Early Feed-Grain Signups Urged

Feed grain producers interested in participating in the annual set-aside program are being urged to sign up early by Ray Butts, director of the Wayne County ASSS. He stated that the signup period is shorter this year and he does not expect any extensions of time.

Less than 200 farms are signed up now out of an expected 1,100. The final date to sign up is March 10—and those that wait for the last few days can expect a longer waiting period. Also, if adverse weather prevents a farmer from reaching the ASSS office to sign his intentions, he will not be able to participate in the program.

There are several options for a producer to choose from under this year's program, Butts said. This will require more time to explain the provisions to each producer to match the program to his specific farming operation.

Report on Fremont To Omaha Freeway

LING OLN.—The Nebraska Department of Roads Saturday released a report on the Omaha-Fremont Freeway Corridor Study. It was prepared by consultants Kirkham, Michael and Associates.

The study, begun on Dec. 15, 1959, involved extensive information gathering, community meetings, and evaluation studies and analyses in the socioeconomic, traffic, engineering, and environmental areas. During the study it was determined to broaden the scope of the analysis and extend the total corridor to include a broad band of interest from Mile 12.5 to 16.0 west of Omaha to Fremont as well as freeway connections, west and north of Fremont.

Freeway connections at Maple Street at I-680, at Irvington, and at the 72nd Street interchange at I-680 were involved in the study. Extending west from the I-680 terminus, six alternate T-5, 275 freeway alignments are suggested to a common point south east of Fremont.

Contributions Still Needed Even Though Goal Reached

As $75,507 in gifts were added to bring the Medical Center campaign total to $395,228, or 107 per cent of the half million dollar goal, Lige Levitt, York banker and lumber company owner, gave a message to volunteer workers.

"We in York raised $900,000 which was $300,000 more than our $600,000 goal, but we have since found that we needed every dollar of the overage...and we still need more."

Said Levitt: "You are magnificent in one thing—determining what kind of medical and health care facilities you will have in Wayne for one or two generations. Make no mistake about it, you are building your Medical Center for yourselves and your families. Every dollar over goal will make the Center a better one for you. This is what we learned in York. This is why I am here tonight to tell you of our experiences, to urge you to tell those you still have to call upon that every dollar subscribed will be a dollar needed and used."

The banker-lumberman told workers they should be thankful the Missionary Benedictine Sisters of Norfolk were bringing a half million dollars into the Medical Center building program. He made a special point of the fact the Sisters also were willing to serve in the Center.

"As chairman of our hospital board I have had to hire people for the York hospital. A good administrator asks anywhere from $25,000 to $40,000 a year. You should thank God that the Sisters, who retain only an allowance for their services, will run your Wayne Medical Center."

Both special gifts and area gifts divisions were awarded stars as they surpassed their goals. Special gifts chairman Walter Miller placed a star over his 192-volunteer division which moved up to $125,605, or 126 per cent of a $100,000 quota; area gifts topped a $50,000 goal by scoring $56,832, or 116 per cent of quota. Pattern Gifts committee members already are over goal with $352,791.

It was a thrilling progress conference meeting for 100 campaign workers who attended.

Pass The Pancakes

Dr. Lyle Seymour is ready to fire into a stack of flapjacks, as Duane Fischer of Wakefield does the honors with a bit of Thursday's Kiwanis Club Pancake Feed. Hungry people numbering 825 jammed the City Auditorium for the annual event. The grocery bill listed 130 pounds of sausage, and 180 pounds of pancake flour, and the Kiwanians added 30 dozen eggs to the pancake mixture. Patrons consumed 94 bottles of maple syrup and used 29 gallons of milk to wash it all down. The $300 raised by the project will go toward community betterment projects.

Snowy Streets Cause Driving Difficulties

With winter still very much in evidence, Wayne's snow-packed streets again have been blamed for numerous minor traffic mishaps. The factor common to most of the fender-benders is the inability to stop on slippery streets.

A Thursday morning accident in the driveway of the Wayne High School resulted in damage to two cars. DeHlab Schwartz, 320 W. Seventh, had stopped her car to allow a passenger to get out, when a car driven by Katha Reinhardt, Rt. 1, Wayne, was unable to stop and struck the Schwartz car from the right rear.

