NU Study Finds Favorable Attitudes For Year-Round Operation of Schools

LINCOLN—Local school districts should seriously consider Year-Round Operation (YRO) according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln study of attitudes of Nebraskans towards the idea.

That is the conclusion of the "Attitudinal Study of Year-Round School Operation in Nebraska" conducted by faculty and students in the NU Department of Educational Administration.

Participants in the study expressed an overall favorable attitude towards year-round operation of the public schools. They also expressed some dissatisfaction with present school programs. However, NU researchers are not sure whether the participants realize what impact a change in the school calendar might have on change in the school program and community life.

The study involved a random sample of school-related groups (administrators, teachers, school board members, and PTA) and non-school-related groups (business, professional, mass media, agriculture, and government). The school-based group showed a higher favorable response for year-round operation than did the non-school related group.

NU researchers feel that any school considering a year-round operation should make a strong effort to acquaint people in the district with the benefits and drawbacks of the concept.

A published summary of the study includes these recommendations for Nebraska school districts:

Each school district in Nebraska should consider the adequacy and inadequacy of the traditional school year and outline its strengths and weaknesses.

Each school district in Nebraska should consider the advantages and disadvantages of year-round operation as applied to its particular situation.

A program should be conducted in each district with involvement from all segments of the community to acquaint the people in the district with the year-round operation concept.

Research should be conducted by individual Nebraska school districts to determine the practicality of applying year-round operations to their situation.

Year-round operation of schools could be the "wave of the future."

IRS Offices Assume New Responsibilities

Starting Monday, Nov. 15, Internal Revenue Service Offices assumed new responsibilities formerly assigned to the Office of Emergency Preparedness under the President's Economic Stabilization Program, according to John F. Sprague, IRS Acting District Director for Nebraska.

Within guidelines issued and to be issued by the Cost of Living Council, the Price Commission, and the Pay Board, the IRS will act on requests for interpretations and on appeals of adverse determinations. In addition, the IRS will continue to provide information to the public, investigate complaints and monitor compliance with stabilization guidelines.

The IRS will handle enforcement activities in connection with the largest numerical segment of the economy—those businesses not required to report their increases to the Pay Board or the Price Commission, Sprague said. The IRS also will conduct fact-finding investigations for the Board and Commission.

IRS offices in Omaha, Lincoln, and Grand Island are open Monday through Friday to answer inquiries and receive complaints from the public on stabilization matters.

Wilbur Giese Appointed New Wayne Postmaster

Wilbur E. Giese, Wayne Post Office employee for the past 22 years, has been appointed postmaster, the announcement made by E. L. Paulsen, Omaha district manager, United States Postal Service.

Giese has been office-in-charge of the Wayne Post Office since Postmaster Don S. Wightman's retirement in April, 1971.

The appointment is in accord with the merit-selection procedure of the Postal Reorganization Act in the new United States Postal Service. His office is part of the Norfolk Sectional Center Facility, which is under the sectional center manager and Postmaster Howard A. Troy at Norfolk.

Giese, 48, started working in the Wayne Post Office as a temporary-sub in 1949. He advanced through a series of promotions to assistant postmaster, then office-in-charge, the position he held when promoted to postmaster.

He was graduated from Wayne High School and entered the Navy in 1945, assigned to destroyer duty until his discharge in 1946.

Mr. Giese is married to the former Jeannette Riley, also a Wayne High grad. The Gieses are parents of three children.

Army Pay Raise Now in Effect

A major pay raise for members of the United States Army is now effective, according to Sgt. Cleverly, Army recruiter for the Norfolk area.

The pay raise will not only include substantial increases in basic pay, but will also raise quarters and ration allowances.

The new pay scales are a giant step towards making military pay for lower ranking enlisted men and junior officers comparable with that offered by business and industry. According to U. S. government statistics, the average hourly wage in the manufacturing industry in 1970 was $3.36.

Army pay for a sergeant, E-5, by comparison, will now amount to $211 per month. If the sergeant is authorized and receiving quarters and ration allowances, if the same sergeant were married, his hourly pay rate would rise to $2.40.

Army officials state the average service time required to reach the rank of sergeant, E-5, is in the neighborhood of 22 months active service.

"When coupled with the traditional Army benefits such as free medical and dental care, clothing, room and board and retirement benefits, the new pay increases makes Army service truly competitive as a career choice," the Army recruiter stated.

