

Slow Down and Stop

Many travelers driving on No. 35 between Winside and Hoskins will have to slow down and occasionally stop for road construction in the area. But many motorists won't mind the waiting as Lorrie (left) and Cindy Anderson advise them of the road conditions. Both girls are flagwomen for the Western Engineering Co., Harlan, Ia., contracted for the road work. Although the long hours (about 13 hours a day) and the heat make things a little rough for the sisters, they find that meeting different people more than makes up for long days. Cindy and Lorrie are students at the University of Northern Iowa. According to Cindy, this type of work pays real well for a woman.

Pamida 'Born' in Depression Years

Pamida, Inc. had its inception in 1938 while the pinch of depression days was still very present. The company, which began operations in a 2,300-square-foot building as a wholesale supplier of notions and novelties under the name of Gibson Products, has since grown into a thriving discount store operation. Omaha was, and still is, the home base for the firm, which was incorporated in 1942. The company name is original having been coined by the owner, D. J. Witherspoon, a composite of the first two letters of the names of his three sons, Pal, Mike and David.

November, 1963, marked the entrance of the company into the discount field with the opening of a store at Knoxville, Ia., in a 2,800 square foot building. Five days after the Knoxville opening, the second store was opened at Oskaloosa, Ia. During the first year of retailing, a goal of 25 stores was set for the future.

Today, Pamida, Inc. operates its stores under the Gibson name through a franchise agreement with Gibson Products Co. of Seagoville, Tex. There is a total of over 550 Gibson Discount Centers in 32 states and Pamida is the largest franchise holder. The parent Gibson firm conducts trade shows four times a year in Dallas, Tex. with over 1,000 manufacturers and other suppliers exhibiting their products exclusively to Gibson franchisees. Pamida's buyers attend these shows and place direct orders for merchandise.

AEC Start Sept. 14

Mrs. Stanley Willis, instructor, has announced that Adult Education Courses, federally funded and free to all, will resume Sept. 14 at Wayne State College. Last year, which was the first year for the program, over 25 students (of all ages) took advantage of the once a week evening classes, of which 15 have already qualified for and received their high school diplomas.

This year classes will be held two evenings per week, Monday and Thursday, rather than just on Thursday, if necessary. Students who may wish to obtain their high school diplomas, or who merely wish to brush up in one or more areas of learning, are encouraged to participate in the program. Studies are also suited to those who have no high school background at all. Instructors will be on a very individualized basis, emphasizes Mrs. Willis.

WSC students will be assisting in the teaching duties for college credit this year. More information can be obtained by contacting Mrs. Willis (375 1595) or the WSC Registrar (375 2900).

Winside Gets Postmaster

The appointment of postal careerist, Carl F. Fischer, as postmaster at Winside, was announced by Mr. C. L. Dickey, Acting Omaha District Manager, United States Postal Service. Fischer has been a postal employee at Niobrara, Nebraska since January 1, 1950.

Fischer, 54, is a graduate of the Niobrara High School. He served in the United States Army and is the Past Commander of VFW Post 4834; Past Commander of VFW District No. 3, served as President of School Board District No. 1, and is presently a member of that board. Fischer and his wife, Fern, have two children, Carlyce and Craig.

Rather than erecting new facilities, the majority of the Gibson stores are installed in existing structures, usually vacated department or variety stores. Occasionally, after a store has operated successfully for a time and needs more display area, it is moved to a larger building. In a few instances, new buildings are placed on sites large enough to provide hard surfaced, lighted parking space. The store's range in size from 2,000 square feet for the smallest up to 32,000 square feet for the largest. The Wayne store will be 27,000 square feet, located at Seventh and Dearborn.

The stores are stocked with approximately 20,000 items of merchandise displayed on six-foot fixtures in well-lighted surroundings. Shopping carts are provided and customers check out purchases through check stands similar to supermarket arrangements. Self-service is a feature, but clerks are available to customers who desire assistance. Sales are made on a satisfaction guaranteed basis. Store hours are geared for maximum customer convenience. Preparation for the Dixon County Fair includes brushing, washing and clipping livestock if you have a dairy project. Mark Chapman will be showing a junior herd, consisting of two Brown Swiss cows and a calf.

Kathy Chapman spent many hours at the sewing machine preparing for the Dixon County Fair. She plans to pad her college wardrobe with her 4-H clothing projects.

Dixon Co. Fair Four-H Families Busy During Fair

By Brenda Gustafson "Dad said just yesterday that summer ends about Aug. 1, then starts the Fair," said Kathy Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chapman, Allen. The Chapmans are among the "4-H families" who have spent the last week preparing for the Dixon County Fair, which opened Aug. 20 at Concord.

Sixteen-year-old Kathy, her 15-year-old brother Mark, and their 14-year-old foster brother, David Moore, are members of the Guys and Dolls 4-H Club. Their aunt, Mrs. Jerard Chapman of Allen, is organizational leader. Their parents are assistant leaders.

This is Kathy's ninth and final year in 4-H. Mark has been a member for six years. For David this is a year of firsts. This is his first year in 4-H, his first experience with livestock, his first experience with gardening, his first Fair and his first week before the Fair.

The Chapman's hectic final week began on Aug. 13, with a club project and the final club meeting before the Fair. As a part of a club ecology project, members picked up trash from Allen north to the junction of Highways 9 and 20. "We gave the Springbank (Friends) Church the aluminum cans for their recycling project and got rid of the other trash ourselves," said Mrs. Chapman.

A Dixon County Junior Leader meeting was held Tuesday night at the Northeast Station. The Junior Leader project is for 4-H members 14 years of age and over who have had at least three years experience in 4-H. Kathy and Mark are among the 30 or so Dixon County Junior Leader members. Their parents, along with Harold Vjers of Allen and Jack Erwin of Concord, are sponsors.

