

City OK's Sunday Liquor Ordinance

Wayne area residents and their guests soon will be able to toast a brew or sip a glass of their favorite beverage in bottle clubs on Sundays due to the new Sunday Liquor Sales Ordinance passed Tuesday night.

The Wayne City Council passed the measure, allowing such establishments as Les' Steak House, the Black Knight and Bob's Lounge, to serve liquor between the hours of 8 p.m. and midnight on Sunday.

The ordinance states that the establishment taking advantage of selling liquor on Sunday must be closed at least one day a week.

In other council business the members voted for the approval of the change of zoning of the Dr. Gordon Shupe property on Seventh, between Lincoln and Pearl, from its present R1 to B1 zoning.

The change, from R1—Prime Residential to B1—Highway Business, passed on a 7-1 majority, with Councilman Darrel Fuelberth opposed.

The council heard, in one of three hearings, a proposed three per cent occupational tax on the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. No decision will be made until the third reading is presented. At that time the members will decide if the measure should be passed.

During an earlier meeting, representatives from the telephone company told the council that it had permission to pass the occupational tax upon area residents. This would mean that if the council passed the proposed tax, Wayne citizens now using the telephone system, including commercial and residential phones, would be charged the three per cent tax pro-rated to the customer's actual phone bill.

During the relatively short meeting, Council President Paul Gross, substituting for the absent Mayor—Kent Hall—heard from members of the audience concerning parking restrictions in the Oak Drive area.

George Rehm, an Oak Drive resident, told the council that he did not believe that restricted parking on both sides of the street should be ordered on the Oak Drive area since the residents paid for the 31 foot streets.

Presently, there is 24 hour parking on one side of the street while on the other side there is no parking allowed at all.

Rehm contends that if cars or vehicles were allowed to park on both sides of the street, traffic driving through the area would have to slow down. Rehm pointed out that a lot of farm and truck traffic drives through Oak Oak Drive to downtown, making the street somewhat unsafe for the young children playing in the area.

"When cars are parked on the street," he said, "traffic has to slow down."

After further discussion, President Gross referred the topic to a special four man committee set-up by Mayor Hall to study the traffic in Wayne.

In other news, the council agreed to pay $500 for the proof copies of the recodification of the Wayne City ordinances before they go to press.

—Voted to have the Carl S. Becker Co. of Colorado proceed with an efficiency study of the City of Wayne.

—Passed the engineers' acceptance of the storm sewer #11 at an approximate cost of $15,740.

—Approved a $500 park fund for preliminary surveys in order to purchase land or sites and update present park sites in the city.

—Decided to study, with the Fair Board, the costs the Board should pay the City of Wayne in helping to set-up lighting and other equipment at the fair.

According to Councilman Jim Thomas, in figures he released, the total cost to the city was $1,000.

—Agreed to go ahead and have signs and lights put up near Seventh and Walnut for a school crossing; Councilman Keith Mosley pointed out that the State of Nebraska is willing to furnish the signs and install them. St. Mary's School, which asked for the lights and signs to

Queen, King Selected At WSC Music Camp

Dale Hayes of South Sioux City and Pam Smith of Laurel, reigned as king and queen of Wayne State's Summer Music Camp Saturday night. Elected from candidates chosen by the campers, they were crowned at the traditional dance preceding camp's Sunday closing.

King Dale, who will be a senior at South Sioux City High School this year and will enroll as a freshman at Wayne State next month, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hayes.

Queen Pam was graduated from Laurel Central High School this year and will enroll as a freshman at Wayne State next month. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Smith, she sang in the mixed chorus and played snare drum in the camp band.

Both the king and queen attend Music Camp for the first time this summer.

Other contenders for king were Jeff Newell, Elkhorng; Kevin Dunbar, Underwood, Ia.; Bill Garvey, South Sioux City, and Todd Hansen, Neligh. The other queen candidates were Chris Cox and Marie Leshovsky, both of Norfolk; Reynalda Chavez of Grand Island; Marilee Krueger of St. Edward and Cindy Buesing of Omaha.

Boy's Condition Is Still Serious

The condition of Brent Miller, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller, rural Winsted, reportedly is slightly improved.

The youth suffered serious head injuries when he fell off a tractor last Friday at his home. A relative of the boy said he was still in a semi-conscious state and responded to commands but did not open his eyes. He is in the intensive care ward of Methodist Hospital at Omaha.

His mother is staying in Omaha to be near her son. Vernon Miller returned home Tuesday and will go back to Omaha Saturday.

Schools Will Open Aug. 30

The Wayne Public Schools will begin the 1972-73 term Wednesday, Aug. 30, with a teachers' workshop to be conducted Aug. 28-29.

New pupils may register from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, at the high school, West Elementary and Middle School.

St. Mary's School also will open Aug. 30, with the same faculty as during the 1971-72 school year—Father Paul Biegl as superintendent, Sister Margaret Mary as principal, Sister Josephine and Mrs. Eldon Roberts.

Dixon County Fair Barbecue To Be Aug. 21

At a meeting of the Dixon County Fair Board recently at the North East Station, it was voted not to solicit for donations for the barbecue held during the Dixon County Fair.

Business firms which already have ordered supplies or have them on hand may still donate these items and should contact Paul Fischer at Wakefield.

Help will still be needed to serve the barbecue. Those who can help should report to the fairgrounds on Monday, Aug. 21, at about 5:30 p.m.

Kevin G. Victor, Wakefield, a Wayne Herald employee, paid a $10 fine and $6 costs in Wayne County Court Monday for a muffler violation.

27 Head Of Cattle Found Dead

Dean Boeckenhauer, Wakefield, was on his way to buy a new bull for his herd Tuesday morning when, ironically, he spotted 27 of his 50 head of cattle lying dead in the feedlot.

"I was going to buy another bull to eventually expand my herd," he continued, "when I saw the dead cattle."

According to Boeckenhauer, the cause of the deaths is undetermined. "I sent in samples to labs in Lincoln and Brookings, S. D., and hope to have the results in three days."

The cattle, including eight head belonging to Boeckenhauer, are being held at the Boeckenhauer's.

Sunday Film Series To Be at East Park

"Just One," a study of the effects of alcohol on the body. With special emphasis on the reflexes and the brain, is one of three films to be shown by the Wayne Police Department Sunday evening at dusk at East Park, Fifth and Walnut.

The 25-minute color film, especially for those of junior high age on up, shows the effects of alcohol replacing the oxygen in the blood stream and damage to the brain caused by heavy drinking.

"The Thin Blue Line" is a documentary film which examines what it's like to be a policeman in a large American city. Narrated by Van Heflin, the film depicts the policeman and his role in the community as the community sees him.

On the spot interviews a r e made in the 26-minute black and white film to give the policeman's point of view. This film also is for those junior high age and above.

The third film of the night, "Use Your Eyes," is a training film used to help patrol officers become proficient in detecting use of marijuana and hashish in a residence call.

The short color film, only 14 minutes in length, shows marijuana in several stages, where it is often hidden and how it is used.

This film, popular for parent group showings; is especially for adults.

Weather

Rainfall, which has been quite generous the past month, dropped off to a "mere" half-inch the past week, with 40 of an inch on Aug. 1, 0.9 on Aug. 2 and a trace Monday night.

Temperatures remained unseasonably cool for August, beginning just before the start of the Wayne County Fair and continuing through the middle of the week.

Construction of Storage Building Approved by Board of Education

The Dist. 17 Board of Education voted Monday night to accept the bid of $4,998 by Vakoc Construction Co. for a 36-foot by 24-foot building for storage of smaller gas engine machines, such as mowers, snowblowers and tractors.

The school district had been notified some time ago by the state fire marshal that such machines must be moved out of the boiler rooms where they are now housed, citing the fire danger hazards.

The building will be erected south of the high school, east of West Elementary School and will be of painted steel construction.

The decision followed a lengthy discussion as to whether the board wanted to build facilities for storage only, to go for the low bid, $7,623 for a 32-foot by 40-foot building that would enable minor bus repair and maintenance, or a wooden frame structure.

Wilbur Giese made a motion that bids be taken on a 24-foot by 36-foot frame building, but the motion died for lack of a second.

Morris Sandahl then made the motion to accept Vakoc's bid on the insulated steel structure, a motion seconded by Dorothy Ley. The motion carried, with Giese opposed.

