"I am very interested in the excellent curriculum modification techniques worked out by the teachers to help each child learn in a way that is the most efficient for him. Qualified Candidates

Wayne area voters have a unique opportunity to support two well qualified local men in the primary election May 9.

very area of work of the post he seeks as a board member for the N.E. Vo-Tech School at Norfolk. There could be no better qualified candidate for the position.

Walter Moller brings a wealth of meaningful experience to the election. His background includes work as a community school board member and he is a past director of the Nebraska State School Boards Association.

Schreiner has great experience and knowledge to help in the guidance of new school. This kind of expertise closely matches the needs of the office. This seldom happens in elections of this type.

He has had experience on the re-organization problem. Moller believes that school re-organization has come a long way but the job is not completed. He is attuned to the problems of re-organization.

Equally important to Wayne is that we have representation on the N.E. Tech Board. The 14 counties that support the school financially have been re-districted because of population and economic shifts.

Moller believes that real estate is bearing the brunt of its ability to support education, but that any new tax structure for school support should maintain some real estate base. He feels this is the best way to maintain local school control.

Dennis Poeschl, current N.E. Tech board president, is from Stanton. He is running for a position on the board as a member-at-large. He is NOT opposing Schreiner. We urge his election because of his record. He has helped guide the school to its present state of excellence.

His lifelong vocation has been in the to elect these men we have to vote for them. To vote for them we have to go to the polls. Basic? Yes. But also important to our community and the youth of Nebraska. Go to the polls Tuesday, May 9.

I Am Sick

am sick of hearing the same slick slogans, the cries of people who must chant the same thing like zombies, because of the sins of my forefathers—when I have looked down both ends of a gun barrel, to defend their rights, their liberties and their families.

There are those who claim ours is a "sick" society; that our country is sick; that we are sick. Well, maybe they are right. I submit that I'm sick, and maybe you are, too.

I am sick of the decline of personal honesty, personal integrity and human sincerity.

I am sick of being told that religion is the opiate of the people, but Marxism should be legalized.

Most of all, though, I am sick of being told I'm sick. I'm sick of being told my country is sick—when we have the greatest nation that man has ever brought forth on the face of the earth.

I am sick of commentators and columnists canonizing anarchists, revolutionaries and criminal rapists, but condemning law enforcement when such criminals are brought to justice.

I am sick of the hearing the same slick slogans, the cries of people who must chant the same thing like zombies, because of the sins of my forefathers—when I have looked down both ends of a gun barrel, to defend their rights, their liberties and their families.

I am sick of being told that pornography is the right of the free press, but freedom of the press does not include being able to read the Bible on school grounds.

I am sick of the hearing the same slick slogans, the cries of people who must chant the same thing like zombies, because of the sins of my forefathers—when I have looked down both ends of a gun barrel, to defend their rights, their liberties and their families.

I am sick of paying more and more taxes to build schools while I see some faculty members encouraging students either to tear them down or burn them.

I am sick of the hearing the same slick slogans, the cries of people who must chant the same thing like zombies, because of the sins of my forefathers—when I have looked down both ends of a gun barrel, to defend their rights, their liberties and their families.

I am sick of pot-smoking entertainers degrading me with their condemnation of my moral standards on late night television.

I am sick of being told that policemen are mad dogs who should not have guns—but that criminals who use guns to rob, maim and murder should be understood and helped back to society.

I am sick of the hearing the same slick slogans, the cries of people who must chant the same thing like zombies, because of the sins of my forefathers—when I have looked down both ends of a gun barrel, to defend their rights, their liberties and their families.

A rural West Point farmer, Henry Popken, 47, is taken to a hospital last Monday afternoon after the tractor he was driving crashed through a guard railing and fell 15 feet into a creek below, pinning him beneath. Popken reportedly was saved from serious injury because of the soft mud into which he and the tractor fell. He was pinned beneath the tractor for about a half hour.

A twisterlike wind struck a farm three miles northeast of West Point Monday evening. The effects were not what would be expected from a straight wind. Ed Bracht, who was in the cow barn milking, suddenly noticed that the wind had a different tone. He heard a "whooshing" and dived under the deck. In an instant the steel roof was lifted from the structure and deposited between the house and big barn. Wires were pulled out, an auger feed system was lifted out of the cow barn and concrete blocks were taken on the place.

formula which declared the property tax inequitable and outlawed it for school purposes. If this happens in Nebraska, we will be relieved of the property tax and will go to a fairer method that of income or incomes-sales for school purposes.

