

ASC Ballot Deadline Near; Tabulation to Be Dec. 6

It's now time for Wayne County farmers to vote their choice for ASC community committee, Harry Hebenmann, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, reports.

Ballots went out in the mail Nov. 18, and they must be properly voted and returned to the County ASC Office by Dec. 4, in order to be counted, Harry said.

Votes will be tabulated publicly by the county committee Monday, Dec. 6 at 8:30 at the Wayne County ASC office. Anyone may view the counting.

Each ASC community will vote its own slate of nominees. Following are the slates of nominees for the 13 community ASC committees:

Each farmer may vote for not more than three candidates in the ASC election. He may select up to three of the candidates listed, or he may write in his choices on the lines provided at the bottom of the ballot.

In each of the 13 ASC communities in the county, three community committees and two alternates will be elected. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes becomes chairman; the second highest, vice-chairman; third-high, regular member; and fourth and fifth highest become first and second alternates who serve on the community committee if regular members are absent or if a permanent vacancy occurs. All election ties will be settled by lot.

ASC community committees are elected for one-year terms, to begin Jan. 1.

These community committees or elect the County ASC Committee and choose its officers. They also help keep farmers in their communities informed on how individual farm operations will be afected by farm programs administered by the County ASC Committee. The major ASC programs in Wayne County are REAP, Wheat, Feed Grain, CCC Price Support Loans, and Storage Structure Loans.

Any farm owner, tenant, or shareholder, of legal voting age, may vote in the election if his farm is eligible to participate in any of the ASC's programs administered in his community. Others who may vote are: A wife who actively operates a farm with her husband; a minor who supervises the conduct of the farming operation of an entire farm; a legal guardian who manages a farm for a child; and a person representing a legal entity such as a partnership or corporation.

Producers who have farm interests in more than one community may select the community in which to vote, but may vote in only one community in the county.

Ballots should be voted and then sealed inside the plain envelope. This envelope should then be placed inside the one addressed to the county office. This procedure insures the secrecy of each vote. The certification on the election envelope must be signed and dated before being returned to the County Office. Voters who certify their ballots with an "X" for a signature must do so before the witness and obtain the signature of the witness in order for the ballot to be counted.

A list of known eligible voters is open for inspection at the County ASC Office. Any person who believes he is an eligible voter but is not listed, or has not received a ballot in the mail within a few days after Nov. 19, should inquire at the county ASC Office as soon as possible.

Two Men Jailed Here on Charges by WSC Student

Danny Gene Condray, 26, of Schuyler and Gale Gronenthal, 24, of Columbus, are being held in the Wayne County Jail on felony charges brought against them by Wayne County Attorney Don Heed on behalf of a Wayne State College freshman coed.

Condray is accused of kidnapping, rape, sodomy and assault with intent to rape and Gronenthal is charged with kidnapping, rape and assault with intent to rape.

Condray was arrested at Columbus Tuesday night, where he was employed, by the Columbus City Police at the request of Wayne County Sheriff Don Weible and returned to Wayne.

Gronenthal was arrested Wednesday afternoon and also returned to the Wayne County Jail.

The charges, filed on behalf of the WSC student, were as a result of an alleged incident which occurred on or about Nov. 10, 1971, in Wayne County.

A hearing for the setting of Condray's bond was held Wednesday morning in Wayne County Court. The bond, originally set at $50,000 was reduced to $20,000 Friday by County Judge Lawrence Hilde after application through Condray's attorney, Jerry Norris of Columbus.

Gronenthal's bond was set at $15,000 on a Wednesday night hearing.

Preliminary hearings for both men have been set for Friday, Dec. 3, at 10 a.m. in County Court. At the preliminary hearing it will be determined by Judge Hilde if there is sufficient evidence to bind the two over to District Court for trial.

Jackpot Still Unclaimed

The $400 jackpot remains unclaimed and a reserve jackpot was built up to $200 when the person whose name was drawn at Friday night's Cash Night drawing was not present in a store participating in the weekly contest for the cash prize.

The name of Mrs. Robert B. Jones of Carroll was drawn Friday night when the downtown Christmas decorations were turned on for the first time for shoppers.

The drawing again will revert back to the usual Thursday night, changed the past week because of Thanksgiving.

Cash Gift To Wayne Foundation

The Wayne State Foundation has received a gift of $500 from the late Irvin C. Werner, who farmed near Norfolk.

His widow sent the contribution to Dr. Freeman Decker, executive secretary of the foundation, explaining that "we always have been interested in Wayne State College."

