Competition is rather natural, according to John D. Orr, Associate State 4-H Leader. Orr addressed 150 persons attending the 4-H Idea Program Thursday at the Northeast Nebraska Experimental Station near Concord.

John D. Orr, Associate State 4-H Leader, told 150 persons attending the 4-H Idea Program that "most kids handle competition very well."

people say we should eliminate or erase competition, he said, especially from the lives of young children. "They say that ill-effects may carry over into adult life," he said. "It has been my observation that youth are extremely pliable." Orr continued. "Some kids can't take competition and probably shouldn't be exposed to it," he said. "But most kids handle competition very well." "Learning how to play the game is a learning experience," said Orr. "In competition we don't all play the game the same way," he said. "Leaders determine how we play the 4-H game."

"If a mother makes a garment and takes it to the fair and you, the leader, don't question the person about this, this changes the game," he explained. "If the leader tells the county agent about the incident and tries to make a big deal out of it, this changes the game," he continued. "It takes years to develop the rules for the game, but rules

do change, according to Orr. "Any organization or game that doesn't change its rules is a dead game," he said. Changes were also a subject of concern to Wes Antes, State 4-H Leader. Antes said that the 4-H program must keep up with the changing situations in which our students live. Projects with more potential appeal to town and urban children are planned for 1972-73. Four-11 in the 70's will emphasize the individual boy or girl, not projects, Antes said. Nebraska Priority Areas for 1972-73 are: Leadership Development, Youth and Teen Involvement, Expansion of Membership, See COMPETITION, page 9

Firemen Kept Busy

Firemen received two calls Thursday, one which turned out to be a false alarm and the other which caused only minor damage in a grass fire. The first alarm was about 7:15 a.m. when an alarm was triggered at the Hall Retirement Center during a power outage. The electrical blackout, which caused a power loss for around an hour in some Wayne homes, apparently caused an alarm to malfunction. The second blowing of the whistle sent firemen to the cemetery, where a ground-heater had caused nearby grass to catch fire.

Grant Increased For Dixon Sewer

John Young, chairman of the Board of Trustees at Dixon, has been informed by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency that the grant of $6,900 for the construction of a lagoon and outfall line for the sewage project recently completed has been revised to $11,500. A letter from Clement Eizer, Kansas City, Mo., chief grants administrator for Region VII, informed the Dixon Board of Trustees that "the state of Nebraska has enacted legislation providing for grants from the state to match federal grants for waste treatment works construction. Under the provisions of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, this action qualifies your project for increased federal participation to 50 per cent. The entire sewer project cost is approximately $72,000, of which there are state and federal grants available in several categories, with the village's share to be about half. The lagoon and outfall line construction cost was estimated at $19,500.

Minister Candidate for U. S. Congress

Lester Lamm of Scribner has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Congress in the First Congressional District of Nebraska. The 43-year-old pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church of Scribner and St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Vebing, is the husband of the former Georgeline Havestock of West Point. They have four sons, Mitchell, 12; Dwight, 8; Barry, 6; and Thatcher, 2. "I run for this office primarily because of my deep interest in public affairs and my concern we have a fresh approach in the Republican congressional race in this district this year," the Imperial native said, adding "I realize it has been stated an incumbent congressman has an almost intimidating advantage, but I believe this is minimized in 1972 by the critical problems of our time, and by increasing public awareness of the need for new persons in public life who have had an especially close touch with the day-to-day problems of the ordinary person's life. "I feel my background will bring new thinking, new dynamism and a fresh approach to this congressional race," he concluded. He was graduated from Grand Island High School, received his BA cum laude from Midland College, and his MDiv from Central Lutheran Theological Seminary at Fremont. A minister for the past 15 years, he earlier had been a public school teacher.

Deadline Nears For New Plates

The deadline for buying 1972 Nebraska license plates is Tuesday, Feb. 29. County Treasurer Leon Meyer stated his office is running ahead of last year's sales, as of Friday. Last year, 600 sets of plates were sold in the final two days, but this year, there are only 400 sets to be sold with three days remaining. Over $200 sets had been sold as of Friday. In connection with the license plate deadline, Police Chief Vern Fairchild stated his department would be on the lookout, and that offenders would be ticketed starting March 1. Fairchild noted that a fine as high as $100 could be levied against those with out-of-date plates.

Going Down One of Wayne's historical landmarks, the grandstand at the Wayne County Fairgrounds, is being demolished to make way for more modern facilities. The new grandstand will be of concrete construction, 190 feet long and 18 rows of seats, with an estimated 2,000-seat capacity. The old stands, build in the 20's, has been used for fair activities and, at one time, for horse racing.

Line Problems Blamed For Outage

Some Wayne residents may have slept through it, but the northwest section of the city experienced a power outage Thursday morning shortly after 7. The blackout lasted from 30 minutes to almost an hour in some areas of the northwest section. According to light plant superintendent Norbert Brugger, the trouble was the cause of the outage. Several blackouts in the past two months have been attributed to generator problems, but Brugger stated the generators were working perfectly at the time of the blackout. The outage started at 7:11 a.m. and city life crews had restored full power to all sections of the affected area by 8:05.

