This breakdown of the budget approved last week by the Wayne-Carroll school board will give residents of the school district an idea of how the money will be spent next year.

As can be seen, the greatest share of the money next year will go to pay for instruction (primarily teachers' salaries)—$679,583 of the $1,148,562.75 total budget. These salaries will be about four and a half per cent higher next year than they were for the school year just past, according to Superintendent Francis Baum. The school board played those salary increases earlier this year.

The $36,765 being budgeted for administration next year includes the $19,000 salary for the superintendent. The amount being budgeted for instruction includes the salaries for the three principals—$11,500 for Richard Metter in the elementary system, $15,000 for Loren Park at the middle school and $14,598 for Deryl Lawrence at the high school.

Other school services, which will cost $31,610 next year, include $8,500 for salaries of the bus drivers and $6,210 for health service and supplies. Salaries for the custodians, $45,700, accounts for over half the $74,100 being budgeted for plant operation next year.

Maintenance of the school, to cost $17,325, includes such things as replacing musical instruments, purchasing home economics equipment and keeping the buildings and grounds in shape. The $64,000 budgeted for fixed charges See SCHOOL BUDGET, page 8

Addresses Needed For 21 Servicemen

Twenty-one servicemen's addresses are still needed by SWAY.

The local organization—Service Men We Appreciate You—needs the addresses of the men so they can be sent $10 checks and letters of appreciation.

The organization already has obtained the addresses of 20 servicemen and will send them their checks and letters as soon as the other addresses are obtained.

All 41 servicemen have entered the service since November of 1969 when SWAY stopped sending the letters and checks to those in the armed forces.

No one Injured As Vehicles Hit

Two young people escaped injury around 3 p.m. Friday when the vehicles they were driving collided 10 miles north of Wayne at the Highway 15 and Concord junction.

Trooper W. G. Watson of Wayne, Nebraska Safety Patrol, investigated and said Jane Owens, 18, of Wayne was eastbound on a county road and approached the junction from the west.

Watson said Miss Owens pulled on across the intersection and the 1967 Chrysler she was driving was hit in the left rear fender by a 1963 Chevrolet pickup driven by Marvin A. Grindvold, 22, of Hartington. He was southbound on Highway 15 at the time.

Watson said the pickup sustained minor damage and the car had moderate damage.

Reporter Finds Danes Much Like Americans

By Dick Manley

Thirty-three Danish educators who visited Wayne State College the past two weeks are much like Americans, it seems. They come to a foreign country, they look at everything, and they decide they like a lot of what they see, but don't like some things. And they say so.

A reporter who inquired of the Danes, "Have you found useful ideas to try in your own classrooms?" got a variety of answers, but they summed up to something like this: Yes, we gained many good ideas. We saw some teaching aids we would like to use, but not all of them.

The director of the visiting group, Halldan Andersen, who teaches psychology in a Danish teachers college, was enthusiastic.

"Very profitable," he declared. He has organized several previous tours to America, including one to Wayne State last year, and he already is arranging to bring another tour here in summer, 1972.

Before their scheduled departure Sunday morning from Sioux City airport, the Danes had kept busy hearing numerous lectures, observing and using all sorts of teaching machines, visiting in homes, traveling to Lincoln and Omaha.

At Lincoln Gov. J. J. Exon spent half an hour with the Danes in the capitol.

After a few remarks expressing his pleasure that Nebraska and especially Wayne State could host the Danes, the governor offered to answer any questions and said he wanted to ask some questions about Denmark. There were plenty of questions both ways. The governor also arranged to have Mrs. Exon lead See DANES, page 6

Disaster Aid Meet Set for Wayne Tuesday

Governmental units and local citizens in nine northeast Nebraska counties who had property damaged by flooding between June 24 and 25 will meet Tuesday to apply for federal and state disaster funds.

President Nixon, at the request of Governor J. J. Exon, declared the following nine counties a disaster area Wednesday: Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Knox, Pierce, Madison, Stanton, Thurston and Dakota.

Bob Prentice of the Civil Defense Agency in Lincoln said Thursday that the federal declaration makes available a massive amount of assistance to people with property damaged by the flooding. He said two meetings are slated

In the Wayne city auditorium, at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m., providing opportunity for federal and state officials to discuss with public officials and residents the assistance available.

The first meeting will be with public officials to identify problems and coordinate details of assistance. The second meeting will permit individual citizens to meet with the federal and state officials to arrange for assistance in solving their flood damage problems.

Due to the President's declaration, residents in the disaster area are eligible for financial aid to help in clean-up operations.

Federal funds are also available for repair of such public property as sewer and water systems, roads, streets and bridges damaged by flood waters. Bob Nissen, Wayne County road superintendent, estimated road and bridge damage caused by heavy June rains between $30,000 and $50,000. He said most of this loss was from bridge approaches being washed out, washouts on the road and gravel being washed off the roads.

