Gift of $20,000 To Medical Center

A gift of $20,000 has been made to the Wayne Medical Center by Mrs. Virginia Chapin McCain of Winslow, daughter of a pioneer family who had much to do with the early history of eastern Nebraska.

Wayne State College, beginning at 8:30 p.m., Thursday evening, Adon Jeffrey, campaign general manager, said.

Mrs. McCain has made generous gifts to the Missionary Benedictine Sisters of Norfolk, who will operate the medical center and this led her to become a benefactor for the Wayne area health care facility, Jeffrey said.

A collection of Indian artifacts, gathered by her father and mother, the late Arthur T. and Montie V. Chapin, was presented last year by Mrs. McCain to Wayne State College. The collection is housed in a specially designated room in the Conn Library at the college.

Mrs. McCain's gift was given through the Missionary Benedictine Sisters. It is the Sister's desire that this generous contribution be used for a multi-purpose room to be named the "Chapin Rooms" in memory of Mrs. McCain's father and mother. Mrs. McCain expressed her belief that the new medical center will be a valuable asset to the people of northeast Nebraska.

William R. (Bill) Workman, Jr., 704 Granlund Road, Wayne, is the first person to file for one of the four seats to be vacated on the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education.

Workman, president of the Wayne County Jaycees, is superintendent of the heating and cooling plant at Wayne State College, employed by Energy Systems, a division of Northern Natural Gas. He is a district commissioner of Boy Scouts, member of the Chamber of Commerce and he and his wife, Bernice, and children, Randy, 15, Ritchie, 14, and Sherry, 10, are members of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Workman is current president of the Mrs. Jaycees.

Don Meyer Taken To Norfolk Hospital

Don Meyer of Rural Route, Wayne, reportedly is in "guarded condition" at Lutheran Memorial Hospital in Norfolk after being taken from the Norfolk High School Gym by the Norfolk rescue unit before Tuesday night's Wayne-Norfolk basketball game in the first round of the Class-B District basketball tournament.

Neither hospital officials nor the attending physician, Dr. William Lear of Norfolk, would comment on the nature of the illness.

Moller Files for State Board of Education Post

Walter L. Moller, Wayne realtor and abstractor, filed Wednesday with the secretary of state as a candidate for the State Board of Education in District 3.

Moller is seeking a four-year term on the eight-man board which had been filled by Allen Burthard of Norfolk, who is not seeking re-election. District 3 is comprised of 12 eastern Nebraska counties and parts of two others.

The Wayne businessman, 51, is a native of Ft. Calhoun and was graduated from Perkins County High and from the University of Nebraska with a bachelor's degree in agriculture.

How are you going to keep em' down on the farm after they've seen the sights of the city? This chicken got his first taste of urban life Monday when he "stowed away" under the hood of an area farm car and then, to use a pun, he "flew the coop." The leg-horn apparently was not awed by the city traffic as he rained down the middle of Main street for some time after "crashing out." His ultimate fate is unknown to The Herald, but he will likely wind up on someone's dinner table Sunday.

Examiners To Be In Dixon County

Exams for Dixon County residents who wish to renew their driving licenses will be given at the courthouse in Ponca Thursday, Mar. 9 and Thursday, Mar. 23, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

'SCORE Day' at Emerson on Thursday

Emerson has a population of 900, but that's not unusual. There are many towns in Nebraska, of similar size. The boundary lines of three adjoining counties meet smack in the middle of main street. That's unusual, but not unique, several cities in the Midwest are situated in different counties. Emerson has a development corporation, several small businesses, schools and churches; just about an average small town. So what's different about Emerson? Well, SCORE is coming to town. What? SCORE, the Service Corps of Retired Executives, will journey to Emerson Thursday (today), under the sponsorship and coordination of the Small Business Administration, nine retired ex-businessmen will travel from Norfolk, Columbus, and South Sioux City to advise and counsel various firms in the community. The program was adopted by the Emerson Chamber of Commerce at their February meeting. This interested community recognized that each business in the area might benefit from the assistance of experienced counselors. So they contacted the District Office of the Small Business Administration in Omaha. A representative from that office attended their meeting and explained the SCORE program which has been in existence since 1964. There are over 100 SCORE counselors in Nebraska providing assistance at the request of the businessmen. There is no direct charge for the service, but firms are expected to reimburse the counselor for out-of-pocket expenses. See 'SCORE DAY', page 7.

Allen Firemen Put New Rescue Unit on Display

The organized drive to raise funds for the Allen-Waterbury rescue unit came to a close Saturday evening with the firemen displaying the new van while serving a ham sandwich supper.

Firemen have been installing paneling, flooring and storage areas to make it ready for use. The drive has resulted in over $6,000 being contributed since the campaign began in December, including $200 from Ak-Sar-Ben. The figure is $1,000 over the goal.

Other persons and organizations who recently contributed $25 to the fund include the Dixon Rural Fire District, Bill Kjer, John Meyer, John Potter, Julie Swanson and K.R. Mitchell.

A big yellow van, the new Allen-Waterbury Rescue Unit, appears to be chasing a little red wagon, the old Rescue Unit, back into the Allen Fire Hall in this simulated shot. "Big Yellow" is a little premature in taking over "Little Red" duties as the siren, light, radio, and oxygen unit must be installed in the new unit before it is ready for use. The old unit will be kept as a backup unit.

5 Suspected Of Possessing Marijuana

Five young men from the Wayne area, ranging in age from 18 to 20 years, were picked up early Sunday morning by the Nebraska State Patrol on suspicion of marijuana possession.

