

Chris Miller, Homer, Files As Candidate For Legislature in State's 17th District

Chris M. Miller, 53, Homer, filed Wednesday for the state legislature from the 17th district of Dakota, Dixon and Wayne counties.

Miller was born, raised and farmed in the Emerson vicinity and still owns a farm in Emerson precinct of Dakota County.

He moved to Homer two years ago, where he is developing Rye Mill-Er housing addition.

Miller was graduated from Homer High school in 1935 and attended the Business Administration College of the University of Nebraska on a Regent's scholarship.

"I think I have a close association with many people from all parts of Nebraska as a member of the Nebraska State Fair board and by having served 16 years in county and state fair work," Miller said. "I have become well acquainted with many people all over the state and have had a chance to discuss at length many of the issues and problems which face the state of Nebraska in the future," Miller said he has visited all parts of the state in recent years on business and personal matters.

He also stated "We must be conservative in our approach to excessive appropriations and spending for state and local needs but should still not commit ourselves so we are not flexible and changing times and needs of our communities and our state. We still are in need of tax reform in areas where we have great inequities, especially on family farms and local and home-owned businesses."

"I also favor maintaining as much local control as possible of the issues which concern our schools and the communities in which we live."

Miller served as a member of a county school district, chairman of a community fund drive in the Emerson area, as a director of a rural telephone company, chairman of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Homer, vice-chairman of the Homer Commercial club, member of the Homer School Reorganization committee, vice-chairman of the Homer School Board, president of the Dakota County Fair Board for 14 years and of the combined Dakota-Thurston County Fair.

He is presently a member of the Dakota County Fair and was recently re-elected to a two-year term on the Nebraska State fair board, and is a stockholder in the Atokad Agriculture and Racing Association.

Other filings for the 17th District seat have been made by Mrs. Elaine Schmadeke of Dakota City and J.R. "Bob" Murphy of South Sioux City.

Leroy Pfister of South Sioux City was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Elmer Wallway in the 17th District when Wallway resigned to accept the post of director of District 4 Office of Mental Retardation in Wayne.

Eddie Files For County Commissioner

Kenneth Eddie, incumbent Dist. 2 county commissioner, filed for re-election Wednesday morning with Wayne County Clerk Norris Welby.

Eddie was the first to file for any of the county, city or board of education posts which will be on the ballot for the May 9 primary election.

Filing deadline is March 10. Welby also points out that, since this election is a primary, the state law requiring re-registration of voters who fail to vote in two successive general elections does not apply, as stated in the Feb. 7 issue of The Wayne Herald.

Courthouse Closing Friday, Feb. 11

The Wayne County Courthouse will be closed Friday, Feb. 11, in honor of Abraham Lincoln's birthday. The courthouse also will be closed Monday, Feb. 21 to commemorate the birthday of George Washington.

Sandahl Enters Louisville, Ky. Tractor Pull

John Sandahl, who has won the state tractor-pulling championship at the State Fair the past two years in the 9,000-pound division, will compete Wednesday, Feb. 16, at the National Farm-and-Machinery Show at Louisville, Ky.

The 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sandahl of Carroll placed eighth in the Louisville competition last February with his 4020 John Deere. The Kentucky pull attracts entries from states throughout the Midwest as one of the features of the week-long National Farm and Machinery Show.

The 1970 Wayne High grad and three others—Bill Richardson and Ken Austin of Wayne and Ken Everingham of Wakefield—will pull John's tractor with a pickup to Louisville.

New Approach to Math Is Explained to School Board

A new approach to teaching math was explained to the Dist. 17 Board of Education Monday night by Middle School Principal Loren Park and West Elementary Principal Richard Mettner.

The board, at its November meeting, had requested a study made of the concepts of individualized, continuous progress and upgraded mathematics in the elementary and middle schools. The two school administrators had been invited to report to the board regarding those concepts and to make some recommendations relative to their implementation at the Monday night meeting at Wayne High School.

The two were enthusiastic as to the new program's implementation during the 1972-73 school year; especially for kindergarten through sixth grades.

In the upgraded program, each pupil would work at his own rate through units of study in a learning sequence. Grade placement of the pupil would not be a factor in the pupil's placement. In other words, they reported, a second grade pupil would work with first grade material if need be or he may work with third grade material if capable.

In the continuous progress phase, the program would be geared to a proper scope and sequence. Each pupil, while working at his own rate, would be pre-tested and post-tested on all materials.

In the individualized instruction category, the main program would permit the teacher to individually prescribe the methods and materials that each pupil would need to use to attain success in the program.

In their outlined report, they listed the major objectives of the upgraded program as:

- (1) Suitable provision for each child through a flexible group of pupils in an adaptable, flexible curriculum and a broad range of materials and instructional approaches.
- (2) Each child is constantly given just the right amount of pressure to succeed and progress, with the program centered around the pace of the entire class not the individual pupil.
- (3) Success is assured for all kinds of learners so long as they attend to their tasks with reasonable diligence and effort.
- (4) Reports to parents on the progress of their child will reflect the uniqueness of their child in terms of individual progress.

(5) There is more sophisticated curriculum planning, evaluation and record-keeping on the part of the teachers.

Essentials for the successful development of an individualized instruction program were listed as (a) Detailed specification of educational objectives, (b) Organization of methods and materials to obtain these objectives, (c) Careful determination of each pupil's competence at given level, (d) Provisions for frequent monitoring of student performance in order to inform the pupil, parent and teacher of progress toward an objective, and (e) Continual evaluation and strengthening of the curriculum and instructional procedures.

In another major item of business, the board accepted a bid of $7,254.51 for a new 48-passenger school bus.

The bids actually were accepted in two parts, Carpenter of Omaha having the low bid on the bus body of $3,995.85 and Corvett Auto Co of Wayne submitting the low bid of $4,158.66 for a Chevrolet chassis.

Other bus body bids were received from Superior of Omaha. See NEW MATH, page 6.

Dittrick stated that he would confer with last term's district judge, Merrit Warren, before setting trial dates.

Judge Dittrick also lowered Condrey's bond from $20,000 to $5,000. Condrey has been held in the Wayne County Jail since his arrest. In lieu of bond, Gronenthal is free on $5,000 bond. See SEPARATE TRIALS, pg 7

Two Injured in Mishap

A collision involving two pickup trucks left the drivers injured Tuesday shortly after noon.

A truck driven by Roderick R. Hughes, 206 Sherman, was westbound on Second, and a truck driven by Ted Fuoss, Carroll, was northbound on Lincoln, when the two collided at the intersection of W. Second and Lincoln. Both vehicles were listed as total losses after the 12:06 p.m. mishap.

Both drivers were alone, and both were admitted to the Wayne Hospital, where they were treated and released.

