Area Harvest Results 'Better Than Expected'

Soybean yields around Dixon and Concord are a lot better than most farmers thought they would be a couple weeks ago, according to Dick Hanson, operator of the elevators in those two towns.

"The best we had this week is 30 bushels (to the acre) just north of Dixon," Hanson said Tuesday afternoon as soybean picking began moving into full swing in that area at midweek.

There are a few farmers who reported better than 30 bushels to the acre, said Hanson, but most of the yields were running between 25 and 30 bushels.

Hanson's school reports from the Northeast Station and a grain elevator operator in Wayne when he said that farmers are "pretty pleased" with what they are getting off their soybean, corn and sorghum plots.

According to Russel Moomaw, agronomist at the Northeast Station, soybean yields in that area are averaging about 20 to 25 bushels to the acre.

"That's not really too bad for the amount of rainfall we've had," he said. "One more rain about the second week in August—and we would have had a real bumper crop."

Had that moisture come, farmers would probably be harvesting an average of 30 to 35 bushels of soybeans to the acre, according to Moomaw, and many farmers would easily have harvested over 35 bushels to the acre.

Corn yields for farmers around the experimental facility near Concord are "better than we thought it was going to be," said Moomaw.

Most of the dryland corn in that part of the state was ready for picking by midweek, he explained, but farmers have been held up by soybean harvesting. Sorghum, like the other two

Chest Drive Is Underway

A Community Chest drive for $10,000 was kicked off Tuesday morning during a 7 a.m. breakfast at Les' Steak House.

About 40 campaign personnel were challenged by guest speaker Webb McNally to get out and make contacts for the fund drive knowing that the goal of helping support seven agencies is worthwhile.

McNally asked the workers to become acquainted with the needs of the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Wayne Recreation, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Florence Crittenton Home and the USO, and ask contributors to share generously in those programs.

McNally is the owner of Western Typewriter Company in Norfolk and works with united fund drive volunteers there.

Sid Hillier, drive chairman, distributed packets of materials to block chairmen, Wayne State College personnel and other workers.

Darrel Fiebert, president of the Chest Board noted Tuesday, "We're going to try and wrap the campaign up in a week this year." He said the drive had lasted for several weeks in previous years.

Any local resident who would like to contribute to the drive is asked to send or give contributions to Dr. Sid Hillier at 106 West Second Street.

Workers in the drive will attempt to raise the $10,000 to support the following agencies: Girl Scouts — $1,600; Boy Scouts — $1,800; Wayne Recreation — $3,000; Red Cross — $1,200; Salvation Army — $1,300; Florence Crittenton Home in Sioux City — $100; United Service Organization (USO) — $200; and campaign expenses of about $500.

Rud Froehlich served as master of ceremonies. Representatives from Kaopa Delta Gamma and Chi Omega sororities were greeters at the breakfast.

Date Set to Organize County Advisory Group

A group of volunteers interested in improving Wayne County may soon be organized as the result of action taken during a meeting Monday night of the Wayne Planning Commission.

John Nuss, commission secretary, said the planners set Nov. 8 as a tentative date to invite all and all persons interested in the county to a meeting for the purpose of organizing a Wayne County Improvement Association.

The meeting has not yet been determined.

Although such an association would not have any official capacity, Nuss said planners thought such a group could—working with the Wayne County Commissioners—help establish a Wayne County Native of Wakefield.

School Trying to 'Bring Generations Together'

"Bringing the generations together" is the theme of a new Wayne area school district policy, according to Deryl Lawrence, high school principal.

Starting immediately the school system is extending invitation to all eligible older residents of the school district to obtain their free "Senior Booster" pass to Wayne High School activities.

To be eligible as a "Senior Booster" a person must be either at least 65 years of age or be at least 60 years of age and the recipient of a retirement or disability pension or social security.

The Lifetime "Senior Boosters" pass will be honored at all future high school home events, including football, basketball, wrestling, drama productions, music programs and other activities.

Any person who is eligible for the "Senior Booster" pass should call the high school at 375-3150.

"The new policy is a small token of thanks," said Lawrence, "for the countless years of support our senior citizens have given the public schools. Many senior citizens of today were the headline stars of not too long ago; we'd simply like to have them come and visit some of our current activities and enjoy a few evenings watching our youth of today display their many fine talents."

The Wayne-Carroll school board okayed the "Senior-Booster" idea during Monday night's board meeting. The board has been considering some action such as this for several months in an attempt to make the older people feel more a part of the school and its events.

Plans Underway for Peterson Scholarship

Plans are being made for a scholarship in remembrance of the late Dr. Walter Peterson of Wayne, Dean of the School of Education at Wayne State College until his death in August.

The scholarship will probably be for $100 a year beginning next fall.

According to Dr. Freeman Decker, secretary of the Wayne State Foundation, contributions in Dr. Peterson's name have been made by faculty members, a few individual students and several campus organizations.

Donor lists, which have been compiled, will be published in the next issue of the SCHOLARSHIP, page 4.

WCS Campus Look Is Changing

Mysterious things appeared on the Wayne State campus Tuesday and Wednesday. There were holes in the ground in front of one dormitory, unexplained piles of lumber at another, people clustered in groups.

Obviously a conspiracy. The conspiracy, however, would produce displays to make this week's homecoming the usual colorful spectacle.

In front of Northard Hall an ancient, weather-beaten farm wagon appeared Tuesday. It would

'Dollar Days' Values Inside

Stores throughout Wayne are offering area shoppers numerous values and bargains the rest of this week.

Reason for the price reductions and specials: "Dollar Days," an annual fall promotion sponsored by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce in an effort to give buyers the most for their money.

Several stores are offering special buys at only $1 while others are cutting back prices as their part in the promotion. Advertisements inside this issue of The Wayne Herald will give you an idea of the values available.