Voter Registration Set

Wayne State students will have an opportunity Monday and Tuesday to register on campus for voting in next year's primary and general elections.

The Student Senate and the Wayne Student Educational Association are sponsoring the registration from 2 to 6 p.m. both days in the Student Center.

Senate Secretary Carolyn Blue explained that students planning to vote in Wayne for the Nebraska primary, May 9 should register in the county. Those students who will not be in college next May or who for other reasons wish to vote in their home counties should register there.

Form letters will be available to non-residents or those wishing to register in home counties. These letters will enable them to obtain registration forms from their home county clerks.

Senate President Richard Kurtzsch urged all students who are at least 18 years old to register. He pointed out that residency requirements are 60 days in the state, 40 days in the county and 10 days in the voter's precinct.

Any change in residency including a move from one form to another requires re-registration.

Bring on the turkey, it's Thanksgiving. Tradition seems to dictate that turkey be the center of the family dinner on Thanksgiving Day.

When selecting your turkey, allow 1/2 to 3/4 lb. ready-to-cook weight per serving plus a generous amount of planned leftovers.

Roasting the turkey at low temperatures will assure a lighter yield of edible meat with more succulent flavor. Plus, you'll have excellent drippings that won't burn or dry on the pan. Set your oven at 250 degrees to 300 degrees. Slice of the turkey will, of course, determine the length of time needed for roasting.

Three to 3 1/2 hours are needed for an unstuffed bird weighing 8 to 10 lbs. Add another half hour for birds weighing 10 to 14 lbs. Four to 4 1/2 hours are needed for 14 to 18 lb. birds, and 20 to 30 lb. birds 5 to 6 hours are required. Stuffed birds generally require an extra hour or hour and a half. So for a 20 lb. stuffed bird, 6 to 7 1/2 hours would be required. Time can be saved if dressing ingredients are heated before stuffing the bird. Never interrupt the roasting period and never stuff the bird the night before.

Allow an extra half hour for the turkey to "rest" before carving it. This helps retain the natural juices. When the turkey resting on its back, remove the entire leg and thigh from the bird at the joint. Be careful not to cut the skin between the leg and the body so it doesn't tear. The thigh may be separated from the drumstick. To provide servings of dark meat for all, slice the drumstick and the thigh section horizontally. Next, trim away the wing. Carve on an angle down the breast in thin slices. Still at an angle, carve alternately from the front and back ends of the breast. Repeat this process on the other side of the bird. Surround the plate of turkey with the traditional favorites your family and guests enjoy.

Mrs. Walter Jaeger and Mrs. Herman Thun conducted games, with prizes of extracts and spices going to Miss Hansen. Cynthia Eymon and LuAnn Sebade

Hosting the event were Mrs. Walter Jaeger, Mrs. Ray Longe, Mrs. Henry Haase, Mrs. Wilbur Heftt, Mrs. Melvin Longe, Mrs. Herman Thun, Mrs. Gilmore Saks, Mrs. Lester Hansen, Leona Hansen and Mrs. Leo Hagsem.

TV, Film Star Opens Christmas Seal Drive

The official opening of the annual Christmas Seal campaign of all Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Associations throughout the United States was officially kicked off by Jack Lemmon, popular film and television star, who is serving this year as national honorary Christmas Seal chairman. He will make many appearances throughout the country on behalf of Christmas Seals.

The colorful seals, with an appeal letter from Lemmon, are now being mailed to over 360,000 homes in Nebraska by county volunteer committees and by the state Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association office. The unique designs are from the drawing board of the famed California artist, James Clarke of San Leandro, Calif.

Of the many respiratory diseases Christmas Seal funds fight, Lemmon speaks specifically of emphysema. He says, "There are only men between 50 and 70 years of age got emphysema. Today more and more young men and women are developing it. The number of patients doubles every five years - and emphysema is the fastest growing killer disease today. The familiar Christmas Seals are one way you help control this menace. Your Christmas Seal Association fights emphysema, tuberculosis, asthma, other chronic respiratory diseases and air pollution.

Ninety-three Nebraska counties are participating in this 65th Christmas Seal campaign, according to Delmar B. Serafy, executive director of the Nebraska Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Mrs. Robert Benthaek, Box 403, Wayne, is the Wayne County contact for the Christmas Seal campaign.