In a Saturday morning mishap, a car driven by Lots Nuerntberger, Wakefield, was backing out of a diagonal parking space when it struck an adjacent car owned by Clifford Fredrickson, Wakefield. Minor damage was listed for the Nuerntberger vehicle.

Minor damage to a car driven by Ruth Paulson, Carroll, was also reported. See TWO INJURED, page 6

Snowmobile Reduces Power Outage Problems

By Brenda Gustafson

Anyone who has ever spent a night playing pitch by candlelight, craving a drink of plain old water, and dreading the thought of sleeping in an ice cold bedroom knows what the loss of electricity means in the farm home today.

It means no heat, no water, no lights, and possibly a few well-chosen words about the rural power district.

The Wayne County Public Power District is just as concerned about power outages as our cold and thirsty card player, according to Cal Comstock, district manager, and Ron Milliken, line superintendent, who point out that Feb. 6-12 is National Electricity Week.

"Ice is the greatest winter hazard," said Comstock. "Ice adds weight to the lines. When the wind blows two lines together, one of the lines will burn the other in two."

Access to the trouble spot is another problem.

"Normally we have a terrible time getting out there," Comstock said. "If we can't get there, there is nothing we can do."

equipment on a snowmobile.

Milliken made it clear that he did not mean to blame the men who clear county roads for these access problems. "I've spent many hours following right behind these guys and I think they are trying their best, too," he said.

Contrary to what many people may believe, the winter months are not the most prone to power outages.

"May and June are the worst months for power outages because of the lightning and windstorms," Comstock said.

Power districts usually learn of power outages from customers who call in, Milliken said. "The caller has usually contacted a neighbor. This way the district knows if a line is out or if this is an individual outage."

"If we receive quite a few calls in a short time, we check the lo-ocations and then check the substitution for that location," said Comstock.

Two-Way Radio

The Wayne District has a two-way radio system. "As soon as the outage has been reported," we can dispatch a truck to the troubled area," Milliken said.

There are ways to prevent some power difficulties, according to Comstock.

"The first thing anyone should do is buy a stand-by generator," said Comstock.

"Electricity is not a luxury these days. The use of electricity increases 5 to 7 percent a year," he said.

Generators are cheap enough now that anyone can afford them. A little $250 unit for household use would last a lifetime. A $700 unit would be big enough to carry any family farm in this area."

"If a person doesn't have a stand-by generator, there are some things he can do to make life more comfortable during a storm," said Comstock.

"Have some kind of unit to cook on," Comstock advised. "The sure drinking water is available."

"Don't open the deep freezer," he cautioned. "Most foods will stay frozen for many hours if the freezer is not opened."

"If you still have a little heat, conserve it," he said. "Don't go in and out of the house any more than you have to. Close off some rooms."

Inconvenience Gripes

Most of the complaints regarding power outages are for the personal inconvenience caused by not having electricity in the home, Comstock said.

"Dairy farmers, persons operating large poultry farms or large feedlots, persons who raise a large number of hogs—these people have stand-by generators," he said.

It is true, said Comstock, that some people may always be last when it comes to restoration of power. This is simply a result of their distance from the power source.

"When we have a major problem, we must follow the line from the source on out," he said.

Power outages are much less frequent than they used to be, said Comstock. "Until 1962 there was only one major source of power into Northeast Nebraska now there are four combinations which can be used."

Milliken said that many problems are located on the farm places themselves. "From the meter on is the individual's responsibility," he said.

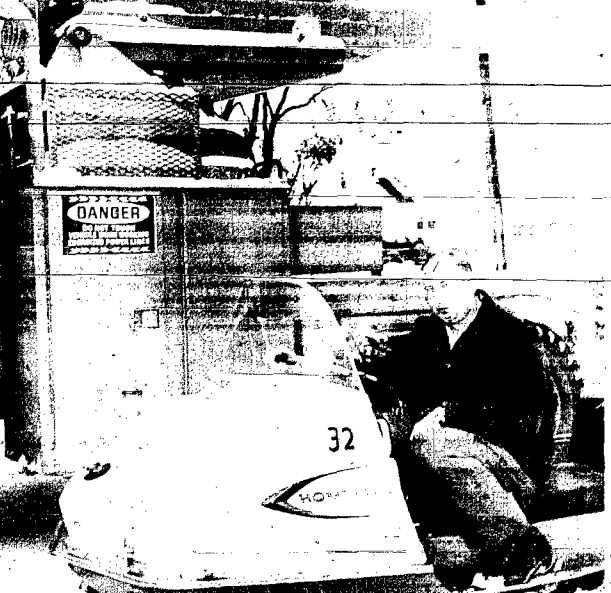

"These responsibilities include fuse boxes, switches, and overhead wires," Comstock said.

This was the scene shortly after noon Tuesday, when pickups driven by Roderick R. Hughes, 206 Sherman (left), and Ted Fuoss, Carroll, collided at the intersection of West Second and Lincoln. Both vehicles were listed as total losses, and both drivers were treated and released at the Wayne Hospital.

Snowmobile Helps

The District has had a snowmobile now for three years. "A snowmobile helps," said Milliken. "With a snowmobile we can at least get there. But then we might not have the necessary materials; you can't carry much

Service Award Goes to Wayne Kiwanis Club

The Wayne Kiwanis Club rates No. 1 for service projects in the Nebraska-Iowa Kiwanis District. Kiwanis International has notified the club that the district achievement committee selected Wayne to receive the 1970-71 Multi-Service Award among clubs of its membership class. Factors in the award cover the range of projects each club undertakes.

Jim Hummel, president during the 1970-71 club year, said credit for the award goes to the committees for the numerous projects they accomplished—many of them publicized little or not at all.

As winner of the district, which covers nearly all of Iowa and Nebraska, Wayne now is in competition for the Kiwanis International Multi-Service Award.

Snowmobiles provide a way for the Wayne County Public Power District to get to trouble spots during the winter months. Ron Milliken, district line superintendent, poses on a smaller model.

Under-Wired

"Many places are still wired for 60 or 100 amps when they should be wired for 200," he said.

"Between now and 49 we expect the time our customers have power," Comstock said.

"In a normal year, comparatively little time is spent restoring power. The bulk of our See SNOWMOBILE, page 6

Council Approves Reissuance of Bonds

The Wayne City Council Tuesday night passed an ordinance which authorizes the reissuance of $200,000 in electric revenue bonds. Bonds 181 through 500 will be reissued at a lower rate of interest, with an ultimate saving to the city of about $3,000.

The Council also approved a companion resolution which authorizes the purchase of the bonds from their current owners.

E. C. Witt is general chairman for the event, assisted by James Troutman and David Warnemund. The public is invited to attend.

