Kuhn's to Have Grand Opening

Kuhn's Department Store, which recently completed a remodeling project, will have its grand opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Kuhn's Store was founded 50 years ago by R. L. Larson, who sold half-interest in the business to Clarence Kuhn 25 years later, the company name changed to Larson-Kuhn Company at that time.

The business was expanded by the opening of clothing stores in Columbus and Norfolk and a ladies' dress shop and men's clothing store in Wayne.

Clarence Kuhn sold his interest in the clothing store and dress shop to Kenneth Fleming in 1969 and bought the other half-interest department store from Mr. Larson, at which time the business was incorporated, with Clarence Kuhn as president, Jack Tomriddle as vice-president and Mrs. Clarence Kuhn, secretary-treasurer.

Solution to Offensive Odor Problem Partially Solved

Officers of the Golden Egg, the egg-processing plant in the southeast section of Wayne, have agreed to proposed regulations aimed at cutting down the offensive odors emitting from the firm, the mayor and City Council were told by a spokesman at Tuesday night's meeting.

Lately, Wayne residents have experienced a strong odor at times and the cause was blamed jointly on the egg plant and the sewer lagoon.

As it turned out, the council agreed that it was a mixture of the two.

Golden Egg officers, City Administrator Dan Sherry and others met recently to discuss solutions to the problem.

As a result, the firm has promised to use a covered truck for disposal purposes, through periodical cleaning of the building, no burning of fowl or feathers on the premises, waste material to be trucked to an area, distance and manner of disposal such that there would be no offensive odor coming back into the city, daily disposal of dead fowl and other smelly debris and no drainage allowed to stand in front or at the side of the building.

Already corrected was an overflow of water through a new-type watering system and adequate ventilation. Golden Egg officials agreed to have all other deficiencies corrected in 30 days or less.

The lagoon at the sewer provided a more "smelly" problem and the council learned there was little that could be done about the offensive odor, which should decrease in intensity in the near future.

It was explained that a lagoon-type sewage disposal plant has a normal problem of emitting strong odors when the ice first goes out and releases the long-trapped gases.

Vern Schulz, city street commissioner, said that, in his opinion, a proposed antisectic deodorant solution would do little, if any, good and added that the problem was enlarged by the fact that the aerator was not operating properly. He expressed the belief that a rain and high wind would cause the odor problem to diminish quickly.

The council, following a unanimous vote, instructed City Administrator Dan Sherry to torney John Addison to draw up an ordinance as a first step in possible annexation of 150 feet south of Grainland Road from Maple to Sherman, an area not now in the city limits.

A delegation of homeowners along Grainland appeared before the council, voicing their desire to have Grainland paved.

Should the annexation plans meet with no objections 30 days or less from the time of the notice of annexation is published, a paving district could be created.

Truck Overturns; Seven Head of Cattle Killed

Seven head of cattle were killed and a diesel tractor-trailer unit was heavily damaged shortly before 1 a.m. Wednesday when a truck, driven by Louis Leach of Mitchell, overturned on its side at the junction two miles south of Wakefield.

Leach escaped with only a minor leg bruise and a cut on one finger. He was driving a truck owned to Walton Trucking Co. of Seekonk, heading for Iowa Beef Packers of Dakota City.

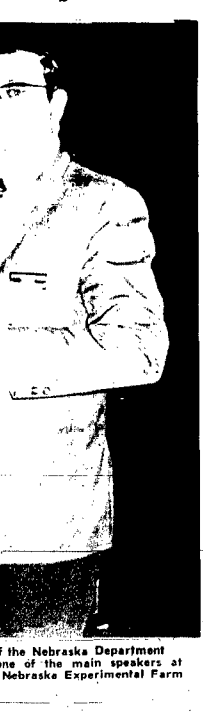

The driver told The Herald that he was eastbound and did not see the stop sign at the junction. His trailer wheels went over the shoulder of the gravel road and he lost control. There were 38 head of cattle, 31 of which were reloaded onto another truck and taken to Dakota City.

Bill Watson of the Nebraska State Patrol, stationed at Wayne, investigated the accident.

Driver of this truck, Louis Leach of Mitchell, suffered only minor injuries, but seven of the 38 head of cattle he was hauling to Dakota City were killed when the semi overturned early Wednesday morning at the junction two miles south of Wakefield.

'Damn Yankees' Coming March 24, 25

"Damn Yankees," the musical to be presented Friday and Saturday, Mar. 24 and 25 at the high school lecture hall, is based on Douglas Wallop's "The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant," and tells the story of a plump and balding, middle-aged real estate salesman in Washington, D. C., who is an avid fan of his hometown ball team. In a rash moment he murmurs that he'd "sell his soul to see the Washington Senators win the pennant from the damn Yankees."

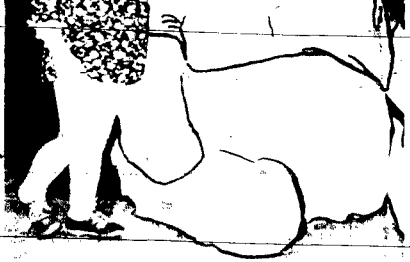

At this moment the Devil appears, in the guise of a personable gentleman called Mr. Applegate, and offers to make a pact with the man: in return for his soul, Applegate will transform the man into a young and unbeatable ball player. The salesman agrees but insists on an "escape clause" whereby at a certain date he will be restored to his former self to rejoin his wife and live out his years normally. The Devil agrees.