Dr. Decker also reported that a memorial scholarship fund in honor of the late Dr. Walter Peterson, dean of the WSC School of Education, has mounted to $1,053. Additional gifts will be welcome, Dr. Decker said.

The Peterson fund will be invested for a permanent scholarship to provide an annual grant of $100 to a student in education.

A general campaign for contributions to the Wayne State Foundation now is in progress. Dr. Decker said that approximately three-fourths of the foundation's budget annually goes to student loan and scholarship funds.

In addition, the foundation buys equipment, provides services that cannot be financed from state funds, and some of the foundation receipts are invested in an endowment.

Since its founding in 1961, the Wayne State Foundation has received more than $130,000 in gifts from alumni, business and professional firms and students.

Carroll Girl to Represent Nebraska At Presidential Ceremony for 4-H'ers

LINCOLN—Two Nebraska 4-H'ers will represent the state's 42,000 Four H'ers during a Presidential ceremony at the 50th National 4-H Congress which opens in Chicago on Nov. 28.

Linda Baler of Carroll and Jim Deuel of Norfolk were given an official state seal by Secretary of State Allen Beermann which they will present to President Richard Nixon during the 4-H Congress. The two 4-H'ers are part of a 34-member Nebraska delegation traveling to the National 4-H Congress.

The seal will be mounted along with the seals of the other 49 states, District of Columbia and Puerto Rico to form a commemorative plaque saluting the golden anniversary of the National 4-H Service Committee.

The committee is a private organization serving as the liaison between government and business as the two sectors work together for the advancement of the nationwide 4-H movement.

A parade of states in which Nebraska will be represented by Miss Baler and Deuel will be a highlight of the President's visit to the Congress. After all of the seals have been attached, the plaque will be given to President Nixon to Blaine Yarrington, head of the board of directors of the National 4-H Service Committee and president of American Oil Company.

Hospital Auxiliary Donates $9,000 to Medical Center

Ladies of the Wayne Hospital Auxiliary have decided upon a $9,000 gift toward construction of a new $1,000,000 Medical Center, Mrs. R.E. Gormley, president, announced today.

The subscription was voted unanimously by more than 40 members at a meeting called to hear Adon Jeffrey, campaign general chairman, explain the Medical Center Building program. Mrs. Gormley signed the subscription card for the Auxiliary in the campaign office after the vote was taken.

Jeffrey told members plans for the new building include an area in the lobby for a gift shop to be staffed by Auxiliary members. The chairman said opportunity for extra patient services as Pink Ladies also will exist in the new Medical Center.

Ladies of the Auxiliary are aware of the daily problems at the Wayne hospital and voted a maximum gift from their knowledge of the desperate need for new health-care facilities for all the families of the Wayne area.

Tells of Life Behind Iron Curtain

by Sandra Breikreutz

Mel Jennings, a Wahoo man in a group of 12 who took a recent study tour to Eastern Europe, Wednesday afternoon spoke to an assembly of young people at Wayne High School on the topic "Life Behind the Iron Curtain."

Jennings, former Army chaplain and Army Corps photographer, opened his presentation, a color film report of daily life in Eastern Europe today, by explaining the importance to the Russian people of their flag which depicts the hammer, representing industry; the sickle, representing agriculture; and the five-pointed star which was added during Stalin's early days. The star, the young people of Russia will explain, refers to their belief that the Russian Bear will someday be found on five continents of the world.

Some of Jennings' film was confiscated. However, by taking two cameras, and by using a method of double photography, he managed to bring back many pictures which otherwise might not have been allowed.

The family does not exist in the Communist system of government whose "system" is to be of total importance to the individual. It is actually illegal there for a parent to say, "my child," from his birth, a baby is "the child of the State."

Young people are chaperoned to the age of 18, and usually marry in their late 20's or early 30's.

Travel ban: have recently been lifted for the elderly. Citizens in the Soviet Union retire at age 55 to 60, but we must keep in mind, Jennings noted, that they go to work at age 12, working half a day and going to school half a day. Every laborer belongs to a union and gift papers are issued to 10-year-olds.

Many Russian churches, which have been officially closed for years, are now being reopened, not for worship, but for use as museums, for their art, and for classrooms.

There are less than 900 colleges to serve a population much larger than ours; however students go to school in shifts, one beginning at 6:15 a.m.; one at 1:15 p.m., and one at 6:45 p.m., and often are in school year round.

