For the first time in several months the Cash Night drawing has peaked at $400.

The prize reached the $400 mark after the name of Mrs. Ellen Munter, Wakefield, was called at 8 p.m. Thursday and she was not in one of the participating businesses to claim the check for $350.

Four hundred greenbacks could be yours this Thursday night if you are registered for the drawing, if you are present in a participating business firm and if your name is called.

Persons who have not registered once for the drawing should do so at their convenience at any of the stores, making the weekly drawing possible.

Dr. William Glasser (with microphone at right) found a lively class of Wayne sixth graders when he demonstrated his teaching techniques Thursday at Wayne State College. The Los Angeles psychiatrist-author-educator drew out the youngsters with questions that required thinking and judgment. One question: "Do you get questions like this in school?" The answer, not often. Dee Ann Pokett (fourth from left) was responding to Dr. Glasser as this picture was taken.

Glasser: Schools Often Help Failures to Fail

Failure is a matter of choice, but schools often create conditions of failure, psychologist William Glasser said Thursday at Wayne State College.

The Los Angeles educator-author and critic of education explained what he considers the characteristics of those who succeed and those who fail. The problem in schools, he said, is "that most people in charge are successful, yet have to deal with failures—they expect them to want to succeed—but they don't."

Dr. Glasser said about 800 teachers and students from Wayne State, several other colleges, and many schools in eastern Nebraska that "failing people live very differently than successful people" and that "some teachers don't know how to handle failure types, so fail them."

As he advanced in his book, "Schools Without Failure," Dr. Glasser said most people of the western world no longer have to be concerned with basic survival, but are concerned with their identity or role the same thing in his vocabulary, and schools too often fail to recognize this development, he said. Rather, they continue to stress achievement of goals and, especially in early grades, brand a child as a failure too soon.

"All you learn from failure is how to fail," he said, but has tended to add, "not succeeding is an acceptable result of not meeting standards of performance or behavior."

When a child misbehaves, he should be asked, "Is this behavior doing any good?" Dr. Glasser suggested. If necessary, the misbehaving youngster should be sent to the principal's office "to cool off and think what he should do to get back in the class," Dr. Glasser said. "This is not punishment. Punishment has remarkably small effect—whether physical or verbal."

Schools do have the right to restrict undesirable behavior, he said. "Orderliness is necessary, see GLASSER, page 6."

Trap Takes 'A Lot Less Walking'

by Betty Kavanaugh

Abrupt blasts and echoing sounds of guns often interrupt the quiet Sunday afternoons in the Carroll vicinity. At first everyone wondered where all the shooting was coming from and why that is, everyone except Harry Nelson, Ernest Junck and John Rehwisch.

They were testing their aim on the "blue-rock" quail emerging from their new trap thrower located on Rehwisch's farm about a mile north of Carroll.

"My 10-acre field makes an ideal place for shooting as far as livestock is concerned," said Rehwisch, "because the discs are made of a pitch substance that tastes like coal to hogs yet the discs are poisonous to them."

Therefore the men make absolutely sure that no hogs, or any livestock, come in contact with any particle of their clay "pigeons."

The three Carroll men dug a large hole into the hillside and placed the trap thrower on a wooden block.

Large sheets of corrugated steel were used to line the back of the dugout and extended several feet above the ground. This gives added protection to the man operating the trap thrower.

When the man standing above and behind the trap thrower has braced his feet and placed his trusty firearm against his shoulder, he yells "Bill."

The trap thrower operator pulls the lever, ejecting the round clay "pigeon."

It swiftly and gracefully sails about a hundred feet high and glides across the valley. That is, unless it is shattered in midair by pellets.

"Like most any sport," says Nelson, "trap shooting can become quite expensive. We aren't satisfied to shoot just one or two shells and then quit."

So the men remedied that solution or at least part of it, by purchasing shell loading machines.

"A far cry from the way Daniel Boone reloaded his 'ole Pecos,'" the machine is designed to refill used shell casings with the exact specified amount of powder and pellets in a matter of seconds and reseal the shell.

Weather conditions began prohibiting the men from using their dugout but they quickly remedied the situation. They purchased a portable trap thrower.

In fact, this summer when the three men and their wives visited the Joe Mantova ranch in Moriarty, New Mexico, they took their portable trap thrower along.

But they admitted while they were in New Mexico that Joe used the trap thrower more than they did. The Carroll men were sidetracked by the scenery and the famous annual Mantova barbecue.

During the summer several townsmen and farmers joined the group. Several fathers brought along their teenage sons to teach them the art of safe shooting.

Nelson and Junck are active members of the Carroll Saddle Club and own several quarter horses.