The phenomenal young player, now known as Joe Hardy, joins the Senators and the team moves up to second place in the American League. But Applegate has further plans. He is secretly on the side of the Yankees and is plotting to whet the hopes of the Senators and wrest the victory from them in the final hour. When Hardy discovers this, he asks to exercise his option and be returned to his former status. But Applegate employs the services of Lola, a ravishingly beautiful witch, to tempt him into staying on the side of the Devil. However, Hardy remains true to the faithful wife he left behind.

Lola breaks a precedent by falling in love with her victim.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION Notes

Concern for the safety of product as they affect the family and the environment is bringing an old reliable staple, baking soda, to the forefront for household cleaning. Baking soda is a pure, natural product that is environmentally safe. Since it is a standard baking ingredient, it is reassuringly "people safe."

Try a solution of three tablespoons of soda per quart of water as a cleaner for woodwork, tile, porcelain and enamel. Sprunge it on and rinse. It's also a traditional cleaning solution for the refrigerator and coffee pot. It can serve as a scouring powder when applied dry to a damp sponge or cloth to such things as sinks, counter tops, and small appliances.

Baking soda will out desirable adsorb by absorbing and neutralizing them. Try storing an open package of baking soda in the refrigerator. Shake up the package occasionally to expose a fresh layer of soda. When a whiff of it turns up your nose, it's time for a new package. This of course is not to take the place of cleaning out the refrigerator frequently.

Compared to the cost of many cleansers and deodorizers, baking soda is relatively inexpensive and thus should appeal to the "budget-watcher."

Coach's Dream Team

Husker Coaches Elect Dream Team: Five Tapped as 'Best in the West'

They average just a shade under 6-3. They each score 18.4 points per game and rattle the boards for 13 rebounds apiece. A pretty fair bunch of basketball players? You bet. The five young men behind those statistics comprise The Wayne Herald's fourth annual West Husker All-Star basketball team.

Earlier this season, The Herald polled the West Husker coaches in an attempt to pinpoint the five best players in the conference. Each coach received a ballot, and was asked to select 10 players, excluding his own, for consideration.

The tally resulted in players from Laurel, Wayne, Neligh, Stanton and Bloomfield occupying the top slots.

A total of 26 players received votes in the polling. Laurel and Neligh tied, placing five players each on the voting charts. Four Bloomfield cagers were nominated to the dream team, with Stanton, Pierce and Plainview represented by three players each. Wayne placed two, and one Madison player was tapped.

A three-way deadlock resulted in seven cagers being named to the second team. Tying for the fifth spot were Dale Drahotka, Pierce; Louie Pohlman, Stanton; and Kevin Roach, Plainview. Other second-teamers are Joe Ray, Madison; Perry Broders, Bloomfield, and Tim Riewer and Terry McCoy, both of Neligh.

Other players who received votes were Bruce Johnson, Gary Chace, Gene Sarha and Keith Olson of Laurel; Dana Baker and Mark Magwire of Neligh; Terry Carlow and Sam Colvin of Bloomfield; John Wild of Stanton; Larry Shupe of Wayne; Dick Wetjen and Clayton Fischer of Pierce; Mike Hoffman and Rich Vivien of Plainview and Joe Ray of Madison.

Players sketches of the honor team:

George Schroeder
By all accounts the premier basketball player of Northeast Nebraska, George Schroeder, a unanimous first-team choice of the seven coaches, headed up the thoroughly-talented Laurel squad that upset Ponca and Bloomfield in the Class C district tournament, then edged Neligh for a berth in the state battles.

Schroeder, a senior, has been elected to the West Husker squad the past three years, joining Bloomfield's John Scott as the only other three-year man on the team. Schroeder's 538-point regular season total tops the list of the high scoring All-Stars. The 6-4 ace connected on 25.6 points per game in the regular season.

As the Bears' leading rebounder, Schroeder hauled down an average of 24 per game. That figure also is high among the dream team's starting five.

But most important, Schroeder parlayed versatility, talent and hard work into a solid weekly team effort. In addition to his high point totals, he provided a formidable inside defensive threat, and handled the ball with finesse seldom seen in high school players.

Whether with the ball or without it, Schroeder always drew a crowd, but managed to sparkle despite the heavy traffic. Coach Joel Parks opined that a lesser player might have become discouraged by the super-tight coverage, but Schroeder just made the necessary adjustments and played his own game.

Kyle Willis
A 6-4 senior, Kyle Willis has been Wayne's most valuable player for two years. Willis' 207 season rebounds led the Blue Devils in that department, and a point total of 287 topped the Devils' offensive attack.

Willis turned in a 15.1 points per game average, sparkling at the line with a 62 per cent conversion figure. He was the only Wayne cager with a double figure average per game, outscoring his closest competitor by 113 points for the season.

According to coach Don Johnson, Willis was a hard worker, who practiced all summer to sharpen his shooting percentage. Willis also was a constant visitor to the gym when free time allowed him a chance to practice.