Mrs. Benthaek urges anyone having problems related to tuberculosis or other respiratory diseases to contact her, as well as those wishing to make contributions.

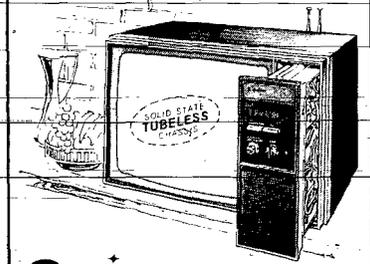

"She adds that educational material for schools, libraries, etc., are made available.

People Ask Us--

QUESTION: We have several cemetery plots which our family no longer needs. How do we go about disposing of them?

ANSWER: Since we don't know the specific cemetery in which you own grave spaces, we will attempt the question in general. There is always a market for the sale of property in well-managed cemeteries, but many factors determine whether or not they can be sold, and to whom they may be sold.

In our cemeteries, a deed or other legal conveyance transfers the ownership of spaces. These can usually be sold but they are subject to the restrictions and by-laws established by the owners of the cemetery. Before you try to sell your cemetery property, be sure to investigate the restrictions which apply. Contact the cemetery board, or stop at Willard Mortuary and we will assist you in arranging the sale of your grave sites.

Bazaar Needs Your Help

April in Paris, springtime in the Rockies, autumn in Wayne—all have a magic about them that animates song-writers, poets.

Perhaps no great song has been written about the leaves falling in Wayne, but here, too, inspiration to fill one with enthusiasm, to prod one to action.

We hope that inspiration this year will insure another successful fall bazaar today (Thursday) for the Wayne Hospital Auxiliary.

The Hospital Auxiliary, which more than deserves our support, has in past years—provided such necessities for the Wayne Hospital as a heart monitor, motorized beds, an isolette for premature babies and cash donations, and even now has a sizeable savings put by for the next project.

Perhaps Wayne area people have not yet decided what they want, need or can afford in the way of a hospital, but the question cannot go unanswered indefinitely, and when a decision is made, the Auxiliary will be ready with their usual enthusiasm and monetary support to help achieve that goal.

We hope you will give this year your support this year. Attend the bazaar. Better yet, take a friend. And remember, donations for the bazaar—handmade articles, holiday decorations, baked goods, etc.—are welcome not only from Auxiliary members, but from all interested persons. Give them a hand.

The 'Lousy' Place

They say you can't fight city hall. How then, would you like to buck heads with the nation's most successful football coach and the ninth richest man in the United States?

It was suspiciously timely when Bob Hope echoed Bob Devaney's pleas for the need for a new University of Nebraska coliseum.

The entertainer, in a recent visit to Lincoln, made statements such as "when do the bats fly out of here" and "the team had better play fast, before the building falls in."

Devaney, as athletic director, had campaigned for a new place for the Husker basketball to stage home encounters.

'Lousy Place'

After the Hope visit, Bob referred to the coliseum as "that lousy place." True, the coliseum is quaint, much too small to accommodate the ever-growing numbers of sports followers and may even have become the laughing stock of the Big Eight Conference.

Before we suffer the wrath of local Husker fans, best we hurriedly explain that we've been a rabid Nebraska U. fan since about the time that knee pants and snede shoes were the rage.

So—cool it fellas—we aren't anti-Devaney. Very much to the contrary. We think the Nebraska move to acquire Devaney from Wyoming was the best investment since the Indians were skinned out of Manhattan.

Many observers still regard D. X. Bible or Colonel Bill Jones as the coaches who made Nebraska into a gridiron powerhouse. They did. But there later was a pigskin "droum"—and Devaney brought NU out of the doldrums and molded teams of unequalled power and national prestige such as even the teams of the "good old days" never could quite attain.

We eat up Nebraska football like it was homemade ice cream and chocolate cake. So, if readers had visions of tar and feathers for an NU "travison," we hope we have popped that balloon.

Sold Lawmakers

Devaney, a convincing guy, whether he's huddling with his football players or members of the State Legislature, apparently "sold" the lawmakers that a new coliseum was a must.

We didn't yelp too much about that, since we fought the crowds at state tournaments and home NU basketball games during 15 years as a newspaper sports editor, and was well tuned in on the need for expansion.

Our only gripe was the fact that we hadn't yet mustered on the will to quit smoking—and the guys who hadn't "kicked the habit" were the ones who were going to foot the bill.