School for the Russian child begins at age two and a half or three, with what is called Soviet training. The first formal education begins at age seven, and includes extensive emphasis on math, science, and the English language, which most Soviet youngsters enjoy speaking.

Jennings found the Soviet young people well educated and severely disciplined. Even at college level, students are told what to study, what athletics to participate in, what entertainment to pursue, and when. They do not present this, however, but advocate the idea that "if the State takes this much interest in me, it is right that I should give myself to it."

Approximately one third of the young people finish college, though far more go on for technical training which is equally as important to the Russian as a college education.

Stalin is back in the schools and the books, and Khrushchev who has become a hero to many of the Russian people, is also expected to be there soon. There is no place for heroes in the Communist system, and this is what lost Khrushchev his job.

It was Khrushchev who instigated the reopening of churches and brought many western ideas, as pre-fabricated housing, to the Soviet Union. It was also Khrushchev who encouraged the planting of trees in rural areas.

Art is emphasized in Russia, where the government makes use of every tool it can to further strengthen its hold on the people. Youngsters begin art training at age four or five.

Tourism is Russia's fifth largest source of income.

One of every 233 citizens in the city owns a car. The ratio is even less appealing in the rural areas. Russians have savings accounts, but even if they do obtain a permit to buy a car (and only so many are issued and even if they have the money saved, they are not allowed to withdraw that large a sum at one time. The present cost of a moderate-sized automobile in the Soviet Union is 7,000 rubles, or about $7,000.

In the absence of automobiles, horses have become something of a status symbol for the Russian. Physical culture is emphasized. The average Russian seldom gets sick, and in the rare event he does, he must prove in order to obtain free medical assistance. A mobile nursing unit comes to the ailing to eliminate time lost on the job. Clinics are clean and efficiently operated, but not actually advanced.

When asked, Jennings replied: "Yes, there are things I admire in the Soviet Union; their high levels in education; for instance, the excellent bonus system they have set up for factory work; the knowledge that the young Russian has of the western world. They hear a lot of truth from Voice of America and Radio Free Europe, which they pick up on their transistors, and read many of the facts in the Eastern European newspapers which have recently become available in Russia."

Summarizing, Jennings said, "While Communism is still growing in some parts of the world, Russia is no longer the upper power in Eastern Europe for two basic reasons: 1. The church is very important to Eastern European cultures; and 2. The family is very important to the Eastern European."

Mel Jennings quizzes students Tammy Fredericks (left) and Donna Johnson, about what they saw when they would travel from Russia. Jennings, who recently toured in the Soviet Union, narrated a film presentation, "Life Behind the Iron Curtain," Wednesday afternoon at the Wayne High School.

Carlsons told investigating State Trooper Bill Watson that he had backed out of his car into the ditch at the northeast corner of the intersection.

Pass the Turkey -- Ugh

It's pretty tough to beat a Thanksgiving dinner of roast turkey, dressing, cranberries, sweet potatoes and all the other goodies, polished off with a huge wedge of pumpkin pie, buried under a mound of whipped cream.

But for four days in a row?

As usual, we "passed" our digestive processes Thursday and, after a bicarb, settled down, somewhat uncomfortably, to watch the Nebraska-Oklahoma showdown.

In between the football double-header, we were summoned to a still-somewhat uninviting meal of leftovers and picked our way through a turkey and trimmings "re-run."

Friday was back to work as usual, football thinking we had seen the last of old Tom Turkey until at least Christmas.

Not so—by a long shot.

A lunch of turkey sandwiches awaited at noon and that evening gosses what was on the menu—turkey croquettes.

We were not about to admonish the lady of the house since all too recently we had complained about how the price freeze apparently had not affected the high cost of living in our house. A sermon had followed about cutting down on the grocery bill and concealing something from the leftovers that were hitting the garbage can.

I had stepped into my own trap. So, Saturday, we still suffered in silence with the warning of an upcoming turkey pot pie lunch and a turkey casserole for that evening.

"That leaves only creamed turkey for Sunday lunch and turkey hash for Sunday evening," the boss of the house proudly announced.

That was too much for even old Penny Pritch.

We suspect that she had even anticipated what was to come—an invitation to "eat out" over the weekend, followed by our rare accompaniment to the grocery store for a "no-gripes-promised" buying spree.

When it comes to cleverness, fellas, adms—these gals have got us whipped hands down.

Day of Reckoning

Practical jokers have their little kicks—but sometimes the score is evened.

