"The special gifts division—largest in the campaign—will solicit Wayne businesses, professional men and women other than the medical staff of the hospital, and many families capable of subscribing for the new Medical Center," said Jeffrey. "We are confident the division's $100,000 quota in the campaign will be oversubscribed with the leadership represented by its chairman and those he will enlist to assist him."

Ouch—That Hurt

The measles and rubella immunization clinic, for children 1-11, was held Thursday at the Wakefield High School — and had some "reluctant victims." At the left, Dr. C. M. Coe of Wakefield is ready to administer the vaccine to one "patient" while Kathy Hurley of Omaha of the Nebraska State Health Department, Division of Communicable Diseases, "gives the business" to another and, at right, a calm youngster leaves in the arms of his mother after going through the "production line." The American Legion Auxiliary aided with the registration of the 96 children who were immunized.

Caution - Both Ways

Motorists are constantly being cautioned to watch out for bicycle riders on city streets, especially during the school year.

We echo that word of caution. "Bicycle riders are not to be held share of the responsibility and yield when another vehicle has the right-of-way. All too often we have seen bicycle riders breeze through stop signs or traffic lights, paying little heed to any traffic from the left or right. It gives the motorist a "sandwich feeling" to meet a bicycle coming head-on, down the left side of the street, when said motorist is also meeting another vehicle approaching on the opposite side.

Cold Sweat

And, how often have you broken out in a cold sweat when you meet a cyclist giving his buddy a lift—the ever-shifting weight of the two causing the bike to wobble from side to side? That brings on king-sized goose bumps for motorists who can't help but visualize the aftermath should the rider lose control and crash head-on into his car.

Bicycle riders should be reminded that ALL laws for motorists also apply to them. Although we think a "life-sentence" for an infraction is "slightly" excessive, a reprimand from the police, school officials, citizens and parents when they see careless operation of a bicycle is certainly appropriate.

E. L. "Pat" Halley of the Wayne Police Department, who conducts Bicycle Safety School at the end of each school term, and Police Chief Vern Fairchild said the most frequent violators were those of 12 years of age and adults. The Bicycle Safety School is conducted in two-hour periods over a three-day span, featuring safety films, review of laws and demonstration of correct and safe riding. Older youths then conduct an actual riding course around the city and then the children are quizzed on rules of safe cycling.

Bikes Impounded

"We impound bikes for a week on some occasions—of violations," Halley and Fairchild said, "and that seems to be our most effective means of enforcing bicycle laws. They just don't like the thought of walking and one 'bicycle imprisonment' usually is sufficient."

Halley added that total enforcement is going to be difficult "until the adults obey the laws. It is up to the older set of cyclists to set a good example for our children."

Both remember too well the near-tragedy last Labor Day when a young boy on a bike and a car collided, resulting in a broken hip and a long hospitalization for the youth.

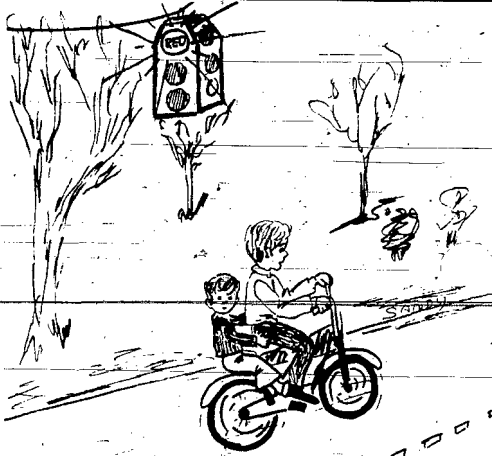

"We certainly don't want to be called out to pick up a dead child," they concluded.

Tragic Scene

Probably the most tragic scene experienced by most persons is a fatal accident, possibly even more heart-rending when it involves younger children.

Memories are never erased, either for parents of those victims or the car driver involved. Where the responsibility lies is inconsequential.

The child is dead—very dead. So, motorists, keep a sharp eye out of the small fry. And, cyclists, do your part in preventing a tragedy which could easily have been avoided.

The Wage-Price Freeze

Questions and Answers

Q—My local supermarket has just discontinued its policy of giving out trading stamps. Can they do this during the freeze?
A—Yes. Retail outlets may discontinue trading stamps if they pass on the value of the stamps to their customers in the form of lower prices on their merchandise.

This can be done in either of two ways. Merchants can lower the prices of everything they sell by the value of the stamps or, when you pay for your purchases at the cash register, they can deduct the market value of the stamps at redemption from the prices of those items for which trading stamps would have been given.

