

Livestock Waste Control Regulation Changes Minor

Inspection of feedyards for pollution potential has begun under the new system, according to Wayne Fisher, district agricultural engineer at the Northeast Station.

Basically, the rules and regulations have not changed to a great extent. However, the administration and mechanics of handling the problem have.

The only major change in the rules and regulations is the adjoining property providing permission has been granted and these wastes do not continue off the property to contaminate water. Other minor changes also benefit farmers.

The major change is in procedures and methods of carrying out the program. The Federal Environmental Protection Agency refused to back down on the Dec. 31, 1972, deadline. The responsibility to determine whether a pollution potential exists lies completely with the Nebraska State Department of Environmental Control. Each feedyard will have to be inspected by an official from this agency to evaluate conditions at that location.

At present these workers are looking at yards for which control facility plans have been submitted. Northeast Station had submitted plans and the inspector declared the research yards as a pollution potential due to runoff entering a state road grade ditch and the proximity to a water course leading to Logan Creek.

The inspector stated however, that many yards for which plans had been submitted were not classes as polluters as a result of an on-site inspection.

Under the present system of waste control administration, SCS technical assistance and REAP cost-share funds will not be available unless the D. E. C. declares the yard to have a pollution potential. Yards for which operators have applied for cost-share will be inspected after those having plans previously submitted.

The next in order of inspection will be those for which the operator has submitted a request for inspection form. This self mailing card is available from SCS and ASCS offices. The card serves two purposes according to D. E. C. spokesmen.

(1) It brings the yard to the attention of the inspection team.

(2) It puts the operator in a legally correct position in re-

Brothers In Poor Condition

John and William Oliver, Route 1, Wayne, remain in poor condition at the Wayne County Hospital after a one-car crash Tuesday southwest of Wayne.

Dr. Bob Bentback, the physician in charge, said the brothers suffered lacerations and head fractures.

Both men were traveling east on a gravelled road when the car apparently slid off into a dry creek bed.

Crops Field Day Will Include Research Area

Several new areas of crop production research will be featured and discussed at the Northeast Station annual Crops Field Day Tuesday, Sept. 12. Tours begin at 10 a.m. at the Experiment Station near Concord and will continue until mid-afternoon, according to Russell Moomaw, district extension agronomist.

Soybeans will be featured at four stops. Soybeans response to variable rates of carryover nitrogen and phosphorus fertilizer is under study. Another project has soybeans growing in four row spacings with emphasis on chemical weed control in non cultivated 14 inch narrow rows.

Corn research on cultural practices, irrigation, weed control, and insect control will also be featured, notes Moomaw. Corn planted at three dates with phosphorus applied at different rates and placement will be discussed. Weed control in corn planted with minimum tillage or conventional plow systems will be compared.

Irrigation studies center on scheduling of water applications and preparation of furrows for stream flow. Some new concepts in corn rootworm control by cultural methods as well as chemical will be featured. Production costs, yield potential and expected net returns for corn, grain sorghum, and soybeans also will be explored to round out the crop production discussions.

Lunch will be available at the headquarters building area at noon, Moomaw said, adding the tours will be completely different from those on last year's program.

Gone Fishing
Four-year-old Chris Nuss was all ready for the three-day Labor Day weekend. All he needed was a fishing pole and he's off to the nearest pond. Chris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Nuss, 721 Lincoln.

Wayne Residents' Tax Levy Hiked To 105.95 Mills; Up by .17-Mill

Wayne residents will be paying an extra .17 of a mill in taxes during the 1972-73 fiscal year, or 17 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation of real estate.

Figures were released by County Clerk Norris Weible Friday following his computations of levies derived from budget requests from the various organizations and total valuation figures from County Assessor Henry Arp.

The Wayne levy increased from 105.78 last year to 105.95 for the upcoming tax year, or 105.95 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

In other words, a Wayne resident owning a house valued at $20,000 will be paying $741.85 in taxes for the next fiscal year, compared to $740.46 last year, or an increase of $1.19.

Actual valuation of property is multiplied by .35 to find the assessed valuation and that figure is multiplied by the mill levy to determine the tax assessment.

The 105.95 levy includes city and county operations, school district, natural resource district, Educational Service Unit and Northeast Nebraska Technical College at Norfolk.

The levy raised .17 of a mill despite the fact that the levy for the city was cut from 23.88 to 22 mills, a decrease of 1.88 mills. The city's total property valuation is $8,248,840, or $15,507.76 less will be realized from that 22 mill levy.

Total valuation of county real estate, personal property, motor vehicles and specialties was $37,915,185, a jump of nearly a half million dollars over the $37,427,995 estimate of a year ago. Valuation of real estate provided $28,071,230 of that total.

The overall levy for Hoskins jumped from 61.30 to 68.72, a hike of 7.42, the largest increase of any Wayne County town, even though the village levy was down 2.58 mills, from 21 mills in 1971 to 18.42 for the upcoming year.

Close behind Hoskins was Wakefield, with a raise in the overall levy of 6.16 mills, from 81.76 to 88.92. Approximately half of that raise was due to the city budget of 19.30 mills, a jump of 3.06 from 1971's 16.24 mill levy.

Sholes has a village levy of only .87 of a mill, compared to 7.76 last year. However, even with the 6.89 decrease, the Sholes levy jumped 3.18 mills overall, from 50.58 to 53.76.

Carroll had the only decrease in the overall levy, a 1.74 cutback. However, Carroll residents will pay nearly as much in taxes as Wayne residents, with a 105.67 levy. Last year was worse yet for the western neighbors, who paid taxes on the See Tax Levy, page 5.