The project is set up to assist leaders and younger kids and especially to help at the Fair. Kathy explained. At the Fair, Junior Leaders assist the judges and help to set up events, such as the dress revue and livestock show. "Such a group is unique to our area," Kathy said.

Checking his sweet corn to see if it will be ready for the Fair is David Moore, this is David's first year in 4-H, first experience in gardening, and first county fair.

Wayne to Host Crime Seminar

Wayne State College, selected as the site of this year's workshop on law enforcement sponsored by the Region 11 and 25 Joint Planning Commission for Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.

The seminar is scheduled to start Sept. 22 at the Student Union. The program will include persons who have spent many years in the criminal area, such as Richard H. Fox, Director of Regional Center for Criminal Justice, Independence, Missouri; J. Robert Grimes, Deputy Regional Administrator of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, Kansas City, Kansas; the Honorable Theodore L. Riching, Nebraska District Judge, Omaha, Nebraska; and Garth C. Dawson, Police Associate of the Metropolitan Criminal Justice Center, Omaha, Nebraska.

Summer Work

About 20 Winside residents gathered last week to do some summer repair work on the Trinity Lutheran Church. Both the men and the women grabbed paint brushes and buckets full of paint and began giving the outside of the church a new coat. After the day's work, the group settled down to a dinner served by the church's Ladies Aid Society. Managing the activities was Jack Krueger.

Baby Shoes

Scientists across the nation and the world agree somewhat that the world is shrinking.

Man's constant depletion of the earth's natural resources, without careful regard to their use, is causing the earth to decrease in material size.

Even part of the world's population is reducing somewhat, especially here in the United States.

Figures released by the Bureau of Statistics show that the WWII "baby boom" is booming no longer. The ecology and zero population movements gradually are affecting this nation's expansion in human numbers.

Some people argue that the zero growth drive would create, in later years, a shortage in manpower and, consequently, in demand of products.

If this is so, one area of the business industry would suffer a great deal.

That area of business would be the baby shoe bronzing departments.

Imagine what it would be like to be in the bronzing business and to find out that the U. S. population is on the decline.

"Henry, Henry, have you seen the paper? We're ruined—out of business."

"What are you talking about, Clyde?"

"Here, take a look at this morning's headlines."

"U. S. Population on the Decrease"

"My word, you know what this means," Henry said. "Our volume will plunge to unhealthy depths."

Both men sat down on the store's bronzed steps and stared at their bronzed car parked across the street.

"What are we going to do?" Clyde questioned. "Planned Parenthood is starting out our shoe business."

"It looks like for one thing, we're going to have to change our motto. 'Bronzing baby shoes is our business, our only business.'"

"To what?"

"I don't know yet. Perhaps, you too can be a bronzed goddess."

"Wait a minute, Clyde. I've got it. How about, 'Bronze your favorite shirt—remember it always.'"

"We're just going to have to face the truth," Henry sighed. "Our days of bronzing are just about over. Let's leave society and the world with one last remembrance of us."

"How can we do that?"

"Bronze our store."

Still the Same

There's a lot to be said for the "Good Old Days," not the least of which is that times haven't changed all that much.

The New York Clipper, which was published by editor and proprietor Frank Queen in 1866, sold for 10 cents, and, judging from the issue brought to us by one of our readers recently, the price of a newspaper isn't the only thing that has remained stable in the printing business throughout the years.

Then as now the reader was interested in games and sports, the world of celebrities, and escape from reality. It would seem he was just as willing to spend time and/or money in an attempt to be more attractive, to get the advantage over another guy, or to retain what was rightly his. And then as now, he used the newspaper to help him achieve the results he wished for.

Amid the chess and checkers problems, baseball game results, detailed accounts of the activities of this or that famous personality, fiction and poetry offerings, were a great variety of ads, offering for a price, everything from matrimony to real hair mustaches.

Included were... photograph cards for gentlemen, 35c per sample... marked black playing cards, $1.50 per pack... guitar and banjo lessons, and information regarding the art of jig and clog dancing, a beautiful exercise for ladies as well as gents.

One ad leased, "Phycometric fascination—a treatise on the art of soul charming, showing the only true and scientific method of gaining affection of either sex. (And Daria Carnegie thought he was being original probably!)"

Another advertiser, who had for sale ten wax heads, two glass steam engines and other theatrical paraphernalia, noted

"The above I will sell for the prices as stated. I ask no more and I am sure I will take no less. And I do not wish to be troubled with the ABOMINABLE PRACTICE of letter writing. Those who wish to negotiate can come or send their representatives; if they are disappointed I shall not object to their returning without purchasing, as I will reclaim my time against theirs." (Guess that's telling 'em!)

Apparently there were charlatans back in 1866 also. A personal notice in the same paper read, "I see by your paper that a very small company known as Height & Chambers Circus has the name of North advertised. Now I wish to caution the public that there is not any one by that name in the circus business except myself and son. The person they announce as North is an apprentice of mine who left me in New York City, and is Henry Coil, at least that is the name given me when I took him from the poor house on Randall's Island, New York."

And finally there was the advertiser who must have believed in the old adage that the third time is a charm. His trio of ads, one placed directly after the other, read:

"New Card Puzzle, mailed free for 20 cents."

"OH, YES! Send for the NEW CARD PUZZLE, only 20 cents by mail."

"NOW THEN, Send for the New and Wonderful Card Puzzle, only 20 cents."

(Perhaps he expected to wear down the reader's resistance by sheer persistence 1972 advertisers take heed!)

Travel Program Developing

A plan to double Nebraska's share of the national travel market, outlined by Gov. J. James Exon at a travel industry luncheon in Lincoln last December, appears to be well along on its way to success, according to preliminary figures announced at the Nebraska Vacation Guide seminar in Grand Island.

Mid-season reports from some of Nebraska's major tourist attractions offer solid evidence that the State's travel program for 1972 has had considerable success in persuading vacationers traveling the Interstate to visit attractions they had not planned to visit when preparing for their trips.