If retailers adopt the latter method of passing on the lower prices, they must post in a prominent place in each retail outlet at least one sign (minimum of 30" x 40"), plus a readily visible sign at each cash register, advising customers of the discontinuance of the trading stamps and the reduction in total value of the merchandise they are buying.

Q—Can a landlord require a person to rent or purchase furniture, where it was not his established practice before the freeze?
A—No. Any practice which constitutes a means to obtain a higher rent than is permitted under the freeze is prohibited.

Q—The football team in my town is giving tickets for future games to those season ticket-holders due a refund because of prices charged above the wage-price ceiling. Is this form of compensation permitted?
A—Yes. Teams may offer patrons tickets to future games or other forms of compensation in lieu of a cash refund. However, at the same time, it still must offer the option of a cash refund when the other forms of compensation are unsatisfactory to the patron.

Q—I will be retiring very shortly after 25 years of service and will be eligible for increased pension benefits. Can I still receive these benefits?
A—Employees retiring during the freeze will not be prejudiced by the ceiling. For purposes of computation of their pension benefits, these employees will be treated as though the freeze had not occurred. In your case, you may receive any increment upon retirement even if the completion of 25 years employment occurs after August 15.

However, any additional increment must not exceed increments given prior to the freeze, for the same amount of service, unless an increase in benefits was announced before Aug. 15.

Q—Is military pay subject to the freeze?
A—Yes, military pay is subject to the terms and conditions of the President's freeze on wage increases.

A benefit dance will be held Saturday night at King's Ballroom in Norfolk with proceeds earmarked for the Pierce County Historical Society museum in the depot at Gilman Park. The Leather Look Leather-look garments are in fashion demand again this season. Quality synthetic suede is available in leathers. Mix and match wardrobe planning has no limits.

The leather look is easy to care for at home. Smooth-grained garments can be cleaned with a damp cloth. Napped surfaces are cleaned by brushing. A suede brush or a soft gum eraser will remove surface marks.

The color range of the leather look has increased considerably in the past few years. Basic beige, blue, red, black and brown have given way to varying shades and tints of everything from yellow to pink and orange. No wonder the leather look has continued in popularity.

Wayne State Basketball Team 'Ready for Action'

The outlook for Wayne State basketball looks a good bit different than it did a year ago, Coach Ron Jones believes. As he grids a nine-letterman squad for its opener against Northwestern College at Orange City, Iowa, Wednesday, and the home opener Saturday night with USD, Springfield, Jones recalls the plight last year. "Then we had three lettermen, only one of them a returning starter. Nobody else had played much on the previous year's team which won its third straight Nebraska NAIA championship. Jones took over as head coach last year after three years as assistant coach with these three title teams. The squad he inherited lacked experience and confidence, he recalled Thursday in talking to the Wayne State Gazette's Club.

Half of Turkey

Hunters Successful

LINCOLN—A final tally from check stations shows that turkey hunters enjoyed a higher than average success ratio, the Game and Parks Commission reports. Hunters bagged 835 turkeys this fall for 49 per cent success. There were 1,700 permits authorized for the 15-day hunt, which ended Nov. 18. During the 1970 fall season, 770 turkeys were taken for a 45 per cent success. Of the 835 birds bagged this year, 626 were taken in the Round Top Unit and 209 in the Niobrara Unit.

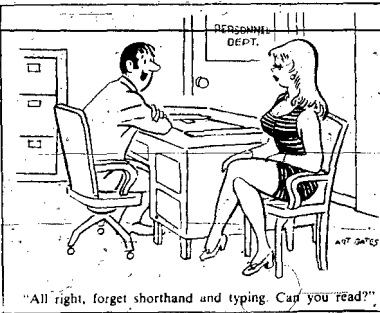

The highest success on record is 56 per cent registered in 1965 and 1963, the first and second seasons. Turkeys were first stocked in Nebraska in 1959.

"It's different now. We have a close-knit team, like a fraternity. They have confidence in themselves and in each other," Jones said. He described his Wildcats as "ready to play," but cautioned that Northwestern may be "as tough a team as we will play" with most of its starters back from last year's 19-3 team which went to the NAIA national meet. Jones said most of the starting berths are still up for competition. Among the nine lettermen are three who started regularly, three others who started several times. The other three also had a crack at starting occasionally.

