

WSC Graduation Set Friday, Aug. 4

Summer commencement at Wayne State College, with 178 candidates for degrees, will be held Friday, Aug. 4, beginning at 10 a.m., in the Wilcox Bowl.

In case of inclement weather, the ceremony will move to the Auditorium.

The list of candidates includes 16 for master's degrees.

As usual for Wayne's summer commencements, Music Camp will provide processional music. But not as usual, Music Camp also will provide the program, in lieu of a speaker. Dr. Raymond Kelton, camp director, said the symphonic wind ensemble and the concert choir each will present several numbers, and they will join for one selection. The two groups will be composed of select musicians.

The annual reunion of Wayne State alumni will be another feature of commencement day.

Dr. Freeman Decker, alumni secretary, said registration is scheduled for 9 to 10 a.m. at the Student Center, then lunch at noon in the Walnut Room.

The 50-year class of 1922

comes back for special recognition this time.

Dr. Decker said reservations should be mailed or called to him in advance to facilitate meal planning. He especially urges faculty to attend the lunch.

The only scheduled program feature will be the showing of Wayne's new film, "Give Yourself a Chance."

Tractor, Pickup In a Collision

A tractor, driven by Phillip Janke of rural Wayne, and a pickup, driven by Allen Schrant, 41, of Winside, collided at the entrance to the Arnolds Janke farm, four miles south and 3/4 west of Wayne Wednesday, July 19, at 4 p.m.

There were no injuries to either driver, or to Bob Janke, a passenger on the tractor, but there was extensive damage to the pickup and $400 estimated damage to the loader on the front of the tractor.

Trooper Doug Rother, who investigated the accident, said the Schrant pickup was going west at the time the tractor, southbound, exited from the farm lane.

City's Parking Regulations to Be Re-evaluated by Council Committee

An hour-long debate on the city's parking restrictions resulted in Mayor Hall's appointment of a special study committee to re-evaluate the city's parking regulations during Tuesday night's City Council meeting.

A near-capacity crowd jammed the council area to hear the councilmen discuss possible changes in the present parking situation after several Wayne citizens spoke out on changes in certain areas.

Norman Rockwell first asked the city to drop its no parking and no parking from midnight to 5 a.m. restrictions on Lincoln Street, south of First.

The council agreed to dropping the restrictions in this area as well as south of Douglas, north on Sherman and in Meadowlane.

But another Wayne citizen, Don Langston, pointed out to the council that there wasn't any need for no parking signs on Maple. Instead, he asked the council to put up signs allowing residents to park the cars during the daylight hours.

Further discussion, the council resolved in possible parking changes in other areas of the city. But Councilman Kelly Mosley, head of the Street and Alley committee, told the audience and the council members that the present parking restrictions were carefully planned, and to throw out part or all of the parking would only be a waste of the city's money and time it took to set up the program.

Councilman Frank Prather, in a move to let the people voice their opinions, pointed out to the council to "let the people who don't want restricted parking to come in and state so."

Prather, along with Councilman Jim Thomas, proposed that residents in each ward attend a hearing for re-evaluating parking restrictions in each of the four wards.

But Mayor Hall pointed out to the council that it would not be fair to the council or Wayne citizens to make a decision now since Councilmen Harvey Beach and Pat Gross were absent.

property owners.

In listing his four reasons, Vakoc stated "that this storm sewer project benefits no one except residents of that immediate area."

"These residents have never paid one nickel towards storm sewers, a necessity required by the City of others of us. If the case were that these people had originally paid for the storm sewer and it was now in need of maintenance, as in the case of the paving there, I could understand the city being responsible for the ensuing cost."

"There are no extenuating circumstances causing the need for

Winside Girl Dies In 1-Car Accident

Elizabeth Jaeger, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Jaeger of rural Winside, was killed early Sunday evening when a car she was driving went out of control a half-mile south of Sholes and landed on its top in a ditch.

Miss Jaeger, who was thrown from the car and pinned beneath the vehicle, was taken to the Osmond Hospital by the Sholes Rescue Unit, but died shortly after arrival.