Names were not released by County Attorney Don Reed, who at press time Wednesday had not filed charges against any of the five. Investigating is continuing. Troopers Terry Rogers of Norfolk and R. Toby West of Port were on routine patrol a mile east and 2 1/2 north of Wayne at 12:30 a.m. Sunday when they came upon a parked car with five youths. Investigation revealed what was believed to be marijuana.

The five were held overnight in Wayne County Jail and posted $100 appearance bonds in Wayne County Court. The car in which the youths were in was impounded.

Motorists Get Plates Early

It was surprisingly quiet at the office of County Treasurer Leon Meyer Tuesday with seldom a waiting line of persons to purchase their 1972 plates.

Tuesday was the final day that motorists could legally drive with a 1971 tag.

"The big rush was Monday," Meyer said, adding that 5,746 licenses had been sold up to mid-afternoon Tuesday, compared to slightly over 5,600 on March 1, 1971.

'Wireless Teacher' at Wakefield Hi

The time is 11:10 a.m. All students should return control sets and headphones to the library. Please remember to turn off your control set. Thank you.

The hypothetical message above is similar to those announcements, which could now be heard at the end of a class period by Wakefield High School students who are using the newly installed individualized study systems.

Listeners may be located in the Wakefield High School library, study hall, stage, guidance office, teacher's lounge, or superintendent's office. Up to 24 students may use the system at the same time. Of these students, all, some or none of them may be listening to the same thing.

The wireless system includes a transmitter or broadcaster, 12 student receivers, one audio

Just because Wakefield High School students Ruth Gustafson, Denise Fischer, and Don Rouse are seated at the same library table wearing muff-type headphones does not mean that they are studying the same thing. Three of the 12 lesson channels are in operation during this particular class period allowing the students to listen to Macbeth, Mythology I, or Mythology II.

Three Teen-agers Injured In Accident Near Carroll

Three teen-agers were hospitalized at Wakefield Sunday following a 2 p.m. one-car accident a mile north and 1.2 miles east of Carroll on a county road.

Deag Rother, the Nebraska State Patrol, investigated the accident. His accident report listed the following injuries: Rose DeTurk, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene De Turk of Wayne, a broken right leg; Kevin Hammer, 16, of rural Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hammer, facial lacerations and chest injuries.

According to Rother, Hammer was the driver of the westbound car which hit a muddy spot in the road, slid into a ditch and hit a tree. The car was a total loss.

Minor Damage Is Listed in Mishap

Cars driven by Mrs. Joyce Damon of 815 Nebraska and Kenneth Likes of 310 E. Sixth were involved in a minor accident Saturday morning at 11 a.m. on Main Street, between Second and Third.

House Burns on Archie Nyen Farm

The Allen-Waterbury Volunteer Fire Department was called about 7:15 p.m. last Thursday evening to control a fire on the unoccupied Archie Nyen farm, located one and a half miles north and a mile east of Allen.

Fire Chief Galen "Bill" Kjer said two tankers were dispatched to the scene. Firemen remained at the site about two hours, but were unable to save the house or contents. The building, estimated to be worth approximately $500, was a total loss. It was not covered by insurance.

A neighbor, Wendell Emery, who farms about a quarter-mile from the Nyen farm, noticed the flaming building and called in the alarm.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION Notes

by Jocelyn Smith

Having problems with lumpy gravy? It may be helpful to know that the same rules and precautions for any kind of starch cooker must be observed when making gravy.

The tiny grains of starch from flour, cornstarch or other thickeners swell and burst when liquid is added and the mixture is heated. To prevent the tiny particles from forming large undesirable lumps, the starch must be separated and kept apart. Do this by first mixing them with a fat or cold liquid. Add more liquid while the mixture is being heated and stir completely. The stirring must continue until the starch particles swell, then burst. This is what thickens the mixture. Continue cooking for flavor, stirring occasionally until the starch is completely cooked and no raw starch appears or any starch taste remains.

There are two basic types of gravy: pan gravy and flour-paste gravy. Pan gravy is preferred when cooking of the meat has resulted in a high proportion of fat in relation to the liquid, as in the case of fried chicken. Flour-paste gravy is used to thicken meat or poultry drippings when there is a fairly high proportion of liquid to fat-brained meats and pot roasts.

Make the gravy in the pan in which the meat or poultry is roasted, baked or fried. Remove cooked meat from the pan. Pour or skim off excess fat. For thin gravy use one tablespoon flour, one tablespoon fat, drippings and one cup liquid and salt and pepper to taste. For medium to thick gravy increase the flour and fat by one tablespoon. It is important to scrape all the particles from the bottom of the pan to give the gravy a deep color and a more robust flavor. Heat over low heat. Quickly stir in flour, combining it well with the fat and the drippings. Remove from heat; stir in about half the liquid, combine completely. Return pan to heat, pour in rest of liquid slowly, stirring constantly. Continue to cook until creamy and thickened, stirring occasionally for at least three minutes. Season.

Wayne Hi Ousted in District Play

By Claire Hurlbert

A bunch of giant-killers from Creighton ended Wayne High's basketball season Tuesday night with a 75-70 victory over the Blue Devils in the first round of the Class B-D District Tournament at Norfolk High School gym.

Wayne winds up the cage campaign with a 4-14 record, while Creighton moves into second-round play against Walsner-Pilger Thursday night, a team that ousted Crofton, 79-67, in the first game of the Tuesday night double-header.

Randolph, a 67-51 winner over Pierre, Monday night, lost to Harrington Cedar Catholic, a team that eliminated West Point Central Catholic, 66-54, in the other semi-final tilt. The championship finals are slated for Friday evening.

The Wayne-Creighton game was not nearly as close as the score would indicate. The Blue Devils had trailed by 16 points at 25:59 with 2 1/2 minutes left and took up a lot of the slack against Creighton reserves, holding the Red and White scoreless during that time while rallying for 11 all-for-naught points.