Dennis Siefkes, 6-7 center from Somers, Iowa, now a husky 225 pounds, is pretty well entrenched again at the post spot. Last year he led the team in scoring at 17.8 points and in rebounds at 9.4. He started all but one game, but played in that one despite a minor injury. Jerry Woodin, six-foot guard from Pochontas, Iowa, returns as the team playmaker. A deft ball handler with streaks of hot shooting, Woodin started every game last year. Another regular starter returning is 6-4 forward Ron Jones from Hamilton, Mo., described by Coach Jones as "even quicker than this year." As a freshman, player Jones won the "most improved player" title. "Also a strong contender at forward is 5-6 Tom Harvey of Denison, Iowa. Though short on quickness, Jones said, Harvey is a "smart player, strong and solid." Last year he was back-up center, but now is tabbed at forward. Another Denison product, 6-7 freshman Neal Waiden, now is the back-up for Siefkes. Jones calls him "sound in fundamentals and learning fast." Also vying at forward are letterman seniors Randy Rohlfson of Pullina, Iowa, and Dana Trofholz of Schuyler, both frequent starters last year, "both steady," Jones said. Trofholz probably is the team's best shooter. Scrapping for court jobs are "super quiet" Tom Erwin of Concord and Dan Quinn of Defiance, Iowa, "who has all the tools including quickness and outside shooting threat," Jones said. Both lettered last year. Both were sometimes starters. Another letterman, junior prospect is Dennis Brunner of Blair.

Wayne High product Gordie Jorgensen is a handy man who will play either guard or forward. The schedule: November—24, at Northwestern (Iowa); 27, University of South Dakota-Springsfield; December—1, at UN-Omaha; 7, at Midland; 10, at Southwest Minnesota State; 17, Northern State (S.D.); 18, Doane; 29-30, Wayne State Christmas Holiday Tournament. January—4, Southwest Minnesota; 7, Kearney State; 8, Hastings; 11, at Doane; 13, Chadron State; 18, at Briar Cliff; 21, at Peru State; 25, at Hastings; 29, UN-Omaha. February—1, at Kearney State; 7, Westmar; 16, Dana; 12, at Mount Marty; 15, Briar Cliff; 18, at Chadron State; 23, Peru State.

The Holiday Tournament will have Lea, Missouri Valley and Sioux Falls joining Wayne State in the college division; Bloomfield, Laurel, Norfolk Catholic and Wayne in the high school division. Second Scout Troop Organized in Winside A second Cub Scout Troop Pack 173, Den II, has been organized in Winside, and will meet at 3:45 p.m. each Monday in the George Gahl home. Mrs. Gahl is leader, assisted by Mrs. Jay Morse. Members of the Troop are Billy Gottberg, Billy Westfall, Tom Gahl, Steven Morse, Chris Jenkins and Robbie Jacobsen. At their meeting Monday, the boys began making pine cone turkeys. Tom Gahl furnished treats. Next meeting will be today (Monday) in the Gahl home.

Public Hunting Land Made Available to Outdoorsmen

LINCOLN—About 13,400 acres of public hunting lands have become available in Nebraska through the efforts of the U. S. Department of the Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service, according to the Game and Parks Commission. Since 1961, when acquisition began, more than a million acres of prairie wetlands have been placed in permanent protection in Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota. This is about 50 per cent of the acquisition goal set for the wetlands preservation program, although approximately 70 per cent of the desired lands within south-central Nebraska has been purchased. The four-state area contains most of the waterfowl-producing marshes of the continental United States, exclusive of Alaska. Priority is given to providing nesting habitat for ducks, as well as food, water, and cover for any migrant waterfowl in the area. Nebraska wetlands have some unique advantages of their own. For example, the higher water table of the state allows pumping of water onto the marshes and pastures to provide for dry years, although only three basins are now equipped with pumps. The state also boasts the largest acreage of reseeded native grasses of any included in the program. In addition to waterfowl production, Nebraska profits from the marshes in increased upland game habitat. Areas surrounding the basins are ideal for pheasants and quail production. Continued acquisition will round out areas already held to add more such habitat. Hunting opportunities, at present, vary from year to year with the rise and fall of moisture. In dry years, the potholes dry up, and waterfowl pass them by. In wet years, the influx of waterfowl is tremendous. Conversely, pheasant populations increase when water levels drop, affording fine upland hunting in slow waterfowl years. Since the inception of the prairie wetlands preservation program in Nebraska, the Game and Parks Commission has operated in supplying information on what prime lands are avail-