There are other ways of broadening the tax base, and through them most of the other double AA schools have been able to achieve a high valuation per student by either (1) attracting industry such as Millard (60.77 mills), Halsey (61.65 mills), Grand Island (61.50), or (2) consolidation of rural districts around them. Having been naive enough to try to promote consolidation when I first joined the board, I can vouch for the fact that the latter method is not a very popular method among many Wayne rural residents. Again, I feel much of the resistance to consolidation is due to the unfair property tax though some rural residents have other reasons. Industry has eluded Wayne, not because people have not tried to bring it here, but because site and situation are not conducive to good transportation, labor supply, etc.

We expect the Supreme Court ruling on property tax within the year. Until then we must place our eggs in many baskets and our budget critically so that we offer the most effective education for every dollar spent—and I think it important to remember, "The future of America goes to school in Wayne, Nebr. today."

Sincerely,
Dorothy Ley

To The Editor:
The letter from Mrs. Predohl is rather puzzling to me. She pointed out that Alliance, an AA school the Wayne has higher mill levy (79.1) than Wayne (67.59) and then goes on to state that "an interesting sidelight" is that Alliance pays its teachers an average salary that is less than Wayne's. I don't see that as making Alliance a better school system. In fact if I were a taxpayer in Alliance, I would ask, "If we are paying LESS for teachers, who are certainly the most important aspect of the instruction that goes on, why are we paying MORE in total tax?" Especially since I happen to know that Alliance gets quite a bit of categorical federal aid for vocational, drop-out, and rehabilitation programs because of their Indian population.

Mrs. Predohl, who was rather critical I thought at the Tax Forum of Wayne administrators' salaries, might find another interesting sidelight to be that Alliance pays their superintendent $500 more and their elementary principal $2,675 more than Wayne does.

I am getting rather tired of these "interesting sidelights." They do not tell you of teaching excellence, relevant programs, parent-teacher-child involvement and all the other things that make the Wayne schools a great place for my child. I think it is fine to be prudent and watch to see that our tax dollars are spent wisely. I feel the present board has done this. I hope we keep our sights on what the whole thing is about—the education of our children who are each parent's most precious treasure and each state's most important resource.

A Mother

To The Editor:
Would like to give my response to a recent letter to the editor pertaining to "How Do We Evaluate Our Teachers; Only a Beginning." To be sure, it was only a tiny beginning and as far from reality as one dares to divinize.

In the words of U.S. Commissioner of Education Sidney P. Martland, Jr., I would start my evaluation with his words to the teachers: "Are you educating for a purpose? You may think you are, but more than 1.5 million youngsters left school last year with no determinable place to go in society. Not all were dropouts. Nearly one-half were graduates who had received no marketable skills in their 13 years of schooling."

Is this the teachers' fault or the schools' fault or the department of education's fault? Isn't each a part of the other and all built for the same purpose? Then all must shoulder the blame.

Parents, how many of you have sent your bouncy, curious cherub away to kindergarten, and only three years later had a dull-eyed, loud-mouthed, sullen, smart aleck, pushy, sarcastic, matter-of-fact little child return home to you daily? What has happened to the bounce? Where has the inborn curiosity fled away to? I don't say it was openly killed by the teacher, but she allowed it to happen in her room.

Either she, or the peers, or the climate of the school room or a combination of these is to blame. Remember though, it did happen under the supervision of a teacher.

Quoting Dr. Kate Bell, Director of Elementary Reading, Houston, Tex.: "We have been teaching the responsibility for school support is theirs. They further urge that no one is forced to send his children to a parochial school and such a voluntary one should carry with it the attending burdens, and to provide otherwise would constitute an erosion of the principle of separation of church and state."

Dick Knows Me Too

Ross Powers didn't let third-grade classmate Jere Morris get too far ahead of him when it comes to rubbing elbows with the big-wigs. A recent edition carried a feature on Jere getting a signed letter from President Nixon. Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Powers, 513 Oak Drive, did nearly as well, receiving a letter from Michael B. Smith, staff assistant to the president on a White House, Washington, D. C. letterhead. It read: "On behalf of the President I want to thank you for your recent letter. He is always pleased to hear from his young friends and wanted you to have the enclosed booklet which he thought you might enjoy. It comes to you with the President's best wishes." Ross said Jere's letter concerned Nixon's trip to China. "Mine was more of a personal letter," he said, keeping the contents like he said — personal.