There had been at least a 10-point spread for the last 11 minutes of the game, but never more than the 17-point difference at 61:44 early in the fourth.

The Creighton quint pulled a re-enactment of the David vs. Goliath episode—without even the use of a slingshot.

There were very few things that Coach Bob Polain's club could not do—and do well.

Forget the fact that the Creighton starting lineup averaged only 5.6 to the man.

The "little giants" made up for their lack of stature with uncanny shooting, a lightning-quick fast break, a tenacious defense and, yes, even holding their own under the boards even though giving up a big advantage in height.

The outside shooting of the Creightians was nearly unbelievable. Very few shots were taken closer than the free throw line, but still 33 of 67 pokes at the hoop were on target for a sizzling 49 per cent accuracy.

Upsets Spice Rec. Playoffs

Teams 4 and 1 pulled major upsets in the second round of the Men's City Recreation League basketball tournament Monday night, setting up a showdown between the two survivors Tuesday at 8:45 at City Auditorium.

Team 1, which finished in last place in the league standings, edged past Team 6 by 53-52 and Team 4, which was in fifth place in the six-team league, dropped Team 5 by a 57-53 count.

Monday night's losers will play for consolation honors Monday at 7:15.

Team 4 scored 26 points in the fourth period after trailing by 20-19 at halftime and 36-31 after three quarters of play.

John Matson had 15 for the winners, followed by Dennis Spangler with 13 and Bill Carlson with 11. The losers also had a trio of double-figure men, George Eynon with 15, Hank Overin with Score two: Larry Shupe goes up for a field goal, but the Wayne Blue Devils didn't connect quite often enough as they fell to Creighton, 75-70, Tuesday night in first round action of the Class B District basketball tournament at Norfolk High School Gym. Other in the action shot are, from left, Earl Overin and Roger Saul of Wayne, Steve Elwood, Jim McManigal, Scott Fuchtmann and Dan Peters of Creighton and Kyle Willis of Wayne. "Hitting the deck" in front of Referee Ray Westover of Lincoln is Jay Fuchtmann of the winners.

The run-game game caught the Blue Devils napping often and the smothering press thrown at Don Johnson's club caused numerous problems, though each club committed the same number of turnovers, 16.

The lead see-sawed throughout the first quarter with Creighton emerging on top of an 18-16 score.

Creighton threatened to turn the game into a rout in the early stages of the second quarter with five quick-as-a-wink points, but two fielders by Earl Overin and a three-pointer by Marty Hansen locked it up at 23-23.

Then the roof fell in again on the Blue Devils, who could score only two points while Creighton was adding 10 on its side of the scoreboard.

The half ended with Wayne on the short end of a 37-31 score. Wayne came within four points early in the third, but the Fuchtmann brothers, Jay and Scott, talked fielders that put Creighton into an eight-point lead—the margin never to get closer.

Wayne underclassmen got to see a big share of the action in the second quarter, acting as "shock troops." The maneuver worked for a time when the first-stringers again made their appearance as a unit, but the Blue Devils, in any combination, were unable to stop the Creighton speedsters and sharpshooters.

Jay Fuchtmann headed a four-pronged Creighton scoring attack with 20 points, one more than teammate Steve Elwood, 5-7 dead-eye. They were followed by Dan Peters with 16 and Jim McManigal with 11, the latter two who hit the tape at 5-9.

Kyle Willis' 18 was tops for Wayne. Earl Overin, a freshman, collected 14 and Roger Saul contributed 10.

Willis and Saul shared Wayne rebounding honors with 11. Elwood, even though only 5-7, pulled down 10 for the winners.

Wayne hit 38 per cent of its tries from the field, 30 of 79, but added only 10 of 24 at the free throw line.

Siefkes Tops NAIA Voting Chart

Dennis Siefkes, high-scoring center for the Wayne State College Wildcats, has been voted to the NAIA District II Basketball Team. Siefkes topped the voting charts, with district coaches making the selections.

Siefkes, a 6-7 junior from Somers, Iowa, averaged 26.2 points per game for 24 games through Feb. 20. The Wildcat ace captured the single-season scoring record, with 630 points on the year. Siefkes' single game high scoring mark came on 47 points against the Westmar Five. He led the team in rebounds, hit 55 per cent of his field goal tries and canned 70 per cent from the line.

Other cagers selected to the first team include Rick Brown and Scott Jones of Chadron, John Kropp, Kearney State, and Rogillo Douglas and Bernard Brown, both of Doane.

The Nebraska cagers will be rated against players from the other 48 continental states and British Columbia for NAIA All-America honors, to be announced in late March.

First Loss for Women Cagers

Wayne State's women's basketball team, winner of 15 straight games, suffered its first loss of the year Tuesday, 51-45, at Dorad College. This followed a Monday win here over the JFK College junior varsity, 52-36.

The coeds go to Lincoln Friday and Saturday for the eight-team tournament of the Nebraska Women's Intercollegiate Sports Council, to be played in the University of Nebraska women's PE building. Pairings have not been announced.

The Lincoln winner qualifies for a regional tournament at Springfield, Mo., and that winner goes to the national meet at Normal, Ill.

Wayne College Wrestlers Successfully Defend Nebraska College Championship

Wayne State won its eighth straight wrestling championship of the Nebraska College here Saturday, scoring 73 points to the 65-15 by chief challenger Chadron State. Peter State finished third at 28 points, followed by Kearney State with 22.

Five Wayne Wildcats gained individual championships, and the other four placed second. Wayne forfeited at 118 pounds.

The crucial battle in team scoring came at 190 pounds when Wayne and Chadron each had four firsts. Wayne's Dennis Reid, junior from DeWitt, Iowa, put the title on ice when he blanked Chadron's John Spracklen, defending champion, 7-0.

