Council Sets 'No Left Turn' Rule

By Merlin Wright

City councilmen, in an effort to untie two traffic knots in downtown Wayne, approved a resolution Tuesday night prohibiting left turns off Main Street at 2nd Street and 3rd Street intersections.

Police Chief Vern Fairchild requested the council to pass an ordinance prohibiting left turns at those intersections noting that left-turning vehicles often hold up

Lower Youth Charged; Hearing Set Monday

A 19-year-old Council Bluffs, Ia., youth was arrested early Saturday morning in Wayne and charged with destruction of property belonging to Lincoln 18 Fair on the Wayne State College campus.

Steven S. Gregory was held on that charge in Wayne County Jail for a few hours and released Saturday after posting a $250 bond.

Judge Laverna Hilton set a hearing for 2 p.m. Monday.

traffic. That congestion of traffic, he said, increases the probability of accidents, particularly rear-end collisions.

Ten of 22 accidents investigated by the Wayne police last month were rear-end collisions occurring in the vicinity of 2nd and Main Streets and 3rd and Main Streets, Fairchild said.

It was noted by the council that a resolution, rather than an ordinance, would be sufficient to prohibit left turns off Main Street at the two corners, and unanimously approved such a rule.

Traffic on 2nd and 3rd Streets may continue turning left onto

Main Street, but motorists may no longer turn left off Main at those corners.

Council also approved, at Fairchild's request, installation of signs reading "No Parking Between Signs" at the intersections of 11th and Walnut Streets, and at 11th and Nebraska Streets. The signs are to keep motorists from parking too close to the intersections.

Other additional signs getting the council's nod are to remind motorists that parking within 25 feet of an intersection is prohibited. Those signs are to be placed on East 10th Street at its intersections with Logan, Nebraska and Windom Streets.

In other action the councilmen will ask Wayne Cablevision Inc. to complete original financing of the school, and to provide free lines to all Wayne schools. The firm installed lines to Wayne Middle School and St. Mary's (Catholic) School, according to Dan Sherry.

Rooms for Hunters Wanted

Farmers in the Wayne area with some extra rooms in their places could turn those rooms into money makers this winter. And they could do so at little cost.

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce is asking for farmers in the area who would be willing to house hunters this fall and winter to contact the Chamber office as soon as possible.

Floyd Bracken, secretary for the local chamber, said Monday that farmers interested in housing hunters should get in touch with him so he can answer letters of inquiry he may get from out-of-state hunters.

He said it would be helpful if the farmers would list what kind of facilities they have, how many hunters they could house, and whether or not they could provide meals. The offer is not limited to just area farmers. Anybody else interested in housing hunters during the season should contact Bracken.

Rites Held for Youth Killed in Gun Mishap

Memorial services were held Tuesday morning at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Wayne, for Steven Robert McGrath, 13, who was killed Sunday afternoon in a gunshot accident.

The Wayne County sheriff's office investigated the fatal mishap which occurred around 2:45 p.m. on the Lynn Gamble farm one-and-a-half miles east and a half-mile north of Wayne.

Authorities said McGrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGrath, and a youthful companion were hunting squirrels. McGrath apparently died instantly when his companion's 20-gauge shotgun accidentally discharged striking him in the chest.

Rosary was recited at 8 p.m. Monday at the Wilcox Mortuary with the Rev. Paul Begley officiating.

The Rev. Begley and the Rev. Thomas Hlch officiated at the 10 a.m. rites Tuesday. Mass servers were Dustin McGrath

Schools Set Open House

A special invitation to tour the buildings and visit with the teachers is being extended to residents of the Wayne-Carroll school district during open house set Oct. 26.

The open house, an annual affair for the school, will be held from 7:30 to 9 a.m., drawing attention to American Education Week slated Oct. 24-30.

Area residents are invited to tour the middle school and the high school buildings, visit with the teachers of their children and inspect some of the things being taught by the schools.

Coffee and cookies will be served during the evening.

No open house is scheduled for the elementary school. Open house for that level will be held in the Wayne

Supt. Francis Haun said Tuesday that parents and all interested citizens are invited to the affair.

National Lunch Week Observed at School

The Wayne-Carroll school system, along with thousands of schools across the nation, is currently observing National School Lunch Week.

The observance, proclaimed by President Richard Nixon and Congress, is a time set aside for parents, citizens and civic groups to learn about the lunch program at their local school.

Flicker, principal at West Elementary School, sent letters to parents of students in grades one through four last week inviting them to eat a noon luncheon at the school this week at a cost of 35 cents.

Wayne Juniors Slated to Take Aptitude Test

Approximately 30 Wayne High School juniors are scheduled to take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude National Merit Scholarship Test Tuesday morning in the school lecture hall.

Ken Carlson, school guidance counselor, said the test is designed to examine the student's ability to do college work and enter the scholarship programs administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

In past years the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test has been administered separately from the National Merit Scholarship Test, Carlson said. He noted that the SAT was previously given during the fall to high school juniors at a cost of $125 per pupil, and the NMSAT was scheduled during the spring at the same cost.

The tests have been combined into one exam this year and it costs each student $2.50.

Taking the test is the first step for students planning to compete in the National Merit Scholarship Test.

WHS Planning Night Set

Several hundred students and parents from nine area high schools, including Wayne, will be guests of Wayne High School Monday night during the school's annual vocational planning night.

Ken Carlson, Wayne high school guidance counselor, said earlier this week that sessions are slated to get underway with a general assembly at 7:30 p.m. in the lecture hall.

Purpose of the program is to assist students in their post high school educational and vocational plans.

Eighteen vocational/technical sector representative plans to be present to visit with students and parents about specific vocational requirements necessary to enter a particular vocation.

"The program offers an excellent opportunity for parents and students to visit informally with career/representatives about courses, length of training, job opportunities and other details," Carlson said.

Three 30-minute sessions scheduled between 7:45 and 9:15 p.m. will provide students the opportunity of visiting with three

Chamber Slates Plans for Christmas

Christmas is still 10 weeks away, but the season is closing in fast for members of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce involved in the Christmas program.

Floyd Bracken, secretary of the local chamber, said Monday that businessmen who will be taking part in the cash give-aways during the holiday season to get their orders for tickets into the Chamber office as soon as possible. The tickets are those the merchants give to the shoppers for each $1 purchase. The numbers on the tickets are used in the drawings for the money to post during the several cash give-aways.

Any businessman who wants to order tickets this year should get his order in as soon as possible, said Bracken, because merchants will begin giving those tickets away to shoppers on Nov. 15.

Each of $1.60 will be given away to lucky shoppers this year. The money will be given away in seven $50 drawings, five $100 drawings and one $500 drawing. Eight bicycles will also be up for grabs in the promotion.

Concord-Dixon Phones Ringing on New Lines

About 250 families in the Concord-Dixon area are being affected by a change in telephone service slated for completion around mid-December.

The change, which will provide one-party lines for all subscribers, gets underway earlier this year with the burying of telephone cable, and the addition of an unattended office for the Dixon branch of the Northeast Nebraska Telephone office.

Previously, many subscribers shared a line with as many as three other families and single-party lines were offered only upon availability at a monthly rate of $4.50 plus $2.80 for each mile the customer lived from town. New service rates will be $5 per subscriber.

It will take about two weeks for each of the lines to be brought onto the new system, according to Howard Rasmussen, general manager of the Northeast Nebraska exchange in Jackson.