We heard of one PJ who snipped all the girly pictures out of a friend's Playboy magazine. The one thing a true girl-watcher looks forward to receiving every month.

The victim retaliated by making it down pat, though falsely, that there were two tickets available for the Nebraska-Oklahoma football game by contacting a certain telephone number—that of the practical joker.

Can you imagine how many times PJ's telephone rang that evening? Finally, exasperated by explaining the situation to each caller, he told the anxious buyers that the tickets already had been sold.

There comes a day of reckoning.

Bubble Bursted

Another bubble burst.

Here we thought Red Skelton and his mate of 26 years were unique in Hollywood circles as being the forever and ever perfect marriage.

Red had told on national television sometime back of the schoolboy-schoolgirl type of wedded bliss the two had—relating that he had written a daily love letter to his wife for over 20 years even though they were not apart most of those times.

In addition, Skelton said they gave each other valentines on each of the first 14 days of February and Christmas gifts on each of the first 25 days of December.

All at once they announce divorce plans.

Getting so you can't seem to believe in anything anymore.

Report Shows Income Up In Wayne County

NEW YORK Special to the Herald—According to a nationwide study of income and its distribution, Wayne County has more of its families in the middle and upper brackets and fewer in the lower brackets than ever before.

Locally, there has been a progressive shift upward, with families advancing from one income level to the next higher one.

Many of those who were in the $8,000 to $10,000 group a year or two ago are now to be found in the $10,000-and-over spot. Their former positions, in turn, have been taken over by families who had been in the $5,000 to $8,000 category.

The facts and figures are revealed in a copyrighted report prepared by Sales Management—the marketing-publication. It analyzes each community to determine the segments of its population that fall within the various income brackets.

The purpose was to obtain a better financial picture of localities across the country than could be gained solely from the usual "average income" figures.

"Does that average income apply to a large portion of the population or does it represent a small proportion of high-income families counterbalancing a larger proportion with small earnings?"

In Wayne County, the report shows, 64.2 per cent of the households had $5,000 or more in disposable cash remaining from their incomes after paying their personal taxes.

By way of comparison, the proportion three years ago, when a similar study was made, was only 53.8 per cent.

The gain of 10.4 per cent, topped the United States rise of 6.1 per cent and that in the state of Nebraska, 7.3 per cent.

Because the survey takes into account only cash income, it does not do full justice to farm communities, where income-in-kind and lower living costs are important considerations.

The breakdown figures for Wayne County list 26 per cent of the local households with net incomes of $5,000 to $8,000 after taxes, 12.2 per cent at the $8,000 to $10,000 level and, in the over $10,000 brackets—28 per cent. The remainder are below $5,000.

Because of the steady rise in the cost of living, these income gains were offset to a large extent, it is noted, however, the advantages have outweighed the disadvantages in the past five years.

Just Isn't So

How often have you seen these "Men Working" signs on state highways, only to find no workers within sight? This sign had been placed on Highway 57, south of Carroll, Wednesday and traffic was moving unimpeded over the crest of the hill, expecting to find construction work going on, on the blind side of the road, only finding within sight on the north side of the hill was more cautious motorists heading south and another sign for southbound drivers that warned of "Men Working." The first absence of workers, was noted early Wednesday afternoon. Three hours later, the signs were still there, but still no "Men Working" signs obvious why some drivers are criticized for sometimes ignoring highway warnings.

To the Editor:

We wish to thank the men of the Kiwanis Club who gave of their time and used their cars to help the high school students sell the A.F.S. Christmas note cards.

The profit from these cards is used to bring a student to Wayne from another country to attend the Wayne-Carroll High School and also help send a Wayne student abroad thus giving all Wayne area residents a better understanding of people around the world.

Wayne A.F.S.

Dear Editor:

Thanks to the Wayne County Jaycees and their families, the local A.R.C. Association, the local Youth V.A.R.C. Association, the members of the Phi Mu Sorority and last, but by all means not least, the good people of Wayne, Honey Sunday was a great success.

Things were busy around the Lil Duffer, the headquarters for the Honey sale, at 12:30 Sunday as local groups received their street maps, locations and containers of Honey and set out to contact the Wayne residents.

From all reports, the Honey sale was accepted far better this year than in the past, for within 2 hours and 30 minutes, there were 720 containers of Honey sold to residents of Wayne. This represented approximately 200 more containers this year over last year's sale.