The other Wayne champions: Jim Meyer, freshman from Wayne, 126, wrestling for the first time since Jan. 28 after a siege of injury and illness; Kent Irwin, junior from Council Bluffs, Iowa, 134; Ken Monroe, junior from Arlington Heights, Ill., 177, and Ron Coles, sophomore from Indianapolis, Ind., heavyweight.

Monroe repeated his 177 title while Irwin last year won at 126 and Reid at heavyweight.

Jr. High Crews Cap Off Season

Wayne's Junior High rowers closed their season Sunday splitting a pair with Hartington. The seventh graders emerged with a 2-5 season record, bowing: 28-12, and the eighth graders pushed their season mark to 8-3, downing Hartington, 43-32.

The locals mounted a comeback behind campaign to prevail in the eighth-grade counter. Down by 14-6 in the first quarter, Wayne closed the gap to 19-19 at the half, then surged into the lead, 30-25, in the third period.

High-point men for Wayne was Rich Workman, with 10 markers. Rob Mitchell added eight, while Dave Hix, Larry Creighton and Paul Mallette contributed seven apiece.

Mike Wieseler and Bret Jackson notched four each for Wayne in the seventh-grade scrap.

Two other returning champions repeated: Bob Lynch of Chadron, who last year defeated Tom Luth of Wayne for the 157-pound title, 12-5, prevailed over Luth again, 2-0, this time at 158 pounds. Lynch ran his season to 25-0 with only two points scored against him. Dan Mowrey of Kearney State retained his 118-pound crown.

Steve Laird of Chadron received the award of outstanding wrestler in the tournament.

Fists Fly at Annual Boxing Smoker

A hotly-contested double main event was the feature Saturday at the City Auditorium, as St. Mary's Man's Club again brought the "squared circle" to Wayne.

The first of the two headline bouts pitted Steve Elk, South Sioux City, against Vance Hansen, Creighton. Both veterans of the ring wars, Elk is undefeated in six years, and reigns as middleweight champion of the Norfolk Golden Gloves, while Hansen owns the Norfolk light-heavyweight title.

The heavier Hansen landed most of the good blows in the first round, and despite his size, proved his ability to slip a punch. Elk connected more often, but less effectively. Hansen's lefts and rights to the body had Elk on the ropes briefly in the second round, but the 165-pounder managed to work himself out of trouble with superior quickness. Though neither fighter scored heavily in the final round, Elk's aggressiveness won the judges' nod.

Martin Porter, heavyweight from Lincoln, is down for the count at Saturday night's boxing smoker. Porter was unable to stave off a swarming attack by Creighton's Glenn Bauer, who landed three devastating hooks to the midsection, to bring the big man down. Referee Bill Engle assures himself that Porter is not seriously injured.

The more exciting of the feature bouts saw Lincoln's Randy Nelsen starring the Gary Bauer, of Creighton. The 170-pounders proved their willingness to slug it out in the first round, but the deciding factor in Nelsen's favor was the two-shot combination he used in the final two rounds. The Lincolnite scoring frequently with right leads to the body and left hooks to the head, to register the decision.

Bob Nelsen, Wisner (left) has just landed a right hook to the jaw of Lincoln's Lee Morrow. Morrow went once in each of the three rounds, as Nelsen won handily.

In the evening's first matchup, Lincoln's Chip Williams used aggressiveness and sharp left jabs to score a decision over Mark Homan of Creighton. Terry Andrews, Bassett won by TKO in the second battle of the evening. Andrews opened a deep cut over the left eye of Dan Wagner, Creighton, and referee Bill Engle stopped the fight at 1:27 of the first round. Though Wagner wasn't seriously injured, the cut took four stitches to close.

Nell Wilhelm, Lincoln and Herb Wolf, Bassett, bumped heads at 135 pounds, with Wilhelm registering the win. The Lincolnite fighter staggered Wolf twice in the second round, but Wolf returned to battle back to a close decision.

Stan Holan, Creighton, counter-punched effectively and used a stiff left hook to down Harvey Mintzmyer, Lincoln, by decision at 175 pounds.

At 140, Ken Donan, Norfolk, lost by decision to the more aggressive Bill Harrington of Bassett. Harrington's combinations proved the victory factor.

The shortest bout of the evening lasted only 58 seconds. Glenn Bauer, Creighton, one of four Bauer brothers on the card, dropped Martin Porter, Bassett. Before the fight was a minute old, Bauer connected with three crushing blows to the midsection, to put Porter down for the count.

Another Bauer brother, Bruce, appeared poised in his first match, but lost by a slim margin to the more experienced Bruce Davls of South Sioux City. The matchup featured good exchanges throughout, with Bauer repeatedly scoring on left jabs. But Davls counterpunched well and registered enough right hand leads to notch the victory.

A Bauer victory was forthcoming in the next match, as 130-pound Garth staggered Tim Malloy of South Sioux City. Both were good punchers, but the second-round Bauer flurry that left Malloy dazed tipped the scales in Bauer's favor.

The 140-pound match was a wild affair, with few punches scoring, amid numerous wild shots. Dave Malloy, South Sioux City, finally stung Darrell Sewell, Bassett, for the decision.

A couple of heavies, Lee Morrow, Lincoln, and Bob Nelsen, Beemer, went at it just prior to the main event. Nelsen decked Morrow in each of the three rounds to emerge the victor.

Fish Suffocation Needless

Lincoln-Suffocation again threatens fish in many farms and ranch ponds across Nebraska, a peril that needlessly wipes out the populations of many lakes and ponds at this time each year.

Winter kill is a loss that pond owners and sportsmen can ill afford, particularly since there are simple precautions that can be taken in most cases.