Uncle Sam's Tax Bite Felt in Wayne County

How much richer would Wayne County residents be today if they had not had to pay taxes during the past 10 years?

How big a chunk was extracted from their pay envelopes in that period for federal income and social security taxes? For those people who have often thought about their tax load and wondered how much of their income is shuttled off each year without their ever seeing it, The Tax Foundation has done some figuring and come up with some answers, based upon family averages.

Currently, it finds, the first 13 hours of worktime in any week go to pay federal, state and local tax bills. In other words, a local worker has to put in all day Monday and part of Tuesday to earn enough for his taxes.

A major part of it represents the amount Uncle Sam withholds from paychecks for his two biggest taxes—income and social security. This combination more than doubled in the last 10 years, due partly to higher earnings.

In Wayne County, as in most parts of the country, gross income rose sharply in that period. All told, the average family in the local area earned a grand total, prior to taxes, of about $90,210 in the past 10 years, the statistics show.

A considerable part of it, approximately $11,700, was skimmed off, before they ever got hold of it, to cover federal income and social security tax deductions.

Nationally, by way of comparison, incomes average $74,870 a year, $10,070 in taxes. The average part of the tax burden, however, "is the visible part. There are, in addition, the so-called 'hidden' taxes, such as the federal excise taxes on automobiles, gasoline, liquor, telephones, tobacco, transportation and life.

The Tax Foundation estimates that if these and the other levies passed on to consumers were included, it would be found that the government collects another 8 1/2 in tax taxes for an average $110.10 in taxes, yet income and social security taxes.

Lizzie Puls Marks 86th Year

A life-size Nebraska resident Mrs. Lizzie Puls, who now makes her home at Valley View Lodge in Norfolk, was honored Friday afternoon with a party for her 86th birthday. Members of Dorcas Society of Peace United Church of Christ, Hoskins, and the Hoskins Birthday Club, of which she is a member, and other friends and relatives numbering about 40 attended the fête which was held at the Norfolk home. Pastor Clifford Weldeman offered prayer and read scripture and vocal selections were presented by Mrs. Herman Marten and Mrs. Ray Walker, accompanied by Mrs. Andrew Andersen. Mrs. Weldeman spoke briefly, read a poem, and closed with prayer.

Mrs. Erwin Ulrich conducted contests with prizes going to Mrs. Emma Bryant, Mrs. Kathryn Rieck, Mrs. Hattie Brinner, Mrs. L. E. Foy, Mrs. Elphig Schellenberg and Mrs. Hans Amus. The serving table was centered with a decorated birthday cake which had been baked by Mrs. Edwin Brogie. A large yellow mum and a bouquet of tulips completed the appointments. Lizzie Brummels, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brummels, was born Oct. 7, 1885 in Omaha, and came with her parents to a Wayne County farm when she was two. She attended school in District 2, west of Ernest Puls Feb. 22, 1905. The couple made their home east of Hoskins where a son, Reuben, now lives. In 1934 Mr. and Mrs. Puls moved to Hoskins and the past five years Mrs. Puls had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Erwin Ulrich. She has resided at Valley View Lodge since June.

WSC Wildcats Clip Eagles 15-14 Saturday

By Dick Manley

With momentum going from last week's football victory, Wayne State Wildcats will tangle with the Lea College Lancers Saturday night, 7:30, at Leas Lea, Minn.

Wayne brought a homecoming crowd to Leas Lea Saturday afternoon with a homecoming 15-14 decision over Chadron State that kept spectators—not to mention players and coaches—on edge till the final whistle.

Now the Wildcats meet a Lea team that won all three of its games, but has not played since Sept. 25. The Lancers beat William Penn, 30-16; Mayville State, 25-10; and Westmar, 28-22.

Wayne scouts report Lea lacks size, but makes up for it in quickness. The Lancer offense relied on simplicity and a limited number of plays when the scouts saw the Lea-Westmar game. Several Lancers showed excellent talent.

A major question will be: Will Wayne's homecoming victory spirit offset Lea's long layoff?

In two previous games Wayne defeated Lea 30-12 and 17-0. The first game, two years ago, featured one of those football freak plays—when a Lancer on the sidelines tackled defensive back Doug Radtke, who had clear sailing for a touchdown on a kick return. Officials awarded Wayne the score.

Wayne and Chadron gave fans a dandy spectacle with just about everything a football game can offer—except a safety, and that almost occurred when Wildcat defenders nearly trapped Eagle quarterback Lee Baumann in his end zone. He managed to escape the end zone just before tacklers smothered him on the one-yard line. One player later Chadron had to punt into a stalemate.

Then came the decisive Wayne attack as the Cats took possession on the 28. Five plays took Wayne to the 14, and fourth down seven yards to go.

The turning point: Dan Ernst's field goal takes off on perfect flight from 31 yards out and Wayne takes 15-14 lead.

More important was the time—10 seconds left in the third quarter and the win behind Wayne.

Coach Del Stoltenberg called for a field goal, and Dan Ernst went in to try from the 31. With a record of 32 extra-point placekicks in his last 34 tries, he had the accuracy. The distance and the crosswind made the field goal a question. But seconds later there was no question. Ernst's kick flew perfectly, and Wayne had its first lead of the season.

Another quarter was necessary to decide the other question—whether Wayne would claim its first win of the season.

Wildcat defenses answered that with stashing assaults on Chadron runners and passers. Only one Chadron run got away, when Stan Labertow gained 41 yards for about half his 83-yard net. Otherwise, the Eagles went in the hole running and could not complete a single pass—for the complete second half, that is.

Two Eagle quarterbacks alternated on four incomplete passes from the Chadron 16 late in the game. Then a Wayne fumble lost gave the visitors life with 1:20 left to play. Tono-avo! However, defensive back Pat Holston intercepted a Chadron pass.

It was Holston who fired up

Wayne late in the second quarter after Chadron had taken a quick 14-0 lead in the first period. Holston returned a punt 54 yards, with nifty sidestepping of tacklers, to put Wayne on the scoreboard. The dry for point failed when a center pass eluded Ernst.

The Wildcats looked like a different team in the second half. Quarterback Marty Goring, who played all the way, directed two determined drives, the second scoring when Goring himself ran right end for two yards while Chadron defenders piled up the middle. An effort to even the score with a two-point run by Goring fell short. Soon after that,

Wayne went ahead on the field goal.

Wayne passing, which produced 99 yards on six completions, came alive for the first time to give the Cats needed variety.

Wayne now is 1-3 overall, 1-0 in conference play and tied with Kearney.

Recreation Football Teams in Action

Wayne's recreation league football teams started a new three-game series Tuesday night at the ball park, according to Coach Hank Overin. The Whites jumped the Whites 14-12 in the lightweight division and the Reds came out on top of the Whites by the same score in the heavyweight contest.

In the lightweight showdown the Whites jumped off to a 14-0 halftime lead on Kevin Murray's three-yard plunge on track in the opening period and Robert O'Donnell's 12-yard run off tackle in the second quarter. Dan Ahlvers ran for the extra point after the second touchdown.

But the Reds came back with six points in the third period when Steve Bodenstein scored from five yards out. The PAT attempt failed. The final score came with less than a minute left in the game when Hostenstedt reached pay dirt on a double reverse from the 20 yard line.

The game-tying extra point attempt was not good and the score remained at 14-12 as time ran out.