Thailand AFS Student Impressed With Friendliness of Americans

John Thavon, 18, from a small farming village in northeast Thailand is the American Field Service student at the Wayne Carroll School for the 1972-73 year. John's host family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Hansen, Dan, 17, Kelly, 12, and Lynette, 10, of Route 2, Wayne.

John left Bangkok, Thailand, July 20, flew to Tokyo, Japan, then Anchorage, Alaska, and from there to the United States, arriving July 23. This was the first time John had been in a plane so the flight proved "very exciting I didn't sleep much," he said.

In John's village of about 1,000 persons, there are no cars. They have several motorcycles, but mainly bicycles. Also in John's village a haircut costs one baht, which is equal to five cents in American money. A child's haircut is only two and a half cents. These prices do not hold true throughout Thailand, however. In Bangkok, which is farther south, a haircut is 25 cents. Land is quite cheap, too, according to American standards.

Sixty acres of land would cost 10,000 baht or $500 ($9 an acre).

John's father owns 60 acres of land with rice as the main crop. They use water buffalo to plow their fields and hand labor for planting and harvesting. December is harvest time, and in January, harvest festivals, that could be compared to our fairs are held.

According to John, the present season in Thailand is fall. There are only three seasons—summer, fall and winter. Since 50 degrees is the low in Thailand, John has never seen snow and is anxiously awaiting the "white wonder."

America is "better than I thought, the people work harder, and are more careful with their money than I thought before," John said. That people form their opinions of America and its people by viewing movies and living around the soldiers, John was also glad to find American people "more friendly than he had anticipated."

John observed his 18th birthday on Aug. 18 and this is surely one birthday he won't forget. The Hansens gave him the first birthday party he had ever had.

One of his presents was a familiar looking object, a soccer ball. Since he played soccer in Thailand, John was very happy with the gift. While watching him kick the ball, Mr. Hansen, came up with the idea of John trying out for place-kicker on the Wayne High football team. This is the first time John has ever tried to play football but he practices faithfully to learn the "hard, but fun" game.

The school system in Thailand is divided into three terms. Students attend classes from May to July, then have a few weeks vacation. Classes resume in August and continue to December. There is a recess for Christmas and students return to their studies which last through March.

That children start school at age six. The first seven years are called primary school, and then the students attend math, English, and science for another five years. After graduation, Thai students may attend colleges or universities.

John is thankful to everyone who made it possible for him to come to America. "It will prove very helpful to me," he commented.

In his senior year at Wayne High, John will be taking courses in English, American history, debate, speech, chemistry, typing and shop (woodworking).

John plans to become an English teacher, so "I can earn enough money to buy land in See AFS Student, page 5.

Totem Pole?
Area residents in the 300 block on 10th street might be getting use to the sight of this carved-up tree trunk located between the Dick Manley and Carlos Frey lots. But for passers-by, the "art" object requires a second look. Frey, a WSC art instructor, began the project this summer after the elm tree died. "All I used was a chain saw and a little imagination." On top of the trunk is a wash tub to add a finishing touch to the masterpiece.

Leg Broken In Mishap

Merlin (Lefty) Olson of Wakefield suffered a broken leg about noon Wednesday when he was hit by a pickup which was entering a downtown alley.

In addition to a broken leg, Lefty suffered abrasions and his motorized wheelchair was demolished.

He reportedly had left his Milton G. Waldbaum Co. office to go downtown for lunch and was crossing an alleyway at the same time that a pickup, driven by Harold Holm of Wakefield, was entering the alley.

CCC Grain Storage Bins Fading

After 22 years of faithful service to farmers in the area, the old "cowhards" is passing on.

Not too many will miss this faithful servant, for progress is replacing him. Instead, you might find his brothers on farms today instead of nearby fields, just outside of Wayne and Winside.

The grain bins, located about a mile south of Wayne, will no longer exist after this Wednesday when the government auctions them off.

Ray Butts, Wayne ASCS director, said the bins are fading from this area as well as across the nation due to the farmers' increased use of storage bins on their own land.

"The purpose of the bins, built in 1950, was to have a place a farmer could store his grain if the market price was too low to trade," Butts said.

The farmer would take out a loan from the ASCS office and if he couldn't repay the loan, the farmer would settle the matter by selling so much grain to the government to pay up the debt.

"This system was real beneficial," Butts added, saying that it helped to prevent many area farmers from going broke.

Three Hurt In Two Car Crash

A two-car accident four miles northeast of Norfolk on Highway 35 sent three persons to Norfolk hospital late Tuesday afternoon.

Daniel R. Robinson, 33, Route 2, Wayne, and Howard Winter, 37, and Sharon Winter, 25, of Pierce, were treated at a Norfolk hospital where they were treated and released.

According to reports by Investigating Trooper Brian Busch, the Robinson and Winter vehicles were traveling northeast when Robinson apparently attempted to pass Winter, who was making a left turn. Both vehicles were extensively damaged.

2 Filings For Mayor

Merlin Swanson and incumbent Eugene Sohler have both filed their intentions to run for mayor of Laurel in the upcoming election, according to Laurel City Clerk Bernard Peterson.

Other filings as of Aug. 31, for City Council posts include incumbents Harold White for a four-year term and Kenneth A. Martin for a two-year term, both in the West Ward; and incumbent E. C. Huddleston for a four-year term in the East Ward.

Filing deadline is Sept. 7.

Ak Scholarship To Laurel Teen

Rick Smith, a sophomore at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Agriculture, has received a $200 Ak-Sar-Ben scholarship for the 1972-73 term.