Nissen said that those early June rains also damaged bridge and road repair work completed after flooding in late February and early March. Dirt used to repair road washouts earlier in the spring was washed out in some places by the heavy rainfall in June, he explained, because the fill dirt did not get a chance to settle.

Report Printed Inside

The Wayne County treasurer's semi-annual report show the funds taken in and spent during the first six months of 1971 appears as a legal publication in this issue of The Wayne Herald.

The report shows that a total of $1,887,189.80 was paid out by the treasurer from the first of the year to June 30th.

Spotlight on Farmers

Cattle, hog and dairy operators in the Wayne area will be spotlighted in The Wayne Herald's coming "Farmer-Feeder Section."

The special publication will be distributed in the July 26th issue of the newspaper. Tabloid size, the section will have stories and advertisements of special interest to farm families in this part of the state.

Planned for the special publication is a story on how Iowa Beef Processors handles cattle wastes at its Dakota City plant.

Housewives in the area wishing to share their favorite recipes with others can have them printed in the special section by sending them to the newspaper by July 19.

This year's publication will be the second annual one put out by the newspaper staff in an effort to focus attention on the area's biggest industry—agriculture.

Jorgensen Gets AEC Traineeship

Bruce Jorgensen, former Wayne resident and graduate of Wayne High School, has been chosen to receive an Atomic Energy Commission traineeship for graduate study in nuclear engineering at Columbia University in New York City.

Jorgensen will start his studies under the government-sponsored program in January. The grant, which provides all tuition, books and fees, carries an additional annual stipend of $2,400 for the first year, $2,600 for the second year, and $2,800 for the final year. In addition, the trainee receives a $500 annual allotment for each dependent.

Jorgensen, a 1965 graduate of Wayne High, attended Doane College in Cresta. He is presently serving in the Army at Ft. Carson, Colo.

The grant is identical to the one which was awarded upon his graduation from Doane. He was unable to accept that grant because of military service.

Jorgensen plans to obtain a master's degree in nuclear engineering before deciding whether to continue toward his doctorate in nuclear engineering.

300 Pounds of Glass Is Gathered in Contest

Over 300 pounds of glass has been collected by groups and individuals trying to win the $25 prize in The Wayne Herald's glass drive.

The drive is entering its fourth week. Deadline for bringing glass to the newspaper for weighing is Monday, Aug. 2. Everybody in the Wayne area is eligible to take part in the contest, being sponsored by the newspaper as a public service.

Four-H, FFA, FFA and service groups are invited to collect glass for the contest in order to try to win the cash prize to help with some group activity. Individuals can also compete for the prize.

One small girl brought in over 100 pounds of glass last week. A Wayne group topped that amount by a few pounds later that same day.

Glass brought in for weighing should be clean and have all paper and metal removed. After weighing, the glass should be taken to the large pile along the railroad tracks in the southeast part of Wayne.

Glass collected during The Herald's campaign and during the monthly glass drive sponsored by the local Environmental Action Committee will be shipped by railroad car to a plant to be melted down and used again.

Glass of any color or shape can be collected in the contest. See MILL LEVY, page 6

Dixon County Dumping Grounds

This unsightly mess—an embarrassment to Dixon County residents—exists a mile east and about half a mile south of Concord.
People from a fairly large area use the makeshift dump to get rid of everything from worn out washbats to uneaten food, resulting in an extremely unsanitary and unhealthy condition. Concord people say that it's not just people from that immediate area who throw their trash there—people from near Wayne, Wakefield and Allen have been seen using it.

Making the situation even more unhealthy is the small stream which flows through the trash and into the Logan Creek which runs past Concord.
It would seem that county officials would attempt to halt dumping in the area. One step in that direction would be posting the area. No signs prohibiting dumping now exist.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786

Budget Time Again

Members of the school board for the Wayne-Carroll system have probably started hearing from some taxpayers about the budget they approved last week. The budget, as most budgets are nowadays, is greater than that for the current fiscal year. Just over three mills greater.
However, before you get too angry with the board members, consider this. The school will be operating on less money during next year than during the present year when the effects of inflation are taken into consideration. That is, taxpayers in the district will be taxed less to operate the school for the coming year than they are for the present one when inflation is considered.
That's the information the superintendent of the school gave to the board when it was discussing the budget.

Without a doubt, taxes are high. And those handling the spending of money raised through taxation should be as frugal as possible.
However, considering the rising costs of everything from janitorial supplies to teachers' salaries, it is doubtful if the local school can operate year after year with the same amount of money. Not if the quality of education—which, by the way, is quite high in the local system—is to remain the same.
School board members are in a similar position as city councilmen in small cities and towns. They are doing a difficult job for little or no pay. Their job is usually most difficult when budget time rolls around each year. — N.L.H.

