

Charolais Crossbred Heifer Is Top Individual Calf at 4-H Beef Sale

A Charolais Crossbred heifer, owned by Jeff Greve of Wisner, was the high scoring individual animal Monday at the 4-H Beef Sale held at the Wayne Livestock Auction.

It was the first time in a number of years, according to the Wayne County Agriculture Agent's office, that a heifer has taken the championship, an honor usually won by steers.

Greve's animal had a 2.99 pound per day gain for the 182 day feeding period and scored 100 points in packer appraisal. Placings are determined by a scoring system which combines rate of gain and packer appraisal.

Heifers are given a four point bonus to put them on a more equal basis with steers.

Greve's 1,070 pound heifer was bid in by packers at $32.25, but brought $36.50 per hundred by Farmers Elevator of Wakefield.

Kim Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Baker of Wakefield, had the champion Pen of Five. This pen of Hereford steers gained 3.26 pounds daily to a total of 6,415 pounds and also scored 100 points in packer appraisal.

State National Bank of Wayne paid $37.25 c.w.t. for the five steers, $2.50 over the packer bid.

Both boys are members of the Leslie Livestock 4-H Club, of which Jeff's father, John Greve Jr., is the leader.

Greg Creamer of Wayne, with Charolais steers weighing 6,370 pounds, was the reserve champion in the Pen of Five Class and the only other purple ribbon winner in that category. His pen brought $36 from Feeders Elevator of Wayne, the packer bid having been $34.50.

Runner up in the individual division was Joel Greve of Wisner. John's brother Joel's Crossbred steer weighed 1,152 and brought $37 from Jim Teeter of Wayne, $3 over the starting bid made by packers.

Randall Dunklau's Charolais Cross steer was third in that class, but attracted the highest bid, $39 from Roberts Feed. The packer's bid for the 1,165 pound animal was $33.75.

The other two purples in the individual division were Charolais steers, both bid in at $34 by the packers. The 1,130 calf

Jeff Greve of rural Wisner had the high-scoring individual animal for the annual 4-H Beef Sale Monday night at the Wayne Livestock Auction. The Charolais Crossbred heifer gained 2.99 pounds per day for the 182-day feeding period.

Kim Baker of rural Wakefield had the champion Pen of Five, a group that gained 3.26 pounds daily for 182 days. Baker's five Hereford steers were weighed in at 6,415 pounds before the 4-H Beef Sale Monday night at the Wayne Livestock Auction.

Hospital Progress Report Given to Wayne Kiwanians

A progress report, concerning the new hospital to be built on the Wayne College campus, was given by Bob Carhart, president of the Wayne Hospital Foundation, and Adon Jeffrey, the campaign's general chairman, in a talk before the Wayne Kiwanis Club Monday noon at City Auditorium.

Jeffrey said that actual collections to date total $121,191, with an amount of $873,891, having been subscribed, a figure far above the expectations of drive officials when the campaign was opened.

All donations have been invested, along with carryover funds from the hospital account, and will continue to draw interest until the construction begins next spring.

Jeffrey gave a brief history of how the drive was started, with the original target being $300,000 for a 30 bed hospital. Since that time, the agreement was made with the Missionary Benedictine Sisters of Norfolk to erect a 50 bed hospital, with the Sisters agreeing to match funds if $300,000 could be collected.

An application for Hill-Burton funds was made later and the federal grant of $300,000 from that source was agreed upon, pending on Hill-Burton approval, for the 30 bed portion of the hospital only. The other 20-bed

Laurel Musicians Go To State Fair Today

Members of the Laurel High School band will meet at the school early this morning (Thursday) for their trip to Lincoln to march at the State Fair. The bus is scheduled to leave the school at 7:45 a.m. and students are asked to be there 20 minutes early. At 10:45 the band members will change into their marching uniforms and will arrive at the fairgrounds about 11 a.m. for the first parade.

The group will have lunch at JB Big Boy and will take part in two performances during the afternoon, with a final parade at

Two Rural Men Hurt In Crash

Two rural Wayne men were taken to the Wayne County Hospital emergency ward about 10:30 a.m. Wednesday following a one-car crash on a county road seven miles south and two west of Wayne.

William and John Oliver, Route 1, were being treated by Dr. Bob Benthack. The extent of the injuries was unknown at press time Wednesday.

According to the ambulance driver, Hospital Administrator Charles Thomas, the men were traveling east when the car slid off the left side of the gravel road and into a creek.

Thomas pointed out that several farmers and area residents helped to pull the car out of the creek before the injured men could be taken out of the vehicle.

Willful Reckless Driving Charged

George Eynon of Norfolk was arrested for willful reckless driving early Wednesday morning by Wayne City Police after driving on lawns of two residences.

Earna Cary of 321 W. Second reported to police at 2:17 a.m. that a car had driven across her lawn. Eynon was spotted by a Wayne police officer and chased until the Eynon car stopped after driving on a lawn at 117 S. Sherman.

Eynon was jailed overnight at the city jail.

Two cases of vandalism were reported to the Wayne Police Department this past week, with one incident involving a trailer house.

Harlan Cates, Lyons, told police Tuesday that someone entered his trailer home, located at Woehler Trailer Court, and tore up some of the furniture.

Cates indicated that the alleged incident happened sometime between Aug. 2 and Aug. 29.

On Sunday, Alice Davis, Carroll, reported that a windshield wiper blade on her car was bent.

Middle Center Open 3 Days

The Wayne Middle Center, above the fire department, will open its doors for the school year on Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 7 to 10 p.m.

According to Hank Oyerin, City recreation director, the Center will be open from 4:6 on rainy school days.

Perhaps not all area youngsters may have been glad that school started this week, but young Chris Hillier was not one of those reluctant ones. Chris, son of Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Hillier, is one of 67 students enrolled in kindergarten classes at West Elementary School this year. Total number of students who registered Wednesday in the Wayne-Carroll Elementary Schools is 331.

County Economy Aided By Defense Department

The U.S. Defense Department added $38,000 to the economy of Wayne County during the last six months of 1971, according to information from Congressman Charles Thone, who represents Nebraska's First District.

This compares with a Defense Department input of $138,000 to the county during the 12 months from July 1, 1970, to June 30, 1971.

The figures are based on prime contracts awarded to firms in the county and on an estimate of all Defense Department payrolls to residents of the county during

County Economy Aided By Defense Department

The period.

The July through December, 1971, figures, Thone said, included $23,000 to county residents in the Reserve and National Guard forces, and $5,000 to county residents who are civilian employees of the Defense Department.