A car driven by Milan Peterson, Battle Creek, struck a car driven by Gordon Cassal, Belden, in another mishap. Cassal was stopped for a traffic light, and Peterson, coming from the rear, was unable to stop. The accident at the intersection of Third and Main left both cars damaged.

Another rear-end collision occurred Thursday at Fifth and Main, when a car driven by Herman W. Heller, Wisner, was struck by a car driven by Albert E. Davison, 519 E. Sixth. Heller was stopped in the traffic lane, when struck by the Davison car, which was unable to stop.

The 200 block of Main was the scene Thursday of a collision involving cars driven by Lawrence A. Helke, Belden, and

2 File for Wakefield Board

The Allen village and Allen Consolidated Schools elections will be held May 9, the same date as the Nebraska primary election.

All aspirants must file their applications on or before March 10. So far no one has filed for any position.

Two openings exist for village trustees as the terms of LeRoy Roberts and Bernard Keil expire this year. Trustees elected for four-year terms in 1970 were Bill Kjer, Donald Klaver and Bill Snyder.

Police Magistrate Larry Mitchell's term expires this year, also leaving that position open. The new village officials will serve four-year terms. Applications may be secured from Bill

Snyder, village clerk.

Four vacancies exist on the Allen school board. The terms of Ray Brownell and Larry Koester expire this year.

Two appointees' positions must now be filled. Eugene Landin was appointed to the board when Larry McVee moved from the district. Bill Singer was appointed to the board when Merle Dupont resigned to accept the position as bookkeeper for the school district.

Carry-over school board members are LeRoy Cook and Norris Friess.

Applications for the school positions may be secured from Snyder or from LeRoy Cook, secretary of the school board.

No Filings As Yet at Allen

Two persons have filed for the four vacancies on the Wakefield Community School Board.

Al "Tuffy" Benson, Wakefield businessman, and Calmer Simpson, Wakefield farmer, have returned their filing certificates well in advance of the March 10 deadline.

The terms of four Wakefield board members expire this year. They are Dan Gardner, Myron Meyer, Dick Postpall, and Alvin Sundell.

Holdover board members are Elmer Carlson and Sid Preston.

Filing certificates may be secured from and returned to Dick Postpall, board secretary, or Muri Beller, school superintendent.

The three persons receiving the highest number of votes will be elected to four-year terms. The person receiving the next highest number of votes will serve a two-year term.

The Wakefield school board and city elections will be held May 9, the same date as the Nebraska primary election.

Two city council members are to be elected this year. The terms of councilmen Jack Brownell and Fred Salmon expire this year.

The terms of councilmen Gene Erb and Phil Rouse and of Mayor Ed Schinasse do not expire until 1974.

The position of police magistrate, now filled by appointee Carl Scheel, must be filled by election.

The filing deadline for city positions is March 10, as is the deadline for school board positions. Persons desiring to file for city positions file with the City Clerk.

Ardy Hansen, 721 Nebraska, has been registering for the weekly Cash Night drawing since it began years ago. All the waiting finally paid off Thursday night, when he claimed the $300 jackpot. Gambles manager Larry DeForge presents Hansen with the check. Next week's jackpot will return to $100.

Burbach and Sen. LeRoy Pfister, 17th district representative, will be present to discuss the measures with all interested area residents. The 7:30 p.m. meeting will take place at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City.

200 Attend Hobby Show Friday

Nearly 200 persons turned out Friday afternoon for the community hobby show, sponsored by the Wayne Federated Women's Club at the city auditorium. Crafts and collections, ranging from infant clothes and clocks, wreaths and other decorations made of pine cones, sewing and hand made candles to antique dolls and toys, cups and saucers and thousands of buttons were displayed on tables which filled the auditorium.

Mrs. Leila Maynard introduced the exhibitors who were present, and explained the 25 various displays during a 45 minute program. A bake sale was held in conjunction with the show during the early part of the afternoon, and the affair was concluded with a silver tea.

Mrs. Anna Mohrfield of Wayne received the doorprize, a floral centerpiece.

