Lynn Johanson works on one of the masks which each of the actors will be wearing in the WSC Theatre Department's forthcoming production, "Oedipus Rex," to be presented February 18, 19, 20 and 21 at Ramsey Theatre. Also on the mask crew, being directed by Ron and Nancy Wachholz, are John Vos, Ron Rieker, Ken Griffin, Patsy Benson and Linda Johnson.

Unusual Masks To Be Feature Of Forthcoming Production

"Oedipus Rex," the great Greek tragedy by Sophocles, which will open Feb. 18 at Ramsey Theatre for a four-day stand, poses special problems for WSC Drama Department members who are striving for costumes and settings as nearly like those used in original Greek Theatre as is possible.

Grage masks were originally used to emphasize the character of the individual actors to even those spectators seated in the farthest parts of the theatre. The masks being fashioned by the WSC students will not have built-in megaphones as their original counterparts had, but like the originals, are being created with an eye to expressing each character's personality.

To fashion each mask, plaster of paris bindages are molded to the actor's head and then removed to dry. Holes are cut for eyes and facial features are added afterward with celclay. The mask is finished with luminous paint, glitter and a wig.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION Notes

by Anna Marie Kraifels

The Food and Drug Administration and the Federal Trade Commission have issued regulations governing the use of "cents off" claims on packages of food and nonfood household commodities. The regulations establish clear rules for the length and frequency of such campaigns and define the term "regular price," thus ending perpetual promotions based on artificial "regular price" designations. Under the new rules consumers will be able to determine from the label the actual savings being offered making possible a clearer comparison among brands available.

Items qualifying for "cents-off" labels must have been recently and regularly sold at customary price in the promotional trade area. Promotions may not occur more than 3 times a year, with a lapse of at least 30 days between each promotion. Any single-size commodity may not be sold with cents-off labeling for more than 6 months within a 12 month period. This regulation became effective January 2, 1972. After June 30, 1972, such packages must be clearly marked: "Price marked is off the regular price."

Girl Scout Projects Planned

A tentative calendar of events was set up at a meeting of Girl Scout executives held recently at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Mrs. Ed Stevens, field advisor from Hartington, was also on hand to address the group. The next meeting will be called in February by Neighborhood Chairman Marilyn Carhart.

Coming events include Girl Scout Week to be observed in March, and Cadette Day and Scouting. Keep America Beautiful Day, both to be observed April 29.

For Cadette Day the girls complete a project for the Juliette Lowe World Friendship Fund. Last year's donation from Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council was $174.30 (approximately 3.7 cents per person.) It is suggested that this year's donation be a week's dues from each troop (10 cents per person.)

On Keep America Beautiful Day, the Girl Scout Councils work with the Boy Scouts in cleaning up the environment. The date coincides with Clean Up America Day, set aside by Congress.

A brownie meeting is also scheduled for later in the spring. Scouts are being encouraged to take part in a fund-raising contest being sponsored by Culligan-Palmolive Company. Coupons and details of the contest can be found in the February issues of several leading popular magazines.

Cookie chairmen from Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council were in Norfolk and Fremont Jan. 19 to plan this year's cookie sales campaign. Wayne chairman is Mrs. C. B. Denton.

Church To Show Film 'Lost Generation'

"Lost Generation," a feature-length film which includes special appearances by Billy Graham, Art Linkletter and Jack Webb, will be shown Monday, Jan. 31, at 8 p.m. at the Wesleyan Church, 419 W. First.

The film is a probing documentary to investigate attitudes on dissent, violence, the mood of America and the answers that can be found by this generation as they face the decisions of life.

According to the Rev. George Francis, the opinions of both young and old, urban and rural, rich and poor, are brought to the screen as the camera focuses on people of various backgrounds throughout the nation.

Location shots were filmed in Alaska, the Southern states, on the farms and in the small towns of mid-America, and in the dying flight-ashby hippie district of San Francisco.

"Lost Generation" was described by one reviewer as a "moving film that calls on us to make a decision about how much we want to get involved in the troubles of our times. It is a relevant story that demands our immediate attention."

There will be no admission charge and the public is invited.

Blue Devil Kyle Wills (45) seems to be leaping for joy over a Wayne basket in the battle with Tekamah-Herman Saturday night. The Devils had precious few occasions for celebration, since the two-pointers were few and far between. Larry Shupe (35) has moved in to provide added insurance, as Doug Sturm (11) watches from a safe distance. Roger Saul (21) is caught between two Tigers, Rick Larsen (50) and Bill Method (52).

Wayne Effort Ruined By Two-Point Fourth Period

The weather wasn't the only thing that was cold in Tekamah Saturday night. Opportunity practically battered down their door, but the Wayne High Blue Devils were unable to answer, blowing a four-point halftime lead on their way to a miserable 70-77 fourth period, and yet another defeat, this time at the hands of Tekamah-Herman. The final 61-37 tally reflected both Wayne's inability to hit the basket, and a 22-point fourth quarter scoring binge by the Tigers.

The first period saw the Devils leading consistently and outscoring their hosts, 11-10, with Doug Sturm providing five of those points, and three other Wayne eagers chipping in. The locals went five for six from the charity stripe, and though the Wayne crew wasn't burning up the nets, there was cause for optimism. The locals quickened their pace in the second quarter, dropping through 13 points with balanced scoring, while the Tigers bided their time, content with a 10-point effort. The Devils got a preview of things to come in the third stanza, as the Tiger offense warmed to the task with 19 points. In the first half, the hosts had run into shooting trouble, canning only four field goals, but by the end of the third period they had centered themselves, with eight counters from the floor. The Wayne five, though slipping to an 11-point effort, still was not in serious trouble, trailing by 39-35 as the fourth quarter began. Then it happened. Or rather, didn't happen. Try as they might, the local crowd could not pull the ball through the hoop. The Tiger defense tightened, forcing turnovers and not allowing Wayne access to the basket. Larry Shupe finally pulled the Devils out of the zero column with a field goal.

With their visitors crumbling, the Tigers poured it on, notching 22 points to turn the contest into a runaway. John Chat contributed four of the hosts' seven field goals, and the Tigers went eight for 13 from the line, as the Devils, desperate, became heavy-handed, offering Tekamah the charity tosses that put the icing on the cake.

Scoring percentages for both clubs were below par, with Tekamah hitting 31 per cent and Wayne, apparently aiming cross-eyed, registering a 20 per cent average. Larry Shupe and Kyle Wills, a 5-6 pair that consistently scores high, were effectively bottled-up, delivering six and seven points respectively. The only Devil in double figures was Randy Nelson, with 10. Roger Saul grabbed 14 rebounds for the losers, and Shupe added nine.

Bill Method, a 6-4 junior, posted 21 points to spearhead the Tigers' attack, with Chatt and Greg Ray contributing 10 counters each. The loss at Tekamah closed out a four-game road trip for the Blue Devils, who hope to get back on the winning track when they host Pierce Friday night.

Trojans Get Cold Reception at Scribner

The fourth-rated class C Scribner Trojans clipped their Wakefield counterparts, 75-52, at Scribner Saturday night. The 20-point verdict boosted Scribner's season mark to 11-0, as Wakefield dropped to 2-8.

Scribner's run-run boys were behind only once, as Pat Starzl connected on a three-point play to give Wakefield the lead at 7-5 in the early going. A Floyd Everitts' bucket soon tied the score for Scribner and the hosts never trailed again.

Wakefield was down, 17-12, at the first buzzer, with Starzl connecting eight of the 12 counters. Scribner exploded for 24 second-period points to take a 41-25 lead into the dressing room. Everitts' 14 points and Brian Moeller's nine provided the scoring punch for Scribner. Starzl matched 10 for Wakefield, while team captain Dave Schuel added eight in first-half action. The Scribner five got its fast break in high gear to take a 24-13 second-quarter scoring advantage.

During the first, third and fourth quarters, Scribner's awesome speed was neutralized by the board work of the visitors' Schuel and Starzl.

Wakefield played the hosts almost even in the second half, with Scribner holding a slim two-point edge, 27-29. The Wakefield crew saw the handwriting on the wall, though, as Scribner's second-quarter scoring spree was too much for the maroon Trojans to overcome.

Team rebounding efforts were about even, with a slight edge going to the winners. Wakefield's 45 per cent shooting from the floor marked the locals' best performance in that area this year, but Scribner was not to be outdone, connecting on a scalding 52 per cent average.

Starzl captured scoring laurels for Wakefield, with 14, and Schuel followed with 17, by high-scoring pair receiving little help from their fellow Trojans. The Starzl-Schuel combination also grabbed most of the Wakefield rebounds.

Moeller nailed 22 points for the victors, with 17-point help from Everitts. Don Hansenkamp and Reed Miller contributed 11 and 10 respectively. King Ries was the rebounding king for Scribner.

Wakefield continues on foreign hardwoods, with clashes scheduled Friday at West Point and Saturday at Allen.

In a preliminary scuffle, Scribner's B team kept alive its hopes for an unbeaten season, dumping the Wakefield B squad, 47-34. Wakefield led, 21-17, at the half, but was limited to only one point in the third quarter.

Kleth Slebrant sparked the losers with 14 points.

Pacing Scribner's come-from-behind triumph was Jay Muller, with 15. The loss dropped Wakefield's B crew to a 5-3 record, as Scribner jumped to 9-0.

WSC Tankers Place Second

Wayne State swimmers won second place among seven teams in the Grinnell Relays Saturday, after losing a Friday dual to Grinnell, 65-48.

Scoring best as usual in freestyle events, Wayne won the 400-yard freestyle relay and the 400 free. The relay foursome—Jim Hatten and Doug Krecklow, Omaha, Jim Shores and Jim Oswott, Fremont, traveled the 400 in 3:28.9. In the 100, Onstott and Krecklow posted the best combined time for first.

Rockford College of Illinois led team scoring with 112 points, while Wayne totaled 100. Augustana of Sioux Falls, 97, Grinnell

Rockford claimed five firsts in 12 events, Augustana four, but Wayne added enough lower places, including four second, to edge Augustana.

Wayne's second place came in freestyle events—the 50, 200, 500 and 1,000.

In the dual, Wayne got four of five firsts in freestyle events—Scott George of Omaha in the 1,000, Onstott in the 100 and 200, plus the same 400 relay team that won Saturday. Bob Seymour of Grand Island won the one-meter diving.