Rand Havens
One of the big reasons the Stanton Mustangs were able to successfully defend their West Husker Championship was Rand Havens.

The 6-1 senior added versatility to the Mustangs' attack, switching from guard to forward, and working with cool efficiency against the press. Coach Leon Portrey listed Havens as the Stanton club's most improved player this season.

Havens' 20.7 points per game average yielded a total of 435 markers for the season. That team-leading chart was made possible by a 50 per cent average from the field.

Havens also was the squad's number two rebounder, nabbing 180 on the year.

John Scott
A starter for four years, John Scott brought his extensive experience into play, to spearhead the Bloomfield Bees' 21-3 season effort. This is the third year Scott has been voted to The Herald's West Husker All-Star team.

Scott naturally gravitates to the basket, having led the Bloomfield scoring parade for three of his four years. During his sophomore and junior years, he averaged 14.5 points per game, and this season, he bumped that mark to 19.7. Scott's hottest night this season saw him pouring through 37 points against Creighton, and grabbing 18 rebounds.

Not lacking in size, Scott used his 6-2, 205-pound stature to muscle his way inside, providing solid rebounding support. The sharp-eyed senior dumped 48 per cent of his shots from the floor, and converted 62 per cent of his charity tosses.

Guest speaker for the 6:30 p.m. event will be Ernie Slegler, a freshman football coach the past year at the University of Nebraska.

Mark Murphy

A 6-3 junior, Mark Murphy led his fellow Neligh Warriors to an 18-6 season and a district title. The Warriors finally were edged out of tournament play by the Laurel Bears in a regional overtime thriller.

Murphy, a repeater from last year's All-Star squad, nailed down a team-leading 322 points for 20 games, hitting at an average of 16 counters per contest. The Neligh ace canned 44 per cent of his field goal attempts, and converted on an outstanding 71 per cent of his free throw tosses.

Clearing the boards at an 11 per game clip, Murphy was the squad's leading rebounder, and was elected captain by his teammates.

Carr Implement Wayne still set the pace in the team event with a 3,019 and Pipers Co-Op of West Point hung in the runner-up spot with 2,444.

Ahl, Schwanke 'Coaches of the Year'

This year's West Husker Coach of the Year competition resulted in a tie vote, with Leo Schwanke of Neligh and Ken Ahl of Bloomfield, chosen by their colleagues in the conference.

The Wayne Herald had asked the coaches to select from among the ranks of their competitors the man best qualified to lead this edition of the dream team.

This season's co-coaches provide an unusual combination of youth and experience. Schwanke, 44, has roamed the maples for 18 years, while Ahl, 20 years his junior, has just completed his third season. The pair managed an enviable composite record this year, 39 wins against nine losses.

Schwanke has guided the Neligh Warriors for two years, compiling a 7-14 record his first time out, and bumping that mark to 18-6 this season. The Warriors nabbed the title in District C-8 competition this year, but were cheated of a state journey trip by a last-second overtime loss to Laurel in the regionals at Nor-

Monroe Wins National Wrestling Title

For the fifth straight year, Wayne State wrestlers put their college high among the nation's NAIA mat elite when they brought home a tie for seventh and another national individual champion from the NAIA tournament last week in Oregon.

Ken Monroe put himself among the super-elite by winning his second title at 167 pounds. The junior from Arlington Heights, Ill., won as a freshman, then lost an overtime decision in the finals as a sophomore. This time he defeated the same finalist, Tom Tomblinson of U.S. International University, by a decisive 7-2 score.

Few wrestlers in NAIA history have gone to the finals in their first three years.

The dimension of Wayne State's national achievement in the past five years comes into focus with this fact: Only two teams have placed in the top 10 all of those years, and both are from Nebraska: Wayne and the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

Wayne won one title in that span, placed second three times, tied for third once, Wayne has a pair of fourth places to its credit, a tie for seventh and two eighth places.

Only one other team, Bemidji State of Minnesota, placed high all five years, with one third, two fifths, a tenth and a twelfth.

Adams State of Colorado, champion this year, has two titles and a second in the half decade, but did not compete last year. Central Washington State and Bloomsburg State, Pa., both finished in the top 10 four of the five years.

Monroe's second championship brings to four the number of Wayne national firsts. Larry Mitchell won at 152 pounds in 1968, Tom Flrestack as a heavyweight in 1969.

Since the first Wildcat trip to the nationals in 1964, Wayne has earned 13 other places from second to fifth.

Heavyweight Ron Coles, sophomore from Indianapolis, Ind., finished third last week at Klamath Falls, Ore., when he pinned Leonard Peavy of Graceland College, Iowa, in 2:26. In five national matches Coles won three by pins, lost one by a pin, and declined Peavy in a quarter-finals match, 9-5. He finished his season with a 23-3 record and 11 pin victories.

Monroe's four national wins, two by pins, ran his season to 24-0-1. His three-year career is an amazing 66-7-2.

Team scoring in the national meet: Adams State 64, UN-Omaha 53, U.S. International 51, Central Washington 41, Bemidji 38, Oregon College of Education 37, Wayne State and St. John's of Minnesota, 34, Southern Oregon 33, and Augsburg 32, in the top 10.