King's Carpel was the apparent successful bidder on carpeting for the second-floor office and library at Middle School. King's total bid was $2,746. The approval of the bid is contingent on Supt. Francis Haun's findings that the material meets all specifications set down by the fire marshal.

July bills in the amount of $17,823.82 were approved by the board at the 3 1/2-hour meeting. However, those bills included the purchase of two rooms of furniture, $4,560.10 for the Middle School library and $917.40 for the sixth-grade room at Middle School. Furniture was also purchased for the English room at the high school, but those bills will come up at the September meeting of the board.

Other expenditures other than normal were $4,308.66 for a new school bus chassis and $3,095.85 for school bus body and $1,346.33 for lighting, lowering of the ceilings, etc., at Middle School.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION

Notes

by Myrtle Anderson

Have you ever determined the amount of time and steps spent every week to care for the family's laundry? It is obvious that the larger the family, the more laundry that needs to be done, but even small families produce a sizeable pile of soiled clothing and household linens every week.

And dryers may be found in many different locations in today's homes. Choosing the best area for a laundry center depends on the floor plan or layout of the home, availability of plumbing and electrical lines, daily activities of the person who does most of the laundry, and the budget. Laundry appliances are available in beautiful decorator colors which make them attractive in any setting.

The basement is no longer the most desirable place for today's laundry equipment. With the laundry appliances being manufactured with color, design and convenience in prime consideration, the homemaker wants it placed where steps and energy can be saved. Two areas highly recommended by manufacturers are the bedroom-bathroom and the kitchen.

The bedroom-bathroom location is chosen by increasing numbers of homemakers. Most soiled clothing, sheets and towels originate there and must be stored once again in that area. If space in a hall, bedroom or bathroom is available, the plumbing lines are relatively near, therefore, installation costs are reduced. It also provides a greater opportunity for family members to be responsible for pulling their own dirty clothing into the laundry hamper, saving mom more steps and time.

The kitchen area is a favorite with many homemakers due to the amount of time spent here. Again, plumbing lines are conveniently located, and if a back door is situated nearby, muddy or "dirty" play or gardening clothing can be left in the laundry area for washing. Wet snow suits can be easily tumbled dried for the next outfit.

There are many other possibilities for a laundry center and if there is an additional cost for plumbing, it may be well worth it. A family of hobby roomers one such choice, a spare bedroom, patio, breezeway or carport area.

Whenever your laundry area is found presently or wherever you plan to move it, consider some other helpful guidelines. Adequate lighting is essential; ample counter space for folding laundry, pre-treating and other activities is also needed. Enough storage space to hold necessary supplies must be provided. Keep in mind all the items used laundry soap, detergent, bleaches, fabric softener, water conditioner, brightener, stain-removal strips, sewing equipment to mend rips and tears before washing, and hangers for p.e.m.a.p.e.t. press items taken from the dryer. Some homemakers will also want to store and ironing equipment in the same place.

Be certain to provide hamper space for storage of soiled laundry. A laundry chute from upstairs bedrooms to the laundry center in kitchen or basement will lessen steps and effort. Laundry carts on wheels will facilitate easy transporting of either soiled or clean laundry from one part of the home to another. Some even have compartments for immediate soiling.

Youth Visit In Winside

The Contact Team, a group of five young people, arrived in Winside last Saturday for a week of Christian witnessing. St. Paul's Lutheran Church, of which A. W. Gottberg is pastor, sponsored the visit. A great acquainted evening was held that evening in the Gottberg home with several local young people attending.

Sunday morning the team led Bible studies and participated in the 10:30 a.m. worship and communion services. A softball game was held at the Winside Ball Park that afternoon with Becky Row, team member from Colorado, and Steve Kegley of Sioux City as captains. Kegley's team won the game 20 to 16. A 6 p.m. pot luck supper at the church social rooms that evening was attended by about 200.

The team conducted Bible studies for about 30 seventh, eighth and ninth graders each morning, Monday through Thursday, and visited nursing homes and shut ins throughout the afternoons.

A fellowship evening and rap session were held Monday evening at the church and the group visited the Senior Citizens Center Tuesday afternoon. That evening team members, accompanied by about 50 Walthill Leaguers, the Gottbergs and the Gary Kanis, took a school bus trip to Gavins Point for a beach party.

The team visited the Ladies Aid meeting Wednesday afternoon and left for a swimming party at Wayne State College. About 25 local youth accompanied them and enjoyed a winner roast at the Wayne park afterward. A rally was held Thursday at the church with special music by Darc Janner, Jeanette Gottberg, Kessi Duering, Jackie Gramberg, Lisa Lonckecker, Debbie Dittman and

Wayne Woman's Cake Recipe Published

"Speechless," is what Mrs. Frank (Marie) Lansing, Wayne, was when she received a card, from Elsie W. Manning, Food Editor of Farm Journal, that her recipe for chocolate applesauce cake had been published in Farm Journal's latest cookbook, "Homemade Ice Cream and Cake."

Not only was her recipe published, but she also received a free copy of the $5.95 cookbook. One and a half years ago Mrs. Lansing read an article in Farm Journal about sending in a recipe and receiving a dollar. She sent the cake recipe in and forgot about it until about a week ago when her husband Frank, picked up the mail and read a postcard telling about the publication.

The card read: "CONGRATULATIONS! Your recipe sent to us some time ago, has been tested, perfected and published in Farm Journal's latest cookbook, 'Homemade Ice Cream and Cake.' The recipe has been printed as page 96. Under separate cover we are sending you a copy of our cookbook. Thank you for your contribution to Farm Journal."

When Mrs. Lansing bakes her chocolate applesauce cake she prefers not to frost it. But, Elsie Manning, has printed an icing recipe to be used with Mrs. Lansing's cake. For you recipe collectors, the recipe can be found elsewhere on this page.

engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Olson, Wakefield, announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Olson, to Robert Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson, Rock, Ill.

Miss Olson is a graduate of Wakefield High School and North Park College, Chicago. Her fiancé teaches Junior High School in the Chicago area. A graduate of North Park, he received his masters degree in April.

Plans are being made for a December wedding.

Mrs. Frank Lansing shows "Homemade Ice Cream and Cake" book she received from Better Home and Gardens with her original chocolate applesauce cake recipe published in it.

Mc NEBRASKAland

Last week was a fishing week that shouldn't have been, for me anyway. Carler P. Johnson Lake, northwest headquarters at Fort Robinson, my toiling produced but four fish. And it seems that rain is my constant companion, for at Ft. Rob. as elsewhere in the past three weeks, rain washed me out.

Last spring when I first saw the Johnson Lake, it was full of water and gin clear, all the makings of a bass bonanza. But last week, the lake which reportedly produces some lunkers in early June, was rimmed with heavy moss and generally well bogged with the green stuff throughout. The water level had dropped considerably, and access for bank fishing was limited.

Using my favorite No. 7 red Rapala, I didn't score until I worked my way around to a small bay. My first cast along the edge of moss produced a 12-inch rainbow. Another smaller rainbow, a largemouth bass, and finally a bluegill hit my Rapala before an unrelenting rain put me in retreat to the fort.

Had there been time the next morning, I would have explored the pothourri of waters in the area. There's the White River to the southwest, the south and north forks of Soldiers Creek in the wood reserve, and for a fee, a sector of Soldiers Creek nearer the fort. Whitney Lake is off to the northeast.

Fishing, though, is only one of many activities at the historic fort. George James provides guests with stagecoach rides, jeep rides to the Cheyenne Buttes, and on Tuesday and Friday, hayrack rides to the Red Cloud Agency for a mouth-savoring cookout and an evening under the western sky. Trail rides are also available.

Ft. Robinson, an active military post until after World War II, is where Chief Crazy Horse surrendered and later was bayoneted. A stone marker stands where he fell and died.

Guests today occupy former officers' quarters, and dine and lodge in a converted barracks building. Campers, too, have a place on the grounds where history stalks. Two museums, a free outdoor movie, most playhouse, tennis, and now horseshoes, keep guests busy.

Latest attraction is the buffalo kill site, possibly the biggest ever found in Nebraska, some 20 miles away. Guests are welcome to the area where Chadron State College has erected a camp for its staff, complete with tents for sleeping, showers, and mess hall. Directions are available at fort headquarters, three miles west of Crawford on U. S. 20.