"We used to trade and buy horses," says Junck, "but now we trade and buy guns."

Military Addresses Must Meet Deadline

Thursday is the deadline for getting addresses of men and women serving in the armed forces to The Wayne Herald for publication in the annual Christmas List on Nov. 18.

Addresses should be printed, typed or written in a manner easy to read.

Donald Mau Hurt In 1-Car Mishap Early Saturday

Donald G. Mau, 18, received head injuries in a one-car accident early Saturday morning and was listed as in poor condition at the Wayne hospital. He is the son of Mrs. Florence Mau, Wayne.

Mau, who was alone in the car, was northbound about three and one-half miles south of Wayne on Highway 12 when he struck a mailbox, lost control of the car and was thrown from the vehicle, according to State Trooper William Watson's report.

The car came to rest in the west ditch after it rolled over. Mau was taken to the hospital by the Wayne ambulance.

Watson was assisted in the investigation by Wayne County Deputy Sheriff S. C. Thompson.

Claire Hurlbert Named as Editor of Wayne Herald

Claire G. Hurlbert today (Monday) takes over duties as editor of The Wayne Herald.

Hurlbert comes to Wayne from Grand Island where he has been city editor for the past two and one-half years. Prior to that he spent 17 years on the Falls City Journal, working 13 years as sports editor and four years as city editor.

Hurlbert's wife Betty also served seven years as advertising manager at Falls City.

The Hurlberts are the parents of two children, a married daughter living in Kansas City and a son in Omaha.

Columbia U. Accepts Bruce Jorgensen for Nuclear Study Work

Bruce L. Jorgensen, son of Mrs. Arland Aurich, Winside, has been admitted to the Columbia University School of Engineering and Applied Science in New York as a Combined Plan student.

Planning to study nuclear engineering, Bruce is one of seven students who transferred to Columbia from Doane College at Crete in order to participate.

Hear Feed-Grain Rules

Differences in the 1971 and 1972 Feed-Grain programs were explained to ASCS committee members from 11 Northeast Nebraska counties Thursday at the City Auditorium in Wayne.

Greatest difference in the Feed-Grain program for the two years is the minimum required set-aside being increased from 20% to 25% of the total corn, grain sorghum and barley base. Payment per acre will be the same as 1971.

Another feature of the 1972 program is the option to divert up to 45% of the base. There was no additional diversion in 1971.

The 1972 Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP), previously known as ACP, will have few changes. The major difference is that several practice combinations have been made. Where previously 47 practices were available, they now have been combined into 30 practices. Fewer funds will be available for cost sharing in 1972.

Counties represented at the meeting were Antelope, Cedar, Cummaug, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne.

Taking part in the program were the state ASC committee, state executive director and two state program specialists. District Director Gordon Nuerberger conducted the meeting.

Hein, Carhart Named as Co-Chairmen To Head Medical Center Fund Drive

Harold F. (Jim) Hein, president of the State National Bank, and Robert Carhart, president and general manager of the Carhart Lumber Company, have been named co-chairmen of the pattern gifts committee in the $500,000 fund-raising program to help fund construction of a $1,000,000 new Medical Center for Wayne area families.

Announcement of the appointments was made today (Monday) by Adon Jeffrey, campaign general chairman.

Hein and Carhart have chosen committee members who will meet for a kickoff and card-choosing rally at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the board of directors room at the State National Bank. The meeting will launch the advance giving phase of the campaign.

Dr. Walter Bentback is chairman for solicitation of the Wayne Hospital's medical staff. Mrs. Louise Jenness is chairman for hospital employee solicitation, and Mrs. R. E. Gormley, president of the Hospital Auxiliary, has arranged a meeting of 19 members for 2 p.m. Nov. 19 in the Woman's Club to discuss special programs by which Auxiliary can subscribe to the Medical Center building program, Jeffrey said.

Each of these groups represents involvement of the "hospital family"—those who are closest to the need for modern health care facilities.

Winside Pupils Plan to Attend Choral Clinic

Winside High School vocal music department students plan to join other area choristers in the annual Lewis and Clark Conference Music Clinic at Wallkill slated Nov. 22.

Winside students planning to participate in the clinic include Deb Dahl, Diane Morris, Phyllis See CLINIC, page 6.

Wayne County Jaycees Plan for Honey Sunday

Wayne County Jaycees, members of the local ARC (Association for Retarded Children) and other volunteers will be marching on Wayne doors Sunday, Nov. 21, during the annual Honey Sunday campaign.

At a dinner meeting held Tuesday evening by the Jaycees, ARC and NARC (Nebraska Association for Retarded Children) outlined their organization's operation and goals and explained how Honey Sunday funds are put to use.