Meanwhile, the "purists" were going to share in the rewards—without putting out a penny.

Hope Aids Cause

Bob Hope couldn't have helped Devaney's cause more with his ridicule of the coliseum, where he had been a guest speaker.

But, while Hope ranks as "top drawer" by this writer for his Christmas visits to overseas servicemen, and doubtlessly is an expert on acoustics, it was surprising that he was able to evaluate all of the coliseum's weaknesses, without being briefed just a trifle, in one short visit. The famed movie and TV entertainer hasn't done too badly in keeping his bank account out of the red, either.

Worth a mere $450 million. Others who have had little trouble meeting the monthly rent and grocery bill are John Paul Getty and Howard Hughes ($2 billion), H. L. Hunt ($1.5 billion), Daniel Ludwig ($1 billion), H. Ross Perot and Dr. Edwin Land ($600 million), Paul Mellon and John MacArthur ($500 million).

Billion—How Much?

A billion bucks is beyond the scope of most people's imagination. For those math majors, this is a golden opportunity to pin-bet-an-odd-odds-ear.

A one-time-through calculation brought about these startling answers—without guarantee as to authenticity.

Were a person able to count a dollar bill a second, 60 seconds a minute, 60 minutes an hour, 24 hours a day and 365 days a year, how long would it take to count a billion dollars?

Would you believe 31 years, 259 days, one hour, 46 minutes and 40 seconds? Try it on for accuracy—and let us know.

Dear Editor: There are occasions when one feels a note of appreciation and thanks are in order. Enclosed is a check for extension of subscription to your fine newspaper which arrives here regularly.

Having lived near Wayne 70 years of my life, the Herald is like "a letter from home." The general news and happenings, editorials, letters to the editor and many other features make the semi-weekly deserve its marks of excellence.

The "Just Wright" column, with its originality, satire, common sense mixed with humor, and presented in a way to put it across, will be missed. We wish Merlith M. Wright success and satisfaction

In his new role. A former neighbor and friend and anyone who has agriculture and production of purchased livestock as their main interest, and occupation will congratulate Dick Sorenson on his efforts and success. He also took an active part in community affairs.

Wayne is an enterprising, forward-looking and community-minded town, where people are friendly and courteous. A hearty welcome to the new editor of The Wayne Herald—Clare G. Hurlbert. Best wishes to your worthy paper, its staff and readers. God bless you all.

Governor Appoints Five To State Health Board

LINCOLN—Gov. J. James Exon has named five new members to the State Health Board.

The governor replaced three appointments of former Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann and filled two new seats.

The three-year terms of Robert V. Jones—of York, the Rev. Elywn Bergstraesser of Blair and Dr. Warren Bosley of Grand Island expired Sept. 14.

Exon appointed Mrs. Maxine Morrison of Omaha—the wife of former Gov. Frank B. Morrison—fiancée of Lincoln and Dr. Clarence Davis Jr., of Oseola to fill the vacancies.

The 1971 Legislature expanded the health board to 14 members by adding seats to be filled by a chiropractor and a physical therapist.

Exon placed Dr. D. M. Krogh of Omaha in the chiropractor's chair and Richard C. Harris of Lincoln in the therapist's position.

Next year, four more terms run out, allowing Exon to have a majority of the board serving under his appointment.

The health board—like the game commission—is an administrative authority over its department. A governor's only chance to provide a direct influence over the operation is through his appointments to the board, which selects the health director.

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents has agreed to ask the parents of NU students what they think about coed visitation rights in the dormitories—and then abide by the results of the poll.

On a 5-2 vote, the regents directed that a committee of faculty members, administrators and students devise a plan for guest privileges and submit it to the parents. If half or more of the parents say the plan is acceptable, it would be implemented.

President Durward B. Varner said, however, there would be some boundaries on the type of plan which could be proposed.

It would have to include a provision that dorm units which would allow the visitation rights be occupied only by students who have the written consent of their parents to live there. Housing without visitation privileges also would be available.

The regents previously had turned down all efforts to enact a visitation program at NU, but students have continued to lobby for such a program.

In introducing the subject again to the board recently, Varner said he had been "impressed with the responsible manner" in which the students had pursued the subject.

"A less responsible student body could have created many difficulties for this board," he said.