Winside Teachers Approve Salaries

The Winside teachers and Board of Education have completed salary negotiations for the 1972-73 school year. The two groups have agreed upon a $6,450 base salary, an increase of $150 over this year's base. Increments will remain the same, with teachers receiving three per cent of base for each allowable year of experience and four per cent of base for each additional nine hours of graduation work. The teachers also will receive single medical insurance coverage. All three administrators have signed contracts for next year. Supt. Donovan Leighton will re- Filing deadline is March 10. # County Judge Files For Re-election

Three incumbents have filed for reelection in the May 9 primary. The latest was County Judge Luverna Hilton, who filed Wednesday. Mrs. Hilton's four-year term expires this year. County Commissioner Kenneth Eddle earlier had filed for a position on the ballot, as had Ernest Mubs, member of the noxious weed control authority.

It was a pleasant task for Laurel's Tom Anderson Friday night to cut down the net at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium, after the Bears' 58-51 triumph over Bloomfield. Medical Center building program workers scored $42,027 in subscriptions to push the $500,000-goal campaign to $635,375 at their fourth progress conference in the Birch Room, Student Center, at Wayne State College. At the same time they agreed to try for $700,000 to obtain the best possible health care for all the families of the area. "The spirit in this fund-raising program is tremendous," volunteers were told. "There is no reason for any of us to stop working, for those who have not been called upon to stop thinking about it."

Winside Woman '15 Years Old'

How could someone born in 1912 be 15 years old in 1972? There's a logical answer to that riddle. If a person is born on Feb. 29, a date which only occurs during Leap Year, he celebrates his birthday only once every four years. That's the situation Mrs. Ed Waterhouse of Winside finds herself in whenever Leap Year rolls around. Born Feb. 29, 1912, Mrs. Waterhouse will celebrate her 15th birthday Tuesday. Mrs. Waterhouse stated she usually doesn't have a birthday party in other years. But Leap Year is an exception. Feb. 29 calls for a party, complete with friends, cake and ice cream, and presents.

The Political 'Game'

In addition to death and taxes, there's at least one other inevitable.

That is the charge by some Democrat that President Nixon's visit to China has been a complete flop, that it has caused irreparable damage to the thin thread of possible reconciliation, that some action or word by the President has forever built an unscalable wall between the two powers.

Another will charge that the President was not wholeheartedly sincere in his declaration that the trip is solely for the purpose of world peace, and singularly, peace between the U. S. and Red China.

That person will charge Nixon with politicking and using his "face in the hole" during election year.

Those allegations may already have been leveled before this issue of The Herald "goes to bed."

Some Democrats were devising some charges to lambast the President soon after he announced his plans for the trip to Peking and long before he departed in Air Force 1.

Before a local delegation of dyed-in-the-wool Democrats break down The Herald's front door to get at the editor for his seemingly pro-Republican, anti-Democrat stand, let us hasten to add:

The same would have been true had Lyndon B. Johnson or Hubert H. Humphrey been in the "driver's seat" and embarked on a peace mission.

Only the east would have been changed—this time it would have been some Republicans who would have called the foreign visit a shambles as far as meaningful progress toward hole-mending was concerned.

It's one of the saddest of the political "game."

That people will attempt to tear down any effort toward a peace venture merely to enhance their own political ambitions is an utter shame.

At a time when relations are so strained between a Communist power and a democratic country it should be reasonable to assume that any efforts toward averting a possible World War III would result in only one thing—unity toward a common goal without regard to party affiliation.

The President's visit is not likely to result in a "kissing relationship" between China and the United States; it is going to pick up the differences between the two nations; neither is going to change its way of thinking about its own form of government, and neither is apt to emerge from the talks feeling as close as blood brothers.

But at least the heads of the two countries are talking—amably.

And, when you are talking, smiling and shaking hands, you're not fighting. After all, that's the name of the game. That's what the trip was all about.

The news media also is to blame at times for "trying to find the dirty socks." There are those who are looking for the sensational story where there is none—and hang the consequences.

A couple of television newsmen, on hand at Peking when the President's plane landed, apparently did not spot Premier Chou En-lai and surmised that the Chinese premier was not on hand to welcome Nixon.

Without bothering to find out, the two tried to "weigh" the consequences of his absence and even went so far as to say that Chou En-lai's snubbing of the American president in such a historical occasion would be little short of a "hostile act."

The premier certainly was at the airport and his warm welcome of the American party and President should have made those newsmen find a spot alongside the nearest ostrich to bury their heads.

Incompetent reporting such as this leaves a taste about as sour as premature autopsies of the success or failure of the Nixon peace junket.

So, in the analytical dissection, let us hope that Republicans and Democrats alike will "skim the cream off the top," and jointly skulk in any peace progress made, no matter how slight.

Instead of uncovering the rock to find the worm.

Russian Crime

Word of heinous crimes committed in the United States flashes around the world in the wink of an eye. It seems sometimes that we're living in a fishbowl, with our dirty laundry aired daily before an international audience.

But think. When was the last time you heard anything about crime in the USSR? Never, you say? Well, that's logical. Crime is one of the many things the Soviets don't like to admit to. Naturally, we don't like to admit it either, but our system of government has an ingrained respect for the right of the people to know. So, it often seems that we're the only ones with such problems. Not true.