Scout's Rest Ranch at North Platte reports a 17 per cent July increase in tourist visitations over the similar period in 1971. Ogallala's Front Street recorded a 36 per cent increase in gross sales over last year, and Sturh's Museum of the Prairie Pioneer in Grand Island reports a whopping 92.4 per cent increase in visitations over July, 1971. Harold Warp's Pioneer Village in Minden did not release visitor statistics but indicated that 1972 attendance is the highest in the State's history.

Directors of Nebraska tourist attractions attribute the increases to several factors. Burton Nelson, director of the Hastings House of Yesterday, said, "By and large it's the new State highway signs. We conducted a survey and 41 per cent of the respondents said they stopped because of the signs."

Ms. Bonnie Aubushon, manager of the Gothenburg Chamber of Commerce feels that the Vacation Guides were a major influence on tourist visitations. "Any time you can see a tourist personality, it will help. The signs are important, too. We know that because we had them removed one week for a test and the drop in tourist trade was really noticeable."

Jack Pollock, editor of the Keith County News, reported that the increase in gross receipts at Front Street, Ogallala's main attraction, were up 37 per cent which reflects a considerable increase in tourist traffic. "Multiple factors have caused the increase," he said. "The tourist information centers helped out and additional highway signs helped them. The signs are important, but definitely the State's program played an important role, more than ever before."

The travel statistics were relayed to the vacation guides by Norman Otto, Governor Exon's Administrative Assistant.

Otto explained that the backdrop for the 1972 tourist promotion was a "Partners in Travel" concept with the Department of Economic Development, the State Department of Roads, and the Nebraska Broadcaster's Association playing the leading roles. The Road Department launched a vigorous highway sign campaign along the interstate and other primary highways in the State to alert tourists to the major travel attractions in the State. Otto said, "Nebraska is the first State in the nation to embark on a systematic road signing program aimed primarily at the tourist market."

He also pointed out that the gratifying statistics along with the comments of attraction operators in the State show that the Road Department must garner a major

Norbert Tiemann, former Nebraska governor, is finance chairman. Ron Hull, Nebraska TV network program manager, is program committee chairman. Thompson said it is hoped to build an educational and tourist center where people can come and experience Neihardt. It would be a place where students and scholars could study and research the poet's works and tourists could visit with much of the Neihardt manuscripts and memorabilia would be kept.

Nancy Brigg was taken to the Pennington Hospital by the Bancroft rescue unit Saturday after she received an electrical shock in her front yard. Nancy had gone to swap the metal door on the trailer set up in the yard when she received the shock which knocked her unconscious. She was treated and released, leaving only a burned finger.

The third phase of the "Partners in Travel" campaign was the Department of Economic Development's Nebraska Vacation Guide Program. Thirty-one guides were hired by the Department last spring to work in information booths set up at selected stops on the Interstate. The guides explained local travel attractions to vacationers and handed out maps and literature on special events occurring throughout the State.

Absentee Ballot Important

Many qualified voters fail to exercise their voting privilege because they are not at home on election day, especially students and men and women in the armed forces. However, these citizens still have an opportunity to vote by absentee ballot, points out Dr. James Kendrick, University of Nebraska-Lincoln professor of agricultural economics.

Anyone over the age of 18 can now vote absentee. First, you must register to vote and should do so while you are home. If you will be away from home on election day, you may request an

Strike? No, 'Job Action'

Late last month, on a hot summer day, six New Jersey patrolmen on the Palisades Interstate Parkway force deliberately caused a 14 mile traffic jam on that artery. They did it by checking the drivers license and registration of every car headed toward New York City at the peak of the morning rush hour.

Why? Because the patrolmen wanted a new contract. Such so-called "job actions" are an increasingly popular device for public employees who are forbidden to strike, but want to "dramatize" their case for higher pay, or whatever else they are after.

In this particular case, cool heads prevailed. Officials reassigned the patrolmen involved and their organization, the New Jersey State Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, agreed to forgo any more interstate traffic tie-ups.

At first glance, it is always hard to resist a snicker when society's red tape is carried to an absurd extreme. But beneath the surface of such incidents lurks a dark, ugly, dangerous creature which threatens the very fabric of society.

WHO WATCHES WATCHMAN? Public employees are given special powers by society to use for the protection of society. When they decide that they have the right to misuse these powers for their own personal gain—no matter how good a case they may have for a raise or whatever—society moves to the brink of anarchy. When do you call when you are held up by a policeman? When the actions of those six patrolmen really so different from that of a

The Pre-Paid Group Health Plan: Can It Lower the Cost of Care?

WASHINGTON—In ancient China, doctors were paid by their patients for every day the patient stayed well. When the patient got sick, he stopped paying his doctor.

Before laughing at the "quaint" practice, consider for a moment where it puts the financial incentive. The Chinese doctor made money when his patients were well, and lost money when they got sick.

This same principle is attracting attention in health care circles in America today, as a possible answer to the all-but-out-of-control rise in the cost of medical services.

The HMO and you — in modern dress — is known as the "pre-paid group practice," or, more broadly, the "health maintenance organization." How does it work? Well, if you want to participate, you contract with a group of doctors — either directly or through an insurance company — to keep you well for a flat monthly payment. The doctors may own and operate their own hospitals, or they may use regular hospitals. The doctors are often paid a straight salary, plus a percentage of any profit accrued by the plan.

When you stay well, the plan — and the

Petersons Married Sunday

Candelabra with white glads and blue carnations, appointed the altar of the United Presbyterian Church, Laurel, for the wedding last Sunday of James M. Benjamin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Benjamin, Laurel, to Larry A. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen P. Peterson, Lewellen.

