

Gibson's Wayne Store Will Employ 25-35 at the Start

W. R. (Bill) Potter, operations manager for Pamida, Inc. of Omaha, which will begin construction of a new Gibson Discount Center here in the near future, told The Herald that the store will employ between 25 and 35 local persons at the start.

The Gibson stores are operated under a franchise agreement with the parent Gibson firm located at Scottville, Tex. At present there are approximately 550 stores in 32 states, all under the name of Gibson.

The first store was opened in Texas in 1958 and the organization now ranks as the second largest discount store in the United States.

The main offices of Pamida, Inc. are located at Omaha, with a warehouse-office building serving as the central facility for its 150 stores in a 10-state Midwest area. The first Pamida-owned Gibson store was opened at Knoxville, Ia., in November of 1963, followed later the same month by a second store at Oskaloosa, Ia.

Since then the company has opened between 20 and 25 stores each year and now holds the largest number of franchises under one ownership.

The Wayne store will be the 11th in the state of Nebraska—others located at Falls City, Lincoln, Grand Island, Norfolk, Nebraska City, Beatrice, York and Blair.

The estimated 30 departments in the Wayne store will carry more than 20,000 items displayed in an area of 27,000 square feet.

The grand opening for the new store, which will be located on East Seventh, fronting on Dearborn, will be announced later, Pamida officials said.

Moonlight Madness

Larry DeForge, manager of the Gamble Store in Wayne, likely would not attract the eyes of beauty contest judges in this getup, but he received special recognition from the judges during the 1971 Moonlight Madness Sale in Wayne, which will be repeated Tuesday night in many of the local stores, with clerks apt to be dressed in some far-out garb.

100-year-old Doll in Collection Most Popular Grandmother in Town

By Brenda Gustafson

When Mrs. Clarence (Flois) Wilson of Allen names "Oh, You Beautiful Doll," she has to be thinking in the plural.

Although Mrs. Wilson does not have an exact count of her dolls, her collection will fill two tables and a couch, with enough dolls left over to line the tables along the floor. And that's without unpacking the last box!

Mrs. Wilson started her collection with her own doll, "I guess it tells something about my age when I say that this doll is over 90 years old," said Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. Wilson's doll has a bisque head, as did most French or German-made dolls of this age.

Sentimental Favorites

Other sentimental favorites are a pair of apple-head dolls, made by the Wilson's granddaughter of Aurora, Colo., and the Twin Spinners.

The apple-head dolls are a little old flower lady and a little old man playing a dulcimer. The Twin Spinners are just exactly that—two handmade, cloth "spinners" complete with baskets and canes, made exactly alike.

Mrs. Wilson's oldest doll, a Mary Todd Lincoln, is over 100 years old. The Mary Todd Lincoln is so called because of her hair, style and dress. She has a china head and china arms and legs. Her china legs are quite full, putting her in the group of dolls called "fat-legged."

Dolls of this era have china heads, cloth or leather bodies, and either a china or leather arms and legs, according to Mrs. Wilson.

Even a Barbie

The newest or "youngest" doll in the collection is a Barbie. The smallest doll in the collection is just a little over one inch long.

Four Rose O'Neill Kewpie dolls grace the Wilson collection.

Rose O'Neill Kewpies are set apart from others by their facial expressions of wonder and innocence, tiny blue wings high on the shoulders, and a tuft of hair on the top of the head. They are always bare.

Kewpies may be made of almost any material. Mrs. Wilson's are made of china, rubber and soap.

A Dream Baby and a Schoenbut are among the valuable dolls in Mrs. Wilson's collection.

The Dream Baby is so named because of its baby-doll head. Schoenbut is a company name. Schoenbutts are wooden dolls, distinguished by spring joints in the dolls' elbows, knees, wrists and ankles.

"Frozen Charlottes are the dolls I care for the least," said Mrs. Wilson, picking up one of the several in her collection.

Frozen Charlottes are so named because of their rigidity; they may be in a lying or sitting position, but never change; as they are always made of inflexible materials and without movable joints.

Wayne Schools Receive AA Accreditation

The Wayne-Carroll Public School has been placed on the list of Class AA accredited schools for the ensuing year, July 1, 1972, to June 30, 1973, by the State Board of Education upon the recommendation of the State Accreditation Committee.

Supt. Francis R. Haun was informed of the accreditation as a result of a June 9 meeting at Lincoln.

Mel Olson, administrator, Section of School Administrative Services, told Supt. Haun in a letter "that because your school system again is recognized as an AA Accredited System, other school systems in the state will be looking to you for the educational leadership which AA classification indicates."

"The AA classification guidelines recently adopted provide you with some direction as you work toward developing exemplary programs and yet at the same time you are not bound by these guidelines to follow a specific pattern."

"You should feel a freedom to innovate when the changes which you propose can result in better educational opportunity for the children in your system."

Mrs. Flois Wilson of Allen holds the sentimental favorite of her doll collection — her own doll. To her right are foreign dolls, many of which were given to her by former 4-H club members following overseas tours of duty in the service.

Farm Workers Leg Amputated After Accident

Larry Laws, 24-year-old farm worker employed at the Lane Marotz farm near Hoskins, had surgery for removal of his leg Tuesday after it became entangled in a power take-off while unloading hay in a pit silo.

Laws was taken to Hoskins by a fellow worker, Orville Bronckmeier, and then taken by the Hoskins Rescue Squad to a Norfolk hospital, where the badly-mangled leg had to be amputated above the knee.

Mrs. Marotz told The Herald that the exact circumstances surrounding the accident were unknown.

Laws, his wife and 16-month-old son live on the Marotz farm. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bazyn of Norfolk.

Dog Daze

What is summertime? It's little boys and dogs running through fields, spotted with golden dandelions. And of course, a nap behind the summer shade trees with your pup. Michael Ruwe, 8, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marian Ruwe, Route 2, Wayne, and his 1 1/2-year-old Border Collie, "Snoopy," take advantage of the warm sun rays as they play in the tall grass near home.

Marotz Promoted By Fire Department

Fireman Lon Marotz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Marotz of Hoskins, has been appointed lieutenant of the Norfolk Fire Department, effective July 6.

Marotz will succeed Lt. Don Luebel, who is retiring after 21 years of service. Marotz has been a fireman for the past five years in Norfolk.

Bids Being Taken For School Storage

A notice to bidders appears in the legal section of today's issue of The Herald, calling for sealed bids on labor and material for a storage building north of West Elementary School.

Bids on two proposals are being requested, Plan A for a 32 by 40-foot steel building with 14-foot eaves and, Plan B for a 36 by 24-foot garage type steel building with eight-foot eaves.

Bids will be received until 8 p.m. Monday, July 3, at the office of the superintendent of schools at Wayne High.

Osmond Man Killed In Car-Truck Crash

Mervin Wilson, 62, of Osmond was killed Wednesday night around 11:20 when his car and a semi-trailer truck, driven by Dennis Grave of Hartford, S. D., collided head-on a mile west of South Sioux City on Highway 20.

The trucker was treated for injuries at a Sioux City hospital and released.

Nos. 1 - 75 May Be Drafted in August

Lee Liggett, Nebraska State Director of Selective Service, has received instructions from the national office that all prime draft candidates with lottery numbers one through 75 will be called for induction during August.

Men attending summer school who receive induction orders may have their induction postponed until the end of the summer session.