Wayne, now 2-1 in duals, will be host Saturday in a double dual with Chadron State and North-west Missouri State. Starting time: 2 p.m.

Laurel Bid Fails to Snap Randolph Skein; Schroeder Sparkles in Defeat

Laurel spotted unbeaton Grand Rapids a 10-10 tie in a first quarter lead and then went all out to play catchup, but the bid fell eight points short as the Bears bowed to Lyle Nannen's club, 75-67, Tuesday night at Laurel.

Actually, Laurel fell behind by as much as 14 in the second quarter after shifting into high gear.

After deficits of 23-13, 38-29 and 57-48 at the rest stops, the Bears' club turned in a fourth-quarter rampage, pulling within 10 points but blowing chances to tie on four occasions, the last time at 67-65 with 1:50 remaining.

Four free throws after Laurel was forced to stab at the ball in an attempt to break up the slow-down game, added to a 25-point field—put the game on its feet.

Laurel committed 22 turnovers to keep the Bears from snapping the Randolph victory string.

Meanwhile, Randolph could do no wrong. The Cardinals, in chalking up victory No. 11, hit 26 of 50 shots from the field for a red-hot 52 per cent accuracy in that department and were more brilliant set from the free throw line, canning 23 of 29.

Laurel had only one less fielder but had 69 shots for 37 per cent field goal shooting. The Bears went 17 for 24 from the charity stripe.

Blue catfish have a pale, almost white appearance. Other catfish commonly called "dark" catfish, because of a blue, steel-blue coloration, are probably large-mouth channel catfish in their breeding hues.

Allen's Try for 'Third Time Charm' Bogs Down; Ponca Posts Win No. 12

Allen had upset on its mind for three quarters, but the attack sputtered and stalled completely in the fourth period Tuesday night as Ponca continued its winning ways, 71-51, in the third meeting of the two clubs, this time on the Allen hardwoods.

Ponca had trouble with the pestiferous Eagles for 24 minutes of playing time, having to settle for 12-24, 23-23 and 46-42 leads at the breakers.

Then, as sudden as the demolition play had begun, the fire went out for Barry Carlson's quint, the Eagles having to settle for a nine-point fourth period while Ponca was enjoying every minute of it—for the first time—by adding 25 to its total to win going away.

Steve Forney had been a bad sticker in the Eagles' sides for three frames but in the fourth period he turned into a real

WH Crew Raps Trojans

Overpowering was the word for the Wayne High Blue Devil grapplers Tuesday night, as they manhandled the West Point Trojans, 36-16 on the Trojan mats.

Brad Pflueger at 145 and Don Nelson at 185 were the standouts for the Wayne crew, both winning on pins. Five other Blue Devils registered victories, 10 boost the locals to the decisive team win. Wayne victors by decision were David Owens at 98, Jim Niemann at 126, Ron Ring at 132, Mark Belermann at 138 and Arnold Siefken at 155. The Devils' heavyweight, Darrell Allvin, won by forfeit.

Winside Matmen Crush Wynot

In an unscheduled dual meet, the first-year Wynot mat crew traveled to Winside Tuesday night, with the Wildcat reserves downing their visitors, 45-9.

The Wildcats posted seven pins and one decision, as Wynot managed two victories. Both clubs were open in the 98-pound class, and at heavyweight.

Cats Drop 1-point Decision at Hastings

Wayne State cagers outscored Hastings by 37 field goals to 29 but suffered an 86-85 loss Tuesday at Hastings.

The host Broncos took advantage of what Wayne coaches, players and spectators considered unequal calls by the officials, both in foul and violation decisions. Wayne was charged with 25 fouls, which probably was reasonable, but Hastings had only 14 foul assessments. Result: the Broncos cashed 26 of 96 free throw tries while Wayne hit 11 of 15.

Hastings managed to jam up the middle space with questionable tactics, but the Wildcats responded with excellent outside shooting. Senior Randy Rohlfen posted his best collegiate game with 23 points, most of his fielders from long range. Senior Jerry Woodin also hit well from outside, getting 14 points. Denny Stiefes matched Rohlfen's 23 points on a mixture of tips, short jumpers and several unusual-for-him long shots. Dan Quinn contributed 10 points, also on faraway shots.

Hastings jumped into an early lead, up to 17-6 in less than four minutes, before the Cats rallied to narrow the gap to one and two points several times before the 46-44 half, Hastings leading.

Four times in the second half Wayne pulled into brief one-point leads, but never could break the game open. The last lead came at 78-77 with 3½ minutes left. Hastings scored seven of its remaining nine points at the charity line.

Wayne, now 12-5, will take on the University of Nebraska at Omaha Saturday night at 7:30 in Rice Gym. Victor over Omaha in December. Wayne needs another win to close in on a state college championship. The Cats are 3-1 in the conference.

Wayne Frosh Handed First Loss

Wayne's previously undefeated freshman roundballers traveled to the annual Springier Freshmen Basketball Tournament Monday night and felt the sting of defeat for the first time this year, falling to an alert David City Aquinas club, 49-43. The loss dropped Wayne 4-4, while boosting Aquinas to 10-0.

David City outscored Wayne 13-11 in the first quarter, but the young Blue Devils returned for a 19 point second period count, to lead 30-25 at the half. Having hit on 52 per cent from the field in the first half, the Wayne crew slipped to an 18 per cent mark in the second half, scoring only 13 points to David City's 24. The Aquinas five connected on a blazing 69 per cent from the field throughout the game and matched that spectacular effort with a 61 per cent average from the charity stripe.

Wayne was in contention throughout the fourth quarter in spite of making only one of seven free throws. The Devil frosh trailed by three with 30 seconds remaining, but were unable to score from that point, while David City pushed through a field goal and a free throw to capture a six point lead and ice the game at 49-43.

Marty Hansen, a frequent varsity starter, eligible for freshman ball, paced the Devils with 16 points, and Bob Keating added 12. Rebounding leader for Wayne was Rod Hoops with 10.

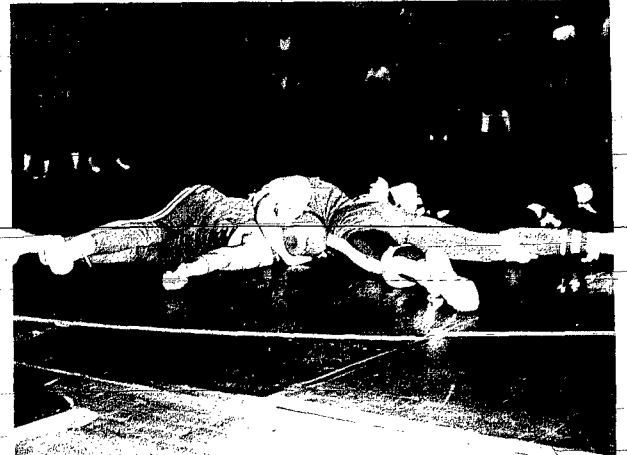

No other area schools were in the eight-team tourney. Semifinals are set for tonight (Thursday) and final round action is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 3.

Wayne High Wrestlers Fall

In the first event of its kind, the Wayne High Blue Devil grapplers replaced the junior varsity basketball team in preliminary competition before Wayne's hard-court quieted last at Tekamah-Herman Saturday night. Though the Tiger matmen whipped the Devils decisively, Wayne coach Don Foenit hopes more wrestling-basketball double headers can be scheduled in the future.

Complete results with Wayne grapplers listed first:

- 99. David Owens defeated Kenny Hansen, 5-2.
- 105. Steve Meyer was pinned by Dan Tierney at 2:43.
- 112. Rick Kay was pinned by John Fleming at 3:31.
- 119. Dan Mace was decided by Floyd Steets, 6-0.
- 126. Jim Niceman decided Curt Day, 2-0.
- 132. Ron King decided Kim Thomas, 5-2.
- 138. Mark Teierman decided Gary Seligson, 1-0.
- 147. Jeff Pinger was decided by Brad Uling, 7-0.
- 155. Arnold Stiefen was decided by Rick Reizik, 7-6.
- 167. Ken Kite was pinned by Terry Tilton, at 5:54.
- 185. Don Nelson was decided by Pat Erikson, 5-4.
- 191. Wayne forfeited.

Wayne's Don Nelson is in trouble at Tekamah, as the Tigers' Pat Erikson applies the pressure for what appears to be a near fall. The two 185-pounders battled down to the wire, with Erikson edging Nelson, 5-4, as Wayne lost to Tekamah-Herman, 35-12, Saturday night.

Winside Drops Wynot, 56-35, Runs Season Record to 4-9

Wynot, everlastingly whipping the tail of the state basketball league, this time on the short end of a 56-35 count in an encounter with Winside on the Hartington gym. The win boosted the Wildcats' season mark to 4-9. Though the final tally wasn't close, the beating was mild compared to drubbings administered by other schools this season.

Coch. Jim Wynch played his first stringers only in the opening stanza, emptying the benches in the final three quarters. The starting five ran up 22 points to Wynot's eight in the first quarter, while the Winside's Jon Behmer delivering 12 of his 15 points in the early going. Behmer stayed in just long enough to push through three points in the second quarter, before the reserves took over.

The visitors held Wynot to six in the second period, while scoring 11, to establish a 33-14 edge at the half.

The hosts managed 10 in third-period play, as the Winside reserves canned 11, for a 43-24 advantage.

In the final stanza, the Wynot crew outscored their tormentors, 11-8, but the outcome was inevitable, as Winside took home a 56-35 conquest.

Scoring leader for the Wildcats was Behmer, with 15. Other scoring was evenly distributed among nine other players. The game did provide one interesting twist. Kent Titterton, normally a reserve, outscored older brother George, a starter and consistent scoring leader for the varsity five. Kent garnered five points, while George matched four before being scratched at the first quarter, to make room for less experienced players.

The Winside fast break worked well from the outset, helping the Wildcats to jump to a 20-point lead and retain that margin throughout the contest.

Brad Jones and Denny Brubach posted 15 points apiece in Wynot's losing effort. The next closest for the hosts provided two points each.

The B team battle saw Winside dominate Wynot, 45-22, as Steve Deek poured through 14 to lead the junior Wildcats. Kent Titterton, warming up for his varsity performance, added 10.

Trans-Alaska Pipeline; Threat or a Promise?

If Alaska's vast oil reserves can be brought into production, it will give us some "breathing time" for development of alternate sources of energy, according to a talk given Monday to the Wayne Kiwanis Club by Wayne Strait of Sioux City, Ia., manager of Farm and Home Service for Standard Oil at the east end of Wayne on Highway 35.