Ex-Resident's Husband Named College Coach

Scott Johnson, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lutt of Wayne, has been named head football coach at Southern Oregon College.

Johnson is the husband of the former Bonnie Lutt. They have two daughters.

A three-year letterman at the University of Wyoming, Johnson played both offense and defense under Bob Devaney, University of Nebraska coach who had coached at Wyoming before coming to Lincoln.

He has been at Southern Oregon since 1963, serving as defensive coordinator in football and head baseball coach. Before going to SOU, he had been defensive line coach at Adams State College, Alamosa, Colo., where both he and Mrs. Johnson received masters degrees in 1967.

NU Gridders to Play Area Coaches in Cage Benefit

Those persons who were not fortunate enough to be able to get a ticket to see the University of Nebraska football team in action, will get their chance next Wednesday.

But the Huskers will exchange their pads and cleats for a basketball uniform.

The NU gridders will take on a group of area coaches and teachers in a benefit game, starting at 7:30 p.m., at Rice Gymnasium, proceeds to go to the Medical Center campaign.

The Huskers, who have toured the state and surprisingly turn in a fine game of basketball along with being talented when in football tugs, are senior members of the national champions.

Some of those who have participated in other charity games at various sites include Jerry Tagge, Larry Jacobsen, Carl Johnson, Woods Cox, Jeff Kinney,

Van Brownson and Bill Kosch. Teenage basketball players reportedly have done what football opponents of the Huskers were unable to accomplish during the 1971 season—swarm the nation's No. 1 team under Tagge, Kinney and Jacobsen have been the main "targets" of idolizing youngsters but it is doubtful that fans will get a chance at Kinney.

The Husker fullback this week became a father to a future NFL ball-carrier.

Coaches and teachers from this area signifying their intention to play are Joel Parks of Laurel, Lyle Nannan of Randolph, Dan Johnson of Wayne, Bob Hope of Emerson, Barry Carlson of Allen, Jim Winch of Winside, Ron Dalton of Wayne, Bob Andrew of Heide, Steve Olson of Heide, Roger Nannan of Wisner, Jim Peterson of Wakefield and Jerry McGill of Wayne State College.

Game Proceeds Benefit Drive

In a benefit basketball game which netted the March of Dimes drive $56, June Smith's team outscored Julie Tighe's team by 18 points (33-23). The game, sponsored by the Allen High School Future Homemakers of America Chapter, and played at the high school gym, attracted over 60 fans.

Players on the winning team included Nadine Shortt, Kathy Moore, Kim Jackson, Roxie Moore, Deb Lundgren, Rita Book, Jan Kraemer, Paula Reuter, Denise Linafelter, Kay Schroeder, Trudy Mattes, Sandy Dowling and Josie Magnuson.

On Julie Tighe's team were Deb Ellis, DeAnn Troch, Roxie Blohm, Melodie Davenport, Diane Fahrentz, Suzanne Landin, Melissa Emry, Sheila Book, Le-Rae Lubberstedt, Jill Hanson, LeAnn Lubberstedt and Sheri Kier.

New Weapon to Discourage Poaching

Game poachers in Nebraska had better watch out for the Game and Parks Commission's newest weapon—rabbit blood.

That statement may sound a bit wacky, but several poachers already convicted by evidence from new laboratory techniques initiated by the Commission are not laughing. Needless to say, the conservation officer's job becomes somewhat easier when the lab's evidence positively identifies a smear on a coat sleeve as deer blood or a package of meat found in a freezer as venison.

The rabbit enters the picture at the commission's research lab in Lincoln. The laboratory rabbit is a special "critter," having been inoculated with deer blood. His body has built up an immunity to the protein pattern of deer blood and other deer tissue, much the same as people develop resistance to bacteria when vaccinated. This immunity is carried in anti-serum, which is extracted from the rabbit's blood.

A drop of a solution prepared from the unknown blood or tissue sample is placed on a treated glass slide, along with a drop of anti-serum. The reaction of the unknown substance and the anti-serum forms patterns on the plate characteristic of proteins of various species.

To double-check results, the test is also run with several known substances, including a confirmed sample of blood or tissue from a game animal.

A good supply of anti-serum keyed to deer and antelope is already on hand, and Nebraska Wesleyan University is compiling a "library" of anti-serum covering many mammals in Nebraska. In addition, anti-serum of ducks, geese, pheasant, chicken, and turkey, have been prepared.

The new technique is a valuable aid to Nebraska's conservation officers, who are very busy working across the state. It means that the officer does not have to catch a poacher in the act of killing game or in possession of a carcass that is obviously a game animal. He can depend on lab work to tell him and the court of an individual's guilt, even if the suspected poacher has already cut up the deer or antelope and frozen it in packages innocently labeled "beef."

Army 'Cracks Door' on Prior Service

The Department of the Army has announced that men with military experience may be able to re-enlist under the Army's Prior Service Enlistment Option.

For the past few months only a small percentage of Prior Service personnel have been allowed to re-join. This included personnel trained in highly critical occupational duties and personnel who have received the nation's highest awards for valor.

Now, however, the Department of the Army has cracked the door a little wider. This means that many ex-servicemen who were unable to re-enter a few months ago will now find that they can re-enlist under the new Prior Service Option.