Representing the ARC and NARC at the dinner were NARC Director John Foley of Lincoln, OMB Workshop Director James Shelton of South Sioux City, ARC Director Mrs. Tyle Willoughby of Sioux City, Mr. and Mrs. James Russel of Allen, Mrs. Ruth Miller of Emerson and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sitzman of Wayne.

Jaycees also discussed the drug abuse problem and made arrangements with Neal T. Boeshart of Laurel, Community Alcoholism Counselor and a member of the Nebraska Commission of Alcohol, to conduct an assembly at the city auditorium this past week in conjunction with the Kiwanis sponsored drugmobile visit. Boeshart, who is working with area drug organizations, is available for speaking engagements.

Twelve Jaycees and their wives attended the Tuesday dinner. Visitors are invited to attend the Jaycee meetings held the first Tuesday of each month. Board meetings are scheduled for every third Thursday. All meetings except dinner meetings are conducted at the Chamber Office, 108 W. 3rd.

Puppets to Act In Convocation At Winside HS

If you believe in an age-old past, with kings and queens, giants and dragons, evil dwarfs with powers of magic, and a miller's daughter who can spin straw to gold, join Fred Cowan, puppeteer, at Winside on Nov. 15 as he spins a tale in the world of make-believe.

Cowan is slated to present his puppet show in the Winside High School gym at 1 p.m. His marionette productions are written to tickle the imagination of older students, and set make the youngsters feel that the puppets are their intimate friends.

Puppeteering has been a family project for Cowan and his wife, Bea, and their five children. Each show is developed from scratch with the creation of puppets, costumes and scenery. From there it goes into actual rehearsal production and polishing.

The Cowans are touring the upper Midwest under the auspices and direction of the Division of Independent Study, State University Station, Fargo, N. D.

Open House Set Tonight

Open House for Grades Kindergarten through four at the Carroll Elementary School has been scheduled for tonight (Monday) from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Carroll Music Boosters will serve refreshments and teachers will be on hand to visit with parents and other guests. Students' work will be on display.

So That's What They Use!

Dangers of drugs and instruments used by addicts drew the attention of Wayne area residents as the Kiwanis Drugmobile visited Wayne Wednesday and Thursday. Here are two Wayne teenagers looking at one of the displays as the bus was parked on Main Street. Nearest camera is Dawn Davies, accompanied by Linda Costello, both 13. By coincidence the poster at the rear of the display points out that "The average drug addict starts at 13."

Which Way Do We Want It?

We humans are indeed strange. If young boys and girls have nothing much to do, and consequently get into trouble, we complain. We wonder "Why doesn't somebody do something to keep these kids busy?" or "Why don't those kids do something creative?"

Scouts, Wayne Recreation, USO, Red Cross, Florence Crittenton Home and the Salvation Army. The other alternative is to have each of these organizations conduct its own individual fund drive within our city.

Expecting the Unexpected

A cautious driver is fully aware that the unexpected can happen and often does. Frost-covered bridges, a condition resulting from the warm days and cooler nights of autumn can be unexpected road hazards this time of year.

State Department of Road officials warned last week that all drivers should reduce speed when approaching bridges and overpasses.

An Important Reminder

Nebraska's pheasant population is facing great numbers of hunters this week. If you are headed for the woods, fields, or sandhills for hunting, remember to treat every firearm as you would a loaded weapon, and never point it at anything you do not intend to shoot.

When carrying your gun into camp or home, it should always be unloaded and taken down, or have the action open. Guns and ammunition should be stored separately and beyond the reach of children.

Dear Editor: There are many people who are in the dens of iniquity known as jails because of being poor—unable to raise bail and to afford a lawyer with the result they were railroaded.

Dr. Karl Menninger has told about and described what goes on in the treatment of prisoners in jails as "barbaric." He says they are a "vengeful society" that while we give lip service to rehabilitating prisoners, what we really do is punish them. Out of this antiquated system we create alienated people who are even more hostile to society—as a result of prison experience than they ever were before they went in.

The fact is everything is done to make the inmates lose their own self respect. They are NOT considered as human beings but as numbers.

This is more proof as the Socialist Labor Party contends that capitalism is a criminal system and should be scrapped in favor of real Socialism, the sooner the better.

Dear Editor: Some questions for Wayne Citizen, who complains about the behavior downtown of certain young persons alleged to be Wayne State College students:

Does Wayne Citizen always cross Main Street only at a crosswalk and only in obedience to the traffic signal, if there is one at the intersection? Multitudes of Wayne residents of all ages cross Main Street at any point they may choose, paying no attention to the traffic signal, and they do so with impunity. They set a very poor example for Wayne State College students, who are only doing in Home what the Romans do.