She was a student at Winside High School.

Yvonne Rohde, 14, of Randolph, who also was riding in the front seat, also was thrown from the car and suffered a fractured pelvis, broken arm and possible internal injuries. Yvonne, daughter of Mrs. Vivian Rohde of Randolph, was first listed in serious condition but her condition was reported as good by Monday morning.

Three other young persons were riding in the back seat and were treated at the Osmond Hospital and released.

They were Donna Mann, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Mann of Winside, knee lacerations;

LSD Dangers, Effects of a No-Law Society Pointed-Out in Police Films

"Insight or Insanity?" That is what this week's film series, being shown by the Wayne Police Department, asks.

The Sunday night showing, to be at Bressler Park, 10th and Lincoln, is a film documenting the dangers of unsupervised and capricious use of LSD, and explains what medical scientists know of the physiologic and psychologic effects of the drug.

The 28-minute color film, intended especially for those from junior high age on up, discusses the damage LSD can have on chromosomes of the human body and shows damage to fetuses of pregnant animals.

"Man-Made Laws," the second film of the evening, emphasizes that, without traffic laws our streets and highways would be in a state of confusion. The film discusses the uniform traffic code covering speed, passing, traffic signals, stops and stop signs and turning movements.

Hearing Continued

The 30-minute film, in black and white, is for senior high, college and adult age groups.

The pre-sentence hearing for Gale Gronenthal of Millard, formerly of Columbus, was continued until 11 a.m. Aug. 10, pending a new motion by Prosecuting Attorney William Line during Monday's scheduled hearing.

Line, of Fremont, asked the court to drop Gronenthal's guilty plea to the present charge of conspiracy to commit a felony to wit: rape and kidnapping. Line then filed a second motion asking for a second amended complaint of rape, and assault to commit rape to go on record.

The prosecuting attorney explained that the state does not feel Gronenthal's earlier plea of guilty was "a valid plea because it wasn't voluntary and is a nullity."

Defending Attorney Eugene C. McFadden, Norfolk, objected to the second amended complaint. As a result, District Court Judge George Dietrich of Norfolk said the second motion would be taken under advisement.

McFadden Candidate For Judge

Eugene McFadden, 48, Norfolk attorney, has filed with the secretary of state as a candidate for district court judge in the Ninth judicial district.

Three judges will be elected to the newly-created post in the Ninth District—composed of Wayne, Stanton, Madison, Pierce, Cumming, Knox and Antelope Counties.

Two others have filed for the post—Joseph Hunker of West Point and Claude Trimble of Norfolk.

McFadden, a native of Hartington, had served as Madison County attorney from 1955 to 1958.

College Movie Tells Story of WSC

Wayne State College has finally been captured on film.

For the past two years Howard Hoyt, of the Communication Arts Department, has been filming the story of Wayne State and now the final product, entitled "Give Yourself a Chance," is complete.

The production is the story of the people at Wayne State. While some faculty members are depicted, the film deals mainly with the students of the college in their various activities.

On June 8 the film was shown to the State College Board of Trustees at their meeting in Wayne. With a few technical changes, the film will be ready soon for its primary purpose.

The purpose is recruiting. Jim Hummel, director of admissions, will show the film at various high schools he visits in order to show the students what opportunities await them at Wayne State.

"Give Yourself a Chance" was financed by the Wayne State Foundation. The cost of producing the 15-minute film was $1,500. Hoyt said the rate for a professionally produced film is about ten times this amount.

Liquor by Drink Issue Is Tabled

A decision to allow liquor by the drink on Sunday in Wayne was delayed Tuesday night pending the council's further study at its next meeting Aug. 8.

In a letter to the council, Les Lutt, owner of Les' Steak House, asked the Council to permit liquor by the drink on Sunday in businesses in the area that serve liquor on Sunday.

Lutt noted that college students who invite their parents to Wayne for the weekend cannot take the family to a place that serves drinks with a meal. Therefore many area residents go out of town for their meals and drinks.