Approach with Caution

Defensive drivers are constantly aware that intersections, whether located in a city or in the country, present traffic hazards that may claim lives.
City intersections are often marked with traffic control devices that aid motorists to pass through in safety. Even so, a wise driver knows that any intersection should require his utmost attention.
Rural intersections are something else. Some are located over the crest of hills. Many have no stop signs and others have dead ends.
Some corners are made dangerous by natural obstacles. Abundant rain and sunshine have provided great growing weather, consequently much of the corn is shoulder height; trees are heavily foliaged and weeds are getting taller. More than one intersection in northeast Nebraska is already, or soon will be, a blind corner due to lush vegetation.
No one is complaining that plants are green and growing, but motorists should remind themselves once again to approach every intersection, particularly in the rural areas, with extreme caution.

A quick trip into the country makes it obvious that one may be within 100 feet of an intersection and unable to determine if there is oncoming cross traffic. A driver's actions in that 100 feet may make the difference between life and death for several people.
Driving in the city requires good motoring habits, but driving in the country makes it necessary to be a real professional behind the wheel if one is to make a trip without incident.
Four recent serious accidents within the immediate area occurred in the country. Rural accidents are usually more serious than those in town because of higher speeds involved.
Next time you are out driving on a rural road, remember that slow moving vehicles, blind hills and intersections, weeds and loose gravel may easily contribute to an accident. Approach with caution. — M.W.

A Suggestion

Unlike last year's, the display included numerous aerial fireworks which pleased the crowd of people lining the baseball park. The Jaycees lived up to their promise that they would put on a fireworks display that would make all the people who donated money happy.
The Jaycees will probably put on another display come next Fourth of July. If so, we would suggest that they plan a few fund-raising events to come up with the money for the fireworks. That would do away with having to ask the businessmen, merchants and the city of Wayne to help pay for the display. They get asked too often now to make donations for some cause or to put on some event. — N.L.H.

Dear Editor:
On behalf of the group of Danish teachers, I want to express our sincere thanks to the town of Wayne.

As you all know, we live on the other side of the earth and it has been quite a decision to come over here for the whole summer. Our ancestors made it. For them America was the country of hope and freedom. Here they hoped to build up a new way of life, and in many cases they succeeded very well.

In Europe many of us still think of the U.S.A. as a young country with great prospects. To many of us, myself included, America is the land of adventure. We have seen what our ancestors have created and we have come back to learn from those whom we did not give a chance in the old country.

I express my sincere thanks to the citizens of Wayne, who have shown such a great friendliness and hospitality to us. We have felt it when we were walking in the streets of Wayne, when we drank our coffee downtown—this is really a fairytale-land—where our wishes were fulfilled, just as it happened in Hans Christian Andersen's fairy-tales.

Thank you for the welcome and thanks to Wayne State College for having taught us the future which will some time be present day for us.

My special thanks will go to Dr. Morris L. Anderson, who has planned and helped us out in an excellent way. His work has been a great success.

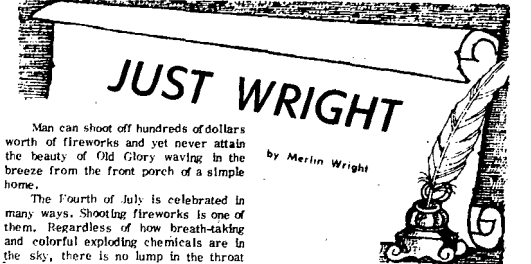

Once more, thanks to everyone for your hospitality. I really hope that I shall be back next year because Wayne is such a wonderful place.

Quotable Notables:

Many can argue; not many converse. — Alcott.

All authority belongs to the people. — Jefferson.

Man can shoot off hundreds of dollars worth of fireworks and yet never attain the beauty of Old Glory waving in the breeze from the front porch of a simple home.

The Fourth of July is celebrated in many ways. Shooting fireworks is one of them. Regardless of how breath-taking and colorful exploding chemicals are in the sky, there is no lump in the throat during the aftermath as there is when the stars and stripes go passing by. Right? Fireworks are traditional and ought always to remain a part of celebrating this nation's independence, but the thought comes to mind that our flag is always something mighty special.

Did you notice how many people were flying their flags on the Fourth? It appears that more and more people are purchasing flags and displaying them as proud Americans.

J. W. was riding in a small boat on the Fourth and flying in the stern were the colors. Sunlight framed the red, white and blue in a hue of brilliance against the restless waters of the lake.

The right to fly the flag and the right to celebrate this country's independence are priceless rights.

Here is hoping you had a memorable time on the Fourth exercising those rights, along with other rights you have as a citizen of the United States.

For instance, some individuals obviously feel they have a right not to smile as they walk down the street. No one would dispute that right, or the right to keep one's mouth tightly closed so anything like a cheerful "Hello" or "Good morning" might leak out from behind sealed lips. Wearing a stone-like face and falling to return simple greetings are not ways to win friends and influence people. Of course, you have a right not to do that too.