To go along with the promotion, 7,500 copies of The Herald are being printed for distribution throughout the area.

Sally Gensler, Francis Anderson Wed

The Wayne (Gensler) Herald, Thursday, October 7, 1971

In 7:30 p.m. rite Saturday at Trinity Lutheran Church, Martinsburg, Sally Gensler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gensler, Allen, became the bride of Francis E. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Anderson, Martinsburg.

The Rev. James Brammiller officiated at the double ring ceremony. Harlan Mattes sang "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mary Rahn. Candles were lighted by Joyce Koeppe, Allen, and Randy Gensler. Guests were registered by Connie Sachau and ushered to their places by Lloyd Nodder, Lawton, Ia., and Oscar Barber, Sioux City, Ia.

Attending the couple were Linda Anderson of Martinsburg, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, and Mrs. Steve Morris of Albo, Gene Hartling, Jackson, was best man and Richard Gensler, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Joel Anderson was flowergirl and ringbearer was Mike Gensler, the bride's brother.

The bride's gown, a toe-length fashion of regal gown, was styled with a cameo neckline, long flutter sleeves and an aisle-wide, chapel-length train which was caught to the high rise waist. Her veil was of double illusion and she carried a cascade of white and gold mums.

The attendant's dresses, identical mid-Victorian styles, were of intricate gold floral design dotted with, fashioned with empire waistslines, and long, puffed sleeves. They carried large yellow mums surmounted by spool white and rust colored mums.

Mrs. Gensler chose a blue suit for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Anderson wore a dress of royal blue with black beiges sores. Both had corsages of red roses.

Sharon Nobbe, Mrs. Bonnie Johnson and Mrs. Gene Bartling arranged gifts for the reception held at the parish hall following the ceremony. Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Duane Diederich.

Mrs. Ervin Koeppe and Mrs. Charles Harder cut and served the cake and Mrs. Francis Coe served punch. Waitresses were LeAnn Nobbe and Eunice, Carol and Ruth Diederich. Lutheran Ladies Aid members worked in the kitchen.

For her going away ensemble the bride chose a two-piece dress by lavender.

The bride, a graduate of Allen High School and Stewart School of Hairstyling in Sioux City, is employed as a beautician in Panama. The bridegroom served two years in the U.S. Armed Forces and is employed at Copper's Mills in South Sioux.

Following a southern wedding trip the couple will make their home in Martinsburg.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION Notes
by Joycelyn Smith
Enjoy An Apple
Trees will be brimming with apples this month, and fresh apples, canned applesauce and apple juice will be in plentiful supply during October, says the extension.
Nearly everyone enjoys apples whether they munch on them or have them in a juicy apple pie, but for the most enjoyment, choose a variety that suits your taste and also suits the uses you have in mind for it.
Many good apple varieties are good for all purposes. Tart, firm apples are generally best liked for cooking, sweeter apples for eating raw.
Nebraska apples now in season are the ited Delicious, Golden Delicious, Grimes Golden and Jonathan. All but the Delicious are recommended for pies and sauce. The Jonathan is recommended for baking whole.
In some areas, windfalls and culls are sold at bargain rates. To make sure you have a real bargain, stop and consider how you will use the fruit. Bruises and skin breaks mean waste. Apples damaged in this way are poor risks for home canning. Use them when making jelly, apple butter or cider.
Skin russeting ordinarily does not affect apple quality.
When planning to buy apples in large quantity, it is best to buy a few at first to see whether they have the flavor and texture desired.
Apples are noted for their good keeping qualities. However, it does take care to hold them at their best in home storage.
For short storage, a few days to two weeks, keep firm apples in the refrigerator. If plenty of cool or cold-storage space is available where the temperature remains the same and the air is rather moist, apples can be stored for several months. But remember, tart firm apples become less crisp and snappy if stored through the winter.
Circuit Pastors Meet In Winside Tuesday

The week of Oct. 3-9 is National 4-H Week. This year's theme is "4-H Bridges the Gap."

crops, is better than expected, said Moomaw: "It will probably outyield corn this year."

Fred Gildersleeve, manager of Wayne Grain and Feed in Wayne, said Tuesday afternoon that the soybean harvest in this area should be at its peak sometime this week.

Soybeans are averaging about 25 bushels to the acres for the farmers bringing them to his elevator, he said. "Most people are pleased with the results of the harvest what with all the dry weather," he noted.

Sorghum and corn yields in the Wayne area should be better than many farmers had expected, according to Gildersleeve.

Mrs. Gene Fletcher.

Performing for the meeting were the Stage Band and the Girls' Glee from the high school and the mixed chorus from the middle school.

Ron Dalton, high school music instructor, asked the group for funds to buy two new coats for the Stage Band, $40, and for funds to charter a bus to take students to the Pershing Marching Band Contest on Oct. 30. Both requests were approved.

Mrs. Fritz Ellis reminded parents to have uniforms cleaned and ready so students will be able to take in the contest in Lincoln.

A lunch was served after Monday night's meeting. Chairman for that part of the program was Mrs. Mike Mallette.

The next meeting of the group is Nov. 1 at 2:30 p.m. at the high school. The organization is open to anybody interested in promoting music in the Wayne-Carroll school system.

Dan Sherry, city clerk-administrator, said the survey should be completed by the end of this month. That will give the county officials time to redistrict before the Jan. 1st deadline, he explained.

A survey of the Wayne State College population which will be voting in Wayne has already been completed, according to Mayor Kent Hall. That survey was done with the help of college officials during registration, he said.

Northeast Tech to Be Dedicated Sunday

An invitation to the dedication and open house at the new Northeast Nebraska Technical College Campus on Sunday has been extended to all northeast Nebraskans by the college board of governors.