Councilman Thomas, in agreeing with Lutt, explained that the Vet's Club is the only place in town that serves drinks with a meal on Sunday. But it is only open to members and their guests.

"I'm a veteran," he said, "and I feel that it is only fair to the other businesses in town to allow them to serve liquor by the drink on Sunday." He provided each business observes the state law which says that a business may serve liquor only six days a week and be closed for one day.

Thomas emphasized that he was not against the Vet's Club serving liquor on Sunday.

The members then decided to have City Attorney John Addison draw up an ordinance for study at the Council's next meeting.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION

by Joycelyn Smith

Does a working wife help or hinder the family budget? Even with an extra pay check supplementing the family income, the added expenses for a working woman can over-balance the added income.

and health insurances and company pension plans. A partly neglected homelife may require household help, babysitters, summer recreation expenses, and a rise in the food budget since convenience foods may be harder but more expensive. Once the deductions are figured and extra expenses added up, the actual amount added income may be as little as $35 to $50 a week.

The majority of women with children who are not yet in school do not work full time. They place their responsibilities to their families ahead of a job since their presence at home is valuable to children under school age. Employment is usually worked in around the pattern of the children as they go through school.

The result of a wife working are not all expenses. One of the biggest benefits is to the wife herself, and indirectly to all around her. The working woman may gain a new view of life and herself. As children grow older and the housework gets more routine, many feel the need to be useful outside the home. They want to use the talents and training that may have been forced into dormancy during the early years of marriage and family-rearing. A stimulating job can provide much self-satisfaction to the woman in terms of business responsibilities, development of skills and application of education.

The actual monetary gains may not be as valid as they seem. The housewife turned paid worker may find she has more job-related expenses than she bargained for. The lure of a paycheck may be less appealing when you deduct daily transportation, child care, lunches, coffee breaks and office contributions, plus clothes and a few more trips to the beauty parlor. Then deduct federal, state and city taxes, Social Security, life

A woman contemplating returning to the 9-5 routine should measure all the aspects of such a decision. Know the goals and be ready to make any adjustments necessary. A job may not only supplement a family income and help to pull through a financial crisis, but also may expand a woman's knowledge of her ideas and abilities.

Nelson Hurls No-Hitter

Midgets Advance to Area Tourney

Randy Nelson's blazing fast ball may not have broken any sound barriers during the Midget finals of the District 3 American Legion tournament Monday night, but his no-hitter surely stunned the once-defeated Randolph Midgets as the locals ripped their way to win No. 15.

The Wayne team, blanked Nelson's 10 strikeouts, behind the visiting team, 8-0, to win the right to represent District 3 at the area tournament in Wakefield.

Beginning Thursday (tonight) the home team will take on Wahoo in the second game at 8:30 p.m.

The home team started the winning drive in the third with a fielder's choice by Second Baseman Kim Baker. Baker then advanced to third after Left Fielder Marty Hansen walked and Nelson was struck by a pitch. After a flyout by Catcher Bill Schwartz, Shortstop Charlie Roland slammed a booming triple for three RBI's to put the club in the lead 3-0.

The Wayne team then added two more singles, one in the fourth and fifth innings, before totaling three more runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Coach Dan List's Randolph club, which had won 12 and dropped its only decision to Wakefield, but in eight innings, couldn't get his team moving after Randolph had the bases loaded in the top of the sixth.

Randolph Catcher Wes Beltz, First Baseman Gene Munter and Outfielder Bruce Strathman got on bases via three free trips with two men out. Shortstop Dan Meyer, with a total of two balls and one strike, knocked a fly ball to Hansen for the third out.

Wayne's Baker was the game's leading slugger, credited with two singles and scoring twice.

Off to the area tournament... Wayne Midget Pitchers Charlie Roland and Randy Nelson receive the first place District 3 plaque from American Legion members, Dick Dond, Post 43 commander, and Jay Drake, Carroll.

another run batted in during the fifth to end the game at 5-1.