We wouldn't wish a crime wave on any country, but we can't help being comforted by the recent disclosure that Russia, too, has its share of lawbreakers.

The founding fathers of Russian Communism envisioned a classless society in which crime would cease to be a problem. Evidently, they didn't reckon with human nature. As long as there are laws, there will be people who break them.

Reuters News Agency stated that Russian crime is roughly broken down into two main categories. Economic infractions constitute one major block of offenses, with most other crimes coming under the heading of "hooliganism." Russian "hooligans," it appears, shoot, stab, rob and plunder with the same wild abandon characterizing hooligans the world over.

Drunkenness is a common hooligan offense, and it's a little surprising to realize that alcoholism isn't a peculiarly American problem. Reports leaked to the outside indicate that the heroic amounts of vodka consumed by Soviet tipplers have kept "drunk tanks" filled to overflowing.

Crime doesn't receive much play in the Russian press. And the country is so carefully supervised that the crime rate is lower than in most free-world nations. But if a muzzled press and constant government scrutiny are the price that must be paid for a lower crime rate, we feel the price is too high.

Honesty

A survey conducted by Liberty Magazine points out the disturbing fact that we're only half as honest as we used to be.

Liberty ran a test 48 years ago, then recently duplicated it, and the results have indicated that honesty, like the nickel and dime, and the ten-cent cup of coffee, is becoming a thing of the past. In 1924, Liberty sent a letter to 100 people selected at random. The letter contained one dollar and the notation that the money was enclosed to correct "the error you complained of in your account." Of course, none of the people held accounts with the magazine.

In the 1924 survey, 27 people returned the dollar and noted that a mistake had been made. But in the 1971 test, only 13 people, or slightly less than half of the earlier percentage, returned the money.

We assume the test has some validity, since the names were selected at random. If we take the test results at face value, the conclusion that must be drawn is discouraging. It appears that the erosion of time-tested values is continuing. With the honesty quotient dropping by 50 per cent in 50 years, we wonder if Liberty's next survey 50 years from now, will indicate that an honest person couldn't be found.

As it stands now, Liberty magazine is lacking 87 bucks. But it seems most of us are lacking something much more important.

Average Age of County 24 Years

(Special to the Herald)—NEW YORK—In Wayne County, due to changes in recent years in the birth rate and in life expectancy, the median age of the local population is now 24 years.

It means that for every resident who is younger than that there is one who is older.

The current median is somewhat higher than it was in 1960, when the previous census was taken. At that time it was 22.2 years.

By way of comparison, the median age of the American population as a whole is now 27.9. It is 28.6 throughout the state of Nebraska.

For some years, in the local area and in most other parts of the country, the median age level had been moving downward. It was due principally to the high birth rates experienced after World War II. The sharp increase in the number of young people had the effect of bringing the median age down.

More recently, however, the birth rate has been moving in the opposite direction, dropping steadily. It is attributed to the fact that women in their 20's are having fewer children than did women of similar age in earlier times.

According to the 1970 National Fertility Study, this trend is likely to continue for some time. Its findings indicate that women in their early 20's expect to have an average of 2.53 children. The average in 1965, when a similar study was made, was 3.03.

The turn toward smaller families is ascribed by the Population Reference Bureau to a realization on the part of young married people that "rearing children in this complicated and expensive world presents big problems."

The extent to which this has been happening in the local area is to be seen in the Census Bureau's report on the number of children in the population under the age of five for every 1,000 women of child-bearing age. This is called the "fertility ratio."

The ratio in Wayne County is given as 234. In 1960 it was 453.

The shift in the median age has been strongly influenced, also, by the number of people in the older age brackets. As in most areas of the country, the over-65 segment of the local population has been rising in the past 10 years.

Riddle:

What does Wayne have that grows taller in the winter than it does in the summer? According to Paul Rogge, the American flag at the Wayne Post Office billows from a pole that is as much as six inches higher in winter than in the warm months. And Paul should know. He's served as maintenance man for the post office since the present building was erected. This summer will mark his 37th year with the post office. The pole, apparently forced by frost, to rise from the ground during the cold months, was on the day we measured, three inches taller than its approximate 40-foot summer height. To the Editor:

The Friday, Feb. 18, 8 p.m. performance of "Oedipus Rex" was tremendous. It is too bad there was only a handful of people interested enough in the hospital benefit performance to attend.

The Wayne State Theater department decided to dedicate one of its performances to the new hospital. They also thought this was a good way for people to do their part.

At a time when college students are receiving a lot of criticism from many of the citizens of Wayne, this stands out as an example of college students doing something worthwhile for the entire community, but where were all the people?

There was only one college instructor attending. It is sad when administrators and faculty of the college cannot even support the theater department in their effort to do their part for the hospital benefit.

Many thanks to those who did find time to attend. The lack of enthusiasm in the community did not carry over to the cast as their performance was outstanding.

She had remarked that she thought she was the only driver in the area. We don't know what you consider area but thought we'd write and let her know that we have three at Allen and one in Waterbury. Of course we'll admit we three in Allen are called relief drivers for our husbands, who are all farmers—so come fall and spring or daytime activities you are more apt to see us behind the wheel of a 48-passenger school bus than our husbands. ### Ear Care Is Painless

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska Medical Association. Have your family and business associates had the "mumbles" lately? Chances are they are speaking clearly enough, but your ears are not functioning the way they should.