Smith was one of 53 students receiving Ak-Sar-Ben scholarships, which also included three West Point students, Lynn Godberson, a sophomore, and Freddie Meyer and Keith Naber, juniors.

Cancer Crusade Tops 1971 Total

Members of the Wayne County Unit of the American Cancer Society met with Mrs. Cliff Johnson Wednesday afternoon to evaluate the recent crusade. County Chairman Mrs. Rollie Longe, who presided at the meeting, reported that this year's total of $3,039 exceeded the 1971 total, and the unit would therefore be eligible for an award to be presented at the state meeting in Fremont Oct. 7.

Delegates planning to attend the state meeting are Mrs. Longe, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Fred Gildersleeve, city chairman, and Mrs. Lester Hansen, rural chairman. Delegates will have an opportunity to tour the mobile cancer detection unit.

Mrs. Longe also noted at the meeting the need for an assistant in Wayne, and spoke on a public education program. Films and literature are available to all clubs, schools and organizations.

Local Guards Participating In Teletthon

AST Dennis Spangler of the Wayne National Guard Army has announced that the local Guard unit is cooperating in the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Teletthon for muscular dystrophy which began last evening (Sunday) at 10:30 p.m. The teletthon, which is being televised over KCAU-TV, Channel 9, Sioux City, will run continuously until 5:30 p.m. this afternoon (Monday).

Spangler has been chosen as pledge center coordinator and will be assisted by other local guard members and wives in the Wayne area. The army number will be made known over the air during the Lewis program so that local persons wishing to donate may call in their pledges. The information will then be forwarded by local workers.

Allen Village Board Meeting on Tuesday

The Allen Village Board will hold its regular, monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, instead of Monday, because of the Labor Day holiday.

The last bushels of grain in the grain bins at the Wayne storage site are being removed as Federal grain bin areas across the nation rapidly fade out.

nesday selling," he added.

Grain Spoilage
One of the interesting aspects of the bins is the decrease in grain spoilage. "When we moved out a bin load of grain, about 37,000 bushels, only five bushels spoiled."

The ASCS head said that the bins, built with federal money, were soundly constructed to prevent spoilage. The average cost of one bin was about $10,000, Butts said, pointing out that the high cost was due to labor and the cost of concrete.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786

Silent Checkers

One of our pet peeves is the checkout gal at the supermarket who knocks out, with machine-gun rapidity on the cash register, the prices of the items you have purchased, never uttering a word as she keeps the register operating at a speed that must be approaching its maximum efficiency.

In the meantime, the shopper is getting a bad case of swaglock as he tries to spot the prices on the packages and the figures that are being marked up on the register.

At the rate some of those clerks pile up figures on the barely able to keep up register, you can't help but wonder if the ever-increasing cost of trips to the grocery store is entirely the fault of inflated prices.

Don't get us wrong. We are not in any way implying any dishonesty—only the possibility of human error. Speed often times causes mistakes and when the clerk does not even glance at the register to see if she punched the correct numbers, a 50-cent error on any one item or several items is not inconceivable.

And, when she's "spending" our money, we'd like to know that we haven't been overcharged because of error, carelessness or reluctance to sound out the price of each item before it goes on the tape.

Most stores have the policy of clerks calling out the price of each item.

Those that don't we usually avoid. In a news release just received, we find that, soon, possibly by winter, some supermarkets will have cashiers totaling purchases without a cash register.

Henry Victor Park

Whether the City of Wayne knows it or not, it is building a business for the growth of the city right at the south end of the city limits.

The sign, if one looks hard enough, welcomes travelers passing through a night's rest, courtesy of the City of Wayne.

Maybe if you were to take a walk towards that portion of the city you might see the sign in its early stages. The city council recognized it at its Tuesday night meeting along with Street Superintendent Vernon Schulz.

At their last meeting, the members voted in favor of the preliminary plans of the Henry Victor Park, on the south entrance to Wayne.

The idea of the small wayside station is to provide an overnight stop for travelers, including people with campers and those just traveling through in cars and trucks.

Maybe this little stop doesn't seem like a way to help Wayne businessmen, but Schulz pointed out to the Council members some of the added features of the rest stop.

He noted that a nearby laundromat would offer the passing tourist a chance to get some of his cleaning out of the way. Also a gas company is located in the vicinity able to sell the traveler propane gas as well as other needs. And, of course, there are facilities for the car—a filling station and car wash.

Schulz pointed out that when the park is completed, the motorist could park his car and/or trailer at the site with an easy walk up to the main business district.

He added that a sanitary trailer dump would be provided since the area is well equipped for such a need. Presently, the council is undetermined on the type of outdoor rest room facilities needed to help complete the preliminary plan.

The concept of the overnight stop, Schulz said, would not interfere with another stop on the east side of town operated by the Lions Club.

Their operation is set up so that a traveler can stay for several days whereas Henry Victor Park is maintained as a one night stop for the traveler.

Schulz explained that the city and the council do have a good thing going for the city of Wayne and its business people. The park could prove to be a welcome sight to non-area travelers passing through the city. A stop that is attractive will attract people, especially a stop that can serve both the town and travelers.

Bald Tires Could Turn Car Into a 'Hydroplane'

Rainy weather poses one of the more frightening experiences for motorists—"hydroplaning"—and cars with bald tires greatly increase the chance of drivers experiencing this phenomenon of loss of control and stopping ability.

"The tread of a tire is designed to give as much traction as possible under all driving conditions," says Ross R. Ormsby, chairman of the Tire Industry Safety Council.