Yes, when it comes to rights, you have a right to take and not give; a right to from; a right to deny information; a right to complain; a right to charge more for cheaper products; a right to demand more from your husband or wife than he or she can afford; a right to believe you are better than another and a right to plunge through life grabbing rather than giving.

For some reason or another, people who exercise such rights suddenly discover they are the losers, but the discovery is often made too late.

Thank God everyone in America has a right to his rights. After choosing one's More JUST WRIGHT, page 3 having a grand green lunch.

Perhaps you've noticed that several farmers have had their crops dusted with herbicides applied from a low-flying aerial applicator.

Doing that type of low flying takes another breed of cat, as the kids would say.

It is always interesting to watch an expert pilot regardless of his occupation. The crop duster or spray pilot has to have a keen sense of timing and depth perception in order to bring his loaded airplane in over the high wires and up over them again at the other end of the field.

That pilot has a lot to think about since he must maintain full control of his aircraft at all times as he passes just a few feet above the ground and inches above the crop.

Regardless of the type of work, it takes a professional to make a job look easy, right? One of these days if you happen to come across one of the spray planes or dusters at work, it will likely be worth the time to stop a few minutes and watch.

Someone brought in a copy of The Nebraska Democrat published in Wayne Aug. 18, 1932. Many of you will likely remember the paper and the early thirties. Things weren't all roses at that time either.

Folks around the county were having auto wrecks, anthrax was cited as the cause of death for some livestock, and the first case of rabies in the history of Wayne County killed a cow.

Many things were going on 39 years ago that continue today. For instance, an item on the front page of that paper notes plans were to hold the annual Wayne County Old Settlers Reunion at Winside starting that day. A parade, baseball games, water fights, band concerts and a free pavement dance were headline attractions.

Also on the entertainment scene in those days were several movie attractions at the Gay Theatre. "Vanishing Frontier" was featured with Johnny Mack Brown, Evelyn Knapp, Raymond Hatton and Zasu Pitts. The show was advertised as an educational out-door drama of thundering hoofs, whirling lassos, colorful action in old California.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy in "County Hospital" was coming as was "Jewel Robbery" starring William Powell and Kay Francis.

Prices and wages were a little different back in 1932. Would you care to go back to those days?

World War II came along in the early 1940's, then Korea followed by Viet Nam. J. W. wonders what the headlines will be in another 39 years. Do you suppose someone in 2010 will pick up an old copy of The Wayne Herald and recall the 1970's as the good old days? Only time will tell.

Saul's No-Hitter Gets Midgets Past Winside

by Norvin Hansen

Roger Saul hurled his way to a no-hitter as Wayne went about dominating Winside Friday, 6-0. Winside managed to get men past first base only twice in the contest—in the second and in the sixth, both when Wayne's infield committed errors.

Saul stayed out of trouble the rest of the game, fanning 13 batters on his way to the victory. Meanwhile, host Wayne came up with five hits off Winside's Deck: a double by Charlie Roland and knock in two runs in the sixth and singles by John Rethwisch, Doug Sturm, Terry Pfeiffer and Bob Nelson.

Pfeiffer scored Wayne's first run when he came home on Roland's sacrifice after singling to open the second frame. Five more runs scored in the sixth when Deck loaded the bases with free passes and then gave up a double to Roland.

Deck set three Wayne batters down with strikes and walked seven. Saul walked one.

Thursday the local Midgets suffered a 2-1 setback by the visiting Wakefield team.

Randy Nelson was credited with that loss, giving up three hits to the scrappy Wakefield team. Sam Uecht collected two of those hits, a single and a double.

Bob Twite scored for Wakefield in the top of the fifth to move Wakefield into a 1-1 tie when he walked and came home on Uecht's double. Another Wakefield runner scored moments later to break that short-lived tie.

Wayne had taken a 1-0 lead in the third when lead-off hitter Gayland Woodward walked, stole second and then stole home.

Only Roland and Doug Sturm managed hits off Wakefield's Twite, both of them singles. Joining Uecht in getting hits for the visitors was Doug Soderberg with a single.

Nelson struck out nine and walked five in the loss. His counterpart fanned only two and walked four.

Wayne's Legion chalked up a 4-0 win over visiting North Bend

Wednesday as Mike Ginn threw a no-hitter.

Ginn struck out 14 batters and walked only three in one of his best performances this year. North Bend got only one man in scoring position—in the third when a batter walked out the second with two out. A strikeout finished that inning.

Don Mau collected half of Wayne's hits by ripping back-to-back singles off North Bend's Scott. Also singling were Jim Kenny and John Meyer.