Re-elect BRANDT and LEY

Quality education is an investment in a quality community, helping it grow and become a place where people are proud to work and live and raise their children . . . a place where young and old alike still have the pioneer spirit enough to care about what happens to the next generation.

That's one good reason to re-elect Irv Brandt and Dorothy Ley to the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education May 9. There are lots of other good reasons, too.

That's Why We Are Supporting Brandt and Ley at the Polls Tuesday, May 9.

Baggage Your Problem?

Luggage is soft and hard, varies in price and is in a beautiful array of sizes, colors and patterns. Properly chosen, your luggage may be used proudly for years and serve you well. Here are some of your choices:

Soft-side luggage - generally known as airplane luggage - is lightweight. Its soft sides are of woven fabric, nylon, or a combination of vinyl over fabric and synthetics stretched over a lightweight metal frame.

Although light in weight and a little less expensive than other types, softside luggage is the least durable. If you need a large suitcase and must carry it yourself very much, a soft-side would be a good purchase. Be careful of punctures and tears, though.

Hard-side luggage is a rigid box. It is constructed from wood panels and is covered with leather or a leather-look vinyl. This type of suitcase is durable, but heavier than the softside.

Molded plastic or fiber glass over a lightweight aluminum or magnesium frame makes still another type of luggage. It is slightly heavier than soft-side luggage but is extremely durable. It cannot be punctured or broken. Be prepared to pay a higher price for it, though.

Whatever type of luggage you prefer, select luggage with a scuff-resistant, stain-resistant, washable exterior.

Check the bindings for secure double-stitching. Bindings should be welted on all edges to act as a soft protective cushion.

Check handles, hinges and locks to be sure they are strong and function smoothly.

If you plan to do quite a bit of air travel, keep in mind that most airlines are interested in how large your suitcases are, not how much they weigh.

One airline company offers these guidelines. The company allows you one big bag, one medium bag, and one carry-on bag before charging a baggage fee.

The largest bag can measure up to 62 inches total. This figure represents the bag's length added to its height added to its width. The medium bag using the same formula, may measure up to 55 inches. Carry-on bags are usually limited to 45-49 inches, with a height limitation of 10 inches.

A Wakefield player slides safely into second in an effort to put his team ahead. But the Wayne Club managed to edge the Trojans 2-1 in eight innings.

Wayne Squeeks by Trojans 2-1, to Make Record 7-2

The Wayne Hill ball club managed to squeek out their second extra inning contest Friday over Wakefield, 2-1, in eight innings at home, making their final record of the season, 7-2.

Wakefield opened the scoring drive in the second inning when shortstop Kevin Peters hit a booming triple to centerfield and scored on Centerfielder Soderberg's hit single. Wayne then came back in their half of the second inning to tie the game when Roger Saul took charge on the mound after the Trojans first run to throw a five hitter, striking out seven and walking three while running his win-loss record to 2-0 for the season.

Wayne threatened in both the fourth and seventh innings but two Wakefield double plays eliminated the scoring opportunities.

In the last of the eighth, Saul opened with a single, followed by Mike Ginn's hit. Roland then hit a sharp single to centerfield to load the bases.

Cook got on base via a fielder's choice which set the stage for Randy Nelson's bunt single scoring Ginn to end the contest, 2-1.

Ginn and Saul each had two hits in four times at bat as Saul ended the regular season play with a healthy .462 batting average followed by Ginn's .385.

In a glance at the final statistics, Terry Peiffer leads his team in home runs and RBIs with two homers and 10 men pushed across the plate.

Overall, Wayne had 58 runs during the season while their opponents tallied 20.

Next week the Blue Devils will enter district play in pursuit of their fifth straight district trophy championships as they will face the winner of the Homer-Ponca game, 1 p.m., Thursday. Homer and Ponca will battle it off, beginning at 1 p.m., Tuesday followed by the Wakefield-Handolph contest at 3 p.m.

In a Wednesday game at Dodge, the home team blanked Wayne 1-0.

Dodge pitcher Larry Elkmeler speared his team to victory as he pitched a two-hitter and drove in the only run to average a 5-4 loss to Wayne in the team's first meeting.