The ceremonies will take place on the new campus, located on E. Benjamin Ave., about 14 1/2 miles northeast of First and Norfolk Avenue.

Governor J. J. Exon has accepted an invitation to speak at the special ceremony, which will begin at 2 in the campus parking lot. The brief ceremony will include dedication of the largest campus building, a $1 million administration-classroom complex, as the F. Don Macley Memorial, in honor of the college's first president who died of a heart attack last June.

The program will conclude with a ribbon cutting ceremony at the main entrance to the Macley Memorial Building, opening the facilities to the public.

Dennis Poeschl, Stanton realtor and insurance man and president of the board, said this will be the best opportunity to tour the new buildings for most residents of the 14 counties supporting the college and those from the surrounding counties interested in the college.

Kenneth Echtenkamp, Northeast Tech business manager and currently acting president, pointed out that the instructors will be in their various departments during the open house to meet parents of students and to explain courses and the equipment used to all interested persons.

Poeschl will give welcoming remarks at the ceremony. The dedication of the Macley Memorial will be by Mrs. Cleon R. Rosellus, of Norfolk, vice president of the board. J. Alan Crawford of Wayne, publisher of the Wayne Herald and past president of the board, will introduce Governor Exon and give closing remarks.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. J. J. Fessenden, pastor of the Presbyterian Churches at Laurel and Belden and represented Cedar and Dixon Counties on the first board of

Local, Area HS Bands Get Excellent' at W-P

Bands from Wayne, Wakefield and Laurel received excellent ratings during the first annual Wisner-Pilger Marching Band Festival Saturday.

The afternoon festival attracted about 800 bandmen, some from as far away as Hampton and Albion.

Wayne High's band received its excellent rating in competition with Albion and Wahoo Neuman, the only other bands large enough to go into Class B competition during the festival.

Bryn Albion and Wahoo Neuman earned superior ratings, the highest rating awarded by the judges.

Laurel and Wakefield earned their excellent tags in Class C competition with six other bands. Also earning excellent ratings were Neligh, Stanton and Newman Grove.

The hosting band, Wisner-Pilger, and Plainview earned superior from the judges in Class C competition. Madison, also a Class C band, earned a good rating.

Governors until he moved to Omaha in January, 1970.

Participating in the ribbon cutting ceremony will be members of the board; the architects, Shaver and Company of Salina, Kansas; Christianien Construction Company of Pender, Nebraska, general contractor for the completed first phase of the campus construction and others involved in the building program.

Visitors will also be able to see the beginning construction work on three projects underway.

Northeast Tech, established by an area vote in 1967, offers courses in such areas as air conditioning and major appliance repair, auto mechanics, building construction, food service and data processing.

The college has been on the tax rolls since July 1, 1967, and has operated on less than the two-mill levy limit since then.

It has no bonded indebtedness. The college is totally paid for as are the equipment and furnishings.

The only band in Class D, Hampton, earned a superior.

The festival, the first of its kind in northeast Nebraska, was patterned after a similar contest in Plattsmouth and the annual marching contest held annually in Lincoln.

Judges for the affair included the former director of the Wisner High School band, Jack Herwig of Plattsmouth. Also judging were Glen Koca, director of the Papillion High School band, and Kenneth Molzer, director of the junior high band at Papillion.

Directing the whole contest was Tim Johnson of Wisner-Pilger.

$25 Cash Award Is First Prize For Pork Queen

A $25 cash award awaits the northeastern Nebraska farm girl crowned queen at the Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers annual banquet slated Nov. 7.

Contest plans were completed last week for the queen coronation and banquet which will be held in the Birch Room on the Wayne State College campus.

The runner-up candidate for queen will receive a $15 prize, and each entrant in the competition is to be presented with a memento of the occasion.

The Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers are looking for candidates to compete for the Pork Queen title. Any girl between the ages of 16 and 19 who resides on a farm on which swine are raised, or whose parents are engaged in swine production, is eligible.

Mrs. Lelroy Wolfe, Hartington, Porkette secretary, said girls entering the contest do not need a sponsor. Deadline for entering the competition is Nov. 1. Entry forms are available at the Northeast Station, Concord, or from Mrs. Robert Hansen, Wakefield.

Drive Launched At Wakefield To Help Family

A fund has been started in Wakefield by the community's ministerial association in an effort to help a family facing increasing expenses.

The Wakefield Ministerial Association has started a "Coleman Family" fund to help Mrs. Joyce Coleman and her three sons, Pat, Eldon and Bruce. Pat has been seriously ill and hospitalized in Omaha for many weeks.

A spokesman for the ministerial association said Pat's medical costs are being cared for by the Wakefield fund, however his mother and brothers have financial needs for board and room while staying with him in Omaha.

The Wakefield youth is currently undergoing a series of cancer treatments, which are to be continued for at least another month.

Contributions to the fund may be given or sent to the Wakefield National Bank. Gifts should be mailed "Coleman Family."

Holiday on Tap

Anybody in the northeast Nebraska with county business to take care of should make sure they don't plan on doing it next Monday.

All county offices will be closed that day in observance of Columbus Day.

The Wayne Post Office will also be closed Monday. Mail will be distributed to the box section and dispatch of mail will be on a regular holiday schedule, according to Wilbur Giese, officer in charge. There will be no window service, city carrier service or rural route service.

Business firms in Wayne and city offices will remain open.

Trojans Eke Out 9-6 Win Over Allen Eagles

By Norvin Hansen
The Wakefield Trojans picked up their second victory in a row Tuesday night, a 9-6 squeaker over arch rival Allen.

One of the closest games in the area this season, the contest leaves both teams with just a short time to prepare for Friday night's action - Allen at home against a respectable Newcastle club and Wakefield at home against winless Tekamah-Herman, both conference battles.