The Council also was notified that the State Department of Aeronautics had approved a request for the construction of six T-hangers at the municipal airport. The state agency noted that state loan funds will be available May 1 to aid in financing the project. The Council then directed the city engineers to draw up the specifications for the hangers.

In connection with recent power outages, power-plant superintendent Norbert Brugger appeared to discuss with the councilmen the possibility of hiring additional men to provide supervision by at least two men at all times. The Council passed a motion that will set up meetings for Brugger and the light and power committee to select two additional employees.

The Council heard objections from Dean Persion in regard to ordinance 719, which proposes paving on Granland Road. If the ordinance were passed, property belonging to Persion would be annexed, and he would be required to pay paving costs that probably would exceed the value of the land. The Council referred the issue to the committee for further consideration.

In further action, the Council passed Ordinance 718, which provides that dogs four months of age must be licensed, and that impounded animals will be kept for five days instead of the present three days, at a cost of $1 per day. If impounded animals are not claimed within five days, they will be destroyed. The yearly license fee was set at $3 for females and $1 for males and spayed females.

The city engineers informed the Council that the average cost to the City for fuel per kilowatt hour of electrical power was 4.2 mills for the 1970-71 fiscal year.

The program will be approximately 50 minutes long. See REISSUE BONDS, page 6

Dr. Anne Campbell Honored

Dr. Anne Campbell, one of Nebraska's leading educators, returned last week to Wayne State, where she had received a master's degree. In 1959, to receive a new honor—as Cardinal Key's Nebraska Woman of the Year.

At a banquet in the Walnut Room, the WSC chapter made Dr. Campbell an honorary member and presented the Woman of the Year citation, which had been adopted at the national Cardinal Key convention last November.

It was an interesting feature that the award was made by one national president to another. Kerl Klaunder, former chapter president at WSC and now national president of Cardinal Key, gave the citation to Dr. Campbell, national president of the American Association of University Women.

Also participating in the ceremony were chapter members Carolyn Blue, Marjorie Schletter, Lila Martens and Lynette Amason.

An afternoon reception planned by the faculty and the local AAUW branch honored Dr. Campbell, former Madison County school superintendent and now serving as administrative assistant for governmental relations with the Lincoln Public Schools. The reception turned into a reminiscing session as the honoree and many longtime friends traded stories about other mutual friends.

France imported so much horsehair from Germany for wigs in the 17th century that it upset the trade balance. Colbert, finance minister to Louis XIV, sought vainly to have wigs banned, fearing the French treasury would be drained of gold.

Dr. Anne Campbell and Dr. Freeman Decker, Wayne State director of publications, swap stories about mutual friends in education at a reception in Dr. Campbell's honor.

Research Needed for 'Oedipus'

Intended as an educational, as well as an entertaining experience, "Oedipus Rex," the famous Greek tragedy by Sophocles, which will be presented this month by the WSC Theatre Department, has involved many hours of research, in addition to the regular preparations necessary for all theatrical productions.

Greek tragedies as we know them today had their origin in early Greek religious celebrations—constituted of singing and dancing. These ceremonies evolved to include dialogue between two, and eventually three persons.

In Greek times, the two or three actors might portray more than three roles during the play. However, no more than three speaking characters could be on the stage at one time. Staging, dance and choral recitation completed the Greek presentation. The training of a chorus during Sophocles' time was particularly emphasized, as choral odes were extremely important to the whole.

"Oedipus Rex" was written for three actors, a chorus and a few extras with no speaking parts.

In preparation for the upcoming production, the chorus for the WSC production has been working three and a half hours nearly every week day with Dr. Helen Russell, assisted by Nancy Wacholtz.

The chorus is composed of old men, old women and little children, played by Tom Bruner, Mike Hamm, Norma Trausch, Peggy Emschoff, Deb Derr, Mary Harrison, Patsy Benson, Pam Nelson and Donna Bernig, and elders and senators, played by Larry Dreyfus, Dave Cunningham, John Pegg, Gary Reiners and Al Kirtley.

WSC production dates are scheduled for Friday, Feb. 18, through 21, with a special hospital benefit performance scheduled for 8 p.m. on the 18th.

Women's City Bowling Tourney Brings Participation By 148

Vicki Pick, Doris Daniels, Geri Marks, Carol Lackas and Herval Farms team swept honors at the Wayne Women's Bowling Tournament Saturday and Sunday.

Vicki Pick, carrying an average of 133, topped the singles competition, with a 505 scratch series and a 96 handicap, for a total of 610. Runner-up was Hazel Engel, who rolled a 515 scratch with a 69 handicap for a 584 total. Verne Mae Bruckner capped the third slot, with a 530 series and a 51 handicap, for a 581 total.

Doris Daniels and Geri Marks put together a 1021 scratch series and a 138 handicap to notch 1159 for the doubles championship. Close behind were Jo Ostrander and Heika Nedergaard, with a scratch series of 890 and a 228 handicap, for a second place total of 1118. Bonnie Mohlfeld and Delores Schultz occupied the third spot, with a 955 scratch and a 138 handicap for 1093.

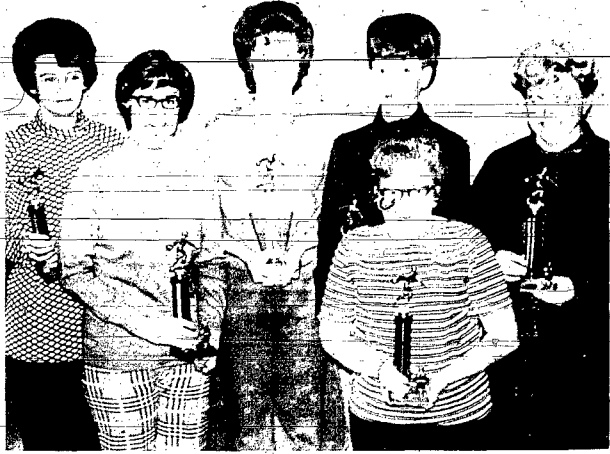

All-events champ was Carol Lackas, with the highest total scratch score in the tournament. Carol rolled a 498 team series, a 532 double series and a single series of 528, for a 1558 total. Geri Marks, member of the championship doubles team, was only 75 pins behind, with a total of 1543. Marlon Evans was separated from the two leaders by just 16 pins, taking third place with a 1527 total.

In team competition, Herval Farms led the way with a 2469 scratch series and a 258 handicap for a 2727 total. Members of the championship team were Toole Lowe, Bonnie Koch, Jo Ostrander, Elaine Cory and Lois Netherda.

Woehler Trailer Club took runner-up team honors, separated from the winners by a slim, 20-point margin. Bonnie Mohlfeld, Evelyn Doeschler, Linda Gehner, Delores Schultz and June Baler rolled a 2261 scratch series and added a 444 handicap for a 2705 total.