Strait, using numerous color slides to illustrate his talk, pointed out that we must have petroleum, both oil and natural gas, to live by. To run our nation.

"In fact," he said, "we are a nation that exists on its use of energy and 75 per cent of that energy at the present time, come from oil and natural gas."

Alaska can help provide that oil at a reasonable cost but we must find a method of moving it from the very remote North Slope of Alaska to the consuming areas in the lower 48 states.

Strait stressed that many alternative transportation methods were examined, including use of air tankers, ocean tankers and railroad tankers. Each was abandoned because of a number of disadvantages such as the severity of Alaskan winters, safety factors and costs involved. This left the most reliable and economical method, that of a pipeline across Alaska to the ice free port of Valdez on the Southern coastline.

The Alyeska Pipeline Company has put in almost four years of research and millions of man hours and dollars," Strait said.

When it is completed, the entire pipeline and all of its related facilities will occupy less than 1/100 of one per cent of Alaska's 586,000 square miles—something like drawing a very thin pencil line across a gymnasium floor.

"Many opponents of the pipeline fight for continued delay in its construction," noted Strait. "The cost of delay in dollars Fourteen at FNC Meet

Simplicity, Fast Turnover Cattle Feeders' Keys

A livestock feeder must handle enough units of production to make a living and to pay off his investment, said Paul Grosserode, Milford cattle feeder.

Grosserode addressed the 50 persons attending the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeder's meeting at Laurel Monday night.

Grosserode said the keys to handling an adequate number of units are fast turnover and a simple operation.

Capital must be kept in cattle, not in grain and equipment, he said.

Grosserode, who operates a 2,000 head to 3,000 head feed lot with his brother, Steve, showed slides of their operation at Milford.

In feeder business, five men were elected to the board of directors.

They are John Seryine of Dakota County, Tom Gustafson of Dixon County, Gene Sebels and Fred Tremson of Thurston County and Dwane Lutz of Wayne County.

Ak-Sar-Ben Benefits County Fairs

LINCOLN - For the 18th consecutive year, Ak-Sar-Ben in 1971 presented aid to every county in Nebraska, either in improvement grants or 4-H and FFA premiums. Ak-Sar-Ben's Director of Agricultural Activities, Bob Volk, told the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers.

"Since 1954," Mr. Volk said, "the state's county fairs have received almost $2.7 million as a direct result of the Ak-Sar-Ben grant program."

Last year Ak-Sar-Ben awarded $79,300 in improvement and spruce-up grants as 85 counties took advantage of the matching grants which were available. The total in improvement and spruce-up grants provided by Ak-Sar-Ben since 1954 is $908,713.63.

Ak-Sar-Ben also provides special premium money for 4-H and FFA exhibitors at all of the state's county fairs. The 1971 total was $24,946 in premiums bringing the 18-year total to $1,371,141.

In addition, Ak-Sar-Ben collects a state tax on admissions and individual licenses and pays a daily licensing fee, all of which is earmarked for the state's county fairs. The 1971 total was more than $110,000, bringing the 18-year total to almost $1,500,000.

Volk also pointed out that since 1955, the Nebraska State Racing Commission has distributed $2,627,573.71 to the county fairs an average of $28,253.48 per fair.

Fast-talking Lobbyists

On how many occasions have you literally held your breath when you met a semi-trailer truck or cross-country bus on a narrow or ice-covered highway?

Even provided the best of weather conditions, it is a "close shave" meeting those behemoths on some antiquated highways—that were constructed to accommodate vehicles of the Model T vintage. Then there were those in-between years when the clearance was minimized even more with curb-type shoulders added to make for better drainage.

This bit of engineering expertise resulted in nightmarish accidents on the narrower stretches of highway, numerous head-on crashes resulting when a driver veered just a little too far to the right and lost complete control of his vehicle.

It hardly seems that, on some of those narrow stretches of highway, there can be more than five inches of clearance between your vehicle and those giants of the road.

And five inches is not enough if trucking and commercial transportation lobbyists in Washington get their way in their most recent wishes.

They are lobbying for a permissive 102-inch width for buses, six inches wider than the already eight-foot-wide maximum. Trying to get six into five is not only a mathematical impossibility—it is a resultant tragedy.

Imagine the mass of twisted steel and the physical condition of passengers should you drive your car head-on, at 60 miles per hour, into a brick wall.

Then more than double those wreckage proportions when you consider the aftermath of an accident where a car hits a line-crossing bus on a narrow stretch of road, with that much heavier vehicle going at the same rate of speed.

That more than equals the devastation of a car crashing into an immovable object at 120 miles per hour.

Even Jimmy the Greek or Lloyd's of London wouldn't make book on the chances of your ever drawing another breath.

The House of Representatives apparently has been hypnotized by the fast-talking salesmanship of the bus and trucking lobbyists, for the lawmakers recently approved the wider bus request.

The only hope left appears to be wiser heads in the Senate, where a series of hearings has begun before a public works subcommittee.

Commercial bus management's plea for wider buses is that "they would make it possible to increase seat widths, thus making bus travel more comfortable."

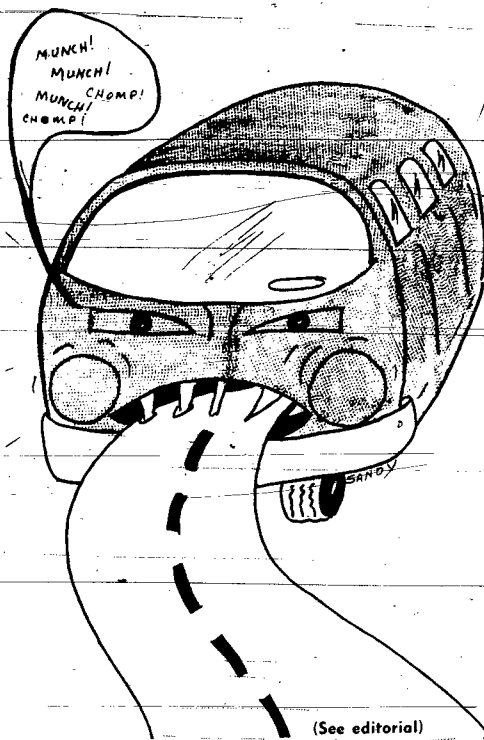

Could be a case of trading temporary comfort for the very permanent close quarters of a casket.

Over 50,000 lives a year are lost in traffic accidents in this country.

Are these talked-of campaigns aimed at cutting down existing highway tragedies no more than "an exercise of the lips"? Or are additional hazards going to be tossed at the motoring public?

The Department of Transportation and the National Transportation Safety Board are not endorsing wider vehicles, but neither are they taking a tough stand against them "without first knowing the results of extensive safety research."

Those results appear pretty obvious from this corner.

Way Back When

30 Years Ago

Jan. 29, 1942: Nebraska tire quota for February is lower than for January. Wayne share of this included six passenger, motorcycle and light truck tires and five tubes for these, 11 tires and 20 tubes for trucks and buses. Ernest Peterson, Concord, who leads a group of 60 dealers in 15 counties of northeast Nebraska and South Dakota in marketing DeKalb seed corn, presided at a banquet at Hotel Stratton Friday and presented awards to champion corn growers. Mrs. Eric Cook, Carroll, fell at her home Saturday evening and broke her right arm. Don Beckenhauer and Gunnar Swanson realized a top of $272 on a team of horses in a sale at Laurel Friday. A fire broke out around the chimney last Tuesday in the Merrill Reising home, Wakefield, destroying all their household goods. The house belonged to J.O. Peterson, Mrs. Reising is manager of Farmers' Thrift Implement store.

25 Years Ago

Jan. 30, 1947: The Wayne Chamber of Commerce presented a check for $1,060.75 to the board of education Monday. This sum was cleared on the wrestling match sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and will be applied on the purchase of 100 new band uniforms total amount being about $4,000. Jernan Luellman, Winslow, left Friday for Hartington to assume his new duties as depot agent there. Marlin Willers bought the Ernest Spitzberger farm and Jack Osborne will move to the place this spring. The Spitzbergers are moving to Tom, Allan and Leonard Pritchard, Carroll, held a successful farm sale last Wednesday. Tom and Allan and their mother, Mrs. William Pritchard, will move to Norfolk and Leonard remains on the farm. Cars belonging to Evan Jones and Harold Stoltenberg collided Friday evening north of Carroll. No one was injured but cars were badly damaged.

20 Years Ago

Jan. 24, 1952: Ralph M. Carhart, Wayne, was elected president of the State Normal board Saturday at a meeting held in Lincoln. A hard snow and driving a fine snow and sleet lashed the Wayne area Monday and Tuesday causing considerable inconvenience to residents and correspondents news letters from 12 communities failed to arrive because of interrupted mail service. Gust Carlson, Concord, has retired as janitor of Concord Lutheran church. He has, with the help of his daughter, Helen, served in this position 28 years. Frank Wehler, Wayne, broke his left arm Friday morning when he slipped and fell on the icy sidewalks in front of his home. A new organ was installed in Concordia Lutheran church, Concord, last week. The dedication recital will be given soon by Prof. Albert Carlson and his family from W67E.

15 Years Ago

Jan. 31, 1957: Gordon Nuernberger, Wakefield, was elected Wayne county's director of the NE Nebraska Experimental Farm association Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Fisher, Wayne, have purchased a Coast-to-Coast store at Northfield, Minn., and will leave Wayne about Feb. 15. Lawrence Roy Albertsen has joined the staff of the Soil Conservation service work unit at Wayne. It was announced this week by Jack Smith. Mr. and Mrs. George Tonjes, Pender, will observe their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary at the Bancroft Legion hall Sunday. Arline Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Morris, Wayne, has been named homemaker of tomorrow at Wayne High. Darrell H. Kremke, Winslow, was nominated this week by Rep. Bob Harrison as fourth alternate for appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. Eight students boasted perfect 1.0 averages in the Wayne High honor roll. They are Ronald Blecke, Jean Conyer, Sandra Davis, Pamela Frevert, Bill and Charles Koerber, Frederick Riechers and Gary Spitzberger.