In the heavyweight game, the Whites were on the scoreboard first when Monte Lowe scrambled 85 yards for a touchdown on a broken pass play. The Reds chalked up two points just before the half via a safety when the football sailed out of the end zone on a White team punt attempt.

Toxic Poison Haunts Landings

Deaths of six wild turkeys on the area, which have been tentatively blamed on bait poisoned with 1080 and dumped on the nearby Valentine city dump for rat control. The 1080 normally kills within six to eight hours, so it is doubtful that any turkey which had fed on the poison tail could wander more than a mile from the dump.

Chances of a person being affected in any way from feeding a turkey which was fed on the bait are remote. However, the bait had fed on the poison tail to eliminate even this slim possibility, according to the commission.

Hunt Season to Close

Will get their last chance at the state's sharpshooting and grouse chickens on Sunday, Oct. 17, closing day of the 1971 season. Campers opened the hunt on Sept. 18, registering better-than-expected success. Hunting pressure has been light since then, however.

According to reports from the field, best grouse hunting areas this year have been in the central and eastern Sand Hills. A more complete picture of the grouse hunt will be available in early 1972, when a hunter success survey covering all Nebraska seasons will be tabulated.

Anyone wanting tickets to the 8 p.m. banquet can contact Granquist. Ticket price is $1.

Winside Athletes Schedule Auction

Winside High School's "W" Club will hold a slave auction at the annual park Saturday night. The annual event is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Orval Lage will be auctioneer at the money-raising project. In past years the "W" Club has raised enough money to build a new stadium plus buy a camera and projector, wrestling mats, glass bangboards and a football clock. Athletes volunteering to be auctioned off will do a day's work on the following two Saturdays (October 23 and 29).

Sponsors of the "W" Club are coaches Doug Barry (Football and track), Jim Welch (Basketball), and Doug Barclay (Wrestling).

Experts Looking for Big Duck Migrations

Fall migrations for the 1971 duck season are expected to be among the best in recent years, but the key to success early in the season lies in the water levels in the state's ponds and marshes, according to the Game and Parks Commission.

The early flights generally prefer marshes and ponds over the rivers and larger lakes. However, a dry summer has severely depleted water levels in the rain-water basins of southeastern Nebraska, and has left marshes and shallow lakes in parts of the Sand Hills low on water.

Without better water conditions, most of the early arrivals may pass through the state without a long stay, according to the Commission.

Sand Hills lakes and marshes are already attracting ducks, as are other areas. Wetland above the North Platte River above Lake McCaughy held some 12,000 widgeon, teal, gadwall, redheads and canvasbacks as much as two weeks before the opening, and ponds in the eastern part of the state were attracting teal and pintails.

In the Sandhills, Box Butte Reservoir was harboring gadwall, widgeon and teal.

Later migrants will settle on larger lakes and on the state's rivers. These will include mallards, probably the most popular species among Nebraska duck hunters.

Nebraska's 1971 duck season will be held in two parts. The first will run Oct. 9-31 throughout the state. Hunting will pause for three days, opening again on Nov. 4 and closing Dec. 20 in eastern Nebraska and Jan. 9 in the west. Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Gunners will again have point-system bag and possession limits this year. The daily limit is 100-plus points, which means that the hunter is through for the day when the last duck taken brings his point total to 100 or more.

Reserves Untested

The USBest reserve of the Wayne High school football team was untested this week when a Tuesday afternoon game at West Point CC was cancelled. According to Coach Ron Carnes, West Point CC was unable to field a team due to numerous injuries. The game will not be rescheduled.

As a result, Wayne will take a perfect 3-0 record into the final two games of the season. Those games include a road trip to Stanton Oct. 20 and a home showdown with Norfolk (Soph.) Oct. 27.

Area Archer Scores

Another Wayne man joins the growing list of nagged Nebraskaans who have headed deer during the bow hunting season this year.

Latest hit score is Jewell Schock, a teacher at Wayne State College.

He joins Jim Thor of rural Allen as area archer's good enough to bring down deer this season.

Fee for a Nebraska resident permit to hunt deer or antelope with firearm or bow is $10.

College Students Plan Road Rallye

Loop Road Rallye will occupy Wayne State students this week-end.

Sponsored by the Anti-Suitcase Committee, it will be a driving test covering a 95-mile course in the Wayne area, open to all WSC students and staff. Object of the rallye is to test the skill of each driver in following a circuitous route and making each checkpoint as close as possible to the prescribed time. One point will be docked from a driver's score for each 15 seconds over or under the time allowed. Each driver will have a navigator to keep track of adherence to rules and times.

Entrants are instructed to meet at noon Saturday at the Rice parking lot, and the first car will leave at 12:30.

Barb Ryan, co-chairman of the sponsoring committee, said the rallye has another purpose besides the fun of driving in skill competition. That purpose is suggested by the Anti-Suitcase Committee's name—to provide interesting activity for campus weekends.

Wives Should Help Husbands Get Ready For Hunting Season

Many wives can make their husband's first hunting expeditions more enjoyable if they would just follow a five-point plan, according to one of the nation's large drug manufacturers.

Following are the things she should do before her husband takes off on his first hunting expedition: Check that he go for a medical checkup, have him get an eye checkup, recommend some pre-conditioning exercises, provide him with an adequate medical kit and arrange for him to spend an afternoon before the hunt at a local rifle range.

The medical checkup should include a cardiogram, particularly if he is over 40. It will also provide him with guidelines for the preceding 30 days to develop strength and endurance for the hunt.

An adequate medical kit should include a first-aid manual, elastic bandages or tape, an antiseptic, a tube of petroleum jelly for burns, gauze roller bandage, a pain reliever and an insect repellent.

"Shall I Try Again?"

Mrs. Stacy Swinney took time out to get some pointers from her husband at the Isaac Walton blue rock shoot Sunday. In her first year of aiming at clay pigeons, she fires a 20 gauge shotgun — and breaks 10 at home. Mrs. Swinney said she wishes more women would attend the shoot each weekend at the airport.

Crews Prepare for 'Harvey'

Technical crews and committees for "Harvey," the WSC Theater Department's first production this season, are putting in long hours in preparation for their Oct. 24 opening date at Ramsey Theater.

Technical Supervisor and Set Designer, Ron Wacholtz explained that construction on the set was begun early because of homecoming week activities and anticipated problems with the dual set, which features, among other things, a second story.

Wacholtz said the dual sets, separated by a movable center wall, will enhance the continuity of the play "by allowing the stage crew to change scenes in about five seconds instead of a time lapse of 30 seconds to two minutes."

"The sets will be in extreme contrast, one with a lived-in look provided by dark, textured walls and old-style furniture, and the other — by predominantly — sterile appearance affected by lighter walls and modern fixings. Each set will have its own set of lights.

Girls too are helping with the set explains Wacholtz. "If they are at cards with the boys and direct plays they have to know how to build a set."

Adding to the complications of the productions will be convincing the audience that Harvey is on stage since this title character is invisible. Wacholtz says however, that Harvey will open and close doors by himself and perform various antics which will be visible though Harvey, himself, is not.

"Harvey" is scheduled for a 2 p.m. matinee Oct. 24 and for 8 p.m. nightly performances Oct. 24 through 26. Season tickets for the WSC productions are still available from cast members and theater personnel who may also be contacted about group rates.

Laurel High Youth Honored for Grade

On Qualifying Test

A letter of commendation honoring a Laurel High School student for his high performance on the 1971 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST) has been awarded.