There is a provision in the Wayne Municipal Code that forbids a pedestrian to cross any street except in a crosswalk. Would Wayne Citizen support a program of law enforcement whereby the police would arrest any person improperly crossing any street at any time. In San Francisco a police officer who sees any person violating the laws regarding pedestrian behavior promptly issues that person a summons to court, where the offender pays a fine of at least five dollars. Would Wayne Citizen endorse this procedure for Wayne, Nebraska?

Name Withheld Upon Request (Editor's Note: This letter is in response to a letter to the editor printed in the Monday edition of The Herald in which Wayne Citizen commented on being detained and verbally abused by students blocking the traffic on Main street, Saturday night, Oct. 23).

City government in Syracuse was re-structured at one fell swoop Monday night as the city council passed an ordinance under an emergency clause to abolish the Board of Public Works. All board members were present at the request of the council, though they were not informed of the nature of the action about to be taken. None of the board members presented any discussion of the move. In abolishing the Board of Public Works, the council apparently hoped to bring to end the debilitating strike between the two bodies that has grown up over the water question, but which according to Mayor Ervin Kehlenbeck goes back at least a year and a half. The mayor made a point of explaining to water and light commissioner Don Block that the action did not reflect an ill opinion on the part of the council toward city employees.

One of the state's most important accomplishments was the establishment of the Base Hospital Number 49. Organized at Omaha by the College of Medicine of the University of Nebraska, the hospital functioned at Allerey, France, from August 7, 1918, until the Armistice. Major A. C. Stokes was chief of the surgical staff and most of the professional staff members were drawn from the faculty and alumni of the Nebraska College of Medicine. Former Nebraska State Historical Society Director, Addison E. Sinton, visited the hospital as a correspondent and wrote an interesting account of its activities including a roster of the staff. Although its period of active field service was relatively short, Base Hospital 49 performed significant and heroic work in the salvage of men wounded in the "last great push" which brought the German population. A total of 4,844 casualties were cared for by the Nebraska unit. Its rated capacity was 1,000 beds, but at one time there were as many as 1,934 being cared for in the hospital.

Welcome rainfall in the Elgin area started Wednesday afternoon, and continued through Saturday, bringing around two inches of much needed moisture, and in addition, considerable damage caused by the sharp drop in temperature. Freezing temperatures Thursday, Friday and Saturday wrecked many area trees and several electric lines leading to residential areas.

Between September 12 and November 11, 1918, the hospital staff performed an average of 20 surgical operations a day. Altogether, the staff during that period performed a total of 614 operations and treated 180 persons for gas burns. The Nebraska hospital is reported to have had the best record for saving life of all American hospitals in Europe.

Can Codes Need Not Be Mysteries

Codes appearing on food packages or cans are a mystery to most consumers. Really they are no secret about the codes used and the shopper should have an understanding of their use.

Codes are primarily used by companies involved in processing or packaging food. This provides quick check on their lot shipments and for the local merchant in stocking his shelves and referring complaints when contamination or spoilage is evident.

Generally there are two types of codes. For products that have a very long shelf life such as canned or dried foods, the code merely indicates the plant where the food was packaged or canned, the day it was packed, and the line on which it was packed. This is not important to the consumer unless he discovers something wrong with the item purchased. If this happens then the batch processed at the same time can be identified and traced.

The second code is found on perishable food products in the form of four numbers or letters. It often indicates the expiration date of the item when it should be removed from the store shelf. Consumers who do read the code too often interpret it to mean the product is no longer edible. This is not a correct assumption, since the shopper may take a "good product home and store it for several days before using it. For example, "day old" bread of cake at a reduced price does not mean it is inedible or spoiled but only that the quality or freshness is no longer up to the baker's standard.

The interested shopper can ask for an interpretation of the different codes from his local merchant.

WSC Band to Give Concert

Wayne State's stage band will be on stage Tuesday evening to do a concert featuring lively music from the pens of Buddy Rick, Bob Seibert, Joe Davis, Bill Myer, Sammy Neslick and "Doc" Severinson. There is no charge for the concert.

Director Lee Mendyk said the 8 p.m. program in Ramsey Theater of the Fine Arts Center will include ballads, jazz waltzes, jazz rock and extended big band charts—charts by a recent term meaning arrangements for stage band.

Many of the bandmen will take solo roles: trumpeters Bob Johnson, Scribner, Larry Teager, South Sioux City; Jack Fischer, Norfolk; Ron Keller, Urbandale, Ia.; trombonists John Leonard, Logan, Ia.; Kim Kunze, Coleridge; Bruce Linafelter, Allen; saxophonists David Janovec, Fremont; Mike Vondracek, Verdigris; drummer John LaBarza, 3088 Martin Avenue, Omaha, and Carol Hsanaz, Tekamah.