Chairmen for the event were Mrs. Alfred Koplin and Mrs. Don Dechenhauser. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Harry Bressler, Mrs. Minnie Ulrich, Mrs. R. H. Hanson and Mrs. Howard Witt.

Wayne's exchange students will be guest speakers at the next Women's Club meeting, scheduled for Feb. 25 at the club rooms.

Al Koplin shows the cocktail table he designed with stained glass from windows embedded in resin to form a colorful and durable surface. Koplin used a similar method to fashion clocks he had on display. They were among the 25 exhibits at Friday's hobby show, sponsored by the Federated Women's Club.

Nothing like clean, fresh, brisk air somewhere around zero to make a fellow feel peppy on a winter campout! Well, that's what most of the Boy Scouts of Wayne thought as they set up camp on Friday and Saturday night in the city ball park. Part of Troop 174 is pictured preparing breakfast in front of a tent-fashioned from tarps. Troops 175 and 221 also were present for the Scout Week campout, which observes the 62nd anniversary of scouting in America.

Gradeschoolers Say 'Decay Doesn't Pay'

Wayne's West Elementary School Wednesday climaxed its annual observance of Dental Health Week with the presentation of awards to winners of the fourth grade's poster contest.

Jodi Ison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ison of Carroll, won first prize, by comparing a healthy tooth with one fiddled by cavities. Ann Heburn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Heburn, received second-place honors with her admiration to avoid cutting thread with the teeth. In third place was Ricky Goshorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goshorn of Wayne, who warned against letting tooth decay take over. Dr. W. E. Wessel, Wayne dentist, was on hand to award the top three finishers with water picks, toothbrushes and sugar-toss gum.

Receiving honorable mention for poster work were Jay Peters, Jolene Bennett, Cindy Lindner, Jeff Dion, Penny James, Scott Wessel, Doug Hummel, Doug Marr, Leanne Bahc and Chris Hamm. All received toothbrushes, toothpaste and sugar-toss gum.

Trumpet Player Is Featured in Concert

Danish trumpet virtuoso Knud Hovaldt and the Wayne State College band will join in concert Thursday evening for the next of Wayne's Special Programs for 1972. The 8 p.m. performance in the Elbe Arts Center will be public.

Hovaldt, solo trumpeter with the Royal Danish Symphony Orchestra and Opera, will be featured in three numbers with the band, and will be joined in another number by his trumpeter son Gunn, who recently made his concert debut as a soloist with several European symphonies.

Wayne State Band Director Lee Mendyk has arranged to conduct a trumpet clinic Wednesday afternoon from 1:30 to 3 in Ramsey Theater of the Fine Arts Center. It will be open, no admission charge, to all school music teachers, to grade, high school and college students, and to the public.

The Thursday concert, as a college Special Program, is free to WSC students and faculty. Admission for the public is $2 on a space available basis.

Knud Hovaldt, the Danish Trumpeter who will appear in concert Wednesday night at Wayne State, displays some of the instruments he plays — trumpets, cornets, and a four-valve flugelhorn (second from right) of several different keys and pitch.

In 1961 he reached the highest position of his kind in Denmark as solo trumpeter with the royal Danish Symphony and Opera.

Hovaldt has twice toured as soloist with the Boston Symphony and has performed with many of the world's leading conductors.

His current tour includes concerts at the Universities of Minnesota, Kansas, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Denver, Dubu, Tampa; at the College Band Directors National Association in Manhattan, Kan., and the South Dakota Music Educators conference in Brookings, and others.

It was "tooth or consequences" this week at Wayne's West Elementary School, as youngsters participated in the annual Dental Health Week observance. Exhibiting their winning entries in the fourth-grade poster contest are (from left) Ricky Goshorn, Jodi Ison and Anne Heburn.

Thone Cites Need of Housing for Aged

"Federal funds are specifically appropriated for low-cost loans for dormitories for college students but not for such loans for housing the aged," Charles Thone, Nebraska First District Congressman, says, adding:

"In years past, funds were appropriated for low-interest loans to non-profit groups, such as churches, to build senior citizens housing. For two years now, no funds have been appropriated for this program, and housing for the elderly has been lumped with general public housing for the poor."