At times ear wax may accumulate to such an extent it obstructs the ear canal and interferes with hearing. If this happens, the wax should be removed by your physician—a simple and painless procedure.

Picking the ear canal yourself, with toothpicks, hairpins, or similar objects, can be dangerous. You run the risk of causing infection in the canal or puncturing the ear drum.

The old adage that you put only your elbow in your ear has merit. The normally healthy ear needs little more attention than old-fashioned scrubbing with a washcloth.

So, if you think you have a hearing loss, let your doctor check it as soon as possible.

Results of Questionnaire Are Talled; Are You Mrs. Average?

Results of the recent survey, prepared by the Lincoln Chapter of NOW (National Organization for Women) concerning women and the employment situation in our area have been tallied, with some rather interesting results. An embarrassingly small percentage of our readers bothered to fill out and turn in the survey. However, of the women who did turn in completed surveys, 57 per cent were employed; 42 per cent unemployed. Pretty equally divided! Only one fourth of the unemployed women indicated that they wanted a job outside the home. The other 75 per cent were happy with their status.

All of the questionnaires were filled out by married women, only one of whom had been widowed; none divorced or separated. Twenty-seven per cent of the women had no children under 18; 27 per cent had one child under 18; 41 per cent had two to four children under 18, and five per cent had over six children under 18.

Education
All of the women had high school education or above, but none had earned over a master's degree.

It was interesting to note that the majority of the women with college backgrounds were unemployed, while the majority of the employed women had only high school education. The figures: Employed with only high school education, 73 per cent; employed with one to four years of college, 27 per cent. Unemployed with only high school education, 25 per cent. Unemployed with one to four years college, 75 per cent.

In the employed division, 18 per cent of the women were between the ages of 26 and 35; 15 per cent were 36 to 40, and a huge 64 per cent were 41 to 65. Of the unemployed who answered the survey, 25 per cent listed no age (guzzling?) 12 1/2 per cent were 21 to 25; 37 per cent were 31 to 36 and 25 per cent were 36 to 40. None were over 40.

Employed women who answered our survey held a variety of positions, including that of social worker, factory worker, clerk, writer, secretary, teacher and cook.

Salary
Many women chose not to answer questions relating to their salaries and/or their family's total yearly income, therefore a true picture concerning the financial security of our group is difficult to obtain. However, of those who did answer, it was evident that the unemployed woman, for the most part, had little or no financial need to work, their family income being generally over $9,000 per year, and their families being somewhat smaller than the families of the employed women.

Of those employed who answered the salary questions (fewer employed women were secretive about their financial status), 75 per cent of the families had a $9,000 or less per year total family income. We can almost assume, therefore, from the salaries and working conditions listed on some employed women, that the main reason for their being employed is financial need.

Most employed women felt wages in Wayne were too low. Some complained of few benefits (pension plans, paid maternity leaves, health insurance, management training, etc.) poor working conditions, favoritism on the part of men co-workers, and in the cases of some, no coffee breaks or paid holidays.

Unemployed women included the following in their reasons for being unemployed: Children at home, wife's help needed with farm work; wage rates in Wayne insulting; no transportation; preference for volunteer work; belief that mother belongs in home. Some of these unemployed women had been trained as teachers, secretaries, accountants and

Proud, Unemployed
One farm wife and mother, who is not employed outside of her home, proudly filled in all the blanks for the employed woman. A woman with the college background, this mother stated that she puts in 46 to 50 working hours per week, indicated that her annual salary was seven to eight thousand of the nine to 12 thousand dollars that the family makes per year, and felt that her salary was "okay." She indicated that she knew of opportunity for advancement in her place of work, and she emphatically checked the "yes" blank when questioned about whether or not she was satisfied with her job.

Unlike many of the replies, from both employed and unemployed, this woman expressed a definite positive attitude for her situation. And perhaps that is partly the answer to a lot of the problems employed women and unemployed women alike have. A positive attitude!

Mrs. Average
A composite of our questionnaires shows that the average employed woman in the Wayne area is 40 to 49 years old; has graduated from high school, and accumulated not quite a year of college credits; has one and nine tenths children under the age of 18; she works from 27.9 to 41 hours per week; has been at her present job from two to five years, and earns on her own, between $2,818 and $4,636 per year. She drives her own car to work. She is not completely satisfied with her job.

Our average unemployed woman in the Wayne area is between the ages of 34 and 39 (perhaps she'll go to work when she gets to be 40 to 49, like our average employed woman); has one to two years of college; has one and eight tenths children under 18, and has a family income of seven to ten thousand dollars per year (taking the average of those who answered salary questions). She has been employed in the past and would prefer to work only part-time or not at all.

And so much said for Wayne's Average Mrs.!

These are the results. Draw your own conclusions. Whether your argument be for women in the business world or women in the home, you can find plenty to back up your argument in the results of our survey, which only goes to show, everyone is different. And isn't it grand?

Allen Students 'Up in the Air'

Wednesday was a beautiful day to be up in the blue, and about 20 Allen junior high students took advantage of the opportunity, zipping in on the Wayne airport for a taste of flying.