Local Kiwanis Club First in District 4

The Wayne Kiwanis Club has been rated first in District 4 in community participation, attendance and increase in membership.

District 4 includes eastern Nebraska and northwest Iowa.

Albion ranked second and Sioux City, third.

Cancer Crusade Total Higher Than '71

Workers for the 1972 rural Wayne County Cancer Crusade have finished tabulating their reports. Mrs. Lester Hanson, rural chairman, stated that a total of $1,074.13 was collected, as compared to $1,029.41 for 1971.

Reports were delayed in some areas because of inclement weather, but most of the workers men in which they are enrolled, unless such sessions end before their scheduled induction date.

The August induction orders will be mailed beginning on July 3. Men will be given at least 30 days notice of their induction.

Liggett stated the instruction from Acting Director Hyron Peppone primarily affects men who are members of the 1972 First Priority Selection Group, which is composed of registrants in Classes 1-A, 1-A-0 and 1-O who were born in 1952. A small number of older men also will be issued orders for August inductions. These are men who recently have lost deferments or whose initial postponements of induction expire during the month.

Dr. Carl Rump and Mrs. Max Lundstrom, Wayne, study a map and visit about their forthcoming trips for the July 10 solar eclipse. Lundstrom will be going to Prince Edward Island to view the phenomenon and Dr. Rump will be near the Arctic Circle.

Skirley Temple, Charlie McCarthy and Jackie Coogan are "famous persons" dolls in Mrs. Wilson's collection. Advertising dolls in the collection are the Lee Overalls boy, Buster Brown, the Jolly Green Giant and the Campbell Soup girl.

Other types of dolls included are: nested, pin cushion, bed, pipe cleaner, two-faced and piano.

Mrs. Wilson owns dolls from the following foreign lands: Greece, Denmark, Italy, France, Holland, Japan, Spain, China, the Barbados, Labrador, Luxembourg, Jamaica, Pakistan, Guatemala, Mexico and Bali.

Many of these foreign dolls were gifts to Mrs. Wilson from former 4-H club members.

"I helped with 4-H for many years," said Mrs. Wilson. "Later, when the boys had been stationed overseas, some would bring me back a doll."

The list of materials from which dolls have been made seems endless.

In Mrs. Wilson's collection are dolls of china, bisque, cloth, leather, clay, soap, wood, clothes

Wayne Residents to See Solar Eclipse

Two Wayne residents, Dr. Carl Rump, director of the Wayne State College Planetarium, and Mrs. Max Lundstrom, are busy preparing for July 10 tours which will enable them to view the astronomical phenomenon of a solar eclipse.

Solar eclipses can take place several times per year, but are visible from only a small strip of land each time. The eclipse occurs when the moon's shadow passes between the sun and the earth. Because of the opportunity to gather solar data which is available at no other time, astronomers from all over the world assemble at various points for study.

Mrs. Lundstrom, who picked up her interest in astronomy from her father, also an avid fan, will be leaving July 5 from Omaha for Prince Edward Island, where she will join the 25- or 30-member tour sponsored by the Smithsonian Institution. The tour is to be conducted by Dr. Donald Menzies, former head of the Harvard Astronomy Department.

Mrs. Lundstrom learned of the trip from the "Smithsonian Magazine." Literature she received assured her that she need have no technical qualifications in order to participate. Correspondence followed, however, asking if she had any experience in documentation, instrumentation, photography, cartography, etc., which made her a bit skeptical. Finally, at the bottom of the list she found an area where she had indeed had experience and boldly checked "camping" and "cooking."

Another questionnaire asked what personal equipment Mrs. Lundstrom would be taking with her on the trip. "Somehow, I don't think my Sony 135 camera is going to impress them at all," she said. Mrs. Lundstrom took one class in astronomy at the University of Kansas where she received her degree.

Dr. Rump, who will be accompanied by his wife, Elaine, will be starting out July 3 on a trip which will bring them to the Arctic Circle for a study tour sponsored by the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada. Dr. Rump said his wife's primary interest in the trip was to see the Tundra, "and of course I'm looking forward to that too," he added.

Dr. Rump hopes to incorporate pictures taken during the eclipse into a program for the WSC Planetarium. He will be using a single lens reflex camera attached to a telescope with a three-inch refractor with which to capture as much of the phenomenon as possible.

The eclipse, from Rump's point of view, will be visible for a minute and two seconds. Mrs. Lundstrom's area will be exposed about three minutes. The areas picked for the various study tours are so chosen because of the record for suitable weather conditions. Said Mrs. Lundstrom, "If it's cloudy, the whole trip will be lost."

Among other things, Mrs. Lundstrom and Dr. Rump look forward to viewing Bailey's Beads, a diamond ring-like apparition which appears near the end of the eclipse as the moon is just about to cover the sun and the light shines through the mountain ridges of the moon.

Recordings Arrive

Recordings made the past year by the Wayne High School Band and the Stage Band have arrived and may be picked up at the high school band office any weekday, according to Ron Dalton, band instructor.

Advance sales were made for the recordings.

Thefts Reported At Wayne Homes

Thefts at two Wayne residences, in a 19-minute time span, were reported to City Police Thursday.

Mrs. C. D. McCullough of 516 Nebraska notified authorities at 11:53 a.m. that a diamond ring and $21 in cash were missing from her home.

Just 19 minutes later, at 12:12 p.m., Mrs. Florence Meyer of 204 Douglas told Wayne police that someone had entered her home while she was visiting a neighbor and stole about $16.

Odd 'Entertainment'

Parents, where is your boy going to practice marksmanship with his BB-gun? Hopefully, not at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

But, obviously, there are a number of persons who are.

Marlyn Koch, recently-appointed Wayne County Fair Board secretary, contacted The Herald a few days ago and asked if the editor would like to take a "non-sensical" tour of the grounds with his camera.

We did, and we could hardly believe what we saw.

Few, if any, buildings on the grounds had escaped being the target for BB-gunners. There was senseless vandalism in others, not connected with those testing their shooting eyes.

Koch said he had no idea as yet as to the number of windows shot out in the 4-H building, agricultural display building and others—some of which had been targets over the past years, but many of which had been replaced recently, only to be shot out again.

In at least a couple of cases, persons being on the grounds without authorization could be charged with much more than trespassing, a misdemeanor.

In the restroom areas and at a storage building, entry was made despite padlocked doors, which constitutes forcible breaking and entering, looked upon by law enforcement officials as a felony, punishable by a large fine and a possible jail sentence.

In the building housing restrooms, a window was broken out to gain entry and a large rock had been used to smash the toilet facilities into hundreds of pieces.

A tractor, used for maintenance on the grounds, and an antique car, driven in parades, during the fair, etc., are kept in a storage building.

Lights were shot out of the tractor and BB-holes ruined the windshield of the antique car.

This building, too, had been protected by a padlock, but the door had been forced open far enough from the opposite end to allow even an adult-sized person to squeeze through.

With the Wayne County Fair coming up Aug. 3-5, it is highly unlikely that the damage caused by vandals will be completely repaired.

These senseless acts of vandalism doubtlessly have prevented the Fairgrounds from being able to "put on her best dress" for the annual occasion.