Tuesday night's loss to Wakefield came after Allen led by 6-0 all of the first half, scoring on a one-year quarterback sneak by Scott Von Minden with about eight minutes to play in the initial quarter.

Wakefield knotted the score with about the same amount of time left in the third period on a weird chain of events: Allen's John Warner, a senior who handles almost all of the kicking duties for the Eagles, was attempting to punt from his own endzone when the snap from center went astray. He hurriedly recovered it, but booted it almost straight up when he tried to get it away. An alert Jerry Nicholson took the ball for a Trojan TD.

Wakefield scored the points necessary for the win with about two minutes left in the third period, driving to near Allen's 12 yard line where the hosts booted a field goal on fourth down.

Allen had missed scoring on the extra point try after the first period touchdown when the snap from center was bad. Duane Mitchell picked up the ball and threw it to Craig Bohm, who managed to scratch his way to the one yard marker before being hauled down by Wakefield's defense.

The Eagles nearly pulled the game out of the fire with about two minutes left to play when they drove from their own 50 to Wakefield's two before time ran out. Warner, finding his receivers covered on a pass play at the nine, ran the ball to the two but the visitors were unable to get another play executed.

Warner, a big back for the Eagles, was leading rusher for his squad, grinding out 42 yards in 13 carries.

Trojan Kevin Peters leads the way for Doug Soderberg against Allen's defense on this short gain.

Wakefield had a trio of players turning in fine ground gaining efforts: senior Kevin Peters with 62 yards in 15 carries, junior Kirk Gardner with 55 yards in nine carries and junior Bob Twitte with 58 yards in seven carries.

The victory gives the Trojans a season record of 2-2-1 to take against East Husker Conference foe Tekamah-Herman Friday night. In East Trustee-play the Trojans stand 0-2.

Allen gets a chance to stay in contention for the East Lewis and Clark Conference crown in Friday's game against Newcastle. The Eagles are 2-0 in loop play this year, 2-2 for the year.

Wakefield's defense brings down Allen's John Warner on this offensive maneuver. Among those in on the action: Wakefield's Jerry Nicholson (88) and Allen's Scott McAfee (51).

Rec Recreation Volleyball Now Underway

Recreation volleyball for adults—both men and women—got underway Wednesday night at the National Guard Armory in Wayne. The program, being directed by Hank Overlin again this year, is open to any men or couples, according to Overlin, city recreation director.

Cost of the program, which will last until the start of the city recreation basketball in the middle of November, is $2 for each couple or $2 for each man.

The program will include volleyball for couples each Wednesday from 7 to 8:15 and volleyball for men only from 8:30 to 10.

Overlin says he needs about 10 couples in order to offer that part of the program. Last year about 30 people took part in the weekly sporting activity.

Chadron State at WSC Saturday

By Dick Manley
Wayne State moves into conference battle Saturday afternoon the Wildcats' own Nebraska College Conference, that is, but the going is not likely to be any easier than the past three games when the Cats played in another conference.

Chadron State will be the 1:30 homecoming foe for Wayne, which still seeks a win after bowing three times to Rocky Mountain Conference clubs.

Chadron, handsy winner of its first two games with the University of South Dakota-Springfield and Dickinson State (N.D.), lost to Fort Lewis (Colo.), then last week came close to ending conference rival Kearney.

The Eagles carried a first-quarter 3-0 lead into the final period before Kearney salvaged its 21st straight victory over Chadron, 7-5. Freshman flash Tom Kepp got the TD from a yard out.

Coach Del Stollenberg analyzed Wayne's 17-7 loss to the University of Nebraska at Omaha here last Saturday with one word: "Inconsistency."

Key factors were four pass interceptions and a lost fumble—three of these disasters braking Wildcat drives. Lack of a dependable passing attack also limited the Cats' bag of tricks. Only one of eight passes was completed.

On the plus side, Wayne rushed to the highest point of the season at 212 yards, with senior halfback Mel Tarpley contributing 148. He logged six runs of 12 to 20 yards.

By comparison, Omaha's running ace, Charlie McWhorter, totaled 148, including 67 on one touchdown spectacular. Wayne's dependable defensive back Pat Holston, who has thwarted many a touchdown threat, found energy blocking dense and tripped in his effort to snare the charging McWhorter.

Neil Sullivan

That touchdown came on Omaha's first possession of the game and half after defense dominated the first half. The visitors managed only a first-quarter field goal on Fred Tichauer's 42-yard kick.

Tichauer also kicked points after the third-period Omaha TD and the fourth quarter score achieved by McWhorter. This capped a 69-yard Omaha drive, the only long attack sustained by either team.

Beef Winner Named

Mrs. Lyle Garvin of Wayne won the full beef given away during Saturday's Wayne State-University of Nebraska at Omaha football game.

The steer was given the Second Guessers by Wilse Mortuaries and Dahl Retirement Center, two local businesses. Other steers given to the club will be sold and the money will be put into a scholarship fund for college athletes.

A smallmouth bass must weigh at least three pounds to qualify for a Nebraska Master Angler Award.

'71 Punt, Pass, Kick Winners Named

Youngsters from Wayne, Winside and Wakefield will be traveling to Fremont this coming Saturday to take part in the second level of the Punt, Pass and Kick competition.

Winners in the six age groups were determined Sunday afternoon at Wayne State's football field in the annual local contest sponsored by Wortman Auto of Wayne, and the Wayne Lions Club.

Taking top honors in the contest were Klieh Turner of Wayne, eight years; Brent Hogner of Wayne, nine years; Billy Westfall of Winside, 10 years; Doug Starzl of Wakefield, 11 years;

Doug Carroll of Wayne, 12 years; and Brian Magnuson of Wayne, 13 years.

Winners Saturday at Fremont will advance to the district contest scheduled for Boys Town last in October. Finals will be held during the Super Bowl game in January, following street and division contests throughout the nation.