SCALES TELL AGE

It's tough for a fish to hide his age, for his scales tell all. Checked under a microscope, a scale tells the kind of fish, how old it is, and how fast it grew. Fish scales have rings, as do trees, but the number of rings doesn't necessarily reveal his age. Many rings are added each year and it takes a trained individual to interpret what the microscope shows.

According to Mercury Fishing Facts, one of the oldest fish known is a blue catfish in Missouri that lived for 30 years. A few carp are said to live as long as 40 years. Life expectancy, for most fish, though, is relatively short.

MISHMASH. . . . Bon Yoshimi, who operates Bon's Point by the lighthouse at Lake Minatare in the panhandle, was in Hiroshima when the atom bomb fell. He later served in the U. S. Army. Lake Minatare is completely lined with trees and ranks with Nebraska's most beautiful waters. Bill Habie, who formerly operated the concession at Hugh Butler Lake, is building a commercial minnow farm near McCook. He has three ponds in operation and hopes to have 17 more ready next spring. . . . Saw a rooster pheasant at the base of a "Lover's Leap" sign on the approach to Ft. Robinson. Couldn't tell if the rooster was pondering a decision or not. . . . Most people I've met in recent weeks report more pheasants and quail than in recent years. Cottontail rabbits are nearly everywhere back. . . . Former Waverly basketball star Glen Houser (late 1940's) is the new owner of beautiful Rimrock Ranch near Crawford. Glen's a cattle rancher who is doubling as a perfect guest-ranch host, along with his wife and family. His trail ride defies description. . . . Total camp sites last year increased 110,201 to 820,059, and the trend to greater luxury and convenience is evident in the big climb in electrical, water, and sewer hookups. . . . An estimated eight per cent of the population is traveling for business or pleasure on any given day of the year.

PLACES A-GO-GO. . . . Wally Byam Caravan Club Rally, Crete, Aug. 11-13; Keith County RCA Rodeo, Ogallala, 12-14; Centennial Celebration, Atkinson, 12-15; Homesite Openment near Beatrice; site of nation's first bomstead (1862); Fort Niobrara, Wildlife Refuge near Valentine, where buffalo, elk and longhorns compete with waterfalls and other majestic scenery for attention.

One, two, three. . . Wayne Pitcher Randy Nelson anxiously awaits First Baseman Earle Overin to drive him in. But Overin's swing goes foul over the backstop fence. In the Hank Overin, right, signals his players to be ready to run when Wayne had the bases loaded in the fifth.

Auburn Explodes in Fourth

The town of St. Paul will leave many memories in the minds of the Wayne Midgets next time they pass through the area. Monday night the team lost its Auburn captured the Class B Midget title Tuesday, beating Aurora, 5-4. In American Legion Junior finals, Dodge erased Central City, 5-3, to capture the Class B state title.

After its first tournament loss to Central City. Opportunity only knocked once at the Wayne Midgets' door Monday night at St. Paul. But the door quickly shut the locals out of the final round of the State Class B Midgets final when Auburn nipped the area club, 5-3.

The Wayne club failed to take advantage of a bases-loaded situation in the top of the fifth with one man out, which even badly-spelled defeat for visiting club.

But the miscue was only part of the problems that plagued Hank Overin's club to bring about the team's third loss against 17 wins.

The bottom of the fourth was the witching hour for the Midgets. Hurier Randy Nelson had two men out and runners on first and second. A pop fly to shallow right field by Auburn Left Fielder Jerry Lotter sent three Wayne players tumbling to the ground after First Baseman Earle Overin, Second Baseman Kim Baker and Right Fielder Kerry Jech collided, attempting to make the catch for the third out.

As a result of the mass collision, Auburn scored the go-ahead run, 3-2.

Earlier, the home team (Auburn) scored a run on a single by Catcher Doug Thomas after Right Fielder Dave Winger singled and First Baseman Dennis Allen walked. But the collision, which left Jech and Baker dazed a bit, allowed both runners to cross the plate. Later, Auburn scored its fourth run via a single.

Wayne opened up the game with a solo run by Left Fielder Marty Hansen after he got a free pass to first. Two stolen bases put the left hander on third. A single by Shortstop Charlie Roland gave the visitors

Third Baseman Mike Meyer boomed one out to right field only to have Auburn snag the catch for out number three.

From that point on, Wayne was at a low point until the top of the seventh when Auburn snuffed out the team's bid for a tie game.

Nelson opened the stanza with a sailing fly that traveled close to the 350-foot fence before Center Fielder Bob Shigley brought it down. Catcher Bill Schwartz rejuvenated Wayne's hopes with a double, bringing Roland to bat. After a change of runners for Schwartz, Roland hit a shot base for a double play catching pinch runner Randy Workman and ending the game.

Two big factors did play an important part in Auburn's win. The first six ballers batted averages over the .400 mark with Right Fielder Dave Winger carrying the biggest load at .596. Although Nelson seemed to have little trouble with the top six in the first three innings, the fatal fourth proved to be part of the difference between winning and losing.

Another factor was the home team's large turnout of boosters. Wayne had four men in the hitting column with Nelson and Schwartz leading the troops via two doubles.

For Auburn, Cole was the ace man with three hits, including a single in the fourth and a run-scoring triple in the sixth for the home team's fifth run

Emery, Oakeson Net Doubles Win

Mitch Emery and Gary Oakeson combined for a 6-4, 6-1 whipping of Larry Pochop and Rich Fritz this past week end to win the doubles title in the first Wayne Open Tennis tourney.

Emery and Oakeson stopped Jim Foster and Bill Jochum, 6-0 and default to advance into the finals at the Wayne State tennis court.

Pochop and Fritz earned their way to the top by defeating Wes Fritz and Neil Swanson, 6-3 and 6-0, before taking second place during the three-day tourney.

"A tight race Saturday, said Tourney Director Bill Tabbert, did hamper the Wayne County Jaycee tourney, forcing most of the competition to be completed Sunday.

All took three games to decide the winner in the Sr. Men's event with Jim Foster finally winning the match over Tom Roberts. Foster took the first set, 7-5, but lost the next 3-6. Foster then fired back with a 6-2 victory to ice the title.

In the first rounds of Sr. Men's play, Foster knocked off Jack March, 6-1 and 6-4, while Roberts defeated Frank Prather with a dual score of 6-4.

In the Men's bracket, Emery was again a winner, running over his doubles teammate, Oakeson, 6-1 and 6-4.

Earlier, Emery beat Jim Stevens, 6-7 and 6-0, after Oakeson ripped Wes Fritz, 6-0 and 6-3.

Other results include: 14 and under—Won by Tom Eynon over Todd Foster, 6-1 and 6-1.

15-18 Won by Larry Pochop over Dave Busskohl, 6-4 and 6-2.

North Basketball Squad Invades Wayne State for All-Star Workout

With both head coaches concerned about molding a working unit out of their 12 all-stars, training camps will open Thursday evening (tonight) for the fourth annual All-Star Basketball Game sponsored by the Nebraska Coaches Association.

The North's Jack Johnson of Columbus and the South's Lyle Buell of Millard plan to continue the tradition of opening camps with three-day workouts, the North squad at Wayne State College and the South squad at Kearney State College. Practice sessions are open free to the public.

Johnson said he would continue with the three-day schedule, "until we are getting good, only." He said that would be indicated by a lack of turnovers, knowing where teammates are going to be, knowing when to shoot, and being in rebound position on offense. According to Johnson, the North will work on the three-day plan until the day before the game if necessary.

Buell, who will be trying to get the South back on the winning track after last year's 99-64 North win, said the South will primarily work on fundamentals during morning workouts with the afternoon devoted to offensive patterns. He expects most evenings to be taken by scrimmage sessions.

Noting that each of the all-stars has been the leader of his high school team, Buell observed, "It's a matter of working with the kids long enough to adjust to team play."

First Seven-Footer

Even though he has the state's first seven-foot ball player in Papillon's Mike Heck, Buell said, "We aren't going to concentrate on the middle all the time." Buell said that while Heck is dead in the six to eight-foot range, he can also hit from the free throw lane with a jump shot.

Johnson, whose tallest cager is six-foot-six Joe Mueeling of Norfolk Catholic, figures defense to be the key to the game. He plans a pressure defense that can collapse in the middle if necessary to stop Heck. Johnson said his North charges will be checked on defensive fundamentals at Friday morning's workout. Both teams are required to play a man-to-man defense according to game rules.