The Wayne County Jaycees and the Wayne County A.R.C. Association would like to thank all of the news media who, through their great advance coverage of this project, made this year's Honey sale the great success it was. Our organizations and the Retarded people in our community, would also like to say Thank You, to the people of Wayne.

Dear Editor:

On Oct. 28, 1971 The Wayne Herald carried an editorial entitled "The Rumor." That editorial stated, "But the worst thing about a rumor is that its victim never get to tell their side. The rumor is a trial without a defense." I feel I have been the victim of several malicious rumors recently. The purpose of this letter is to tell my side of the story.

During the week of June 13, 1971, Floyd Burt started a project which would change the natural flow of runoff water. I proposed that he would do so by building a dam on the land damage. The watershed involved is not on my land; nor was it any kind of road problem. It was a conservation problem and should have been taken care of by a hired contractor—not by the county using county road funds. I was told that the project would go ahead as planned. When I asked what I could do to stop the project, County Attorney Don Reed told me "You'll have to see your attorney." I obtained a lawyer and on June 19, he sent a letter to Burt informing him of my actions. I said nothing at any time about stopping road work of any sort. My lawyer's letter proves that statement. Throughout the whole letter the water drainage situation is discussed as that was the issue.

After the letter had been sent, all work was stopped on the project. During the next 2 1/2 months, Burt came to see me several times to try to get me to change my mind. I told him I wouldn't because the project was entirely wrong. It wasn't my problem—I should have never been involved in it. I have been told by countless people that "you just don't change the natural flow of water," and I agree. The only reason Burt could ever give me was, "I'm doing it as a favor to one landowner." I had a commissioner from another county look at the situation, and he told me that such a project should never be done—that he wouldn't do such a thing and neither would the state. I have since consulted the Nebraska Department of Roads in Norfolk and have received the same information.

I was badgered so much about the situation that I called a meeting at the site involved on Sept. 29. At this meeting were the three commissioners, three landowners involved, Bob Nissen, Duane Upton, Consolidated Engineers representative, and my father. An agreement was reached that no tube would be run in the direction of my land. I gave my approval of the agreement, and so did everyone else attending—including the landowner for whom the favor was being done.

The next day work was begun on the project. At that time I received a phone call from one of the landowners who had attended the meeting. He said he had been looking at the work being done and that a tube would be run in my direction any way even though he remembered that the agreement was not to run it that way.

Immediately called Upton, and he said the agreement was to be tube to change the natural flow of runoff water. I then asked Burt why he was still going to run the tube in my direction, and he said, "I didn't understand the agreement." I then saw my lawyer and filed for an injunction to stop the project. The document was ignored, and the project completed Burt's way.

During the time prior to completion of this project, several people told me that Floyd Burt told them this road is to be a federally-assisted road, and if I didn't cooperate, I would be holding up Federal road work. I find it hard to believe that some people in the county are so naive that they actually believed that. May I state again, I never promised the road work—only changing the natural flow of runoff water, which has caused the unnecessary spending of taxpayers' money on a project which should not have been done with county road funds.

On Oct. 8 while work was being done, I called the county attorney to come and look at it because I wanted him to see the ridiculousness of it. He brought with him County Clerk Norris Weible, who before actually seeing what I was protesting, told me that I'm a trouble maker, among other things. Burt has also on occasion called me a trouble maker. I have at no time tried to cause trouble, only to protest a project I believe was wrong both practically and ethically. I feel that there are tactics have been used against me. Why? There is justice when a taxpayer's children

Schmidt, who will be 86 years old in January, closed his antiquitous shop in 1969 because of ill health. The shop, which will be placed at auction Wednesday, is just as it was originally established in 1885 by Schmidt's father, with the exception of a few modern additions as the electric light and motor.

Churches of Neligh united for a Wednesday evening Thanksgiving service at the United Methodist Church. Alvin Siern, pastor of the Neligh Seventh Day Adventist Church, was speaker. Special music was provided by the Methodist Church Choir and an instrumental duet from the Seventh Day Adventist Church. Pastors from other participating churches also took part in the service.

More than 92 persons have signed up for membership in the Oakland Five-hour Club. These are persons who are helping the Community grow from No. 2 in the state rank in community improvement to the very top billing in the current year's contest. Each person signing up has volunteered five hours of extra effort on any one of a variety of projects which the volunteers may choose from.