Coming in runners-up to the winners Sunday were, in order of age group, Loy Matthes, Wisner; Robert Waterhouse, Winside; Paul Roberts, Carroll; Brad Emery, Wayne; Gordon Kardell, Wayne, and Doug Straight, Wayne.

Taking third place honors in the action were, in order of age group, Alex Bartling, Wayne; Brad Roberts, Carroll; Don Straight, Wayne; Val Johnson, Pender; Rick Straight, Wayne, and John Gallop, Winside.

All 18 youths will receive trophies for their efforts. The trophies will be handed out during a special recognition dinner held for the youths and their parents later this month at Laurel.

A total of 99 youths took part in Sunday's affair. The contest was open to any football enthusiasts in the area.

Contestants were judged on their ability to punt, pass and kick a football for both distance and accuracy.

Points were awarded for the distance obtained in each area of competition but were subtracted for loss of accuracy.

As might be expected, the winner of the oldest age group, Brian Magnuson, tabulated the highest total—283 1/2 points. Winners in the other age groups held the following totals (in order of age): 143 1/2, 155 1/2, 183, 209 and 248.

Athlete of the Week

Randy

Lanser

By Norvin Hansen

For the first time since shortly after its start, the "Athlete of the Week" column spotlights the brother of an athlete already honored for his efforts.

Picked as the top performer from last Friday night's grid competition is a young sophomore at Allen High School, Randy Lanser, just two weeks ago Randy's older brother, Gary, a senior, was chosen for that honor. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lanser of Allen.

The choice of the younger Lanser for the "Athlete" recognition repeats what happened in the 1969-70 basketball season when George and Jim Schroeder were featured in the column within a span of six weeks. The brother-brother combo is apparently an unusual occurrence, considering that a total of 54 area youths have been selected for praise since the feature was started in December of 1969.

The choice of the younger Lanser for the "Athlete" recognition gains the spotlight for his showing in Allen's 19-14 win over Homer. In that contest he came up with eight solo tackles and 10 assists to bring his three-game total to 35.

"That's not too bad for a sophomore," says his coach, Charles Haag. "He likes to play defense and really hates it when the other team scores." Haag explains that puts him in the same category as his brother, chosen as an "Athlete" when he jarred Winside runners for 10 tackles by himself and was in on a half dozen other ones.

The younger Lanser is like his older brother in one other respect, too. He works hard on the practice field in an attempt to make it even more unlikely that the other team will score.

To go along with his 18 tackles against Homer, he nearly pulled in his first pass interception of the year and came up with one fumble recovery.

Like his coach said, that's not bad for a sophomore.

3 of 5 Area Grid Teams To Pick Up Wins Friday

By Norvin Hansen

Another perfect slate of predictions gives me a 10-for-10 record to date. Not bad considering the whimsical ways of high school football teams.

Here's the results of Friday night's games, with predicted outcomes in parentheses:

Wayne over Stanton by 14-0 (Wayne by 20-7); Allen over Homer by 19-14 (Allen by 26-7);

Plainview over Laurel by 2-0 (Plainview by 33-0); Wakefield over Ponca by 44-12 (Wakefield by 20-7); Winside over Waags by 15-6 (Winside by 13-0);

And to go along with that perfect showing is a small point difference in all except Wakefield's trouncing of Ponca. That victory is certainly welcome by the Trojan fans because it cuts short a streak of seven losses and one tie over two seasons. Wakefield's last win was a satisfying 14-6 decision over Allen midway through the 1970 year.

Looking for three of the five area teams to win, dropping decisions-to-though foes will be Wakefield and Laurel.

Predictions: Wayne storming past a lackluster Plainview team, 40-7; Winside picking up another win at the expense of winless Ponca, 20-6; Tekamah-Herman ending its losing season by downing Wakefield, 15-6; Stanton running over an offensively weak Laurel crew, 20-0; and Allen edging Newcastle in the game of the week, 14-12.

The Allen-Newcastle game will go a long way toward deciding which East Lewis & Clark Conference squad gets into the loop play-off. Both Allen and Newcastle will take 2-0 league marks into the game. Wathill, only other team with no league loss, is waiting in the wings to move up ahead of one of those two teams.

Allen gets the pick primarily because of its home field advantage.

Help Build A Man

What materials would you use if you were to build a man? How would you proportion the physical to the mental and spiritual? Building a man is a tough assignment, as any one having a son knows. A boy all too soon turns into a full grown man. How is that man built? Many things go into the making of a man such as the home, church and school. There have to be times of falling down and getting up, into the formula for producing manhood get some times as well as tough times, happiness and sadness, laughter and tears, abundance and wants, hurts and healing, work and play, failure and accomplishment, and doing all these things with others. Perhaps no other organization dedicated to leading boys toward manhood has done more for so many as has the Boy Scouts of America. Thousands of adult volunteers and equal thousands who have contributed their resources have made Scouting possible. You can help build a man this week by making a generous contribution to the 1971 Wayne (Community) Chest. Perhaps you are interested in seeing that girls in the area have the teaching that will point them toward womanhood; instruction as is found in the Girl Scouts. It is hoped by the chest campaigners to raise $1,800 for the Boy Scouts and another $1,600 for the Girl Scouts. Scouting is but one of the worthy recipients supported by the united fund drive. Let's be generous and share. — MMW.

State's Education Boards Trying to Fill 3 Vacancies

LENOLA — The boards which control Nebraska's institutions of higher education have three key vacancies to fill. The University of Nebraska's Board of Regents already was looking for chancellors for the Omaha campus and the Medical Center. Dr. Kirk Naylor was demoted at UNO and Dr. Cecil Whitson will reach retirement age this winter and will have to step down as head man at the Medical Center. The regents ultimately selected Dr. James H. Zumberge for the chancellorship at UN-Lincoln where Dr. Joseph Soshnik had resigned to enter private business.