"The specific loan program to aid housing for the elderly should be re-established. The entire subject of retirement homes should be considered separately from public housing, in my opinion."

Mr. viewpoint was reinforced Feb. 14 during two days of Congressional field hearings on problems of the aging. The House Government Operations Special Studies Sub-Committee, of which I am a member, held hearings for two days in Plainfield, N.J. We also visited senior citizens housing, recreation, convalescent, nursing care and hospital facilities in four New Jersey communities.

"Both personal observation and the hearings during these two days emphasized that the problems of people in their retirement years are acute. The gravity of these problems should be

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q. Are hospitals, doctors and other persons furnishing health care services subject to price controls?

A. Yes. Under Price Commission guidelines, physicians and other "non-institutional providers" of health care are subject to an average 2% per cent limitation on price increases which must be justified by increases in costs.

Most Accidental Deaths Preventable

Accidents are the leading cause of death among children from one to 14 years of age. Over 100 Nebraska children died from accidents last year. Nearly all of these accidents are preventable. If you have small children in your home, be sure the handles of boiling pots cannot be reached. Check to see there are no open lamp sockets as a burned-out bulb is safer than no bulb at all. Cover unused electrical outlets with safety plugs.

Medicine, including aspirin and sedatives, should be locked away in a cabinet. See that there are no poisons or insecticides accessible.

Never leave your small child in the bathtub alone—he may turn on the hot water and be scalded or slip under the water.

Place non-skid mats or rubber guards under throw rugs. Pick up toys, shoes, and other objects which could cause accidents at night.

Be extremely careful of matches and cigarette lighters. These are just a few of the hazards children find in the home. A few minutes caution on your part could save your child serious or fatal injury.

Internal Revenue Service

For institutional providers, such as hospitals and nursing homes, price increases will be permitted only when justified by allowable costs, adjusted by productivity gains and limited where appropriate by base period profit margins. Excessive cost increases above the guidelines will not ordinarily be considered as allowable costs. These institutional providers may increase prices up to 2% per cent without prior approval. Allowance price increases over 2% per cent and up must be reported to the Internal Revenue Service and the Medicare intermediary with cost justification. Any increase in excess of 8 per cent must be treated as an exception and filed with the Internal Revenue Service.

Q. Is there a ceiling on amounts allowable as an exception to the Pay Board's 5.5 per cent general wage standard where the increases are necessary for the employer to attract or retain essential employees?

A. No. Under these circumstances, "allowable costs" for the purpose of justifying a price increase shall not generally include wage payments, including fringe benefits, in excess of 5.5 per cent per year.

This rule does not apply to wage increases for workers making less than the minimum wage and in cases where payments are made to replenish major deficiencies in a welfare fund, which are necessary to protect the pensions of men already retired.

Nor does it preclude a company from obtaining an exception by raising 5% can demonstrate gross inequity with respect to its particular situation.

Q. Are the wages and salaries of Americans who live abroad and work for U. S. companies subject to controls under the economic stabilization program?

A. No.

Homer Trips Trojans, 63-46

The Homer Knights put four men in double figures and played a cool and effective defensive game Friday night, to put away the host Wakefield Trojans, 63-46. The loss dropped the Trojans to a 2-13 season record.

Defense was the name of Homer's game, as the Knights refused to let their hosts inside. The Trojans had to settle for second-best shots from the outside, and as in past games, had difficulty hitting the hoop. Homer's Stan Copple, Roger Sandau and Kurt Hohenstein guarded the outside perimeter, and managed frequent steals that often turned into plus points for the Knights.

Only half of Wakefield's Pat Starzl-Dave Scheel combination got into double figures. The high-scoring pair usually accounts for the lion's share of the Trojans points, but Friday, Scheel was the only Wakefield shooter who could muster a two-figure chart. The 6-3 junior was able to hit from the outside and muscle his way inside often enough to run up 21 points.