The West Point rural fire board awarded a bid for a tanker chassis to Luber's Inc. Monday night. The low bid for a twin-axle Ford was $10,800. Delivery is expected to be in 60 days, at which time the chassis will be delivered to Smeal Manufacturing, Snyder. There it will be fitted with a 3,000 gallon tank and pump at a cost of about $7,000. The district already owns a small tanker, ladder truck, pumper and six passenger pickup.

Seventy-four deer hunters checked in their books at the Pierce State Park checking station through the nine-day firearm deer season, reports Barbas Johnson, park superintendent. Of the 74 deer checked, 15, were downed in the Eldhorn Unit, with the balance, 61, taken in the Missouri Unit. In comparison with last year's hunt and overall take, the season deer were checked at the Park Station in 1970, seven of those were buck fawns, 29 adult does and four doe fawns.

Twenty lucky winners of the free Thanksgiving turkeys, given away by the Hartington Chamber of Commerce were announced last Tuesday.

Family Is Together for First Time

Some students of human behavior say a woman's character can be judged by her ironing habits. Take a quick look in your laundry basket. What have you left un-ironed. Do you leave your husband's favorite shirt un-ironed until he needs it? This could mean your resentment lies leaving for the office, while you remain at home. Or, if it's a sport shirt, you may not really want him to play golf. Do you postpone doing that large tablecloth for the next big family dinner? Maybe you don't really want to entertain.

Pioneer Home

Signe Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Anderson, went all out for the finale of the West Elgin graders' project in the study of pioneer days in Nebraska. Signe came to school dressed in pioneer attire with a replica of a sod house, popular in the 1880's. The sod house, made of small blocks of sod and grass, was complete with hand-carved wooden furniture. She said her father helped in building the sod house and her grandmother, Mrs. Paul Hartman, made the bonnet. Matches for the display Mrs. Fred Rickers is the fourth-grade teacher and her student teacher is Mrs. Miriam Korke.

Christmas Concert By WSC Choir Dec. 5

An unusual work described as a multi-media composition will be the highlight of the Wayne State Choir's Christmas Concert Sunday, Dec. 5, at 3 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center. Dr. Cornell Runestad, director, said he first heard the composition, titled "The Unknown," in 1969 at the University of Illinois and immediately wanted to perform it.

When Dr. Runestad learned from the composer's publisher that "The Unknown" would not be ready for publication until late 1972, he simply called composer MURRAY HENNING and made arrangements to rent the manuscript.

Now the singers are enjoying the opportunity to perform from manuscript because it brings them closer to the composer's intentions, Dr. Runestad said. He describes "The Unknown," as a powerful blend of voices and instruments, plus two projectors and sound tape. It uses texts by Stephen Crane, Walt Whitman and Carl Sandburg, all related to the subject of America's involvement in past wars, in an eloquent plea for peace.

How does such a piece fit into a Christmas concert? "Perfectly," said Dr. Runestad. "Our program is built around the theme 'Gloria in the highest and on earth peace.' Mr. Henning was initially surprised when I told him of my plan to perform his piece on our Christmas concert. But when I explained it in context with our theme, he agreed it would be highly effective."

"The Unknown" is considerably more difficult than conventional scores. It calls for frequent extemporizing and creativity, instead of specifying exact notes and dynamics. Then too, there is a problem of coordinating voice, instruments and electronic equipment. Student reaction is enthusiastic, Dr. Runestad said.

Wayne State Cagers Drop Opener at Northwestern

Wayne State's basketball opener Wednesday night turned into a disappointment—in one way. The Wildcats lost an overtime thriller, 98-97, to Northwestern College at Orange City, Ia.

But Coach Ron Jones called it a good game for an opener. A number of other coaches there to scout the contest agreed, Jones said, that it was the best opening game they had seen.

Leading by up to 10 points in the second half, the Wildcats saw the margin erode when Northwestern put on a zone press defense. Seven seconds from the end of regular time, Northwestern's Jim Wostra tied the count at 81-81 with a free throw.

The hosts jumped to a quick four-point lead in overtime, and Wayne's pressure defense gave the Red Raiders several free throw opportunities which eventually made the difference.

Denny Siefkes led all scoring with 28 points, hitting 12 of 20 field attempts. Dan Quinn added 26 for Wayne with 11 of 18.

Wayne's 87-point total said something about Wildcat offense, Jones thought. "So long as Wayne team started the season that high, 'but any time you can score 96 points against us, our defense needs improvement,'" Jones added.

Northwestern had most of the players back who took the Raiders to the Iowa NAIA championship last year.