During the 12 months from July, 1970, through June, 1971, the total was made up, Thone explained, of $66,000 in prime contracts to county firms, $23,000 in payments to retired personnel, $39,000 to Reserve

Boy's Condition Much Improved

Brent Miller, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller of rural Winslow, has shown considerable improvement at Melhoidt Hospital in Omaha, according to his grandmother, Mrs. Alice Boyce of Wayne.

Mrs. Boyce said the youth, who has been in a semi-conscious state most of the time since falling off a tractor at his farm home Aug. 4, is being fed solid food now, can recognize those at his bedside and talks briefly.

Brent still is not able to open his eyes without lifting his eyelids with his fingers, but apparently can see fairly well when he raises his eyelids.

Weather

Slightly over 1 1/2 inches of rain fell in Wayne during the month of August, according to records kept by Pat Gross at Triangle Finance.

That, in comparison to the wet days of July, made the past month a "dry spell."

A third of that total fell on the first two days of August, .48 of an inch on the 1st and .09 on the 2nd. That was followed by a trace on the 8th, a .73 downpour on the 11th, .12 on the 21st and .11 on the 23rd.

The cool spell was shattered on Sunday and Monday when the mercury hit 88 and 92 on those days. Temperature records kept by People's Natural Gas are from noon to noon, so figures in the following chart would appear to be off a day. In other words, the 94 degree reading would be on the Tuesday, Aug. 29 chart instead of Monday.

Council to Give Further Study To Church Parking and Landfill

The City Council, in a short agenda but another long winded session, referred several reports to the next council agenda while taking action on a few measures Tuesday night.

The council, in a unanimous decision, agreed to give the church parking proposals for the city churches further study at the Sept. 12 meeting.

Earlier, the members voted that they were in favor of providing some street parking, in restricted parking areas, during Sunday church and special services. Most of the nine churches in the city requested certain areas for parking. It is now up to the street and alley committee, headed by Councilman Keith Mosley, to study the request.

Landfill Rates

The releasing of the city landfill rates, scheduled for Sept. 1, was postponed until Oct. 1, pending any action whether the county will build a bridge in the area. According to Councilman Jim Thomas there was some talk that the county might build a road, extending from No. 35 east to the county road near the landfill.

The council heard the second reading on the proposal for the city to place a three per cent occupational tax on Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. In the first hearing, the tax failed to carry a three-fourth majority. In the Tuesday night session, the motion again failed. The final reading will be at the next meeting where it will finally die, or the council may take action.

Chief of Police Vern Fairchild told the council members that the Region 11 and 25 Joint Planning Commission for Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice will hold its annual seminar at Wayne State College, Sept. 22.

The one-day affair will center on law enforcement and the problems in that area. Chief Fairchild explained to the members that the seminar, sponsored by the crime commission, will not cost the city any money. All he needed was to have the city pass a resolution in favor of having the meeting in Wayne.

Safety First

Look both ways before crossing. Several Wayne children were urged Tuesday to look both ways before crossing any streets. Assistant Police Chief Pat Halley, in charge of the Safety Pedestrian program, sponsored by the Wayne Police Department, reminded the children that "safety is always first."

Two years ago, he said, the seminar drew favorable response when it was held at the college.

Mus Acres

The council agreed to the final plat of the Mus Acres, located north of Wayne, before it is sent to the City Planning Commission. On Sept. 11, the Commission will meet to give its approval or disapproval of the plans before it is brought back to the council for final inspection and possible passage.

In other action pertaining to development projects, the members voted in favor of the engineer's certificate, noting that street improvement project No. 71-1, completed on Eighth Street by St. Mary's Church, was approved. The next city action will involve new property assessments.

In his separate moves, the council authorized City Attorney John Anderson to study the request by Atty. Budd Bornhoff, representing Wayne Marsh, to have the city pay Marsh $250 for an easement extended across his property in the Pine Heights area.

Bornhoff said that his client feels that the city put a sewer line across his property without an earlier easement. Presently the area involved in the sewage area has settled somewhat, causing a portion of the driveway to crack. Marsh is asking for the amount in order to repair the stretch of concrete.

A second move by the council, asked Atty. Addison to study the possibility of the city obtaining an oil tank it purchased recently. According to some members, the tank, costing about $500, has not been delivered.

The council voted to take the necessary legal action to get the city's money back or the oil tank it bought.

Other Action

In other action:

- The installation of cable television at the high school will be delayed until sometime after the first of next year due to the change in ownership of Wayne Cablevision.
- The council voted to recognize George Thorbeck, retiring from the Commission of Housing Authority, for his outstanding job on the commission.
- Agreed to charge Atty. Addison and Charles Thomas, who both own a hangar at the Wayne Airport, $1 a month for electric.

Iris Tour Scheduled

Plans for the American Iris Society Region 21 tour, to be held June 2 and 3 in Norfolk and Wayne were announced at the monthly meeting of the Valley Iris Society by President Roger Nelson. Tour Chairman Mrs. J. N. Cox, Norfolk presented a brief outline of the arrangements and schedule. Approximately 65 to 75 iris growers from Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and North Dakota will be in attendance. Several gardens in Norfolk will be toured as well as Nelson's "Iris Country" in Wayne. Other items on the agenda were a report by Larry Harder, Ponca, and Mrs. Ernest Zellner, Stanton, on the fall regional meeting held Aug. 31 in Sioux City. Mrs. Roy Johnson, Norfolk, special events chairman, announced that preliminary plans were in the making for a fall harvest dinner to be held in October.

Son Baptized Sunday

Baptismal services were held Sunday at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Wayne, for Christopher Kyle Torczon. Christopher, son of John and Celeste Torczon, Wakefield, was born July 24 at Pender. Godparents are Jay Torczon and Coleen Gallagher. The Rev. Paul J. Begley officiated.