"Water on the highway can literally lift the car off the road. The term for this effect is hydroplaning, and cars with bald tires are much more likely to experience it than those with proper tread grooves. As speed increases it becomes not only more probable but more dangerous," Ormsby said.

The Council reminds drivers that a light rain or drizzle, especially after a dry spell, produces a thin greasy film on the road surface almost as slippery as ice.

"Should your tires have even average tread groove depth your chance of skidding under these conditions are five to 10 times greater," Ormsby noted, "but if you're driving on bald tires, your chances of losing control are up to 20 times as great."

The Council defines a bald tire as one having its tread worn to 1/16th inch or less in any two adjacent tread grooves.

Government safety experts agree with Ormsby. Writing in a U.S. Department of Commerce publication, "Tires: Their Selection and Care," experts stated:

"Water acts as a lubricant between your tires and the road surface, and seriously reduces traction even if your tires are new."

These same government experts estimate that a car with average tread depth traveling at 30 miles per hour on a wet road has a stopping distance up to 75 feet. Should those tires be bald, observe the Council, the stopping distance is not only considerably more, but the driver's ability to maintain control at all is questionable.

Also, with the approach of fall, motorists should remember that leaves and rain combine to produce the same effect as a loose rug on a waxed floor," Ormsby said.

The Tire Industry Safety Council advises motorists to watch their speed when confronted with slippery conditions. Brakes should be used gradually when going into curves and turns.

In addition to cautious speeds, for the best insurance against dangerous skidding, maintain tires with proper tread depth and correct inflation pressures. Both conditions offer the key to greater tire safety and mileage.

Horner pointed to the growth of the Omaha schools' vo-ag departments. "In 1968, the total number of vo-ag teachers in the Omaha schools numbered one. Now they have nine and may need more soon. The Omaha program stresses the business end of agriculture—feed, seed, veterinarian fields, agri finance, and other agri businesses. Student interest is considerably higher throughout the state than it ever has been."

Because of the teacher shortage, teachers in vo-ag can demand a higher salary than in almost any other teaching area. Last year, Nebraska's beginning salary average was $8,300 to $10,500. The average in the Midwest is $8,720 with Minnesota and Iowa vying for the first place with $9,550 and $9,300, respectively.

With interest high and jobs abundant, where are the teachers?

The University of Nebraska graduates around 40 students a year, which would almost satisfy the need—except for the inherent weakness that unavoidably results from the college educational system.

Explains Dr. Franklin Eldridge, former associate dean of the NU College of Agriculture and now on leave in Scotland: "Because vo-ag students are getting more thorough training in a specific area plus their teaching degree, they leave themselves wide open to go into other fields. Their agricultural degree entitles them to positions in so many areas of agriculture and agri-business that the teaching certificate sometimes becomes an insurance policy for them. University professors put in a great deal of effort stressing teaching methods as applied to a specific area but they also lose more from the teaching field into other areas because the students have been trained for it."

Of last year's 42 NU graduates, the breakdown on accepted positions followed national figures. Over 40 per cent of the class went into education, which includes 18 school contracts, state and national administration, and college teaching. Others went into graduate school, farm credit work, farming and ranching, and the armed services.

Even though about half of the graduates will not use their teaching degree in a high school classroom, their training will not be wasted. Businesses encourage future employees to work for their teaching degree. In the hopes that they will be able to use these people in an educational setting within the company, some students find the degree helpful in work with people. They can easily conduct meetings and present ideas; and most just find it common sense to hold a teaching degree as something to fall back on during the rough years of establishing themselves in agriculture.

With this situation in mind, the University has broadened its goals and preparation in the agricultural education department to cover not only high school and post high school settings, but also agricultural Extension work; adult education, foreign service and educational direction in industry and business.

The University program offers several unique curriculum plans, specifically the one semester qualification block. Students major in any area of agriculture and at any time can qualify for a teaching certificate in one semester, contrary to the usual series of classes most departments require. This type of study allows students to develop expertise through a double major, which is not required but popular in last year's graduating class; only 16 graduates carried straight agri education majors while 26 students earned their degrees with double majors in such areas as animal science, mechanical agriculture, ag economics and agronomy.

Enrollment figures offer an unusual contrast to almost all other areas of study in ag education. The number of students almost invariably larger than the freshman enrollment, while most departments start out with large numbers and finally graduate a percentage of those. Horner explained, "Last year, we enrolled 20 freshmen and graduated over 40 seniors. This is the usual division, the senior class always grows."

With the teaching field expanding to accommodate future agriculturalists, women may finally find an active role in the field.

Traditionally, male area of agriculture. Teaching offers one area where the back breaking labor connected with agriculture needn't hinder an enthusiastic female. Said Horner, "The only real block stopping a woman in ag education would probably be skepticism on the part of the schools to hire a woman to handle a traditionally masculine job."

Summarized Horner, "Nebraska youth are apparently passing up employment opportunities in the field of agriculture. When Nebraska should be an exporter of agricultural expertise, we find year after year (and for the past 30 years) the need to go to other states and import teachers into Nebraska school systems. Why? Because parents, school personnel or students falsely decide agriculture has no employment opportunities."

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

The Santee Sioux from this part of the nation held a Pow Wow Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Events, at Santee along Lewis and Clark Lake, were held each afternoon and evening. Included were traditional Indian dances in colorful original costume, encampments in various area reservations and a softball tournament. Henry James was the general chairman.