10 Years Ago

Jan. 25, 1962: Rev. Russell Dacken, pastor of First Baptist church, Wayne, was one of the nearly 100 churchmen from a six-state area who attended the tenth annual Pastors' convention at Sioux Falls College last week. Army SFC Albert Milliken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Milliken, Wayne, is scheduled to participate in Exercise Great Bear, a joint U.S.-Canadian winter maneuver in Alaska in February. Mrs. David Garwood, Carroll, has been named Wayne County chairman for the 1962 Fund and Drive. Sunday St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, Winslow, marked the occasion of being free of debt with a mortgage burning. Martin Pausen, Carroll, suffered a broken collarbone Saturday when his arm went out of control and crashed on a county road west of Carroll. Erika Reichart and Karen Willers will be capped in capping ceremonies at the Omaha Public School of Practical Nursing Feb. 7. A former Wayne area resident, Pearl Ruback Ring, has had a book published recently called "The Lost Key." Carol Gust, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gust, Wayne, suffered a broken ankle last Wednesday when the horse she was riding slipped and fell.

Park at Your Own Risk

You've been at it again. You know who you are. You sly ones who can't resist the temptation offered by an empty parking space... no matter who it belongs to. The space question belongs to this reporter, and is one of several leased by The Wayne Herald to provide parking space for its employees.

The parking lot is situated on the south side of The Herald building, and provides just the right number of spaces for employees' cars. Of course, the other spaces are attractive, and will accommodate a car of any size, but I am particularly fond of mine.

Sometimes, it is occupied. By a car other than my own.

Most often, the violation occurs during the evening hours, and when I return to the office to turn the midnight oil after a meeting or sporting event, I am dismayed to find that every space is taken. Always reluctant to place blame, I have been rationalizing these occurrences. "Doubtless some foreign visitor," I have said many times, "unacquainted with our customs, and unable to read the sign which clearly states that this space is leased for private parking."

But I am beginning to have my doubts. I hesitate to cast aspersions on the motorists of Wayne, but I am beginning to suspect that some of the illicit parking going on around here is motivated by sheer lack of consideration.

So, let this be fair warning. I am presently negotiating the purchase of a 1947 Hudson Hornet. The vehicle is in the latter stages of decay, but can still be repaired to about 40 miles per hour—110 weights, as nearly as I can calculate, about three tons, and is worth about $15. For an extra five dollars, I can purchase a used crash helmet left over from the go-cart craze. An additional five dollars will provide the car with seat belts. Total outlay of funds: $25. (Plus 50 cents for gas.)

I'm going to start driving the monstrosity to work. And the next time I see your car in my spot, I'll rev up my $25 bargain to about 35 miles per hour, give it its head, and my three tons of Hudson Hornet will reduce your automobile to splinters.

The safety equipment I've installed should provide adequate protection, and when the authorities arrive, I'll simply stumble out of the wreckage and dazedly mutter something about the brakes falling. The plan is simple and effective. (I'm gambling that this editorial won't be admissible as evidence in a court of law, on grounds that it might violate my Fifth Amendment rights against self-incrimination.)

I'm through being Mr. Nice Guy. —Joel Knutson

Legislative Spotlight On Natural Resources

LINCOLN—Perhaps by the time this reaches print, the Legislature will have passed the five bills making final adjustments in the natural resource district law before it becomes effective July 1. The stage was set last week when the lawmakers rejected an attempt to kill the whole program.

The five bills prepared by an interim committee which studied the plan to consolidate conservancy districts after the 1969 session had been introduced in the 1971 Legislature, but were held over for action this year.

The bills all had been sent to final readings last week.

The measure which would have repealed the program also was a holdover from 1971. It was introduced by Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway who said there is a need to start over again because of the confusion generated by the 1969 law.

But Waldron's measure went down to defeat on a 27-17 vote.

That left the five bills sponsored by Sen. J.W. Burbach of Crofton, chairman of the interim study committee.

Merge Districts

The way the program is set up now, all the present conservancy districts—such as soil and water conservation districts—will be merged into 24 natural resource districts July 1.

Members of existing boards will be represented on the new boards, along with representatives from the cities in the districts. One of the amendments added the city spokesmen.

In the 1974 elections, new board members will be chosen to take office the first of 1975.

The bills carried by Burbach this session also reduce the taxing power of an NRD from two mills to one mill. The Burbach alterations also set the new districts up by river basins and requires the boards of all NRDs in the basin to meet jointly at least twice a year so they will be able to coordinate their plans.

Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora, defending the NRD concept against Waldron's repeal attempt, said he had decided that consolidation of the multiplicity of conservancy districts was "absolutely and fundamentally necessary" for the development of Nebraska's resources.

Unified Voice

Kremer, a longtime leader in soil and water conservation, said federal officials have made it clear that only a state which speaks with a unified voice can have much hope of getting financing from Washington.

Nevertheless, Kremer said, it took him a while to reconcile himself to the consolidation concept.

He said he had spent "many sleepless nights thinking about this" before he became committed to the idea.

Other senators who once opposed the plan—including Sen. Rudolf Kokes of Ord—also announced in the debate they had become converted.

There still was opposition, including about 75 persons who watched the debate and voting from the south balcony. They represented organizations which object to the NRD concept because it would take away controls which now are held within smaller geographic areas.

Chappell Sen. Hamey C. Whitney spoke against the plan because, he said, it would increase property taxes in some parts of the state.

But Sens. David H. Shamer of Omaha and Willard Waldo of DeWitt, admitting property taxes were getting high, said if there is one area in which it is proper to levy taxes against real estate it is to support land and water conservation projects.

They said education and other governmental functions which have no relation to the real estate are responsible for the major property tax levies.

Budget in Committee

Before the 1972 Legislature was launched, Budget Chairman Richard D. Marvel of Hastings said a new record would be set in getting the committee's operational spending recommendations to the floor.

Since most sessions are a couple of months old before the major budget bill hits the floor, Marvel may still beat the record.

But he had planned to have the operations budget ready for introduction on opening day. It didn't work out that way and the indications last week were that it would be early February before the measure actually is introduced.

The chairman overcomes the committee reached "an impasse" in its consideration of spending recommendations. Since the discussions have been held in executive session and newsmen aren't permitted to report what is said during such sessions, details of the "impasse" haven't been made public.

But it was clear that some members wanted to make some changes in the tentative decisions the committee had reached earlier.

The key issues seemed to be the salary policies and the amount of spending flexibility to be granted to administrators. Gov. J. J. Exon has said that when budgets are tight it is important that administrators have authority to shift funds from one program to another to make their agencies run smoothly.

Marvel, on the other hand, has been working for a decade to tie administrators' hands to certain they spend their funds for the things the Legislature had in mind when it made its appropriations.

In the next few days, subcommittees of the Budget Committee will be studying personnel policies and pension reform. Marvel said the committee won't meet again formally until the week of Jan. 31.

End to State Fair 4-H Auction Would Add 'Built-in' Incentives

LINCOLN—The proposed elimination of the auction of 4-H heaves and addition of cash awards in the carcass contest at the 1972 Nebraska State Fair would assure an educational beef competition with built-in incentives for youthful exhibitors to participate, according to Dave C. Williams, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension 4-H livestock specialist.

The system places more nearly equal emphasis on the merits of both the live animal and the carcass of all species—beef, cattle, swine and sheep—in State Fair 4-H livestock competition. Swine have not been sold at auction and have gone directly to a carcass evaluation for a number of years, but have not been given cash premiums for live show placings. The 4-H lamb auction was dropped at the 1971 Nebraska State Fair, and cash premiums are being added for both live placings and carcass competition in the current proposal.

The move, if approved by the State Fair Board, is expected to encourage the proper feeding and management of club calves and discourage inefficient feeding and/or over-exercising of an animal, which may keep it from grading satisfactorily on the rail, the livestock specialist explained. The addition to teaching 4-H boys and girls how to handle a steer as it should be fed for market, the system is designed to discourage "steer jockeys" and do away with manipulating animals.

The proposal has the endorsement of a majority of County Extension Agents. Designated live show cash premiums would be underwritten by businessmen and others who have been regular buyers at past State Fair 4-H auctions. Many are Lincoln and Omaha "Friends of 4-H" who are "Purple Ribbons" club members. Williams commented, "The livestock industry is being asked to financially support carcass contest premiums."

Under the proposal, the grand champion steer would receive $1,000, the reserve grand champion, $500, the champion market heifer, $300, breed champion $200 each, reserve breed champions and reserve champion heifer $100, and purple ribbon animals, $50 each. Carcass premiums would include $1,000 for the champion carcass, $500 for the reserve, $250 for third place, $150 for fourth, $100 for fifth, $50 for sixth through 15th places, and $25 each for 16th through 20th placing carcasses.

A total of $550 is being proposed in cash premiums for the top seven entries in the swine live show, along with $200 for the champion carcass, $100 for the reserve champion carcass and an undetermined amount for other contest placings; according to a formula carried in the official 1971 premium list.

A total of $300 in premiums is proposed for the top five lambs in the live show, and $545 in premiums for the first 15 lamb carcasses, of which $150 would go to the owner of the champion carcass.

Owners of champions would get their checks when their animals are placed at the live show, which would be honored at a banquet that night, sponsored by the merchants, Williams said.

Beef Comment—

Area Beef Specialist - University of Nebraska Northeast Station

Three to five pounds daily hay (or equivalent) and if not stored at moisture levels above about 25 percent.

A new system of preservation of high moisture grain is by adding organic acids rather than by excluding air. Information as to the strong points and weak points of this storage system is very limited but several experiments with it are in progress. The University of Nebraska currently has experiments with acid stored high moisture corn at Northeast Station and at the Mead Field Laboratory.

State Forfeits Brucellosis Status

LINCOLN—The Modified Certified Brucellosis status acquired by Nebraska in April, 1970, has been forfeited, according to the USDA Animal and Plant Health Service.

The Nebraska Bureau of Animal Industry (BAI) said the USDA action resulted from Boone County failing to meet requirements for recertification.

Unauthorized movements of Boone County cattle to any of Nebraska's other counties could jeopardize the Modified Certified status of those counties, said officials of the Nebraska Bureau of Animal Industry and the USDA Animal and Plant Health Service.

Interested parties in all counties in jeopardy are being personally advised of the situation, said BAI officials.

Boone County may qualify for reinstatement of this status by testing a percentage of the herds in the county. These herds are chosen for test by random selection. The testing must be completed by the end of June, 1972. If this procedure for reinstatement fails, Modified Certified status can be regained only by qualifying each herd through one of three herd testing methods in no more than an 18-month period.