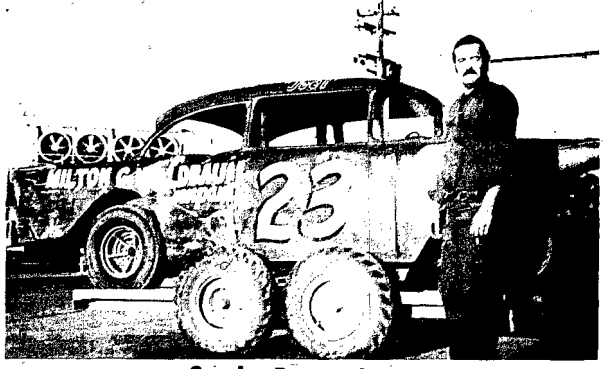

The locals broke the game open in the fifth by scoring three runs—all with the help of a walk and three infield errors. Another run scored in the sixth.

Wayne is scheduled to host Winsner's Midgets and Legion today (Monday) as Ralph Bishop League action nears the end of this season. Other action today: Winside Midgets and Ponca Legion at Laurel, and Pender Midgets and Legion at Wakefield.

5 Locals Picked for All-Star Tilt

Gordie Jorgensen, Mark Johnson, Dave Tlegen, Randy Jacobson and George Fynon have been named to represent Wayne's town team in the coming Tri-County League all-star evening, July 18.

The game is scheduled for Wausa at eight o'clock Sunday evening, July 18.

Wayne's all-stars will join the players tabbed for the honor from Laurel, Coleridge, Randolph and Wausa in the contest pitting teams from the west half against those from the east half.

Making up the western all-stars will be picks from Pierce, Orchard, Verdigris and Bloomfield.

Each team can pit five players on their all-star club.

Allen, 'Burg Divide Tilts

For the second time this season Allen and Martinsburg split—the Pee Wee's winning and the Midgets losing.

The Pee Wees moved into a tie for first place in league play by edging the 'Burg, 7-6, scoring the winning run in the bottom of the fifth on Doug Kluever's triple and an error.

The Chase brothers, Brad and Brent, led Allen's hitting attack with five of the six hits garnered. Brad was the winning pitcher.

The Midgets lost their second game of the season by the score of 2-1. It was a closely played game with the hosts scoring in the first inning and the 'Burg coming back in the second inning to plate two runs.

Pete Snyder led Allen's hitters with a double and single

Allen Sets Hearing for New Budget

The hearing is scheduled for eight o'clock at the village office.

Total estimated budget being considered for approval is $63,880.55, according to the village clerk, Bill Snyder.

That total budget is considerably lower than the $160,848 budgeted last year, he said, because last year's budget included work on the sanitary sewer system.

Amount which will have to be raised by local taxation, according to Snyder, is $14,998.50—about the same as that raised locally this year.

The mill levy for the coming year will be slightly less than the present one—31.5. The village's levy is currently about 33 mills.

Snyder said the reason for the slight drop in the levy is the higher evaluation of the village. Valuation is estimated by the village board at $478,000—up slightly from the approximately $450,000 from which the present mill levy was derived.

Planning Meet Set for Youth To Aid Retarded

A potluck picnic and meeting to organize a Youth Association for Retarded Children (YARC) is set for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Wayne Armory.

Mrs. Kenneth Sitzman, vice-president of the local Association for Retarded Children (ARC), said more than a dozen youth groups are already organizing throughout the state.

"The work is strictly volunteer," Mrs. Sitzman explained in pointing out how the local ARC, the sponsoring group, hopes to interest area youths in working with projects helpful to retarded children.

Kim Glosman of Lincoln, state YARC president, will be present Tuesday evening to explain the purpose of YARC and the procedures of organizing such a group.

Local Youths Carve Wins At Laurel

Tom Meier threw a no hitter to guide Wayne's 12 and under corps to a sound 13-3 win over Laurel Thursday.

The win was sandwiched between two other victories by local squads on the Laurel diamond—11-5 by the 10 and under group and 13-0 by the 14 and under squad.

Wayne youngsters rapped out 12 hits to help Meier with his pitching chores. Meier got two of those hits off Laurel's Kardinell—a double and a triple.

Also getting more than one hit in the action were Stender with a triple and double and Freighton with a double and single.

Carroll struck out 12 Laurel batters on his way to a win for the youngest local team at Laurel. He gave up only two hits, a double to Schaefer and a single to Gade.

In the oldest bracket, Earle Overin and Scott Ehlers shared mound duties on the way to victory. Local hitters collected eight hits in the action—six more than Laurel managed.

The week before, Wayne posted a 12-0 win over Wakefield's 10 and under group. Pitching his way to that win was Overin with eight strike outs. He permitted only one hit, a single to Schwarzen midway in the contest.

Wayne got 10 hits off Schwarzen—three of them by Gordon Cook (a triple and two singles) and two of them by Overin (two doubles) and Ehlers (two singles).