Offensively, Johnson is counting on utilizing the full-court offense that earned his Columbus Discoverers the state Class A title this year. Buell, on the other hand, said the South will try a single post offense and attempt to get a balanced scoring attack.

Buell said it appears that his South team has some quickness

NU Will Hold 10th Seminar On August 18

Two men who help keep the Nebraska Cornhusker football team ready for play will take part in the 10th Annual Seminar on the Medical Aspects of Competitive Athletics, Aug. 18 in Lincoln.

They are Paul Schneider, athletic trainer for NU, and George Sullivan, physical therapist and trainer for the Cornhuskers. LeRoy Zentis, coach of the Lincoln East High School football team, will also be on the program.

The seminar is sponsored by the Nebraska Medical Association in cooperation with the Nebraska Dental Association, Nebraska High School Activities Association, Nebraska Physical Therapy Association, NU Health Services Division of Athletic Medicine, and the Nebraska Chapter, American Academy of Family Physicians.

Dr. John E. Murphy, Aurora, chairman of the subcommittee on athletic injuries of the Nebraska Medical Association, heads up the program committee.

Dr. Kenneth D. Rose, chief of the division of Medical Research at NU, will speak on "Cardio-vascular Fitness" as a part of the program.

at both guard and forward. Buell figures ballhandling to be a plus factor for the South as his forwards, which are slightly shorter than the North's, could bring the ball up the court. With the shorter forwards, Buell sees a need for the South to work on checking out the North for rebound position.

Johnson concurs with Buell's estimation. The North mentor said he assumes that the South forwards won't be as tall but pretty agile. Noting that the South guards are quick, Johnson said, "I would imagine that they'll be real ball hawks on defense."

Both coaches feel the North is well balanced. "They have more depth at forward and the middle position than we do," Buell said of the North front line.

"Overall," Johnson said, "the North should be able to move the ball up and down the floor—be a mobile team." Neither Buell nor Johnson expect any surprises as they both compete in the Apollo Conference. Buell said, "I'm sure he probably knows what things I'd like to do and I pretty much know what he'd like to do."

Each camp will open with a Chamber of Commerce sponsored buffet dinner for the all-stars and their parents Thursday evening (tonight). Friday afternoon includes a picture session at each camp as the two squads pose for their team portraits.

Other special activities include a Tuesday evening steak fry at Wayne and a dinner with the Holdrege Kiwanis Club for the South on Wednesday.

The teams will remain at the campus until Aug. 18, when they report to Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln. Tipoff is 8 p.m. that night.

Gunsners should never shoot a rifle or pistol at a hard, flat surface or at water because of the danger of a ricochet. Target shooters should always use a backdrop adequate for the gun they are shooting.

Kiwanis Briefed On Convention

Bob Carhart, delegate to the Kiwanis International convention recently at Atlantic City, N.J., reported to Wayne club members on the convention at the regular Monday luncheon meeting at City Auditorium.

The convention center, located on the famed 4 1/2-mile boardwalk, featured addresses by Miss America, the Canadian premier and Art Linkletter, who spoke on drugs and the personal tragedies experienced by his family.

He said the atmosphere was surrounded by the idea that "nothing happens unless a person adopts the attitude of 'getting involved' in affairs affecting all persons.

Kiwanis Lieutenant Governor Arnold Norskov of Albion made a visitation to the club and addressed members briefly.

Funeral Service Held Monday for Violet D. Meller

Funeral services were held Monday for Mrs. John (Violet) Meller, 70, of Belden, at the Johnson Funeral Chapel, Belden. Mrs. Meller died Friday at the Osmond Hospital after a lingering illness.

Mrs. David E. Sellers, Norfolk, officiated. Burial was in the Belden Cemetery.

Violet D. Hintz daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hintz, was born April 10, 1902, at Coleridge. On Oct. 21, 1927 she was married to John W. Meller at Pierce. In March, 1970, they moved to Belden after having lived in South Sioux City, Colorado and Louisiana.

Survivors include her widow, John; four sisters, Mrs. Ed Sala of Wayve, Mrs. Ralph Putney of Randolph, Mrs. Roy Benjamin of Laurel and Mrs. Charles Brayton of Grand Junction, Colo.; and three brothers, Elmer, H. H. and Coleridge, Charles of Belden and Ivan of Ontario, Ore.

Business Notes

Coryell Auto Co. of Wayne played a supporting role in helping make automotive history recently as 6,000 Chevrolet dealers across the country topped the 1,000,000 unit mark in the 100 day period of April 21 through May 21.

Elmer H. Hinz of Coryell Auto, said his company accounted for 123 of those Chevrolet cars and trucks, adding that the million mark was the first time the automotive industry had accomplished the feat in a 100-day period.

MS Proceeds Continue to Climb

The final total in for the city's annual multiple sclerosis drive, according to City Chairman, Mrs. Jerry Malcom. The $1,127.81 collected this year topped last year's $1,121.03 in spite of not being benefited by a bake sale as last year.

The breakdown for city chairmen is as follows: Mrs. Larry Johnson, $117.90; Mrs. Gene Mitchell, $184.86; Mrs. Paul Ott, $135.80; Mrs. Al Kern, $128.40; Mrs. Evan Bennett, $308.14 and Mrs. Jerry Malcom, $189.29. Canisters brought in $18.02, and the remainder of donations were from miscellaneous sources such as those mailing directly to the bank.

The Wayne County Drive, being conducted by the Jaycees, promises to also exceed last year's totals of $256. According to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Preston, about half the county envelopes have been turned in and the total to date is $232. Jaycees would appreciate return of envelopes so drive can be completed.

Construction

is established by the board, restricting the riding of all two-wheel motorized vehicles to the alfalfa field on the school grounds. The motion added "in the event lack of cooperation, there will be complete disbarment from school property."

Milton Owens was opposed.

A year ago, the board chose not to adopt any policy regulating the riding of mini-bikes on school property.

The board discussed the request of Gaylon Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller of Wayne, formerly of Wayne, to attend his senior year at Wayne High School as a free tuition student, citing his desire to continue courses, including an art class, here, with his grandparents as legal guardians.

Counseling by the school district's attorney with the county judge will be requested to determine if need exists for legal guardianship. However, if the judge grants legal guardianship to the grandparents, the school is bound, by law, to accept the student under free tuition. That law states that a school district is legally bound to accept a student whose parents or legal guardian reside in the district. No guardianship papers as yet have been submitted to the board.

Three more teachers' contracts were given approval by the board that of Ernest Bedell as vocal music instructor at a $10,741 yearly salary; of Mrs. Kom (Cynthia) Swartz as academically talented instructor, a program financed by Educational Service Unit 1, with a half time salary of $4,040, and of Rebecca Juells as school nurse at a $5,000 annual salary.

In other business, the board set Monday, noon, Aug. 28, as the time for the teachers' dinner at West Elementary School and Sept 26 as the date for the Nebraska State School Board Association dinner at West Elementary to be followed by a meeting at the high school.

—Authorized acceptance of low-bid and or if bids are the same, to continue with Gillette-Wayne and Bearrice Foods in Carroll.

—Heard a report on the Summer School in which Supt. Haun commended Dorothy Ley for her work with the three-week workshop. Financed principally through ESU 1.

—Accepted the low bid of $122 by Tom's Music Store of Norfolk for a drum, drum holder and cymbal. Other bids submitted for music department items were by Behmer's of Norfolk, $124.50; Hospe of Omaha, $127.75, and Wayne Music Co., $165.

—Voted to accept the decision of the Planning Commission regarding rezoning of Dr. Gordon Shupe's property. School districts, by law, have to be consulted on rezoning proposals.

—Discussed broadening of liability insurance to cover the board, superintendent and principals in possible lawsuits resulting from policy and judgment decisions.

Fragile Cars

That often-heard complaint that "cars are built any more so they used to be" has more merit than most good-old days sayings. Modern cars, of course, accelerate faster, reach much higher speeds and will run longer and more reliably than in the days of the Model A... total insurance premium, one company claims. Even $10 million apparently won't build a car "as sturdy as in the good old days." That's what the lunar rover used by the astronauts during their stay on the moon, cost to develop and build.

Governor Exon's Team Has Change in Lineup

LINCOLN—There have been some lineup changes in the Exon administration's statehouse team. John Kissack is out as motor vehicles director. He resigned to go back home to take care of his Scottsbluff office equipment business.