Most winter kills occur in Nebraska when sunlight is cut off from microscopic plants and animal organisms beneath the ice, either because of a long period of cloudiness or because of an accumulation of snow atop the ice. Without sunlight, the oxygen-yielding process of photosynthesis stops and the plants die.

In addition to the loss of a source of oxygen, the death of these organisms poses another threat to fish. When the microscopic plants and animals begin to decompose, they use up oxygen in the process, lowering the amount available for fish.

Of course, owners can do little to prevent cloudy weather, but they can do something about snow on the surface of their ponds. By removing snow from at least one-quarter of the ponds surface, they can let in enough sunlight to keep photosynthesis going.

Other methods of trying to help fish survive winter are common, but are not nearly as effective as simply removing snow. Practices such as chopping holes in the ice involve considerable effort with no benefit to the fish.

Farmers and ranchers may actually do harm if they attempt to feed fish through the ice. Being a cold-blooded animal, a fish's metabolism slows in winter, and he requires very little food. Thus, most of the food the well-meaning owner drops through the ice falls to the bottom, where it starts to decompose and use up already scarce oxygen in the process.

NAIA Wrestling Meet Here Saturday

Seven colleges will send wrestling teams to Wayne Saturday for the Nebraska NAIA District championships.

Wayne State Coach Bob Kruse had entries Tuesday from the contenders—two expecting to compete with full 10-man squads: the University of Nebraska at Omaha and host Wayne.

Kearney State and Peru State each submitted nine-man lists, Concordia eight, Dana three and Midland two. Neither Doane nor Chadron State sent entries. Chadron finished a close second to Wayne in last Saturday's four-team Nebraska College Conference tourney.

On the basis of records, IWO and Wayne appear favorites for the team title in the first district tournament since 1968. First and second-place individual winners qualify for the NAIA nationals March 9-11 at Klamath Falls, Ore.

Omaha defeated Wayne in a dual here, 27-15, Feb. 16. At that time, Wayne had to forfeit the 115-pound match, but seems likely to have a contender this time.

Preliminary action begins Saturday at 12:30 p.m. in the gymnasium. Semi-finals are scheduled at 1 p.m., consolation wrestlebacks at 3:30 p.m., consolation finals at 6.

Admission charges: $2 for adults, $1 for students, with separate tickets required for afternoon and evening sessions.

A special attraction for the meet will be a queen contest, sponsored by the Wayne chapter of Circle K Club, college affiliate of Kiwanis International.

The candidate attracting the most money becomes queen and will present trophies to the champion wrestlers. The two runners-up will give awards for second and third place. Balloting will continue during the tournament until 7 p.m.

Candidates for queen of the Nebraska NAIA District wrestling tournament, scheduled at Wayne State College Saturday, March 4, are (clockwise from front center) Cindy Hill, Denison, Ia.; Pat Tapoe, Lawton, Ia.; Debbie Long, Coon Rapids, Ia.; Ann Cooper, Sloan, Ia., and Tammy Conyers, Columbus, Nebr.

Club members chose one coed from each of the five women's dormitories. Voters for the candidates will cast ballots in the form of money—for the Multiple Sclerosis Fund.

The candidate attracting the most money becomes queen and will present trophies to the champion wrestlers. The two runners-up will give awards for second and third place. Balloting will continue during the tournament until 7 p.m.

School Schedules Wrestling Clinic

Don Koenig, physical education instructor at Wayne City Schools, has announced a wrestling clinic for area school youngsters to be held at the high school gymnasium.

The clinic scheduled for 4 to 5 p.m. daily, will get underway this Friday, and continue all through next week, concluding on Friday Mar. 10.

Fourth through eighth grade students at West Elementary and Middle Schools, St. Mary's Catholic School and area schools are eligible to participate. Permission slips, which must be signed by parents or guardians, may be picked up at the West Elementary or Middle School offices, and should be returned by Friday.

Persons wishing further information may contact Don Koenig.

Thone Co-Sponsors Omnibus Safety Act

"There are 10,000 casualties per day. These are the dead and wounded every day on America's streets and highways. We must take action to reduce this toll," Charles Thone, Nebraska First District Congressman, stresses adding:

"Congressman William H. Harsha, senior Republican on the House Public Works Committee, will introduce the Omnibus Safety Act of 1972 on March 2 and I will join as a co-sponsor of this legislation. The bill provides for a 12-point program to reduce highway injuries and fatalities.

"The highway mileage death rate can be reduced by one-third within the next eight years if we'll invest adequately for safety," Dr. Grant Mickla, president of the Highway Users Federation, testified to us in the Public Works Committee on February 24. Representative Harsha and I believe our proposed legislation will make it possible to meet the goal. It will take money, but we believe it will actually save funds. If we can reduce accident costs by only 10 per cent, we will save twice the actual investment in safety.

"A two-year program to stripe all roads in the nation that are poorly marked, or not marked at all, is one feature of the proposal. It would include striping to mark the sides as well as the center of pavements. Much of the present pavement marking cannot be seen during rain or snow, when driving is most hazardous. This legislation would provide for stepped-up research to find better means of striping highways.

"Last fall, I joined in asking the President to call a 1972 White House Conference on Highway Safety. Our bill will provide for such a national meeting to focus attention on this subject.

"Drunk drivers cause about half our highway deaths. In Nebraska's First Congressional District, at Lincoln, one of the first comprehensive programs to use all available means to reduce drunk-driving deaths is being carried out. This new bill would provide for such a program in every state. While we know a great deal about the effect of alcohol on driving, we know very little about drugs and driving. We propose basic research on this, as well as research on how to identify and protect the public from the accident-prone driver.