The 1972 Knox County Fair set records in the number of exhibits in all departments. Married only by threatening weather on Sunday evening, the grounds were filled to capacity at all times. Sunday evening's Larry Robinson show was shortened because of the rain and threatening weather, but cloudy weather did little to dampen the spirited attendance at the Death Riders motorcycle thrill show Monday.

Mrs. Toul Berek, nee Nancy Gatewood of S. Square Bluff, is now under guard (with her infant son) at S. Square Bluff in Kenitra Air Force Base, about 25 miles north of Rabat, Morocco. Mrs. Berek's husband and his nine year old sister, who had lived with them, were taken into custody when Kenitra Base was taken over following the attempted assassination of King Hassan II of Morocco and his wife, the late queen, Mohammed Outkir. Nancy Gatewood, a Wayne State College graduate, went to Morocco about three years ago to teach in the American schools. During this time she met and married Toul Berek. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gatewood, Sergeant Bluff, had just returned from a visit with the Berek when they learned the news.

The Wakefield Fire Department answered a call to the Albert (Tuffy) Longe farm south east of Wakefield Friday evening to extinguish a fire in the living room of the home. The fire, which started in an overstuffed chair, burned a hole through the floor.

Two young men, Lawrence R. Dorsey of Lomard, Ill. and Dennis G. Smith of Wheaton, Ill., pleaded guilty on marriage possession in Burlington County Monday. Charged with possession of less than a pound of marijuana, the men were fined $100 and costs and Smith was assessed $25 for not having a valid auto operator's license. According to report, the men were apprehended with the usual paraphernalia for a harvesting operation in northeast Burlington County.

W. T. Knettel, president of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, West Point, has announced that R. A. (Bob) Beckman of Wisner will join the bank staff in September, as a cashier. Beckman, 55, is a native of Nebraska and a resident of Cumming, Ga., for the past 30 years. He was in the grain and feed business and associated with cattle feeding operations in Beemer and Bancroft for 17 years. He went into the bowling business in Wisner in 1959. Beckman joined the staff of the Citizens National Bank in Wisner in 1964.

Rising College Costs Affect Local Parents

NEW YORK (Special to the Herald)—A larger than usual proportion of Wayne County's young people will be heading for college soon, when the fall semester begins.

For their parents, the cost involved will be greater than ever. They are discovering that the bills for the year, as they arrive, are as much as $300 bigger than last year's in certain instances.

Based upon the number of local students enrolled and the new schedule of rates for tuition, fees, room, board and incidentals—Wayne County families will be bearing a load of approximately $5,670,000 for the coming academic year, it is estimated.

Data on college costs and the number of students from each community comes from surveys made by the U.S. Office of Education, the Department of Commerce and others.

They show that no less than 8,500,000 young men and young women will be attending college this year. This compares with 7,935,000 in 1960.

Of this number, some 1,980 will be from the local area, as against the 1960 total of 981.

What it will cost per year depends upon where they are going.

The lowest cost, according to a national survey made by the Life Insurance Agency Management Association, is $1,246 a year. This is the median rate for in state residents at public colleges in the South.

It takes into account tuition, room, board and fees. Not included are travel expenses, books, clothing and incidentals.

In other sections of the country it runs higher than that. $100 more in the West, $200 in the North Central states and $300 in the Northeast.

For students coming from other states, the basic charges are from $600 to $700 higher.

To attend a private college costs considerably more. In the South the average is $2,342; in the Western and North Central regions, about $2,775; and in the Northeast, $3,350.

What it boils down to, with the extras added, is an average of $2,250 in public colleges and $3,750 in private institutions.

This year's cost is $5,670,000 for Wayne County parents is based upon half the local students going to public colleges and half to private ones.

Summarized Horner, "Nebraska youth are apparently passing up employment opportunities in the field of agriculture. When Nebraska should be an exporter of agricultural expertise, we find year after year (and for the past 30 years) the need to go to other states and import teachers into Nebraska school systems. To the Editor: In reading the July 31 Wayne Herald I read with special interest the article about an external machine that massages the heart. It does seem to indicate progress in treating the victims of heart attacks.

I note where George McGovern wants equal time suspended so he can debate with the President.

That such suspension would be to get the licensed broadcasters off the hook so they would NOT be obligated to present the Presidential candidate of the Socialist Labor Party and other minority parties on the publicly owned airwaves does NOT bother him. As the working man Presidential candidate of the Socialist Labor Party puts it:

"If McGovern was truly a candidate of the people he would seek the expansion of the equal time provision. He would welcome fully publicized debates between all the presidential candidates thereby ensuring the American people the knowledge necessary for them to make an intelligent decision in the November election."

Grace Church Scene Of Meyer-Swanson Rites

Arrangements of talsi glads and spiral candelabra entwined with greenery and yellow pompons appointed the altar of Grace Lutheran Church, Wayne, for the 7:30 p.m. marriage ceremony last Saturday of Jeanette Sue Meyer to David Franklin Swanson.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Meyer, Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Swanson, Laurel.

The Rev. E. A. Binger Wakefield, officiated at the double ring rites and Connie Baker, Waketield, sang "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. Larry Echtenkamp, Wayne.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor length, empire styled gown of angetskin peau and imported Chantilly lace fashioned with high neckline, Victorian sleeves and a line silhouette which featured an attached chapel length train. Her circular illusion veil was caught to a Camelot headpiece of Venice lace and she carried a princess bouquet of Robin aby roses, white stephanotis and English ivy accented with orange happy flowers.