According to Sgt. Bob Rubner, U. S. Army recruiter located at 511 Norfolk Ave., Norfolk, "Many men with military experience are going to find that not only can they get back in, but possibly even at their old job and definitely a higher salary."

To qualify for a Nebraska Master Angler Award, a largemouth bass must weigh at least five pounds.

Evaluator Praises 'Project Success'

"The effort, involvement and commitment of all those working with Project Success have resulted in tremendous progress since my last visit in January," reported Mary Lee Enfield, who heads the learning disability program in Bloomington, Minn., and who serves as evaluator of the Title III project in language disability in the Wayne-Carroll school system.

Miss Enfield visited the federally-funded project in Wayne as project director. "The children are functioning with a very serious dignity and confidence. They are more spontaneous, more alive, and react in a much brighter manner. There is a good deal of difference between children who are learning and those who are trying to cope but are experiencing frustration and failure," Miss Enfield continued.

"These children in the project who have learning differences are being given tools for learning that they can use, and that's the greatest thing you can do for them. They are applying skills in reading, writing, and spelling with ease," the evaluator observed.

Miss Enfield reported that an excellent balance was being built into the program with skill development in decoding, creative writing, fluency in oral reading, and comprehension.

and other subjects most effectively and capitalizes on those ways, Mrs. Jean Owens, as curriculum modifier, help elementary teachers work out different options of learning the same thing so that children who may have different learning styles may use the one which is most effective for them.

Miss Enfield visited with children enrolled in the project and reported comments such as, "I sure like to read better than I did" and "Last year I was always making mistakes. Now I know what I am doing."

Mr. Mettler, director of the project, commented, "We are, of course, happy that Miss Enfield finds that our program is proving effective for children with learning differences. Because these differences do exist, sometimes in serious proportions, we constantly have to be alert for problems that arise—a child who begins to feel frustration in math, for instance, because he is being introduced to story problems and can't cope with both the reading and math demands at the same time. To help these children develop so they can do their best takes an alert understanding from everyone who works with them, both at home and at school. We hope we are on the way to achieving that kind of understanding.

Wausa Man Assumes Tech Board Position

Don Pfeil of Wausa, newest member of the Northeast Nebraska Technical College board of governors, sat in on his first board meeting last Thursday evening.

Pfeil, a native of Wausa, where he has been a realtor and tax practitioner since 1965, was appointed to the position by the other nine members at the February meeting.

Pfeil will complete the term of Alan Cramer, Wayne Herald publisher, who resigned after serving on the Tech Board since it was first formed. Cramer is immediate past chairman of the board.

Pfeil is one of two board members currently representing the sub-district of Knox, Pierce and Wayne Counties. The other board member from this sub-district is Ronald Aschoff of Osmond.

All board members' terms expire in January, 1973, when the new community college legislation takes effect. All board positions are up for re-election May

9. Both Pfeil and Aschoff have filed for re-election.

Another board change that will take effect Jan. 1, 1973, is re-districting of the 14 counties in the college area, to make the sub-districts more equal in voter population. Next year, Knox County will be a sub-district with Holt and Boyd Counties. Pierce County will be in a sub-district with Antelope, Wayne and Wheeler Counties.

Cedar County, which is now in a sub-district with Dixon County, will have Thurston County added to that sub-district. Cedar and Dixon Counties are now represented on the board by Arlo Wirth, Hartington insurance man and realtor, and Phil Fnerl, Ponca auto dealer. Both have also filed for re-election.

Also beginning in 1973, the board will be increased to 11 members, with the new position filled by an election set large by voters in all 14 counties.

In other action by the board, which will not become final until official minutes are approved at the next regular meeting, Apr. 13 at 8 p.m. in the board room of the Maylay Memorial Building:

Approved at a maximum fee of 6.5 percent, the new position filled by an election set large by voters in all 14 counties.

Allen Found 'Guilty'

It was Tom Allen's day in court and what a court it was. Allen, of course, the Omaha World-Herald's roving reporter who mistakenly injected Scribner into a story about the upcoming St. Pat's Day celebration in Wisner Friday.

For his actions, Allen was charged with "High treason against the principality of Wisner" by Mel Murphy, Wisner city attorney, and the Wisner City Council.

He was summoned to court Tuesday morning at 11 a.m. at Don's Drive in, with the honorable Jerry Kane presiding.

When Tom Allen arrived, he saw a giant black Cadillac hearse and a large donkey outside the entrance to the courtroom, setting the stage for what was to happen during the trial.

With 12 inconsiderate jurors listening to the case built up against Allen, the prosecuting attorney, Mel Murphy, read off the charges to the court.

- Councilman
- ss/L. J. McGuire

Allen's only reply was "nolo contendere" (no contest). Allen's defense attorney, Erwin Murray of O'Neill, told the court that he did not have time to prepare a case in behalf of Allen.

When the jury was asked for their decision they replied emphatically "Guilty!"

It was then the decision of the court to pronounce sentence, if will, among other things, be required to sing a four verse ditty to the tune of McNameara's band.