Jeanne Whorlow, Jim Nehl Married

Bouquets of yellow and apricot colored gladioli appointed the altar of St. Mary's Catholic Church for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Jeanne Whorlow and Jim Nehl. The Rev. Paul Begley officiated at the double ring ceremony and Sallie Bergt sang "All of My Life," and "Ave Maria," accompanied by Beth Bergt. All are of Wayne. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Kenneth Whorlow, Wayne. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Nehl, Overland Park, Kan. Mrs. Doug Lyman, Wayne, served her sister as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Lynn Lessmann, Wayne; Joni Pennington, Emporia, Kan.; and Linda Solheim, Prairie Village, Kan. Giltbearers were Mary Elen McCright, Denver, Colo., and Terri Theroff, Fremont. John Skuban, Overland Park, was best man and groomsmen were Wayne Hedrick, and Tom Ast, Emporia, Kan., and Gary Burgess, Wanega, Kan. Bill Wellford and Fred Fort ushered. The bride, given in marriage by her father, appeared in an empire styled gown of organza and Swiss lace, fashioned with Victorian neckline, Juliet sleeves and toe-length demi-bell skirt which was bordered in a deep ruffled flounce and swept into a chapel length train. Her floor-length train of imported illusion was caught to a ruffled capote of matching Swiss lace and she carried a cascade of Wobin aby roses, white stephanotis and English ivy. Her attendants were identically gowned in toe-length frocks of apricot chiffon styled with Victorian necklines, long bishop sleeves, tucked bodices and empire waistlines. They carried colonial nosegays of yellow pompons, wobin aby roses and orange hill flowers. The men wore black tuxedos. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Whorlow chose a floor-length gown of navy blue and white. Mrs. Nehl's floor-length frock was in a beige print and both mothers had wobin aby rose corsages. Pam McCright, Wayne; registered guests and Mrs. Tom Ast and Mrs. Will Wellford arranged gifts for the reception held at the Black Knight Lounge following the ceremony. Mr and Mrs. Gene Fredrickson served as hosts to the 150 guests and Donna Cook, Kansas City, Kan; Isabelle Corrado, Emporia, Kan., cut and served the cake Mrs. Davy Farreys, and Mrs. Bruce Monson served punch. The bride is a 1968 graduate of Wayne High School and attended Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia. The bridegroom, a 1966 graduate of Bishop Miege High School, attended Kansas State Teachers College and spent two years in the U.S. Navy. He is employed as a signalman for the Santa Fe Railroad. The couple will be at home at 8139 Overland Park Drive, Overland Park, Kan.

19 at Center For Film, Discussion

Nineteen members of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center attended the Monday afternoon Bible study, conducted by the Rev. John Epperson. A film, "The Attempted Arrest of Jesus," was shown, and a discussion, "Journeying with Christ," followed. The next Bible study will be held at 3:15 p.m. Monday, Sept. 1. Senior citizens drama class members presented their one act play, "A Present for a Lady," to an audience of 70 who gathered at the Villa Wayne recreation center Friday evening. Cast members are Mrs. Lucille Larson, Mrs. Alma Splitgerber, Mrs. Mathilde Harms, Mrs. Mary Woehler and Goldie Leonard. Mrs. Dorothy Beckenhauer was the prompter. Residents of Villa Wayne served refreshments. Any group interested in having the drama class present a special program for them is urged to contact Center director Joell Bull (375-1460). All persons, 55 years old and over may join the class at any time. A comedy is now in the planning stages. Fifty song books, given by members and friends in memory of Al Baine and Dave Theophilus have arrived at the center. The Friday afternoon sermonette, was presented by the Rev. Frank Pedersen to 15 members of the center. His topic was taken from Romans 3:23 and 6:7. Mrs. Pedersen accompanied singing of hymns and Pastor and Mrs. Pedersen presented a vocal duet, "Then I Met the Master." Mabel Duerre, a sister of Mrs. Pedersen from Kenmore, N. D., was a guest. The next sermonette and singing is scheduled for Friday, 2 p.m.

Eagles Aiming for Conference Title

The Allen Eagles will be clawing after the Lewis and Clark Conference title this year, as Coach Charles Haag and his team have any say on the matter.

Last year's Eastern Conference leader, (5-0) dropped its bid for the conference title to Hartington, 21-8. This year Coach Haag doesn't want to repeat that game.

Eighteen returning lettermen will help Allen improve on its 6-3-1 mark of the 1971 season with 11 starters pushing the team offensively and defensively.

Quarterback Scott Von Minden, at 6-2 and 150, will keep his offensive club blending with a running and passing type of game. Coach Haag believes that his squad could prove to be dangerous in the air with the help of Juniors Charles Peters, Jim Koester and Seniors Duane Mitchell, Stanley Perry, Pete Snyder and Mark Jorgensen competing for the end spots. Koester, who stands 6-3, is the team's only tall man, at the end position. But, it was pointed out, all six candidates have "good hands."

In the backfield, veterans Tim Hill and Craig Blohm will be vying for the running jobs while newcomer Ricky Chase, a sophomore, shows promise.

The offensive line will carry its weight this year with two men—Larry and Lynn—Stallbaum, averaging 205 and standing 6-4. Both boys, along with Junior Dave Riffey, will be battling it out for the tackle spots. Riffey, who also weighs at 205, is somewhat shorter at 5-10.

Veteran Guard Randy Lanser and Sophomore Don Kliver will be hitting the line with weights averaging 150. Returning Center Neil Blohm will help to complete the front wall.

Defensively the Allen club is rebuilding with All-Conference

End Terry Noe leading his teammates. Last year the Eagles had three All-Conference interior linemen blocking the middle. This year, the head coach feels that the gap can't be filled.

Also helping Noe will be Junior Charles Peters and linebackers Neil Blohm and Lanser. Lanser, a junior, lead his team in tackles with 85 unassisted hits for the season.

The Allen team starts the season Sept. 15 at Winside. Yet, there is no Homecoming date scheduled.

The schedule includes:
Sept. 15—Allen at Winside.
Sept. 22—Allen at Ponca.
Sept. 29—Homer at Allen.
Oct. 3—Wakarusa at Allen.
Oct. 6—Allen at Newcastle.
Oct. 13—Coleridge at Allen.
Oct. 20—Macy at Allen.
Oct. 27—Walthill at Allen.
Nov. 3—Allen at Emerson.

Homer Retains Tourney Crown

A sixth-inning home run by Tom Prince and two-hit pitching by John Ege, Wayne State College moundman, combined to boost Homer to a 1-0 victory over West Point Sunday in the championship finals of the Cumming County Fair baseball tournament.

West Point had eliminated Wakarusa, 11-3, on Saturday with the winners going on a homer-hitting spree—five rounder-trippers. Defending King Homer had gained the finals with an 11-2 romp past Scribner in the semi-finals.

Reggie Smith and Rollie Ulrich each socked two home runs against Wakarusa and Bob Nelson hit one against Wakarusa Pitches Westergard and Terry Luth.

Kindergartners To Go Full Day

According to Superintendent Gail Miller, kindergartners in Allen will begin classes in January (second semester) and will attend classes for a full day, five days per week, rather than going all year for just half-day sessions.

A poll taken of parents of kindergartners found the majority of parents to favor this arrangement.

Eighth-place Car Ousts Area Racer at Akron

Terry Lessmann, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Lessman of Route 2, Wayne, was eliminated by the eighth-place car in the All-American Soap Box Derby Saturday at Akron, Ohio.

Rain necessitated cutting out one of the lanes at Akron, so only two cars, instead of three, ran in each heat, with the loser being eliminated.