Senseless Vandalism

These are some of the sickening sights that confronted Marlyn Koch recently when he checked the buildings at the Wayne County Fairgrounds. The upper photo shows a toilet stool and bowl smashed by a large rock in one of the restrooms, while the bottom picture shows BB holes shot through a windshield of an old car used in parades, which was locked up in a storage building.

Print to Fit?

A cartoon strip called "Tumbleweeds" had an interesting message to its readers.

The cartoon started out with an editor saying "Hi the streets, Percy! Get out there and sell newspapers! The public craves NEWS!"

Percy, the paperboy, just stood there with his eyes rolling to the top of his head.

"Remember the motto," the mustached editor said, "of the Desert Denouncer: 'All the news that's print to fit!'"

"Uh... print to fit?" the boy questioned.

"The page, boy, the page! You get too much news on the page it slips over the edges! Too little news is waste paper! The news has gotta fit the page! (Ya followin' me, boy?)"

At first the cartoon talks about the public craving news. This statement is not wrong. Most of us want to know what is going on in the news, both concerning our future and the future of the world.

But the point the cartoon is trying to make is that not all the news that happens around the world during each day can be printed.

The reason is limited space.

The cartoon reverses the New York Times' slogan of "all that's fit to print," and applies it to all newspapers.

Perhaps the cartoon is telling its readers that newspapers are not living up to the motto of the Times and printing all the news.

The answer to that problem lies with each editor and his newspaper.

What the cartoon should point out is the heavy responsibility of all newspapers to pick and choose the most important news items for each edition. We all have to make choices, which doesn't change the situation between the editor and that of John Q. Public. Except that the editor has to make them more often and more quickly than most people.

One fact that goes through the minds of most editors is news relevance and timeliness.

If the news is local then it is worth mentioning because of public interest. Also if the event or news is appropriate to the present or new future time, it must be reported.

The list could go on and on including do's and don'ts about choosing news copy and pick each one that deserves the best part of the newspaper—that section which draws more readership.

The mustached editor was right about one thing. The public does crave news. Our job is to try to fulfill that craving.

Weekly Cleanings

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

An almost forgotten graveyard south of Wisner was uncovered and cleaned this past weekend by several Omaha area Boy Scouts. The boys, accompanied by Marv Schleider, formerly of Beemer, and Jerry Norris, camped overnight on the Herman Heilmann farm south and west of Wisner. The old graveyard contained about five graves which were nearly covered by dense undergrowth in a grove of trees.

The Ray Severson family, Emerson, received a call recently from their son, Larry, who is stationed at the air base near Rapid City, that he was safe and well. He had been in Rapid City the night of the flood but left when the water began to rise. The Air Force is helping with clean-up. Airman Severson and a buddy had found three bodies just before he had called home.

An anticipated progress schedule for the new K-12 Harbington School building indicates that the structure will be completed by July, 1978.

Chief of Police Leonard Scharten, West Point, suggested to local residents that they know who they are giving money to when solicitations are being made. The statement arose because a group indicating they were members of Full Gospel Army, Live Oak, Fla., was in West Point collecting money for flood victims at Rapid City. Chief Scharten said a check showed there was a legitimate Full Gospel Army organization in Florida. However, he asked the group, traveling in a 1972 car rented in Omaha, to move on and they did.

Pierce Boy Scouts will discontinue picking up old newspapers, according to Scoutmaster Steve Sandell. He said paper cannot be disposed of to the processor until six tons are available and suitable storage cannot be located.

Nancy Hohenstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hohenstein, Ponca, recently attended the Junior National Association for the Deaf at Rochester, N. Y. She was selected as Youth of the Year and received first place for the best essay. The honor is awarded on the basis of high school activities, scholastic grades, leadership and personality. She also received third place trophy for Miss Jr. NAD.

Two Nebraskans, Bruce Lühr and Gerale Johnson, Wakefield, are fingerprint technicians with the FBI's Identification Division in Washington. Just 18, both Lühr and Johnson graduated from Wakefield High School. They decided to join the FBI after hearing an agent speak to their senior class during a "career days" program. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lühr, Wakefield.

A unique new business had its grand opening last week in Oakland—The Wee Care Day Center is a dream come true for its proprietor Mrs. Dorothy Magnuson. The new center, with 24-hour service for the small fry, from infancy to age 13, is located on Oakland's Main Street.

The work of grading the site for Madison's new pork plant began last week. First building scheduled to be done will be the stockyards and scale house.

Debbie Woodford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Woodford, Ponca, took top honors at the Little Britches (Hoden in Movie), June 10-11. Debbie won a second place belt buckle in pole bending and a third place belt buckle in barrel racing to earn the Junior Girls' All-Around Trophy. Two other Ponca youths, Jim Sharp and Kevin Kasting, won first and third place buckles, respectively, in the flag race event.

Efforts to find a new water well for the village of Beemer moved one step closer last week when workmen finished drilling. Four sites were selected for test holes, with three panning out with suitable water supplies, at least temporarily.

Rod Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith, Coleridge, escaped serious injury last Tuesday afternoon when the tractor which he was driving rolled over. The tractor rolled off a pile of chopped hay piling Smith to the seat. After examination at Osmond Hospital, it was determined that he had escaped with minor injuries. No stitches were taken under and he was left eye.

Five Basics of 'Decision Driving'

The Fourth of July weekend will bring fun, fireworks... and probably more than 500 highway fatalities.

Statistics coldly, but clearly, tell the recurring tale of highway tragedy. Last year, 635 died in highway accidents during the July 4th weekend. The National Safety Council reports that an additional 215 people have died since who were involved in auto accidents last July 4th weekend.

The smart driver is the one who will concentrate on the estimated 20 driving decisions which must be made each mile. To help the smart driver, an insurance company suggests five basic tenets of a Decision Driving program which the firm has taught throughout the country:

- expand your look-ahead capacity; —size up the whole scene;
- signal intentions early;
- plan an escape route, and
- take decisive action.

Expanding your look-ahead capacity simply means to watch for potentially dangerous situations developing ahead on the road. A problem developing hundreds of yards ahead could be a full-grown hazard for you in just a few seconds. The time gained by early recognition of potential problems could add a lot of time to your life.

In sizing up the whole scene, a driver evaluates his total environment, as it is constantly changing. Changes in weather, visibility, traffic patterns, road conditions and such demand immediate and accurate response, especially when driving at high speeds. If a driver is traveling along at 60-miles per hour and a light rain starts or he sees traffic congested a quarter of a mile ahead, his preparation for the situation developing will help him avoid the need to make a split-second decision.

Even the best decision may be of no value if the driver does not communicate with other drivers. In order to safely share the road with other vehicles, a driver should clearly signal his intentions, as early as possible. Use hand signals to warn of sudden stops or slowdowns, in addition to four-way flashers. Lightly tap your horn before passing, when entering a blind intersection or when backing into traffic.

The decision driver will always leave an "escape route" or way out of trouble, if the unexpected develops. One way to leave a margin of safety is to allow proper following distance, which means at least one car length for each ten miles per hour of travelling speed. Another way to keep yourself out of trouble is to try to get "boxed in" on both the adjoining traffic lanes.

Finally, the driver must be ready to take decisive action. If the driver has kept in mind the above four principles, his decision-making should be easy.

Federal Spending Costs County $25,000 Daily

(Special to The Herald—NEW YORK)—To what extent will the federal government's new spending schedule, for the fiscal year beginning July 1, affect Wayne County and its taxpayers?