The ditty:

My name is Thomas Allen
And I've come here to say
Wisner is the grandest place
For St. Patrick's Day

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS The Irish Capital of Nebraska, that is Wisner, Cuming County, Nebraska, has been the victim of a traitor, namely one Tom Allen, and

WHEREAS The citizenry of Wisner have suffered irreparable harm by reason of such traitorous actions, and

WHEREAS Such a heinous crime shall not go unpunished, and

WHEREAS The citizens of Wisner are entitled to full satisfaction against the body of said traitor:

It's like a little Ireland
So it is told, my friend,
Just follow any rainbow
And Wisner is at the end.

Shamrocks grow on Wisner's streets
Like you've never seen,
We'll all sing an Irish tune
Dressed in finest green.

It is the biggest celebration
For the Erin holiday,
Yes, Wisner is the grandest place
For St. Patrick's Day.

NOW THEREFORE, THE MAYOR AND COUNCIL of Wisner in solemn convocation do hereby declare that the said Tom Allen is guilty of the crime of High Treason and direct that the City Magistrate bear the case giving proper attention to the rights of the accused and after a finding of guilty turn said criminal over to the tender mercies of the people of Wisner, to suffer the ultimate consequences of his dastardly deeds in accordance with the time honored punishment which is to be hanged, drawn and quartered and once properly declared dead to be preserved in the liquid of the day and then to be surrendered for disposition in unhallowed grounds.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto set our hands at Wisner, Nebraska.

The second sentence handed down by the high court was he could either ride or pull the donkey through the Wisner St. Pat's Day celebration parade Friday afternoon. His only request was to announce his decision upon his arrival in Wisner Friday.

The court adjourned following the sentence.

O'Neill, the other Irish center in Nebraska, but hardly the capital, came to the defense of Allen during his trial. They prepared a statement supporting Allen's actions and were ready to picket the court if need be. They also sent along a bottle of green soup bath, especially for Tom Allen.

Sitting in on the jury were Irishmen Jack Dixon, L. P. McGuire, Ed Keller, Kris Kvoles, Tom Enright, Herman Dinklage Jr., Leo McGuire, and John Gallagher. The Irish ladies also sat on the jury and they were Mrs. Jerry Kane and Mrs. Merlin Wehrer.

It must be pointed out that in

Done at the Irish Capital, Wisner, Nebraska, this 13th day of March in the Year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Seventy-Two.

Omaha's Tom Allen did have a noose around his neck after his "error" in Sunday's Omaha World-Herald. The scene was following the Irish court held Tuesday. From left are defense counsel, Erwin Murray, Tom O'Neill, Mel Murphy, prosecuting attorney, and the judge, the honorable Jerry O'Kane.

Upon estimated the landowners' cost at between $10-$14 per running foot of frontage land, including storm sewers, with some variances arising from other factors, such as benefits derived, land-improvement, death of lots, accessibility, etc.

The engineer would make the suggested assessment schedule after paving is completed and then the council, acting as a board of equalization, would act on his recommendations.

Bonds Reissued

C. William Daly and Co. Investment Brokers of Omaha turned over a check in the amount of $20,000 to the council after 1966 power plant revenue bonds were called in and reissued at a lower interest rate.

The manipulation of funds will result in a savings of $3,000 to the city over a seven-year period.

Fire Chief Cliff Imhelman appeared before the council, asking that it be mandatory that all trailers in courts throughout the city be numbered for immediate identification in case of fire.

Addition was to check the city ordinance to see if there already is a regulation covering this and, if not, to draw up an ordinance to that effect by the next meeting, Mar. 28.

In other council business:

Lieu of Taxes

A check for $3,266.33 from People's Natural Gas was turned over to the city by local Manager Keith Mosley, representing a payment for the first half of 1971 in lieu of taxes. People's Natural Gas, which serves 256 communities in four states, is a division of Northern Natural Gas of Omaha.

Set a public hearing on a liquor license for Scotty's for Mar. 28 at 9 p.m., the application to include retail package liquor and an on sale beer license.

Set to forward to the board of adjustment approval in reference to a request by Merlin Lessman for additional consideration in variance on constructing eight dwelling units in the old Catholic Church. The original plan was for seven units. A public meeting is required before approval.

Received a rejection from the planning commission on a proposed plan in Hagwood Addition, a hearing on that matter to be Apr. 11 at 8:30 p.m.

Pat Gross, R. H. Banister and Keith Mosley were appointed by Mayor Kent Hall to meet with Building Inspector Richard Carlson and City Attorney John Addison for the purpose of drafting some recommendations to the council pertaining to electrical and plumbing codes to be adopted by the city.

Sewer Project

Approved the advertisement of bids for an estimated $16,000 sewer improvements, with the bid-letting date set for Apr. 11. The improvements would be paid from the sewer revenue fund.

Set Apr. 25 at 8:30 for a public hearing on proposed parking restrictions in the southwest quarter of town, an area from Seventh Street south and Main Street west.

Offered to share a yearly cost of $768 with the tourism committee of the Chamber of Commerce in erection of two signs advertising Wayne at the junction of Hwy. 81-98 north of Norfolk. The signs would be 24 feet wide and eight feet high.