Brudigan Brothers Capture Top Wins

The Brudigan brothers from Hoskins crossed the finish line at Norfolk's Riviera Raceway in one-two fashion Sunday night as each captured a win in the first and second heat.

Harold Brudigan started out the event with a win in the first heat, followed by his brother, Gene, who finished first in the second heat.

But Gene wasn't finished racing yet. In the A feature, he finished fifth at for fifth place with Don Weyhrich of Norfolk.

Another Hoskins native, Gerald Bruggeman, added another win to the community's long list of racing winners by taking the third heat at Eagle Raceway Sunday night.

Bruggeman, who is fifth in point standings at the Eagle track, placed fifth in the A feature of the super modified race.

The local entry was matched at 10 a.m. Saturday against Michael Paul of San Diego, Calif., who won the 51st heat in 27.75 seconds over the 975-foot course.

Terry did not come away from the All-American empty-handed. He was presented a jacket and other clothes, a flag with the name of the city he represented, a watch and a camera.

This was in addition to an all-expense-paid trip to Akron as a result of winning the Soap Box Derby at Norfolk on June 25, plus a $500 savings bond.

Terry's car was sponsored by The Wayne Herald and West Gate Pharmacy of Norfolk.

Sunday—Riviera Raceway
First heat—Won by Harold Brudigan, Hoskins; fourth, Doug Stange, Stanton.

Second heat—Won by Gene Brudigan, Hoskins.

Third heat—Second, Lyle Weyhrich, Pierce.

A feature—Fifth, Gene Brudigan, Hoskins, and Don Weyhrich, Norfolk.

Late model heat—Third, Rich Suchan; fourth, Stange, both of Stanton.

A feature—Second, Stange.

His cheering section at Akron included his parents; brother, David; sister, Lori; aunt, Mrs. Vera Finke of Chicago, and his cousin, Jim Cruise of Chicago. Lori had finished a close second to Terry in the Norfolk Soap-Box Derby.

Leak Will Not Cause an Early Closing of Pool

The Wayne Swimming pool will remain open until the end of the Labor Day weekend, according to city officials.

Earlier reports said a leaky pipe near the sides of the pool caused sand to silt into the water. But the bulk of the leaking water has diminished, officials said.

Harvey Brasch, city council member in charge of the parks and recreation committee, said the leak is caused by possible rusted pipes. As soon as the pool is closed, he said, the city will begin working on the problem. If the leak worsens, the pool will have to close before the Sept. 4 date.

Boats towing water skiers in Nebraska waters must be equipped with a wide-angle mirror. If the mirror is not aboard, an observer at least 12 years old must accompany the skipper to keep an eye on the person under tow.

Behind The Champions On Wheels

AS WITH ANY SPORT, AUTO RACING HAS ITS "UNSUNG HEROES" ... THE MEN BEHIND THE SCENES ... THE MECHANICS. THE SKILL AND KNOWLEDGE OF THESE MEN IS UNVALUABLE TO THE RACE DRIVER. MERK SECONDS SAVED IN THE PIT OFTEN SPELL THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN VICTORY AND DEFEAT.

Dick H. Schaffer
Mr. NEBRASKAland

M. O. Steen, retired Game and Parks Commission director, still calls Lincoln home, working on the first of several books he hopes to write. Characteristically, he says the book is going to be a smash, and it probably will. Mel's also a consultant for Devil's Nest at Lewis and Clark Lake. His latest venture hopes to induce bald eagles to nest and stay the year-around at Devil's Nest.

More than 50 eagles reportedly winter in the area, departing for the far west and north in March. Mel hopes to "anchor" some of the birds by isolating about 85 acres of tree and bluff area where they could remain undisturbed. Platforms will be built out of native trees in the hope that some birds will take the hint and build nests.

"What I'm trying to do," Mel said, "is to see if it's possible to manage the species. All that's ever been done for this vanishing species is to set up refuges. If we can get them to nest here, we can manage them as we do other species."

He hopes to feed highway-killed deer to the eagles, providing the Game and Parks Commission goes along. Presently most road-killed deer are a waste because they're generally too battered for human consumption.

Fish in the Lewis and Clark Lake area reportedly do not have a dangerous level of DDT, as far as eagles are concerned.

"But," Mr. Steen said, "if we can set up a situation where they eat less fish, we're in business. By lowering the ingestion of fish we can minimize their DDT intake. The odds then are in favor to reduce the loss of eggs and young."

Mr. Steen isn't optimistic about getting the eagles to nest in the area but he feels it's worth a try. Any experiment is worthy when you're trying to find the key to saving our national emblem from extinction.

The 75-year-old nationally renowned game authority continues to receive honors, the latest being named grand marshal of the Grand National Mixed-Bag Hunt at Silver Creek, Nov. 3 and 4.

STILL IN SCHOOL

While school's just beginning for most, there are some, fish in this case, who have been in school all along and just don't want to give it up. At Grove Lake near Royal, I saw many large schools of bullheads, about seven inches long, breaking the surface. This barbel-equipped fish is generally a bottom dweller and rarely comes to the surface unless he comes of age.

Glen R. Foster, fisheries chief for the State, said "It's common for small bullheads to be schooled and on the surface, but nothing as big as seven inches." Only possible explanation he suggested is that there's a shortage of oxygen down below.

Biggest largemouth taken to date this year at Grove Lake is a six-pound, 11-ounce, Art Erb, who operates a tackle shop near the north end of the lake, says fishermen there are using more artificial than live baits just the opposite of last year. And, he claims, there's aunker catfish that just won't be caught. He says he had the big cat on three times and never was able to turn him before the line broke. A Missourian, fishing the identical spot, did likewise.

MISHMASH... While there's a closed season on canvasbacks this fall in Nebraska and elsewhere in the U.S., there is encouragement. The Fish and Wildlife Service will spend $200,000 in an expanded research program to learn why the decreasing numbers. Declining habitat quality and the effects of disease, pesticides, and other pollutants will be explored. ... No wonder why deer fawns grow fast. Deer milk is extremely rich, containing about twice the solids of Jersey cow milk and nearly three times as much fat and protein. ... Some 200,000 channel catfish fingerlings from the Cedar Bluffs fish hatchery in Kansas will be stocked in lakes throughout Nebraska in early September. ... The snapping turtle always feeds underwater; he cannot swallow unless his head is submerged.

PLACES A-G.O.G.O.... State Fair in Lincoln, Aug. 31 through Sept. 6; 3rd annual Governor's Cup Regatta, Ogallala, 2-4; Labor Day, Rodeo, Bridgeport, 3-4; statewide fair for squirrels and cottontails, beginning the 1st.