With an outlay of more than $246 billion provided for in the budget for national defense, public health, education, welfare, space research, veterans benefits and other needs, the government will be spending money at the rate of nearly $7,800 every second, throughout the year.

On the basis of local figures and a state-by-state breakdown prepared by the Tax Foundation, a non-profit research organization, it represents expenditures at the rate of $2.41 a day for every man, woman and child in Wayne County.

For the entire community, the cost per day will be close to $25,000.

That will be its share of the cost of government expenditures, every day of the year, based upon the portion of the overall revenue that comes from the local area.

State by state and county by county, the tax burden varies widely, reflecting differences in income levels and industrial concentrations.

Throughout the United States, the average daily cost under the new budget amounts to $3.22 per capita and, in the West North Central States, to $3.08.

The figures reported by the Tax Foundation represent revisions of Treasury Department statistics. It is pointed out. They were arrived at under a formula that distributes the tax burden on an actual basis, taking into account, for example, the fact that tobacco taxes, which are largely collected in three states, are really borne by smokers in all the states.

A breakdown of the government's spending budget for the fiscal year indicates where the money will be going.

For every $1,000 that a Wayne County family is paying in taxes, directly or indirectly, some $368 of it will be allocated to national defense.

Next will be the money going for Social Security, welfare and other benefits of that kind, $327. Third largest will be interest on the national debt, $95, followed by health, $85, and transportation and commerce, $64.

What 'Bonding' Means in the Business World

"Must be bondable!" This phrase appears often in "help wanted" ads. Most people not connected with insurance nor personnel work have only a hazy idea of what it means.

It really isn't mysterious or forbidding. What the prospective employer tries to convey is that he wants candidates with good employment records, no on-the-job stealing or jail terms.

Those who have had run-ins with the law or were involved in a dishonesty loss steer clear of such job offers, said the Insurance Information Institute. Why? They want to avoid an investigation that might disclose that a bonding (surety) company paid for a loss or made an investigation on a prior job that left some questions unanswered.

How does a bonding company insure people? Oversimplified, an employer asks his insurance agent to have an insurer specializing in fidelity bonds give him protection.

If the business is small, a bond can be written for just one employee. Usually a so-called "blanket" bond is used. "Blanket" means it covers all employees except those specifically excluded. One form applies to the positions (type of jobs, say, stock clerk or cashier) and another applies to "people." Often the fidelity or dishonesty insurance is one part of a "comprehensive crime contract."

In both types of blanket bonds, the employees are NOT named in the contract, but the insurer (bonding company) usually requires each employee to complete a questionnaire so that it can investigate employment records and reputations.

The Institute said that this investigation service is regarded by many businesses as well worth the cost of the protection. Potential sources of trouble are usually uncovered.

No one is "grilled" or made to feel uncomfortable. The majority of people are aware a check is being made. If an employee is confronted by his manager with a request to explain a few points raised by the bonding company, the employee can quickly untangle the misunderstanding or he knows he will be requested not to report back for work.

A large number of insurance companies that write fidelity coverage are members of a group which gathers data on fidelity and surety matters.

What else does a surety (bonding) company do for a firm that wants dishonesty insurance? It writes a contract in which it says: "I, the insurance company, promise to you, Mr. Employer, that your employee(s) will be honest or I will repay your losses up to $XX if sustained under these conditions..."

So, if an employee steals $2,000 from his company's safe and surety is convinced by the evidence that he took it, the surety reimburses the employer.

The bonding company then seeks out the dishonest employee and demands repayment. It persists in its search and demands until the loss is made good or until further salvage efforts seem futile.

Why does it do this? There is a provision in the application the employee signed called an indemnity agreement by which he promised to reimburse the bonding company for any loss it pays on his behalf. Knowledge of the consequences has helped to encourage some weak-willed people to remain honest.

Employee dishonesty losses are a major drain on American business assets today. Annually they total $4 billion. With adequate dishonesty insurance an employer's loss can be passed on to an insurer for a known, reasonable premium.

It is a mark of distinction for a business and for its employees to meet the high standards set for dishonesty protection... "I am bondable!"

Traffic Deaths Heading for New All-Time Record?

Nebraska Department of Roads records show that the deadly race toward a new traffic fatality record continued during the month of April.

If traffic deaths continue to increase at the present rate, the 1972 toll could reach 533.

Though the month's total of 39 deaths was four below last April's total, the January-April '72 total was 13.2 per cent ahead of the same period in 1971.

According to the Department's Accident Records Chief Tom Ryan, there were 120 fatalities during the first four months of the year. This compares with 106 fatalities for January-April, 1971. Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays were especially dangerous during April. Nearly one-half (19) of the 39 deaths occurred on these days.

Twenty-six males and 13 females died during April. Twenty-four of the victims were drivers, nine were passengers and six were pedestrians.

Following an established trend, more accidents (22) occurred during dark and dusk hours than during the day (17). Douglas recorded 14 deaths. Lincoln County was in second place with three fatalities.

Check Regulations Before Taking Bird on Vacation

A warning to bird-owning travelers going abroad—or to the southern California area:

Don't take your pet bird with you, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

If you do, you may not get your pet back home.

Mynah birds or parrots, parakeets and other birds of the parrot family are temporarily barred from the United States because they might carry exotic Newcastle disease, an ailment fatal to pet birds and poultry though not harmful to consumers.

Quarantines for exotic Newcastle have been placed on eight southern California counties and two counties in western Arizona. An outbreak began there late Parked Overtime?

"Common, officer, you can't prove I've been parked here more than 10 minutes — there are no chalk marks on my wheels." That, or something to that effect, seems to be what "Mo" a Black Lab appeared to be saying very vehemently when his picture was taken by a Herald photographer. The Lab's owner, R. C. Luckert of Bloomfield, chained the retriever to the sign in downtown Wayne while having a "cool one."

Two People Injured in Car Crash Near Hoskins Friday

Two Norfolk people were sent to a Norfolk hospital Friday following a two-car accident on highway 35 near Hoskins. Miss Kimi Otto, 17, driver of the eastbound vehicle, was treated and released with minor cuts while Herman Pohlman, 63, driver of the westbound car remained at the Lutheran Hospital with undetermined back injuries. According to State Trooper Stokes, the Otto vehicle attempted to pass several vehicles at the Hoskins intersection when the Pohlman car came over the hill. Pohlman apparently slammed on his brakes, causing his vehicle to slide sideways. Both cars collided on the right side. The Hoskins Rescue Squad took the couple to the hospital.

The right sides of both cars were damaged Friday in a two-car collision near Hoskins. The photos were taken by Mrs. Hans Asmus, Hoskins correspondent for The Wayne Herald.

Wayne Among Six Counties Participating In Region 11, 25 Jail Feasibility Study

A six-county region, including Wayne, will participate in a jail feasibility study sponsored by the joint planning commission of Region 11 and 25 for Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.

The six counties, Madison, Cedar, Pierce, Stanton, Dixon and Wayne, will have a representative sitting on a planning council for the study. Included on the council is Wayne County Sheriff, Don Weible.

According to council's report, the only counties not included in the study are Antelope and Knox.

The report pointed out that the purpose of the study is not only to establish one regional jail in the eight-county area. The study, it said, will include the needs of each town, city and county.

In the studies, recommendations will be made for immediate needs of all government units, including the necessity or desirability of improving current jails.