NORFOLK—Representatives of four state agencies will be in Norfolk Thursday, March 9, for a public meeting, "Speak Up on Nebraska's Health Problems," scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Norfolk High School auditorium.

The public is encouraged to attend and to give us their views on what Nebraska's needs and problems are in health care," said Mrs. Calista C. Hughes, director of the Nebraska Division of Comprehensive Health Planning (CHP).

"We are coming to listen, not to talk," Mrs. Hughes emphasized, "but we will be able to offer information if it is requested."

State officials attending with Mrs. Hughes will be State Health Director Dr. Henry Smith, State Welfare Director Dr. Robert Osborne of the State Department of Institutions, Clay Heeron, director of CHP's Nebraska Health Project, and Dr. Gustave Lieske, Director of the Department of Administrative Services.

State CHP Advisor, Council members expected to attend are Dr. E.G. Brillhart, Columbus, Mrs. Robert Shoemaker, O'Neill, and Charles Hofmann, Tilden.

Wayne State To Dedicate Pipe Organ

Professor Antony Garlick, Wayne State's resident organist, will have the honor Sunday of playing the college's new pipe organ at its 3 p.m. dedication.

The organ, newest addition to Wayne State music facilities, combines the finest features of baroque and modern construction, with six keyboard registers and two pedal stops. The instrument was designed to accommodate nine more ranks of pipes, which will be installed when the college, or private donors, can afford them.

Joining Garlick in the concert will be fellow faculty member Jay O'Leary, organist, and the brass choir directed by Dr. Raymond Kelton. The public is invited, and no admission will be charged.

District 71-51 Merger Denied

The State Committee for School District Reorganization Tuesday denied a petition by Wayne County to merge school district 71 with school district 51.

District 71 is composed of one rural school five miles west and three miles north of Wayne. The District 71 enrollment now stands at four. The District 51 school is located four miles west of Wayne.

The petition now will be heard by the County School District Reorganization Board. If both state and county agencies deny the petition, the reorganization will not be allowed. If the county reorganization board approves the petition, the reorganization still could go into effect.

The move will automatically go into effect if 65 per cent of the legal voters in District 71 sign the petition. If less than 65 per cent sign, a public hearing will be required.

been absent, especially for extended periods of time.

"I think it will be most valuable for advanced listeners, people who want to know more, and for make up work," Mrs. Ralston said.

"It will also be a boon to the poor reader because the material will be read for him," she said.

"To get the fullest use from the system, teachers will have to tape their own material, not rely on prepared materials, according to Mrs. Ralston.

"Teachers will have to tape a lot of their own material," she said. "For example, Mrs. Sundell (English teacher) could explain how to make a notecard on a cassette. If a student is in the library working on notecards and forgets the proper form for a notecard, he can review instructions from the cassette."

The wireless system is part of the $8,674.75 worth of equipment recently purchased for the Wakefield High School Resource Center under Title III, National Defense Education Act.

Under Title III the federal government pays half the costs, the school district the other half.

Other equipment purchased on this particular grant includes two Hoffman Audio-Visual Instructional Reading Systems. Six students may use each Hoffman viewer at one time as each viewer has that number of headsets.

Eight study carrels were purchased and will be placed in the library or on the stage adjacent to the library.

Completing the purchases were 15 cassette player recorders and hundreds of dollars worth of listening materials.

Effect of Stroke Vary

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska Medical Association. A stroke occurs when the blood supply to a part of the brain is reduced or completely cut off. It can be caused by a blood clot or by hemorrhage from an artery in the brain.

When the nerve cells of a part of the brain are deprived of their blood supply, the part of the body controlled by these nerve cells cannot function normally. The result may be weakness or paralysis, difficulty in speaking, or loss of memory.

Some patients recover quickly and can resume their normal activities. Others may suffer such serious damage that even a partial recovery will take a long time.

Immediate treatment with proper exercises and other forms of therapy can do much towards helping a patient regain the use of muscles and speech. Rehabilitation for stroke requires the cooperation of the physician, the patient, and the family.

The patient's own will to avoid invalidism and to become independent is especially important.

Mexican Spectacle Dwarfs Grand Canyon

Where can you find a canyon four times the size of the Grand canyon? One of the world's 12 highest waterfalls? A railway that is one of the engineering feats of the 20th century that takes you to both attractions as well as to a tribe of cave-dwelling Stone Age Indians? They're all in the Mexican state of Chihuahua whose major tourist magnets remain relatively unexplored.

Visitors are now beginning to frequent a remarkable phenomenon, the Copper Canyon, more properly called Barrancas de la Tarahumara. Clefs are from four to five thousand feet deep and, in all, cover about 100 square miles. It is often said that this canyon could easily hold four of the Grand Canyons of the Colorado.

In the area to the west of Chihuahua City are the Basasechic Falls or La Cascada de Basasechic, which at 1,076 feet is one of the world's twelve highest.

You can visit both in luxuriant comfort on the $100 million Chihuahua Pacific Railway. You have a choice of scenic daytime trips or nightly Pullman. Service is aboard the Italian-made Fiat Aerovias, a self-propelled diesel engine car with broad, clear windows, comfortable reclining chairs, a direct air service by waiters with clamp-on trays at the passenger's seat. The ride features a top rated chef, superb food and beverages.

Good Driving Habits Billfold-Savers

Washington, D. C. —Proper maintenance and careful driving can save motorists a lot of money, according to the Tire Industry Safety Council.

Industry surveys indicate that many drivers shorten the mileage life of their tires one-fifth by unnecessary wear. A driver who does that is wasting one of every five dollars he spends on tires.

Improper inflation, quick stops and starts, fast cornering and the generally poor mechanical condition of some automobiles are the principal factors cutting down on tire mileage.