The contest was the only outing all year in which Starzl failed to hit a field goal. The basket lid was on from the field, but the senior steadily converted eight for eight from the line. For his only counters of the evening, Scheel scored with eight through the first half of the opening stanza, but with about five minutes remaining, Homer's scoring machine began to roll, as the invaders stretched a one-point lead to five, 21-16, at the buzzer. It became apparent that the Knights' defense was no pushover, as the visitors began to take control in the waning minutes of the period.

The Trojans soon found out how contrary their guests could be. The Knights allowed the Wakefield crew only seven points in the second frame, while scoring 15 of their own to lead by 36-23 at the intermission.

The Trojans' biggest problem of the evening was the inability to get inside. That shortcoming became most apparent in the second quarter. The Wakefield five could not penetrate, so they looped roundhouse 25-footers, some of those coming close to the basket. But not many. The 36-23 halftime deficit knocked the Trojans out of the box. They never got closer than 13 points in the second half.

Wakefield still couldn't get untracked in the third quarter, hitting 11 points, while Homer caned 14 to increase the edge by three. Sandau provided the spark for Homer, notching 11 of the visitors' 14 points, two of those on a last-second field goal from 30 feet.

Wakefield hit 12 in the final period, but Homer bested the Trojans, by one to yield the 63-46 final.

Offensively, the Trojans were locked out, but defensively, Starzl and Scheel cleared the boards to give Wakefield second and third chances at the basket. Scheel was the only Trojan who had the key to the inside, with driving layups. But two offensive fouls on two successive plays dried up that route as a source of points, and it was like walking on eggshells for the locals.

Sandau sparkled for the winners, with expert defensive work

Wakefield's Dave Scheel (34) and Homer's Kurt Hohenstein have quite an audience as they battle for a rebound Friday night during Homer's 63-46 triumph over the Trojans. Spectators include Wakefield's Kevin Peters (32) Pat Starzl, and Sam Utech (54). The Knights' Stan Copple watches the action from outside.

Wayne State Cagers Bump Dana, 88-58

Wayne State rattled the hoops for 51 second-half points to enable the Wildcats to thump Dana, 88-58, Thursday night at Rice Gymnasium.

WSU led by only 37-30 at halftime but went on a scoring spree in the second half while, at the same time, holding the visitors to 28.

"The win boosted the Wildcats' season record to 14-7. Dennis Slefkes kept pace with his per-game average by chalking up 27 counter. The Wildcat junior needs 51 points in the next four regular-season games to wipe out the one-season record of 615, owned by Dean DeBurr, set during the 1964-65 season.

and a sharp eye that often allowed him to can field goals from the 20-30 foot range. The 5-10 senior took scoring laurels with 19 points, and received able assistance from Copple with 13. Rick Jenkins and Hohenstein added 11 apiece for the visitors.

Coach Joe Coble's Wakefield squad hosts powerful Homer in the Trojan's final season venture Friday night.

The Wakefield Reserves fared better, dropping the visitors, 61-53. The Trojans had their eight-point halftime lead whittled to three at the end of the third frame, but netted 15 counters in the final period to stop Homer by eight.

Doug Fischer headed the Wakefield corps with 20 points. Kim Rewinick, tied in 18 for the losers and Glenn Nelson added 14.

Uphill Battle As Cat Matmen Drop Westmar

It took a late rally by the Wayne State Wildcat grapplers to hand the Westmar College mat crew their first loss in 11 starts Wednesday at Westmar.

The Cats had difficulty in the lower weights, and found themselves trailing 15-0 after five matches. But the middle and heavy weights proved to be the visitors' strong suit, as 150-pound John Klenick pulled Wayne State out of its nose dive. From that point, Ken Monroe, Tom Luth, Denny Held, Frank Kuehmann and Ron Coles posted wins to boost the Wildcats to a 21-15 triumph and a 6-5 season record.

Area Employment Survey Next Week

A number of households in this area will be interviewed during the week of Feb. 14 for a survey of employment and unemployment conducted by the Bureau of the Census, Guy A. Lutz, director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in St. Paul, announced.

This is a monthly survey conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor. A sample of households is scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all households in the United States.