Grove Trout Rearing Station, 1 mile north-1 1/2 miles east of Royal on Highway 20, where trout by the thousands explode on the surface as Superintendent Elvin Brey tosses them coops of food pellets twice daily. ... or where, if you are lucky to be there at loading time, trout are pumped from hiding raceways through a six-inch diameter translucent plastic pipe into an awaiting fish truck at the rate of about 2,500 trout in four minutes. This compares to hand loading the same number of fish in about 45 minutes. The station is open daily, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sleeping Giant Awakens Sept. 8

The Trojan horse in the city of Troy stood still until the moment of battle when hundreds of warriors crawled out of the wooden animal to seize the town. Perhaps, there may be a simile to the Wakefield Trojans as they open their 1972 football season with 20 returning letter men.

Head Coach John Torczon feels that his Class C club may be a sleeping giant until the season opens with 11 returning

Only One WSC Backfield Starter, But Defense Manned by Veterans

With pre-season practice half done, Wayne State's football prospects look something like this: the offense a question mark, the defense pretty well manned by veterans again.

Coach Del Stoltenberg, starting line-up record will show Wildcat helm, has 22 lettermen back to spearhead the season opener Saturday, Sept. 9, against the University of Nebraska at Omaha. Several lettermen who were expected to return in 1972 suffered a double tragedy this summer in the deaths of two running backs—Mike Wise, Avoca, last year's most valuable player on offense and the leading rusher, and Tom Chromy, North Bend, a promising replacement for Wise.

The only returning backfield starter is Fullback Dennis Linke of Grand Island.

The quarterback job is wide open, Stoltenberg noted, with a sophomore and two freshmen the only candidates. The sophomore is Mike Weiler of Hopkington, Ia., who played only with the junior varsity last year. The freshmen are Rick Bene detto of Chicago and Dave Miller of Savannah, Ill.

The remaining schedule: September—16, Emporia State (band day); 23, Minnesota-Morris; 30, at Midland. October—7, at Chadron State; 14, at St. Cloud State, Minn.; at Kearney State; 28, Peru State (homecoming). November—6, Yankton; 11, at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Defensive coach Ralph Barclay figures he can field a "pretty strong" first unit with nine season lettermen and several other good prospects. After that, the defensive forces are thin on experience.

The backfield features three veteran defenders, Charlie Wendt, of Ralston and Pat Holston of Scotch Plains, N.J., both three lettered performers, and Gordon Godfrey of Aberdeen, Wash. Missing from the backfield is graduated Chuck Ross, a four year defensive dynamo.

Without doubt, one of the linebacker slots belongs to Reggie Smith of West Point, probably the most aggressive Wildcat of all. A possibility at the other linebacking spot is two-letted George Biszack of Sterling, Ill., who played defensive guard last year.

Up front, the defensive has three experienced ends in Ken Monroe of Arlington Heights, Ill., a senior and two-time national wrestling champion; Tom Allie, junior from Des Moines, and Stan Lewis, sophomore from Chicago.

Ron Coles, a sophomore from Indianapolis, has shifted from offensive to defensive tackle, hardly missing a stride. Strong candidates for the other tackle job are returning squadman Ed Travers, junior from Waukegan, Ill., and Layne Herber of Omaha, a junior who has not played football at Wayne.

The Wayne-Omaha game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Rosenblatt Stadium.

There are a lot of younger players pushing the vets for their job, Coach Torczon said. Already the team in shaping up with one position, the tackles, still undecided. "As yet I'm not sure who will fill our offensive tackle positions."

For the rest of the offensive, the Wakefield head coach added that Junior Doug Soderberg will be at the controls with Doug Fischer governing the second unit. Although the right handed Soderberg weighs in at 155 and stands 5'11, Coach Torczon feels that Soderberg's quickness will make the difference in games.

This year, the Wakefield team will be switching from the Eastern to the Western Conference due to a reshuffling of teams in the Husker Conference. But the team will still play Eastern Conference clubs, due to the scheduling of games.

Coach Torczon hesitated to say which team he thought would present the toughest match for his squad. "They'll all be tough," he added.

Head Coach John Torczon feels that his Class C club may be a sleeping giant until the season opens with 11 returning

Homer Ousts Town Team In Playoffs

The Homer Town Team eliminated Wayne from the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League playoffs Tuesday night by blanking the locals, 10-0 at Homer.

Homer hurler Mark Gries fanned 12 Wayne men en route to a four hitter, pushing the second place club into the area playoff finals.

The locals got into trouble in the early stages of the game when the host team began rapping out hits in the second inning and continued the blasting until the end of the contest.

Wayne pitcher-manager Hank Overin started the mound duties after an eye injury last week to ace moundman Paul Eddie put him out of action. Overin pitched for two and one third innings before being replaced by Rod Cook. Steve Hix later came into the game to relieve Cook, but the Homer fire already burned out Wayne's hopes of staying in the playoffs.

Homer connected on 11 hits for its 10 runs with the help of two doubles by Left Fielder Bob Jacobsen. Jacobsen had the hottest bat of the night, going two for three at the plate and scoring two runs.

Third Baseman Tom Prince went two for two at the home sack, knocking out two singles while crossing the plate three times.

Wayne finishes its season with a 10-9 mark.

Berry Is Golf King

Dick Berry, of Wakefield, with a handicapped low score of 62, won the 1st Annual Les Steak House Invitational golf tournament Monday afternoon at the Wayne Country Club.

Frank Prather of Wayne took runner-up honors with his 67, including a handicap.

Thirty-two golfers took part in the meet.

Steering Column

Q. Just what's the best way to stay alert on long trips?
A. When planning a long trip, take a tip from the American Trucking Industry as relayed by Clark Equipment Trailer Division and the ATA Foundation. Open the windows, play the radio, chew gum and make frequent coffee stops at least once every 150 miles or three hours of driving. At the first sign of dozing, pull off the road for a short nap. Better to sleep a few minutes than to rest in peace forever.

Q. What precautions should I take when driving on the freeways?
A. First, plan your route before starting out. A freeway is no place for a breakdown, and it is a long way between service stations.

Use acceleration and deceleration lanes properly. Get your speed up to traffic speed before pulling into traffic lane, leave traffic lane and reduce speed only in deceleration lane. Make changes gradually and only after signaling and insuring the way is clear.

Q. How many trucks are in the U.S.?
A. Almost 18 million trucks were licensed in 1970—a million more than the preceding year. That's about 37 per cent of all the world's trucks, giving the U.S. a big advantage in international commerce.

The nation's vast network of major highways and connecting roads, coupled with its flexible fleet of motor carriers, has contributed significantly to our economic growth. Good highways and trucks also provide a vital transportation base for national defense.