Tires underinflated by from four to 12 pounds may suffer a 10 to 40 per cent cut in mileage life expectancy.

"Our members spend millions of dollars each year testing and improving their products," says Ross R. Ormsby, chairman of the Tire Industry Safety Council. "We'd like to see the consumer get the full benefits. Proper are with high moisture corn stored whole in a silo or acid treated in open bins, rather than high moisture corn stored ground or air dried corn. High moisture corn both ensiled and acid treated, fed whole shelled, compares very favorably with the same grain rolled before feeding.

March 14, at Wayne, will be the annual Experimental Farm Association meeting. It is open to the public, of course. Before that time we plan to market half of our experimental cattle so we will be able to give a more complete preliminary report on this high moisture corn test at the meeting.

Beef cows look promising as a side line when used to cash otherwise wasted feed and labor on farms in this area. A surprising number of herds are being started. Jim Gosey is the new University of Nebraska cow-calf "expert" who can and will help cowmen make breeding, feeding and management decisions. He is a very pleasant young "cowman" from Oklahoma with many helpful ideas and experiences.

John Ward of the University Animal Science Department is doing research at Mead Station on beef cow nutrition. In the 1972 Nebraska Beef Cattle Report—available here or from your County Agent—you will find a report (page 30) of his research in pasturing corn stalks with bred beef heifers. Results on stalk fields equalled those on mixed hay or ensiled "shucklage" rations at a per day estimated cost of 13.3 cents, 17 cents and 20.7 cents, respectively.

Robert de Baca, Iowa State University's well known beef cow Extension man, points out three peak problem cow herd feed periods: (1) During early spring calving when lots are muddy and calf disease build-up is imminent. This is a time for silage or stored feed, whether fed in the lot or put on pasture, with need for care about TDN (energy requirements) of a beef cow with a suckling calf are about double those of a dry cow; protein and vitamin A. (2) During late June through September when cool weather grasses are gone and crops are growing. This is the time to consider sorghum crosses for rotation grazing as well as use of heavily fertilized pastures where available. The cow must be gaining if she is to rebreed, and (3) During winter when stalks or diverted acres are covered with snow and some harvested feed is needed. "If you don't want to be a good cowman, don't be one at all," de Baca says.

The University ETV program "Beef Up for the 70's" is being updated and will be shown again March 8 and 15, 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. Plan to see it, if you can.

Waste control measures often also improve feedlot conditions for animals comfort. Diverting runoff water from entering lots makes drier resting places for cattle as well as reducing solid waste losses from the lots. Pushing manure into mounds in the lots where it will decompose may provide dry resting places for cattle.

Several new users of in-the-lot debris settling basins report the standing water in the lots not only does not hurt the cattle in any way, but it lowers temperatures and increases cattle comfort on hot days.

Solid waste losses are probably greater from crowded lots. Research designed to prove this point, at the University's Mead Station, showed cattle with 100 square feet lot space per head gained 12 per cent less during a muddy winter and spring growing period and 3.2 per cent less during finishing than cattle with 200 square feet per head. Feed requirements were 12.5 per cent more during the growing period for the more crowded cattle. Both lots were equally efficient in feed use during a drier finishing period. The researchers felt performance would have been even better in wet weather with more than 200 square feet per head.

Possible general lot improvement, available cost sharing and public relations betterment should all be considered in deciding on a move to correct any feedlot waste problems you may have. Soil Conservation Service and Extension will be glad to help you plan lot changes for convenience, improved gains and waste control. It may be easier and more advantageous than you think to move in this direction now.

Acid treated high moisture corn looks good two months along in our present experiment. Best consumption and gains, so far sides checking your ornamentals for insect problems, your perennial plants can be pruned. Trimming, shaping and the repair of damaged specimens should be done as soon as possible with the following exceptions: a. avoid pruning palms, maples, birches and plants that tend to bleed in the spring; b. flowering shrubs which bloom before the middle of the growing season should be pruned after they flower; c. do not prune evergreens until they resume growth in the spring.

Meat Substitutes
Of all food products, meat was once considered to be one of the least vulnerable to substitution. Few people believed its texture, taste and nutritional qualities could be duplicated. But the new meat analogs—substitutes fabricated from vegetable protein—are coming close.

Meat analogs are prepared primarily from soy protein to resemble specific meats in color, texture and flavor. They have been on the market for some time.

Price has deterred rapid consumer acceptance of many analogs. To most consumers, analogs appear more expensive than the meats they replace. However, in terms of net utilizable protein, analogs compare more favorably. Labeling regulations, standards of identity, and tastes may also limit meat analog expansion over the next five-to-10 years.

As a result, meat analogs are not expected to capture a significant share of the red meat market by 1980. Major penetration will more likely be by soy protein extenders that replace only part of the meat. Use of extenders will continue to be confined to patties, loaves, and other processed items. At decade's end, soy protein extenders will probably displace considerable quantities of meat in institutional outlets. The retail market will develop more slowly.

Swine Specialist Has Pork Congress Role

KANSAS CITY, MO. — A large crew of Nebraska pork producers will be representing their state at the upcoming American Pork Congress in Kansas City, Mo., March 21-23, according to Jerry Schriber, executive secretary of the Nebraska Pork Producers.

Several Nebraskans will also have key roles in the wide variety of activities scheduled for the three-day session. Swine specialist Robert D. Fritsch of the University of Nebraska Northeast Station, co-ordinator, will be participating in one of the workshops, with a presentation on the University's research in swine housing systems.

March Sets Off Farmer 'Itch'

By Betty Kavanaugh
Holding a calendar dated March 1 in front of a farmer is about like holding a green flag in front of a stock car driver.