The Rev. Douglas Potter officiated at the double ring ceremony and Steven Johnson, Laurel, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Potter. Candles were lighted by Tina Maria Benjamin, Omaha, and guests were ushered to their places by Larne E. Wilson, Lincoln, and Keith Chambers, Dallas.

The bride's gown, fashioned by her aunt, (Mrs. Emma Benjamin, Laurel) was empire styled of white satin with wide lace appliques cutting the short puffed sleeves, cascading down the front of the gown and bordering the toe-length skirt. Matching lace edged her floor length train made by Mrs. Fred Leuenberger, Tecumseh.

Mrs. Robert Leuenberger, Lincoln, was matron of honor and bridesmaid was Jolene Kay Benjamin, Lincoln. Their identically styled frocks were made by the bride's mother of a dainty blue print on white background over blue underlining. The gowns featured short puffed sleeves, low, round necklines, blue ribbon accents, and large ruffled hem lines. They carried single blue mums.

Best man was Andrew Lee Peterson, Lewellen, and groomsmen was Thomas J. Edwards, Berkeley, Calif. The men wore white tuxedo jackets with black lapels, white shirts with blue-trimmed ruffled fronts, black bow ties and black trousers.

The bride's mother chose a navy blue and white dress with black accessories and Mrs. Peterson wore a pale blue dress with matching accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Peterson, Laurel, served as hosts to the reception which was held at the fellowship hall following the ceremony. Mrs. James Jesson, Lincoln, registered the 135 guests and Mrs. Jerry Brasch and Alane Henry, Lincoln, arranged gifts.

Mrs. Melvin Clausen, Wayne, and Mrs. Wayne Benjamin, Omaha, cut and served the cake and Mrs. Don Benjamin, Lincoln, poured punch. Mrs. William McDermott, Broadwater, served punch. Waitresses were Christie Suber and Gloria Anderson, both of Laurel.

Working in the kitchen were Mrs. William Haskell, Mrs. Floyd Johnson, Mrs. Harry Olson, Mrs. Glen Eby, Mrs. Norman Anderson, Mrs. Morris Kvols and Mrs. Florence Johnson.

The bride is employed at Arlene's Suburban Salon, Lincoln. The bridegroom recently received his master's degree and will be employed by the Nebraska Extension Service.

The couple took a short trip to the Lake of Ozarks, Missouri, and will be at home in Lincoln.

Busy Hands Make the Time Pass

By Pat Oswald
Mrs. Dora Ritze, a long time Winside resident, keeps her time filled with many hobbies, one of which is quilting, a past time, begun after her children were grown. A countless number of quilts have been made, mainly for her children and grandchildren. Most are piece quilts done by hand. Blocks are made of scraps left from other sewing projects and backs are a solid plain or printed piece.

Mrs. Ritze's most recently completed quilt was filled with nylon stockings, each of which was rolled and inserted into a nine inch square block before the last side was sewn shut. Mrs. Ritze noted, "Nylons add warmth to the quilt." This type of quilt is tied. Father than quilted. All quilts she makes are regular bed size. Her frames were made by her late husband about 40 years ago.

Mrs. Ritze also enjoys quilting at the Trinity Lutheran Church Sewing Circle meetings and with friends and relatives holds quilting bees in various homes during the winter months. Besides quilting, Mrs. Ritze spends a lot of time crocheting, which she picked up on her own as a child. Many crocheted items, which include doilies, scarves, pillow case trim and afghans, go for shower, wedding and graduation gifts. From November through early spring

Mrs. Ritze completed four afghans and has begun work on the fifth. At present Mrs. Ritze is crocheting the trim on a pair of pillow cases which she had previously embroidered, another of her hobbies. She is looking forward to making crocheted throw pillows next.

In addition to handwork, Mrs. Ritze spends many hours gardening, canning and freezing. She raises many flowers in her limited space and during the winter months enjoys taking care of houseplants. She is active in the church women's organizations and is a member of the SOS Club and Neighboring Circle.

This busy woman and vice anyone living alone to keep busy and time will pass much faster.

Svenson-Roswell Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Svenson, Stanton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet, to James "Roswell," son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Smith, Minneapolis, Minn. Miss Svenson, a 1971 graduate of Winside High School, is presently studying at St. Mary's College, Omaha. Her fiancé, a 1970 high school graduate in Omaha is a student at Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Okla., majoring in hotel and restaurant management. No wedding date has been set.

Martha Lutt Is Treated Aug. 15

At their meeting Tuesday at the city auditorium, Winside Senior Citizens, honored Mrs. Martha Lutt for her 90th birthday. Forty-three senior citizens, friends and relatives were present from California, Laurel, Hoskins and Winside.

Mrs. Herrmann read a poem honoring Mrs. Lutt and Mrs. Meta Nieman presented her a gift in behalf of the senior citizens. Mrs. Lutt, Mrs. Fred Wittler and Mrs. Emil Hank were honored with the traditional birthday song.

A cake had been baked and decorated for Mrs. Lutt by Mrs. Jack Ruberk, Wayne. Mrs. Wittler and Mrs. Hank treated the group to cake and ice cream also. Mrs. Otto Herrmann and Mrs. Martin Pfeiffer were coffee chairmen.

Prizes at cards went to Walter Nelson, August Koch, Mrs. Otto Herrmann and Mrs. Louie Walde and door prizes were won by Mrs. Rosie Hillmann and Martin Pfeiffer. Next meeting will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to play cards.

Mark 30th Anniversary Hot Meals Today

Former Winside residents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Thompson observed their 30th wedding anniversary last Sunday with a dinner held at the Battle Creek Legion Hall. The couple now make their home there.

About 80 guests attended the buffet dinner which was hosted by the couple's children, Mrs. Dave Weich and Jerry Thompson, Norfolk; Mike Thompson, Winside; and Kevin, Debra, Susan and Sherri Thompson, Battle Creek. There are three grandchildren.