Principal Penton Crookshank said the commended student is David Deyloff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Deyloff of Laurel.

He is among the 35,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper two per cent of anticipated 1972 high school graduates. He ranks just below the 15,000 semifinalists announced in September by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Edward C. Smith, president of MNMC has stated that though these 35,000 students advance no further in the Merit Scholarship competition, their standing gives promise of continued success in college and they should be encouraged to pursue their education.

The name of Deyloff and the other high scorers in the upper two per cent have been turned over to scholarship granting agencies and to colleges named by these students as first and second choices when they took the exams in February.

Hoskins Services Held Saturday for Esther Ulrich

A former nurse, Esther Lydia Ulrich, 66, Hoskins, died last Wednesday at the Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital in Norfolk.

She was born Aug. 23, 1905 at Winside, the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Peter Ulrich. She was baptized in the Lutheran reformed church on Jan. 21, 1906.

On May 14, 1922 she was confirmed in the Evangelical Church in Hoskins by the Rev. A. Stauss.

She then took a four year high school course and a two year college course at Wayne State Teachers College, graduating in 1927.

She received three years of nursing training at the Evangelical Deaconess Hospital, Freeport, Ill., graduating in 1931 and became a registered nurse in Illinois. From 1931 to 1934 she did private duty and from 1934 to 1944 she served as a Medical Floor Supervisor.

She left the school of anesthesiology in the American Hospital in Chicago from 1944 until 1946 when she graduated. She then served as a nurse anesthetist at the West Nebraska Hospital in Scottsbluff until April 1, 1954. She did private duty at Freeport, Ill., until May 1960 when she retired.

Services were held Saturday at the United Methodist Church in Hoskins with the Rev. Clifford Welden officiating. Mrs. George Aklie sang, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Scheuerle.

Palbearers were Duane Ulrich, Dale Ulrich, Dr. M. G. Ulrich, Robert Ulrich, Dr. Laurence Falk and Harold Falk.

Burial was in the Hillcrest Memorial Park Cemetery, Norfolk.

She was preceded in death by her parents, one sister, Mrs. George (Fella) Tietch and one brother, George. Survivors include three brothers, Alfred of Manitowish, Minn., Walter of New Ulm, Minn., and Lewis of Hoskins, two sisters, Mrs. H. C. Falk and Mrs. Hattie Prince; and several nieces and nephews.

ARC Group Plans To Hear Youths

Members of the Association for Retarded Children (ARC) plan to meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the West Elementary School for a business meeting and to hear reports from three Wayne High School girls and a Wayne State College student concerning a recent work project at the Beatrice State Home.

ARC county chairmen planning to attend the meeting include Mrs. Ken Sizeman, Wayne County; Mrs. Otto Miller, Dakota County; Mrs. Wilbur Haddock, Thurston County, and Mrs. Jim Buswell, Dixon County.

Program panelists Monday night will include Teresa Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Allen; Marilyn Wiesler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Wiesler; and Donna Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson, all students at Wayne High School, and Marla Zuroski of Wayne State College.

The youths will talk to the adult ARC group regarding their experiences in the two-day Beatrice workshop.

WSC Foundation Work Outlined At Club Dinner

Activities of the Wayne State College Foundation were outlined to Wayne Kwanis Club members Monday following a noon luncheon in the Woman's Club room.

Dr. Freeman Decker, director of publications at Wayne State College, told the club that the purpose of the Foundation is to assist the college, students and provide scholarships.

"We need the Foundation more now than at any other time in history," Decker noted, pointing out that state colleges are operating on tight budgets.

Foundation officers include Val Peterson, president; Henry Ley, vice-president; Adon Jeffrey, secretary-treasurer; and Ken Olds, resident agent. Decker said a board of 40 trustees meets annually usually on the campus at homecoming festivities to determine the Foundation's budget.

Trustees met Saturday and approved a $17,750 budget, which is, according to Decker, the highest in the history of the organization.

Funds are derived from contributions made by alumni and local businessmen.

Decker said the Foundation has set aside $5,200 for scholarships; $500 for faculty research; $500 for "Excellence in Teaching" awards to WSC faculty; and $500 for art pieces for the college.

Other Foundation activities include providing $1,500 for the production of a color film of Wayne State College, publishing a new alumni directory containing 9,000 listings, providing $2,000 to aid students participating in foreign institutes, and subsidizing the new radio station at Wayne State.

Five Kwanis received perfect attendance awards in after-dinner ceremonies. Irvin Brandt presented the following: Dan Sherry, four-year pin; Ray Schreiner and Carl Lentz, two-year pins; Bob Jordan and Keith Mosley, one-year pins.

Committees assigned by President Keith Mosley for the club's new year are as follows: Boys and girls—Leroy Simpson; 1952 Dan McCright, Wayne, Chev

Health Tips

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

An occasional person has an adverse reaction to a drug. Some drugs tend to produce more adverse reactions than others. Penicillin, the life-saving wonder drug that knocks out pneumonia and many other serious illnesses and infections, produces adverse reactions in possibly one person of every twenty.

But, penicillin knows scientifically as an antibiotic still saves thousands of lives every year. You should feel free to take the drugs prescribed by your physician, but let him know about any adverse reaction.

If you believe you are having a reaction that is not normal, notify your physician immediately. Stop taking the drug until he can advise you.

Modern drugs are a far cry from the herbs of the tribal medicine man, but they must be used with the same respect and a great deal more care. Used properly, under a physician's direction, drugs can truly perform modern miracles. Many diseases that were formerly disabling or fatal have become minor illnesses due to drugs.

Wakefield Teachers Elect New Officers

The initial fall meeting of the Wakefield Faculty Association was held Thursday evening. Committees were set up and new officers elected.

In office for the 1971-72 year are Dennis Krappen, president; Mary Anne Weepes, vice president and Ruth Leonard, secretary-treasurer.

—Survey to Determine Pupil Count in Area Slated This Month
What is the school enrollment in the United States this fall? Guy A. Lutz, Director of the Bureau of the Census Data Collection Center in St. Paul, announced today that a number of households in the Wayne area will help provide the answer when they are interviewed by Census Bureau representatives during the week of October 18-22. ...The questions on school enrollment and related subjects such as living arrangements of college students will be in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor. The October 1970 survey showed that 60.4 million persons from ages 3 to 34 years were going to school, from nursery school to college. This was 56 per cent of the U. S. population. Of the 29.3 million in this age group not enrolled in school, 27 per cent were high school graduates. The monthly survey of the labor force provides a continuing measure of economic conditions in the country. The August survey found that both employment and unemployment had risen, as the labor force increased sharply by 1.7 million, on a seasonally adjusted basis, edged up to 6.1 per cent of the labor force, from 5.8 per cent in July. Information supplied by individuals participating in this survey is kept strictly confidential and results are used only to compile statistical totals. Interviewees who will list households in this area are: Catherine Moeller of Wisner and Ruth Koehler of Norfolk.

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association: Bicycle accidents eripide and kill far too many Nebraska youngsters each year. The bicycle is the most popular and one of the fastest machines by which a person can use his own power to get from one place to another. Every bicycle rider must observe certain safety rules, just as automobile drivers must obey traffic laws. The rider should observe all traffic regulations applicable to automobile drivers.

Help and Be Helped

The last Saturday of every month is a day when you can help local youths as they help you.

Boy Scouts in Troop 175 need all the old newspapers they can get in an effort to raise funds for a trip next summer.