Gottsch, Smith, Wynn Rate NAI AAll-Star

Three Wayne State football players gained better on the Nebraska NAIA District all-star team chosen last week by coaches. Gary Gottsch, center from Springfield, Neb., and Reggie Smith, linebacker from West Point, were second-year choices for the "dream team." Mike Wynn, a tackle from Grand Island, was tabbed for 7 defensive spots, although he also played offensive tackle and guard this year. Coaches of the 10 NAIA colleges selected 27 players for the offensive and defensive units. UN-Omaha landed seven places, Chadron State, five, Kearney State and Hastings four each, Concordia, Midland, Doane and Doan one each. Only Peru State failed to get a man on the first team. Among honorable mentions were these from Wayne: Offense—Joe Dashiell, Elizabeth, N. J., and Reggie Yates, Traverport, Iowa; ends, Don Coles, Indianola, Mo.; tackle, Mike Wright, Avoca, Iowa, back. Defense—Monty Miller, Newcastle, end; Bruce Cramer, Olympia Fields, Ill., linebacker; Chuck Ross, West Point, and Pat Holston, Elizabeth, N. J., deep

College Night to Be Tuesday at Norfolk

Transportation will be arranged for Wayne High School students interested in attending College Night Tuesday at Norfolk High School.

A number of Nebraska colleges will be represented.

A representative from the College of Saint Mary, an Omaha liberal arts Catholic college, visited interested seniors last Monday and a Navy officer team explained the Navy and Marine Corps ROTC program during a Thursday visit.

Educational Television Has Varied Features

An opera based on a fairy tale, a Thanksgiving Day musical special and debates on current issues will provide fare for the entire family in programs on Nebraska Educational Television Network stations this week (Nov. 21-27).

An evening of family entertainment begins Monday at 7 p.m. as the "PBS Special of the Week" presents "Stravinsky Remembered." Highlighting the 90-minute program will be the performance of the opera, "The Emperor and the Nightingale." Based on a Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale, it concerns a beautiful nightingale whose songs delight the Emperor of China and save him from death.

The program also will include an interview with Stravinsky's widow and with Robert Croft, his protege and biographer.

A musical conclusion to that holiday feast will be provided by the World Symphony Orchestra on the "PBS Thanksgiving Special" Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Arthur Fiedler will be seen conducting the 140 musical ambassadors from 60 nations in a concert at the opening of Walt Disney World in Florida.

Advocates Howard Miller and William Ruster will concentrate on a controversial issue Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. They will debate whether Congress should make strikers ineligible to receive public aid.

Mom and Dad will find this week's edition of "The Great American Dream Machine" Wednesday at 8 p.m. especially entertaining as Tiny Tim stars the cast through a cloud of nostalgia. Segments will include an 83rd birthday party, a trip through the "Kalifornia Kar Culture" and the reunion of a high school class of 1921.

Of special interest to Nebraska will be the "Midweek Special" Wednesday at 9 p.m. The State Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with NETN, is beginning a series of quarterly programs to better inform citizens of its programs and plans.

Included in the series will be introductions of personnel, explanations of departmental functions and reports on new developments in Nebraska agriculture.

Another NETN program, "House and Home 1972" is a "must" for Nebraska mothers. Hostess Janet Poley and Susan Hyland Block, a graduate assistant in the University of Nebraska's department of human development and the family, discuss the selection of children's toys for Christmas gifts Thursday at 7 p.m.

Other programs scheduled this week on NETN include:

- "The French Chef"—Gourmet Julia Child prepares these tasty French croissants, which are so popular for holiday brunches, Wednesday at 7 p.m.
- "Book Beat"—Robert Cronin interviews Carson Kraml, author of "Tracy and Hepburn: An Intimate Portrait," Monday at 8:30 p.m.

Correction

Classes at the Laurel-Concord Public School will be held this Wednesday. It was earlier announced that school would not be held that day because of Thanksgiving vacation.

Bazaar Nets $1200

"Donations were better than average, but turnout was not quite as good as usual," said Mrs. Carl Lentz, vice president of the Wayne Hospital Auxiliary of the fall bazaar held Thursday afternoon and evening at the city auditorium. The drop in attendance could possibly be attributed to the innovation this year of holding the bazaar on Thursday rather than Saturday, and late in the day, rather than early, as had been done in previous years. Net proceeds are estimated at $1200, or about the same as last year, with $255. of that coming from candy sales, always a favorite feature. The kitchen served about 350 soup suppers before running out of food. In charge of the event were Auxiliary officers Mrs. R. Girmley, president; Mrs. Lentz, vice president; Mrs. Norbert Brugg, secretary, and Mrs. Clifford Wait, treasurer.