Civil Service Tests Slated at 5 Sites

If you want a summer job with a Federal agency, the time to apply is now, reports Congressman Charles Thone, Republican, Nebraska.

The federal government will have about 15,000 summer jobs available through the U.S. Civil Service Commission, reports Thone to receive about 10 times that many applications, Thone said.

Tests will be given in five cities of Nebraska's First Congressional District for filling summer jobs as postal Service clerks and carriers and for clerical jobs in Civil Service grades one-through-four. The test cities are Beatrice, Falls City, Fremont, Lincoln and Norfolk.

Application cards for taking the Civil Service tests are available at post offices, Thone said. The tests last 1 1/2 hours and measure vocabulary, reading comprehension, abstract reasoning and table and chart interpretation.

Those whose applications are received by Dec. 3 will be tested Jan. 8; those applying by Jan. 27 will be tested Feb. 12 and those applying by Feb. 27 will be tested on March 12. No applications will be accepted after Feb. 2.

"Federal agencies may begin hiring summer help from those receiving the highest scores on the first test date, so those wishing to apply should do so once," Thone said.

Recipients of two Pan-Hellenic Scholarships this term are Joyce Sallach of Albion, a member of Chi Omega sorority and a drama English major, and Bob Newman of Wymon, member of Tau Kappa Epsilon and a communications arts major. The scholarships, $50 each, are given by Bill Scott, proprietor of Scotty's Place. The awards are available in both first and second terms.

Students May Join Medical Association

MCROOK—An estimated 800 medical students will be invited to become student members of the Nebraska Medical Association by Jan. 1, according to Dr. Roger Mason of McCook, president of the 1400-member professional medical group.

"Student membership will give our state's future physicians the opportunity to comprehend and cooperate in solving many of the everyday problems of the profession. Student members may join and participate in any of the 31 standing committees of the Association."

The by-law change to allow student memberships was approved during state meetings in October.

"The Nebraska Medical Association anticipates that membership in the professional organization will permit students to become more familiar with Nebraska's health care problems at an action level, and supplement the programs of education at the University of Nebraska and Creighton Medical Schools."

Each of the schools' estimated 800 students will receive an individual invitation to join the Association.

Nebraska Is Eligible for Additional Highway Funds

LINCOLN—Federal Highway Administration sources have advised State Roads Director Thomas D. Doyle that Nebraska is eligible for an additional $889,000 in federal highway funds for fiscal year 1972. The grant was made under the growth-concept of the Federal Highway Act of 1970.

Doyle identified Nebraska's eligible growth centers as Scottsbluff-Gering-Grand Island-Hastings-Kearney and Norfolk. The money can be used to improve primary and rural primary highways in any one area or can be divided among the three.

Doyle said the areas were nominated by Gov. J. James Exon and sent to Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe for approval, which came Monday. Gov. Exon nominated the three-state areas following studies and recommendations by the Department of Roads, the Department of Economic Development and the State Office of Planning and Programming.

The growth-center concept is a pilot project to stem the out-migration of people from the smaller communities and the rural areas by providing better transportation systems to foster economic growth. Each state was urged to submit at least one area to Washington officials to test the feasibility of the concept.

Doyle said the Department of Roads has completed preliminary planning on several projects within the designated areas. He declined to identify them, saying:

"There is a possibility that federal authorities may not concur in every project submitted. Therefore, we don't want to raise any false hopes until we get everything cleared."

Doyle pointed out that the Department has several stand-by projects ready; should the original choices run into federal snags.

Federal officials have stressed the importance of rapid implementation of growth-center projects to test the validity of the program.

The federal money can be used for engineering and/or economic studies or for additional improvement or construction of primary highways in the eligible areas.

In essence, the additional funds mean that Nebraska will have 70 per cent federal participation up to the $83,000 limit for projects within the designated areas," Doyle said.

He pointed out that Nebraska will receive an additional $889,000 in fiscal year 1972.

panion while she is recuperating from an operation. Should I report her earnings and pay the Social Security contributions on the wages I pay her?

A. Yes, if you pay her cash wages of $50 or more in a calendar quarter (three-month period of the year). For more information, get in touch with any Social Security office. Ask for the Free Leaflet, Social Security and Your Household Employees.

Q. Since I will be 62 later this year, I plan to apply for reduced monthly Social Security retirement benefits a couple of months before my birthday. I understand that I can earn up to $1,680 a year without losing my benefits. From what date do I begin counting the $1,680—from the date I apply for benefits or the date I become 62?