Lyman Photography captured a third place on a total of 2673, with a 2165 scratch and a 513 handicap. Bowlers on the Lyman team included Terri Jeffery, Carol Brummond, Debbie Eason, Nancy Niemann and Sally Schroeder.

A darkhorse team moved in to nail down the fourth place. The group, known as the "Lucky Next on the roster was Bertha Frevort, at 66, Doris Echtenkamp, 63, rounded out the golden age crew, with LaVonne Reinhardt and Ella Lutt the "spring chickens" of the group. The girls who have been bowling together for five years, put together an impressive finish for their first year in tournament bowling, with a 2124 scratch series and a 510 handicap, for a 2634 total. Next year, the "Lucky Five" plans to enter not only team, but singles and doubles competition. Five of the lady legiers rolled games over 200, with Hazel Engel out front with a 229 effort. Jo Ostrander accounted for a pair of 200 plus games, on scores of 212 and 211. The other three outstanding games belonged to Geri Marks with 225, and Elaine Pinkelman and Diane Wurdinger, each with 211.

namment numbered 148, with 17 groups competing in team competition, according to Vicki Skokan, tournament organizer and secretary of the Wayne Women's Bowling Association, valuable aid was rendered by scorekeepers, who sharpened their pencils and volunteered their time to man the scoresheets.

Eagles Soar Over Walthill, 70-55

Allen's Eagles bumped their season record to six and nine Saturday night at Walthill, as John Warner and Duane Mitchell combined for a 44-point scoring, to pace the visitors past the Bluejays, 70-55.

The free throw line was the key to success for the Allen five, as they converted 20 for 29. There just weren't many misses, with Mitchell causing seven for eight to set a sharpshooting example for his teammates.

The field goal shooting of Warner and Charlie Peters helped the Eagles take an early lead they never relinquished. Peters, out for several games due to illness, shows a 25 for 28 mark from the free throw line. The Allen defense proved tough to crack, limiting Walthill to a nine-point first half, while the Eagles dumped 17, to post an eight-point edge at the buzzer.

The Bluejays outscored their visitors, 16-15, in the second quarter, but the Allen crew still held a comfortable lead, 32-25, at the intermission. Part of the Bluejays' scoring problems originated under the boards, as Allen neutralized the usually stirring rebounding performance of Jeff Gilpin. The 6-2 junior wasn't able to haul down an offensive rebound in the first half.

A 21-point Allen scoring boom in the third quarter, coupled with a 12-point Blue Jay effort, led the game, as the invaders took a 53-37 lead into the final minute. Mitchell spearheaded the Eagles' rally with eight points, driving effectively. Warner eliminated Gilpin as a defensive threat, taking him outside to leave the inside open for the drives of Mitchell and Pete Snyder. In addition to eight points, Snyder contributed excellent floor work, grabbing eight steals.

Though outpointed, 18-17, in the final period, the Eagles coasted to the 70-55 final verdict. Allen had been able to eliminate most mental errors, and had taken advantage of breaks brought about by steals and turnovers.

Mitchell hit 23 and Warner 21, to provide Allen's scoring punch. No other Eagles were in double figures. Warner cleared the boards for 16 rebounds, to keep the visitors in scoring position.

Three Bluejays were in double figures, with Gilpin leading on 16 counters, Norm Porter canning 13 and Jeff Meyer adding 10.

The Eagles have a full slate this weekend, hosting Emerson-Hubbard Friday night and traveling to Hartington Saturday.

Three Way Tie In Rec League

A three-way tie for the loop lead was the result of Monday night's action in the Men's Basketball league. Team 5 downed Team 4 to tie the latter club to a 6-3 season record, and Team 2 won its game, to advance to a 6-3 mark. The three-way race will continue next Monday.

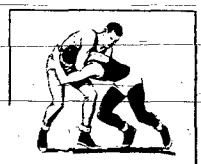

Team 5 notched a 63-57 win over Team 3, behind the scoring leadership of Hank Overin and George Eymon, who accounted for 17 points each. The winners built up an early 18-7 lead, and the Team 3 answer never threatened seriously. Leaders for the losers were Herb Swan with 29 and Mike Looft with 13.

Team 1 squeezed by Team 4 63-60, in the second matchup. The battle of the have-nots evened both clubs' records at 2-7. Mike Ginn and Scott Niemann chipped in 12 points each for the winners, and Dennis Spangler and Bill Carlson topped the losers' charts with 15 and 14 respectively. The win/loss saw Team 2 staving off a last-quarter rally by Team 6, to prevail, 55-53. Skid Hillier took scoring honors for the winners with 14 points, and Randy Robins contributed 13. Leaders of the late comeback for the losers were Ron Dalton, who totaled 20 points, and Dick Ditman, who chipped in 13.

Next week will signal the end of regular-season play, with Teams 2 and 4 meeting at 7. Team 3 takes on Team 6 at 8 and Teams 5 and 1 bump-heads at 9. All games are played at the City Auditorium.

Sportsmen's Clubs Sought

LINCOLN - Names and addresses of various sporting groups throughout Nebraska are being sought by the Game and Parks Commission so that the agency can improve its communications with the sportsmen it serves.

A special mailing was sent out recently, which requested updated lists of club officers. The only list of club names and addresses available for the mailing was several years old, and probably incomplete. Therefore, some groups may not be contacted.

In addition to up-to-date mailing addresses, the Commission is also compiling a list of events sponsored by outdoor organizations for use in various publications. Included in the search for officers and events are trap and skeet clubs, dog clubs, boating organizations, campers' groups, fishing and hunting organizations, archers, muzzle-loaders, and any other organization with an interest in outdoor recreation.

All such clubs are requested to send a list of their officers to the Game and Parks Commission, along with a schedule of events that their group is sponsoring during 1972. The lists should be addressed to Miss Elizabeth Huff, Game and Parks Commission, P. O. Box 30370, Lincoln, Nebr. 68503.

Bears' Strong Defense Trips up Elkhorn Valley

The Laurel Bears used an apparently uncrackable defense to stifle Elkhorn Valley, 53-40, Saturday night on the home hardwoods. The Elkhorn five found they'd run into a buzzsaw, as the Bears limited the visitors to only four first-quarter points.

Elkhorn was able to score only 13 points in the first half. The Bears were aggressive on the floor, and hard-nosed board work by George Schroeder, Steve Urwiler and Gary Chace denied the invaders the second shot. The diminutive Laurel crew used a little muscle and a lot of finesse to out-rebound the taller E.V. club, 48-22.

Coach Joel Park's charges got their first break on the move in the first period, notching 15 points to Elkhorn's four. The hosts duplicated that feat in the second quarter, with another 15 counters, to lead 30-13 at the half. The steady Bears, shooting at a 50 per cent clip, capped 15 again in the final stanza, with the only break coming in the third quarter, when Laurel scored eight.