Mrs. Ann Nathan, Hoskins, and Mrs. Leslie Youngmeyer, Wayne, cut the cake and Mrs.

Ralph Baker, Golden, Colo., poured the couple were assisted in opening gifts by Pat Walmsley, Mrs. Mike Thompson and Mrs. Jerry Thompson.

Guests were present from Battle Creek, Winside, Wayne, Hoskins, Arlington, Blair, Omaha, Herman, Norfolk, Sholes, Oakland and Golden, Colo.

Mildred Youngmeyer, Wayne, and Russell Thompson, Winside, were married Aug. 11, 1942 at the Norfolk Methodist Church. They farmed near Winside until moving to a farm northeast of Battle Creek three and a half years ago.

The Wayne Senior Citizens Center had meal program gets underway again today (Monday). Hot, balanced meals, prepared by the Broughton Food Service at WSC, are delivered to the individual's home or to the Senior Citizen Center by center volunteers every Monday through Friday at a cost of 82¢ per meal. Menus are printed in the Monday issue of The Wayne Herald.

Persons who wish to avoid themselves of this service are invited to call the Wayne Senior Citizens Center, 1515 W. 24th St., for more information. A $1.00 service fee is required.

Haase-Robins Rite Is Held August 5

Now at home in Wayne are Mr. and Mrs. Rick Robins who were wed Aug. 5 in 3 p.m. rites at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Wayne. Mrs. Robins, nee Betty Haase, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Haase, Wayne. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robins, Wayne.

The Rev. Paul J. Begley officiated at the ceremony. Lori Walters sang "Wedding Song" and "We've Only Just Begun," accompanied by Jerry Manning.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Robins, Mead, and Terri Robins, Wisner. Mr. and Mrs. Ron Haase, Des Moines, Ia., served as hosts.

Mrs. Robert Nelson, Tyler, Tex., and Mrs. Chuck Robins, Wisner, cut and served the cake and Kathy Coan served punch.

The bride and bridegroom are both 1970 graduates of Wayne High School. The bridegroom is employed by Einung Ready Mix Co.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white floor-length gown fashioned in long, fully gathered sleeves, green ribbon accenting the cuffs, neckline and waist. She carried yellow roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Randy Robins, and bridesmaid was Mrs. Gordon Shupe Jr. Both are of Wayne. Their floor length dresses were of green and white checked polyester knit and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white daisies.

Best man was Randy Robins and groomsmen was Jack Lutt. Ushers were Chuck Robins, Wayne, and Tom Polston, Omaha.

Mrs. Gerald Robins, Mead, registered guests and Laura Haase, Cynthia Bottorff, Sue Pophlman and Susan McCright, Lincoln, arranged gifts for the reception which followed at St. Mary's school hall. Gift bearers

Mrs. Bull To Attend Lincoln Conference
Mrs. Eldon Bull, director of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center, will be in Lincoln this Tuesday and Wednesday attending a two day orientation and briefing session of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program and the Nutrition Program for the Elderly.

The center will be open as usual.

Shower Honors Janet Wacker

A miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Janet Wacker, Wayne, was held last Monday evening at the Wayne Woman's Club room. Thirty guests were present from Golden, Colo., Winside, Wayne, Osmond and Laurel.

The fête was hosted by Mrs. Don Wacker and Mrs. Kenneth Wagner, Winside. Mrs. Marcella Nelson, Osmond, Mrs. Terry Cleveland, Norfolk, Mrs. Henry Arp and Mrs. Greg James. Decorations were in moss green and pink. Cookies served for entertainment, with prizes won by Mildred Wacker, Jean Wacker and Mrs. Kurt Brudigan, presented to the honoree. Mothers of the bride-elect and her fiancé poured and the honoree's sisters, Deborah Wacker and Mrs. Judy Martindale, assisted with gifts.

Janet Wacker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wacker, Wayne, and Dan Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Roberts, Wayne, will be married in September at Redeemer Lutheran Church.

Most fawns are born in Nebraska during June and early July.

Evangelism Project Set for 1972

GRAND ISLAND—The largest coalition of church groups in the history of cooperative church work in Nebraska has been formed to undertake a major evangelism effort in the state next year, according to District Court Judge Donald H. Weaver, Grand Island, who is chairman of a statewide Coordinating Committee which held a planning session Tuesday.

Judge Weaver, a member of First Baptist Church in Grand Island, was elected chairman of the committee by representatives of fourteen-protestant and Roman Catholic church groups cooperating in KEY-73 activities in Nebraska. Key-73 is the name of a coordinated interdenominational evangelism effort scheduled for 1973.

"So far as we can determine,"

Judge Weaver said, "this is the first occasion in Nebraska when so many different denominations have joined forces in such a religious project."

"One of our goals is to organize a Bible Distribution in every community on a county by county basis so that during the week of March 4, 1973, a 'Good News for Modern Man' New Testament will be left at every home," he explained.

The "Good News" edition is published in paperback by the American Bible Society and is written in modern idiom and illustrated with line drawings.

"Another goal is to stimulate each community during the fall and winter seasons to explore its own mission needs and opportunities. We want the local churches after studying portions of this 'Good News' to find ways of 'living' it out in their own local settings," said Chairman Weaver.

Nebraska Church Groups participating on the statewide coordinating committee are American Baptist, American Lutheran, Christian Church, Church of God, Evangelical Covenant, Mennonite, Lutheran Church in Missouri, Synod, Lutheran Church in America, Reformed Church, Lincoln Diocese Roman Catholic, Seventh Day Adventists, United Church of Christ, United Methodists, United Presbyterians, the Omaha Metropolitan Association of Churches and the Lincoln Fellowship of Churches.

Mrs. Betty Mober, by demonstrator, provided the afternoon entertainment, and presented Mrs. Bertha Uelch and Mrs. Josie Hansen prizes for bringing the most guests. Prizes for having the largest family went to Mrs. Mina Dunklau.