In an attempt to reinstate Modified Certified status to Boone County before the June 30 deadline, state and federal regulatory authorities will advise owners of selected herds on the test requirements and the deadline for completion. It will be the responsibility of each selected herd owner to arrange for the test of his herd with his veterinarian. The testing fee will be paid out of government funds.

"WATCH IT JOE, WE LOST A POLLUTION-ECOLOGIST THIS MONDAY."

the open, hot oven.

The once white, clean snow on the cows has turned to a wet, sloppy mess by the time you get back to the barn.

By the time you get the cold, stiff cows to flexing easily you are done milking. This causes you to make another of your immediate, definite decisions.

Either you're going to financially plunge into building a new, heated milking parlor or quit milking. You'll quit chore time tonight anyway.

The morning is about half gone and you've only started chores. And not one animal on the farm can get a drink of water until you get the tanks, hydrants and fountains thawed out.

Unconsciously you start toward the big tank to get that heater burning. Right now that extra money would have been well spent on putting an electrical outlet near the tank. Just plugging in a cord would sure be a lot easier than tromping after fuel every time you want to light it.

By the time you reach the house your feet are the only part of you that is cold.

It's probably close to 10:30 by now. You'll have just enough time to drink a cup of coffee and get warm before doing the noon chores. Such as haying the cattle and cleaning out a couple of the sow pens.

After dinner you'll have to scoop the snow from the crib and grind a batch of feed. Then start thawing and scooping again. As you begin taking off your outer layer of insulation you marvel at how the Good Lord has things all worked out.

Like the farmer not having anything to do in the wintertime. Crises, how would he ever get the chores done otherwise?

The Agent's Angle

by Harold Ingalls

would amount to an increase return of from $9 to $12 per animal.

Allan Wellman, Nebraska Extension economist, says that average daily gain is probably the single most important factor affecting profits for the Midwest cattle feeder. Rate of gain is important since it is highly correlated with feed required per pound of gain.

A rule of thumb is that every one-tenth pound increase in daily gain saves 30 pounds feed per one hundred pounds gain. In general an increase in average daily gain of one half pound increases profit $25 to $30 per head. These figures can vary widely depending on cattle and feed prices. However, it does illustrate the importance of gain ability in all phases of the cattle industry.

The 1971 corn and small grain performance circulars are now available.

Farmers interested in how different corn and small grain varieties performed in 1971 can obtain this information now in County Extension offices.

Rural Ramblings

Snow, snow, beautiful snow. It's soft white fluffy flakes blanket the horizon, seemingly dead earth when the storm has passed and the wind has subsided, the snow seems to muffle all sounds of Mother Nature, causing an awesome stillness.

The air is so fresh and cold that it hurts one's lungs when he takes a big, deep breath. The clear, unpolluted air allows the sun's bright, morning rays to produce a blinding, glistening reflection on the now fallen snow.

Clear, white, snow covering the recent barren trees gives them a picturesque atmosphere of serene majesty and stature. It also makes an excellent camouflage for the trash pile beside the garage.

And any farmer, while trying through snow drifts and falling to get his chores done, who can calmly think of snow in these terms must be some kind of a "nut."

Or so you think as you miss your calculations and step into the deepest snow drift between the house and the barn.

If the weatherman had told you exactly how many inches of snow you were going to get last night you'd have taken a scoop to the house.

50-50 Chance

He said there was only a 50 percent chance of heavy snow. When you tried, waded and stumbled out to the barn. There is too much snow piled against the door for you to open it.

Yet it is too soft to hold your weight while you climb over the bottom door. Of course, the weight of your coveralls, jacket and five-buckle overshoes doesn't lighten the load. Nor does it make you any more agile for climbing.

Once you're inside the barn you decide there isn't much need to scoop a path back to the house. Might as well do that on your way back from choring. That way if the wind starts blowing soon you'll only have to scoop it twice in one day instead of three times.

So you proceed to scoop out the other barn door so the cows can get in.

Temperature Quirk
You soon discover that it is too cold in the barn for the milkers to work. Yet it is warm enough for the "lovely, white powder" on the cows' backs to turn to ice and water and drip off the sides of the cow.

With the milkers dragging in the snow, you try to retrace your steps to the house. In the good old days you had a trash burner in the kitchen that produced almost instant heat for such a warming emergency.

The heat from the furnace vents would probably take until noon to thaw out the milkers. So the Mrs. sets them on chairs in front of

Not Prepared

Guess you hadn't planned on it getting colder in winter. No clean fuel can to be found anywhere. You dust the snow from atop everything under the fuel barrels and ransack the tool shed with no results. Then you recall leaving a fuel can on the combine.

This calls for a trip through more mud road to the machine shed. Yep, still there. Right where you left it.

You trudge back to the fuel barrels, rinse out the can, fill it with fuel and try to retrace your steps in the snow to the tank heater.

By now every cow, calf and critter on the farm has surmised there is trouble with the water facilities. They're crowding, lunging, bawling and trying to climb into the tank.

Thank goodness during that last chilly spell you took heed and anchored the heater in the tank. You learned your lesson last year when you had to let the heater thaw its own way through the ice.

Quickly and impatiently you pour fuel and light it.
You don't have to worry about the cattle crowding around the tank anymore.

Nor you either for that matter. The loud, sudden blast of ignition and the hot, leaping flames cause a quick retreat for all on-lookers. You find yourself several feet from the tank; sprawled on the ground and half covered with snow—still holding onto the fuel can.

Close Call

Whereas that was a close one. Next time you'll—at least put down the can before lighting the fuel in the heater.

After several laborous trips to and from the house for hot water and the propane torch the foundation tanks are full to overflowing with cool, clear water.

Hopefully—last night you remembered to plug in the head-bolt heater on the tractor. Looks like, most of the snow piled up the silage pit so feeding the cattle shouldn't take too long.

But you realized that thought before you took a look at the snow piled up in the feed bunk. You're back to scooping again.

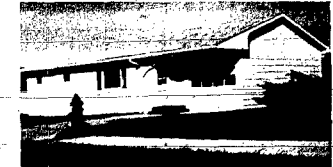

Somehow you manage to get the snow scooped out of them without getting trampled by the hungry cattle that keep nudging you impatiently.

Bone-chiller

Once the feeders are done and you're putting the tractor into the shed, you suddenly realize that

Irrigation Shortcourse Focuses on New Methods

A permanent solid set sprinkler irrigation system with automatic controls is as nearly automatic as any irrigation system now on the market and requires a minimum of labor, a University of Nebraska District Extension irrigator told those attending an irrigation shortcourse in Lincoln.

Glenn Krohn, assistant state 4-H leader, was the guest speaker for the evening. His topic was "Challenge of Change."

of a soil with high intake rates, according to Mullner.

A disadvantage of the conventional buried system is the problem of risers extending above the ground permanently. Mullner said they interfere with crop production practices, and are subject to damage by grazing livestock. "Some type of post is installed at each riser to protect it from equipment and live stock," he said.

A new retractable riser, invented by Lauren Carstensen, Phillips, Neb., was evaluated at the NU South Central Station during the summer of 1971. Mullner reported. The riser and sprinklers, when not applying irrigation water, are 18 inches below the ground surface, completely out of the way of farm implements.

When the water turned on, hydraulic water action pushes risers up through the soil, and they continue to rise to the desired height above the ground. A water motor turns the entire riser, which in turn rotates the sprinkler nozzles imbedded within the turning riser. This results in a circular water distribution system.

When the water is turned off, water pressure retracts the risers below the ground, with water discharged out the sprinkler nozzles.

Mullner said three methods of solid set systems can be used; area design, lateral design, and individual sprinkler control.

The end result of all methods is the same, only each uses a different way of getting there," Mullner noted.

Irrigation Workshop At Norfolk on Feb. 8

Design factors of electrical wiring of center pivot systems will be discussed as part of the second annual Northeast Nebraska Irrigation Workshop. The meeting has been scheduled for Feb. 8 at the Norfolk City Auditorium. This will be a one-day meeting with coffee at 9:15 a.m.

The report on center pivot system wiring will be presented by LaVerne Stetson of the USDA Agricultural Research Service. Stetson has recently been assigned to study center pivot electrical wiring in an effort to point up problem areas. Being able to identify them will allow the operator to provide safeguards against system stoppage and will be of future use in developing design standards.

Other features on the program will be the presentation of data and Recommendations For Fertilizers Through Center Pivot Systems, by George Behm, area agronomist at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station. Russell Moomaw, also agronomist at the Station, will talk about "Planting Rates and Herbicides."

Les Sheffield, coordinator of the Irrigation Development Program, University of Nebraska, will be on the program and present data on "Choosing Energy Sources For Center Pivot Irrigation Systems."

Delbert "Red" Lane will talk on the "Choice of a Power Unit," from the size stand point. Lane is extension engineer at the University, with power machinery his specialty.

Paul Fishbach, of the University of Nebraska Extension Service, a familiar figure to most Nebraska irrigators, will present

The floral centerpiece went to Mrs. Larry King, wife of the outgoing president, and Mrs. Bill Richardson received a gift from the Chamber for making a new Santa Claus suit. ### Relief Needed from Rising College Costs, Says Thone

"Few costs are rising as rapidly and show every promise of continuing to increase as those for higher education. For a number of reasons, we can foresee that the costs of a college education will be even more in the years ahead," Charles Thone, U.S. Congressman from Nebraska noted.

"Therefore, I have pinned with other members of Congress in sponsoring the two bills that would provide some tax relief for parents of college and university students. This relief will ultimately benefit if every student who is capable of doing good work on the university level does get a college education. The 1970 U.S. Census figures show that the average college graduate earns about $5,500 more in taxable income each year than the average high school graduate.

"One of the bills I have joined in introducing provides for modest tax deductions for parents of college students. The proposal would allow a parent of a college student to deduct a maximum of $325 from his federal income taxes for his expenses incurred in paying for tuition, fees and books. The first $200 spent for a student would be completely deductible, the next $300 would bring an additional $75 exemption from taxes and the next $1,000 spent for a college dependent would bring an additional $50 tax reduction. For those with gross income of more than $18,000 per year, the exemption would be lowered as the income rose.

"Considering that the cost of tuition, fees, books and board and room at some universities in America is now more than $5,000 per year, the tax deductions proposed are quite small.