With the Bears sitting on a 17-point lead, Elkhorn opened third-quarter play with a peppy zone defense. The Bears altered their game plan in an effort to draw the added nine. The Laurel trio, totaling 40 rebounds, taught Elkhorn the truth of the adage, "you can't score without the ball."

Schroeder again provided the Bears' offensive clout, with 23 points. Johnson, the only other Bear in double figures, added 17. Johnson also displayed a sharp eye from the line, notching seven free throws for nine attempts.

The low-scoring Elkhorn effort was led by Ron Qualset, with 14. Teammate Gene Fields added 10.

The win boosted Laurel's season mark to eight and nine. That record will be in jeopardy this weekend, as the Bears undertake a two-game road trip, visiting Plainview Friday and Croton Saturday.

In the curtain-raiser, the Laurel B squad dumped E.V. reserves, 47-30. Greg Anderson paced the Bears with 15 counters.

Schuyler Quintet Drops Ice-Cold WH Blue Devils

The Wayne High "Blue Devils" looking to put together two victories on successive nights, got the job half done last weekend. After shipping South Sioux City, 57-43, Friday night, the Devils went on the road, leaving to host Schuyler, 67-57, Saturday night.

Wayne shot moderately well from the free throw line, converting 17 of 30 for a 57 per cent mark, but the locals were ice-cold from the floor, hitting only 29 per cent. Wayne's shooting problems made the difference in a game that was otherwise played on equal terms.

The Devils started well, out-pointing Schuyler by 15-12 in the first period on the scoring Wakefield's Trojans matmen will participate Friday and Saturday in the Class C District C-2 Wrestling Tournament at Howells.

Matches will be wrestled at the Howells gymnasium, with prelims and first round action set for 12 to 6 p.m., Friday. Second round pair-offs and wrestle backs are scheduled for Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m., with consolation and finals from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Admission to the 12 team tournament is $1 for adults and 50¢ for students to the Friday session with the same price standing for each of the two Saturday sessions. Adult can obtain passes for $1.50, and the two-session pass for students is 75¢.

Bow to Laurel, 28-27

The combination of poor shooting by the locals and a fantastic 85 per cent free throw average by the Schuyler club sealed the Devils' fate. The hosts canned 27 of 32 charity tosses to put the icing on the cake.

Wayne's improving defense was the only bright spot for locals. Shupe contained high scoring John Gerrard in the second half. The Schuyler ace didn't hit a field goal after the intermission, gaining all his second-half points on free throws. Floor work was generally good, and Wayne out-bounded the foe, with Shupe and Saul heading in 13 apiece, and Willis grabbing 10.

Shupe took scoring honors for the locals with 16, as Willis and Doug Sturm contributed 12 and 11 respectively.

Siefkes Sets New Individual Scoring Mark As WSC Goes Over Century Mark

A 47-point avalanche of points by Dennis Siefkes carried Wayne State to a 116-83 basketball victory over Westmar here Monday night, and the 47 points posted a new Wayne individual record.

Siefkes, a 6-7 junior center from Seward, was named the top point mark set by Dean deBahr against Kearney State Feb. 12, 1966. The 225-pound Siefkes, nicknamed Mountain by teammates, hit 19 field goals on 32 tries (59 per cent) and nine of 15 free throws.

With his 26.9 point average, Siefkes has totaled 536 points in 20 games and seems likely to best another Wayne record set by deBahr, 615 points for a season. That was in 1964-65 for 24 games. Wayne has five games remaining on its schedule.

Siefkes also equaled another Wayne game record for field goals—his own, high of 19 set against the University of South Dakota-Springfield last year.

Wayne's 116 points—its Westmar ranks second highest in Wildcat annals, exceeded by the 123 over Hastings in 1970. The Wildcats built their 116 counters on 57 field goals and 22 free throws. The Wayne field goal record is 51, shot against Nebraska Wesleyan in 1967. One other time Wayne hit as many as 47 free throws, that time against Doane a decade ago.

In spite of the astronomical score, both Wayne and Westmar had only three players each in double figures. Westmar's 6-9 Dennis Cullinan led the Eagles with 26, right on his average, though he fouled out 8½ minutes from the end. Mike Harrold scored 11 and Dan Wierda 10 for the Eagles, while Randy Rohlfen hit 15 and Ron Jones, 10, for Wayne.

Diet Change May Prevent Heart Attack

About a century ago, William Ross Wallace wrote that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. Today, many scientists feel that alone in her kitchen the housewife can take positive steps against heart attack hitting her family. Some of the factors underlying heart-attack get their start early in life calling for early preventive measures.

The Nebraska Heart Association points out that the typical American diet, rich in animal (saturated) fats and cholesterol, is linked to the development of hardening of the arteries, the main cause in heart attack, which now claims 700,000 lives a year.

To lower her family's risk, the housewife can serve more meats of fish, chicken, veal and turkey and less beef, lamb, pork and ham. She can replace whole milk with skim milk, and hard cheese with cheese products made from skim milk or low-fat milk. She also can cut down on the use of eggs, which are very high in cholesterol.

Instead of using butter for a spread, the housewife can serve the soft margarines that are rich in polyunsaturated fats.

Similarly, rather than use lard and other solid cooking fats, she can substitute the polyunsaturated vegetable oils.

The latter can be used, for example, to brown lean meats, or to fry fish and poultry; in cream sauces and soups made with skim milk; for making hot breads, pie crust and cakes; for making cocktail snacks and in cooking dehydrated potatoes and other prepared foods which call for addition of fats.

To round out her daily selection of foods for a balanced diet, the housewife also should include vegetables, fruits, breads and cereals. In this way she can maintain good nutrition for her family, and at the same time help them to adopt new eating habits that are designed to protect their hearts.

The Nebraska Heart Association points out that low-fat diet alone does not eliminate the risk of heart attack. It also recommends:

(1) Keep weight at normal levels.
(2) Give up cigarettes.
(3) Have your blood pressure checked periodically.

(4) Exercise regularly, but first ask your doctor to tell you what exercises are beneficial to you.

(5) See your doctor regularly so he can detect the onset of other conditions which can increase your risk of heart attack.

For more information about diet and heart disease, ask the Nebraska Heart Association for "The Way to a Man's Heart," a meal plan wall chart, and a companion booklet of recipes.

Cataract Is Similar To a 'Cloudy Lens'

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska Medical Association. Cataracts may occur in any adult after age 35. They are more common after the age of 50.

One of the earliest signs of cataract is dimming of eyesight. Lights may appear double or reduplicated many times. The person may feel as if he is looking at things through a spotty windowpane.

Excessive dazzling in sunlight is another frequent complaint. As the cataract extends and blocks off the pupil of the eye, sight becomes more and more reduced.