Members of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center have placed "The Best Loved Poems of the American People" at the Wayne Public Library in honor of Dave Theophilus.

Echtenkamp, Ed Johnson and George Baird. Early eight were at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center (last) Monday for white elephant pinz go, called by Ed Johnson. Prizes were furnished by members of the Deer Creek 4-H Club.

RECITAL
Piano students of Mrs. Emil Uken presented a final summer recital at the center Monday. Taking part were Rhonda, Beth and Vicky Ostendorf, Steven and Marcia Rethwisch, Jacl and Cindy Beeks, Shauna Roberts, Jay Hummel and Gwen Preston. Jack and Cindy Beeks accompanied group singing, led by Mrs. Uken, and the students led the group in the singing of rounds. Punch and cookies were served. Mrs. Ruth Wright served punch. Mrs. Tena Bargholz furnished refreshments for her birthday Friday and was honored with the traditional birthday song.

How To Take a Ten-Minute Vacation

The "dog days" are here. Those are the days when the temperature and humidity make even air conditioning seem inadequate.

Dog days usually arrive a good month or more before you're to take your vacation or a month after you're back.

You're at home all day; the kids are only, you're tired, hot, cranky, and need to get your motor running again.

Then do it!—steal a little vacation!

- Take an apple or carrot stick from the refrigerator, sit in front of the window with feet elevated. Munch and gaze.
- Read 10 pages in your current book.
- Put an ice cube in your mouth, lie on the floor close to the wall and rest your legs and feet against the wall. (Don't choke on the cube).
- Crochet or embroider for 15 minutes. Set the timer.
- Do an elephant. Bend over from the waist, arms down, stay loose, swing.
- Skip dessert or meal, relax and while the kids are out playing.
- Take a long sudsy-soak in the tub after the kids are in bed.
- Put your head in the hair dryer, set in on cool, think pleasant thoughts.
- Make a date with your husband for lunch downtown. Keep it.
- Go for a drive.

- Lie in the hammock or on a blanket on the grass or in a lawn chair and get lost in the clouds. See how many clouds shapes you can create.
- Set the timer for 5 minutes and call the friend you've been meaning to call.
- Look through an old picture album.
- Put petroleum jelly on your eyelids, cover them with a cool wet cloth, lie down on the couch, dream.
- Write a post card to a favorite person.
- Take a catnap.
- Keep your sneakers in a plastic bag in the refrigerator.
- Trade baby sitting with a neighbor one afternoon a week. At least one of the times when she has yours, sit alone in your house and listen to the quiet.
- Do isometric exercises.
- Doing inside work? Go outside and walk around the house. Or the block.
- Ride a bike to the corner grocery next time you have one or two items to pick up. Refuse out playing.

Hoskin's Sisters Collect Over 850 Salt, Pepper Sets

By Mrs. Hans Asmus

Collecting salt and pepper shakers isn't really new to the Wayne area residents. But the places that the shakers come from can tell an interesting story in itself.

Two sisters, Mrs. Harry Schwede and Mrs. Edwin Strate, started collecting shakers in the early 1940's. Since then both have collected more than 850 sets.

Mrs. Schwede started her salt and pepper shaker collection approximately 31 years ago. She began her hobby about one year before her sister with the aid of Mrs. Martin Schwede, who earlier started the collection.

Presently, the collection totals 525 sets with no two sets alike. Mrs. Schwede's prize sets are from her sons, Jerry and Daryl, when they were stationed in Japan and Louisiana during their four of duty in the service.

Mrs. Strate's collection is somewhat smaller. She has approximately 330 sets with her oldest ones dating back to 1928 from her aunt in Prussia. Her special salt and pepper containers came from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bernhardt's crystal, silver and golden wedding anniversaries, plus the Strate's shower and wedding gifts.

Mrs. Strate's foreign country sets came from Cuba and Germany when her daughter, Mrs. Don Johnson visited the country.

Some of the types of sets are made from china, bone glass, wood, silver and pottery.

Top honors... Wayne Hurler Roger Saul (left) was named the Legion's Most Valuable Player for the 1972 season while Midget Baseman Mike Meyer and Kim Baker shared the Most Improved Player award.

Three Ball Players Receive Top Awards

Three members of Wayne Junior and Midgets baseball teams were honored this week by their teammates and coaches as the Outstanding Player and Most Improved Players.

Third Baseman Mike Meyer and Second Sacker Kim Baker, were chosen as the Most Improved Players on the Wayne Midget team. Both boys, selected by their teammates, will have their names inscribed on the Jerry Meyer Memorial Trophy along with eight players from previous years.

The other listings include: Delmarie Wacker—1965, George Eynon—1966, Les Echlenkamp—1967, Jerold Meyer 1968, Craig Johnson—1969, Gayland Woodward—1970, and Bill Schwartz 1971.

According to Coach Hank Overin, the team was undecided on the one player. So the team chose the best two players.

Legion Pitcher Roger Saul won the Outstanding Legion Player award. Saul, the top vote getter, will have his name placed on the trophy. The trophy is in memory of Sailor Bill Fitzpatrick.

This is the second year the trophy has been awarded to a hurler. Last year, Mike Ginn was the first man to have his name on the trophy.

Town Team To Battle Sioux City

The Wayne Town Team scheduled to meet Sioux City Sunday night in the best of three games for the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League title.

The locals, along with the top three teams in the league, Sioux City, Homer and Newcastle, won berths in the final playoff for the crown.

Another game Sunday night will find Newcastle facing Homer in their battle for the best of three games.

Thursday night Wayne will host Sioux City. If the town team should split the first two games, a toss of the coin will determine where the third game will be played.

The two winners of playoffs will meet face to face for the League crown.

Earlier this week, Sioux City nipped Homer, 9-8, in 10 innings for the season title.