According to Theo Krienke, chairman of the program, individuals and firms interested in conducting a feasibility study for the committee, should consult the committee for points in forming the information.

Among those points are:

- Statistical breakdown of jail population of all law enforcement jurisdictions, city and county.
- The population within the region to determine where the population densities are located.
- The location and types of social services available within the region.
- The location of employment opportunities within the region.

The committee, he said, will need 200 printed copies of the completed study.

The study is to be completed within 90 days.

Lucrative Careers for the 'Over 40'

Though the labor market continues to be over-flooded with high school dropouts, high school and college graduates, servicemen returning from duty and persons reaching retirement age, there is one field of endeavor in which there is always work available, regardless of age, education or experience.

The direct selling field always has jobs open, in bad times and in good. What's more, in this industry the mature person or the "senior" citizen, finds he is welcomed and wanted.

Actually, the older person is preferred to a young one in our company," says Charles Mirsky, only 35 years, old himself and president of a major manufacturing firm in the direct sales field producing cycle massage portable health equipment and furniture for home and office use.

"We find that the more mature person doesn't have so many outside distractions, that his social life doesn't interfere with business, and he can concentrate better on his work. On the other hand, I must say that anyone, at any age, who is not lazy, who genuinely likes people, who is personable and believes in what he is selling, can make a success; even better, a major success, in direct sales."

One reason the "over 40" person chooses to work in direct sales is that he does not have to account to anyone. The salesman creates his own time schedule; works as little or as much as he pleases. Income varies with the time invested. The "go-getter" who produces most is rewarded best. It is not unusual for an ambitious man or woman to build an annual income reaching well into the five-figure bracket.

Another attraction luring workers to this industry is that with only 10 days of training, the salesman generally writes his first orders by the close of the first week in the field. In other words, he is earning income almost immediately. After one year, many rise to become dealers, and distributors, running their own businesses.

Readers interested in careers in direct selling can write for a free booklet titled: "Opportunity Knocking", Research Reports, Adamsville, Pa. 16110.

Hartington Holds 3-County Meet

A meeting of mayors, chairmen of village and town boards and county commissioners in Cedar, Dixon and Knox Counties was held in Hartington Friday night regarding formation of an Area Planning Organization (APO).

Communities in the area have been informed that an APO will be required before federal grants will be made to communities for sewer, water or open space.

The city of Hartington has agreed to coordinate the development of an APO.

Fireworks Fund Is Short

Nearly $170 is still needed to present the fireworks display planned for the Allen Fourth of July Celebration, according to Publicity Chairman Ken Linafelter.

Preparations for other events continue. Thirteen area towns have been invited to place entries in the parade.

Mike McCurdy of KTCI has been selected as master of ceremonies for the afternoon program.

The Allen and Martinsburg Babe Ruth baseball teams will compete later in the afternoon.

While the ball game is in progress, a horseshoe pitching contest is also scheduled. This contest is open to anyone, with a 25-cent entry fee to be charged. Winners will "split the purse."

The Allen Boy Scouts plan to operate a dunking tank in the afternoon and evening.

The schedule and location of events is as follows: parade, 1 p.m., from south side of school to Main Street and back; program, 2:30 p.m., city park; baseball, 4 p.m., ball park; horseshoe pitching, 4 p.m., southwest end of school playground; fireworks, at dark, Ison-Hill Athletic Field.

Kiwanis Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Carhart and children, Scott, Jean Ann and John, are in Atlantic City, N. J., for the 57th annual convention of Kiwanis International.

Allen Budget Hearing

The Village of Allen will hold its annual budget hearing on July 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the village office.

Board Members

In a recent Concord Village Board meeting all of the members were re-elected to their previous terms.

These positions are: Duane Harder, chairman; Ernest Riehl, treasurer; Nor man Anderson, clerk; Fritz Riehl, fire chief; Duane Harder, sewer commissioner; Fritz Riehl, light commissioner, and Jack Erwin, street commissioner.

Ralph M. Peterson Dies in Coleridge

He worked in the Wayne home for eight years before moving to Coleridge. He had been in the nursing home business for 25 years.

sharp increases in the cost of food, especially meat, planners note.

While women dominate the program during the afternoon, men will get their liks in during the morning session at the Nebraska Center.

Don Hovendick of the Farm Credit Banks of Omaha, planning committee chairman, said women are especially welcome to attend the seminar because of its emphasis on consumerism and a look at the equally important but often conflicting needs of the farmer, middleman and consumer caught in a rising price spiral.

Wayne Legion, Midgets Baseball Teams Split in Doubleheader Against Laurel

George Schroeder, who can play with the best of 'em in football, basketball and track, proved that he is just as much at home on the baseball field Friday night as he checked a two-hitter to nail a 7-4 defeat on the Wayne Legion baseball team.

In the first half of the twin bill, the Wayne Midgets ran their record to 6-0 with an 8-1 rump past the Laurel Midgets, with Kevin Gade getting the only hit for the losers.

In the Legion game, Laurel hopped on starting pitcher Joel Renner and the first reliever, Roger Saul, for three first-inning runs and the locals could never recover from that early man-handling.

Renner walked three of the five men he faced and was taken out with Laurel on top, 1-0, the bases loaded and only one out. Third Sacker Tom Kerstine committed a mental error on a ball hit by Dave Diederker and the second run scored. The third tally came in when Saul walked Keith Olson with the sacks jammed.

Schroeder had a streak of wildness in the top of the second by walking three men, but then "got serious" and whiffed two batters to douse that threat.

In the third, Wayne appeared to again have something going. Mike Creighton walked and came home on Steve Diederker's bobble of a ball hit by Saul, but Doug Sturm fanned and Bob Nelson hit into a double play, a liner to Schroeder, who threw to third to make the twin killing on first. Wayne's third chucker of the night.

Back-to-back hits by Dave Anderson and Bruce Johnson in the fourth resulted in another score and Steve Diederker cracked a leadoff homer in the fifth over the right-center field fence to boost the score to 5-1.

Wayne again made a bid in the sixth when Saul lived on a Gary Chase error, advanced on Sturm's single that broke Schroeder's no-hitter and came in on a grounder on the part of Renner.

Sturm was awarded home when Schroeder balked on the mound and it was a 5-3 ball game. But Laurel opened the gap by two in the sixth. Johnson was safe on Kerstine's miscue and scored on Ron Broderson's two-bagger.

Then Broderson scored during a third-out rundown on Schroeder between first and second, the run coming in before the final out was made.

Hank Overlin's club made another comeback stab in the top of the seventh, thanks to Creighton's single, a pair of Laurel errors, a walk and a passed ball. Terry Pfeiffer appeared to be safe on a play at home, but was called out and the rally died shortly after that.

The win was the second in three starts for Laurel and dropped Wayne's record to 3-4.

Gade lead off the bottom of the second with a single, the only safety off a trio of Wayne twirlers.

The pitching parade wasn't a necessity—only an experiment with moundsmen. Randy Nelson started on the hill and had things well in hand when Charley Roland came on at the beginning of the fourth. Earle Overlin served 'em up for the final three outs.

The Wayne bats boomed for ten total hits. Nelson had a perfect four-for-four with the willow, a double and three one-basers. Overlin cracked out a pair of doubles and Kerry Jech and Roland each had a double and single for next best in the offensive punch department.