Heard a presentation by a representative from Aerodome Industries, Inc. of Wichita, Kan., on a unique type hangar feasible for the Wayne Airport. The hangar, a "lazy-susan" type of building, has a revolving floor, rotated by a three-horsepower, chain-driven electric motor so that any plane would be at the exit by a push of a button. A prototype, in operation the past two years at Wichita, has 12 solid cast steel wheels to move the metal floor.

Received monthly reports from the power plant and police department.

Fainting Caused By Sudden Blood Pressure Drop

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska Medical Association.

Fainting is a temporary loss of consciousness. It is caused by a rapid and great fall in blood pressure resulting in too small a supply of blood to the brain. The fainting person becomes pale, begins to perspire and soon collapses.

If a person feels faint, seat him and lower his head to his knees. If he becomes unconscious, lay him down and slightly raise his feet. Loosen his clothing and give him plenty of room and air.

After consciousness returns, keep him lying quiet for at least 15 minutes. If a faint lasts for more than a few minutes, send for a physician.

If you should find someone lying unconscious, assume he has a possible head injury and avoid moving his head or any part of his body. This safeguard is particularly true if there is bleeding involved in which case you should get help immediately.

(Deloris) Wright of Minden, Mrs. Donald (Glendora) Peterson of Sargent and Mrs. Merle (Sandra) Schepler of Wilcox; three sisters, Mrs. Minnie Schaefer and Bertha Wieting, both of Shawnee Mission, Kan. and Mrs. Erwin (Esther) Still of Long Beach, Calif.; one brother, Norbert Wieting of Delmont, S. D.; 12 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

John Benjamin Funeral Services Set for Today

Funeral services for John Benjamin, 79, of Laurel, are set for 2 p.m. today (Thursday) at the United Presbyterian Church, Laurel. He died Monday.

The Rev. Douglas R. Potter will officiate. Clarence Johnson will sing "How Great Thou Art" and "There Is a Green Hill Far Away," accompanied by Mrs. F. W. McCorquindale. Pallbearers are Wayne Benjamin, Don Benjamin, Earl Benjamin, Lawrence Obermeyer, Ronald Rees and Norman Anderson. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

John Henry Benjamin, son of the deceased, is nephew.

Physicians Tutoring Medical Students

OMAHA—Volunteer teaching by physicians in Nebraska is helping the University of Nebraska Medical Center link a strong program in family practice medicine and in the same time saving taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars in salaries.

A survey of College of Medicine records for 1971 indicates that the value of teaching time provided for medical students by volunteer physicians totaled $690,000.

Dr. Francis Land, chairman of the Department of Family Practice at the University of Nebraska Medical Center, said that volunteer physicians in the department contributed 20,000 hours of free instructional time—equal to nine man years of work based on a 40-hour week, 52 weeks a year.

Dr. Land noted that while the volunteers teach at no cost to the University, the time they take from their own private practices for teaching purposes reduces their income.

In addition, those physicians who are involved in the preceptorship program required of all senior medical students pay the student transportation, board and room during the preceptorship period of four weeks, Dr. Land said.

While the Department of Family Practice accounts for the largest number of volunteers on the faculty and about $300,000 worth of teaching time, 13 other clinical departments also utilize the services of volunteers.

Interim chancellor Dr. Harry W. McFadden said the volunteers in these clinical specialties of medicine provide about $300,000 worth of free teaching time.

He added that while the savings in faculty salaries are important to the University, there is an equally important philosophy of education involved.

Exposure to medical practice through volunteer physicians on the faculty provides students with a better perspective on what practice will be like when they enter it, Dr. McFadden said.

Teaching affiliation agreements which the Medical Center maintains with hospitals in Omaha and outstate Nebraska further the cause of getting students into actual practice situations under the guidance of volunteers, he said.

The teaching agreements were envisioned eight years ago which is why University Hospital was constructed with 265 beds instead of 850. The larger hospital would have been necessary if all teaching was to be done in one place utilizing a complete full-time faculty.

The protein of a 3½-ounce serving of cooked pork (lean and marble) contains all of the essential amino acids necessary to build, maintain and repair the body tissues and to increase its resistance to infection and disease.

Hallmark Founder Once Lived at Norfolk

J.C. (Joyce Clyde) Hall, founder and chairman of the board of Hallmark Cards, world's largest greeting card firm, was born at Norfolk City, Aug. 29, 1891. At 80 years of age he presides over the vast operation from his office in Kansas City.

Accounts of the rise of Hall in the business world may be found in the collections of the Nebraska State Historical Society, of which he is a life member.

The day of his birth a notable Methodist Episcopal Bishop, Isaac W. Jovee, came to town and consequently his mother chose to name her third son Joyce. His older brothers were named Rollie and William. The unusual name, then given most often to girls, proved both an asset and a challenge. The Hall family moved to Norfolk when Joyce was a gangling boy. Hall recalls his first encounter there with kids who questioned his masculinity due to his name.

The first business success came when he was nine years old as a door-to-door perfume salesman. When a few years older he started in a Norfolk book and stationery store that also handled picture postcards which the store owner offered to sell to Hall for resale. At the age of 18 Hall decided he had sold all of the cards he could in Norfolk and decided to move to a bigger town—Omaha.

Omaha might now be headquarters of Hallmark had not young Jovee been given a glowing account by a chance acquaintance of the advantages of Kansas City.