Coleridge opened its half of the first inning with one run by Shortstop Kevin Krie.

Games Reset

Rain has forced a one-day postponement of the Area American Legion Junior and Midget Tournaments, at Wakefield, according to Merlin "Lefty" Olson.

The scheduled starting date is Thursday when Wakefield will take on Dodge in an 8:30 p.m. contest in the Junior Division.

Friday night the Wayne Midgets will take its 15-2 record against a highly regarded Wahoo team which sports a 15-1 mark.

According to Olson about two busloads of Wahoo rooters will attend the Friday night game, which starts at 8:30 p.m.

Uninvited Sparrows

Purple martin buff's are dedicated, and I'm one of them. This is my second year of martins and my wife says I pay more attention to them than to her. Not true! I have an 18-apartment wooden house, with four rented to martins. The rest of my tenants are sparrow free-loaders whom I've tried to evict repeatedly with little success. Recently I bought a sparrow trap. Five days passed before I caught my first two sparrows. I then drove out to the country where I released them hopefully far enough away so they couldn't find their way back. Since then eight more sparrows have received free tickets to the country.

Last year when these "skeeter eaters" reared young, I could swear that they announced the big event to neighboring martins. And about two weeks ago, I became a believer. It was the same as last year. There were at least eight or 10 more martins than usual, all on one side of the house, carrying on raucously like all get out. That evening I got the binoculars out and saw nothing but the mad nest. But several days later, just as last year, I spotted the cavernous, searching mouths of martins in the nest. In fact, four. I guess that is cause for telling all the bird world.

Won't be long until these handsome birds take off for South America. As soon as the young "get their wings," they'll be off. Last year, our birds were last seen Aug. 3. Others were observed in the neighborhood for another week. Better enjoy them while they're still here.

Duck Eating Bases

We've all heard about man-eating tigers. But how about duck-eating bears, or northern pikie, or walleye? The latter are common, and right here in Nebraska. In some duck-producing areas, not so much so in the prairie-pothole regions as farther north in the bigger and deeper waters, predacious fish eat a swath in waterfowl production. Snapping turtles also take a toll.

Recently Marlo Johnson, who operates the Fort Kearny Museum and glass-bottom boat on the outskirts of Kearney, tried to rescue a mallard and her brood in distress. She had just taken her six ducklings to water, but before Marlo could reach the ducks, big black-mouth bass devoured five. This is old hat at Marlo's place. He also has Muskow ducks, but as soon as Ma Muskow takes her little ones for a swim (and this is usually the first time Marlo ever sees them), there's a bass smorgasbord. Marlo's never been able to save even one Muskow duckling. While the watchful mother will try to save her brood, usually there's just a quick splash and school's out.

Eyes Too Big

The predatory habits of some fish are norm for the course. But sometimes fish become gluttons. Glen R. Foster, long-time fisheries chief for the State, has preserved in formaldehyde, a small walleye whose eyes were bigger than his stomach. The three-inch walleye tried swallowing two other walleye about the same size at the same time, but choked to death in the process.

While Glen has never seen fish eat snakes, he has seen just the opposite. At Rock Creek hatchery, where he had worked many years ago, he often caught water snakes to learn what they had eaten. He would force the stomach out and back out through the snake's mouth. Small 1 1/2 to 2-inch fish weren't unusual. More common, though, were small frogs. In fact, Glen counted 26 frogs that he'd forced out of one snake. And he swears one hopped away!

No Rain, Only Fish

There was a big cloud bank to the west and nothing overhead but clear sky and a three-quarter moon. Still I checked to see if it was sprinkling, for the water surface was dipped like the only rain cloud. But I was wrong; every one of the ripples was caused by bluegill surface feeding like nothing I saw before.

Two of us were bassing a lake north of Lincoln and had so-so luck on Rapalas and purple worms with spinners, flavin; only my spin-cast outfit, but bent on action, I selected a small yellow and black spotted popper and added a tiny split shot about 18 inches up and tossed out. Usually the popper just hit the surface and bargo, a bluegill nailed it. They didn't run big but the perpetual action was fun.