"In passage of the 1971 tax bill, the Senate included a credit against income tax for expenses of providing higher education that was similar to the bill described above. This provision was eliminated in the House-Senate Conference Committee. I am hopeful that such a tax credit for college expenses can be enacted in 1972.

"The other bill I am co-sponsoring would give parents tax incentives for setting up funds to finance their child's college education. Parents could put aside $500 in a college trust fund each year for a child and take a $500 deduction on their income tax. The interest on the fund would also be tax deductible.

"Deductions taken in previous years would have to be paid back

Co-ed Visitation Proposal Studied at NU

Students at the University of Nebraska's Lincoln campus and their parents are being polled to determine their opinions toward a guest rights (coeducational visitation) proposal developed along guidelines suggested by President D. B. Varner.

The opinion survey and an explanatory letter from Interim Chancellor C. Peter Magrath was mailed to parents and students on Jan. 10. It is hoped that all will be returned by Feb. 4.

The question of visitation has been discussed among students and administrators for several years. Present housing policy allows limited coeducational visitation for special group activities, such as open houses and after football games.

President D. B. Varner, at a meeting of the Board of Regents on Nov. 5, 1971, suggested that a coed visitation policy be developed by a committee and the proposals be set before the parents of students for their opinion, "and if 50 per cent or more responded that they approve a modification, it would be my hope that the Regents would adopt a new plan."

The guest rights program being proposed for parental and student consideration was developed by students Roger Story, president of the Residence Halls Association, and Debbie Loers, member of the Council on Student Life; Regents Robert Ram of Minden and Edward Schwartzkopf of Lincoln, and Dr. Walter H. Brumley, assistant dean of faculties at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

Briefly, the proposed guest rights program for dormitories, fraternities, sororities and cooperative houses at NU suggests these policies:

1. Guests of the opposite sex could be entertained in either house lounges or student rooms for no more than six hours each day between noon and midnight Monday through Thursday; between noon and 1 a.m. on Saturday and between 1 p.m. and midnight on Sunday. Students living in the units would vote to determine the six-hour block in that unit. Supervisory responsibilities would rest with student leaders and University residence staff.
2. Any student not wishing to live in a housing unit permitting coeducational visitation or who cannot obtain parental consent will have the right to live in a unit that does not permit visitation.
3. Any student, not of legal age, must have parental consent to live in a housing unit where visitation is authorized. Consent may be revoked by a parent at any time.

4. Rules and regulations within the limits permitted by law will be developed and published.

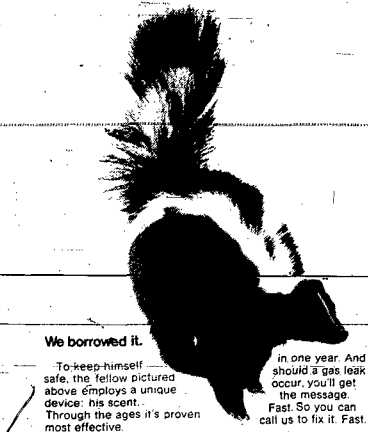

5. Violations will be handled in conjunction with established University disciplinary procedures.

In his survey of parental opinion, the University is asking parents to express their approval or disapproval of the proposed policy and to indicate whether or not they would grant permission for their son or daughter to live in a residence unit where coed visitation was authorized.

Students also are being asked their opinion of the proposal. Interim Chancellor Magrath noted in both his letter to parents and to students that "if the proposal received favorable parental response, it possibly could be in operation during the fall semester of 1972.

Confucius now is belittled in China and his shrine is ransacked. Stressing the ethical responsibility of individuals, his teachings undermine authoritarian government. His books were burned once before—in 213 B.C. by the Chin dictatorship, the National Geographic Society says. But the Chin was overthrown after 44 years and the Han dynasty that followed made Confucianism the base for all education in China.

He invented a remarkable safety system.

We borrowed it.

To keep himself safe, the fellow pictured above employs a unique device: his scent. Through the ages it's proven most effective.

To make gas a safer fuel we simply borrowed his idea. In other words, we gave gas a scent of its own.

You see, untreated natural gas is invisible and odor-free. So before we pipe it to you, we add a little chemical with a very large aroma: Tertiary butyl mercaptan (or "stinkum" in layman's slang.) TBM is so potent that a single cupful can odorize all the gas you use in your home in one year. And should a gas leak occur, you'll get the message. Fast. So you can call us to fix it. Fast.

There's a lot more to making gas a safe fuel, of course. Like Peoples inspection crews using sensitive electronic gear. And sophisticated safety features on every gas appliance.

But odorizing gas itself is still a very important part of our safety system. It's the best way we know to keep our product—and our reputation—smelling like a rose.

Medical Center Supplement

Eight Pages

The photograph is the architect's rendering of a basic plan for the Medical Center proposed for Wayne area families. The large "core" unit at the right will house all ancillary facilities — surgery and emergency suites, recovery rooms, radiology and a laboratory, and inhalation and physical therapies, among others. Patient beds are in the area to the left, with a central nursing station. This original sketch was drawn for a 30 patient-bed structure, but present plans call for 50 beds which will require a long extension to the left. The plant — 42,025 square feet — will be more than four times larger than the 10,400 square feet of the present hospital's four floors!

Workers Cheer! Medical Center Total $352,750

More than 150 volunteer workers in the Special Gifts Division cheered and applauded as a total of $352,750 was announced during their card-choosing, kickoff rally Wednesday evening in the Birch Room at Wayne State College. The total is 70.5 per cent of the $500,000 goal for the Wayne area's new Medical Center.

Report of the total was made by Robert Carhart, president of the Wayne Hospital Foundation. Carhart is Co-Chairman, with Harold E. (Jim) Hein, of the Pattern Gifts Committee.

Said Carhart: "All gifts represented by cards in the Campaign Office are included in this total. They are the result of advance solicitation of big gifts which began last November and all of them represent five-year subscriptions."

Walter L. Moller, Chairman of the division, said: "The announcement of this Pattern Gifts total is an inspiration to all of us who now have work to do. There is still $147,250 to be subscribed to reach the goal, and all of us who will call upon giving prospects in Wayne, and those who will make calls in nearby communities and in rural areas are going to have to work hard during the whole month of February."

"So far we have been talking only about the goal. We want to go over that minimum sum as much as possible. Every over-subscribed dollar will build a sort of endowment fund so that all future health-care equipment approved for hospital use can be purchased. We now have the assurance there will be room for its installation."

Carhart explained the financing of the new Medical Center, with the Missionary Benedictine Sisters of Norfolk bringing in $½ million dollars, the only way in which the matching $500,000 Campaign was made possible.

"No federal Hill-Harris funds have been appropriated for hospital construction, for the last two years and I think all of us know it would have been impossible to raise $1,000,000, the estimated construction cost, in the Wayne area."

Both Moller and Carhart urged Special Gifts workers to make solicitation calls as soon as they, themselves, have subscribed. The first progress conference for these volunteers will be held Thursday, Feb. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the Birch Room. Members of the Pattern Gifts Committee, responsible for much of the advance giving, will meet jointly with the Special Gifts workers.

After the formal part of the kickoff meeting, volunteers chose subscription cards of the Wayne businesses and families they will call upon.

Foundation Is Planning Source

In December, 1961, a group interested in modern health care for families of the Wayne area formed a Wayne Hospital Foundation, a non-profit corporation, providing a means by which tax-deductible gifts could be made for the Wayne Hospital.

Officers were elected. They and board members serve without remuneration.

This is the group that negotiated with the Benedictine Sisters of Norfolk and that is responsible for the Medical Center Building Program.

For the last 10 years Foundation Board members have realized their ultimate efforts had to be in the direction of arranging financing new health care facilities.

An attempt to create a district hospital to serve residents of Cedar, Dixon and Wayne Counties did not succeed, but there is good reason to believe that with the support already engendered—the new Medical Center can become a reality for area families.

Recent expansion of the Board of Directors has increased membership to 13. Robert Carhart is chairman, Kenneth M. Olds, secretary, and Adon Jeffrey, treasurer. Members are Dr. Robert Benthack, Phil Griess, Vernon Hill, Winside; Mrs. Don Kerl, Mrs. Becky Keidel, Rick Lund, William Norvell, Laurel; Carl Nüss, Milton Owens of Carroll, and Lyle Seymour.

Subscriptions Only Way to Success

Organization of campaign volunteers has been completed and these men and women of Wayne and the hospital service area will ask businesses and families to consider five-year subscriptions to reach the $500,000 goal and to make possible the new Medical Center for all the families of this northeastern Nebraska region.

The only way the goal can be met is through consideration by businesses and families of these deferred payment subscriptions. One-time out of pocket or pocket-book contributions, or even one-time check writing cannot—will not—attain the goal.

Perhaps the only exception to one-time check writing would be because a business or family is faced with a heavy tax problem this year. Such a check might be large enough to sponsor a living memorial in the new Medical Center.

All subscriptions will be tax deductible over the five-year period.

Members of the Wayne Hospital Foundation Board of Directors assure businesses and families that in the event the business is closed or the family moves away, the subscription can be cancelled at the written request of the owner of the business or the family.

Death of the income earner of a family can automatically cancel a subscription. Heirs can, however, continue payments on the total contribution if they so elect.

All of these contingencies can be met because the subscription card is not a legally worded instrument. The card is a declaration of intent to meet payments during the subscription period indicated. It is a moral obligation only.

It is important for all giving prospects to know that the men and women who call upon them to suggest consideration of five-year subscriptions will themselves have subscribed before the call is made.

Treat these volunteers who have chosen you to visit as your neighbors and friends, and chances are they will be just that. They will be giving their time as well as their money to help assure the highest level of health care attainable for everyone.

Invite them in, visit with them. Before they visit, ask yourself a question: "How much is it worth to me to have a modern Medical Center near our home when a member of my family or I need it?"

Then, subscribe accordingly.

Wayne Hospital Small, Obsolete Shortage of Doctors Is Critical

Wayne and the surrounding hospital service area have urgently needed a modern, acute-care medical center for more than a decade.

Obsolescent physical facilities in the present Wayne Hospital, including a grievous shortage of space, functional defects, and the impossibility of making the building fireproof have pointed up this need since before 1960.

None of the 26 patient-bed rooms conforms to today's hospital standards.

The vital necessity for improved and enlarged health care facilities can be demonstrated by population increases alone, but becomes even more critical from the fact there are only three physicians left in Wayne County. Young physicians today look for locations where there are modern facilities for their patients.