In the sixth inning, Dodge second baseman Dale Kampscneider opened with a single, followed by a walk to right fielder Chad Emanuel. The next two hitters were put out but left fielder Gary Kroenke received a free pass to load the bases, leaving Elkmeler up to bat. He then drove in the only run with a single to center field.

The Blue Devils threatened in the top of the seventh when pitcher Mike Ginn and first baseman Charles Roland walked. Things began to look good for the Blue Devils when Dodge catcher Glen Elkmeler erred, allowing both runners to advance to second and third.

But Elkmeler put out the fire as he struck out the next two batters while Ginn was put out on an attempted theft of home.

Wayne Shuts Out Peru, 9-0, 11-0 in Conference Action

Tight pitching and wholesale hitting Friday boosted Wayne State to an 18-8 baseball record with a pair of shutouts over Peru State, 9-0 and 11-0.

Greg Kamp, an Omaha Benson product, hurled his second straight one-hitter in the opener and sliced his earned run average to .71. He hit his record to 5-1, and he also raised his batting average to .437 with one single in two trips to the plate.

George Jones, another Benson graduate, got the opener off handily with a leadoff homerun, then added a third-inning double to score the third run of the frame after Ray Miller smashed a two-run homer. The second inning produced four runs for Wayne on four singles and three sacrifices. Wayne totaled 10 hits. Ron Nelson, Wausa, gained his fourth win against one loss with a four-hitter in the nightcap. He got plenty of help from Wildcat bats—10 hits again, including two for three by John Ege of Sioux City, who also has two for three in the opener. Nelson trimmed his ERA to a 1.0.

Seven Hying, Granville, Ia., third baseman who leads Wayne hitting, poked a third-inning grand slam after catcher Ray Nelson of Sioux City hit a two-run homer, giving the Cats an 11-0 lead. This stood up to end the game in five innings.

Wayne is now 4-0 in Nebraska College Conference action, while Peru finished NCC play at 1-5 and a season mark of 9-12.

Wakefield, Leigh Split Baseball Doubleheader

The Wakefield Trojans split a doubleheader Thursday at home dropping the first contest, 4-2, to Leigh and bouncing back, 3-1, in the last game.

The Trojans, who evened their record at 4-4, piled up five errors in the first match that helped Leigh score his first run in the first inning and go on to win the game, 4-2.

Wakefield's Peters pitched the entire seven innings to make his record 1-1 with an ERA of 1.63.

In the second game, that only went five innings, Leigh which has a 6-1 record, was on the short end of the baseball stick as the Trojans came back with three runs off of five hits to edge the visitor, 3-1.

Wakefield pitcher Bob Twite got the win, pushing his record to 2-2, as he came in to relieve starting pitcher Mike Barke. Twite has a 1.64 ERA.

The semifinals Saturday were scheduled to match Midland against INO and Wayne against Kearney. The losers were to clash for third place at 1:30 p.m., followed by the winners going for the championship. Both finalists will be eligible for the Women's College World Series next month in Omaha.

to what has been termed by President Nixon as national disgrace—the enormous number of intelligent youngsters who do not learn to read adequately. Nationally this number is put at 20 percent.

Project Director Richard Metter announced that the application for a continuation of the project next year was made this week and made this comment: "I think this is a good time to clear up some fears that citizens have expressed that once federal aid is phased out of this project, an enormous load will be placed upon local taxpayers to pay for an expensive program.

"Nothing could be further from the truth, but it is easy to see with large federal monies involved how the fears arose. The large amount of federal aid has been given to design the project. Once designed, reviewed, and refined, this project will not only benefit children greatly but will save the taxpayer money because we will have developed a program which does the job more effectively and efficiently than we have been able to do before.

"Long before President Nixon challenged the nation to solve its disgraceful reading problems by 1980, educators and community leaders in District 17 realized that if solutions were to come, they must come within the regular classroom. The 15-20 percent of intelligent youngsters who are falling through the regular curriculum all over the country represent too sizeable a group to be singled out for special small groups or individual tutoring, a very expensive method.

"What the Wayne-Carroll district has done in Project Success has been to take the language therapists, who were already be-

Wayne State pitchers Charlie Solano and Kevin Peters spun a pair of shutouts and lowered their earned run averages with 2-0 and 4-0 decisions over the University of South Dakota Wednesday at Vermillion.

Solano, a junior from Sidney, gave up only two hits in the opener, a scoreless contest until Wayne rightfielder Jack Shupe of Redford, Ia., slammed a two-run single in the sixth, thus padding his reputation for clutch hitting.