The drive to collect newspapers on the last Saturday of every month has previously included picking up papers in only Wayne and Winslow. Beginning Oct. 30, the drives will include Carroll and Laurel.

Expanding the drive will give the Scouts a better chance of collecting enough money to make a trip to the Indianapolis 500 and the east coast next summer.

Why not clean out the house sometime between now and the end of the month? Box or bundle all your old newspapers. Have them ready to put on the front porch Oct. 30.

Scouts have set a goal of $2,200 to finance their summer excursion. They are consequently looking for other money-making projects that will help them reach that goal.

Anybody who might like to hire the Scouts or who might have some ideas about how to make money can contact the Scoutmaster at either 375-2900 or 375-2596. — MMW.

Idea Sounds Great

Wayne Planning Commission members recently set Nov. 8 as a tentative date to invite any and all interested persons to meet for the purpose of organizing a Wayne County Improvement Association.

Purpose of such a group—though not having any official capacity—would be to work with the county commissioners in setting up a planning commission for the county.

Such a commission would work in an advisory capacity to the county board in much the same way the planners work with the city council.

Even as the planning group serves as a sounding board for the city council, a similar group on the county level could surely prove its worth many times over.

The time and place for the Nov. 8 meeting have not yet been determined.

We have supported such a planning commission for the county in previous editorials and do so again.

It is our hope that when details of the meeting are announced that residents will turn out in great numbers with the idea of getting involved in the progress of Wayne County. — MMW.

Dangerous Time for Farmers

The fall harvest and the approaching change in standard time will result in more tractors and farm equipment being on the roads.

Farm Safety is always a concern. Every year persons concerned with safety talk about simple safety measures, like rest stops and shifting off machines for cleaning and adjusting, but every year a lot of farm operators allow themselves to get into a situation where an accident is inevitable.

Most machine operators who have been injured and recovered wonder how they could have been so foolish to have taken that chance.

Slow-moving-vehicle (SMV) signs should be in good shape and mounted on equipment in a place that is most apt to reflect light from an approaching car. Adequate warning lights or equipment are also a necessity to provide safe after-dark movement on a public road.

Children and young people on the farm can help in making the farm a safer place by keeping out of the way of machinery and equipment.

Safety first is an old slogan. Make it work before an accident rather than recall it with regret after it is too late. — MMW.

Looking Ahead

A good businessman knows the necessity of looking and planning ahead. Our forefathers, as they came across country to settle in this area, found that planning ahead was a matter of survival.

It is possible for the present generation to applaud the foresight of their grandfathers, but at the same time neglect to plan ahead for forthcoming generations?

Wayne, now a first-class city, is the county seat and hub of a sizeable trade area. Due to the size of our city, it is fairly natural that we should be expected to lead the way in urging the entire county to plan ahead.

A question we all might ask ourselves about the future of Wayne County involves county property in Wayne.

The question is how long is the county going to make the present courthouse building serve as office space and a symbol of our county's progress?

There is no question that our forefathers looked into the future of the county and constructed a building that was adequate for its time and extremely pleasing to the eye.

A building, regardless of its architectural beauty, continues to age and demand higher and higher maintenance costs. It also one day ceases to be adequate to serve the purpose for which it was built.

We believe it is time we Wayne Countyans begin to make definite plans for the future regarding a new county government building. Our forefathers provided us with the present building. Can we do as much for the generations to follow?

Perhaps it might be worth the time to investigate the possibility of incorporating city and county government offices in one building.

Northeast Nebraska is going to progress either with or without us. Let's not permit ourselves to be left behind eating other's dust. — MMW.

Roadside Commentary

Motorists noting such signs as this while driving in northeast Nebraska may wonder whether the State Department of Roads posted the signs as warnings or as statement-of-fact commentary on present highway conditions.

The sign's message is an understatement in its description of Highway 15 north of Wayne, and of Highway 35 between Emerson and Norfolk.

It is certain the roads will eventually be resurfaced, but will it be in time to save you auto repairs and possibly your life? That is the question.

Opposition Fails to Halt Sexuality Conference at NU

LINCOLN — University of Nebraska students at Lincoln heard about human sexuality last week—more than some Nebraskans thought was necessary.

But attempts through the Board of Regents and the courts both failed to untrack the Time Out conference the students had organized themselves and financed with money from their activity fees.

The first derailment effort came from the regents.

The Board held an official and private meeting Sept. 30, four days before the conference was to open, to discuss the matter. The regents apparently were told by their legal counsel the court decisions on freedom of speech and assembly blocked any effort by the board to prevent the conference, no matter how the regents felt personally about its content.

But two members decided to try anyway. At the official request of James H. Moylan of Omaha and Robert Prokop of Papillion, a special public meeting was scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 2.

At that session, Moylan offered a motion asking the NU administration to take steps to have the conference cancelled. Board attorney Flavell Wright then repeated what he apparently had told the regents earlier in private—that there is no way, without proof of impending disruption or open violation of other students' rights. He said those conditions didn't appear to exist.

When the vote was taken, only Moylan supported his motion. Prokop passed and the other regents—except for Kermit Hansen of Omaha, who was absent—voted against it.

Prokop, however, made a motion that President Durward B. Varner prepare a report for the next meeting on the involvement of the university administration in the preparation of the conference. That motion passed, 4-3, with Prokop, Moylan, Kermit Wagner of Schuyler and Robert Kofoof of Grand Island supporting it.

Opposing votes were cast by board chairman Robert Raim of Minden, Edward Schwartzkopf of Lincoln and Jack Elliott of Scottsbluff.

Kofoof later read into the record a statement saying he could see only two possibilities to explain why Moylan and Prokop had called the special meeting—“One being disruption of the university community and the other being personal political gain.”

Kofoof said the sexuality conference “hits below the belt” and said he “in no way condones” it, but “two wrongs do not make it a lesser problem.”

He said Moylan, as an attorney, should have known it is “utterly ridiculous to even attempt to cancel this conference.”

After the effort to block the conference through the regents failed, an attempt—which also failed—was made in the courts by two students, Ralph Larson of Lincoln and Bruce Wimmer of Oxford.

They contended the use of mandatory student fees to finance the conference—which they said could lead to illegal behavior—was wrong and they asked Lancaster County District Judge Herbert A. Hottel for a temporary restraining order.

Wright, the university's attorney, argued that other courts, including the U.S. Supreme Court, had held consistently in recent years that prior censorship of a meeting is an invasion of freedom of speech.

Hottel—who said it wasn't his duty to decide whether the conference is in good taste—ruled that “impelling precedents left him no choice but to deny the students' request for a restraining order.”

Hearings are to be scheduled later, however, for further arguments on the contentions by Larson and Wimmer that students shouldn't be forced to pay fees which are used to support conferences or a student newspaper with which they don't necessarily agree.

Another petition also was filed with the court—by State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff. But a hearing on his request for an injunction to prevent the conference wasn't scheduled immediately.

Carpenter claimed in his petition the conference involves “offenses against public morals.”

Meanwhile, the conference went on as scheduled.

Regent Schwartzkopf, who attended most of the early sessions, said he hadn't heard anything that “couldn't have been presented from the pulpit of any church in Nebraska.”

Schwartzkopf also pointed out that the Nebraska Union lobby—the conference was held in the upstairs ballroom—and the library had as many or more students as the conference sessions.

Peak attendance during the first two days was about 500 of the 21,500 students on campus.