General medical treatment is always advisable. When vision is markedly impaired, the surgeon may remove the cloudy lens.

A cataract operation is usually performed under local anesthesia and generally requires only a short stay in the hospital.

Eyeglasses are later prescribed to act as a substitute lens.

A cataract is not a growth, tumor or cancer. Cataract merely means that a cloudy lens is blocking vision.

It's Pretty Risky

A recent church bulletin pointed out one of the dangers of marijuana which is too often overlooked. The danger mentioned in the bulletin isn't physical or mental, but legal. That's the one solid talking point parents have.

Don't tell your kids pot is addictive. It's not, and they know it. Don't tell them using pot leads to stronger stuff. That's true in some cases, but not in most. Don't tell them pot will cause them physical or mental harm. There's no conclusive evidence to support that claim. An anti-drug campaign tells parents, "Your kids shouldn't know more about drugs than you do." But whether they've tried drugs or not, the kids are on top of the situation. Try any of those old, overworn and inaccurate anti-pot arguments, and they'll beat you every time. They've got all the answers.

Almost. But here's your ace in the hole. It's an argument that is accurate, timely and 100 per cent airtight. Marijuana is illegal. Tell them that.

Tell them that if they get caught with pot, it's right into the slammer. Or maybe just a stiff fine. But one thing is certain. They'll have a record. In Nebraska, the first offense for possession of marijuana is a misdemeanor. But it still goes on the record. And it may net them a fine of not more than $500 or seven days in jail, or both. The second offense is a felony, and if they get nailed with over a pound of the stuff, the law will very likely conclude that they intended to sell it. And a selling ask. "Have you ever been arrested?" If the answer is yes, they can pretty well forget about getting the job. Tell them that convicted felons can't vote, own guns, run for public office or hold a job where a bond is required.

They'd like to go to law school, or medical school? They'd like to be an architect or a dentist or a pharmacist? Tell them to forget that too.

Kids today are looking for logic, not pedantic old wives' tales. The logical argument is pretty logical. Grass just isn't worth the risk.

Tell them that.

Special Kind of Guy

What was the total value of property saved by Wayne firemen during 1971? There is no method of computing an accurate figure on something that didn't actually happen, of course. It would be all conjecture. But, it doubtlessly would be more, much more, than the estimated fire loss of $23,675 during the year in the area covered by the Wayne volunteers.

There were 519 man-hours expended to hold the fire loss figure to an estimated $13,275 in rural areas and $10,400 estimated damage in city fires.

Wayne Fire Chief Cliff Pihelmaa, in his yearly report, says there were 32 fires, with an average of 17 men answering each of those calls. Time spent extinguishing city fires was 11 3/4 hours, while rural fires required 11 1/2 hours.

Mutual aid, the practice of lending equipment and personal assistance to neighboring fire departments in emergencies, added another 6 1/4 hours.

It takes a "special kind of guy" who is willing to get up out of a sound sleep on a cold, bitter night to spend several miserable hours getting chilled to the bone, soaked through to the last layer of protective clothing and getting grimy from head to foot—not mentioning the odor from burning lumber, mattresses, etc., that permeates from a fireman into the

Mrs.'s sploosh kitchen when he finally returns home.

Even when it's a friend, neighbor or fellow citizen in distress.

They are not compensated for their efforts, except in the satisfaction that they have done a job where someone was helped, a home or building was saved, farm animals may have been rescued from a burning barn—or even the possibility of having averted a human tragedy.

There is always that frightening thought in the back of all firemen's minds when a home fire alarm comes through—that a person could be trapped in a burning house.

One fireman commented that he didn't especially relish the thought of having to go out in the early-morning hours on a rainy, or otherwise miserable night.

"But I sure like to have someone answer the call if my house should catch on fire."

Another fireman's organization, conducting a ticket-selling campaign for the annual dance, summed it up this way in a slogan:

"You can't see our dance and we'll come to your fire."

A better bargain you'd never get. Even hiring Joe Frazier as a body-guard wouldn't provide better protection.

Arbor Day Centennial Group Pushes Tree-planting Plans

LINCOLN—The most massive tree-planting effort in the history of Nebraska is one of the major goals of the Arbor Day Centennial Celebration, April 22, being organized state-wide by the Arbor Day Centennial Foundation.

Tom Andreas, executive director of the program, said the goal is three-fold in nature:

"We want each individual Nebraskan to plant at least one tree, in this way each can share in this wonderful heritage left to us by Nebraska's J. Sterling Morton, the founder of Arbor Day. He not only knew trees and their immense contribution to us, but he also knew the value to the individual of the simple act of planting a tree, then watching it grow.

"Secondly, we feel it is vital to have an achievement in numbers. We earnestly hope that we can see at least 7 million trees planted in Nebraska in 1972.

"Third, we are in hopes that each community, business, club and organization in the state can have its own Arbor Day Centennial emphasis.

"Much effort has been exerted by the foundation," Andreas said. "We have sought and received the full cooperation of the Nebraska Nurserymen and State Foresters. These people have volunteered their services to groups throughout the state for any worthwhile project."

Over 300 national nurseries have been contacted for their support, either in the form of free trees or through gifts to assist the funding of the state program and the response from these firms has been encouraging.

The mayors of 500 communities throughout Nebraska have been asked to appoint a chairman for their community who will initiate tree-planting projects. More than 30 communities already have appointed local chairmen.

Hearty Breakfast — or Diet Toast?

Eating breakfast—is it fast becoming a lost art?

If so, it's being chewed to death. Everybody has an opinion about it, says the National Geographic Society.

Some economists speculate that what's wrong with the world is that too many people launch their morning with little more than black coffee and diet toast.

Commuters, secretaries, housewives, and even some factory workers may argue they don't need any more than that to fuel their day. And who has time for a big breakfast, mothers ask, when the kids are late for school and the car pool is early?

Husbands pointedly recollect for wives when a man was a man because his mother had always cooked him a "good breakfast."

It took a man to eat it. Novelist Thomas Wolfe described a North Carolina breakfast as "Look Home-ward, Angel!" as "... a smoking table loaded with brains and eggs, ham, not biscuits, fried apples seething in their gummy syrup, honey, golden butter, fried steak, scalding coffee. Or there were stacked butter-cakes, rum-colored molasses, fragrant brown sausages, a bowl of wet cherries, plums, fat juicy bacon, jam."

The great breakfast food controversy still lies soggyly unsettled in the nation's cereal bowls—either full of "empty calories" or jam-packed with protein and riboflavin as well as snap and crackle. —But the food is endless between North and South over grits.

This celebrated and castigated hot cereal is made of ground hominy—hard corn kernels boiled in weak lye solution, then hulled, washed and dried. Anyone who doesn't like grits, an Alabamian might say, would probably eat baked beans and mince pie for breakfast.