Mrs. Glen Nichols, Wayne, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Molly Baumann, Omaha, and Nancy Ehlers, Lincoln. Their A line gowns of floor length orange polyester crepe featured high necklines, back bow details and short puffed sleeves. They carried arrangements of yellow carnations and orange happy flowers. Candlelighters were Julie Swanson of Laurel, who wore yellow, and Martin Miller of Fort Collins, Colo.

Randall Swanson, Laurel, was best man, and groomsmen were Tom Hansen, Laurel, and Doug Backstrom, Waketield. Jerold Meyer, Glen Nichols and Dennis Kuderka, Wayne, and Steve Urwiler, Laurel, ushered. Ringbearer was Casey Nichols, Wayne.

For her daughter's wedding

Mrs. Meyer chose a mint green double-knit dress of floor length with white accessories. Mrs. Swanson's gown was of turquoise crepe, accented with white accessories. Both had white cymbidium orchids.

Linda Gust, Waketield, registered the 300 guests and Tammy Fredrickson, Georgia Fitch and Karen Temme, all of Wayne, arranged gifts for the reception held afterward at the church parlors.

Giftbearers were Kay Foote and Vickie Foote.

The cake, baked by Mrs. Freda Swanson, Laurel, was cut and served by Mrs. Swanson, Mrs. Harry Gust, Waketield, Mrs. Dean Sutherland, Laurel, and Mrs. Louis Crocker, Fremont.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Utecht, Waketield, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schrad, Laurel, served as hosts.

Waitresses were Judy Bargholz and Patty Albertson, Wayne, and Kay Foote, Waketield.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Wayne High School, is employed by S and S Insurance Agency, Laurel. The bridegroom, a 1971 graduate of Laurel High School, attended Northeast Nebraska Technical College, Norfolk, one year and is employed by Workman Auto, Wayne.

The couple took a wedding trip to Colorado and will be at home in rural Laurel.

There are probably more than half a million Christian hymns in existence.

WHO FOUNDED KINDERGARTEN?

In 1825 a great German educator named Friedrich Wilhelm Froebel founded the first kindergarten, a school for children between the ages of four and six. His premise: That children should be taught by their instincts not by rule.

Ceremony Sunday at St. John's

St. John's Lutheran Church, Randolph, was the scene of the wedding Sunday evening of Renee Graf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Graf, Randolph, to Jerome Hoepfner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hoepfner, Osmond.

The Rev. Walter J. Rossbach officiated at the 6:30 p.m. ceremony and Debbie Borst sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. Neil Lackas. Candles were lighted by LaRae Lubberstedt, Dixon, and Kathy Brandow, Laurel, who wore white and lavender floor length dresses and lavender picture hats.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, appeared in a floor length mid Victorian gown of white dotted Swiss with high neckline, empire waistline and long, full sleeves gathered to deep lace cuffs. Lace appliques were repeated on the bodice and capping the sleeves and in a cascade extending the length of the skirt front. The back was accented with a brush train. Matching lace edged her chapel length mantilla which with a bouffant blusher veil was caught to a crescent headpiece of Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade of pink roses and white stephanotis with lavender pompons and English ivy.

Mrs. Wayne Stark, Plainview, served her sister as maid of honor and bridesmaid were Mrs. Terry Graf, Wayne, Sharon Walthier, Randolph, and Debbie Weber, Hadar. Their identically styled gowns of lavender organza over tulle were fashioned with ruffled necklines, long sheer sleeves, gathered at the cuffs, and low length skirts gathered only to purple cummerbunds. Their tulle bustle veils were caught to royal purple rosette headpieces and they carried single lavender tinted mums.

Patricia Graf, Wayne, and Sue Ellen Hoepfner, Osmond, were flowergirls, and wore short sleeved dresses of white lace and lavender headpieces. Rodney Graf, Wayne, and Laine Stark, Plainview, were ring bearers.

Louis Hoepfner, Osmond, was best man for his brother and groomsmen were Terry Graf, Wayne, Wayne Stark, Plainview, and Kevin Schuettler, Osmond. Ushers were Roger and Gordon Kuderka, Osmond; Dennis Kuderka, Wayne; and Regg Lubberstedt, Dixon. The men wore white dinner jackets with black trousers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Graf chose a white street length dress with lace sleeves and lavender accessories. Mrs. Hoepfner wore an orchid street length frock with black accents. Their corsages were made of lavender tinted pompons and pink roses.

LeAnn Lubberstedt registered guests and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brandow, Laurel, served as hosts to the reception held following the ceremony. Janice Lange, Kathy McLain and Connie Gubbers arranged gifts.

Mrs. Norman Lubberstedt and Mrs. Kenneth Hoepfner cut and served the cake and Mrs. Larry Lubberstedt and Mrs. Erna Loekas poured. Mrs. Dennis Kuderka and Cindy Wacker served punch. Working in the kitchen were Mrs. Ray Anderson, Mrs. Charles Hintz, Mrs. Elmer Sohren, Mrs. Pearl Bauer, Mrs. Grace Huwault and Mrs. Manley Sulton. Waitresses were Grace Luobbers, Kerry Weber, Carol Berniel and Joan Lemhoff.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Randolph High School, is employed at Colonial Manor, Randolph. The bridegroom, a 1969 graduate of Osmond High School, attended Northeast Nebraska Technical School, Norfolk, one year and is employed by the Colson Holmquist Company, Osmond, where the couple will be at home.

Johnson-Heffti Ceremony Held at Grace Church

Diane Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Johnson, in a ceremony held Aug. 23 at Grace Lutheran Church, became the bride of Roger Heffti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Heffti, all of Wayne.