Also members of the band: saxophonists Jeanne Knief, Harrington; Steve Quiring, Norfolk; Dick Palmer, Harrington; Trombonist Carter Leeka, Omaha; Trumpeters Duane Clausen, Rushville; Bonnie Doten Linafelter, Wausa; electric bass, Dan Froberg, Norfolk; guitar, Tim Sharer, Wayne.

Some of the jazz and rock tunes to be played: "Falcons Always... Norwegian Wood... The Butter Milk... "Do! Do! Do!"... "Sun... and "Caroline Encounters Tom Swift and His Marvelous Electric Jazz-Rock Machine."

On the slower ballad style will be "Cashmere," "Here's That Baby Day," "It's On So Nice," and "Low Tide."

Dr. Mendyk said the band also will do an extended jazz chart, "Theme and Variations in Jazz," with three movements, featuring several soloists and that tight ensemble playing required in big band arrangements.

WHS Trojans Fall to Lyons 20-13

The Wakefield Trojans, playing on the road in the final game of the season, lost a heart-breaker to an explosive Lyons team 20-13 Friday night. The loss dropped the young Trojans to 3-6 on the season and 1-5 in the East Husker Conference. Lyons kicked off and Don Rouse returned it to the Trojan 36 yard line. On a 3rd and 11 play Kevin Peters broke through the Lyons defense for a first down on the Lyons 43. On the next play Bob Twite carried off tackle for a gain of 12 yards to the Lyons 31 and the Trojan offense was on the move.

On a second down play, Doug Soderberg hit Don Rouse on a 20-yard touchdown pass. The kick for extra point was good by Nicholson and the Trojans led 7-0 with 6:50 seconds left in the first quarter.

Peters kicked off for the Trojans and Lyons returned the ball to their own 37-yard line. On the second play Hal Nelson hit Rich Slaughter for a 13-yard gain and the Lyons had a first down at midfield. On a third down and 15 play, Bob Twite intercepted a Nelson pass and the Trojans had the ball back on their own 44 yard line. On a 4th down on the 50 yard line, Kirk Gardner punted the ball to Lyons and they took over on their own 11 yard line.

Lyons, behind the running of Layman, quickly drove to midfield but lost the ball on downs. The Trojans again had field position at the Lyons 45 yard line with 1:06 left in the first half. A 35-yard pass play to Don Rouse put the ball on the Lyons 10 yard line but a clipping penalty put the ball back on the 25. On a 4th and 22, Kirk Gardner punted out of bounds to give Lyons the ball at their own 10 as time ran out in the first half. The Trojans leading 7-6.

Kevin Peters kicked off to start the second half and Roger Svendsen returned the ball from the 24 to midfield. Layman continued to pound at the Trojan defensive line and Lyons had a first down at the Trojan 38. On a 4th and 9 situation, a pass from Nelson to Svendsen, off a fake punt picked up 10 yards and a first down on the Trojan 28 yard line. From the 28 it was Roger Layman punting away for a first down goal-to-go on the Trojan 5. On a 3rd and goal it was Layman scoring on a quick dive to give Lyons the lead. Layman carried for the extra points and with 4:24 left in the third quarter, Lyons led 14-7.

Peters returned the Lyons kickoff 16 yards to the Trojan 33. On a 3rd and 5, Peters scampered for 7 yards and a first down on the Trojan 46. Kirk Gardner slammed off tackle for 20 yards and the Trojans were driving on the Lyons 34 yard line. After each team had 15-yard penalty, Bob Twite made a diving, juggling catch of a

Bears Stunned 32-0

Laurel came out on the short end of a 32-0 score in its season finale at O'Neill Friday night. The defeat leaves the Bears with a 2-7 mark for the year.

O'Neill jumped off to a 14-0 halftime lead, scoring six points in the first and eight points in the second quarter. The winning margin was increased six points in the third period and twelve in the final quarter.

Chuck Hirschman and Keith Olsen were singled out as rushing leaders for the Bears.

Complete statistics on the game were unavailable.

The majority of Nebraska's pheasant population develops from about 500 pairs of birds that were imported into the state prior to 1925.

Mike Ginn hurdles one Pierce defender to pick up a few more yards and a first down in Friday night's 26-25 win over the Bluejays. Proving to be Wayne's workhorse once more, Ginn rushed for 139 yards and put in three passes, netting 90 yards. The 175-pound halfback also accounted for three fumbles and six assists.