Present world record for bluegill, believe it or not, is a whopping 4 3/4-pounder taken in Alabama 12 years ago. The Nebraska record is a more modest 2 1/2-pounder taken in a Holt County farm pond four years ago. Bluegill are usually found near some kind of cover, like fallen timber, weed beds, etc. And bluegill aren't fussy as to what they'll hit. But when things really get tough, give them your secret weapon—a cricket. Fish with a sensitive gobber set at various depths until you locate a concentration and you're in business.

Wakefield Legion Ousts Wayne in Meet Finals

Headup play by Center Fielder Don Rouse scored Wakefield's winning run in the bottom of the seventh for a 2-1 edging over Wayne in the Legion finals, Monday night at Wayne, and the right to represent District 3 at Wakefield.

Rouse, who advanced to third base on an error by Left Fielder Todd Bigelow, stole home after Wakefield First Baseman Steve Kay hit a bouncing ball to Pitcher Rod Cook. Cook then fired the ball to first for the second out while Bigelow sneaked in to home.

The game was tight until the finish with Wayne's Cook, who went the distance, giving up only two hits while Wakefield's Pat Starzl hurled a one-hitter.

Wayne, playing as the visiting team, broke the scoring ice in the third off an error by Second Baseman Kirk Gardner that allowed Center Fielder Mike Creighton to score.

But the Wakefield club had Gardner come back as the second sacker slapped a double and later scored to knot the game at 1-1.

Wakefield was scheduled to play Dodge in an 8:30 p.m. game Wednesday.

POLLUTION IS A MENACE TO ALL AMERICANS ...
NOT JUST THOSE IN THE "WRONG" NEIGHBORHOODS

Out of sight, out of mind. Perhaps ugly scenes like this are never viewed by most of us but they do exist. They are a menace, not just to those who live or work in the vicinity of polluted areas, but to all of us. You can't isolate something like pollution . . . it spreads its insidious filth through every level of society, contaminating our air, water, and land today and threatening disastrous consequences for generations to come. We must all mobilize against the elements that contribute to pollution — beginning with the empty beer can tossed out of a car window, to the conditions that permit rat-infested slum areas. Our environment is a precious heritage . . . let's preserve it for ourselves and for future Americans!

Mosquitoes Spread Dog Heartworm

Summer time and the arrival of mosquitoes can spell serious trouble for your dog. Not only can mosquitoes be a nuisance, they can also spread dog heartworm disease, a wide-spread and serious problem in many areas of the country.

Heartworm disease in dogs is caused by Dirofilaria immitis, a worm that lives in the right side of the dog's heart and the adjacent blood vessels. These worms sometimes reach 14 inches in length.

Heartworms are only transmitted from dog to dog by mosquitoes. Dogs infected with heartington, Tex., and the Otto Schlueters, Humphrey, spent Wednesday afternoon in the Jack Brockman home.

The Larry Swanson family, Blair, and the Emil Swansons spent ten days vacationing at Driftwood, Minn., and Fort Francis, Canada. The Dennis Swanson family, Finland, Minn., joined them at Driftwood.

Friday evening dinner guests in the Wilmer Deck home were the Harold Capps and Heather, Lakewood, Colo.

worms often develop a deep cough. As the disease progresses, the dog may tire easily and collapse from circulatory failure, ending in death.

With dog heartworm disease, early diagnosis is imperative. Schedule periodic check-ups for your dog. Your veterinarian can determine whether heartworm infection is present through a microscopic examination of the dog's blood.

Control of heartworm disease and other worm problems in dogs is available with a new dewormer recently introduced. Available through veterinarians, this product helps prevent and control roundworms and hookworms and prevents heartworm disease. A small amount is mixed with the food daily.

This dewormer is safe for all dogs of any age or breed, and for bitches before and after whelping. When used as directed, it has no harmful effects.

It would take an isolation chamber to protect your dog completely from heartworm disease. But there are steps you can take. One is to control mosquitoes by spraying your premises with malathion, a non-persistent insecticide that will not harm you or your dog when used properly.