Varner said he had concerns about such a program and promised that if one is endorsed the administration would take necessary steps to insure security "particularly in the women's residence halls."

The president said, however, Nebraska "probably is more restrictive than the overwhelming number of campuses across the country. In its dormitory rules no coed use of dormitory lounges now is permitted during certain hours."

Student organizations known as Association for Birth Control and Women's Action Group distributed a controversial pamphlet on the university's Lincoln campus, according to the faculty advisor of one of the groups.

Mrs. C. Twig Daniels, the advisor to the ABC, said the "Birth Control Handbook" was distributed because of concern about "the large number of problem pregnancies on the campus."

The pamphlet contains explicit information on birth control devices, abortion, and sterilization and line drawings and photographs of reproductive organs.

Paul O'Hara, executive director of the Nebraska Catholic Conference, handed out copies of the pamphlet to the regents and complained that the booklet was "virtually being forced on students."

The contents of the booklet, O'Hara said, "surpass the bounds of propriety by any definition."

Mrs. Daniels said the intention was to make the booklet available on request and that it was "a goof" if the pamphlets were placed in all the mail boxes of residents of some of the women's dormitories.

O'Hara also told the regents he had information some of the students' housing fees had been used to buy the books, but Mrs. Daniels said ABC had purchased them.

The pamphlet is published by the Students' Society of McGill University in Montreal, Canada.

The introduction to the pamphlet says, in part:

"The Birth Control Handbook is produced not as a favor to an irresponsible medical profession nor as a favor to men... but as a political act. Organizations distributing the handbook have a responsibility to continually raise the issues of women's liberation whenever dealing with birth control."

On a related matter, the regents appointed the two physicians on the board—Drs. Robert Prokop of Papillion and Robert Hoefoot of Grand Island—to conduct a study of the health services offered students at the three NU campuses.

Included in the study is to be a survey of what birth control counseling, if any, is made available to students.

November 16, 1961: The joint turkey trap shoot sponsored by the Wayne Jaycees and the Isaac Walton League will be held Sunday. Max Lundstrom, special services director of WSTF, was among 80 teacher placement officers attending the twenty-eighth annual Fall Conference of the National Instructional Teacher Placement association in Boulder, Colo., last week. The Wayne city school marching band brought home an excellent rating from the Nebraska High School Marching Band Festival at Lincoln Saturday. Wakefield Community Hospital is holding open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. Dennis Janke, 19, Wayne, was hospitalized in Norfolk Sunday after the car he was driving crashed head-on into a ditch at the dead-end of a county road two miles east and one mile south of Tokiska. Ruth Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Jensen, Winslow, was crowned "Miss Methodist" at the Nebraska Methodist Hospital, Omaha. Wayne's only centenarian, Mrs. A. A. Welch, fell Tuesday noon at her home and broke her hip.

The Wage-Price Freeze

Questions and Answers

Q—Can the bank that is financing my home mortgage loan increase amounts paid as "points"?

A—Since the variation of points is principally a function of interest rate changes, points are not subject to the freeze. Nevertheless, in keeping with the spirit and intent of the President's wage-price freeze, the level of these points should be no higher than that during the base period.

Q—Are customers entitled to inspect a store's records of prices prevailing during the base period?

A—Sellers must maintain lists of ceiling prices. Customers have a right to inspect the lists on an item-by-item basis. If a customer questions the accuracy of ceiling prices for goods or services, the seller is encouraged but not required to show the supporting records of transactions on which the ceiling prices are based.

Sellers must, however, provide all lists and supporting records to federal employees responsible for investigating complaints.

$41 Million in Farm Credit Available Through FHA and Commercial Loans

Wayne and Stanton County farmers will be able to tap the largest supply of supplemental credit in history this year through the Farmers Home Administration, County Supervisor LaVern Ostendorf reports.

"We project that more than $41 million will be available to Nebraska farmers in fiscal 1972 as a result of cooperative efforts between the Farmers Home Administration and commercial lenders," he stated.

The cooperative effort involves having the commercial credit source and Farmers Home Administration make simultaneous loans to a borrower, with the private lender having first claim on the security.

"The farm ownership program is aimed to reach $14 million to $15 million of government money, with private lenders participating at a level of $16 million," Ostendorf continued.

"Projected figures for the farm operating loan program is $10 million, of which $2 million comes from regular commercial lenders."