City Football

All boys in grades three through eight interested in playing city recreation football will have a chance to pop the leather, beginning in the second week of September.

City Recreation Director Hank Overin set up a tentative practice and playing schedule for city and country area boys who want to play the sport.

Seventh and eighth grade boys will meet at 1 p.m. Aug. 28 and 29 at the city ball park for minor workouts. On Aug. 31 the boys will receive their uniforms at the Wayne Middle Center starting at 4 p.m.

For the fifth and sixth grades, meeting time will be 4 p.m. Sept. 1 at the Middle Center.

The rest, Overin said, for non-area boys participating in the city sport will be $10.

The tentative schedule includes: (starting Sept. 11)
Monday—8th grade practice 4-6 p.m.
Tuesday night—game night—6:30 to 9:30 p.m.
Wednesday—8th grade practice, 4-6 p.m.
Thursday—5th-6th-7th grade practice, 4-6 p.m.
Friday—8th grade practice, 4-6 p.m.
Saturday—practice sessions for grades 3-6.

Overin pointed out that uniforms and helmets will be

State Fair Lining Up Four-Day Racing Card

The International Motor Contest Association, in conjunction with the Nebraska State Fair, has lined up four auto racing events for Sept. 1-4, according to Fair Secretary Henry Brandt.

Taking to the track and kicking off the four consecutive dates of auto racing, will be the feature for super modifieds, Friday afternoon, Sept. 1.

Then, for three consecutive afternoons, the world of IMCA grand championships sprint car auto racing, will invade the half-mile track, doing battle for valuable IMCA points and the $11,775+ in purse money.

Jerry Blundy of Galesburg, Ill., temporarily sidelined and recuperating from injuries suffered in an auto mishap, relinquished his hold on first place in the IMCA point standings.

Ray Lee Goodwin of Kansas

City, Mo., is the new No. 1 man after winning the 25-lap feature at Knoxville, Ill., Aug. 4. Goodwin, after winning the feature had this to say about Jerry Blundy, 1970-71 sprint car champion, "Jerry Blundy is still our champion, and I am only a temporary substitute. I was ready to give him a good race for the crown, and I only hope he is back behind the wheel driving real soon."

Chuck Amati of Greenfield, Tenn., the driving sensation of the Winter Nationals in Tampa, Fla., and perhaps one of the most colorful and exciting IMCA spring car drivers, is making his move for the championship. His second place finish in the 30-lap feature at Knoxville, Ill., catapulted him from seventh place in the official standings to a fourth place ranking.

Number of Antelope Up 75 Per Cent for Year

Antelope numbers in the Panhandle have jumped by a whopping 75 per cent over last year, according to a Game and Parks Commission aerial survey of the region.

The Panhandle's antelope population was estimated at more than 7,000 some 34 per cent higher than the average of the past seven years. The area covered corresponds to Nebraska's five westernmost firearm antelope units. Increases by unit include North Sioux, 105 per cent; Box Butte, 67; Garden, 56, and Cheyenne, same. No estimate on the increase in the Banner Unit is available since that area was not surveyed last year.

Several factors contributed to the dramatic increase, according to Commission biologists. Among them are increased breeding success and movement of pronghorns from neighboring states.

Archery antelope hunters should welcome the news. The bow and arrow season opened Aug. 19. Firearm hunters will go afield on Sept. 23.

Bowling Meeting

The Wayne Women's Bowling Association will meet Monday (tonight) at 8 p.m. at the Melodee Lanes. Any girls interested in league bowling are invited to attend, according to Vicky Skokan, city association secretary.

Fair—

The Chapmans spent the rest of the week getting cattle ready for showing at the Fair.

The cattle must be washed, brushed, clipped and broke to lead, according to Mark.

"Livestock is a lot of work at the last minute," said Kathy. "If you clip them too soon the judges will say they should have been clipped a little closer."

Kathy will be showing a registered Holstein, Mark is taking a junior herd consisting of two Brown Swiss cows and one calf.

Davis will show one of his two calves.

"Kathy started with beef cattle but couldn't stand to sell them," Chapman said. "She can keep her dairy cattle."

"When Kathy started in dairy there were only about five 4-H members showing dairy in the whole county, now I'd say there are about 20," Chapman said.

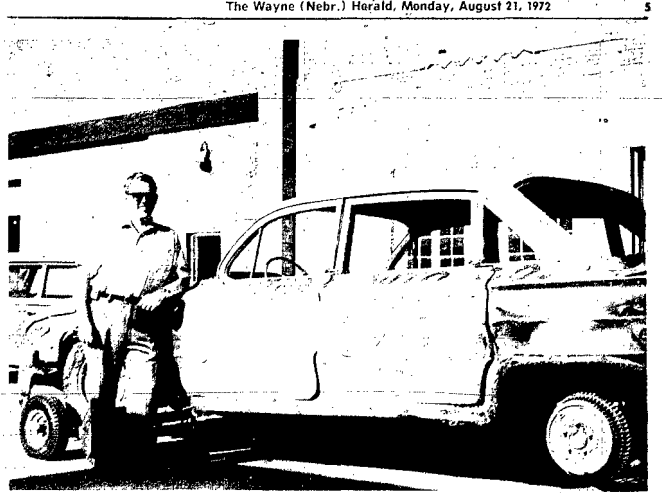

The Chapman children have a 50-50 arrangement with their father. Mark is already enjoying the fruits of this financial set up.

"That's what he bought his motorcycle with," said Kathy. "Kathy's cattle are going to help put her through college," said Mrs. Chapman. Kathy will be a freshman at the University of Nebraska next fall.

The Chapmans enthusiastic preparation for the Fair confirms what another 4-H mother once said—"You can't really appreciate the Fair unless you have children in 4-H."

INSURANCE. Under price controls insurance companies are not allowed to raise their rates unless they can prove to the regulatory authorities that the increase is in line with the government's anti-inflation guidelines. Insurance companies cannot change their rate making procedures without prior approval from the Price Commission in Washington.