Don't allow mosquitoes to breed around your home. Get rid of trash and eliminate standing water and other potential mosquito breeding sites.

Don't take chances with your pet's health. Give him the protection and care he deserves. You'll be doing yourself a favor, too.

Include Entire Family in Photo Fun on Vacation

On most family trips there's one photographer. The others are strictly subjects, willing or not. When vacation's over, friends and relatives are called in to watch the slide show of color photographs representing one person's point of view about the whole trip. Does this sound familiar? This year, try something different.

Mom, Dad and each child will need a camera of his own. This need not be of professional quality. A relatively inexpensive instamatic camera with self-focusing and automatic exposure features is great for everyone.

Anybody not familiar with the camera should shoot a practice roll or two before leaving home.

New City Councilman Speaks to Kiwanians

Frank Prather, newly-elected City Council member from the Third Ward, and Mayor Kent Hall answered questions concerning city business Monday noon at the regular meeting of the Wayne Kiwanis Club.

Three other new councilmen—Vernon Russell, Ivan Books and Jim Thomas—were invited to the club meeting but were unable to be present.

Much of the question-and-answer period was devoted to the city landfill. It was pointed out that the estimated cost of operation possibly was slightly higher in respect to what it actually would cost and it might take a year of operation before the actual cost can be ascertained.

"In a question of 'monopoly' should the Wayne Refuse Service take over the operation," Prather said the landfill, and the rates charged by a private carrier, would remain under city control.

At the present time, the Refuse Service is not being charged to dump at the landfill, but Wayne State College pays a fee.

Prather said he was of the belief that a contractor or those who use the dump much more than the average person should pay a fee for the privilege.

Hall said that the city would need to buy a crawler-type caterpillar in the near future. If the City of Wayne, is to operate the landfill.

In answer to the query of how long will burning be allowed to continue at the landfill site, Mayor-Hall said it is likely the state will prohibit burning of all kind within a year "and this will mean our landfill will fill up quite fast, necessitating more landfill sites."

Hall said profit from the electrical plant goes into an electrical reserve fund and Prather said the water supply for the next five years appears to be in good shape.

In other areas, Hall said, in answer to a question concerning planned usage of the present hospital, "we have a desperate need for additional city office space and the present hospital might serve our needs well," he added. If the city does not utilize this building, he would be in favor of building a new City Hall.

It was revealed that the Dutch Elm disease problem is worsening, probably twice as many now as compared to 1971. Twenty-seven trees have been tagged for disposal west of Main, but the east side has not been covered as yet.

Slightlyly neighborhoods and what to do about them was brought up by one Kiwanis member. Mayor Hall said that a complaint would have to be filed before any action is taken.

Kiwanis President Keith Mosley reminded members of the club's picnic Monday at 6:30 p.m. at Hiresler Park, with no regular meeting Monday noon, and Duane Fischer said a tentative date of Sept. 9-10 has been set for the rummage sale at City Auditorium.

The retina of the human eye contains six million cone-shaped cells to detect fine lines, points and color. More amazingly, it also contains some 115 million rod-shaped cells to help you see at night.

or silage. Increased production coupled with a reduction in amount of supplemental feeding adds up to more summer profit for dairy-men.

FEED HANDLING CENTERS
Plan feed handling centers before you build—planning with careful thought will pay bigger dividends than almost any other farm planning because animals eat feed 365 days a year.

For professional clues on how to collect those dividends, order "Planning Grain Feed Handling," EC 88-793 to supply you with detailed grain-feed organization. The publication was prepared by the Midwest Plan Service under the direction of agricultural engineers and consulting specialists. It is an official activity of thirteen Land-Grant Universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"This publication is intended primarily as a planning guide—how to assemble equipment into workable systems, not how to build it. Most of the equipment is available commercially. Complete dimensions are given only if the unit must be homemade. Knowledge of equipment and methods is an essential part of visualizing potential solutions to material handling and process flow problems on the farm," stated the primary author, B.A. McKenzie of Purdue University.