Lending levels of FHA farm programs are also higher because of a substantial boost given the farm ownership program by President Nixon when he announced that national funds would be $350 million this fiscal year, $82 million above 1971 levels, Ostendorf said.

The President also said the nationwide farm operating loan program would be raised to $500 million from its present $275 million level. If the Congress would approve legislation changing the program from an appropriation basis to an insured basis, Ostendorf said, notes of farm borrowers for operating purposes would be sold to investors who, in turn, would be insured against loss in the notes. The investors' money would replenish a revolving fund and would be available for more loans, as is the case now with farm ownership.

"In addition, we are hopeful that in this fiscal year 1972, private credit sources will cooperate by lending $250 million to our farm ownership borrowers. This, plus our $350 million budget, makes $600 million in credit available. Projects show there should also be an added $150 million in private money for families who participate in our $275 million farm operating credit program.

"When we add these sums to the $140 million emergency farm loan program, we're looking at more than a billion dollar program—double the credit available to family farmers through FHA in 1971. A third of this amount will have been provided directly by the private enterprise system," Ostendorf said.

Ostendorf points out that the plan is favorably received by commercial lenders, and private participation is expected to rise sharply.

"It is the policy to assist people in finding the credit needed to begin farming or to help finance farm operations," he said. "We, therefore, commit government funds only when we cannot involve private money to serve agriculture's credit needs."

"To assure this, county supervisors of the Farmers Home Administration are required to contact another lender with respect to every application for farm ownership or operating funds."

"We are pleased with the fine cooperation extended by banks and other credit sources to make this plan work," he concluded.

Gene Perry Wins Corn Yield Award

Gene Perry of Wayne has received a special award for excellence in corn growing from Fum's 6-Hybrids.

Perry's award was based on his 100.5 bushel corn yield, which has been officially entered in the nationwide record books of Project 200, a high-yield corn growing program aimed at increasing corn yields and per-acre profits. Over 3,000 corn growers throughout the U. S. and Canada are participating in the project.

Perry's yield was from Fum's G-4444, planted April 28 in 30-inch rows. Plant population at harvest was 22,000 per acre. Harvest was Sept. 17, at which time the grain had reached 19.0 per cent moisture.

version and retirement, agricultural research and extension, agricultural statistics, REA and FHA loans, crop insurance, soil and water conservation and grazing rights on public lands.

As citizens, farm people benefit from many other programs such as income tax concessions, highways, weather forecasts, postal service, aid to education, Social Security, scientific research, health services, etc. Some people argue that benefits of agricultural research and extension ultimately accrue to consumers as cheaper food rather than to farmers. This report does not cover an important subject in reverse from rural to urban areas, in the form of young people raised and educated at the expense of rural families.

Many electrical systems are not grounded adequately. If at all, and it's a big gamble if you take for granted that a system is grounded.

The electrical entrance panel in a building should be connected to a rod driven at least eight feet into the earth or a metal water-pipe extending at least 10 feet into the soil. A well casing is most desirable if available.

The ground wire should be connected to the water pipe at the point where the pipe leaves the building. This may mean running the No. 6 copper ground cable all the way across the basement.

An underground electrical system not only results in increased shock danger to humans and animals, but also increases susceptibility to lightning damage.

Don't gamble. If the electrical entrance panel to a building is not grounded, have it done immediately. If you're not sure the grounding is adequate, have it checked.

Good Morning Feeders & Hi Mom

By Eddie Collins

We had waited three weeks to see George. Ever since the frantic phone call from Ruth Ann. Late one night the phone rang. It rang every five seconds—ever time it by stop watch?

I once did the hundred yard dash in 10.4. No, not in boots. Track shoes, the depression kind.

Barefooted, I dodged metal and plastic trucks and farm animals. I counted eight jangles to cover 60 feet.

"Ed?" Ruth Ann.—George has been taken to the hospital. A nervous breakdown!

"What can I do, Rutlie?" Want me to get ahold of the kids?"

"No, Ed. They might be the reason."

"We'll come see you. We'll leave this morning."

Hard to Understand

Driving 1,100 miles I had time to think about George. What a good friend, the outstanding father and leader in agriculture. So much effort and love of projects, of industry and the products. An expert speaker. Accepted leader who overflowed vitality and enthusiasm. Why More EDDIE COLLINS, page 5