The shutout reduced Solano's ERA to 2.67. It has dropped steadily of late after some early season lapses in control. A week earlier he shot a one-hitter in ing paid by the district for small group remedial work, and try a new approach—in Project Success they are in the classrooms training teachers in the new methods that are best geared to the learning style of children who have potential learning problems.

"The perceptual motor program developed by Don Koenig is attracting a great deal of attention from physical education experts because, once the program is designed, it simply becomes a replacement for a regular PE program that the child would get anyway and so no added expense to a school. Actually it is a saving because the child is getting a program geared to his learning differences to help him become more efficient in the school setting.

"We are very excited about one new position called the curriculum modifier, and every parent of an elementary school child should be excited about it, too; for the excellent learning techniques that Mrs. Jean Owens and the classroom teachers are working out cooperatively are aiding the learning of all children.

"Already in this one year we have seen that the teamwork which she spearheads results in fewer failures. Every time a child falls and has to repeat a grade it costs the child in loss of self respect and it costs the taxpayer over $700. If the curriculum modifier can help prevent the failure of just a few students she has more than replaced her salary of $3,543.

"We have visitors now from all over Nebraska," Metter continued. "We'd certainly like to issue a general invitation to all interested citizens in the Wayne-Carroll community to visit the project. They'll be impressed, I'm sure, with the excellent equipment that we have received as a result of the grant, equipment that will be ours permanently, saving the district money for years to come.

"But I hope that they will be more impressed because they see a happy school where students are learning and teachers are a team, all helping to develop a program that becomes more and more effective as they work together. We have had some local visitors who have been so impressed that they want to become volunteer aides next year in one of the three areas: language training, perceptual motor, and curriculum modification. We welcome such participation as another economy measure."

Thone Says Pension Reform Needed

"Legislation to reform handling of pensions is necessary to assure fair treatment of employees," Charles Thone, Nebraska's First District congressman, believes. "I believe legislation for this purpose will be passed by Congress in 1972.

"One aspect of the pension problem would be improved by the Private Pension Transfer Act, H. R. 14470, which I have introduced with Representative John Anderson, (R., Ill). The bill would remove the unfair tax levied on pension credits when an employee moves from one job to another.

"My bill provides that if an employee changes jobs and collects money from his former employer's pension fund, the employee will owe no federal tax on the money if he invests it in a new pension fund. Our tax laws now provide that the taxpayer doesn't have to pay taxes on money from sale of a home if he reinvests the funds in a new home. It is even more important that the principle be applied to pension funds.

"Other pension reform measures have my support. Some companies have pension systems where the money paid into the fund never belongs to individual employees until they retire. Such a system provides a strong incentive to employers to fire their workers when they are close to retirement age.

"Congress, I believe, must provide minimum standards for vesting of pension benefits. When an individual has vested rights in a pension fund, the retirement money deposited in his account becomes his property over a period of years. After 10 years of employment, an employee should have full rights to his pension money, even if he quits or is fired, in my opinion.

"There is a need to provide some sort of insurance so that thousands of workers will not be left without pensions if the firms that employ them go bankrupt.

"When more strict rules also covering the handling of pension fund moneys by companies, by unions and by joint employer-employee committees. Swindling of pension funds seems to me to

ETV Spotlight Put on 'By-Gone Days'

Midwesterners will recall bygone days this week when the Nebraska ETV Network premieres a new series about America during the 1940's.

The series, entitled "Playhouse New York—The '40's," Monday at 7 p.m. Loring Mandel's stirring drama about nuclear scientists developing the atomic bomb will be presented on the "PBS Special of the Week."

Noted actor Stacy Keach stars as a brilliant atomic physicist who has been given unutilized funds for his research. Driven by the opportunity, the physicist over-looks any moral consequences as he strives to invent the bomb.

After the bomb has been dropped, he realizes his responsibility, refuses to cooperate on future endeavors and finds himself under a government security investigation.

Public television viewers will look at the lighter side of the '40's Thursday at 7:30 p.m. when "Playhouse New York—The '40's" presents "The Great Radio Comedians."

Charlie McCarthy, that sparkling Irish dummy whose barbs provoked tears of laughter from thousands of Americans, recalls highlights of his extensive radio career with his partner, Edgar Bergen. Also appearing on the program will be Jack Benny, George Burns, and Jim "Fibber" McGee's Jordan.