The employment and unemployment statistics which are based on results of this survey are prime indicators of the economic health of the nation. The December survey showed that 80.2 million persons were employed and 4.7 million unemployed. After allowance for usual seasonal patterns, both were virtually unchanged over November.

Information supplied by households participating in the survey is confidential by law and is used only to compile statistical totals. Census Bureau interviewers who visit households in this area include Catherine Moeller of Wisner and Ruth Koehler of Norfolk.

NINETY-SIXTH YEAR NUMBER SEVENTY-SIX

Facility Here to Benefit Disabled In Addition to Mentally Retarded

Former State Senator Elmer Wallway has assumed his new duties as director of the District 4 Office of Developmental Disabilities. Wallway resigned his Senate post effective Dec. 31, after serving almost seven years in the State Legislature. The office, newly remodeled, is located at 114 W. Third in Wayne, and is an outgrowth of the State Office of Mental Retardation. According to Wallway, the "developmental disabilities" designation was added because the aim of the program is to serve not only the mentally retarded, but those with other disabilities, such as cerebral palsy, epilepsy, muscular dystrophy, and visual impairment.

Wallway stated that those already in school programs for the "emotional or trainable mentally retarded" are not eligible for aid from developmental disabilities office. The purpose of this rule is to avoid duplication of effort, and to offer treatment for those not in school programs.

Mentally retarded adults and children whose disabilities are so severe that they cannot participate in school programs are eligible for help from the office. The program also aids retarded youngsters who are below school age. The cost to the family varies. The office has adopted the same standards used by the State Department of Institutions in determining the family's ability to pay.

The state provides 60 per cent of the funds for the project, with local agencies providing the remaining 40 per cent through donations, assessments, and mill levies in the districts served by the offices. A $24,500 budget has been approved for Wallway's district office for the fiscal year which runs from July 1, 1971, to July 1, 1972. On a statewide basis, the legislature has allocated $800,000 for the project.

Wallway stated that the developmental disabilities program is introducing a new concept in government, with all facilities operated by regional governing boards. Area representatives on the District 4 board of directors are James Hessel of Allen, the area served by Wallway's office is bordered on the west by Cherry County and on the south by Polk and Butler counties. The Missouri River forms the eastern boundary of Wallway's 26-county district.

According to Wallway, the main purpose of the Wayne office will be to act as brokering and disbursement agent for facilities in the region. The office is also intended to coordinate efforts, among the other regional facilities, and to act as a liaison between the state headquarters and local groups. Wallway recently has been in Atkinson, advising officials there on the possibilities of setting up a program for the disabled.

According to Wallway, disabled persons from the Wayne area would probably be served by the training facilities in Norfolk and South Sioux City. Instructors there teach the students the rudiments of daily living. The goal is to make the disabled person self-sufficient, so that he can live and work normally in society, Wallway stated that there are no living facilities for children at either facility. The Norfolk center provides separate hostels for men and women, and plans are being made to provide living facilities at South Sioux City. The law which established the program stipulates that no state funds may be used for building purposes, so the local agencies must raise the money for such projects, Wallway said.

Centers in Omaha and Lincoln provide housing for those who require it. However, Wallway stated the program hopes to accomplish its goals on an "out-patient" basis, with youngsters able to continue living at home.

Wallway, who was appointed to the post by the regional board of directors, stated that he became concerned about the problems of "disabled persons" soon after joining the state legislature in 1965. He termed the program "an alternative to the Beatrice State Home," and expressed the hope that area residents would soon become familiar with the aims of the office, and would avail themselves of its services.

Former State Sen Elmer Wallway checks figures with receptionist-bookkeeper Mrs. Evelyn Mackling. Wallway is director of the new Office of Developmental Disabilities which opened in Wayne recently to aid in training of the handicapped.

Farm, Home Show to Be Mar. 24-26

The Wayne County Executives will sponsor the Farm and Home Show which runs from July 1, 1971, to July 1, 1972. On a statewide basis, the legislature has allocated $800,000 for the project.

Wallway stated that the developmental disabilities program is introducing a new concept in government, with all facilities operated by regional governing boards. Area representatives on the District 4 board of directors are James Hessel of Allen, the area served by Wallway's office is bordered on the west by Cherry County and on the south by Polk and Butler counties. The Missouri River forms the eastern boundary of Wallway's 26-county district.