Now, the Board of Trustees of the State Colleges had joined the hunt. Dr. Milton J. Hassel, president of Kearney State College the past decade, has announced his resignation, effective Jan. 31. Hassel says he doesn't know what his future plans will be, but he has several other jobs in mind. He said it's too early to speculate on whether he will remain in Nebraska, where the 55-year-old educator has 20 years of service with the state colleges.

Hassel was at Wayne State for a decade before going to Mankato (Minn.) State College for a short period before being appointed to the Kearney presidency in 1967. The trustees say they will have a committee including students, faculty members and administrators conduct a search for nominees for Hassel's post. If an interim president is needed, the trustees will appoint one.

York Superintendent Resigns There was another resignation in the state news recently. Mrs. Barbara Bashore submitted her resignation as superintendent of the Women's Reformatory at York after an incident in which her son was one of 33 youths arrested in a raid on a drinking party at her home on the institution's grounds.

Mrs. Bashore told State Corrections Director Victor Walker in a letter that it was in "the best interests of the program at the institution" for her to resign "in light of the recent situation." Neither Mrs. Bashore nor Walker would elaborate, except for Walker's comment that the resignation hadn't been requested. Mrs. Bashore wasn't at home during the time of the party, attended by York area youths who were guests of her 19-year-old son. The party was raided by York city police, sheriff's officers and state patrolmen.

Succeeding Mrs. Bashore, who had been head of the women's institution since the spring of 1970, was Mrs. Jackie Crawford, Walker said. Mrs. Crawford would be acting superintendent until further notice.

Mrs. Crawford, who has been on the reformatory staff for four years, had been assistant superintendent under Mrs. Bashore.

There is nothing as important as continuation of the program (at the institution), which will be ably done under the guidance of Mrs. Crawford," Mrs. Bashore said in the letter she delivered in person to Walker.

Students to Help Love The campus pep organizations at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln want to give love an assist. The object of their affection is Love Memorial Library.

The Tassels and the Corn Cobs have announced a program in which campus living units will donate money they normally would spend for UNI homecoming displays.

"We've heard too many people say that football is No. 1 and education is No. 2 at the University," the students said. "We hope this will give people a chance to do something to help education."

The student leaders said donations from the public would be accepted for the fund, which is being established by the University of Nebraska Foundation.

Salute to 4-H

This newspaper salutes the youths and adults involved in 4-H work in recognition of National 4-H Week, Oct. 3-9. According to Blaine J. Yarrington, president of the American Oil Company and president of the National 4-H Service Committee, "Four-H is an action-oriented, practical, learn-by-doing program that helps young people learn how to make a living, how to make sound judgments, and how to become good citizens of their community and their country. Any program which tries to achieve those goals deserves the support of all people who are interested in today's young people."

Theme of this year's National 4-H Week is "4-H Bridges the Gap." It is an appropriate slogan because of the work that 4-H'ers do in trying to improve the communication between generations and the work they do in trying to better their homes, their communities and their country.

Many clubs join together to work in such areas as conservation, safety and health. They start roadside clean-up drives, collect paper and bottles for recycling, and do numerous other things to make their area, county, state and nation a better place to live.

We salute these efforts. — N.H.

Can Anyone Help?

"Help!" is an expression most humans have used in a world of increasing violence, accidents, rioting, drug abuse, assault and other attacks, the word "help" is not outdated. A recommendation that came out of a drug abuse conference in Wayne last year was to set up a telephone number that youths or anyone can call for help-counseling help-when they feel they can't go to parents or family.

It means there is someone who will at least listen to the problem and perhaps help search for an answer.

A town the size of Wayne—over 3,000 people—which is host to another 2,500 college students could likely make good use of an organized system of providing help.

Surely there are enough professional people in Wayne who have had some training or experience in counseling that some system could be worked out so troubled individuals could call for assistance, even if they wished to remain unidentified.

A mother trying to rear teenaged children without a father in the home has problems. Where can she get help? A youth gets into trouble via drugs, sex, or stealing. Where is he going to find anyone who will listen with an open mind and help him?

Is there an organization in Wayne willing to investigate the feasibility of setting up a system whereby human beings may call others for help? — MMW.

Those Homecoming Days!

Homecoming festivities at Wayne State College were slated to get underway Wednesday night with coronation of the queen. Activities continue today (Thursday) and will include the lighting of displays tonight at 7 p.m.

Students are working feverishly on last-minute details to complete the outdoor displays sponsored by dormitories and campus organizations. Theme is "Scenes from the Old West."

The public is welcome on the campus to observe and attend any or all of the various events.

A Hosts of the alumni are expected to return to their alma mater for homecoming, particularly for the alumni reception and football game Saturday.

Included on the activity program tonight is the annual skit show staged by the frosh from each dormitory. Greek Olympics are slated Friday at 6:30 p.m. in the Willow Bowl.

The special days on campus are traditionally lighthearted and filled with the exuberance of youth. If you happen to be looking for the opportunity to close the generation gap, then we suggest you lend your support to the homecoming with your presence at some of the activities.

Drive through the campus and look over the animated displays. Most of them take hours and hours of work to construct. Join the Olympic crowd in the Willow Bowl, laugh at the skits, cheer at the contests and let some of the high-spirited enthusiasm rub off on you.

An important source of support needed by every college is the hometown. Your hurrahs, bursts, laughter and clapping will be greatly appreciated. You may discover you aren't nearly as old as you think you are.

Homecoming days are good medicine for everyone. Join the crowd. — MMW.

State Now in Race to Improve Education

First of Two Parts Last June the Nebraska State Board of Education made a virtually unnoticed decision that put the Cornhusker State squarely in the middle of a new race to improve learning and preserve the tradition of American public education.