Instructor Noel Lynn Isom arranged the field trip in connection with an eighth grade science class. Each of the students paid $1.50, and airport manager Don Johnson flew the class in shifts from Wayne to Allen, to give the young flyers a bird's eye view of their home town. Don's wife, Betty, briefed the class on what to expect.

Most of the students had never flown, but there appeared to be few misgivings about leaving the ground.

Bears Stun Bees to Cop District Title

There were shouts of "We're No. 1!" Players were hoisted on teammates' shoulders to cut down the nets, and cheerleaders hugged each other deliriously.

The Laurel Bears were indeed No. 1, and they and their fans were enjoying every minute of it Friday night, following their 68-51 final-round victory over the Bloomfield Bees in the Class C-7 District Tournament at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium.

The Bears, fourth seeded in a field of eight, had breezed past Wynot in the prefinal, then knocked off everybody's favorite, Ponca, Thursday night, to earn their crack at the district title.

With the district crown snatched away, the Bears next will face a severe test in the regional championship scrap, meeting the Neligh Warriors. As of Saturday morning, a date and location for the crucial matchup had not been announced.

Laurel found the key to Friday night's triumph in a starry first-quarter performance. The sometimes startling floor work of S-6 Bruce Johnson. As in past games, Johnson held the outside, while G-4 George Schroeder battled the heavies under the boards.

The Laurel five, in minor trouble through the first period, allowed the Bees only nine points in the second frame, and in the third, when the Bears' offense outscored Bloomfield in both stanzas, to post a lead that was frequently challenged, but never surmounted.

Offensively, Laurel's Schroeder, hitting with machine-like precision, broke the game open in the third quarter. Ahead by two as the third frame began, Laurel added three fielders to his eight point free throw total, for a second place 14 point-chart, and Bruce Johnson came in, several of those in heavy traffic under the boards.

During the first half, the smaller Bears seemed reluctant to mix it up with the brawny Bees on the inside. Broders and Bob Freilichs, both 6-3, and Scott, 6-2, had little rebounding touch. But the intimidation factor wore off, and during the second half, the diminutive Bears stuck their noses in and rattled the boards themselves.

Scott and Broders carried the offensive load for the Bees, with 16 and 13 points respectively. Both were hot during the first and second frames, but their mates were unable to muster much help in the scoring department.

To gain their championship berth, the Bears Thursday night had sprung the trap on the Ponca Indians. But it took some doing. Down frequently by small margins, the Indians weren't about to play dead. An overtime scoring binge by the Bears finally put the Ponca five away, 68-63.

The highly-scoring match was rated as a near tossup, and first-quarter play justified that widely-held opinion. The two clubs played on equal terms, each notching 13 points and attempting to set up solid defenses.

The first half was substantially a sparring match, with Laurel carrying 19 second-stanza points to Ponca's 17. But late in the third point lead into the dressing room.

The real action was to take place in the second half, as offensive play sharpened and defenses toughened.

With a 26-23 halftime lead, the Bears returned to stretch the advantage to six points. Gene Sarha added a fielder to help the lead to eight, and the Indians were in trouble. The Bears were outbounding and outshooting the Ponca crew, which had managed only one free throw in the first three minutes of the period.

The pesky Indians came out of their brief slump, closing the gap to 36-34 on a Don Mohr layup with 3:50 on the clock. But a minute later, Sarha hit another fielder from the same spot, to knot the score at 36-36.

Then the tables turned, as the Bears found themselves unable to hit, and losing more than their share of the rebounds. The Indians led for the first time since the opening frame, on a 35-36 count with 2:10 left, but lost that edge, 42-41, at the buzzer.

Gary Chace, a 6-1 senior, started the Bears off right in the fourth quarter, hitting for a two-pointer with only five seconds gone, then adding another fielder a minute later, to up Laurel's advantage to five, at 46-41.

The Bears ate up the clock, putting on an expert stall. The clubs traded buckets, and the Indians were down by three when Mohr topped the scoring charts for Ponca with 13. Steve Furner contributed 12 and McClary chipped in 10.

But Hartington continued to hit consistently, to maintain the three-point edge to half-time.

The third frame was a harbinging of things to come for the Bloomfield crew, as they out-pointed the Wildcats, 13-0, to lead for the first time in the game. Bloomfield was to stretch that one-point lead to 12 by the end of the game.

Lars Gezellus and Scott combined to provide the final stanza scoring and rebounding push for the Bees. The Bloomfield five found Hartington tough under the boards, but the Wildcats had troubling hitting, canning a disastrous nine points in the fourth quarter.

Scott managed 15 points to lead the Bees' winning effort. Bob Freilichs added 14 and Gezellus and Greg Suhr notched 10 apiece.

High-scoring Larry Eickhoff hit a game-leading 22 for the losers. The only Wildcat in double figures was brother, Keith, with 12.

Laurel's Schroeder, hitting with machine-like precision, broke the game open in the third quarter. Ahead by two as the third frame began, Laurel added three fielders to his eight point free throw total, for a second place 14 point-chart, and Bruce Johnson came in, several of those in heavy traffic under the boards.

Scott and Broders carried the offensive load for the Bees, with 16 and 13 points respectively. Both were hot during the first and second frames, but their mates were unable to muster much help in the scoring department.