The book has been priced at $1, plus tax. Contact the Agricultural Engineering Extension East Campus, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebr., 68503. Money sent along with your order will expedite the handling of orders.

4-H Consumer Education Programs Sharpen-Youths' Skills in Buying

"As consumers, all of us at one time or another perform as amateur accountants, mechanics, electricians, dieticians or engineers in the selection and use of products and services. Yet all too often we do not have the information nor the training for the job," says Melinda Brown, one of last year's national winners in the 4-H consumer education program supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service.

"True? It certainly seems that way in our consumer oriented society," says Lois Howard, program associate, National 4-H Committee. "With their own resources, young people represent an important market for consumer goods and services. And their influence on family purchases is highly significant," Miss Howard explains.

4-H members like Miss Brown of Littleton, Colo., through work in the 4-H consumer education program have learned what it takes to be smart shoppers. They have learned to plan, budget, compare and evaluate quality, and to read labels warranties and instructions.

"Encouraging young people to make decisions, consumer education relates to nearly all 4-H projects," Miss Howard states. While previously emphasizing consumerism in home-centered projects, this year's program has been broadened to appeal to teen boys as well as girls, she noted.

One company provides recognition in the form of medals of honor to four county winners and an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30, as a state award.

During the gala event, the company will present scholarships of $700 each to national winners selected by the Cooperative Extension Service.

FLY POPULATIONS

With the proper corrective measures, heavy fly populations in feedlots can be prevented. Several methods or a combination of them could prove effective.

Correct improper pen drainage to avoid "wet spots" where odors and fly breeding can occur. Remove manure and spilled feed at important fly breeding areas such as fence lines, feed bunk, hospital pens, horse pens and receiving and shipping areas. Manure should also be removed from pens within five days after removal of animals to prevent larval development in mounds and other areas.

Chemical control should be used in conjunction with proper waste management techniques and not as the sole means of control. Space sprays such as Dibrom and Vapona, and residual sprays will aid in reducing the adult fly population. Korlan or Vapona are larvicides suggested for application in areas of intense larval development such as manure stockpiles, hospital and horse pens.

CROSS FENCE PASTURES

Cross fence pastures for dairy cows to increase milk production and reduce out-of-pocket feed costs.

Dairy men can maintain top production throughout the summer by rotational grazing. Cross-fencing with electric fences allows for pasture rotation. Iowa studies have shown a 30 per cent increase in production per acre for rotational grazing compared to conventional grazing.

When possible, make your pasture lots large enough to provide good grazing for 10 days. Move to each new pasture lot at its prime. If the pasture grows faster than expected, rotate your cows faster. Clipping pastures after grazing allows a dairyman to harvest excess pasture as hay

Inflated? — No Way! — 4-H Is Growing

It's no secret... 4-H is growing... And it's growing in many directions including into America's largest cities.

A record five million young people are participating in some phase of the 4-H program. They come from all segments of society, including urban centers as well as America's farms. Neither their economic and cultural backgrounds nor their place of residence provide barriers to learning in the Informal 4-H Youth education program.

Three of 10 4-H members reside on farms, 43 per cent live in rural towns and communities and the remaining 24 per cent come from cities and suburbs.

VOLUNTEERS ASSIST

Behind the five million 4-H'ers and lending their valued assistance are more than 500,000 volunteer adult and youth leaders. And coordinating the many and varied education offerings are professional staff members of the Cooperative Extension Service which conducts the 4-H program nationwide.

Another organization which for the 51st year is contributing mightily to 4-H is the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago. The non-profit, educational organization supported by some 55 corporations and foundations, has budgeted nearly $3 million for 4-H member incentives and recognition, leader training, educational aids and other services during the current year.

More than 245 educational scholarship grants, valued at nearly $172,000, are to be awarded through the Committee at the 1972 National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30. Some 1,500 teens are expected to participate in that event.

