thousand animal units is equivalent to 700 dairy cows, 4,500 butcher hog hogs, 12,000 sheep, 35,000 feeder pigs, 15,000 turkeys, 1,500,000 la-bee hens or 250,000 broilers.

Yard & Garden Tips

Q. What is causing iris to turn brown?

A. A bacterial agent is probably present in the plants which is causing the flesh portion of the plant to rot away. The rotted portion should be cut out. Then, sterilize the area with a solution of two tablespoons Clorox to one gallon water. If possible, the plants should then be planted in a new location.

Local Teacher to Tour Fashion Center

Marie Mohr, home economics teacher in the Wayne-Carroll school system, will get a firsthand look at New York's unique world of fashion and textiles. She is one of 29 students at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln who will leave June 6 with two advisors for a week-long "Heritage of Fashion" study tour. The tour is part of their coursework for credit at the College of Home Economics.

The traveling classroom will expose the students to the people, places, facilities and newest ideas in fashion and textiles. Dr. Audrey Newton of the college teaching staff will direct the tour with assistant professor Virginia Harvey. According to Dr. Newton, the students have been preparing for the summer excursion by reading selected books on the New York fashion and textile market.

While in New York, the Nebraska students will visit chemical companies, design houses, retail stores, magazine and manufacturer of clothing and home furnishings. They'll also spend time with key professionals in the fashion business.

The students are likely to see the newest American fashions, too. The June 6-12 tour coincides with New York's annual designer showings where buyers from retail clothing outlets and chain stores get their first look at the clothing their stores will sell next season.

Good Housekeeping magazine will acquaint the students with its testing program for clothing and household textiles such as draperies and linens. The group will see how carpets are made at Regal Rugs and see more carpets at Magee's.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Guggenheim Museum, the Design Center, the Society of Bath Artists and a tour of boutiques will round out the student's exposure to fashion and furnishing artistry in New York. "The Heritage of Fashion" study tour is an annual summer offering of the College of Home Economics. On even numbered years a group visits Europe and on odd numbered the study setting is New York.

VA Pamphlet Answers Vets' Questions on Mobile Home Loans

The Veterans Administration has a new pamphlet for veterans and servicemen who want information about a VA-guaranteed loan for a mobile home. The pamphlet, titled "Questions and Answers on Mobile Loans to Veterans," is designed to answer questions about the program established last December. For example, one question answered is, "How does a veteran or serviceman go about getting a loan?"

The answer: Obtain a certificate of eligibility from the nearest VA regional office, find a mobile home of your choice which meets VA standards, arrange for rental or purchase of mobile home lot and apply to a lender for a loan.

Another question: "Who is eligible for a mobile home loan?" Answer: Servicemen on active duty, veterans of World War II, the Korean Conflict and those who served after Jan. 31, 1955, if they are entitled to VA's maximum $12,500 conventional home loan guarantee.

Chukar partridges prefer rough, rocky areas covered with grass and dry-land shrubs.

'Adopting' Wildlife Is Not Good Idea

"Adopting" young wild animals and birds that are starting to appear in Nebraska's woods and fields may seem like a good idea to some, but it is actually a poor conservation practice, according to Game Commission biologists. Some wildlife fantasies of motion pictures and television seem to encourage this practice and cause many well-meaning people to harm wildlife rather than helping. The "abandoned" creatures that are taken from their wild homes often do not survive in captivity. And, chances are, the wild youngster was not abandoned at all, but only temporarily lost or left behind while the mother went in search of food, say the biologists.

Yard & Garden Tips...

Q. How and when can rhubarb be divided?
A. The best time to divide rhubarb is in late fall or early spring. To divide the plant, simply lift the clump, separate the crowns, getting as many roots as possible into each one, and replant them.
Q. What is the proper way to harvest asparagus?
A. Easy methods of harvesting asparagus are to either cut it with a knife close to the ground or snap off the stems by hand.
Q. How can aphids be removed from peas?
A. A good control is a thorough spraying with insecticide in a solution of two tablespoons to one gallon of water. The spraying must be done thoroughly because each individual egg must be sprayed in order to kill it.
Q. Is it all right to plant roses on the north side of the house?
A. Yes, it is, in fact, some roses do require an extra amount of shade. The light colored roses reflect much of the sun's rays, but dark red roses will absorb them. If exposed to too much sun, the edges of the rose petals will burn.

Social Security Checks for Area People to Be Bigger

Social security checks to be delivered to Wayne area residents June 3 will be higher than the monthly amounts previously received. Robert L. Pelkey, social security manager in Norfolk, said the checks covering benefit payments for the month of May will include the general 10 per cent increase in benefits signed into law by President Richard Nixon on March 17. The payments are retroactive to Jan. 1. Separate checks, scheduled to reach social security beneficiaries on June 22, will cover the amount of the increases for the retroactive months of January through April. The average monthly benefit for a retired worker goes up from $114 to about $126; for a retired couple, $199 to about $219. A widowed mother with two children will receive an average social security benefit of about $324, up from $295. For a disabled worker with a wife and one or more children, the new average monthly payment will be about $296, increased from $269. The special monthly payment that are made to certain individuals age 72 and over who are not insured for regular social security cash benefits will be increased by five per cent, from $46 to $48.30 for an individual and from $69 to $72.50 for a couple. Pelkey concluded by saying no action is necessary by beneficiaries—these increases will be automatic. Wakefield Hospital Admitted: Rosco Slipp, Wakefield; Mrs. Frances Kuhl, Emerson; Enos J.