Blue Devils Nip Pierce 26-25 Friday

Wayne High finished the regular season on a winning note Friday night by downing Pierce 26-25 in a see-saw battle on the WSC gridiron. A medium-sized Wayne's night of heavy temperatures in the lower twenties, saw the Blue Devils come from behind twice in ehaling up their ninth victory of the year.

Coach Allen Hansen's griders now face the biggest challenge of the 1971 football season—a showdown with Scribner at Wayne this Friday night in the Husker Conference Play-off.

Scribner, boasting a 7-2 season record, clenched the east division championship Friday night by trouncing Oakland-Craig 13-0. Eight teams besides Pierce bowed to Wayne on the way to its third west division title in the last five years. Conference wins included Madison (14-0), Neligh (48-7), Stanton (14-0), Plainview, (19-8), Bloomfield (7-6) and Laurel (26-14). The Blue Devils also posted non-conference wins over West Point Central Catholic (38-19) and Wisner-Higher (45-6).

But Friday night's thriller against the invading Bluejays was Wayne's biggest test. It all boiled down to one tackle when sophomore Gordon Cook stopped Pierce's Tom Schellenbach on a two-point conversion attempt with 7:36 left in the fourth quarter. Had the run been good, the Bluejays would have held a 27-26 advantage.

Coach Hansen noted individual efforts like that are indicative of the spirit of this year's squad. "The boys set a goal to be 10-0 on the season," he said, "and if they want to win—they can win."

Preparing for Winter

Nebraska's state parks will remain open throughout the winter, but some facilities on the areas are now being closed down for the season, according to the Game and Parks Commission.

Water and sewer hookups at camping areas and shower and restroom facilities are being taken out of service to guard against freezing temperatures and broken pipes. This has already been done at the new camping area at Ponca State Park, and campers are likely to find this the case at other areas soon. Cabins have also been closed for the season, except at Fort Robinson and Chadron state parks. Lodging there will remain open through the wild turkey and firearm-deer seasons to accommodate hunters.

A 34-yard pass from Kerstine to Ginn with 5:45 remaining in the first half. The extra-point kick was blocked, making the score 13-3 in favor of Wayne.

Mike Ginn's 66-yard sprint off tackle to make the score 26-19 with 2:50 left in the third quarter. The kick for the extra point went wide.

Two key plays besides the field goal figured in Pierce's 19-13 halftime lead over the Blue Devils. First one was a 67-yard kickoff return by Gene Thomas following Wayne's second touchdown. The Bluejays also reached paydirt on a 32-yard pass from Schellenbach to Dale Drahota with 2:19 left in the half.

But Pierce was able to mount a sustained drive just once in the second half. That drive covered 65 yards and ended with a one-yard plunge by Thomas, making the final score 26-25.

Mike Ginn paced Wayne's ground attack with 139 yards in 17 carries. Doug Sturm and Pat Ring accounted for the other 24 yards.

Ginn also led the Blue Devils in the passing department with 90 yards in three receptions. Ring caught two passes for 22 yards and Don Hansen pulled in one for 11 yards.

Scott Niemann was tops in the defensive department with five tackles and 13 assists. He was followed by Ginn (3-6), Roger Fisher (1-8), Ken Hall (2-6), and Ken Franklin (2-5). Sturm had one interception with no return.

Ex-Pro Tells Grid Tales

Wayne Kiwanis Club members got an inside look at professional football Monday from Bob Kruse, former Wayne State grid and wrestling star who played two years for the Oakland Raiders.

Now on the WSC faculty, the former All-American regaled the audience with reminiscences of his training and playing with Raiders such as Daryl Lamonica, Ben Davidson, Jim Otto, George Blanda.

By coincidence Blanda had been the hero of Oakland's come-from-behind 20-20 tie with Kansas City the night before Kruse spoke, and Kruse described the 44-year-old Blanda as a "tremendous competitor, in fine condition."

Kruse got chuckles from Kiwanians as he recalled his first pre-season training camp experiences. There was the time at breakfast when he sat across from the ferocious "on field" elementary subjects to boys who learned with difficulty.

He is studying for a master's degree at Wayne and also will be back at the familiar WSC wrestling mat, but this time as coach. He is taking the place this year of Coach Don Fete, who is on leave for doctoral study.

Cage Rules Meet Set for Thursday

This area's annual basketball rules meeting has been scheduled for Thursday in the Wayne High School gymnasium. Starting time will be 7:30 p.m.

Purpose of the meeting, conducted by the Nebraska School Activities Association, is to acquaint area coaches and officials with rule changes which will be in effect during the 1971-72 basketball season. Harold Maciejewski, school athletic director, noted that some of the common rules—often overlooked—will be reviewed and interpreted.