Among the National Committee's prestigious list of donors are five corporations which have supported 4-H programs for more than four decades. These include International Harvester Company; Montgomery Ward; Wilson & Co., Inc.; Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corp.; and Armour and Company. Four railway companies which have been supporting 4-H for a similar period are the Burlington Northern; Chicago and North Western; The Milwaukee Road and the Santa Fe.

Donors of awards and other 4-H support for 30 or more years are Westinghouse Electric Corp., Coats & Clark Inc. and The Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Supporting 4-H for 25-30 years are General Motors, Carnation Company, American Oil Foundation, The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, Ford Motor Company Fund, Allis-Chalmers and Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc.

With incentives and other assistance being provided 4-H by America's private sector the informal youth education program is reaching increased numbers of young people everywhere.

Wage-Price Regulations

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q. Is it true that the Pay Board's exception for catch-up Increases is scheduled to expire?

A. The catch-up exception will expire June 30, 1972. However, for those appropriate employee units where average straight-time pay rates, including benefits such as vacation and overtime, is $3 per hour or less, the catch-up exception will expire on Nov. 13, 1972.

Q. I understand that my landlord must determine the base rent for my apartment before increasing rent. How can I figure out the base rent on my own?

A. The base rent for a unit subject to a month-to-month (or less) lease before the freeze is the last rent paid for that unit before the freeze. For example, if you pay your rent on the first of each month, your base rent is your August, 1971, rent. If you were on a lease for more than month-to-month on Aug. 14, 1971, your base rent is determined by one of the following ways:

1. If you signed the lease between May 16 and Aug. 14, 1971, your base rent is the monthly rent called for in that lease.

2. If you signed the lease on or before May 15, 1971, your base rent is the rent stated in the lease plus the average percentage increase charged by the landlord for other units having leases signed between July 16, 1971, and Aug. 14, 1971. If no leases were signed during this period, the landlord must use the leases signed during the preceding 30-day period, and if necessary leases signed in the 90 days prior to that.

3. If no leases were signed in the 90 days before the freeze, your base rent is the rent for your unit on May 25, 1970, plus 5 per cent, or the rent immediately before Aug. 14, 1971, whichever is higher.

In most cases, if you are on a lease your rent may not be increased until the current lease expires.

Q. My landlord charges a fee for automobile parking spaces. Is this considered rent under stabilization regulations?

A. It is considered rent if the parking space is used in connection with your residence. If not so used, however, it is not considered rent. In the latter instance, this kind of activity would be considered a service and your landlord would be subject to the price controls on service industries, unless exempt from controls because of the small business exemption.

Q. Do service organizations have to post their base prices?

A. No. Service organizations do not have to post base prices or base price information. The requirement to post base prices applies to retailers. Though many types of service organizations, such as dry cleaners or TV-repair shops are located in street-level stores, they are not retailers as that term is used in the price regulations. To be considered a retailer, a business must purchase a product and, without substantially changing its form, resell it to the ultimate consumer.

Q. When does a health service provider have to notify or report to the Price Commission?

A—An institutional or non-institutional provider of health services must notify and report to the Price Commission if it has annual sales or revenues of $10 million or more. A health service provider is subject to Tier II reporting requirements if it has annual sales or revenues from $5 million to $10 million. All other health service providers do not have to report or notify, but are subject to monitoring and spot checks by the Internal Revenue Service.

Q. Do all forms that have to be filed with the Price Commission have to be signed by the chief executive officer of the firm?

A. The Price Commission has determined it to be permissible for forms submitted to be signed by any corporate officer if an accompanying certificate is filed (signed by the chief executive officer) certifying the signer of the form to be an officer of the corporation with responsibility for signing such forms.

Q—When does a health service provider have to notify or report to the Price Commission?

A—An institutional or non-institutional provider of health services must notify and report to the Price Commission if it has annual sales or revenues of $10 million or more. A health service provider is subject to Tier II reporting requirements if it has annual sales or revenues from $5 million to $10 million. All other health service providers do not have to report or notify, but are subject to monitoring and spot checks by the Internal Revenue Service.