In 1910, Joyce Hall checked into the Y.M.C.A. in Kansas City with shoe boxes filled with greeting cards which he filed under the bed. Within five years Hall's shoe box operation had grown into a manufacturing plant, and today eight million greeting cards and three million non-greeting cards are produced daily. They are published in 12 languages and distributed in more than 100 countries.

The Hallmark staff of more than 350 artists creates more than 12,000 designs annually and the annual sales are more than $300 million with 10,000 employees around the world. British Prime Minister Winston Churchill began a long and lasting association with Hall through Hallmark's purchase of his paintings for reproduction. Sarah Churchill, daughter of Sir Winston, has vacationed at the Hall summer home on Grand Lake in Colorado. Hall has always believed in quality products and quality merchandising and insists on good taste. "When you care enough to send the very best," the slogan that was first heard on radio in 1944, is a tribute to the man whose Horatio Alger-like climb began in Butler County, Nebraska.

Semi-retired since 1966, his son, Donald, is now president of Hallmark.

Onetime Pierce High Superintendent Dies

Funeral services for William Hurley, 48, superintendent of the Hampton school and former superintendent at Pierce, were held Monday afternoon at Hampton. Mr. Hurley died Friday in an Aurora hospital after having suffered a stroke a week earlier.

People Ask Us--

QUESTION: What is the easiest and simplest way to make arrangements for a funeral in advance.

ANSWER: If you would just call our office, we would be happy to explain all necessary arrangements to you, as well as veterans, social security and other benefits that may be available to you. If it becomes apparent that you will need to augment these benefits, we will suggest a trust plan with your bank or insurance which will best accomplish your needs.

Advance arrangements for funeral services take very little time and offer great rewards in peace of mind.

John Cander, Humboldt dairyman, was recognized by the Nebraska Dairymen's Association at Lincoln Wednesday as owner of a herd which has maintained consistently high butterfat production for 25 years.
Cander was among 27 Nebraska dairy herd owners cited by the group during its annual meeting.
The State Dairymen's Association, organized in 1885, in addition to recognition of outstanding herds and individual animals, provides educational materials on research and technology to dairymen and supports youth development through various projects and activities.
Nineteen dairymen, including Maurice Partridge of Stanton, received silver plaques, awarded to owners of official Dairy Herd Improvement Association herds whose production averaged 450 pounds of butterfat for five consecutive years.
In addition to silver plaques and five-year bars, three other types of awards were presented to Nebraska dairymen, based on the following categories of butterfat production:
Gold awards—to owners of herds producing 540 pounds or more; silver awards—to owners of herds producing 495-539 pounds; bronze awards—to owners of herds producing 450 to 494 pounds.
Diane Stelling of Wayne received a gold award. Area dairymen receiving silver awards were Don Kubik of Wayne, Henry and Richard Druke, Leo Knievel and Donald Luebbert of West Point, Maurice Partridge of Stanton, Keith Bartling of Laurel and Gerald Stevens and Eugene Goetsch of Randolph. Bronze awards went to Fred Wantoch and Dreyer Bros. of Stanton.

800-mile 'Garden Patch'

A miniature prototype of what may be the world's largest garden patch is being cultivated earnestly by scientists at the University of Alaska.

Agriculturists there are experimenting with varieties of plant life that can be used to revegetate the tundra after construction of the proposed 800-mile trans-Alaska pipeline from Prudhoe Bay on Alaska's North Slope to the ice-free port of Valdez. The research is being financed by Alteska Pipeline Service Company.

Where practical, the 48-inch pipeline carrying warm crude oil at 100-140 degrees F. will be buried. A two-lane highway also is planned to parallel the line's route. However, construction of such a project could cause erosion problems if the areas disturbed by construction are not reseeded and restored.

And while an enormous wealth of knowledge exists on arctic and sub-arctic botany, scientists were not able to predict what plants, if any, might flourish directly above the buried pipe. So a 600-foot-long pipeline was buried in permafrost at the university's campus near Fairbanks, where simulated tests have been conducted for the past three years. All sorts of plantings were established across the filled trenches.

After two typical growing seasons and two severe winters, many of these plants have shown an ability to go dormant and revive, from spring to autumn the ground now becomes lush with vegetation. Even an area purposely left untreated has been overgrown by surrounding native growth to produce a solid cover over the line.

Based on these experiments and many others conducted by soil scientists elsewhere in the Census Survey Intended to Collect Information on Employment in Area

To obtain current statistics on employment and unemployment the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey here the week of March 20, Walter A. Freeman Jr., director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Denver, announced today.

The survey will include questions on work experience last year, whether persons have moved since the 1970 census, and ethnic origin.

The sample of households in this area taking part in the survey are among 50,000 scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all households in the nation.

The survey is conducted each month for the U. S. Department of Labor. The employment and unemployment statistics are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the country.

For example, recent surveys indicate that employment has advanced strongly since last summer. The December-January rise was 240,000 seasonally adjusted. The jobless rate has remained close to six per cent since late 1970. It was 5.9 in January, compared with 6.6 per cent in December.

Facts supplied by persons participating in the survey are kept strictly confidential by law, and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Interviewers who will visit households in this area are Ruth Koehler and Catherine Mueller.