By a unanimous vote, the board adopted a comprehensive statement of goals for education in Nebraska—goals that had been formulated during a series of meetings around the state involving a cross-section of the state's citizens.

At eight meeting sites, taxpayers, educators and students gathered three times during the year prior to the board's vote to assess Nebraska's needs and analyze their schools' role in meeting those needs.

Eventually, the participants—some 500 in all—agreed on the same 26 goals in eight listening centers: Ashworth, Scottsbluff, Ogallala, McCook, Kearney, Beatrice, Geneva and Norfolk.

Among those people taking part in the listening center at Norfolk were Wayne residents Francis Haun, Wilbur Glese, Dorothy Ley, Loren Park, and Mrs. Francis Haun.

It was that statement of goals that won the endorsement of the State Board of Education on June 15. Participants such as Miss Thanel didn't stop, however, after pondering the responsibilities of the student members of the educational system.

on objectives, the state board in 1970 called for development of goals for education through a process involving both citizens and educators.

What has happened since may be as unique a statewide process as could be found any place in America.

But it's not only the process that's important to Nebraskans. The product, the goals themselves, stand as a blueprint for future educational achievement.

Spelling out educational goals for students, educators, institutions and Nebraskans in general, it provides an educational target for reassessment and evaluation of the state's educational efforts.

More than half of the 26 goals in the statement are aimed at the primary recipients of any educational enterprise—the students themselves.

"Each student should be involved in the decisions which help to create his educational experiences," one of the goals reads. "Each student should share the responsibility for protection and improvement of his social and natural world," reads another. "It's our world," explains Norfolk Senior High School student Joan Thanel. "We have to solve its problems. If we want the world to go on, as best it can."

grams which benefit the entire community. In Nebraska, McCook Supr. Harold Bennett, who participated in the goal-development sessions in Ogallala, puts it this way: "The best way to convince the public (the schools are doing a good job) is to involve them in the planning."

When the session participants turned to the educational institutions, they agreed that "each institution should systematically account for planning and resources it expends and the results it achieves."

And accountability is a concern of Americans at all levels of the education picture.

"There is a real problem of accountability at the local level, at the state level, at the national level," believes Frank Landis, president of the State Board of Education. "That's why the board Landis heads called for development of goals through a process involving representatives of all those vitally interested in education."

Turning their attention from institutional responsibilities, the goal session participants looked at themselves and wrote such goals for Nebraskans as "each Nebraskan should contribute a proportional share of the resources necessary for education" and "each 'should' participate in educational planning and the development of educational goals."

What happens now—now that the goals have been developed, finalized and adopted—is up to student, teachers, educational institutions and laymen. Next week: "A Unique Process and What It Means to You."

People Ask Us--

QUESTION: We have several cemetery plots which our family no longer needs. How do we go about disposing of them?

ANSWER: Since we don't know the specific cemetery in which you own grave spaces, we will answer the question in general. There is always a market for the sale of property in well-managed cemeteries, but many factors determine whether or not they can be sold and to whom they may be sold.

In our cemeteries we deed or other legal conveyance transfers the ownership of spaces. There can usually be sold but they are subject to all regulations and by laws established by the owners of the cemetery. Before you try to sell your cemetery property, be sure to investigate the restrictions which apply. Contact the cemetery board or stop at Walter Mortuaries and we will assist you in arranging the sale of your grave sites.

The Agent's Angle

by Harold Ingalls

ed my babysitting project I found it fun to be in the care of the children, but also very hard to find things to keep them occupied. "But through the difficulties and other shortcomings I learned a great deal. And overall, the most important lesson I have learned from 4-H is that a lot of time and hard work can achieve something you can be proud of. A project that is not worked on and does not receive a wholehearted effort, does not in return give you the reward of achievement. And you can never practice too much, for who can measure the degree of perfection?"

"In 4-H I discovered that it was fun to help others improve themselves. I showed others how to do things which I had learned from demonstrating.

"In the past few years our club has had a car wash, bake sale and a refreshment stand to help the community see what 4-H stands for. By showing this enthusiasm and these accomplishments, we encouraged others to join.

"Four-H for me has been a very rewarding experience. When I first joined 4-H I was very shy and quiet. In time, through demonstrations, showing and modeling at fairs and discussing my projects with others, I began to get to know other people as well as myself. I learned to work, compare and discuss with other people.

"Four-H has taught me many new things I probably would have never known. Most of all, 4-H has taught me to accept responsibilities. Each year it has challenged me with bigger projects which has given me more responsibility to accept.

"Through accepting this increased responsibility, which 4-H has challenged me with, I have chosen to explore and take on greater challenges in the world around me."

4-H Enrollment Up
More than 41,000 Nebraska young people were enrolled in 4-H clubs this year. There were nearly 3,500 different clubs supervised by 8,500 volunteer adult leaders.

Wayne County 4-H enrollment has increased to 200 for the past 10 years. This year there are 200 girls and 120 boys enrolled. Most popular projects here and statewide are clothing, livestock, foods, home living, engineering and junior leader. A wide variety of projects, some of interest to both boys and girls nine through 19 years of age.

'Repair Terraces Before Winter'

Landowners and farm operators should make plans to have damaged terraces repaired this fall, according to William Yost, of the Soil Conservation Service office at Wakefield.

Yost says that many terraces in the area were damaged during the intense storms which hit the northeast Nebraska last spring.

Soil technicians will probably recommend that terraces be rebuilt on parallel lines where possible, eliminating many of the point rows, he explains.

For more information on this work is available at 238 offices, but application for the work should be made in advance to assure time for the approval of the application and for the field surveys, says Yost.

While not the most popular conservation practice, terraces still have a place on most farms in northeast Nebraska, he notes. Holding water and sediment on the field is a must to get top production and to prevent flooding and erosion hazards, he concludes.