Minnows, whether alive or dead, are prohibited as bait at state put-and-take trout fishing areas.

Popular 'Sports'

What sport boasts the largest number of participants and what sport attracts the greatest throngs of audiences? This question has been debated for about the same length of time as "which came first, the chicken or the egg?" Football, baseball, basketball, softball, fishing, hunting, car and horse racing, golf and on down an almost endless line have all claimed one distinction or the other at one time.

In Nebraska, at least, there is no doubt as to the largest congregation on any Saturday afternoon from mid-September to late November—and, of late, on through New Year's Day.

Saturday afternoons (the Nebraska Cornhuskers one exception). There is little doubt as to the fate of convicted robbers in Nigeria. More than 170 of them have been executed in less than two years.

By contrast, in the United States a recent story told of the release of a person convicted of killing a policeman during Prohibition. The prisoner regained his freedom after 40 years and is now 85 years old.

Football

Football is here at last. Well, almost here. The sound of the whistle can be heard on playing fields across the nation as boys, young men and even some of the men past the professional stages of football don their make-believe helmets and quarterbacking strategy to out-maneuver their would-be opponents.

This year's arm-and-quarterback will get another early jump on the season's game with a host of pre-season games already on the tube.

and return late in January but only after the Super Bowl.

But don't blame him for being enraptured in the sport. The fault really belongs to the networks. They are the ones who bring the world the bruising, yet exciting, sport.

If you want to get mad at someone or something, try the networks. How about women's lib stepping in and setting up their own football program where the women battle it out?

Sound impression? Take a look at the sport of roller derby.

Hoskins School Adopts Meal Policy

Ronald G. Schmidt, principal of Trinity Lutheran School at Hoskins, has announced the free and reduced price meal policy for those students whose parents are unable to pay the full price. Hoskins school officials have adopted a family size and income scale as announced by the secretary of agriculture to assist them in determining eligibility. Eligibility determinations are made on a family basis, that is, all the children in the same family attending schools under the jurisdiction of the same school food authority are to receive the same benefits, a free meal or a reduced price meal, not some a free meal and others a reduced price meal. The payment for a reduced price lunch shall not exceed 20 cents. Unusual circumstances, such as illness or death in the family, also will be taken into consideration when determining eligibility for free or reduced meal prices. Families falling within this scale or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships may apply for free or reduced price meals for their children by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted anytime during the school year. The form requests information needed to determine economic need, based on the income of the family and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school meals. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Under the provisions of the policy, the Board for Christian Education of Trinity Lutheran School will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied by the ruling of the local officials, he may make a request, either orally or in writing, for a hearing to appeal the decision. The elders of Trinity Lutheran Church, Box 25, Hoskins, have been designated as hearing officials. The policy also provides that there will be no identification of or discrimination against any student unable to pay the full cost of a meal. A complete copy of the policy is on file in the school office, where it may be reviewed by any interested patron. Industrial plants in which employees are subjected to high on-the-job noise levels should provide workers with protective ear plugs, protective earmuffs, or both. Officials also urge that employees working under noisy conditions also be given periodic hearing tests.

Estimated Tax Filing Deadline Is on Sept. 15

Individuals filing 1972 declarations of Estimated Tax have an important deadline approaching. According to Richard P. Vinal, Internal Revenue Service District Director for Nebraska, Sept. 15 is the date by which third quarter estimated tax installments must be filed and paid.

Vinal reminded estimated tax filers that they will not receive a reminder notice each quarter as they have in past years.

Taxpayers whose anticipated income during 1972 has changed, may be required to either amend their declaration, or if they have not already done so, to file one. Space to compute the amount of estimated tax due is provided in the estimated tax package.

Further information on filing estimated tax returns can be obtained from any IRS Office.

The Agent's Angle

by Harold Ingalls

The devaluation of surrounding properties. The destruction of a valuable shade tree may require a settlement through legal proceedings. In all cases the evaluation of the tree loss must be relative to the land value and must not exceed it.

The Federal Internal Revenue Service recognizes as a legitimate casualty claim the loss of shade trees due to lightning, ice, wind, and storms. There is a $100 deductible provision and the Department of Revenue will accept the full casualty loss claim as long as the claim is within reason.

Most consultants, appraisers and expert witnesses base their fee evaluations on a formula method approved by the International Shade Tree Conference. This formula is the basic value x the species value x the condition value equal the tree value.

Very few shade trees are perfect specimens. As trees become large and old, they often become defective in one or several ways. The location of the tree may be undesirable, the structure of the tree might have been weakened by the elements. Maybe the tree is in a location where a sidewalk, street, building or other structure may be placed in the near future. Grade changes could affect its value. All these things must be considered by the person making the evaluation of the tree, as any means or formula for evaluating shade trees must be flexible. No hard and fast rules can be set up that will hold in all cases.

Obviously, the longer the tree has been removed, the drier the stump and the more rapid the rate of burning. Do not use this method when it is contrary with antipollution or burning ordinances.

SHADE TREE EVALUATION
How do you assign a dollar value to shade and ornamental trees? There are many occasions when such values are needed.

In the appraisal of real estate it is often necessary to evaluate the trees separately from the land values. Many homeowner's insurance policies have shade-tree casualty clauses. The removal of shade trees on condemned property can result in

Hogs Can Be Good Teachers

Did you know that hogs are good teachers? That they aren't unclean, stupid, fattening animals we've thought?

In reality hogs are clean animals, among the smartest, according to researchers, and produce pork that is consistently lower in fat content.

In addition, the hog has been cast in a new role, that of an excellent teacher to over 110,000 4-H'ers. Members and hogs to gether go through the proper methods of feeding, breeding and caring for hogs, for fun, profit and recognition by their participation in the national 4-H swine program, supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and sponsored by the Moorman Mtg. Co.

Four H'ers enrolled in the swine program learn about hog raising, by actually going through the experience of raising their own animals. In this way they learn success, some times failure, and always a lesson in practical economics.

David Worrell, of Winchester, Ill., is one of the appreciative students. One of six national winners in the 4-H swine program last year, he had to go through some difficult years with his herd.

"After a successful second year in the program, I stumbled backwards in hog quality my third and fourth years. I decided then that I would have to spend more money... to rebuild my herd," Worrell stated.

The expenditure paid off when the quality of his herd improved and his boar was selected champion of the Western Illinois Fair, two years in a row.

Four H'ers not only learn the breeding and business aspects of hog raising, but how to judge other hogs, too.

Garald B. Young, of Damascus, Md., another 1971 national winner in the 4-H swine program, not only raised prize hogs, but judged them as well. Young was the top livestock judge at the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition—and was a member of the livestock judging team in his home state of Maryland.