Wednesday in Omaha's Grand Burleigh School a fascinating exhibit of modern education—American style—with its modular class scheduling and its vast array of equipment. They were especially interested in Burke's plan to give students about 40 per cent of school time for individual projects completely free of teacher direction.

Burke Principal Robert Brown said the students can do whatever they want in the free time, including goof off. "But we are amazed at the quality of work that most of the students do in their free time," he added.

The Danes thought this seemed a fine idea.

They also toured the Omaha school system's instruction methods—three of them by Gordon Cook (a triple and two singles) and two of them by Overin (two doubles) and Ehlers (two singles).

Danish educators Ernst Praestekjaer and his wife Mary experiment with the dial access system at Omaha Burke High School. The dial access was among American teaching aids that the Danes, who have been visiting Wayne State the past two weeks, found most interesting.

The Danes who visited Wayne were a serious lot the past two weeks, but they had some lighter moments—like the banquet Thursday evening at the Wayne Country Club.

County Short on Money For Free High Tuition

For the third time in two years Wayne County does not have sufficient funds to pay the claims of 10 schools for non-resident high school tuition fees.

Tuition funds are ordinarily paid to the schools twice a year: March 1st and July 1st. Payments totaling $121,825 were due the 10 schools July 1; however, County Treasurer Leon Meyer said Friday there is only approximately $90,000 on hand.

He attributed the lack of funds primarily to slow payment of taxes.

The payments due are for non-resident tuition funds for the second semester of the 1970-71 school term.

Those 10 area schools filed claims several weeks ago with the county superintendent of schools for their share of non-resident high school tuition for the second semester of the last school year. Schools and their claims: Alton, $500; Laurel, $8,550; Wayne, $51,012; Norfolk, $8,447; Pierce, $3,150; Pender, $6,600; Randolph, $12,075; Wakefield, $11,140; Winslow, $16,350; Wheeler, $4,000.

County Superintendent Fred Rickers had said earlier that if sufficient money was not available to pay the full amount of tuition claims, payment would be made on a prorated basis. If some of the funds were to be retained until a court case that might possibly affect the money is disposed of.

He was referring to a lawsuit filed last November regarding the 1970-71 county tax levy for non-resident high school tuition. The suit was filed against the county board of equalization.

The suit asked that $97,641 of the 1970-71 non-resident high school tuition tax levies be held in a special fund without distribution. No such amount was actually retained by the county since there was no court ruling requiring it.

Rickers said he decided to wait to make payment later this month after the court has made a decision on the handling of the lawsuit and when there would likely be more money in the county treasury.

County Attorney Don Reed expects final disposition of the appeal at the judge's next trial to Wayne. Judge George Dietrick of Norfolk will be in Wayne Wednesday.

sters dressed up in costumes representing great Americans. There will be three divisions: Old Settlers, theme entries, vehicles and pets with $5, $3, and $2 prizes going to the first three best entries in each division.

Cub Scout Pack 179 Den 1 and the Forget-Me-Not Girl Scout Troop 168 of Winslow will lead the parade, according to Mrs. Don Wacker, chairman.

Then at 11 a.m., there will be a grand parade with entries using the central theme, "America, the Great." Cash prizes are being offered in each of four divisions. Earl Duering and Pheasant Miller are parade chairmen.

Several musical groups are scheduled to perform Thursday including the Wayne-Carroll High School band at 1 p.m. at the bandstand in the park. Also performing during the afternoon will be the Junior Norfolk Drum and Bagle Corp, the Hillbillies Dillies, and the Hungry Fives from Wayne.

An audience participation show featuring games and prizes is slated at 3 p.m. in the park. At 4 p.m. Winslow's own Harlan Brugger will be playing his own special brand of toe-tapping music on the electric organ.

Another great musical group, the Emerson-Hubbard stage band directed by Richard Dale of Wayne, will present a concert at 6 p.m.

Fremmen from Hoskins, Winslow, Wakefield, Wayne, Pierce and Carroll will once again entertain the crowd, as they have annually, with a duel of water hoses at 6:30 p.m. George Voss is waterfight chairman.

Getting the evening off to a start will be a concert by the high school band from Battle Creek at 7:30 p.m., followed by the Senior Norfolk Drum and Bagle Corp at eight o'clock.

A free street dance is slated at 8:30 p.m. featuring Bill Legate and his country western band.

Big show of the evening starring Leona Williams, a recording artist from Nashville, Tenn., will start at the bandstand at 9 p.m. She will present three half-hour shows.

Also appearing on the Thursday night lineup of entertainment is a dance combo fast making a name for itself, "The Smoke Ring." They will play at 9 p.m. in the dance in the village auditorium. Making arrangements for the dance is Alfred Miller.

Other committee chairmen include Clifton Burris, finance; Rosemary Mintz, publicity; Dr. N. L. Blanton and Dr. Don Vrbka, concessions; Dallas Schellberg, bands and entertainment; Frank Wolfe, seating; Dale Langenberg, master of ceremonies at the park; Al Bahe, public address system; F. C. Witt, softball, and Julius Eckert, free street dance chairman.