"He had left his business in Scottsbluff for public service, but has been forced to return to his private business due to the untimely death of his key business associate." In his letter of resignation, Kissack said he had been able to leave his business in the first place because of James E. Parks, his business manager.

Cleaner Environment Needs You!

Do you believe that working toward a cleaner environment is everyone's responsibility? If you do, you are not alone. Although it is impossible for an individual to even attempt to significantly clean up our land and water, dispose of our trash, and decontaminate our air, the American Gas Association has compiled a list of positive contributions an individual can make toward cleaning up his "home environment."

Safety Plan Announced By Governor

LINCOLN—Governor J. James Exon has announced a comprehensive traffic safety campaign for the rest of 1972. The campaign will be directed by the Governor's Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee.

Reduce Indoor Pollution. Noise Pollution: Major appliances, like furnaces, refrigerators, and TV sets, can set up annoying vibrations that can drive you to distraction. Can the noise level in your home be reduced? You may find that you work more efficiently... and are more relaxed... with a little less noise.

Wage-Price Regulations

Q. My business was issued a notice for allegedly violating price controls. What happens at an IRS interview requested by a firm that has been issued a notice of violation?
 A. During the interview you will be informed of the particulars of your case. You are alleged to show a violation of Economic Stabilization Program regulations and guidelines. In addition sufficient facts, figures and legal analysis will be made available to you in order to acquaint you with the nature, basis and other essential elements of the alleged violation. You may, if you wish, be accompanied by counsel at this interview.
 Economic Stabilization regulations do not provide for an appeal from a notice of violation to the Price Commission, Pay Board or Cost of Living Council in Washington, D.C. An interview with the local IRS District Director serves this purpose more conveniently since one or more IRS district offices are located in each state.
 For more information on notices of violation, see IRS Publication S-3024, "Violations of Economic Stabilization Program Regulations." It's available free by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

ABC's of AC Safety

In 1971, Americans bought almost 95 million small electric appliances ranging from can openers and coffee pots to hairdryers and shavers. And, because of the tremendous popularity of these items, time and effort savers, it's important for each of us to understand how to keep them safe from "shocking" experiences.

Here, then, are some things you should know about household AC safety:

1. Cap all unused wall sockets with special plastic inserts made for this purpose. Sold at most hardware stores, these protect your children from accidental shock.
2. Never run appliances with frayed wires. These can give you the kind of "lift" you're bound not to appreciate.
3. Avoid running extension cords through holes in fire walls or under rugs. These two places are great insulation rubber-offers and potential fire hazards.
4. Instead of winding the cord around a hand-held hairdryer, use the plastic tie cord that comes with it, or use a covered wire tie from a bread wrapping or plastic storage bag to fold and secure the cord gently. Otherwise, the cord might break where it enters the appliance.
5. Always unplug an appliance before you clean it, even if you've turned it off.
6. Never use an electric hair-setter for shaver while you're bathing. And, when you do use them, be sure you're standing on a surface that's dry.
7. Instead of pulling on the cord to unplug an electric appliance, hold the plug at the end of the cord to remove it from the socket.
8. Since more than one-third of all small electric appliance accidents happen to children, keep these appliances out of the reach of little hands. And if you store your appliances high up on shelves, make sure not to leave their cords dangling for children to pull.

Given the proper care, your small electric appliances will not only make your life a whole lot easier, they'll make it a whole lot safer, too.

high content of salts originating from feed rations, the soil chemist noted. "Due to the popular feedlot system used in the United States for fattening animals, manure must be hauled to another area for spreading. "In order to reduce the number of acres required for waste disposal, the maximum amount of manure must be applied," Chesnin said.

While on his three-week tour through Germany, Switzerland and the Netherlands, Chesnin noted that these countries have little problem with animal waste disposal. Pasture-grazing is the popular method used for feeding animals. "The application of manure is done by the animal," he said, "and spreading on different soil isn't necessary."

Since European countries receive more rainfall than the United States, salts leach through the soil, Chesnin explained. Research is being done in these countries to determine if this leaching process has any effect on ground water supplies. Chesnin visited such places as

Adequate Capital
Adequate capital is the heart of any system of profitable farming. In fact, it is so important in profitable operations that most farm families are finding it necessary—and profitable—to borrow.

Farming is no longer a subsistence industry where farmers produce their own inputs. Farmers must now approach management like any other businessman and, as such, use credit as a tool to expand and increase productivity.

During the first half of this century, farmers obtained at most 80 per cent of their capital through the internal generation of earnings and only about 20 per cent from credit sources. Today it appears that earnings generate only about two-thirds of what is needed in the farming business. The remaining third comes from external or borrowed capital.

Costs are involved in the use of credit in the form of interest. Interest is the payment for the use of money just as rent is the payment of the use of land and wages are the payment for the use of labor.

Rates Vary
Interest rates vary over time, just as do prices of other products. You can save by shopping for credit and recent federal legislation has simplified this procedure. All merchants and lenders are now required to provide credit users will full disclosure of credit costs, terms and annual interest rates.

Another cost which is often overlooked is the cost involved in not using enough credit.

Carroll Youth Top Tractor Driver

Alan Finn of Carroll was the first place winner in the tractor driving contests held during the first 4-H Tractor Camp held in Nebraska recently at the Northeast Station.

Alan, the 1971 state winner, and third-place winner at the regional contest at Phoenix, Ariz., is again eligible to compete in the state contest.

Forty young men from Dakota, Cedar, Dixon, Wayne, Madison and Cuming Counties participated in the camp.

Appearing on the program for the camp were several members of the Department of Engineering at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. William Splinter, chairman of the department, discussed the career opportunities in agricultural engineering.

Delbert Lane, Extension engineer, discussed the care of the tractor, tractor knowledge and noise pollution. Lane also helped with the tractor driving contest.

Rollie Schneider, Extension engineer, discussed tractor safety and also helped with the contest. Lester Larson, agricultural engineer, discussed the tractor testing program at the University of Nebraska.

Wayne Fisher, district agricultural engineer, assisted with the camp program arrangements and assisted with the tractor contest.

Lyle Vawter, Cedar County Extension agent, assisted with the tractor contest.

Crops Field Day Sept. 12 At NE Station

The Crops Field Day at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station has been set for Sept. 12, according to Cal Ward, District Extension Director and Station Superintendent.

Tours of experiments conducted by George Rehm, Russell Moomaw and Wayne Fisher will begin at 10 a.m. and will continue until mid-afternoon.

Featured stops related to corn production will include chemical weed control, starter fertilizer and date of planting, corn root worm control, furrow irrigation management, economic comparison of corn and milo, and systems of planting and weed control. Soybean stops will include row spacing and weed control, and response of soybeans to carryover fertilizer.

Blue ribbon winners and counties were Gary Hanson, Wayne County; Ric Straight, Wayne County; Verneal Roberts, Dixon County; Mark Koch, Cedar County; Doug Loberg, Wayne County; Greg Konken, Cedar County; and Craig Bloom, Allen County.

White ribbons were awarded to Roger Kaiser, Cedar; Dale Watts, Wayne; Jim Renner, Cuming; Mark Mueller, Dakota; Max Loetscher, Dakota; Dennis Barata, Cuming; and David Watts, Wayne.

Sandahl Tractor Pull Champ

Area favorite John Sandahl won the 12,000-pound stock class in the tractor pull at the Wayne County Fair Saturday evening.

An overflow crowd jammed the newly-built stands to watch the six events, including two hot rod and four stock classes.

Doug Nelson, Wayne, was the only local contestant to place. He took second in the 5,000-pound stock class.

Other classes and winners were:

Heavy Hot Rod

This hot rod tractor driven by Tim Glasnapp, Lytton, Ia., flexes its muscles Saturday during the 5,000-pound hot rod class of the tractor pull Saturday at the Wayne County Fair. Glasnapp drove his monster 241 feet and eight inches before his machine stopped. But the distance was far enough as Glasnapp won his division.

Best Sheep Showmen

Ronnie Lippman, son of Mrs. Marie Lippman of Wayne, was named Senior Showman in the sheep division of the Wayne County Fair last week. He showed this top fat lamb in both the 4-H and open class competition. In the picture (below), Rhonda Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wilson of Pender, showed this purple ribbon-winning ewe for Junior Showmanship honors.

When filling stations attendants were bewildered when Dr. U. S. Conn drove his Franklin air-cooled car to stations for gas and oil and no water?