Those attending the meeting will hear of new approaches to the mechanics of officiating. A film will be shown.

The ultimate goal of Thursday's meeting will be to improve the quality of high school sports officiating. A penalty will be assessed those registered officials not attending one of the meetings held in various locations around the state.

Every year, about $30 million is appropriated to the states for use in wildlife restoration through the Pittman-Robertson Act, which derives revenue from a federal excise tax on firearms and ammunition.

Sun Schedule

The following hunter's sunrise-sunset schedule applies to any point due north or due south of Wayne. For each one-mile west of Wayne, add one minute; for each one mile east, subtract one minute.

Shooting times are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset for big game and one-half hour before sunrise to sunset for all other species (excluding turkey).

Proper Care of Deer Important

Proper field care of deer usually means the difference between tasty venison and unpalatable meat with a gamey taste. And, good field care is also necessary if the carcass is to be handled by a licensed meat processor, according to the Game and Parks Commission.

Deer that have not been properly field dressed, those with dirt, hair, or excessive dried blood in the body cavity, carcasses with badly mangled parts still attached, or those that have begun to spoil because of exposure to heat will not be accepted by processors.

Therefore, the hunter who is careless with his deer in the field will have to cut and package it himself, and, because of his carelessness, he will have poor quality meat in the bargain.

Hunters should field dress their deer immediately, removing internal organs by making a cut along the centerline of the belly from the breastbone to the base of the tail. Care should be taken to avoid puncturing the paunch or intestines.

With a sharp knife, the hunter should then cut around the anus and draw it into the body cavity so that it comes free with the intestines. He should also split the breastbone and free the heart and lungs. Next, the diaphragm should be cut free from the walls of the body cavity, and the internal organs rolled onto the ground. Excess blood should be drained, and the body cavity wiped dry with a clean cloth.

It should then be propped open to allow rapid cooling. During field dressing, cooling, and transportation, care should be taken to avoid contaminating the body cavity with dirt, hair, or contents of the digestive tract. If the deer is skinned in the field, the head and its skin must be left intact until sealed at a check station.

To help deer hunters in the field, the Game and Parks Commission has prepared a brochure entitled "Field Care for Big Game," and mailed a copy to each of some 30,000 firearm-deer permit holders.

The brochure contains a checklist of essential equipment, legal requirements for tagging the deer, a step-by-step description of drawing the deer, plus illustrations of the process and tips

Wildcats End Up in 3-Way L & C Tie

Winside staved off a second half Wynot scoring threat to post a 19-8 trip-win Thursday afternoon. The victory upped the Wildcats' record to 4-4-1.

More importantly, it left Coach Doug Barry's gridironers with a 3-2 West Lewis and Clark season mark—good enough for a three-way tie with Wausau and Osmond for second place in the conference. Hartington took top honors with a 4-1 standing.

All of Winside's scoring came in the first half of Thursday's contest. First six points on the scoreboard came on a 35-yard pass from Scot Deck to John Beemer. The extra point attempt failed.

Two more scores were added in the second period on touchdown passes of 19 and 32 yards from Deck to Jerry Wacker. Larry Cleveland booted the conversion point following the second score. Halftime score: 19-0.

But the complexion of the game changed drastically in the second half when Wynot completely dominated play. In the third quarter, Wynot mounted a 68-yard drive for a touchdown and then ran for the extra points.

Early in the final quarter, the host team seemed close to tightening up the score when a blocked punt gave Wynot the ball on Winside's 20. But the Wildcats rose to the occasion and held inside the six yard line for four downs, taking over on their own two.

Wynot never posed a serious threat from that point on. The football stayed in the middle of the field for the last six minutes

Jerry Wacker (24) looks downfield behind a wall of blockers during Thursday's game at Wynot. Wildcats leading interference includes Bob Krueger (12), Scot Deck (18) and Doug Jenkins (2). of the game. Jerry Wacker was Winside's leading rusher, netting 78 yards in 13 carries. He was followed by Scot Deck with seven carries for 33 yards. Wacker also led in the passing department, with four receptions totaling 57 yards. John Beemer caught two passes for 52 yards and LaTue Langenberg hauled in one for 21 yards.

Defensive leaders were Kurt Schranz with five solo tackles and four assists. Bob Langenberg (3-6), Bob Krueger (4-4) and Doug Jenkins (1-6). Beemer made one interception with no return yardage. This season marks the third time Winside has finished near the top of the conference under the direction of three-year Coach Barry. The Wildcats placed third

Eagles Win Conference Title

Tim Hill scampers for a few yards in Allen's 12-6 win over Emerson-Hubbard Friday night. That victory gives the Eagles a 5-0 conference mark and paves the way to a play-off match with Hartington for the Lewis & Clark championship. Allen finished the season with a 6-2-1 overall record. Hartington wound up 8-1 on the season, 4-1 in conference play.