Laurel quickly raised that one-point deficit to three, and the finish of Dwight Bottorff pushing through a shot from the corner, drawing a foul, and converting to tie the score at 53-53.

The 2,000 fans that jammed Wayne State's Rice Auditorium were on the edges of their seats as the Bears jumped to a 56-53 lead in the first 40 seconds of overtime. Mark McClary connected on a 20-footer for the Indians to close the gap to one, but Laurel's Chace countered with a layup in a crowd to keep the Bears out front by three.

Ponca's scoring ace, Steve Forney, then canned another 20-footer, and the Bears' Bruce Johnson converted a pair of free throws to maintain Laurel's advantage. Forney hit from the same spot with 1:14 left in the extra frame to bring the Indians within one again. The Bears' Gene Sarha nailed a pair of free throws, but Forney struck from 20 feet again, to keep the Indians within one.

Sarha then converted one for two from the line, and Laurel led, 63-61. Bruce Johnson added another pair of charity tosses, and then two more, to tie the Laurel advantage to 67-61.

Johnson added one more free throw to cap off the evening. The 68-61 Laurel lead held until the final second of play, when Ponca's Keith Ineri connected on a half-court toss, to set the final verdict at 68-63.

Only two of Laurel's overtime points came from the field, but the Bears converted at an amazing 17 of 16 clip from the line. Bruce Johnson led that effort, with seven good charity tosses. Sarha contributed four and Chace added two, plus Laurel's only overtime fielder.

Overall, the Bears went 24 for 31 from the line. Free throw performance had been their salvation in many contests, and their almost uncanny accuracy again stood them in good stead Thursday night.

Point leader for the Laurel crew was George Schroeder, with 20 markers. Schroeder played a secondary role in the overtime heroics, but provided the rebounding and inside defensive punch throughout the game.

Johnson, a defensive dynamo, hit for 17 points, and Chace came in with 12. Steve Furner topped the scoring charts for Ponca with 13. Steve Furner contributed 12 and McClary chipped in 10.

Overall, the Bears went 24 for 31 from the line. Free throw performance had been their salvation in many contests, and their almost uncanny accuracy again stood them in good stead Thursday night.

Point leader for the Laurel crew was George Schroeder, with 20 markers. Schroeder played a secondary role in the overtime heroics, but provided the rebounding and inside defensive punch throughout the game.

Johnson, a defensive dynamo, hit for 17 points, and Chace came in with 12. Steve Furner topped the scoring charts for Ponca with 13. Steve Furner contributed 12 and McClary chipped in 10.

Laurel quickly raised that one-point deficit to three, and the finish of Dwight Bottorff pushing through a shot from the corner, drawing a foul, and converting to tie the score at 53-53.

The 2,000 fans that jammed Wayne State's Rice Auditorium were on the edges of their seats as the Bears jumped to a 56-53 lead in the first 40 seconds of overtime. Mark McClary connected on a 20-footer for the Indians to close the gap to one, but Laurel's Chace countered with a layup in a crowd to keep the Bears out front by three.

Ponca's scoring ace, Steve Forney, then canned another 20-footer, and the Bears' Bruce Johnson converted a pair of free throws to maintain Laurel's advantage. Forney hit from the same spot with 1:14 left in the extra frame to bring the Indians within one again. The Bears' Gene Sarha nailed a pair of free throws, but Forney struck from 20 feet again, to keep the Indians within one.

Sarha then converted one for two from the line, and Laurel led, 63-61. Bruce Johnson added another pair of charity tosses, and then two more, to tie the Laurel advantage to 67-61.

Johnson added one more free throw to cap off the evening. The 68-61 Laurel lead held until the final second of play, when Ponca's Keith Ineri connected on a half-court toss, to set the final verdict at 68-63.

Only two of Laurel's overtime points came from the field, but the Bears converted at an amazing 17 of 16 clip from the line. Bruce Johnson led that effort, with seven good charity tosses. Sarha contributed four and Chace added two, plus Laurel's only overtime fielder.

But Hartington continued to hit consistently, to maintain the three-point edge to half-time.

The third frame was a harbinging of things to come for the Bloomfield crew, as they out-pointed the Wildcats, 13-0, to lead for the first time in the game. Bloomfield was to stretch that one-point lead to 12 by the end of the game.

Lars Gezellus and Scott combined to provide the final stanza scoring and rebounding push for the Bees. The Bloomfield five found Hartington tough under the boards, but the Wildcats had troubling hitting, canning a disastrous nine points in the fourth quarter.

Scott managed 15 points to lead the Bees' winning effort. Bob Freilichs added 14 and Gezellus and Greg Suhr notched 10 apiece.

High-scoring Larry Eickhoff hit a game-leading 22 for the losers. The only Wildcat in double figures was brother, Keith, with 12.

Laurel's Schroeder, hitting with machine-like precision, broke the game open in the third quarter. Ahead by two as the third frame began, Laurel added three fielders to his eight point free throw total, for a second place 14 point-chart, and Bruce Johnson came in, several of those in heavy traffic under the boards.