Which is exactly what a New Englander thinks is ideal for starting the day, with maybe a few codfish cakes and green tomato relish on the side, Canadian bacon, Rhode Island Johnnycakes, molasses doughnuts, and hasty pudding—all have ardent fans at Yankee breakfast tables. Texans may brag of chuck wagon coffee, corn tamales, and steaks for triggering sure-fire get-up-and-go. Down on the farm, Midwesterners milder-of-temper get on the outside of stacks of flapjacks and fried potatoes, and mounds of country sausage.

In the Pacific Northwest, loggers swear there is nothing like a colchouise breakfast to take a man's measure against stacks of flapjacks, platters of fried eggs, and piles of steaks.

The loudest boxtop boasting is well matched by autocrats of the breakfast table—supremely feeling across the English Channel.

An Englishman judges hardly rib-sticking the French petit déjeuner of coffee mixed with warm milk and accompanied by what many consider the world's best breakfast bread, a croissant.

Frenchmen took a break at the empire-building British breakfast of bacon and eggs, a "nice bloater" or kippered herring, and perhaps a bowl of thick, gray, oatmeal porridge, plus tea and prunes.

Somerset Maugham, the British novelist who lived a well-fed life in France, once announced the best way to eat well in England was to take breakfast three times a day.

School Reorganization Bill an 'Instant Replay'

LINCOLN—The Legislature's Education Committee could be excused if it didn't pay attention to the testimony it received last week to another in a series of mandatory school reorganization bills.

As a matter of fact, the committee did pay attention—but most of what it heard was a replay of testimony given many times before on similar proposals.

The bill for which the hearing was scheduled was word-for-word the same as the one the committee had heard a year earlier. That in 1971 was the first advanced to the legislative floor for debate—but it met the same fate there its predecessors had in committee. It was killed by a whopping 32-6 margin.

Sen. Donald Elrod of Grand Island, author of the 1971 bill, was the sponsor of the 1972 version. Many of the same witnesses who had either praised or berated the 1971 measure were on hand last week to do the same again.

The committee didn't take any immediate action on the bill, which would require all of Nebraska's school districts to offer kindergarten through 12th grade classes by the 1973-74 school year.

But one of the staunch opponents of mandatory redistricting—secretary S. H. Brauer Jr. of the Nebraska School Improvement Association—predicted Elrod's bill would reach the floor again.

"Gross injustice" Brauer said it was a "gross injustice" to have the opponent return to the Statehouse every legislative session to explain why they thought a measure which never has come close to passing should be killed.

Brauer said forced school district reorganization, if it ever is passed, would be the "most disruptive thing that could possibly happen to this state."

The NSTA official and other opponents said rural schools now are offering quality education for their students and there would be no advantage—except access by the cities to rural property valuation—in forcing reorganization.

Joining Brauer in opposition were a series of farm groups.

Back again in support of the consolidation concept were education organizations, led by the Nebraska State Education Association, represented by its executive secretary, John Lynch.

There was a new twist to the 1972 hearing—court decisions in other states which indicate Nebraska's basic reliance on property taxes for the support of its public school system may be unconstitutional.

Property taxation often is cited by both sides of the mandatory redistricting question as the key issue in the fight.

State Aid There are several bills in this legislative session designed to make significant increases in the amount of state aid to schools, now pegged at $35 million a year.

Lawmakers this year have heard from several outside experts that something will have to be done to reduce the amount of reliance on local property taxes. The reasoning is that there often is a big difference in the value of property in different school districts, thereby creating a big difference in the revenue potential for operating school systems.

Because of this, Nebraska's senators appear in the eyes of some observers to be more receptive to plans which would hike the state's share of school financing.

A bill which would have added $54 million annually to the school aid fund—raising the total to $89 million—was passed last session and twice came within a single vote of being adopted over Gov. J. James Exon's veto.

Exon has promised to veto any increases in school aid again this session because every plan proposed so far would have required the state's sales and income taxes to go up in order to provide enough funds to send back to the school districts.

Many of those testifying against the mandatory redistricting bill last week said their organizations support a hike

ESU Bill Vetoed

Gov. Exon exercised his veto power for the first time last week. The victim was a bill dealing with schools—and with forcing reluctant areas to do something they wouldn't do willingly.

The bill was LB 998, sponsored by Sen. Elrod. It requires all counties in the state to become a part of an educational service unit (ESU). All but 14 counties already are attached to an ESU, and Exon said in his veto message the rights of this minority should be protected.

The governor said the state, by allowing an option of withdrawal by a vote of the citizens of a county from an ESU, made a commitment to those counties.

By passing LB 998, Exon said, the Legislature "flagrantly violated" that commitment.

Elrod immediately filed a motion with the legislative clerk to have the measure passed over the veto. A veto override motion requires 33 votes. Elrod said he didn't know just when he would put the issue to a vote, but it had to be done before the middle of this week.

Still No Debate The operating budget bills still hadn't received floor debate by late last week. Efforts were underway to work out a compromise to solve the dispute over how much leeway agencies should have in spending the appropriations they receive from the Legislature.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor: From the proceeds of our farm sale, we are giving a donation to the Wayne Medical Center. We lived in this community a long time and feel we should give a donation to as worthwhile a project as the medical center.

Also a donation to the AFS, as their project was explained to me, which put a different light on the project. We feel we want to do this before we leave.

Social Security

Questions, Answers

Q—I receive monthly Social Security survivors benefits as a student. I work during the summer and part time during the school term. Will this affect my benefits?

A—If your total yearly earnings do not go over $1,680, you will not lose any Social Security benefits. If your earnings exceed $1,680 for the full year, you may lose some benefits. But you will still get full benefits for any month that your earnings are $1,680 or less. You should call or visit a Social Security office immediately if you know that you will earn more than $1,680 for the year.

PASTURE LEASING

If you have pasture land to rent, do you know how much you should charge? Whether you should charge by the head or by the acre? What responsibilities you must assume? If you want to rent pasture land, do you know how much you should be willing to pay? How much the pasture is worth and what your obligations will be?

These questions and many others are discussed in the recently revised and re-issued Extension publication "Your Pastures Lease". Different methods of leasing (i.e. per head, per acre, etc.) are more suitable for varying pasture and livestock conditions, according to the 15-page booklet. For example if only a few head of livestock are involved or when animals owned by a number of different people are "taken in" by a single pasture owner, leasing on a per head per month basis is probably the easiest method of figuring the rental rate.

The circular also illustrates formulas considering average weight of animals, price of alternative feeds and pasture quality to compute rental rate.

Copies of the circular, "Your Pasture Lease", F. C. 71-828 may be obtained at County Extension agents' offices.