Patti Kaminski of Lincoln, the coordinator for the conference sponsored by the Associated Students of the University of Nebraska, said she had realized in advance the topic of the programs would be hard for some Nebraskans to “digest.”

But she said sexual questions and issues were being discussed on the campus over the past several years and the conference was designed to help understand varying viewpoints on the subject.

More than any other aspect of the programs, sessions on homosexuality caused a public reaction. The participants included two couples—two lesbians from New York and two male homosexuals from Minneapolis—who discussed same-sex “marriages.”

Other sessions included discussions on abortion, a feminist's views of the “sexual revolution” (she doesn't like it), sex education in public schools and “male liberation.”

Dear Editor: — When we invite people to come to our homes, we treat them as guests and try to make them glad they came.

Usually when people are invited to our town, we try to be hospitable and show them all the good things about our town and introduce them to some of the fine folks who live here.

But, when athletic teams are invited to come to our town, and their supporters come with them and are our guests, some of us find it necessary to shout vile insults at them, to ridicule them, and to make fun of the team they support.

Why? Is it because this is the type of treatment we hope to receive when we become guests in their stadiums? Mrs. Dick Manley

Fall—A Time to Spray Weeds
Don't put away the weed sprayer yet. There's still time to control some biennial and perennial weeds. Even though frost has occurred, many kinds of these weeds survive and begin to grow again when warmer temperatures come along.
Perennials like leafy spurge, floodman's thistle and bindweed can very effectively be controlled with fall spraying.
Biennials such as musk thistle can also be controlled now—even to the point that they may not have to be sprayed next spring. Spraying with 2,4-D should be done from now until early November.
Choose a day when temperatures reach 80 degrees or above for best results. However, spraying can be effective at temperatures as low as 40 degrees with increased dosage.
Remember, a single musk thistle plant can produce 10,000 seeds, and three acres near-and supply seed on windy days for distant areas.

Most herbicides that are applied to the foliage this fall are translocated to points of active weed growth where they will be able to kill the plants. In cases where the weed is simply injured, it is taken into the winter freezing and thawing processes in poor condition and, subsequently, will soon die.
In addition to controlling the weeds, fall spraying has other advantages. This particular time is a so-called off-time for sprayers, which can mean the job can be accomplished much sooner. Also, when spraying is done now the chance of herbicide drift to susceptible plants is greatly reduced.
The fall season also presents an opportunity for farmers to take an annual weed survey. By determining locations of annual weed infestations, the man on the farm can start planning a weed control program for next year.
You can almost be certain that you will have to combat weeds every year. But you can certainly control them if you use the right weed control program—whether it be in the spring or in the fall.

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

The Wall Street Fondeuse was a beautiful success... the great Cowbells from the Mountain states and the farm home from the Cornbelt made it click, unbelievable successful! And fun!
We located the true dromes, the dedicated workers of five states. We wanted their participation—mostly to "carry home" the message that Metropolitan does care, are interested, and are a potential market if properly and personally approached.
We drew the greatest covey of female charm and patriotism to ever grace a beef laded pitch fork. They represented all sizes of ranch and farms, all breeds of cattle. They personally varied in temperament from quiet beginners to back-thumping belly laughers. Some were as chic as the internationalist jet set, some Nashville hoodlums, some talked clichey-clack, some were at times speechless from excitement, homesickness, and awe, but all were good sports and smiled New York City to its innees.
The ancient Montana chuck wagon was unloaded at 10:30 a.m. Before unloading, I took three Womonties by cab to locate the assigned site, then visited the police sergeant, and finally found a 45 foot truck outside the Brooklyn tunnel. Al Nelson went to Meyers Brothers Wholesale house to pick up cutting knives and 100 pounds of steel. Mike Schulte went to buy large trash barrels for our clean up. A Grey Line Bus picked up and delivered the beauties. Guess what? The timing to crowded Wall Street was perfect.
By 11:30 the crowd was 20 deep. A massive Hill Chain Store truck pulled onto a now congested road and mall. Inside was beef purchased at the Omaha stockyards during the Audubon County T Bone Caravan at $34.85. Nebraska Angus steers fed by Raymond Merk and the carcasses so identified, having been slaughtered and shipped by Beefland International of Council Bluffs. When the rear doors opened, many saw hanging sides for their first time.
The news media were represented, CBS, NBC, ABC television networks plus three local TV channels—Associated Press, UPI, New York News, Long Island Press and dozens more. Reporters, editorialists, intercomers, photographers, cameramen, the works. Dave Brown, a Chicago advertising photographer, estimated over $2 million of promotion printers and TV time resulted from that two-hour fondeuse.
But what material! Front page stories, four columns wide, a 6 1/2 page spread in Florida, in Des Moines, in Denver... even a two-inch notice appeared in Red Oak!
Three presidential hopefuls and three senators have telephoned. Believe me, imports will be a 1972 issue and your cattle country has earmarks of balance.

County's Farms Now Number 908

Wayne County showed a total of 908 farms in the 1969 Census of Agriculture, according to figures released this week by the U.S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of Economic Analysis.
In the last previous Census of Agriculture (1967) the number of farms reported in the count was 1,095.
Of the county's total farms in 1969, 847 are reported as selling $2,500 or more of agricultural products in the year, as compared with 1,013 in 1967.
The report also shows average farm size in the county was 291.6 acres, and average value of these farms, including land and buildings, was $79,441.
Other figures from the report are:
—Value of all farm products sold in 1969, $35,024,515; in 1964, $23,152,500.
—Value of all crops sold in 1969, $3,456,925; in 1964, $2,189,376.
—Value of all livestock, poultry, and their products sold in 1969, $31,566,690; in 1964, $20,963,245.
Reported for the first time in an agricultural census is information on the extent to which the corporate structure is being used by operators of farms from which agricultural products totaling $2,500 and over were sold, including family farms using this type of business structure, one of the county's $2,500-and-over farms is incorporated.

Cake is an all-time favorite for dessert, coffees and between-meal snacks. The varieties are endless. Call on these recipes to prepare cake for the family or festive occasions.

Vienna Beauty Cake

- $\frac{1}{3}$ cup flour
- $\frac{1}{3}$ cup sugar
- 2 cups milk
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup margarine
- $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons vanilla extract
- 1 envelope liquid chocolate
- 1 9-inch sponge or chiffon cake
- 1 cup chopped California walnuts

Combine flour and sugar. Slowly add milk, stirring to keep smooth. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly; boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Add margarine; stir until blended with milk mixture. Add vanilla. Add chocolate to half of mixture. Cool, then chill both mixtures well. Carefully split cake into three layers. Use chocolate mixture as filling between layers, and vanilla mixture as frosting for top and sides. Press walnuts into sides of cake. Garnish top with California walnut halves, if desired. Chill cake before serving.

Swiss Spiced Cake

- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup margarine
- 4 eggs
- $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups grated raw carrots
- $\frac{2}{3}$ cup chopped California walnuts
- $2\frac{1}{2}$ cups sifted flour
- $4\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons cream of tartar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon mace
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
- $\frac{1}{3}$ cup hot water

Cream sugar and margarine until mixture is soft and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in carrots and California walnuts. Sift together flour, baking powder, cinnamon, mace and salt. Add to cake batter alternately with hot water. Blend well. Bake in two well-greased 9-inch cake pans in moderate oven at 375 degrees for about 30 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool in pans. Remove cake layers to cake racks.

Want to eat like summer all winter?

You can with Fruit-Fresh.