When Marshal Bill Stewart was always accompanied by his German police dog?

When Prof. O. R. Bowen always wore a black bow tie?

What can be done to get rid of rust on Manhattan Bluegrass? Probably nothing should be done right now. Later this fall sulphur or a rusticide could be applied.

Should red raspberries be irrigated after bearing fruit? Yes—clear to the ground. Is spraying once every two weeks enough to stop infestation of worms in apples? No. The tree should be sprayed every week to ensure a worm-free crop. Care must be taken to make sure that the spray completely covers the tree.

Such commonly heard sounds as police whistles, pneumatic drills and crowded city traffic can produce noise at the 90-decibel level, which can be hazardous when exposure is continuous or prolonged.

Karen Anderson Has Dairy Cow Champion

Karen Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of Wayne, had the Grand Champion Dairy Cow, a Holstein, in the 4-H division last week at the Wayne County Fair.

The reserve champion was shown by David Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Anderson of Laurel.

Top dairy showman was Rhonda Knesche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Knesche of Wayne. The runner-up award in showmanship went to David Anderson.

Ribbons awarded in the various dairy divisions were as follows:

Holstein Junior Calf—Dwight Anderson, Cindy Bull and Karen Anderson, blue; Arlin Killie, red.

Guernsey—Michelle Kubeck, red.

Holstein Junior Yearling—David Anderson, purple; Cheryl Knesche, Rhonda Knesche, blue; Karen Anderson, purple; Rhonda Knesche, Dwight Anderson and Karen Anderson, blue.

Holstein COW, 4 years old—Rhonda Knesche, blue.

Holstein Cow, 3-4 years old—Karen Anderson, purple; Rhonda Knesche, Dwight Anderson and Karen Anderson, blue.

Holstein COW, 4 years old—Rhonda Knesche, blue.

Showmanship over 12 (in addition to those listed)—Kris,

Jacqué Sievers, who showed the Reserve Champion Hereford heifer, was named top Senior Showman in the 4-H competition at the Wayne County Fair. At right is Kurt Wifler of Hoskior, who was named Junior Showman. He showed a Hereford steer.

Rabbit, Chicken Duck Category

The Roberts and Lippman families were the big winners in the rabbits, chicken and ducks divisions Saturday at the Wayne County Fair.

The Lippman family captured four events in the chicken division while the Roberts family took three in the chicken and won all of the duck classes.

Wage-Price Regulations

Q. How do the Price Commission regulations on profit margins treat low-profit manufacturers, retailers and wholesalers operating at a loss?

A. Manufacturers, retailers and wholesalers with sales of $1 million or more are permitted to increase any of their prices by an amount which will not result in a profit margin which exceeds their applicable profit margin as determined by consulting tables published in the March 9, 1972, Federal Register.

Those firms with revenues of less than $1 million are permitted to increase any of their prices by an amount which will result in a profit margin that does not exceed three per cent.

Prices under the loss and low-profit rules can be adjusted to achieve the specified profit margin provided that no individual price is increased by more than eight per cent. All other types of loss and low-profit manufacturers, retailers, and wholesalers must apply for an exception to obtain relief.

Q. What are the "principal services" whose prices must be posted by the hospital?

A. The "principal services" for which base prices must be listed in the schedule are those which comprise 90-98% of the annual revenues. However, any prices of $5 or less need not be listed.

Here are the facts about Firestone SUP-R-BELT tire construction

Sup-R-Belt is Firestone's trademark for belted tires pioneered by Firestone. By adding high strength, low stretch and flex belts of rayon direction... you get less tread distortion. This reduces the "ping" motion of the tire against the road surface and increases tire life. These stabilizer belts also hold the tread flat against the road surface, providing better traction and handling on curves. The addition of Sup-R-Belts also increases the resistance to punctures, cuts and bruises in the tread area.

All comparisons relate to Firestone brand conventional bias ply tires.

Firestone 500 STEEL BELT

A really tough tire with two armor belts of steel under the tread... steel cord so strong a single cord can tow a car!

In a world that has more driving for people to do, more curbs for people to hit, more junk on the road for people to run over, more people who are too busy to check their tires... Firestone brings you the people tire. Maybe you can do enough of the wrong things to this tire to tear it up. But it's tough. Really tough. It's tough because of the way Firestone builds this tire. Over strong polyester cord body plies and right under the tread where a tire really gets it, we put two armor belts of steel cords... set so close together that it takes 805 feet to make just one tire. We're not saying it's a tire you shouldn't take care of. We're saying that, with a little care, it will really take care of you!

TRADE NOW! We'll buy all the unused mileage in your present tires!

Firestone introduces the first RADIAL that GUARANTEES you 40,000 miles...and 7 days to test its SMOOTH RIDE!

Firestone RADIAL V-1

OUR 7 DAY TEST RIDE

You've probably heard that radial tires give you better handling, cornering, steering, traction and wear than other tires. You've probably also heard you pay for this performance with a little rougher ride. What Firestone wants you to know is this: we didn't rush out with just another radial — we designed a new radial with an American ride. And we're so sure you'll like the way it feels, we'll tell you something no other tire maker is saying. Trade in your old tires on a set of Firestone Radial V-1's. Drive on them for seven days. If you don't like the way they feel — or ride — promptly return them to your Firestone store or participating dealer and we'll put your old tires on again and refund your money. In Full.

OUR 40,000 MILE GUARANTEE

Firestone's Radial V-1 tire is guaranteed to give you at least 40,000 miles of treadwear in normal passenger use on the car on which first installed. If you don't get 40,000 miles, take your guarantee to any Firestone store or participating dealer in the U.S. or Canada. They'll replace the worn-out tire with a new Radial V-1. You get credit on the current exchange price and Federal excise tax prorated for every mile of the 40,000 you did not receive. A small service charge may be added. To be sure you get maximum mileage, your car should be properly maintained. Your tires must be inspected and rotated by us every 5,000 miles. Firestone or any of its participating dealers will gladly do this for you free.

DESSERTS — STYLED FOR SUMMER ENTERTAINING

by SANDRA BLOOM
Farm and Home Food Consultant

Summer's here! And, as any hostess knows, summer means friendly, get-together meals with friends and neighbors. Maybe the occasion will be a backyard barbeque, a light buffet on the porch, or a quick switch-over when a picnic rains you in.

Usually it's the finishing touch that provides the menu problem. Even the experienced hostess runs short of good dessert recipes. She wants a recipe that can be prepared in advance—yet win the compliments from guests.

Here is a bevy of dessert recipes, all styled for summer entertaining.

BUTTERSCOTCH ORANGE ROLL

ly roll pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 17 minutes or until done. Loosen edges. Turn cake onto towel sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Remove wax-paper; trim crusts. Starting with narrow edge, roll up cake and towel jelly roll fashion. Cool completely. Unroll. Quickly spread with sherbet. Unroll; store in freezer until ready to serve. Makes 10-12 servings.

1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground allspice
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
6 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 pkg. (6 oz.) butterscotch pieces
Confectioners' sugar
1½ pints orange sherbet, softened slightly

Combine flour, salt and spices. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add sugar, beat until soft peaks form. Reserve. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; blend in orange rind and butterscotch pieces. Fold egg yolk mixture into beaten egg white mixture. Fold flour-mixture, ¼ cup at a time, into egg mixture, gently but thoroughly. Pour into wax-paper lined 10½ x 15½ -inch jel-

PEAR CREAM PIE

3 fresh pears
2 cups water
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 pkg. (3¼ oz.) vanilla pudding and pie mix
1¾ cups milk
1 graham cracker pie shell, (9 inches) baked and cooled
¼ cup apricot jam
¼ cup slivered maraschino cherries

NABISCO

The "Yes" snacks

When children get hungry between meals, mothers say "Yes" to between-meal snacks of Nabisco HONEY MAID® Graham Crackers and CINNAMON GRAHAM Treats. That's because they're made with wholesome graham flour plus pure golden honey. Gives active youngsters the extra food energy they need between meals. Satisfying, but not too filling.

HONEY MAID® Graham Crackers by Nabisco.
CINNAMON GRAHAM Treats by Nabisco.