When the present hospital was opened in 1941 Wayne's population (1940 census) was 2,719. The 1970 census figure of 5,380 is nearly double that of 30 years ago, but families are served by the same medical facility.

Wayne County 1970 population is 10,481. Add more than 2,500 Wayne State College students and the estimated 3,000 population of communities and rural territories outside Wayne County and the potential patient load for three physicians is more than 5,000 for each, or more than double the maximum recommended number.

The present hospital was constructed 30 years ago as a proprietary out-patient and in-patient clinic. Following an election in 1959 it became a municipal hospital and has been on the city tax rolls ever since.

More Doctors

Members of the Wayne Hospital Foundation have been in contact with two young physicians who have expressed an interest in moving their practices here. A concentrated effort to obtain more doctors now is a project members of the Board of Directors of the Foundation are undertaking.

Own Campaign For Schools

The 76 teachers and employees of Wayne's public schools will conduct their own campaign for subscriptions for the new Medical Center. Miron Jenness, teacher in the middle school, is chairman of the committee that will ask consideration of five-year payroll deduction gifts from their fellow teachers and employees, including school bus drivers.

Sisters' Fourth Health Project

The Benedictine Sisters of Norfolk, who will operate the new Medical Center, own and operate a hospital in Graceville, Minn., and Lynch, Nebraska, in addition to operation of Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital in Norfolk. The Medical Center in Wayne will be their fourth health care project. It is expected that three Sisters will be in administrative capacities here.

Heat, Cooling Nearby

The possibility of the new Medical Center being served with hot and chilled water for space heating and cooling from the plant now providing Wayne State College is being considered. Architects estimate this arrangement can reduce construction costs by $80,000 and save $10,000 per year in the operating budget.

Why Build Now?

"Why build now?" This is a question frequently asked by people who prefer the status quo. Most important among the several answers to this question is the fact that the Wayne area must build as quickly as possible in order to keep health care facilities at all. If nothing is done, the Nebraska State Department of Health can close the present obsolete hospital by refusing a license to operate.

Secondly, costs of hospital construction have advanced an average of 12 per cent a year since the early 1960's. Success in the Campaign will permit bidding and letting of contracts as soon as possible this year. "Why build now?" The figures below illustrate:

1972 cost estimate	$1,000,000
1973 (Add 12 per cent)	1,120,000
1974	1,254,000
1975	1,404,500

Keep Your Tax Money 'At Home'

Northeast Nebraskans have great individuality in their thinking, but all of them will agree investment in their region is better than sending tax money away.

There is not better investment they can make this year than in health care for themselves, their neighbors and their good friends. All this accrues from a subscription to the Medical Center Building Program, their consideration of their own deduction plans by which they can keep tax money "at home."

The federal government encourages giving in these ways (and Nebraska State income tax deductions are the same as the federal government's):

(1) A gift to your new Medical Center will be deductible on your income tax return. The deduction offsets income on which, but for your gift, tax would have been imposed. Thus, your contribution over a period of years reduces each of those years the income tax paid by you.

(2) Because you receive a tax rebate, your actual out-of-pocket cost for the gift is always less than the dollar amount of the full contribution.

(3) No tax is incurred by a donor for a gift made during his lifetime to the Medical Center.

(4) No estate tax is payable by the estate of a donor on a gift made to the Medical Center which takes place on his death.

How much can you deduct? An individual taxpayer can deduct contributions paid in any one year up to 50 per cent of his adjusted gross income. A large, one-time contribution can be deducted over a five-year period in installments without tax penalty.

A contribution can come to the Medical Center in the form of property. You are asked in your income tax return to describe the contributed property, date of the gift and how you determined its fair market value, except in the case of stocks and other market listed securities. Such securities are deducted in your return for their total reported market value on the day of the transfer of the certificates to the Wayne Hospital Foundation.

Property which the owner obtained at low cost and now has a higher value is most frequently contributed: Securities, stocks, bonds, notes and other evidence of indebtedness, insurance policies, personal residences, farms or land (improved or unimproved), buildings, and cattle or grain.

You get a double advantage when you give stocks or other listed securities you have held more than six months, and which have appreciated in value. You get a charitable contribution for the higher value (market value) at the time of the gift. You pay no tax on the increase in value when you give such property to the Medical Center Building Program. If you sold the stocks or securities, you would owe long-term capital gains taxes.

Northeastern Nebraskans will want to consider five-year subscriptions to their Medical Center Building Program from several standpoints:

(1) What can I (we) do to help keep medical and health care facilities near our homes?

(2) What tax deduction opportunities best fit our own circumstances? Consult your tax advisor to be sure.

(3) How can we make a maximum gift by keeping some of our taxes "at home" for investment in the best possible health care for ourselves, our neighbors, our friends, and all the families of the area?

List of Living Memorial Gifts

- MANY OPPORTUNITIES exist in the new Medical Center to establish Living Memorials or to make Family-Naming Gifts dedicated to the service of humanity.
- THE NEW CENTER will contain a variety of areas, each one to be put to use for safeguarding health, alleviation of pain, bringing lives into the world, and prolonging life itself. The significance of your gift can be enhanced, the gift itself long remembered by those whose needs will be satisfied by your generosity.
- MEMORIALS ARE AVAILABLE in sums ranging from $1,500 to $60,000 and all are subject to prior reservation.
- IDENTIFIED GIVING opportunities are available for individuals, families, corporations, clubs and associations. An attractive plaque suitably inscribed with the name of the person, family or group will mark your generous giving.
- The following areas and units of equipment have been selected for your consideration:

When a Hospital's Age Shows

STEPS — These are the steps at the entrance of Wayne Hospital. There are no steps in a modern hospital, only a slightly graded ramp . . . for wheel chairs, for people who are ill or injured, perhaps not enough to be taken to the emergency entrance, but always enough to make steps an arduous experience.

ONLY WAITING AREA — These people are outpatients waiting for diagnostic procedures prescribed by their physicians. Dressed for X-ray visits they sit patiently in this tiny lobby, the only waiting area in the hospital.

EMERGENCY TABLE — Across the hall from the "lobby" is the emergency room in which the waiting patients have had to remove their wraps and some of their clothing, using the emergency table as a coat rack. Women frequently use the administrator's office as a dressing room.

MORE STEPS — And after you are inside the entrance there are more steps, making a total of 10 including the outside sill. The cardiac patient who comes back for blood tests or other procedures is told to avoid stairs as much as possible, to climb them slowly if it is unavoidable.

DOUBLE-BED ROOM — Patient-bed rooms are as small and crowded as are other areas of the hospital. There is barely space in this double-bed room for a visitor and two patients. Hospital personnel is anxious to serve, and everyone does his or her best under these adverse conditions. Eighty-two per cent of patients say total care has been good to excellent.

YOUR Hospitalization

INSURANCE

IS ONLY AS GOOD AS

YOUR HOSPITAL

● And in Wayne and the hospital service area the chips are down. Are the families of this northeastern Nebraska region ready to insure themselves for the best possible health care by subscribing to the maximum of their ability to construct a new Medical Center for their own use? The real question: Does Wayne and the area want to continue to have a hospital?

● Such insurance through maximum subscription gifts is as important as your hospitalization policy. Even if a universal federal health insurance program comes into being, modern Medical Centers will be needed, perhaps more than ever because of increased use.

● Does Wayne and the area really want to continue to have a hospital? The question will be answered in the next few weeks. Only YOU can help insure yourself, your neighbors and friends for modern health care.

Organization is Ready to Go After Kickoffs

Fund-raising programs are planned in three phases: the informative period, organization of committees and divisions and, finally, solicitation.

Organization—obtaining the right people to make personal calls upon selected giving prospects—is as important as solicitation itself.

The pattern gifts committee of ten men has been doing advance solicitation since early November. Co-chairmen are Harold E. (Jim) Hein and Robert Carhart. Members of the committee are Alan Cramer, Roy E. Coryell, Marvin Dunklau, Adon Jeffrey (who also is Campaign General Chairman), Clarence Kuhn, Carl Nuss, Kenneth Olds and Dr. Lyle Seymour.

It was totals scored by this committee in a half dozen report conferences that were largely responsible for the grand total announced today. Other elements in the total included physicians' subscriptions, the hospital employees campaign and the hospital auxiliary gift.

Occasion for announcing the grand total to date was the Wednesday meeting of the special gifts division at which prospect cards were chosen in the WSC Birch Room. These division members will call upon Wayne businesses and selected families during February.

Special gifts chairman is Walter L. Moller, and vice-chairmen are Dale Johansen, Dean Pierson and Mrs. Hallie Sherry.

The vice-chairmen enlisted 12 section leaders: Johansen—Don Echtenkamp, Dr. Niel Edmunds, Dr. B. J. Hirt and Dick Manley; Pierson—Dr. Irvin C. Brandt, Francis Haun, Dr. Max Lundstrom and Robert A. Merchant; Mrs. Sherry—Mrs. Roy Christensen, Mrs. Armand Hiscox, Mrs. Dorothy Ley and Mrs. Robert A. Merchant.

In turn, these section leaders brought 36 group leaders into the campaign: Brandt—Henry Brasch; Lee Foote, Stanley Morris; Mrs. Christensen—Mrs. Richard Arett, Mrs. Richard Lesh and Mrs. George Phelps; Echtenkamp—Joe Lowe and Dale Gutshall; Haun—Deryl Lawrence, Loren Park, Richard Metteer; Hirt—Richard Keidel, Clete Sharer, Dr. Wayne Wessell; Edmunds—Morris L. Anderson, A. J. Atkins, Arnold Marr; Lundstrom—James D. Hummel, Dr. Orvid Owens, Dr. LeRoy Simpson; Mrs. Hiscox—Mrs. John Barr, Mrs. William Koeber and Mrs. Mabel Sorensen; Mrs. Ley—Mrs. Vern Jacobmeier, Mrs. William Eynon, Mrs. Norris Weible; Manley—Al Koplin, Joe Nuss, George Phelps; Merchant—Albert Bahe, Larry DeForge; O. K. Brandstetter; Mrs. Merchant—Mrs. Huber Addison, Mrs. Morris Anderson and Mrs. J. J. Liska.