Both mean an omen, have all motors running, get set, the race is about to begin.

There may be several feet of snow on the ground. The temperatures may be near the zero mark. The roads may even be blocked. Yet to farmers the entire atmosphere changes when it becomes March.

Last year's crop is most likely gone or has a place to go. It's history. Any errors or successes from previous years have been calculated and regarded or disregarded for future use.

The time of talking, thinking and dreaming about what you are going to do this year is fast becoming a reality.

Uncle Sam may think a farmer's year is from Jan. 1 to Jan. 1, but it doesn't seem to be. It merely gives the farmer a breather and a time for planning and scouting snow from Jan. 1 to March 1. The snow scouting may continue long after March 1 but it doesn't seem to be such hard work after that.

The icy, hard frost that has served as a shield from the mud under your feet for most of the winter, suddenly is gone. The entire earth seems to become a muddy, logjammed place on which to walk or drive.

When it rains in the summertime, more often than not, you can get footing on the dry earth a few inches below the surface. And in the winter when it thaws slightly, you can get footing on the ice or hard frozen earth beneath.

Bottomless Pit
But when the March thaws come there is nothing but mud far as far making this decision. Besides the banker, there is neighbor John. His opinion is usually more stable than the Mrs.'s. One day she says you should trade, and the next she says you should fix up the old one.

A tractor to a farmer is like a wheel on a wagon. Without it nothing moves very smoothly. But once this decision is out of the way, he can concentrate on what is going to put into the soil.

Consults Superiors

Next to the Bible comes the almanac for the farmer making major decisions. It isn't always as foolproof as the Bible but it sure can help sway decisions.

If it reads above normal precipitation for the year you'll probably purchase a bigger, more expensive tractor than you'd anticipated. But then you probably would even if it read far below normal precipitation for the year. After all, they're just guessing too.

Omaha's Triumph of Agriculture Show To Feature Farm Machinery Displays

OMAHA — Another building display of all leading farm machinery manufacturers is already assured for the Triumph of Agriculture's sixth annual show, Mar. 14-15, at the Omaha Civic Auditorium, according to Taylor Snow, Exposition committee chairman.

Visitors to the Midwest's two-day agricultural attraction will again see the world's largest indoor show on short-line farm equipment. Exhibits will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days with free admission to everyone who registers.

Phil Johnson of Mead, national vice-president of the Future Farmers of America, will address several thousand FFA and 4-H Club members and their state and local leaders at 2 p.m. Mar. 14 in the Auditorium Music Hall. This is part of the exposition's annual opening-day salute to the nation's rural youth.

Special programs are also planned for women attending the farm machinery show. At 10:30 a.m. both mornings, a program will be presented by the Home Service Department of Omaha Public Power District about planning and decorating a better kitchen.

Area Farmers Are Warned About 'Wonder Fertilizers'

Area farmers should beware of new "miracle" or "wonder" organic fertilizer products which are being sold in the place of commercial fertilizers, advises George Rehm, agronomist at the Northeast Station at Concord.

The agronomist adds that these untested, low-analysis, organic products are sold under several brand names by individuals who travel from farm to farm. When farmers are approached by these salesmen, the agronomist suggests that they "check-up" on the product before they buy.

Area farmers should also be aware of the fact that these companies producing these organic products were denied a license to sell in Iowa because they could not furnish proof that their product had a beneficial effect on plant growth.

Rehm reports that the University of Nebraska has tested one of the products with the following results. Irrigated corn grown at the North Platte Experiment Station which received no fertilizer produced 76 bushels per acre. The corn fertilized with the organic fertilizer or "miracle product" according to directions yielded only 62 bushels per acre. The use of commercial fertilizer at the recommended rate produced 117 bushels per acre. When fertilized with both the commercial and organic fertilizer, the corn yielded 109 bushels per acre. The largest net return came from the use of commercial fertilizers.

The conclusions were obvious. Organic fertilizers did not increase corn yields. In addition, the return from the use of the organic fertilizer did not pay for the high cost of the product.

Rehm also points out that the companies that market these products make a strong sales pitch one year and are usually never

Tommy Cash Feature Of Ak-Sar-Ben Rodeo

OMAHA—John D. Diesing, chairman of Ak-Sar-Ben's Livestock Show and Rodeo Committee, announced that Tommy Cash has been signed to headline the 1972 Ak-Sar-Ben World Championship Rodeo.

Cash, the youngest brother of the legendary Johnny Cash, will appear at all 10 performances of the rodeo which is scheduled Sept. 22-30.

The rodeo is part of the $75 entertainment bargain offered to 1972 Ak-Sar-Ben members. The 1972 Drive is in its final week as the drive ends Wednesday, March 1. A goal of 50,000 members has been established.

To qualify for a Nebraska Master Angler Award, bluegill must weigh at least one pound.

Area farmers should beware of new "miracle" or "wonder" organic fertilizer products which are being sold in the place of commercial fertilizers, advises George Rehm, agronomist at the Northeast Station at Concord.

The agronomist adds that these untested, low-analysis, organic products are sold under several brand names by individuals who travel from farm to farm. When farmers are approached by these salesmen, the agronomist suggests that they "check-up" on the product before they buy.

Area farmers should also be aware of the fact that these companies producing these organic products were denied a license to sell in Iowa because they could not furnish proof that their product had a beneficial effect on plant growth.

Social Security Questions, Answers

Q. I retired at age 65 and have been receiving Social Security payments for the past two years. In August I had a stroke. Am I eligible for disability payments?
A. Sorry, no. Disability insurance payments are made only up to the age of 65. Beginning with the month a person becomes 65, he receives retirement benefits even though he received disability benefits before he became age 65. No additional monthly benefits are payable after age 64 because of a disabling condition.