School Budget -

will take care of such things as interest on notes and the school district's share of social security.

Capital outlay, $33,600, includes money for furniture and equipment and building improvement.

A total of $2,200 of the $2,300 budgeted for materials school next year will go to pay the salaries of those teaching driver's training.

Only $668,000 will be raised through local taxation in order to finance the school system next year. That money will be raised by an estimated levy of 69.80 mills—up just over three mills from the present 66.76 levy.

To the owner of a $20,000 home, the levy means that he will pay $488.60 to support the school next year. Under the current levy he would pay $467.32 in school taxes. The increase in the mill levy is an estimate arrived at by school officials. It may be slightly different when the current valuation of the district is finally arrived at.

Brother Gives Kidney

Dick Coppel of Dakota City, a former student at Wayne State College, underwent a kidney transplant last week at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

His brother, Bob, donated his kidney in the transplant operation. Bob, 21, has attended three years of college at Wayne State. Doctors at the Mayo Clinic said Dick's younger brother was a nearly perfect tissue match.

Since the removal of both kidneys in mid-May, young Coppel underwent dialysis every three days as an outpatient at Rochester.

The remaining major fund-raising event has been rescheduled for July 25 at 1:30 p.m. at the Newell Construction Co. warehouse in Dakota City. The event will be the American Legion auction.

The Legionnaires will have a varied collection of items for sale, including major appliances, furniture, dishes and other house-

Options Offer Duty in Europe

Young men may now choose between 14 crack Army units—seven of them in Europe—before enlistment and be guaranteed assignment to that unit following initial training. Or, they may simply request Europe and be assigned to a unit there by the Army.

The European assignments fall under the U. S. Army Europe (USARPUR) option. The applicant upon completion of training is guaranteed a minimum of 16 months in Europe with a USAREUR unit.

These units are the 3d Armored Division, the 4th Armored Division, the 3d Infantry Division (Mechanized), the 8th Infantry Division (Mechanized), the 2d Armored Cavalry Regiment, the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment or the 3d Brigade of the 1st Infantry Division (Mechanized). Under the Unit of Choice Option, he may select one of seven units in the United States and be guaranteed assignment with that unit for a minimum of six months following completion of initial training.

These units are the 1st Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kan.; the 4th Infantry Division at Ft. Carson, Colo.; the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N. C.; the 1st Cavalry Division or 2d Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Texas; the 19th Infantry Brigade at Ft. Benning, Ga.; or the 3d Armored Cavalry Regiment at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

SS Q & A

Q. I have been getting monthly social security disability benefits for the past 2 years. A friend of mine has offered me a part-time job. I am not sure I could do this type of work, but I would like to try it. Would I lose my disability benefits if I take it?

A. No. Under the social security law, disability beneficiaries who work despite severe handicaps can continue to be paid their monthly benefits while they are testing their ability to work. However, if you should start to work, be sure to notify your social security office.

Strategic Command Offers Enlistments For Limited Number

The United States Army has just announced a new enlistment option which offers young men the opportunity to get in on the ground floor of a 20th century communications operation.

According to Sgt. Cleveland, Army recruiter at Norfolk, the Army is accepting a limited number of highly-qualified applicants for enlistment in the Strategic Communications Command. For those eligible, training is available in microwave systems, satellite communications, radar, computers and several other highly technical fields. An added feature of the enlistment option allows an enlistee to choose service in Europe if the Army makes the decision on which of some nine schools he will attend. Or, he can select his own school from the list and leave his assignment to the Army's discretion. In either respect, he is guaranteed attendance at a highly technical school. The schools include those for strategic microwave systems repairman, satellite communications ground station equipment repairman, fixed ciphers repairman or automatic data processing systems repairman. Also offered are courses for data central office repairman, communications center specialists and data communications switching center specialists.

For further information on how to become a member of the Army's Strategic Communications Command, contact Sgt. Cleveland at his office located at 125 S. 4th in Norfolk.

Strategic Command Offers Enlistments For Limited Number

The United States Army has just announced a new enlistment option which offers young men the opportunity to get in on the ground floor of a 20th century communications operation.

According to Sgt. Cleveland, Army recruiter at Norfolk, the Army is accepting a limited number of highly-qualified applicants for enlistment in the Strategic Communications Command. For those eligible, training is available in microwave systems, satellite communications, radar, computers and several other highly technical fields. An added feature of the enlistment option allows an enlistee to choose service in Europe if the Army makes the decision on which of some nine schools he will attend. Or, he can select his own school from the list and leave his assignment to the Army's discretion. In either respect, he is guaranteed attendance at a highly technical school. The schools include those for strategic microwave systems repairman, satellite communications ground station equipment repairman, fixed ciphers repairman or automatic data processing systems repairman. Also offered are courses for data central office repairman, communications center specialists and data communications switching center specialists.