To encourage the 4-H students, incentive and recognition awards are offered by Moorman Mtg. Co. Four medals of Honor are given to winners in each county. State winners in the 4-H program are given an all expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 26-30, and six scholar ships of $700 each are given to the national winners in the program.

Yes, hogs can be teachers. The 4-H members enrolled in 4-H swine programs have learned a lot from their projects.

Nebraska Loses Hog Cholera-free Status

Nebraska's third hog cholera case within two months has caused the state to lose hog cholera-free status, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports.

Veterinarians with USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) said hog cholera had been diagnosed in Adams County swine herds on June 10, July 13 and Aug. 3. These herds and one other that was exposed to the infection were destroyed to stop the infection; indemnities were paid to the owners and quarantines placed on the surrounding area.

APHIS officials said Nebraska lost hog cholera-free status because the disease spread within the State in spite of prompt elimination of the primary outbreak, which originated in hogs shipped in from another state.

Under the standards of the Cooperative State Federal Hog Cholera Eradication Program, States lose "free" status unless primary hog cholera outbreaks are eliminated promptly without further spread. Prior to today's action 48 states were hog cholera free.

State and federal officials currently are surveying all swine herds in the area of the recent outbreaks to locate any other herds that may have been exposed to the disease. Surveillance will be maintained for a minimum of 30 days following the most recent case, if no further cases occur Nebraska will regain "free" status in six months.

APHIS officials are also concerned about recent cases in other states. Within the last two months, hog cholera has been discovered in Florida, Kentucky, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Carolina, and Texas, indicating that the virus is present either in raw pork or is being spread through movement of swine or contaminated vehicles.

Federal quarantines against hog cholera are now in effect in all or parts of 15 counties in six States. To date this year, 71 hog cholera cases have been reported in the United States, compared with 106 cases for the same period a year ago.

Cuming County Agent Named

Daryl Loeppke of Holdrege, county agent for Phelps and Gosper Counties, will assume the post of Cuming County agent at West Point Sept. 15.

Loeppke succeeds Joe Watson, longtime Cuming County agent, who was killed in an automobile accident earlier this year.

'Speaks Team' to Tell 4-H Story

Linda Baier, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Baier of Carroll, is one of 14 Nebraska 4-H members—seven boys and seven girls—selected as members of a team which will stump the state during the next few months, telling the 4-H story to a wide array of citizens' groups.

The Nebraska "4-H Speaks" team is patterned somewhat after the "4-H Export" to the Nation team, named each fall, according to JoAnn Lutzio, assistant state 4-H leader at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, where Miss Baier is a sophomore.

The Nebraska team will be attempting to help broaden and strengthen the image of the Extension youth program through informing community, business, industry and community leaders of the objectives and accomplishments of 4-H. Miss Lutzio said.

Other members of the Speaks team include Jeanne Milander of Hartington, Joe Anderson of Chadron, Keith Johnson of York,

Linda Baier

Janelle Huss of Lexington, Lee Todd of Brunswick, Don Wellensack of Coon, Paul Lathan of Omaha, Carol Olson of Bushnell, Joan Ingo of Valentine, Nancy Kunasek of Staplehurst, Julie Hindmarsh of Fremont, Steve Buss of Hastings and Mark Buell of Murdock.

Members of the team were selected to represent each extension district in the state, and their combined experience cuts across most 4-H activity and project lines, the state 4-H official said.

The team has completed a short orientation training session on the NU East Campus and already has been scheduled for presentations to several groups, including the joint conferences of the NU Experiment Station and Cooperative Extension Service.

As official representatives of Nebraska's 42,000 plus 4-H members, the team will be informing citizens of the 4-H action program not only through appearances before civic organizations, workshops and conferences, but also through Nebraska media," Miss Lutzio stated.

The team will point out in their appearances the expansion of the 4-H program into urban and rural non-farm areas, at the same time maintaining a strong agricultural emphasis, she noted. The wide variety of projects and diverse activities available to youth nine through 18 years of age will be spelled out to opinion leaders in government, industry and education.

The 4-H Speaks' program is partially supported through funds supplied through the Ak-Sar Ben Agricultural Youth Foundation, in conjunction with the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service.

Linda has logged 11 years of 4-H work, and is now putting the background to use in college, working toward a degree in Home Economics Extension and Education.

She credits 4-H with "making me a more responsible person before I enrolled in 4-H. I was shy and never wanted to be with people."

During the past year, she attended National 4-H Conference, National 4-H Congress and National Dairy Conference. She is a member of the University 4-H Club Outranchers and served as an urban 4-H club leader. She helped organize the county junior leader club. Her summer job this year was working for four home economists, a youth specialist and a dairy specialist

$46 Million Credit For State's Farmers

K. L. Bowen, state director of Farmers Home Administration, has announced that, during fiscal 1972, FHA in Nebraska helped more than 6,500 rural families with credit exceeding $46 million.

Over $25 million in farm loans and approximately $9.5 million of other commercial credit served 2,939 farm families and has provided the largest joint leading program in Nebraska by Farmers Home Administration.

Bowen said that $7.5 million was used for housing which provided needed credit to 625 families for individual home ownership and organizational rental housing in rural communities.

In addition to the Farmer Programs and Rural Housing Programs, Farmers Home Administration helped to finance 14 rural water and sewerage projects in Nebraska during fiscal year 1972, having a total cost of more than $4,800,000.

The eight municipalities, five rural water districts and one watershed had loans and grants approved from Farmers Home Administration for over $3,200,000 which will serve approximately 3,000 rural Nebraska families when in operation.

Farmers Home Administration's lending programs are available to eligible applicants who are unable to secure needed financing at reasonable rates and terms, Bowen stated.

Plan Now For Crop Harvesting, Storing

Careful planning will be needed if this year's crops are to be harvested and stored without interruption of prospects materialize. Advance planning and organization of available facilities and equipment might prevent costly or at least distressing delays later. This word from Wayne Fisher, District Agricultural Engineer at the University of Nebraska, Northeast Station at Concord.

There are several factors on which to base planning:

1. The total harvest
2. The rate of harvest
3. The alternatives available

It may appear as being optimistic at this time, but the operator should, in the near future, try to put a realistic number on total bushels expected. Storage and marketing must be based on the total figure.

Not all storage need be permanent. Grain piled under a roof will keep quite well if adequately aerated. When not piled too deep, aeration fan horsepower requirements are not nearly as great as in deep storage. This grain can be processed at a later date. Extra permanent storage can be an asset in any year. Space to "move" grain can be very helpful. This storage might be used for an over-run this year but could be useful in normal years as well, to turn and condition grain. Isolated bins, some even with drying equipment, represent another planning than bins built in basements.