During the first half, the smaller Bears seemed reluctant to mix it up with the brawny Bees on the inside. Broders and Bob Freilichs, both 6-3, and Scott, 6-2, had little rebounding touch. But the intimidation factor wore off, and during the second half, the diminutive Bears stuck their noses in and rattled the boards themselves.

Scott and Broders carried the offensive load for the Bees, with 16 and 13 points respectively. Both were hot during the first and second frames, but their mates were unable to muster much help in the scoring department.

Pender Champ of Wakefield Meet

Pender zoomed into an 18-4 first-period lead and then eased to a 67-52 victory over Bancroft in the championship finals of the Class C-4 basketball tournament Friday night at Wakefield.

Bancroft never was able to get closer than 11 points after the first-period shellacking, trailing by 31-18 at halftime and 53-30 to begin the fourth.

Coach Steven Olson's team now advances to a two-team regional playoff with the site not yet determined at press time. The Penderons will take on Norfolk Catholic, a team which nipped Stanton, 54-52, in overtime Friday night at Norfolk. The playoff winner will cop a berth in the state tournament the following week.

Pender had four players in the double figures, a column headed by John Smith with 19, followed by Barry Mable with 15, John Bernhardtson with 14 and Ilayne Gilsman with 11.

John Zwygart was high for Bancroft with 17 and Bob Roth contributed 16 for the losers.

Fighting for the rebound in the semi-final match of the Class C District tournament at Wakefield Thursday night were Dave Scheel of Wakefield (No. 35), Todd Simonsen (No. 54), 6-5, 200-pounder from Bancroft, and his teammate, Bob Roth (No. 44). Others, from left, are Jeff Bring (34) and John Zwygart (30) of Bancroft, Sam Utch of Wakefield, Duane Tietz of Bancroft and Jerry Nicholson of Wakefield. The Trojans were eliminated from the tournament by Bancroft, 57-40.

Thursday night semi-finals, 57-40.

The Trojans scored only three points in the first period and it was only because Bancroft was not having one of its hotter nights that the host school didn't trail by more than 11-3 at the end of the first period.

Bob Roth, who scored four buckets in a two-minute and 20-second span to begin the fourth and hauled down nearly every rebound, gunned the Bulldogs to a 21-5 lead before Wakefield shook off the cobwebs.

From that point on the two clubs played on nearly even terms, the spread never getting beyond 19 points.

Wakefield gave signs of possibly making big comebacks before the half. Four points by Pat Starzl and fielders by Dave Scheel and Sam Uecht suddenly shaved the deficit to nine at 23-14.

But there the fire died out and the Trojans never again seriously threatened to pull it out. At half-time it was 20-16 and the spread wavered between 14 and 17 points in the third, which ended at 43-28.

The story was about the same in the fourth, with no less than a dozen points and no more than 19 dividing the two clubs.

Starzl was the only player in double figures for Wakefield with 14. Duane Tietz, 6-2 sophomore, had 16 for the winners and Bob Roth, 6-2 senior, notched 15 for runner-up holders.

Winnepago poured in 23 second-quarter points.

The Indians' hot hands cooled off again in the third, having to settle for seven points to trail by 46-38 entering the stretch run.

Ed Rastovsd's team made a valiant run for it for a time the third, locking the count at 37-37 before going into a deep freeze again. The fourth period saw Winnepago with a 21-20 scoring edge.

Way Harlan of Winnepago took game honors with his 15 points. Teammates John Lasky and Mark Bass added 11 and 10. Barry Mable and John Bernhardtson tallied 13 each for Pender, which had another double-figure man in John Smith, with 10.

Homer Captures Winside Crown

The Homer Knights Friday captured the Class D District basketball title at Winside, registering a 67-51 triumph over Petersburg.

In Thursday's semi-finals, the Knights had ripped Rosalie, 39-47, while Petersburg dropped Decatur, 58-53.

Friday Meeting For Derby Contestants

The Wayne Jaycees Friday will hold an informational meeting at 7 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce office, to instruct boys interested in competing in this year's soap box derby.

The derby, an annual affair sponsored by the Jaycees, will be held in Norfolk in May or June. Purpose of the Friday meeting is to familiarize interested boys between 11 and 16 with the rules of the derby. The Jaycees will show an informative film and distribute explanatory materials.

Onstott Honored As Athlete of the Year

Swimming star Jim Onstott of Fremont Wednesday received the award of Athlete of the Year at Wayne State College. The annual honor, presented by Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity, was announced by John Cleveland, president.

Cleveland also announced another honor, that of Phi Sigma Sweetheart, Michelle Stockton, who presented the Athlete of the Year trophy to Onstott. Miss Stockton, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stockton, South Sioux City.

Onstott, a freshman, was chosen by the fraternity from athletes in each varsity sport nominated by coaches. Last Saturday the 1971 Fremont High School graduate posted a new Wayne school and pool record of :49.5 in the 100-yard freestyle—that time qualifies him for the NIAA national meet March 23-25 at Marshall, Minn.

Tuesday Onstott anchored Wayne's 400-yard freestyle relay to a school- pool record of 3:26, also good enough to qualify for the nationals. His mates on that relay are Jim Shores of Fremont, Jim Batten and Doug Krocchew, both of Omaha.

At Fremont High Onstott lettered three times each in swimming, track and cross country.