Guests were ushered to their places by Lyle Grone, Wayne, and Kenneth Everingham, Waketield, and candles were lighted by Dee Johnson, a brother of the bride, and Alan Johnson, Waketield. Dorothea Beckenhauer, Wayne, sang "Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. E. J. Bernhart. The Rev. E. J. Bernhart officiated at the double ring rites.

The bride appeared at her father's side in a toe-length gown of sheerganna fashioned with regency neckline. Lace daisy chains outlined the pin-tucked bodice, the wide cuffs of the bishop sleeves and the front skirt panel, and were repeated on the cathedral length train. Her veil was of illusion.

Attending the bride were Joy Rethwisch, Wayne, as maid of honor, and Carol Hamley, as bridesmaid. Their empire styled gowns were toe-length fashions of light blue crepe with royal blue bows.

Darci Johnson, who was "flower girl" in her sister's wedding, wore a matching frock. Rodney Heffti served his brother as best man and Dana Johnson, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. The men wore white on white single breasted King George dinner jackets with light blue ruffled shirts and black satin striped flared trousers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnson chose a navy blue and white dress. Mrs. Heffti wore a blue green dress with sheer sleeves and both had white orchid corsages.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sievers, served as hosts to the reception held at the church parlors following the ceremony. Mrs. Steve Marindale registered the 150 guests and Mrs. Lyle Grone and Mrs. Douglas Maas arranged gifts.

Mrs. George Stoiz and Mrs. Don Johnson, South Sioux City, and Mrs. Elsie Miller cut and served the cake and Mrs. William Knoll and Mrs. Lowell Rethwisch poured. Linda Burke served punch.

Shirley Baier and Barb Kay were waitresses and Ladies Aid members worked in the kitchen. Miss Johnson is employed by M and S Oil Company as a bookkeeper. The bridegroom attended Northeast Nebraska Technical College one year and is working to Coryell Auto. The couple will live on Route 1.

A curfew for all youths under 18 years of age, was to go into effect at Hoskins Sunday, Sept. 3, according to Shirley Mann, village clerk.

The 10 p.m. curfew will be enforced Sunday through Thursdays, but will be lifted Friday and Saturday nights.

Four Scrambling For WSC Quarterback Job

It's getting crowded in the scramble to become Wayne State's No. 1 quarterback. In spring practice there was only one apparent contender. Now there are four, but not a one with varsity experience.

Most recent to join the competition is Tim Denham of Cumberland, Ia., who lettered as a freshman two years ago, but did most of his playing while at the junior varsity. Last year he transferred to Iowa State then to Clarinda Junior College. Now he's back at Wayne.

Coach Del Stollenberg has next week to decide which quarterback will start against the University of Nebraska at Omaha Saturday night, Sept. 9, at 7:30 in Rosenblatt Stadium.

Denham has moved into strong contention, but Stollenberg says the problem is that Denham also rates well as a tailback. In fact, he started fall practice at that position but recently was tried at signal calling.

Also vying at quarterback are Rick Benedetto, freshman from Schiller Park, Ill., freshman Dave Miller of Savanna, Ill., and sophomore Mike Welter of Hoppkinton, Ia., who played with the JV team last year. All three won all state honorable mention in high school.

Denham has a size advantage of 6.3 and 205 pounds while Benedetto is 5-11 and 165, Miller 5-11 and 185, Welter at 6.3 and 190.

There are other question marks in the offensive backfield, where the only returning veteran is fullback Dennis Linke of Grand Island. He is a probable starter. The fullback slot likely will go either to Denham if he doesn't call signals, or sophomore Pat Dyer of Ralston. Dyer finished the 1971 season with a 56-yard performance a game in a morning's action, his first chance for much action.

Top prospect of wingback is sophomore Dean Ott, a two-time all-stater honorable mention at Hooper.

Guessers' First Meet Sept. 7

The Wayne Booster Guessers Club, a sports booster organization, will hold its first meeting of the season, Sept. 7 at Les' Steak House.

President Rowan Willis said the noon affair will feature a $2 dinner, plus talks from the Wayne State coaching staff as well as others coaches in the area.

The dinner, he said, is open to all area businessmen and persons interested in boosting the sports program. This is no membership, he emphasized.

During the luncheon, new officers for the upcoming season will be elected. The other officers are Cal Comstock, vice president, and Dr. Leroy Simpson, secretary-treasurer.

Wayne Tries for Repeat

Sights High for Undefeated Season

It was a rainy Friday afternoon when a loud explosion erupted from the Wayne Hi gymnasium. The sounds continued for an hour and a half before Head Coach Al Hansen told his football troops to hit the showers.

Why are the Blue Devils so enthusiastic about practice?

The answer Coach Hansen has, is that the boys are anxious to start the school's second undefeated season in the Husker Conference.

"Our team has a lot of pride. And the boys as well as the coaching staff are aiming for the second undefeated season," Hansen remarked.

Sixty boys from the top three grades filed into the practice sessions with the sophomores leading in numbers, 23, to the juniors 20 and seniors, 17.

Headlining this year's roster will be 27 returning lettermen from last year's 10-0 season squad mark.

"We only have three returning offensive men and two defensive men," the coach said, "but we believe that we have a sound offensive unit."

Veteran End Randy Nelson and Tackle Larry Shupe will help make up the front wall along with Junior Kerry Jech who has been moved up from the backfield to guard.

"Jech is strong and tough. He's coming along pretty good."

This year's backfield has a host of changes, starting at the quarterback spot. Sophomore Marty Hansen at 150, 5-10, will direct the Blue Devils potent running and passing attack. The 5-10 signal caller replaces last year's No one man, Tom Kerstine, who has the left halfback position.