According to Wallway, the main purpose of the Wayne office will be to act as brokering and disbursement agent for facilities in the region. The office is also intended to coordinate efforts, among the other regional facilities, and to act as a liaison between the state headquarters and local groups. Yearly State Aid Check Bigger for Wayne County

Wayne County recently received its annual state aid check, this year's allotment higher than the 1971 figure by almost $20,000.

Wayne County's total for 1972 was $86,872.27, compared to $67,872.87 for 1971.

County Treasurer Leon Meyer, the state money takes the place of funds that were formerly directed to the counties from intangible taxes, head taxes and taxes on household goods.

Woman Bus Driver Has Soft Spot for No. 8

By Brenda Gustafson
"My husband, our son, and I have all driven bus Number 8. It's kind of sentimental to us," said Winside school bus driver Mrs. Veryl Jackson.

Mrs. Jackson's husband, Charles, gave up bus driving because it interfered with his job. "He really did enjoy it," said Mrs. Jackson.

Their son, Bob, drove Number 8 for a month or so the spring that he was graduated from high school. "They needed someone to finish the year," Mrs. Jackson said.

Mrs. Jackson started driving Number 8 last spring when another driver quit.

"I was driving a kindergarten route," said Mrs. Jackson. "They had been trying to get me to agree to fill in, but I hadn't decided. Then one Sunday night they called and said they needed someone for the very next day. I said 'I'll try it'."

"Charlie had driven a bus for five and a half years. At 9:30 that night we went out and I practiced driving," she said.

Mrs. Jackson got along so well last spring that this year she agreed to take a regular evening route and to make activities and game trips. One condition was made—"when it came bad weather, they would have a substitute."

"No Help Needed
"I haven't had to have anybody yet," said Mrs. Jackson.

Number 8 carries about 25 students northwest from Winside each evening. The stops number 11. Mrs. Jackson said it usually takes about an hour to get everyone home and return to town.

Mrs. Jackson said she hasn't yet had any trouble on her route. "I did have somebody one day," she said. "This student was in the habit of riding to school with a brother and home on the bus so I didn't stop. It was a misunderstanding."

One time Mrs. Jackson stopped here bus and told the students "we'll sit here until you quit."

The incident couldn't have been too serious as Mrs. Jackson could not remember what it was.

"It is usually quiet in the morning, but noisier going home. I guess they are a little sleepy in the morning," she said.

Days, too, vary. "Some days they are really full of spit and vinegar," said Mrs. Jackson.

Rules Posted
Rules are posted in each school bus. "Just sitting still" is the most difficult rule to follow, according to Mrs. Jackson.

Mrs. Jackson has recently adopted a policy of her own. "The first Wednesday of the second semester I just had grades 7 through 10 on the bus. Every thing seemed so much simpler that day that I decided to separate the older students from the younger ones," she said.

"Otherwise the older ones would tease the younger ones, take their stocking caps or something," she said.

Mrs. Jackson's plan for the second semester is to have the kindergartners through sixth graders sit in the front four rows of the bus and the seventh through twelfth-graders in the last four rows.

"I told the younger ones that some day they will be the older and they can sit in the back," Mrs. Jackson said. "I scold them when they need it, but they are usually good," Mrs. Jackson said regarding any remaining discipline problems.

Clean Buses
Like many of the other buses, Number 8 has a trash box. "The children stop at the pop machine on their way out of school," Mrs. Jackson explained. "Some have candy bars; the grade school children might have birthday treats."

Mrs. Jackson often drives the students to extra-curricular activities. "In the daytime, when the others are tied up with their jobs, I usually go," she said.

Farmer, Rancher Banquet Feb. 19 At Lexington
Dick Sorensen will represent the Wayne County Jaycees at the 15th annual Outstanding Young Farmer-Rancher banquet, sponsored by the Nebraska Jaycees to be held Feb. 15 at Lexington.

Sorensen was selected by the Wayne County Jaycees in local competition and will be among 40 entries submitted for the title of Nebraska's Outstanding Young Farmer-Rancher.