Montague's winning point brought his total to a game-high 22.

Wayne's 6-6 forward, Jon Harvey, chalked up his best game of the year—with 17 points, 10 over his average—a strong factor in the Wildcat comeback, along with Randy Hoffensen's 11, all in the second half.

Wayne went into a stall strategy, but lost possession, and Hartry tried the same stall until Wayne fouled Ananias Montague with 13 seconds to go. He hit the first of two bonus shots, and missed the second for a 75-74 edge. Wayne called two timeouts, then got off two shots, neither from good position.

WSC Bows to Peru in Season Finale

Disappointment marked the finale of Wayne State's basketball season as the Wildcats fell one-point losers to Peru State here Wednesday, 75-74. That dropped Wayne to a 5-5 fourth-place finish in the state college conference.

Chadron State is finished in conference play on a 4-4 third place, while Peru is fifth at 2-6. Kearney State and the University of Nebraska at Omaha, both 5-2, have to settle the league title at Kearney March 1.

For the season, Wayne's record looks better at 16-0, though marred by six losses in the last 10 outings. Five of those losses came in conference play, and four of those were by a total of 12 points—in fact, two by only one point.

Just once in the 25-game campaign did Wayne suffer a real whipping, by 23 points at Kearney. Overall, Wayne built a winning average of 7.2 points over opponents, close behind the 8.9 by Kearney and 8.5 by Hastings.

The Wildcats played a game of extremes against Peru. They whizzed to an 8-2 lead with slashing fast breaks until Peru Coach Jack McIntire called time out. Apparently the Cats spent the time out in an icebox. Four minutes later Peru had a 16-10 lead over the listless Wildcats. The half score read 44-31.

Intermission proved a tonic to Wayne. Twelve minutes of furious battle evened the count at 65-41. From then on both teams went into control tactics.

Wayne went into a stall strategy, but lost possession, and Hartry tried the same stall until Wayne fouled Ananias Montague with 13 seconds to go. He hit the first of two bonus shots, and missed the second for a 75-74 edge. Wayne called two timeouts, then got off two shots, neither from good position.

Montague's winning point brought his total to a game-high 22.

Wayne's 6-6 forward, Jon Harvey, chalked up his best game of the year—with 17 points, 10 over his average—a strong factor in the Wildcat comeback, along with Randy Hoffensen's 11, all in the second half.

Hunting, Trapping Seasons End Feb. 29

Cottontail hunting and beaver trapping seasons will end in Nebraska on Feb. 29.

The close of cottontail season will mark the end of the state's 1971-72 game seasons. Beginning the first of March, gunners will be limited to the pursuit of non-game animals such as coyotes, bobcats and raccoons.

The State Game and Parks Commission also notes that flat-tail trappers will have to pull up their beaver sets Feb. 29. Closing of the season means that trappers have until March 10 to dispose of their pelts. To hold furs longer, trappers must obtain written permission from the Game and Parks Commission. The application must be in the hands of the Commission before March 10, and must include an affidavit describing the number and kinds of furs.

Four Nominated For Winside Village Board

The Village of Winside held a non-political caucus Wednesday night to nominate candidates for four-year terms on the village board.

Lynn Bailey, Robert Cleveland, Edward Oswald and Frank Wellbe, were nominated for positions on the ballot for the May 9 primary election. Wellbe and Cleveland are incumbents. Those nominated have 10 days in which to accept.

Prospective candidates still may file or petition for a position on the ballot. Deadline for filing is March 10.

Wayne State's Jon Harvey notched his season high of 17 points Wednesday, to aid in the Wildcat's ill-fated comeback drive against Peru. The loss closed out Wayne's season with a 16-9 chart.

Wayne Quints Split With Laurel

Wayne's eighth grade and freshman basketball squads visited Laurel Wednesday, to split a twin bill with the Bears.

The frosh five nailed 65 rebounds to control the ball, and used an effective press, to pin a 53-42 loss on the Laurel yearlings. Wayne started fast, building an 18-8 advantage by the time the first buzzer sounded. The young Blue Devils kept Laurel 10 points away, in a 26-16 edge at the intermission. Limiting the hosts to six third-period counters, Wayne pulled out to a 44-24 count going into the final stanza. Wayne reserves took over in the final frame, and Laurel was able to mount a late rally, notching 18 points. But the scoring step came too late, as the young Bears fell by an 11-point margin.

Earl Overin and Bob Keating provided Wayne's scoring clout, with 15 and 14 points respectively. The high-scoring pair also dominated under the boards.

Overin with 14 rebounds and Keating with 102 Rod floops helped win the game.

In the preliminary tussle, the Wayne eighth-graders got their come-uppance by a 36-45 verdict.

Coach Hank Overin felt his crew went into the contest overconfident, having dumped Laurel by a big margin earlier in the season. The Laurel five was out for revenge, and jumped to a 21-10 first-quarter lead. Wayne toughened in the second quarter, to come within four, 24-20, at the half.

That four-point Laurel lead vanished in the third frame, as the locals found the range from the floor. The lead changed hands five times in the closing minutes, but Laurel held a one-point edge at the buzzer.

Brad Irwin paced the winners with 14 markers, while Rick Workman canned 19 and Larry Creighton added 16 for the Wayne crew.