A. Neither. Start counting from the first of the year toward the $1,680, even though you apply for benefits from June 62 later that year. However, regardless of your total earnings for the year, benefits are paid for any month in which you do not earn over $140.

Q. I am 65 and have Medicare, but my doctor does not accept direct payment from Medicare and has sent me an itemized bill. How can I file a claim for the amount Medicare will reimburse me over the $50 annual deductible?

A. Follow the directions carefully in your Medicare Handbook. Fill out Part 1 of the Request for Medicare Payment form and attach the itemized bill. Then mail the itemized bill and the form to the address shown in the upper left-hand corner of the form. You'll find extra copies of the form at most doctors' offices or at any social Security office. If you have any problems understanding the form, call or visit any Social Security office. # ETV Offering a Variety

Veteran newsmen will examine Nixon's record as president, today's top events and reform in Nebraska as Nebraska Educational Television Network stations highlight public affairs programs this week (Nov. 29-Dec. 4).

Drama buffs won't be disappointed with the upcoming programs scheduled by the Public Broadcasting Service. "Masterpiece Theatre" begins a four-part dramatization of Leo Tolstoy's "Resurrection" and the "Special of the Week" will be a compassionate play about patients in a mental home.

Heading the PBS team of news analysts is Bill Moyers, former presidential press secretary and publisher of "Newsday" magazine, who appears on "This Week" program appears Wednesday (Dec. 1) at 7:30 p.m.

Moyers examines the full circle of human events—national and international, political and cultural—as he brings insight to current news.

"Controversial conservative" William F. Buckley, Jr., joins Moyers in his efforts to provide in depth coverage of public affairs. Buckley will host syndicated columnists, Rowland Evans and Richard Nease, on "The Evening Line" Sunday (Nov. 28) at 7 p.m. to exchange views on "Nixon in the White House—The Frustration of Power."

From President to former presidential aspirant—that's the route the PBS public affairs programs take next week. California Gov. Ronald Reagan will spend "30 Minutes With" Mrs. Elizabeth Drew Saturday (Dec. 4) at 7:30 p.m. for an interview on timely subjects. Mrs. Drew is Washington editor of the "Atlantic Monthly."

The Nebraska ETV Network's "Midweek" program Wednesday at 9 p.m. will bring the newsmen closer to home with a look at prison reform in the state.

The network's public affairs division begins the "Nebraska Free University's" "teach-in" on prison reform held earlier this fall. The program, which outlined the need for reform and its dependence on public support and legislative funding, featured comments by state, university and correctional officials.

Also featured on "Midweek" will be excerpts from "The Cage," a play describing the lives of four prisoners confined in a single cell. The actors are former inmates of San Quentin, and the play was performed at the public affairs broadcasts will be a

New Travel Service for Herald Readers

Alan Cramer, publisher of The Wayne Herald, announced this week the formation of a travel service designed exclusively for readers of The Herald.

In cooperation with RG Hometown Tours/ITD, Inc., the Herald begins offering with this edition a varied travel tour program for residents of the Wayne area. The first offering made by this new travel service consists of one tour to the sunny state of Florida and the second offering consists of a world tour to the Holy Land.

On Jan. 29, 1972, a bus trip to Florida will include such historical memorable stopovers in Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida. While in Florida, there will be visits to Disney World, the Cape, Everglades, Miami Beach, etc., for $399 per person.

On Feb. 28, 1972 a trip to the Holy Land, via Swissair International Airline of Switzerland, will visit Tel Aviv, Jerusalem, Mount of Olives, Jericho, Bethlehem, Mt. Zion, Garden Tomb, Nazareth, Sea of Galilee, Haifa, and Caesarea. The cost of this tour will be $692 per person.

Cramer said he was extremely pleased to formalize this travel service since it affords for the first time to the residents of Wayne the services of a first class tour operator but more especially the availability of going with your own friends and neighbors to places most Midwesterners would not like to go alone.

The procedure for signing up on either one of these tours is simple. Clip the coupon and fill it out properly from an ad appearing elsewhere in this issue of The Herald. You will receive, under no obligation, a brochure outlining details of the particular tour you are interested in learning more about.

The travel service is prepared to answer any question you might have and is also prepared to guarantee you the best trip for the money.

It's planned under this new travel arrangement that the Herald will, in addition to the two tour offerings made this edition, offer varied selections of places to go, things to see and at prices you can afford to pay throughout the year.

One of the important reasons behind this new travel service is to make available to local