Never Interfere with A Woman and Her Hobby

by Betty Kavanaugh
When the winter snow and cold weather arrive, Clarence Kruger of Belden will have to find a new shelter for his family car and pickup.

Why? Because his wife Blonette and her hobby have taken over their spacious two-car garage.

Last November when Mrs. Kruger invested in a kiln for baking ceramics, her hobby was confined to the storeroom of their garage. But when women from the surrounding area heard about her hobby and saw some of the ash trays, vases, candle holders and whatnots that she made for herself or gave to her friends, they wanted to do their own thing with ceramics, too.

With the help of her husband and the encouragement of her daughter, Mrs. Bob Berner of Randolph, Mrs. Kruger remodeled the entire garage, forcing the family car and pickup outside to make room for a working area for her students and her large assortment of greenware.

Greenware is the name given to the gray, roughly molded, very easily broken clay before it is baked in the kiln.

"You might say my hobby has turned into a business," she says, "but to me it is still a hobby. When you enjoy doing something as much as I like working with ceramics, it's not really a business."

Mrs. Kruger has had about 85 students, mostly women and children, attend her different classes during the week.

She explains that the students don't really attend classes. After the rough edges, seams and surfaces of the greenware have been sanded and smoothed, each person works a different length of time and glaze on the ceramic.

For a glazed or extremely shiny piece, the greenware is carefully painted and baked in the kiln at about 1900 degrees for four and a half hours. Then it is painted three times with a cream white paint that turns into a clear, shiny surface when it has been baked again in the kiln.

Because children are sometimes impatient for results, Mrs. Kruger says she prefers their first ceramic piece to have a stained or dull finish because it often requires less time to finish than the glazed ceramic.

When the greenware has been smoothed, it is baked for about four and a half hours at 1830 degrees to 1950 degrees and then painted only once.

Of course, she explains, some stained ceramics require many more coats of paint than the glaze, depending on each individual's desire for creative results.

Mrs. Kruger says sometimes the students are her teachers as she learns much from their different work, color combinations, ideas and the results.

"Several of my friends tried to discourage me from teaching children," she says, "but I love working with children. They have such a vivid imagination and often they are more aware of an exact color of a bird, cat or other animal or flower than an adult."

Mrs. Kruger says steins and mugs must be the fad for the college room decor this year. Several mothers made ceramic steins and mugs for their children who were going to college and several college students made their own.

For instance, Terry Dowling of Randolph, who has written ceramic articles this summer, including a stein, and he will learn to work with clay on a potter's wheel at Hastings College where he is enrolled as a sophomore. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dowling of Randolph, he is majoring in art and drama.

Since Mrs. Kruger has many new students and old students returning to make ceramics for Christmas gifts, she has temporarily halted her regular ceramic lessons in Sloan City.

"Creative people want to keep learning new things," she says, "and I try to learn new ways to show them. Ceramics is truly a project of individuality and creativity."

The Kruger's son Calvin and his wife have also helped with her hobby. Occasionally, they purchase otherwise hard-to-get greenware articles from the larger ceramic supply stores in the city, their home.

Because the two large overhead garage doors weren't de-

Mrs. Kruger gives tips to John Kavanaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kavanaugh, while Daryl, left, and Robbie Lage, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Lage, prepare their pieces for firing. All three youths are from Carroll.

Carroll School Building Is Board Subject

The Wayne Carroll school board Monday night discussed in some detail—but took no action on—the building needs for elementary school students at Carroll.

According to Superintendent Francis Huan, the school population at Carroll will remain about the same as it is now for some time in the future. He told the board members that they should start thinking now about what is needed in Carroll. He said that it is getting to the point where it is "useless to pour any more money into that old building (the present school at Carroll)."

Huan recommended that the board use money from the present building fund if it decides to construct another building at Carroll sometime within the next few years.

The building would cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $90,000, Huan told the board. He said he came up with that rough estimate by figuring the amount of square feet needed in the future at about $16 a square foot.

The building fund, actually a sinking fund of two mills levied each year, now contains about $22,000. The two mills raise approximately $24,000 a year, according to Huan, and unless the board decides to raise the sinking fund to three or four mills next year, it would take several years to build up enough money to pay for any Carroll construction without borrowing money or having a bond issue.

The board agreed to keep the subject in mind and to take it up again early next year.

Board members also agreed to give students a one-day holiday on Thursday, Nov. 4, so teachers can attend a special workshop at Wayne State College.

The workshop is a series of lectures by Dr. William Glasser, a psychologist who has done considerable work and writing in the area of education.

All but three of the teachers in the Wayne-Carroll school system had said they would attend the workshop prior to Monday night's board meeting.

Board members also gave approval to go ahead with a project to issue free "Senior Hooster" passes to people 65 years of age or older in the school district.

The passes would permit the people to attend any school function—sports events, special programs, plays and so on—at no charge.

The idea for the free passes stems from the board's attempts to make the older citizens in the district still feel that they are a part of the school and its activities.

The board also heard a report on the school's guidance program and some of the studies being made to determine how effective the school is in preparing students for the field of work. Giving that report was Ken Carlson, guidance counselor at the high school.

Approved the new guidelines set up by the state for schools in the AA accreditation class.

Met in closed session for about half an hour to discuss with the board's attorney, the legal consequences of the school's plan to table until next month's board meeting.

Yard & Garden Tips

Q. What should be done with peony leaves that are turning brown?
A. The dead debris should be cut off the plants after they have been through a severe frost.
Q. What might be wrong with a Chinese elm when its leaves are curling up? Could this be Dutch elm disease?
A. No, it could not be Dutch elm disease since this elm is very immune to the disease. It could be a number of causes; however, good trimming of dead branches should overcome the problem.