Pare, core and halve fresh pears. In a saucepan, combine water, sugar and lemon juice; bring to a boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Poach pears in syrup until fork-tender, 5 to 7 minutes. Remove from syrup and drain on paper towel; chill. Meanwhile, prepare pudding mix as package directs, using only 1 3/4 cups milk. Remove from heat; turn into pie shell. Cool filling, then spread with apricot jam. Arrange pear halves cut-sides up over filling "pinwheel-fashion," with stem ends toward center of pie. Fill pear cavities with cherries. Makes 6 servings.

FROZEN LIME PIE

1 1/4 cups sugar
Honey Maid graham cracker crumbs, finely rolled
1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup margarine, melted
2 eggs
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/3 cup fresh lime juice
2 cups light cream
Green food coloring
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1/4 cup water

APRICOT GRAHAM PUDDING CAKE

1/4 cup margarine
1/2 cup granulated sugar
4 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 (1 lb. 1 oz.) can apricot halves, drained, cut into small pieces
14 Sugar Honey Maid Graham Crackers, finely rolled (about 1 cup crumbs)

2 tablespoons flour Heavy cream, whipped, optional

Beat margarine and 1/4 cup sugar until creamy; add egg yolks, one by one, beating until fluffy. Add vanilla extract, lemon rind and salt; then stir in apricots, cracker crumbs and flour. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add remaining sugar, while beating until stiff. Fold into graham mixture. Turn into a 1 1/2 quart casserole which has been greased on bottom only. Set in pan of hot water. Bake at 325 degrees for 50 minutes; then reduce temperature to 300 degrees and bake 10 more minutes, or until done. Serve with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

MARBLE MOCHA CHEESE CAKE

3/4 cup granulated sugar
1 packet Sugar Honey Maid Graham Crackers finely rolled (about 1 1/2 cups crumbs)
1/4 cup margarine, softened
3 (8 oz.) pkgs. cream cheese, softened

3 eggs 3 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour 1/4 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon instant coffee 2 teaspoons boiling water 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

Blend 2 tablespoons sugar with graham cracker crumbs and margarine. Press firmly against bottom and sides of well greased spring-form pan. Blend cream cheese with remainder of sugar until light and creamy. Add eggs, one at a time. Stir in combined flour and salt. Divide mixture in half. Dissolve instant coffee in boiling water; add to one half. Add melted chocolate and vanilla extract to second half. Spoon both mixtures alternately into crust. Run metal spatula through to give marbled effect. Bake at 350 degrees for 55-60 minutes. Cool in pan on wire rack. Chill. Makes 10 servings.

MOCHA SORTA TORTE

3 egg whites, room temperature
1 cup superfine sugar

1 teaspoon vanilla extract 25 Premium saltine crackers, finely rolled (about 1 cup crumbs) 1 cup finely chopped California walnuts 1 tablespoon instant coffee 1 pint heavy cream 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar 2 tablespoons cocoa Whipped cream and chocolate curls for garnish

Chill mixing bowl and beaters. Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in sugar 2 tablespoons at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla. Beat until soft peaks form. Combine cracker crumbs, walnuts and coffee. Gently fold into meringue mixture. Spoon into a lightly greased and floured 9-inch pie pan. Pull up mixture with back of a spoon to form peaks around edge of pan. Spread center evenly. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool thoroughly on wire rack. Combine cream, sugar and cocoa. Before serving, whip until stiff. Mound in center of shell. Garnish with whipped cream and chocolate curls. To serve, cut as pie. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

"Clowns Make Up The Greatest Show On Mirth"

By WALLY E. SCHULZ

Jack Zane of Beloit, Wis. is known as "Pockets" the clown and is a fireman as a regular job. He had always been fascinated by clowns since he was a kid so he joined Cousin Otto's Alley 22 about a year ago. He is married and has three children. His youngsters are his biggest fans and really enjoy it when he puts on his grease paint and clowns around. His oldest daughter, Darla, age 7, wants to be a clown, too. In the months ahead he wants to entertain kids at hospitals, schools and other community functions. His wife makes his suits. "I love to make kids laugh," he says.

Billed as the "Greatest Show on Mirth", clowns from throughout the nation gathered for their third annual Clown of America convention at Lake Lawn Lodge at Delavan, Wisconsin, early this past spring.

The convention featured clown skit competition, a banquet, workshops, and meetings and visits to area schools and institutions.

The Lake Lawn site for the convention was a natural one since Delavan is the home of the first traveling circus. The Mabie Brothers began the circus in 1847 and the town of Delavan has a big circus history.

It was the town of Delavan that many circuses stopped and played to the area towns.

"The Clowns of America is dedicated to the clowns of the world," said Bert Sikorsky, president of the Clowns of America Club from Baltimore, Maryland. "We hope with the talent of our clowns that we can help the public to laugh at itself. The world needs more of this. There is enough sadness in the world and the world is thirsty for laughter."

Through the Clowns of America formation, the members hope to teach and educate and act as a gathering place for the serious minded amateur, semi-professional and professional clowns.

"By exchanging ideas and information, we can better ourselves and learn about an art sorely misunderstood for many generations," said Gene Lee, a clown from Whitewater, Wisconsin, known as "Cousin Otto."

The Clowns of America have their own publication called Calliope and is published 12 times a year. In it the club members tell the members about themselves and their experiences. It's loaded with tips and tricks, plus invaluable information on props, makeup, costuming and other hints.

There are 2200 clown members located throughout the nation and scattered countries of the world.

Clowning is one of the oldest professions in the world and has its roots deep in history.

The Clowns of America is not open to male membership only—not by a long shot.

At the Delavan Convention there were many husband and wife teams represented that came from all over the United States.

Among them were Sonny Weston and his pretty wife, Jill, from Manhattan, New York.

"I've been a clown for 17 years," said Sonny. "My wife, Jill, has been a clown for 10 years. We often travel together to perform across the country. I operate a hamburger chain and she is a model by profession. But clowning is our hobby and we sure love it."

Mr. and Mrs. William Darling of Rush, New York, are another husband and wife clowning team. They clown together as rag dolls.

There's also a club strictly for the women located at St. Paul, Minnesota. The president of the club, Mrs. Betty Cash, says the Powder Puff Clown Club was formed four years ago in 1968.

"We have 44 women in our club and they range in age from 21 years to 62 years," said Mrs. Cash. "We clown at many local hospitals in our state and take part in many parades. Many of our husbands are clowns in other organizations and clubs, too."

Otto C. Miller is 76 years of age and has been a clown for many years and lives in St.

Louis, Mo. He travels throughout the country just clowning around and pays his own expenses as a Shriner. He is the president of the National Shrine Clowns Association.

"I lost my wife a couple of years ago and she always used to go with me on the clowning tours," said Miller. "I was going to quit after her death but the doctor advised me to keep going. I'm glad I have for it's brought me much happiness, bringing a smile or a laugh to others confined to hospitals or institutions."

The clowns at the convention came from all walk of life, ranging from workers with the Internal Revenue, bakers, candle-stick makers and even a fireman.

Jack Zane is a 28 year old father of three children and he's been a clown for one year. He lives at Delavan, Wisconsin, and plays local events.

"I've admired and wanted to be a clown since I was a youngster," said Zane. "My youngsters really enjoy it when I put on my clown suits (made by my wife) and I take off on a clowning engagement. My oldest daughter, Darla, age 7, wants to be a clown, too. Today, the clowning profession is wide open for girls."

"If you've never been to a convention with a bunch of clowns, then you've really missed something. There's never a dull moment."

"When the grease paint goes on you become another per-

Husbands and wives team up together as clowns, too, and have fun clowning together as a team. Here Sonny Weston of Manhattan, New York, and his wife, Jill, are shown as they clowned at Delavan, Wisconsin, at the National Clown Convention. "If we can make one child laugh during our performance, the act has been worth it," said Jill. "We love to perform for kids but we have none of our own." Sonny is the operator of a hamburger chain and his wife, Jill, is a model. Sonny has been a clown for 17 years and his wife for five years and you play that part until it comes off," said David Burnham, who has been a clown for 11 years. "I performed with the Ringling Bros. Circus for two summers and have traveled all over New York State. I make Rochester, New York, my home quarters. I'm known as "Little Midge" and went to school for two years studying architecture designing. I'm now 26 and I love to make folks laugh."

Frank Stratton is a grandfather with six youngsters of his own and four grandchildren. Known as "Flip" the clown, he has a trick car he takes and performs at celebrations. The grand pappy loves to make folks laugh and clown around.

"During the week I'm a truck driver," said Stratton. "I unwind when I play the role of a clown. All clowns have one purpose in life and that's to make folks laugh. This requires a special talent and gift, too."