Laurel Hi School Play Tuesday, Wednesday

The junior and senior classes of Laurel High School will present a play, "Onions in the Stew," Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 23-24 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

In addition, a matinee at 2 p.m. Tuesday will be given. Students are selling advance tickets, $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The play, written by William Dabzell, is a story of the McDonald family on Vashon Island in the Puget Sound. It is being directed by Ella Larson, assisted by Sandra Anderson.

The production stars Ann Swanson as Betty MacDonald, who is often in "stew," and Robert Gadeken, her husband, Don Nancy Bingham, as Anne, plays her oldest daughter and Cindy Schutte, as Joan, their youngest daughter. Howard is played by Larry Mackey, Anne's city boy friend, and Roger, played by Jon Dalao, is her local boy friend. Claud, played by Randy Stage, is Joan's steady.

Nancy Wallin plays Claire Fessenden, a neighbor; Mary Nelson, as Lesley Arnold, a charming visitor; Pam Hinrichs, as Margie, her niece, and Lanita McCorkindale, as Miss Garvey, a welfare worker.

Ann Coughlin, Cheryl Schrad and Carolyn Wentworth play three teenage friends; Lynn Evers, Jerry Schutte, Jerry Wells and June Pearson play the parts of plumbers; Bessie Gadeken, Marlene Stark, Gary Chace and Keith Olson are visiting relatives; Monte Burns and Gloria Tuttle are visiting friends; Old Budd is played by Mitchell Baker; Grover the Sailor by Dick Spahr, and the announcer by Robert Britfield.

School Lunch

Reimbursement will be paid to schools for free and reduced price lunches served in accordance with the eligibility standards established by the school and approved by the state prior to Oct. 1. Eligibility criteria approved for schools centering the program after Oct. 1, must fall within the state agency's eligibility standards announced before Oct. 1.

The states are required to build 50 per cent of their non-food assistance money in reserve for the "no program" schools in their area, through January of the school year, unless the states can show cause that such amount is not needed for non-program schools. This provision has been included in order to use non-food (equipment) assistance funds to begin programs in those needy schools now without a food service.

The regulations also make clear that states cannot authorize "blanket approval" for schools to receive section H special cash assistance for all lunches unless all the children in the school meet promulgated eligibility criteria for such lunches.

Accident

The only other police ticket filing is a shuffling charge filed by Super Valu against Pat Dyers, arrested for allegedly having taken some meat from the store at 12:22 a.m. Friday morning.

Jaycees

Halftime entertainment will be provided by the "owners" of the Mr. Jaycees—the Mrs. Jaycees. Assisting the Mrs. Jaycees in cheerleading for the high-scoring team will be Bill Lueders, David Ley, Darrel May, Gary Pick, John Grashorn, Ken Sitzman, Dick Sadow, Dick Sorensen, Arnold Kindall, Harlan Freese and John Richards.

With appreciation for an outstanding team, the Wayne Jaycees have issued a challenge to all teams for a game with benefits to go to a good cause.

WHAT IS A TOWN?

A TOWN IS A GROUP OF PEOPLE.

It is a School.

It is a City Government.

It is Industry and Jobs.

It is Retail Business.

They all have to work together. All must have the support of the people. Or there is no town.

Give your local merchant a chance for your business. You shouldn't spend your hard earned money with him unless his selection is adequate and his price competitive. But give him the first opportunity to make the sale.

For the local retailer pays the highest percentage of local taxes. He most often is the civic leader who dedicates his time and talents to his town. He is the one contacted first for contributions to charitable projects. He provides jobs. Without his store you have no town.

Urge Prompt Claim Filing For Medicare

Have you had doctor bills in 1971? Are you going to submit these bills for payment by Medicare?

To avoid delay in Medicare payment, patients should file claims promptly after they get their doctor bills, according to Robert L. Polkey, Social Security district manager in Norfolk.

Many people let their medical bills accumulate until the end of the year and then file their claim. This creates a clerical backlog that will cause delays in payment.

You don't have to wait until after the first of the year. Mutual of Omaha, which handles payments for Nebraska, suggests that all bills be submitted immediately on receipt from your doctor.

Polkey said Dec. 31, 1971, is the deadline for filing Medicare claims for services rendered Oct. 1, 1969, through Sept. 30, 1970.

"Under the law, Medicare can pay medical insurance claims only when a certain time after treatment or other services," he said. "After Dec. 31, 1971, Medicare cannot pay on bills for services rendered Oct. 1, 1969, through Sept. 30, 1970."