Hospital Service Area chairman is Cal Ward. He has selected eight coordinators who have formed committees to call upon area community and rural residents. Coordinators are William L. Norvell, Laurel; Richard Hanson—Dixon and Concord; Stanley Morris, Carroll; Fredrick Temme, RR2, Wayne; Leland Herman, RR2, Wayne; Werner Janke, RR1, Wayne, Harry Heinemann, RR1, Winside, and Willis Meyer, RR1, Wayne.

Kickoffs for the service area division were scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 27, in the Birch Room, and for any group who could not attend Thursday evening's card choosing rally, for Friday, Jan. 28, in the Woman's Club room at the City Auditorium.

Old Hospital May Be City Hall 'Annex'

What's to be done with the old hospital when the new Medical Center is opened?

Mayor Kent Hall said the decision about use of the building would have to be made by the city council, but that there was reason to believe the city-owned hospital might be considered an "annex" to the city hall with space used for offices and additional storage room. The hospital building is across Third Street from the City Hall and City Auditorium.

"Our office space in the present City Hall is inadequate and the present hospital building might well be used to relieve this situation," said the mayor.

Three Sources to Finance Medical Center Building Program

The new Medical Center—constructed and fully equipped—will cost $1,300,000 according to architects' estimates and present prices of necessary and sophisticated new equipment. One million dollars is for construction.

Resources totaling $300,000 are available for modern equipment. Through prudent operation of the municipal hospital by the Wayne Hospital Board, there is a reserve fund of $230,000. Present usable equipment now in the Wayne Hospital inventories at $70,000.

The shares program of resources is the only way Wayne area residents can be assured of modern medical and health care near their homes.

Financing the new Medical Center is based upon these three factors, each of them necessary for the building program:

Sisters of Norfolk	$ 500,000
Wayne Hospital Equipment and Reserve Fund	300,000
Public Subscription Campaign	500,000
TOTAL	$1,300,000

"The first necessity is success in the fund-raising program, said Adon Jeffrey, campaign general chairman. "The $500,000 goal must be reached."

He added: "Without the Sisters' participation the hospital building program would be impossible. If we subtract their $500,000, the amount Wayne area residents would have to raise would be a full million dollars."

ORGANIZATION START—These are the Wayne men who will lead eight of 12 sections in the Special Gifts Division work that will ask consideration of subscriptions from businessmen and selected families during the month of February. Walter L. Moller, chairman, is instructing the Section Leaders in the next step of organization, the enlistment of Group Leaders, who, in turn, have chosen their group members. The total number of workers in the Division will be 160. (Names of Section Leaders are listed in the organization story).

WELCOME TO THE LADIES—Four section leaders meet with their vice-chairman, Mrs. Hallie Sherry, to learn plans for forming the women's contingent of the Special Gifts Division. A cross-country poll has shown that women are more interested in the health care of family members than men and have greater awareness of the vital need for modern medical facilities. Rapid enlistment by echelons in the ladies' ranks of volunteer workers have proved the point.

AREA LEADERS MEET—Eight Coordinators for the Hospital Service Area Division were named by Cal Ward, chairman of the division, and are shown meeting here. Not in the photograph is Willis Meyer. These are the men who have organized committees to call upon community and farm families, and, in Laurel, Carroll and Winside, on business owners and managers. There will be more than 100 volunteer workers in this Division, members of which will gather for their Kickoff Rally at 7:30 Thursday, January 27, in the Birch Room at Wayne State College.

WSC CAMPUS AREIAL VIEW — This aerial photograph of the Wayne State College campus, taken from the southeast, shows the 8 1/2-acre site for the new Medical Center at the very top of the picture and east and north of the parking lot constructed about two years ago. The intersection of Main Street and East Tenth is at the right foreground.

Medical Center To Help WSC Gain Students

The new Medical Center's location at the northeast corner of the Wayne State College campus may very well pave the way for increased enrollment, Dr. W. A. Brandenburg, WSC president, has told audiences in his work as public relations committee chairman for the Medical Center Building Program.

Another plus for the college will be the fact — when the $500,000 campaign for the Medical Center succeeds — that the president, in interviewing prospective faculty members, will be able to answer positively their unanimous question: "How are Wayne's hospital facilities and doctors?"

There is assurance the new Medical Center will bring additional capable physicians to Wayne. This has been the history of successful hospital building programs in Nebraska and other regions of the United States.

Meetings have been held between the Sisters, Wayne Hospital Foundation Board Members, and officials of Wayne State. The last of these meetings to discuss cooperative programs was Monday evening of this week.

The cooperative programs will make a teaching Medical Center of the new health care building. Classes in medical technology — a three-year program — have now brought 92 students to Wayne State. The course requires a fourth clinical year in an accredited hospital (Wayne's new Medical Center).

Said Brandenburg: "I cannot predict how many more students will be added when this clinical year also is available at a medical center on ground that will adjoin and now is a part of the college campus. I would expect the number would be appreciable.

"I also don't know the exact possibilities for more enrollment when the envisioned nursing courses begin, but I would predict this would add many to the student body."

MEN STUDENTS AT LAB WORK — These students are in the biology lab conducting a joint experiment. The study of biology is required for medical technology courses at WSC. A year in an accredited Medical Center or Hospital following the three-year med tech course is also a requirement for graduation.

Advances in Medical Science Increase Use of Hospitals

Today a modern Medical Center near a family's doorstep can be the difference between life and death for any member of the family.

Advances in medical science have bordered on the fantastic during the last 30 years. New techniques, new drugs and new equipment for hospitals save many lives, have increased man's life expectancy by nearly 20 years since the early '40's.

Greatly increased use of hospitals and medical centers has resulted from these new techniques that now have become standard practices.

Much of the increased use of hospital care by both in-patients and out-patients has come about because of the longer life span. Senior citizens have grown tremendously in number, have helped fill hospitals, extended care facilities and nursing homes. From 50 to 60 per cent of a Medical Center's income is from medicare and considering all the factors involved this percentage can do nothing but grow.

It is also a fact today that one of every six men, women and children needs a Medical Center or hospital every year!

Physicians of families determine which hospital they will use. Most people have heard their doctor say: "I want you at the hospital early tomorrow morning (or afternoon)." And he names the hospital where he will make arrangements for your care.

The greatest concern of each person in Wayne and the hospital service area should be the assurance of the highest level of health for everyone, and the greater assurance that the new Medical Center will bring more doctors to this northeast Nebraska region.

Attainment of these goals depends upon an effective partnership involving close collaboration in the second instance between the Sisters and the Board.

In the first instance the collaboration the Wayne Hospital Foundation Board and voluntary efforts on the part of all capable citizens. Vehicle for this cooperation is the fund-raising campaign.

The real aim is to insure comprehensive health care in an environment in the new Medical Center that will contribute positively toward the healing arts.

The Answer?

The Wayne area is constantly looking for progress, including the establishment of new industries, obtaining new businesses. What must the answer be to one of the first questions asked by firms seeking a new location: "How are your hospital facilities?"

26 Beds, Two Baths

The present Wayne Hospital is practically without plumbing. There is only one complete bath at the end of each of the third and fourth floor corridors for 26 patient beds. One bath with the only shower in the hospital is behind the business office on the second level.

MED TECH CO-ED — This med tech student works with a new centrifuge and unimeter given to Wayne State College by the Crosby Surgical Co. Those who are graduated in medical technology courses are much in demand in today's shortage of hospital technicians and technologists.

STUDENT GAIN IN PROSPECT — Number of students may very well be increased at WSC when full four-year med tech courses are possible with the new Medical Center. Nursing courses are in prospect at the college according to present plans.

Questions and the Answers

(Editor's Note: The aim of this Medical Center Supplement is to answer your questions about the need for the new health care facility for Wayne and area families. If you have other questions, please telephone the Medical Center Building Program Office, 375-1522, or stop in to visit the office at 114 East Third Street, in Wayne.)

Q. Where will the new Medical Center be located?

A. The site under consideration is 8½ acres — providing ample areas for parking and the Medical Center building — part of which is adjoining the Wayne State parking lot. It is at the top of a hill at the northeast corner of the college campus. Access to the state-owned land now would be the east-west drive on the south side of the Rice Building, going east. When the site is obtained, either by lease or purchase, an ambulance and vehicle route north from Seventh Street running directly to the Medical Center already has been planned by the city.

Q. How many Sisters will staff the Medical Center?

A. Probably three Sisters can be spared for administrative capacities in the new Medical Center. The rest of the Medical Center employees will come from Wayne and the area.

Q. Will the members of the Board who will work with the Sisters in establishing Medical Center policies receive salaries or other remuneration for their services?

A. Members of the Board will serve without any kind of pay. Any reward they earn will come from the satisfaction they feel in the accomplishment of keeping a medical and health care facility in Wayne for local area families. The same is true for Chairmen and other volunteers in the fund-raising program.

Q. Will the Medical Center be operated on a non-profit basis?

A. Yes. The Wayne Hospital Foundation and the Sisters have agreed to operate the new Medical Center on a non-profit basis. Other hospitals run by the Sisters are on this basis and the Foundation itself was organized as a non-profit corporation in the State of Nebraska.

Q. What percentage will the fund-raising counsel in the Campaign Office receive of all the money subscribed?

Q. The Cosgriff Company of Omaha never has and does not now accept fund-raising programs on a percentage basis. The Wayne Hospital Foundation Board of Directors agreed to hire this firm on a flat fee basis to manage the Campaign. The fee is figured upon the amount per man (in resident service in Wayne) per week, and the Board knew the cost in advance and made arrangements to pay the fee for five months of such service, October 4, 1971 through March 3, 1972. The fee — $19,000 — already has been paid and every dollar contributed will be a full dollar for the Medical Center. Total Campaign expense is 3.8 per cent of the goal on this basis. This percentage figure will be reduced by any overage of subscriptions.

Q. What will be done with any overage if the goal is over subscribed?

A. The money can be used to purchase new equipment over the years — equipment that has been approved for Medical Center use. A sort of endowment fund for this purpose can earn income and grow in amount until it is needed for better health care.

BARGAIN DAYS in the WAYNE AREA

$10 for $4

What a bargain the new Medical Center is for Northeast Nebraska residents in the Wayne Hospital service area . . . all of them!

A $1,300,000 Medical Center for $500,000 in public subscriptions.

These figures represent a $10 for $4 (or 5 for 2) return for their investment in the best possible health care facilities for their families, their neighbors, and their friends.

Theirs will be the new Medical Center . . . theirs because it will be ready for their use WHEN THEY NEED IT.