Pony Leaguers Get Win No. 3

The Wayne Pony Leaguers stretched their winning streak to three Thursday as the visitors ripped Wisner, 9-1.

Pitcher Dave Nuss got the win, throwing a one-hitter as Wayne first baseman Keating went three for three at the plate, including a triple, and five RBIs.

The Wayne club opened the second inning with three runs and continued the trend until the fourth when the score was 9-1.

The Wayne Pee Wees also got into the winning column, bumping Wisner, 6-2.

Pitcher Carroll threw a two-hitter and slammed a double to help his team. He also fanned eight opponents.

The team record stands at 2-1. On the other side of the fence, the visiting Little Leaguers came out on the short end of the bat as Wisner belted Wayne, 5-1. The teams' mark is 1-2.

Tuesday all three clubs will travel to Laurel.

Wayne Hits Wakefield, 14-2 Legion Team Drops Third

Wayne Midget pitcher Randy Nelson had a bad day on the mound Wednesday. The right-hander could only toss three strikeouts, but his bat is still burning from his two singles and double that aided his team to blast Wakefield, 14-2.

At his first time at bat, Nelson slammed a double that drove in the first of two runs in the first and went on to hit singles in the second and fourth innings.

It wasn't until the third inning that his bat cooled off when the home team had a 13-1 lead. The Midgets boosted their record to 5-0 with the help of a seven-run spurge in the second.

Center fielder Kerry Jech gathered two RBIs off his double to spark his team while second baseman Randy Workman hit a triple. Wakefield pitcher Sam Uebach had trouble controlling the ball as he threw away 12 pitches on wild throws.

The visitors could only muster two runs off two hits while the home team gathered 14 runs off eight hits.

Wakefield second baseman Tim Rouse and left fielder Don Lindstrom were the only two to score after each got on base via walks.

During the fourth inning Charley Roland relieved Nelson but in the fifth Earle Overlin came in for Roland. Even after the switch in pitchers, Nelson got the win for the team's fifth victory.

Monday (tonight) Wayne travels to Wisner.

The Wayne Legion club lost its third game against four wins

Wednesday night as the visiting Wakefield club edged the home team, 2-1.

Wayne attempted a comeback in the seventh but reliever Bob Twite stopped the Legionnaires, striking out the last two men with the bases loaded.

Wakefield's pitcher Paul started the pitching duties and threw a one-hitter while striking out 14 Wayne men.

The visitors took control of the game in the third with one run, two hits. They held on to the 1-0 lead until the seventh when both clubs scored one run each to make the final score, 2-1.

During the seventh, Wayne right fielder Mark Lowe got on by a walk followed by shortstop Todd Bigelow, who flew out to the Wakefield shortstop.

Second baseman Terry Pfeiffer made it to first on an error by the Wakefield second baseman, to put men on first and second.

Paul then walked left fielder Mike Creighton to load the bases. Twite came in, throwing two strikeouts to end the contest.

Paul was the visitor's leading hitter with two hits, including a double.

For Wayne, the solo hit came from pitcher Roger Saul, who also fanned 10 Wakefield men.

Practical Tips to Help Prevent Bicycle Thefts

Bicycle thefts are on the increase from coast to coast and have become a major police problem as well as a headache to parents.

According to the Bicycle Institute of America, nearly 35 percent of the 9 million bikes sold in America in 1971 were multi-speed lightweights, many of them costing well over $100. These particularly the derailleur-equipped 10-speed models are the favorite target for individual thefts and organized bands of professional bike-nappers.

Recovery rates vary from as low as 20 percent set as high as 90 percent, depending on where you live, and whether or not your area enforces bike registration and licensing laws.

While there is no way to make a bike absolutely burglar proof, the Bicycle Institute of America suggests, the following precautions:

- Lock your bike to a stationary object.
- Use a heavy-duty, case-hardened chain and lock having a shackle of not less than 3/8" inch diameter.
- Lock your bike in a conspicuous place, where an attempted theft is apt to be noticed by pedestrians or police.
- Do not leave a bike locked anywhere outside overnight. Bring it indoors.
- Run the chain through both wheels and the frame before locking it.
- Do not leave your bike unattended—even for a few minutes, without locking it.
- Support local and state legislation that will mandate and enforce bicycle licensing and registration.
- Only rifles developing 900 foot-pounds of bullet energy or more at 100 yards are legal weapons for hunting deer in Nebraska.
- Muzzle loaders of .40 caliber or larger or handguns of caliber .44 magnum or .357 magnum, .41 magnum or .44 special may also be used.

First baseman Fritz Welble is on his way home after a solo homer over the center field fence. Right Catcher Steve Hix gets hand shakes from his fellow teammates after he slammed a home run over the same fence.

Booming Homers Boost Wayne Ball Club Past Wakefield Town Team, 6-3

Fritz Welble was down in the dumps. In his last four games the Wayne first baseman only had three hits. "I decided it was time to do something different."

So the Wayne Town team slugger did something different by slamming his first home run of the season to push Wayne past Wakefield, 6-3.

The switchhitter switched the odds to his favor Thursday night as the righthander changed to batting left-handed and sent the ball flying over the center field fence.

But this wasn't the end of the round-trippers for the visitors as catcher Steve Hix again had a booming hit over the center field fence for his first of the year.

The contest opened with Wayne scoring one run off an error by Wakefield first baseman Mike Gahan as Wayne pitcher Paul Eddie hit a bouncing grounder to Wakefield's pitcher Roger Leonard.

Leonard threw it to Gahan who bobbled the ball, allowing Wayne right fielder Larry Meier to score from second.

After three innings, the score was 3-0 in favor of Wayne. But both clubs fired up in the sixth, scoring two more runs each.

Wakefield scored its runs off six errors as Roger Olsen and Gahan crossed the plate.

A single by Wayne's Wacker scored second baseman Nicholson and center fielder Randy Jacobsen after each had singles.

In the seventh inning Wakefield shortstop Terry Lutt scored via a double by third baseman Rob Eaton. Earlier Lutt got on by a free trip and stole second.

In the ninth inning, Wayne's Meier again scored after he singled. Shortstop Bob Brandt sacrificed and Meier scored on an error.

Meier was the leading hitter for Wayne, hitting two for two while four times at bat.

Wayne's record stands at 5-1 while Wakefield holds a 2-3 mark.

State's Safe Boating Week Set for July 2-8

"Nebraskans should be particularly careful afloat during the upcoming Fourth of July holiday," cautioned Willard R. Barbee, Game and Parks Commission Director and President of the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators.

Safe Boating Week, July 2 through 8, incorporates the holiday to help pinpoint the need for care with water craft particularly at this time, but throughout the summer as well, Barbee commented.

As a part of the Safe Boating Week observance, the Lincoln Omaha units of the Coast Guard Auxiliary have planned special activities, including free, courtesy safety inspections. Omaha's Flotilla 14-1 of the Auxiliary has arranged a display of a properly equipped boat at the West Roads Shopping Center mall.

Members will also distribute literature on boating safety. Flotilla 14-2 from Lincoln will offer the courtesy safety checks on July 2 and 4 at Pawnee, Bluestem, Conestoga, and Branched Oak lakes. Inspections are voluntary, but standards are high.

In the past, only about 10 per cent of the boats inspected earned the Auxiliary's decal. The Lincoln group has also set up a display for Boating Week at the National Bank of Commerce.