The winner of the Nebraska contest will compete in the National OYF Congress, to be held in Sioux Falls, S.D., in March. Dr. Donald Clifton of Lincoln, president of Selection Research, Inc., will be the keynote speaker for the Lexington banquet. He formerly was professor of educational psychology at the University of Nebraska.

Rural Winside students who board school bus Number 8 each afternoon are greeted by the only woman school bus driver in the area, Mrs. Veryl Jackson.

Wittig Named Drive Chairman For Boy Scouts

Al Wittig, Wayne businessman, has been named Lewis and Clark District chairman of the annual sustaining membership enrollment drive being conducted in 37 counties in western Iowa and eastern Nebraska.

Wittig said "this is a community-wide campaign only in those towns where we do not receive Community Chest or United Fund support. The leadership training available to young men through Boy Scouts is a real community service and your support is needed and welcomed."

Annual operating costs for the Boy Scouts in the 37-county area total about $700,000, with less than $200,000 coming from Community Chest and United Fund organizations.

Currently there are about 43,000 boys in Scouting, served by 12,000 adult volunteers. There are only 20 paid scouters in the Mid-America Council.

Local Delegate to Washington Meeting

Mrs. Pat Dahl, outreach worker for Golden Rod Hills Community Action Council in Wayne, was selected as one of 12 Nebraska delegates to attend the National Food Stamp Conference at Washington, D.C., Feb. 16.

The delegates will meet with lobbyists in an attempt to change the wording of recent reform laws.

Mrs. Dahl had attended meetings at Grand Island and Lincoln, being selected at the latter meeting as a Washington delegate. She had been appointed to the Continuing Committee at Grand Island, the purpose being to properly word the recommendations to be made at the nation's capital.

Sale Pending Former Allen Man Named On Pilger Dam Jaycee Boss of the Year

The Nebraska Department of Economic Development has announced that a watershed district dam, located one-mile north of Pilger, may soon be sold.

Nine such dams were built with state funds several years ago, and all will be sold to help pay costs which have accumulated in the various watershed districts. The 118-acre Pilger site includes 50 acres of water.

The dams may be developed as recreation sites for public use, and may be purchased by any political subdivision for that purpose. The prices of the dams will be sufficient to cover the cost invested in them by the state.

An Allen High School and Wayne State College graduate, Warren Emry, was recently named Boss of the Year by the Belvidere, Ill., Jaycees. Emry, 41, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Emry, Allen.

Nominated by a Belvidere Junior High School instructor, Emry was chosen for his meritorious service to family, church, community, nation and the Belvidere Jaycee chapter. Emry has served as principal at Belvidere Junior High School since 1968.

He is a 1948 graduate of Allen, and after graduating from Wayne State College, went on to get his master's degree from Colorado State. He has also studied at the University of Nebraska and Northern Illinois University.

Following his service in the Army during the Korean conflict, he taught and coached football at Lynch. He was principal of the senior high school, serving Anthon and Onawa, Ia, from 1958 to 1968.

Emry is active in several civic, fraternal and religious organizations and founded the Adult Forum of the First Methodist Church. He is a member of a teacher evaluation committee with the school district.

Emry and his wife, the former

Joanne Rahn of Newcastle, has three daughters, Rhonda, 11; Debra, nine, and Sandra, four.

Six Teacher Aides at Laurel Now

Since January of this year, with the addition of Mrs. Ardis Cunningham, Mrs. Dolores Buss and Mrs. Dorothy Huegel to the staff, the Laurel High School has had six teacher aides who work with various elementary teachers, in the remedial reading class and in the library.

Other aides are Mrs. Ardith Anderson, who has been with the school three years, and Mrs. Joyce Galvin and Mrs. Donna Bloom, who have each been there a year.

According to Principal Penton Crookshank, the aides are hired by the Laurel School system and paid through funds provided by the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the Title I program and the Emergency Employment Act.

The aides, all from the Laurel area, are not required to meet the training requirement necessary for certified teachers, but most have had teaching experience. The main qualification, according to Crookshank, is a desire to work with young people.