Fruit-Fresh captures the just-picked taste—preserves the colorful sparkle of fruit when you're canning and freezing. For day-to-day use, keeps freshly sliced fruit salad colorful and appetizing until served. Cost—about 1¢ per pound of fruit. At drug and grocery stores and wherever you buy Kerr jars.

Made with the high-price spread?

No; made with Blue Bonnet Margarine.

Make any dish with Blue Bonnet, and you make it great. Because Blue Bonnet has the same great taste as the high-price spread. But Blue Bonnet fries better. Browns faster. And when you spread it on bread, Blue Bonnet's closer to the high-price spread than any margarine. It releases its flavor almost instantly—just like the high-price spread.

Everything's better with Blue Bonnet on it (or in it).

GRASSROOTS GLEANINGS

by Bill Stokes

The Calhoun News of Hardin, Ill., says, "A man who is wrapped up in himself makes a mighty small package."

"The secret of economy is to live as cheaply the first few days after payday as you lived the last few days before it," advises the Janesville (Minn.) Argus.

"Invite a women's liberationist to lunch today," says The Brookings (S.D.) Tribune, "and let her pick up the check."

The following beauty hint is from The Lanesboro (Minn.) Leader: "To keep lipstick from smearing, eat onions."

Everyone counts calories but not many people know what one is, so the West Central Daily Tribune of Willmar, Minn., provides the following definition: A calorie is the amount of heat required at a pressure of one atmosphere to raise the temperature of one gram of water one degree centigrade.

Now how can a little thing like that cause so much consternation?

The Kendall County News of Plano, Ill., says, "Good judgment comes from experience and experience comes from poor judgment."

The difference between a tax collector and taxidermist is that the taxidermist leaves the hide intact, claims the New Ulm (Minn.) Daily Journal.

The following is from the Steuben Republican of Angola, Ind.

"Why are you having just soup for lunch," the fellow asked the salesman, "are you on a diet?"

"No," replied the salesman, "I'm on a commission."

"One of the best ways to lose a friend is to tell him something for his own good," warns the Renville (Minn.) Star-Farmer.

This tops any brownie recipe you've got.

No matter how good your family brownie recipe is—cake-like, fudgy, chewy, made from scratch or made from a mix—it will taste even better with a little of our Rocky Road frosting on top. Not to mention a few extra Diamond Walnuts inside.

- ROCKY ROAD BARS
- 1 9-in. square pan of brownies
 - 1 1-oz. square unsweetened chocolate
 - 2 Tbsps. soft butter.
 - 1½ cups sifted powdered sugar
 - 4 tps. milk
 - ½ cup miniature marshmallows
 - ½ cup coarsely chopped Diamond Walnuts.

Prepare brownies from your own recipe or a mix. Melt chocolate. Combine with soft butter, powdered sugar and milk; beat smooth. Spread over top of cooled brownies. Sprinkle with marshmallows and walnuts. With small spatula, swirl frosting around marshmallows and walnuts. Let frosting set before cutting. Makes 16 squares.

Diamond Walnuts. We've been in the family for three generations.

"One of the first things one notices in a 'backward country' is that children are still obeying their parents," comments The Dell Rapids (S.D.) Tribune.

"The trouble these days is that there is no arrest for the wicked," complains the Mason County Democrat of Havana, Ill.

"Plastic rubbish bags have taken all the fun out of assessing the neighbor's booze intake while strolling to the bus on collection morning," comments The Janestown (N.D.) Sun.

"The only thing harder to keep than money is quiet," laments the Sundusky (Mich.) Republican-Tribune.

"How does it happen that we have enough memory to retain the smallest details of what happened to us, and not enough to recall how many times we have told them to the same person?" asks The Northwest Blade of Eureka, S.D.

"Anytime you think you have influence, try ordering someone else's dog around," says the Tell City (Ind.) News.

The Wishek (N.D.) Star says, "Some people are like wheelbarrows: they have to be pushed and are easily upset."

The following item comes from the Sargent County Teller of Milnor, N.D.: A desperate young woman clad only in a suit jacket and slip approached the lost and found department in a huge department store and inquired frantically, "Has anybody turned in a black skirt with five small children hanging onto it?"

"If success made the heart swell like it does the head, this would be a far better world," says The Reinbeck (Iowa) Courier.

The Sibley (Iowa) Tribune tells of the farmer who won a million dollars in a lottery. Asked what he was going to do now, he said, "Well, I guess I'll just keep on farming until the money is all gone."

Then there was the minister, as reported in The Review of Plymouth, Wis., who said there are certain things a man must do for himself, such as: blow his own nose, make his own love and say his own prayers.

The Calhoun News of Hardin, Ill., advises that the person who blows his stack adds to the world's pollution.

"Adolescence and snow drifts are about the only problems that disappear if you ignore them long enough," says the Holt County Independent of O'Neill, Neb.

The Tell City (Ind.) News says, "what you hear never seems as exciting as the things you overhear."

The Chaska (Minn.) Weekly Valley Herald says, "Another reason for not having more than two children these days is to make sure that your own teenagers don't outvote you on election day."

The Steuben Republican of Angola, Ind., advises "If someone calls you a perfect idiot, don't believe him. Nobody's perfect."

The Gladwin County Record of Gladwin, Mich., defines a pessimist as a guy who sizes himself up and gets sore about it.

The way to have a balanced personality, advises the Salisbury, (Mo.) Press-Spectator, is to forget your troubles as easily as you do your blessings.

"The trouble with being tolerant is that people think you don't understand the problem," says The Pioneer-Review of Philip, S.D.

THE REIMERS
FLY BETWEEN FIELDS

BY IRVING WALLACE

When Carol and Bob Reimers of Melville, North Dakota, go out to inspect their crops, they might be away for days.

It was not always that way. Carol and Bob met while attending North Dakota State University, getting married in 1945. "Bob and I started farming 160 acres," Carol recalls, "where we built a very small house and sheep shed, utilizing lumber from old buildings on the land."

"Fresh out of college," said Bob, "what we lacked in cash we had in enthusiasm and a determination to make a success of farming. Our first investment was in a few sheep, thinking they'd give us our first cash returns."

"In fact," Carol said, "that is about all the 160 was good for when we got it."

During the following years the farming success story of Carol and Bob Reimers sounds as if it came from a Horatio Alger book.

Today, it takes considerable time for Carol and Bob to look over their 7,500 acres of farming land, especially when part of their farming activities is located 1,600 miles away. They farm 6,000 acres in North Dakota and 1,500 acres near Beeville, in South Texas, 50 miles in from the Gulf.

Fruit-Fresh.

Fruit-Fresh captures the just-picked taste—preserves the colorful sparkle of fruit when you're canning and freezing. For day-to-day use, keeps freshly sliced fruit solid colorful and appetizing until served. Cost—about 1¢ per pound of fruit. At drug and grocery stores and wherever you buy Kerr jars.

The problem of visiting the fields is not as big as it might at first seem, even though so far apart. One reason being, the difference in growing seasons, and another reason being the Carol and Bob own and fly a Cessna 206 airplane. They have a hangar and a 3,200-foot runway on their North Dakota farm. They use the nearby municipal airport at Beeville when at their Texas farm.

Much of the Reimers' success story comes, too, from his specializing in growing and selling certified seed. Since becoming interested in this phase his expansion has been phenomenal. Carol is office manager and keeps the books, having an office in their home on the farm. They usually have seven year-around men and hire extra help during planting and harvest seasons. With a twinkle in his eyes he likes to refer to Carol as the boss.