Recreation Football Teams In Final Week of Action

Wayne's recreation football season this week. Final action is scheduled for Tuesday night at the baseball park. According to Hank Overin, program director, all uniforms must be washed and turned in at the Middle Center (above the fire hall) before recreation basketball gets under way next week. Complete details on the upcoming season will be carried in Thursday's issue of The Herald.

referred shotgun is adequate, most ardent sportsmen prefer "over and under" shotgun. The barrels are vertical rather than horizontal. Harold Loberg, a gun collector and gunsmith from Carroll, NE, joins the group on Sunday afternoon and Wednesday evening. Whenever possible on Wednesday evening the group journeys to the Norfolk Gun Club. There they compete with marksmen from other areas. With the enthusiasm of pheasant season here these men should be ready, but as Nelson says, "When we feed them all year I guess we're entitled to kill them but trap shooting sure is a lot less walking."

typed up in the air by an 8th grade defender—right into the hands of left end Norman Brown. Final score: 8-6.

In other action last week, second team 7th graders won the first round of their inter-grade tourney by downing the first team 8th graders 20-12. The second game is set for Tuesday night. A rubber game, should it be necessary, will be played Thursday.

First half of the game was completely dominated by the 8th graders who scored on a 15-yard run off tackle by Steve Bodenstedt and a quarterback keeper by Dan Ahlvers netting 20 yards. The 7th graders, after making halftime adjustments, came back with three touchdowns to clinch the win. Those scores: —a fumble recovery in the end zone by Kevin Marks early in the third quarter. —Jeff Backstrom late in the third period. —a 35-yard touchdown pass from Jackson to Mark Middleton with seconds to go in the game.

First and second team 8th graders, after completing a perfect 4-0 season against other towns, are now playing intra-squad games. No organized tournament is planned.

Winside Girls Drop Tourney Championship

Final round action in Winside's 1971 Invitational Volleyball Tournament last Tuesday night found Newcastle downing the host team 15-12 and 15-4 for top honors. Emerson-Hubbard took third place by downing Osmond two out of three.

Other teams participating in the tournament included Allen, Hartington Cedar Catholic, Norfolk Catholic and Homer.

In first round competition Monday night Newcastle downed Homer. Osmond won over Hartington C. Emerson-Hubbard beat Norfolk Catholic and Allen fell to Winside. High scorers for Winside were Deb Soden with 12 points and Nancy Gallop with 11. June Smith paced Allen with 14 counters.

Jean Weible led the host team to its second place showing in the final round with 10 points.

Former Wayne Woman Mishap Victim

A former Wayne woman, Frances Baker of Norfolk, died about 6 p.m. Thursday at the Lutheran Hospital in Norfolk, about three hours after she had been struck by a pickup truck at the Norfolk Avenue and Tweelfth Streets crosswalk. Miss Baker was returning from a church meeting to her home at 1205 Norfolk Ave. at the time of the accident.

United Church of Christ. Graveside rites and burial will be at Greenwood Cemetery, Wayne. Miss Baker, 54, was born Sept. 26, 1917, at Walsh, Ill.

Former Resident Of Winside Dies

Elma Baker, with whom she shared her home in Norfolk, and the late Joe Baker, who had operated the Baker Garage in Wayne about 30 years. Bakers moved to Omaha over 20 years ago and Miss Baker had made her home in Norfolk the past 10 or 12 years.

A former resident of the Winside and Carroll areas, Mrs. Late Carter, the former Blanch Miller, 78, of California died Wednesday.

Survivors include the victim's mother, sisters, Mrs. Jim Thornton of New York City, and Mrs. Clyde Fender of Billings, Mont.; aunt, Mrs. A. L. Hogenberger of McCook; Mrs. L. F. Cartwright of Norfolk, Mrs. Deulah Thomas of Council Bluffs, Ia., Irma K. James of Sloux City, Ia., and Mrs. Lee Cauwe of Wayne; an uncle, Ross James, also of Wayne, and a nephew, David Fender.

Funeral services were held Friday at San Pedro, Calif. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Don (Lucretia) Davis, one son, Stanley Carter, four grandchildren and several great grandchildren, all of California; and one sister, Mrs. Ralph Prince of Winside.

Geysers, created when ground water seeping through rock fissures meets hot gases from molten magma deep in the Earth, are a most nature's finest phenomena. The largest in the world are in Yellowstone National Park, the National Geographic Society says.