The second area, rate of harvest, is probably one of the most neglected areas of planning. Under today's economy, farm operators will have about $9 to 75 cents per bushel harvested per year as investment in harvesting equipment. He will have at least another 10

Make more milk with high moisture GRAIN!

With an automated Harvestore feed processing system, you can harvest your grain early, at peak nutrient, before weather and lodging take their toll. There is less handling. Grain goes direct from field to structure. There is less storage loss. And drying is eliminated. Livestock get a more nutritious and palatable ration, too. To produce more milk without additional land and with less labor, the name of the game is Harvestore and high moisture grain. Make us prove it.

Yard & Garden Tips . . .

Is the fruit of the flowering plum edible? Yes, the fruit of the flowering plum is edible.

What conditions are needed to grow tuberous begonias? Tuberous begonias need shade, they cannot take full sun; they grow well in organic matter soil, and use light frequent watering.

How should weeds be handled in a lawn at this time of year? Avoid controls at this time since it could be detrimental to the sod. Keep the lawn trimmed up and watered regularly and wait to treat weeds in October. In the spring, use pre-emergence to control annual weeds.

Constant Popularity Gain in 4-H Camping

Recreation, crafts, learnings, friends and ships. The outdoors—that's 4-H camping. It's an experience in learning, leadership, responsibility and cooperation that's constantly gaining in popularity.

Over 13,000 Four-H members have gone home with priceless memories from this year's camps as compared to 3,200 campers in 1956, according to Dr. John D. Orr, associate state 4-H leader, University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Totals are up by 1,000 since last year, he added.

Improvement in the quality of facilities is a reason for the growth in 4-H camping, Dr. Orr said. Camping sites numbering 200 in over 65 locations are available. Still more new camps are in the developmental stage.

The state 4-H leader noted that an increased amount of training for camp counselors has improved the quality of camps. Older 4-H members working as junior counselors now have the opportunity to plan and execute camps.

Attendance, however, is largely determined by the interest of the county agents, 4-H leaders and staff show in the youth of Nebraska," he said. Although the total number attending camps has increased, the average camp size has decreased to under 130 as compared to over 330 per camp only 15 years ago. More small camps make the activity a personalized experience, Dr. Orr said.

Special interest camps, a new type of 4-H camping, emphasize topics such as community development, weight training, plant identification, nutrition, crops, swine, tractors and horses. "Contemporary camps are designed to meet the needs of individual interests," he pointed out.

Conservation of natural resources was the theme for district (multi-county) camps. Attendance at these camps totaled 3,000, not including club camping or county fairs.

Approximately 4,500 campers participated in special nutrition camps planned through the Expanded Nutrition Program. Dr. Glen Krohn, associate state 4-H leader, is director of the program.

Whether it be at a state park, a district camp or the Nebraska State 4-H camp—a two hour mini camp or a five day leadership and environment camp, camping is providing 4-H members with an opportunity to use and share information and experiences, Dr. Orr concluded.

Bankers Support Ceiling on Debt

The American Bankers Association has announced its support of a proposed $250 billion ceiling on federal spending.
 Allen P. Stults, president of the ABA, said legislation to impose the ceiling on fiscal 1973 expenditures was endorsed this week by the association's board of directors.
 Stults said the 23 member board unanimously adopted a resolution expressing concern about "the resumption of inflationary pressures and their potentially adverse impact upon the American people and the U.S. economy."
 "The discipline of a rigid expenditure ceiling would alleviate the immediate danger of generating an excessively expansionary deficit," the resolution continued.
 As a second step, Stults said, the bankers proposed a four-point program to develop permanent measures to control spending.
 Adoption of multi-year budget projections for total spending and specific programs. This will permit lawmakers to assess the ultimate costs of programs.

Firms 'Penalized' for Recycling

Industries that use recycled materials are penalized by the federal government, and those that deplete our natural resources are rewarded for their waste. Congressman Charles Thone charges. "When Congress goes back into session Sept. 5, I will join Representative Martha W. Griffiths, one of the ranking majority members of the House Ways and Means Committee, where all tax measures must originate, in introducing legislation to correct this out-of-joint situation. "An industry that converts trees into paper pays only capital gains taxes on income derived from the increase in value of the timber. An industry that mines metal and manufactures products from it enjoys a depletion allowance. In contrast, an industry using recycled material pays regular manufacturing taxes, with no capital gains or depletion advantages. The bill we are introducing has two parts. The first part provides for a percentage tax deduction for using solid waste to manufacture useful raw materials or finished products. The deduction would be approximately the same for using solid waste as the tax advantage for depleting that type of virgin resource. The second part provides for a five year amortization rate on recycling facilities. As a part of our national ecology efforts, industry has been given such short term amortization for investments in equipment to reduce air and water pollution. An equal incentive is needed to increase recycling facilities at every level from collection of solid waste right through the facilities needed to manufacture work clothes into useful products. "Perhaps some of the capital gains and depletion allowance provisions enjoyed by those who use virgin resources should be repealed or altered. In our bill, however, we have avoided going into this because all of the special tax provisions will be reviewed in major legislation proposed by House Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills. This will be a far-reaching review that may take until 1974. "What is needed quickly is legislation to make the use of recycled materials equal on a tax basis with use of new materials. "Industry has already demonstrated that it would do much more recycling if it weren't for the tax penalties. Even with the present tax situation, it is estimated that 40 per cent of the waste nonferrous metals and 19 per cent of the waste paper is recycled. This month, announcement was made concerning Nebraska's steel mill. This small steel plant near Norfolk will use only recycled metals. If the use of recycled metals wasn't penalized by taxes, perhaps our state could attract another such plant. In conjunction with the Norfolk plant, area citizens are trying to find investors for a million dollar automobile shredder to provide material for the mill. Such investors may be found even without a tax break, but they would be easier to find if the equipment were written off as an anti-pollution device and the company's product was taxed as is the mining industry. "The Presidents Council on Environmental Quality estimates that the solid waste in the United States will double between 1970 and 1980. We must take action or be buried in our own junk. "We are also gobbling up irreplaceable resources at a rate that augurs a dire future for us and the world. We can save unbelievable amounts of assets by increasing our recycling. If we increase our recycling of paper from the present 19 per cent to 50 per cent, we will save 200 million trees per year. That means that trees would fill a forest roughly equal to the area of all of New England, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland. "Extracting metal from the trash all around us should be more economical than prospecting and mining in far off countries for ore that contains only small percentages of metal. If we correct our tax laws, it will become economical to extract cash from trash."