Last year the North Dakota farm produced over 150,000 bushels of wheat, barley, flax, oats, and rye, that came inside the category of certified seed. In Texas, they produced approximately 20,000 bushels of flax, and an abundance of milo. In Texas the flax is planted in mid-November and harvested the last of April. The milo, which is strictly a cash crop and sold at harvest time, is planted the last of February and cut in early July. The Texas flax is stored at harvest time in a huge warehouse located in Beeville. All the certified seed is then cleaned, treated, and placed in bags. Practically all the flax and milo raised by Bob in Texas is purchased by exporters and shipped to foreign countries by boat from the nearby Corpus Christi harbor.

THAT UNBEAUTIFUL DWELLING CALLED A

SOD HOUSE

by GROVER BRINKMAN

No, a soddie is not a drunk. It's a home, rather a unique home, made almost entirely of sod.

Unless you were born before the turn of the century, it's pretty certain you've never lived in a soddie. But in pioneer days, to many frontier families, the sod-house was the only home they knew.

Mr. V. A. Kear, a 73-year-old Colby, Kansas historian, is one of the few men still alive today who was born in a sod house out on the prairie. In fact, Mr. Kear spent the first 26 years of his life in soddies, those ugly but efficient homes that sprang up on the windswept prairies west of the Mississippi when the surge of civilization swept westward in the Conestoga wagons of the day.

Now Mr. Kear is back in a sod house near Colby, where one of the few groups of real sod buildings still exist on the prairie.

Because the sod house has an important historic background that Mr. Kear feels should be recorded and enhanced, he is maintaining a community of these old prairie dwellings that is called Sod Town, located just off Highway 24 east of Colby. He has been collecting prairie pioneer artifacts for more than 35 years, and in 1955 organized a historical society called The Sons and Daughters of the Soddies, Inc., which has a steady growth. The purpose of the society, he said, was to show honor and recognition to the thousands of courageous, resourceful pioneers who came West, built their sodhouses and dug-outs on the prairie, and somehow endured the merciless sun of summer and the frigid prairie winters.

The society now has nearly 25,000 members, all of whom are interested in preserving the many household items, vehicles, implements, costumes, toys, books, pictures and documents of the early prairie pioneer.

At Sod Town, three original sod buildings are being preserved, including a one-room schoolhouse. Mr. Kear pointed to holes in the dirt walls of the sodhouse he uses as a museum.

"Sparrows do that," he observed. "They burrow into the walls to build their nests, and they make a lot of noise. That's one of the bad things about a soddie."

These sod buildings were warm in winter, he pointed out, and exceptionally cool in summer, for the sun's heat never penetrated the thick dirt walls. Sod was even piled on the roof.

"Many a time during the spring months," Mr. Kear continued, "one could mow the roof."

Believe it or not, that tough prairie sod, interwoven with roots and vegetation, withstood rains, storms and the elements over long periods of time before re-sodding was needed. Baked and cooled it finally hardened to a glaze-like surface. If repairs were needed to the walls or roof, the sod was right there on the prairie, ready to be dug and applied.

The Great Plains, with miles and miles of open prairie, were once dotted with sodhouses, the only homes the pioneers knew, according to Mr. Kear. Those low, squat houses, made entirely from the soil, were a refuge when winter cracked down. Even Indian arrows couldn't penetrate the thick walls.

Prairie mothers gathered wild flowers on the plains, and replanted them close to their sodhouses, to add a woman's touch. At night these same mothers listened to the wailing cries of coyotes and wolves, and often, the more ominous cries of attacking Indians, or the drunken revelry of cowboys on an owlhoot trail. Now the sod buildings are slowly but surely disappearing.

But if Mr. Kear has his say, at least a representative community of sodhouses will remain to show the succeeding generations how life was lived on the open prairies of the plains states before the turn of the century.

"Yes", say Remington experts... including why our Model 1100 Automatic Shotgun—the top gun in skeet—is tops in the field!

It's said some hunters don't shoot skeet because they can't eat clay pigeons. But, if you don't count taste and plumage, there is virtually no difference between a clay bird and a game bird. As far as a wing shooter is concerned, both are moving targets with the same problems of pointing, swing and lead.

If you go hunting with a skeet shooter, don't bet against him. Because skeet actually came from the field. It was developed about 50 years ago by the late Charles E. Davies, at Andover, Mass. He was an avid upland game hunter and wanted to practice shots he had missed while hunting. And don't forget that a dedicated skeet shooter may shoot at thousands of clay birds a year, each one simulating a game bird in flight. So it would take a really tricky bird to fool him. Naturally, like the hunter, the skeet shooter wants a shotgun that points naturally, patterns consistently and is reliable. That's why you'll find so many Model 1100's in the hands of so many skeet shooters, especially at championship events.

When you hold an 1100, you can tell it's different. The 1100 is designed with "muzzle preponderance"... balanced so there's weight at the muzzle. We believe this helps you hold an 1100 steadier than a shotgun without it. And we think it helps you point easier and faster and swing more smoothly, too.

Remington designers have given the 1100 a rate of fire they feel is optimum. Pull the trigger, and the 1100 ejects the empty hull and chambers a fresh shell automatically. You can fire again as soon as this cycle is complete. But, if the cycle takes too long, you may lose the chance for a quick second shot. And if the cycle is too fast, you're apt to shoot too soon... and miss. Remington's designers believe that the 1100's rate of fire is an ideal compromise between those two extremes.

The dotted line shows the recoil force from a typical fixed breech shotgun action (Shotgun weight: 7 lbs. 2 oz.). The solid line shows the recoil force delivered by a Model 1100 (Weight: 7 lbs. 12 oz.). Checked and proved by computer, the Model 1100 delivered 55% less force than the fixed breech gun. Each gun tested with a 12 ga. magnum load.

The 1100 really reduces recoil sensation. Remington has found a way to "soften" recoil sensation by distribut-

One of a continuing series Remington Reports

Can a hunter learn anything from a skeet shooter?

The chart shows how the Remington Recoil Reduction System works by plotting shoulder force against time. The dotted line shows what happens when a 12 gauge magnum load is fired in a fixed breech shotgun of approximately the same weight as the model 1100. The recoil quickly rises to a high peak. The solid line shows the recoil when the same load is fired in an 1100. The line starts to rise but the system traps some of the recoil force, releasing it later. Thus you feel a "push" instead of the usual jolt you can get from a competitive gun.

If you like good-looking shotguns, you'll like the looks of an 1100. Those looks are functional, too. Our RK-W wood finish does more than dress up the stock. It's tough and scratch-resistant. Our "vibra-honing" metal finish not only permits a deeper, richer blueing... but it also makes the working parts smoother so there's more glide and less friction.

The Model 1100 comes in 12, 16, 20, 28 and 410 gauges. And there are optional interchangeable barrels within each gauge. In addition to the standard models, there are three-inch magnum 12 gauge, two lightweight 20 gauge models (one a magnum), deer models with rifle sights, and trap and skeet versions. Prices start at $184.95*.

Use the shells we test the 1100 with. The champions do. Here's something else you can learn from skeet shooters: use Remington-Peters shells. That's what both the High Overall World's Champion and the runner-up did in all events at the 1970 World Skeet Championships. Skeet shooters know their ammo as well as their shotguns.

The Model 1100 is available in these 5 gauges.