For further information on how to become a member of the Army's Strategic Communications Command, contact Sgt. Cleveland at his office located at 125 S. 4th in Norfolk.

Options Offer Duty in Europe

Young men may now choose between 14 crack Army units—seven of them in Europe—before enlistment and be guaranteed assignment to that unit following initial training. Or, they may simply request Europe and be assigned to a unit there by the Army.

The European assignments fall under the U. S. Army Europe (USARPUR) option. The applicant upon completion of training is guaranteed a minimum of 16 months in Europe with a USAREUR unit.

These units are the 3d Armored Division, the 4th Armored Division, the 3d Infantry Division (Mechanized), the 8th Infantry Division (Mechanized), the 2d Armored Cavalry Regiment, the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment or the 3d Brigade of the 1st Infantry Division (Mechanized). Under the Unit of Choice Option, he may select one of seven units in the United States and be guaranteed assignment with that unit for a minimum of six months following completion of initial training.

These units are the 1st Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kan.; the 4th Infantry Division at Ft. Carson, Colo.; the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N. C.; the 1st Cavalry Division or 2d Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Texas; the 19th Infantry Brigade at Ft. Benning, Ga.; or the 3d Armored Cavalry Regiment at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

For further information on these enlistment options, contact Sgt. Cleveland, Army recruiter at Norfolk.

Army Announces 2 New Options For Combat Arms

Two new and expanded enlistment options have been announced by the United States Army, according to Sgt. Cleveland, Army recruiter at Norfolk.

Both are outgrowths of the popular Unit of Choice option and the European Duty option.

The new U. S. Army range of choices under the Unit of Choice and U. S. Army Viet Nam options offer qualified young men several choices in return for a three year enlistment in one of the three combat arms—armor, artillery or Infantry.

"The enlistee," said Sergeant Cleveland, "has a wider range of choices under these particular options than almost any other the Army offers. Not only can a young man select the basic training center at which he wants to take his training but he can choose from one of the combat arms."

Sergeant Cleveland explained that the enlistee may pick his own training center location from among Ft. Dix, N. J., Ft. Knox, Ky., Ft. Campbell, Ky., Ft. Jackson, S. C., Ft. Polk, La., Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., Ft. Lewis, Washington, or Ft. Ord, Calif. He will also complete his advanced individual training there, providing the station conducts the advanced phase in the field for which he has enlisted.

"An enlistee might complete his advanced individual training at the post of his choice," the sergeant continued, "but those choosing armor or artillery would have to undergo their advanced training at a post such as Ft. Knox for armor or Ft. Sill, Okla., for artillery."

Once he had successfully completed his training, the young soldier would then serve either a 13-month tour of duty with the U. S. Fifth Army in Korea or a 12-month tour in Viet Nam, according to the option for which he enlisted.

After his tour of duty was completed there, he would be offered his choice of assignment in the United States with one of seven of the Army's top combat units. As an alternative, he could also select assignment in Europe for the remainder of his enlistment, again with one of the combat units stationed there. Or, he could decide to serve in Alaska, Hawaii or Panama.

Either of these enlistment options is open to men with previous military service provided they have less than six years active duty and would be eligible for appointment to grade E5 or below. They must also have been qualified in armor, artillery or Infantry military occupational specialties.

For more information on these new enlistment options, contact Sgt. Cleveland at his office located at 125 S. 4th in Norfolk.

GI Bill Deadline

Is Drawing Near

Many eligible Nebraska veterans now have less than three years remaining to use their educational benefits under the current GI Bill.

C. W. Nixon, director, said that most veterans with service between Jan. 31, 1955, and June 1, 1966, are eligible for schooling but their cut-off date is May 31, 1974.

Nixon emphasized that the veterans' educational program must be completed by the cut-off date. "Some veterans in this category believe they have until 1974 to begin school," he said, "but the law states otherwise."

Veterans discharged later than June 1, 1966, will have a progressively longer time to complete schooling. The general rule for establishing a cut-off date is eight years from the date of discharge. However, since educational benefits did not become available under the new law until June 1, 1966, the eight-year period begins on that date for those discharged before then, he said.

To be eligible for educational training, veterans must have a discharge or release from active service under other than dis-

In New Publication

Mrs. Martha Frederick of rural Randolph was recently featured in an article about home decorating in Farm Wife News. The article made mention of Mrs. Frederick's work at fixing up her 50-year old farmhouse. In the same article, Mrs. Frederick and other readers asked for new bathroom decorating ideas.

Along with contributions from 86 other farm women, the item appears in the current issue of Farm Wife News, a new color publication launched last fall. Its founders aim to fill the gap left by many farm publications which have eliminated or cut back their women's sections during the last year.