The clowns select their clown names in many unusual ways and manners.

Herbert Moorhouse of Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, has been performing as the "Waffle Clown" for 11 years.

It all began when he dressed up as a clown at a church waffle breakfast. He was such a hit as the "Waffle Clown" that he's been playing the part ever since.

"I dress up in a baker's uniform, put on my clown face and carry my huge artificial waffle along the parade route," said Moorhouse. "I often push a barrel on wheels which I fill with treats and pass out to the youngsters."

Bert Sikorsky, the president of the Clowns of America Club, is known as "Trebla" the clown.

"I spelled my name Albert backwards to get this unusual name, "Trebla," said Sikorsky. "In real life they say I'm a serious character, but when the grease paint goes on I have a new personality. I surprise even myself at being funny and witty in the clown role."

It takes a special breed of men and women to play the part of a clown. They've been prominent throughout history and their comical acts and gestures are bound to bring smiles to the faces of the most serious personalities.

The clown has won a prominent place in our American way of living and as long as we have circuses, parades, and carnivals, you can bet we'll have clowns, too. They make up the greatest show on mirth!

Fruit-Fresh[®] introduces the peach that doesn't turn brown.

Let Fruit-Fresh preserve the color and flavor when you preserve the fruit.

The moment you peel most fruit, it's vulnerable. Discoloration begins. Flavors slip away. That's why peeled fruits need the protection of Fruit-Fresh. To lock out browning and lock in flavor.

Peel fruit into solution of 3 tablespoons of Fruit-Fresh to each 2 quarts of water.

Use Fruit-Fresh. When you freeze. When you can. Whenever you want your fruit to keep its just-peeled taste, its just-picked look.

Fruit-Fresh. Because there's a big difference between just preserving fruit and preserving the freshness of fruit.

"If your wife wants to learn how to drive, do not stand in her way," advises The Clay City (Ind.) News.

A rude and vulgar man is one who stares at a girl's figure when she is doing her best to display it, comments the Herald-Enterprise of Hayti, S.D.

The Tipton (Iowa) Conservative tells about the father who worked hard all of his life to keep the wolf away from the door and then his daughter brought one home.

The Altamont (Ill.) News quotes the waiter who asked the diner if he would like the four dollar dinner on white or rye.

The Britton (S.D.) Journal reports on the row of hooks outside a college lecture hall, one of which there was a sign which read, "Reserved for faculty." Beneath the hooks, someone had scrawled, "Coats and hats may also be hung here."

The Eclipse-News-Review of Parkersburg, Iowa complains that wives do not live up to marriage vows. "You both take a solemn oath to grow old together," says The Eclipse-News-Review, "and then she lets you go ahead without her."

This one comes from the Chaska (Minn.) Weekly Herald:

During a coffee break, the boss discovered his shapely secretary and a junior executive in a close embrace in the storeroom. "How can you explain this?" the boss demanded.

"Well," said the secretary, straightening her hair, "neither of us likes coffee."

"A street sweeper is the only man alive who can make a living following the horses," says the Mirror-Democrat of Mount Carroll, Ill.

The following quotation was in the Reinbeck (Iowa) Courier: "Children today are too fond of luxury, have bad manners, despise authority and have no respect for their elders. What will they be like when they grow up?"

The statement was made by Socrates who died in 399 B.C.

"The trouble with being punctual," complains the Renville (Minn.) Star-Farmer, "is that people think you don't have anything to do."

A critic is a fellow who never outgrows the game of knock-knock, says The Garner (Iowa) Leader.

The Chamberlain (S.D.) Register quotes the small boy who said to the little girl, "Are you the opposite sex or am I?"

"The fellow whose problems are all behind him is probably a school bus driver," says The Manning (Iowa) Monitor.

The Steuben Republican of Angola, Ind., tells of the marriage that was terminated because of a religious difference: she worshipped money and he didn't have any.

OHIO WOOD CARVER

by BILL THOMAS

Lincoln's Funeral Train.

Before he was 65, he had been proclaimed one of the world's greatest carvers and, since, he has lived up to the accolades.

Up until last summer, visitors to Ernest (Mooney) Warther's small museum in Dover, O., would very likely find the bushy-haired whittler busy carving a small piece of wood or guiding tourists through his exhibits.

If the day was slow, or simply if the notion had struck him, they might find the 86-year-old carver riding his bicycle about town. They would see him coming up the street, puffing as he pedaled, his white hair stuck out behind him in the wind.

Mooney Warther, however, has been absent from his museum since July 25 of last year. That day, he fell and broke several ribs, and, just as he was mending, suffered a mild stroke. The days in bed have brought about a complete physical and mental recovery but have left him weak and unable yet to leave his hospital bed and return to his workshop.

But the museum still attracts visitors to marvel at the intricate and marvelous things he has created out of a piece of wood, bone, ivory, or anything else he could put a knife to.

and operating miniature locomotives are to be found in the museum behind Mr. Warther's home on the outskirts of Dover, in addition to the recorded history of steam in his hand-carved models.

As far back as he can remember, Mooney has admired huffing, puffing giant locomotives — once they passed his home and pulled cars around the railyards of the steel mill where he worked. He dug into railroad history and eventually tackled the job of carving out his first steam locomotive — model size, of course. It was the DeWitt Clinton, first locomotive of the New York Central Railroad.

Working from pictures, drawings and blueprints, Mooney spent many hours working on the intricate details of the model. To his delight, it turned out even better than he anticipated, and he has carved trains almost exclusively ever since.

There were problems along the way, however. At first, Mooney had trouble finding a wood that handled well when it came to fine details. What was the answer? Mooney found it . . . in a garbage can. Someone had tossed out a soup bone. Mooney took it home, whittled it up and today that soup bone is on display in his museum.

In recent years he has done most of his carving in a combination of two materials, walnut wood and ivory. The ivory, of course, is imported and extremely expensive.

In 1923 an executive of the New York Central Railroad chanced to stop by and view some of Mr. Warther's work. That visit resulted in an invitation from the NYC for Mr. Warther to show his collection all about the country. Thus Mooney traveled to many, distant points he might otherwise never have seen.

"They pulled it with two engines," he recalled. "And boy, the people would file through them cars day after day in New York and Chicago and all over, just wondering how I did all that carving. And I'd tell 'em . . ." he chuckled . . . "I've got an educated knife."

That train tour led ultimately to Grand Central Station in New York, where the collection remained on exhibit in the station lobby for months. Mooney realized then he'd hung up his steel mill overalls for the last time. He was now a carver by profession.

Ripley featured Mr. Warther's collection in a "Believe It or Not" booth at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933, and Henry Ford later offered Mr. Warther $75,000, or $5,000 a year for the remainder of his life for the collection, but was turned down.

"I had a roof over my head and food on the table," Mooney recalls, "so I decided not to part with the children of my workshop." To this day, he has never sold a piece of his collection, although he has given several of them away.

Another interesting attraction, just inside the front door of the modern glass-front museum, is a 19th-century working miniature steel mill, complete to the irate foreman and a sleeping worker.

Signs guide visitors through Dover (located some 60 miles due south of Akron) to Mr. Warther's shop and museum on Karl Street. It's open daily 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. There's an admission charge of $1.50 for adults, and children under 16 are admitted free.

Over the years Mr. Warther has often astounded people by picking up a piece of wood and announcing he'd make a seemingly impossible model from it. He'd further state exactly how long it would take to complete the model and how many strokes of the knife would be required. He has seldom been wrong by so much as one stroke.

With more than four-score years behind him, Mooney indeed deserves the title of master carver. His works are hallmarks of excellence, trophies of an era written in the pages of American history, an era which Mooney saw come of age, flourish, and then pass from the scene. But it did not pass before it had made an indelible impression upon him, thus possessing him to create in wood the monuments he felt should be revered by posterity. When you visit Mooney Warther's museum, you feel your own life has been enriched a bit. And that has always made Mooney Warther very happy.

Mooney's only means of transportation is his bike.

The total quench.

Plunge your thirst into a cold glass of Nestea® Instant Tea.

Nothing chases the dries quicker. 100% tea.

Every drop with the pure-tea taste of bag or loose-tea.

You spoon Nestea into water, and ice it. The rest is pure enjoyment.

Soak it up.

(And here's convenience-plus: Nestea Instant Tea also comes lemoned.)