Returning to 1972, Nebraska ETV Network viewers will find three programs of particular interest to midwesterners this week.

On Tuesday at 6:30 p.m., the network will present a videotape of a speech Art Linkletter presented in Nebraska earlier this spring. He discussed today's drug problems with 2500 Grand Island High School students.

Linkletter explained that he thought he knew something about the use and abuse of drugs until his daughter jumped to her death during a flashback from an earlier LSD experience. He called drug abuse a "people problem" that can be fought effectively through education, law enforcement and parental responsibility.

Following the talk at 7:30 p.m. "The Advocates" will debate a topic of special concern to farmers caught in the present controversy between environmental protection and pesticides. They will look at both sides of the question: "Should the United States ban the sale and manufacture of DDT?"

On Thursday at 10:30 p.m., the Nebraska ETV Network will pay tribute to the late Marj Sandoz on the anniversary of her birthday. It will rebroadcast a program featuring Miss Sandoz in a discussion of her writing and providing a glimpse into the mind of one of Nebraska's most important writers.

at almost as bad as robbing a church.

"Finally, we need legislation that would allow tax-deductions for individuals who put some of their earnings into savings for their retirement.

"All of this pension reform legislation is needed, I believe. A recent congressional study of 36 non-governmental pension plans covering nearly 3 million workers indicated that only 8 percent of those covered over a 20-year period actually drew benefits. Many of these, of course, moved on after only a short period of time. For those who put years of work in for an employer, however, there should be vested rights for pension upon retirement.

"Henry F. Amiel said that retirement is 'one of the most difficult chapters in the great art of living.' Our society must do more to make the lives of senior citizens more rewarding."

YOUR BEST SECOND CHOICE FOR YOUR WAYNE-CARROLL SCHOOL BOARD

LOWER TAXES — BETTER SCHOOLS

My fellow Americans—Education is my business, so I am deeply concerned with both quality of instruction and the taxpayers' ability to pay.

This rural area cannot afford elementary teacher and principal, high school teacher, guidance counselor, superintendent of schools, head of a college department of education and psychology, director of student teaching, placement, certification, and other related positions.

My relatives have been farmers, home owners, businessmen, church builders and students in the Wayne-Carroll area for over 50 years (the Wright family), so the fruitful outcomes and current problems are not totally unknown.

The tax burden is far too heavy for farmers, people on low incomes and the hard working middlemen who all are trying to keep their heads above water in times of high prices.

There's a time to go forward and a time to retreat, perhaps we're "living too high on the hog" in our schools, considering the ability to pay in this area is quite conservative.

We all want good schools and teachers, but there is a limit, perhaps our philosophy, goals and objectives need revision so that our tax dollars are meeting the basic needs in education. This rural area cannot afford private lessons at public expense. We cannot afford special programs that our Education Service Unit is intended to serve. Our students need discipline, moral and ethical values taught. And an intramural program that keeps them off the streets, physically fit and socially ready for tomorrow's responsibilities.

Think about this—John D. Parr.

We know no potential industries have been "rejected."

Answers in the affirmative were given to questions regarding (1) have councilmen ever attended your meetings, (2) are there traffic studies and one-way street proposals under the jurisdiction of the planning commission. The latter was qualified with "the planners would make a study and report those findings to the council."

Negative replies were given to questions pertaining to (1) is any action being considered on parking in the downtown district, (2) any plans to update the comprehensive program to expand multiple housing zoning and approve more density housing, (3) can the planning commission get along without a consultant engineer even with an updated comprehensive plan.

The latter question referred to Dick Wozniak and Associates of Fremont, which is the local consultant in comprehensive planning and keeps in touch with the city and the planning commission.

Expanding on this subject, Mordhorst and Manes told the group that the consultant has brought to our attention some problems we were not fully aware of and constantly refer to the manual on things we may have forgotten.

Through constant communications, they said, Wozniak and Associates "really have a grasp on the situation and are aware of our problems."

Wes Pfleger was chairman for the two-hour meeting. Bob Vokac reported on surveys made including the issues of an assistant administrator, airport hangars, primary treatment plant and new industry.

The group will not meet next week because of election and many other activities, but will elect a board of directors at the Thursday, May 18 meeting at City Auditorium. Announcement will be made later as to plans for a group or individuals scheduled to address the Taxpayers Forum.