Another safety "checkpoint" will be named at DeSoto National Wildlife Refuge on the Missouri River on July 1 and 2.

Longe Files Appeal In District Court

Dwain D. Longe, Wayne, filed an appeal in District Court Tuesday, alleging that he was not at fault for a charge of leaving the scene of an accident April 17.

On April 25, Longe was found guilty in County Court and was fined $100, plus court costs.

State's Duck Count Reduces 2 Per Cent

Nebraska's duck breeding population was about two per cent less this spring compared to last year, according to surveys conducted by the Game and Parks Commission in the rainwater basin of south-central Nebraska and in the Sand Hills.

Dry conditions during the northward migration of ducks sent birds farther north to nest. The rains that blanketed much of Nebraska this spring came after the bulk of the birds had passed through, but the additional wetlands attracted stragglers and provided good nesting conditions for the birds that did remain.

Commission technicians conducting the surveys, estimated that 91,600 ducks stayed in the Sand Hills, while another 12,200 remained in the rainwater basin. Blue-winged teal, mallards, shovellers, and gadwall made up nearly 80 per cent of the birds observed.

Mounted Hawks Must Be Registered

Anyone possessing mounted Cooper's hawks, goshawks, or sharp-shinned hawks or study skins of these birds, taken before Aug. 27 of last year, must register them to comply with state law, reminds the Game and Parks Commission.

Prior to 1971, there were no laws protecting these three species of hawks. However, last August, an act of the Legislature granting them protection went into effect. It prohibits both the killing and the unauthorized possession of these birds.

The Game Commission is required to seize and confiscate any mounts or study skins of these hawks taken after Aug. 27 as well as those taken previously and not registered.

Notification of the Commission must include how, when, and where the bird was acquired. A permanent record of this information will be made and the Commission will issue a letter stating that the holder has lawfully acquired the specimen and is authorized to possess it.

Wage-Price Regulations

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q—In computing the average number of employees for determining whether the small business exemption applies, are part-time and casual employees counted as employees?

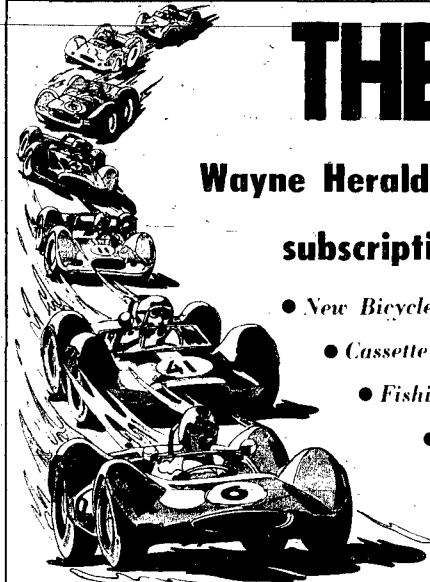

A—Yes. Every employee is treated as if he were a full-time employee for purposes of this computation.

Q—How does the business exemption affect after-employment contracts negotiated on an industry basis?

A—Prices and wages remain under direct control in all small businesses where more than 50 per cent of the employees are affected by a master employment contract covering more than 60 workers. In small businesses and small governments where less than 50 per cent of the employees are covered by a master contract or jointly-negotiated contract involving over 60 workers, only the wages of the employees covered by the master contract or jointly-negotiated contract remain subject to controls. Wages of small firm employees who are covered by contracts involving 60 or fewer workers will be exempted from direct controls.

Q—If after Pay Board disallowance of the wage increase, the parties leave a provision in their collective bargaining agreement which states that any disallowed increase shall be paid when controls are lifted or relaxed, have they violated Economic Stabilization regulations?

A—Yes. It is a violation to fail or refuse to comply with a decision of the Pay Board. Leaving a provision in an agreement which calls for the payment of a wage and salary increase disallowed by the Board constitutes such a refusal.

Elms Susceptible to Various Diseases

By Jack Risselman
 Extension Assistant
 University of Nebraska-Lincoln
 Each year I receive numerous inquiries asking, "Are my Chinese or Siberian elms infected with Dutch Elm disease?" In most instances they are not but rather have some other disease or insect problem which is mistaken for Dutch Elm disease.

Chinese and Siberian elms are susceptible to a wide variety of plant pathogens. In most cases these do not kill the tree but do render them unsightly and unthrifty. Some of these common occurring diseases are:

ELM LEAF CURLE: This disease has been relatively common on elms this spring. It is recognized by small blisters on the leaves which lead to abnormal leaf development. Valuable specimens can be sprayed in the early spring with lime sulfur or Bordeaux mixture. American elms are somewhat resistant to this disease.

LEAF SPOTS: Several fungi cause leaf spots on Asiatic varieties of elms. In most instances, very little damage results from infection by these organisms. However, should infections begin early in the spring some premature leaf fall will occur. Control is seldom warranted.

VASCULAR WILTS: Early signs of vascular wilts may resemble those of Dutch Elm disease. Symptoms include a drooping and yellowing of the leaves followed by a brown mottled appearance. The leaf collapses in the final stages. Vascular wilts can leave a tree unsightly due to the dieback of the twigs. Heavy fertilization, watering and pruning may help to minimize the effects of vascular wilts. If trees are severely affected, immediate removal is recommended.

CANKERS: Both Chinese and Siberian elms are highly susceptible to cankers. These cankers, when located at the base of large branches, can cause large areas of the tree to suddenly wilt and die. The symptoms are also mistaken for Dutch Elm disease. Many of these cankers can be removed surgically. Following removal the cuts should be treated with a wound dressing. Maintaining good vigor and avoiding mechanical injuries should prevent some canker formation.

DUTCH ELM: While both Chinese and Siberian elms exhibit some resistance to this disease, they may still become infected. However, the mortality rate in these Asiatic varieties is low. As of yet, there has been no effective proven control methods available for control of Dutch Elm disease.

Now is the ideal time to prune pine trees. They should be pruned between June 15 and July 15. The following spring pruning principles should be followed for pines:

Leave only one leader to avoid a two-pronged tree; other than removing the secondary leader, don't alter the pine's basic shape; retain wide-angled branches for the strongest crochets; remove all diseased wood; cut off the less desirable of two overlapping or crossing branches; make cuts at crochets and don't leave stubs; remove broken branches; apply wound dressing to cut surfaces which are over one inch in diameter.

Wage-Price Regulations

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q. Will the Internal Revenue Service issue a notice of violation to a landlord who fails to abide by the notice requirements of the rent regulations, even where the rent is charged less than that permitted by the regulations?

A. Yes. The IRS will issue a notice of violation to landlords who violate the notice requirements, even where the rent charged would otherwise be permitted by the regulations.

Q. My landlord sent me a brief letter announcing a rent increase. Isn't he required by Stabilization regulations to furnish me with more information than that?

A. Yes. Before raising your rent, your landlord must give you a written notice containing the following information: (1) the amount of monthly rent before and after the proposed increase; (2) the percentage increase and dollar amount of the proposed increase; (3) the effective date of the proposed increase; (4) the amount of the proposed increase attributable to capital improvements, state and local real estate taxes, and state and local fees, levies and charges for municipal services; and any increase allowed under the 2 1/2 per cent rule; (5) the base rent and an explanation of the manner in which it was determined, including identification of the units involved and dates and amounts of transactions where applicable; and (6) the method of computation of the proposed increase.