UNWISE PRACTICE

Replacing the regular muffler on a farm tractor with a straight pipe is not beneficial, according to tests conducted by agricultural engineers.

In some cases a straight pipe actually lowers the horsepower of the tractor, and there is rarely a significant increase. This was indicated by recent tests at the official tractor testing station at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Also, using a straight pipe may cause a tractor operator to lose his hearing faster. In the tests, straight pipes resulted in an increase in the noise level. Placing a cab on the tractor often adds to the problem, although a few of the newer cabs keep the noise at a safe level.

IMPOSSIBLE

Once upon a time a scientist said of Thomas A. Edison, "This poor fellow is wasting his time. Two fundamental laws of physics prove that he is attempting the impossible. The first is that there can be no light without combustion; the second is that no combustion can take place in a vacuum. Therefore, no light can be made in a vacuum." But even in the fact of these "impossibilities," Edison went right ahead and perfected the incandescent electric lamp.

When Harvey insisted that blood flowed through the body, he was scoffed at. Pasteur's theories of germ life were scorned. Langley's plans for a machine which would fly without the help of a balloon were ridiculed. Even today, the man who is five years ahead of his time is looked upon as being a trifle barmy.

The progress of the world depends upon men with vision and the courage to make their dreams come true.

Farmers used to make their own terraces. This Humboldt area landowner in 1936 used his farm tractor with a six-foot blade to build pasture terraces. (Soil Conservation Service Photo)

Norfolk to Host Swine, Carcass Shows

The date of the eighth annual Norfolk Swine Show, sponsored by the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce-Agriculture Committee, has been set for Tuesday, Feb. 22, and the Carcass Show on Friday, Feb. 25.

Dick Magwire, show chairman, said the live show will be held at the Norfolk Livestock Market and will be judged by Terry Schrick, who is with the Animal Science Department at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln. The carcass show will be held at the Roman Packing Company and will be judged by Jim Wise. George Hofmann is chairman of the carcass show.

This show will again include an FFA judging contest which is being handled by Joe Auel, Marvin Low and Bob Sump. A certain number of pigs will be selected by this committee and sorted into four classes; three market hogs and one breeding gilt. Two official teams of four boys from each school, in both junior and senior divisions, will judge as teams and the remaining students will observe and judge individually.

In the regular show there will be a commercial (crossbred) and a purebred division in the "Pen of 3" class and also in the "Individual" class. Exhibitors may enter one group of three hogs in a "Pen of 3" and one of these hogs in the "Individual" contest. However, an exhibitor may not have more than one entry in each division. Trophies and cash prizes will be awarded the winners.

The 15 best hogs in each weight class in the individual show will be slaughtered and entered in the carcass show. The top three "Pens of 3" in each live division (commercial and purebred) are eligible for participation in the carcass evaluation contest. Hogs must weigh between 190 and 240 pounds. All hogs not qualifying for the carcass show will be sold at auction on Wednesday, Feb. 23.

Entry blanks for this show are available at County Agents' offices from Vo-Ag instructors, the Norfolk Livestock Market or the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce.

Tri-State Pork Industry Going Big Time

SHOEN CITY, IOWA—The tri-state area of Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota is truly the "Big Time" for the future pork industry show, Frank Baker, University of Nebraska-Lincoln chairman of the Department of Animal Science, told those attending the Tri-State Swine Conference here last Thursday.

He pointed out that pork production increased 40 per cent in Nebraska during the 1960's compared to a loss in volume or little gain in eastern cornbelt states.

Baker outlined three roads that the swine industry can take in the future. The first is to go through continuous over-production and poor management, the "bumpy old-time road" with the ups and downs of periods of low volume and high volume accompanied by erratic prices, or the "glorville road" with profits resulting from constant supply, development and promotion of new products and markets, and strong prices accompanying strong demand.

"Financing is an important part of the development of the wealth production potential of an area," Baker said. "Bankers and leaders of the financial community are key figures in livestock programs."

At industry research in fabrication, processing and packaging will be extremely important to the future of the pork industry, Baker stressed. He noted that products must be developed which use the entire pork carcass to meet the nutritional needs of people at prices which provide producers reasonable profits but which can be afforded by consumers.

Baker suggested that promotional programs be initiated to introduce pork products to travelers passing through the tri-state area during the vacation season.

"A concentrated program in the restaurants on the interstate highways of the 'Heartland of the USA' during the vacation season might pay great dividends," Baker stated.

Other questions which pork producers must be concerned with in the future, according to Baker include: Can pork promotion change per capita consumption? Can pork take some of the beef or poultry market? And must pork be satisfied with growth in one or only a few population groups.

A-Yes. If you have an unmarried son or daughter 18 or older who became disabled before 18 and is still disabled, he or she may start receiving childhood disability benefits when you begin to receive retirement or disability social security benefits or at the time of your death if you had enough work credits for the payment of benefits to your survivors.

Three students at Wakefield High School—Linda Swanson, Devon Fischer and Carol Mills—have been selected Outstanding Teenagers of America for 1972, according to Principal William G. Schnoor.

Their selection automatically qualifies them for further state, regional and national honors and scholarships totaling $7,000.

Social Security Questions, Answers

Q-What is the work requirement that I hear about to be eligible for social security disability benefits?

A-No, you haven't lost any benefits. There is a six-month waiting period beginning with the first full calendar month you were disabled and your application can be retroactive for as much as a year. If you had waited more than a year and a half, you would have missed some payments.

A-The present work requirement that you need for disability protection is most workers need social security credits of at least five years out of the 10-year period ending when their disability begins. For the younger worker who becomes disabled before age 31, he needs as little as 1 1/2 years work.

Q-I haven't been able to work

Loren Schulz arrived home from Lincoln to spend the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Irene Schulz. On Sunday Mrs. Schulz, Loren and Merlin enjoyed dinner in the Gerald Botenkamp home, observing Loren's Monday birthday.

'Student Activist' Speaks to Kiwanis

Mike Cromer, Wayne State College student, who is active in Cooperative Christian Ministry at the college, spoke on student activism Monday at the Kiwanis Club meeting.

The Oakland student broke down the words "student activism" in two parts for the purpose of definition. A "student" can be, he said, anyone trying to learn a new kind of behavior or skill, not just a college or high school student.

He classified "activists" in two categories, one which takes part in meaningless activities, the person with theories but no solutions, and second, the person who puts his purposes into action.

The speaker pointed out some of the "wrongs" of today's schools, including the duplication of facilities in some areas of education.

The Kiwanians' guest-torero weekly at the Indian Reservation at Winnebago, helping the Indian children in reading and writing, and is active in the "free university," which boasts that it has no academic credits, big buildings, big budgets, permanent faculty or rigid class schedules but instead has small group discussions, a library, "experts" on tape and individual motivation as its only coercive force.