Wreck 'Em

Both local drivers, Roy Korth, Wayne (top) and Gene Brudigan, Hoskins, battled it out Tuesday night at Norfolk's Riviera Raceway's Wreck 'Em Derby only to lock horns and tie for first. The men then split the $500 prize but the trophy was awarded to Omaha's Judy Hamilton. Track Owner Bob Haase gave the trophy to Mrs. Hamilton, the only girl competitor to enter the derby, in recognition of her bravery. Wortman Auto, Wayne, supplied Korth with the car.

Nebraska's Business Activity Shows Strong Growth Pattern

Reversing an April dip, Nebraska business activity in May resumed the strong growth pattern that had characterized the period January through March. The resumption of the business upswing was reported in the August issue of Business in Nebraska, monthly publication of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The dollar volume index in Nebraska was 12 per cent and the physical volume 7.4 per cent ahead of May 1971. Cash farm marketings, down in March and April, were 30 per cent higher than the previous month during May, a major fluctuation which is not uncommon in farm sales.

Aside from the slump in April, the growth of the Nebraska economy appears to have followed much the same pattern in May as in earlier months this year. Growth was led by the construction sector, for which the first five months of 1972 has surged 49 per cent ahead of the first five months of 1971.

In comparison with the Nebraska economy, antelope normally do not jump fences. Instead, they usually crawl under them.

Bees, Sunflowers Go Together

Many fields of sunflowers are going to be severely injured by several pests. The important sunflower insects are numerous in Nebraska because of the abundance of wild sunflowers. The only materials registered for sunflowers are methyl para-than of one pound per acre, and Thiodan at one pound per acre. Do not substitute methyl para-... this would be in violation of FAA regulations, federal and state regulations.

Bees are important to sunflower seed production and are working fields vigorously. If controls are applied at the wrong time, more injury than benefit could occur. When sunflower fields are sprayed—do it ONLY late in the evening after bee activity has ceased NEVER spray sunflowers in flower when bees are active.

Laurel Rites Held Sunday For A. Wickett

Funeral rites for Allan Wick, 76, of Laurel, were to be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Laurel United Presbyterian Church. Mr. Wickett died Wednesday at the Bergan Mercy Hospital in Omaha.

The Rev. Robert Neben officiated. Mrs. Harold Ward, Mrs. Virgil Luhr, Clarence Johnson and Roy Stohler sang "Amazing Grace" and "My Face Looks Up to Thee," accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Newton.

Honorary pallbearers were Roy Rasmussen, Vern McNabb, Chris Roth, Roy Johnson, James Urwiler, Morris Kvois, Gaylord Burton, David Curtis, F. J. Selske, Roscoe Dempsler, Alfred Mittelstadt and Grover Bass. Pallbearers were Jim Campbell, Earl Preston, Harold Ward, Howard Pohron, Robert Buss and Carl Christensen. Burial was in the Laurel Cemetery.

Allan Emmanuel Wickett, son of William A. and Lona M. Fuller Wickett, was born April 18, 1896 north of Laurel. He married Hazel Ray Jan. 3, 1917 at Laurel. They lived on a farm north of Laurel until 1961 when they retired and moved into town. Mr. Wickett was an active member of the United Methodist Church.

Survivors include his widow, one son, Bill of Louisville, Ky.; two daughters, Mrs. Stanley (Kathryn) Pavaon of Laurel and Mrs. Donovan (Alice) Schuler of Omaha; 14 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren; one brother, Verne of Laurel, and one sister, Mrs. Fred Burns of Laurel.

Preceding him in death were his parents, one sister and two sons.

Hunters in Nebraska must leave one leg or the head on pheasants and grouse for identification of sex and species.

Among those taking part in the mathematics workshop held at the Wayne Carroll School last week were (clockwise from left) Holly Mallette, Maureen Anderson, Debbie Wert.

Mrs. Pauline Luft, Mrs. Marie Skokan and Mrs. Angela Denesia. About 25 teachers and 21 students took part in the program.

Math Lab At School

A mathematics workshop was held at the Wayne Carroll School last week for kindergarten through sixth grade teachers in the Wayne Carroll School system. The workshop, which served as a briefing session for the continuous progress mathematics program to be put into use this fall, was conducted by Middle School Principal Loren Park, Elementary School Principal Richard Mettler and Mathematics Department Chairman Robert Porter.

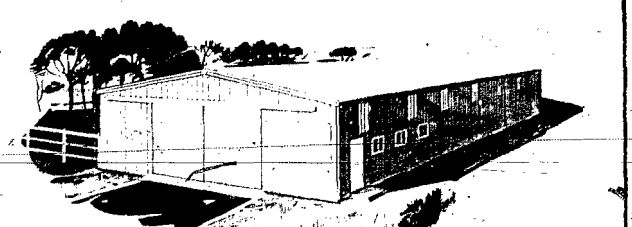

The daily morning sessions got underway Monday with the study of the Continuous Progress Laboratory (CPL), which is the management system to be used in the new math program. Trish Kenagy, teacher from Lincoln who used the system last year, lead the discussion of CPL. The basis is a set of CPL cards which contain a system giving students access to learning resources, topics, learning objectives, challenge tests and answers, teacher guides and correlation charts.

Tuesday morning was spent working on the labs and the basic textbook. A consultant from Houghton Mifflin Company, Marie Nolan, Omaha, was on hand for the session. More than one textbook will be used as the program develops and as students reach the upper grades.

Wednesday morning's session focused on record keeping forms and the use of correlation charts. Material used by instructors in previous years was placed in the system using the correlation charts. Porter led the discussion of record keeping. Thursday, each teacher arranged to have a student come in to work with the program in order to rate student reaction. The final day was used to discuss reporting to the parents and for a general review.