In addition, the letter must include statements on the right of the tenant to examine the landlord's records documenting the increase and to meet with the landlord to discuss it, as well as a declaration by the landlord that the facts in the letter are true and that the increase is not in violation of Economic Stabilization regulations. The exact contents of these statements appear in the rent regulations.

Q. Now that small businesses have been exempted from controls, can my doctor, who employs only a few people, raise his rent without regard to the price regulations?

A. No. The small business exemption, which exempts from controls certain firms with 60 or fewer employees, does not apply to health service and construction industries or landlords.

Q. Can the Pay Board, in considering the first year increase in a contract, also rule on the validity of the second and third year increases and order a reduction?

A. Yes. While normally the Board is concerned only with increases occurring in the first control year, in circumstances where it appears that the second and third year of the contract are so large as to constitute an attempt to compensate for wages reduced by the Pay Board in the first year, the Board has authority to rule on the appropriateness of such increases.

When the Cook Goes Camping

By Ethel Diedrichsen
Extension Specialist,
Food and Nutrition
University of Nebraska-Lincoln

If you're planning a camping expedition this vacation, you can already predict that normal family appetites will increase in hardy, outdoor recreation.

As you organize your food thoughts along camping lines, keep in mind these beginning ground rules: meals should be hearty enough to satisfy outdoor appetites; food should be simple to pack and carry, and easy to serve.

Divorcing yourself from the modern conveniences of clean kitchen, sink and refrigerator means keeping in mind certain precautions to avoid the risk of food contamination:

- Wash hands before handling food.
- Use only clean utensils and equipment.
- Plan menus around canned foods and fresh fruits and vegetables—especially if refrigeration is lacking.
- Prepare or purchase picnic food no more than four hours before eating unless it can be refrigerated or frozen. Be especially careful with food that is chopped or cut fine. High protein foods such as meat, poultry and fish and creamed mixtures such as mayonnaise, spoil quickly.
- Do not use insect spray around food or utensils.
- Keep your camping food plan as simple as possible.
- A cast iron skillet is good for cooking over the open fire, or heavy-duty aluminum can do directly into the coals or on the grill.
- Make a menu plan before you go camping. You might ask each family member to list three favorite foods for each meal. However, remember that your menu is tentative. Your camping meals may be influenced by other factors.

If a sudden cold spell reaches your campsite, be prepared. The family will welcome a hot breakfast of cereal, cocoa, bacon and eggs or pancakes. Plenty of hot tea or coffee warms the marrow of chilly bones, too.

If, however, a heat wave engulfs you, the family will probably look for cold cereal for breakfast, sandwiches for lunch and perhaps a cool salad for supper.

If you anticipate a full day's drive, it's a good idea to pack a simple "sandwich style" lunch that you can eat quickly at a roadside picnic area. Supper can be a quickie, prepared from canned food that's easy to heat and serve.

When you make camp for all day, you'll have more time to prepare such things as baked potatoes in the coals of the fire, or a special dessert on a reflector oven.

Canned food is quick and easy to prepare, but also adds weight to an already overloaded car. Dry soup mixes, instant potatoes, rice, milk, pudding and noodle mixes are light to carry and quick to prepare.

A multi-use mix can turn into biscuits, muffins or pancakes. With a reflector oven, you can also use packaged coffee cake, corn bread, nut bread or cookie mixes for quick and easy treats.

Desert Kabobs are tasty and fun to make, too. Roll bits of biscuit dough in sugar and cinnamon, skewer on a stick and bake. Skewered pineapple chunks, peach slices and marshmallows cherries can be broiled over the fire.

Although prices may be higher, you'll be able to buy some food in stores near resort or vacation areas. Local specialties such as melons, lettuce, tomatoes, peaches, fish or steak are wonderful treats for a hungry family. Buying such items, as well as bread and fresh milk, means you don't have to take every bit of your food from home.

Action Would Speed Social Security Hike

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Carl T. Curtis (Rep., Neb.) said Wednesday the Senate Finance Committee has taken action to keep further legislative delays from depriving elderly citizens of a much-needed increase in Social Security benefits.

"The Finance Committee bill, which I supported in Committee, provides for a 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits effective July 3, regardless of when legislative action is completed," Curtis explained.

"I hope the enactment of the increase can be speeded up, but if it is delayed for any reason beyond July 3, the beneficiaries would get the increase retroactive to that date," he said.

Watch Where You Drop Those Ashes!

Most people who drop by the Carroll post office say hi to Postmaster John Rethwisch and pick up their mail.

Some people stop, light up a cigarette and talk with John, occasionally knocking off the ashes into a cigarette tray on the counter.

That in itself is not so unusual. Except the ash tray is a bit unusual. It's covered with stamps.

"Adeline Breslin, the postmistress in Newcastle," Rethwisch smiled, "made that for me several years ago."

It's quite interesting, he continued. There are about 30 stamps on the base of the ash tray that come from around the nation.

"The stamps are about 10 years old with the value ranging from five to 50 cents."

Plenty of people who come into the office ask Rethwisch where he got it and often comment that "they haven't ever seen anything like it."

"I think it's a good keepsake," he commented. "But it's not the only one around this area."

Rethwisch explained that Mrs. Breslin made 50 in 1966 and mainly gives them out as Christmas presents.

"She even sent some to the president of the National Association of Postmasters in Lynn, Mass."

Everyone in the area, he said, saves the canceled stamps for her. "I try to help her out also."

Wednesday at the city auditorium will have 14 members. Mrs. Emma Woehler of Pilger was a guest.

Bingo furnished entertainment. Cooperative lunch followed. Fred Witter was coffee chairman.

Next meeting will be June 27 at 7:30 at the auditorium to play cards.

Postmaster John Rethwisch displays his stamped ash tray with a picture of the Carroll Postoffice in the middle.

'Raising Roof' Important

Whether you're in the market for a new primary home for comfortable everyday living, or a second home just for leisure-time fun, raising the roof should be one of your most important considerations.

Why? Because the roof you raise will not only be your new home's main defense against the elements, it will also have a lot to do with its vulnerability to fire.

With that in mind, here are some things you should know about roofing materials, to help you put a ceiling on possible hazards:

Asphalt Shingles. The most popular type of roofing, these come in a wide variety of colors and shapes and offer years of good service. Conventional asphalt shingles are made with an organic base, are rated Class C by Underwriters' Laboratories, and provide only basic protection against light fire exposure.

Wood Shingles and Shakes. Though beautiful, cedar shingles and shakes are not fire-resistant, which is why some cities no longer permit them to be used unless they are chemically treated.

Slate and Tile Shingles. Both slate and tile shingles are good-looking and long-lasting. Their Class A fire rating means protection against severe fire protection. They weigh a lot, however, and a home must be very sturdy to bear their weight.

Asbestos Cement Shingles. These Class A shingles are strong, durable and fire-resistant, cost less and weigh less than slate or tile, but cost more and weigh more than fiber glass shingles.

Fiber Glass Shingles. Considered by many to be the best roofing material, fiber glass shingles have all of the attributes of slate, tile and asbestos cement.

How can you be sure a roofer is qualified to raise the roof of your choice? Ask him to show you some of the jobs he's done, and talk to some of his customers.

If they're satisfied with his workmanship and service, chances are you will be, too.