Coach Hansen noted that Kerstine, a 150 pound senior, has a good pair of hands as well as speed to open up the ground and aerial attack.

In the right halfback slot will be Senior Shane Giese at 6-0, 173, who will combine with Fullback Dan Hansen to round up the scoring machine.

Last year's vets, Fullback Doug Sturm and Gordon Cook will not see action for the first or possibly the second game, Hansen explained, since both boys have been hospitalized.

Cook, a junior running back, broke his arm this summer and may make the lineup by the second game. Sturm, a senior, on the other hand, is a doubtful starter. As yet, the head man is not certain if the 5-11 fullback will play at all this year.

The type of action he will see, Hansen added, depends upon whether or not Doug passes his physical.

The passing game is only half complete with a good backfield. On the line will be Senior Nelson, who Coach Hansen feels, just Kerstine as the team's best receivers. Playing at left end will be Senior Jon Rethwisch.

Making up the rest of the offensive line will be Tackles Mike Dunklau and Larry Shupe. Shupe, a 210, 6-4 senior, is a strong candidate for All Conference recognition. Hansen added.

Jech, along with Junior Tom Frahm will fill the guard spots while 180 pound Senior Dean Sievers will center the ball.

On the other side of the line, the defensive unit still is undetermined. According to Hansen six men, including a transfer and a first year man, so far make up the squad.

Sophomore Rod Hoops will probably start at the halfback position with Senior Brad Pflueger joining him at the same position. Popping in at the tackle and guard spots will be Junior Chuck Brockman, a transfer from LeMars, Ia., and Senior Jim Nieman, first year out.

Filling in at the end and other tackle position will be Randy Nelson and Dunklau.

Senior Ron Magnuson, who lays defensive linebacker, will be out of action for a while with ulcers. Also missing from the first game will be Senior Bob Coan and Bob Addison, for discipline reasons.

The Blue Devils will open the season Sept 8 when the team takes on Madison in a home game. Homecoming is set for Sept 29 against Stanton

Other games include:

- Sept. 8 — Madison at Wayne.
- Sept. 15 — Wisner at Wayne.
- Sept. 22 — Wayne at Neligh.
- Sept. 29 — Stanton at Wayne.
- Oct. 6 — Wayne at Plainview.

Final Dixon County Fair Results

Excellent herdsmanship in the care of the pens and alleys at the livestock barns at the Dixon County Fair resulted in purple ribbons for all of the clubs that had livestock exhibited. This is a record for Dixon County, according to County Agent Roy Stohler, who commended the youths for having someone from each club near the stalls at all times and continually keeping them clean. "The 4-H's never know when the judge may appear to examine them," Stohler added.

Cards of Thanks

I WISH TO THANK all who remembered me with flowers, visits, cards and telephone calls and my neighbors and relatives who did my chores. Also thanks to Pastor Bernthal and Dr. Benhark, Dr. Matson and the hospital staff for their wonderful care. Noel Bennett a4

WE WOULD LIKE TO THANK our relatives and friends for the memorials, flowers, cards, food and help received at the time of the death of our beloved husband and father. We would also like to thank the Hoskins rescue units, Mrs. Katherine Asmus, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Volviter and Family, Gary Asmus, Terry and Carrie. a4

WE WANT TO SINCERELY THANK the many relatives and friends who expressed their sympathy to us by cards, food, floral bouquets and memorials following the death of our mother, Minnie A. Monk. We would especially like to thank the ladies of the Dixon Methodist Church who donated and served the luncheon following the service. Words cannot express our appreciation Mrs. Margaret August, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Monk, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olson. a4

Controlling Hay Fever

Allergy specialists advise that there is something you can do about hay fever in fact they advise a number of measures that can be taken to avoid hay fever and its distressing symptoms. Some of them follow: Wear glasses. Large motor cycle types are considered best. Keep doors and windows closed, especially on windy, dry days when pollen flows freely. Turn air conditioner on a few hours before spending time in a room. Be sure the unit has a good filter. Keep front windows of auto mobiles closed to prevent pollen saturated air from blowing in. Stay indoors on days on which there are high pollen counts. Avoid garden work and garden sprays. Do not allow fresh cut flowers in your home. Stay away from insect, moth proofing, deodorizing and other household sprays as well as strong soaps, ammonia, waxing solutions and other substances with irritating odors. Fresh fruits and spices make some victims feel worse. Dis cover which foods affect you, and eliminate them from your diet. Consult a physician about medications to alleviate symptoms. The more common of these, itching, watery eyes, sneezing, and stuffed up runny nose, can usually be relieved with an antihistamine decongestant nasal spray. Or, the physician may recommend a pill with a similar combination, or other therapies. One out of 15 persons in the U.S. suffers from hay fever. Ragweed "hay fever" tests from mid-August through September in many states, and "until the first frost" in others.

Business Notes

David Brown Tractors Ltd., British manufacturer of farm tractors, has been acquired as an operating division of J.I. Case Co., makers of farm tractors and tillage implements. NE Tech Not Levying Extra Mill Northwest Nebraska Technical College is not levying the one mill authorized by the Technical Community College Law (LB795), reports College President Robert P. Cox. This current year, the college is levying, only in the 14 original counties of the Northeast Tech Area, two mills authorized by voters of those 14 counties in a 1967 election creating the technical college district. This is the first year the college levied that maximum, and this is the last year the college will be allowed to levy a tax under the "two mill" legislation.

Dr. Cox said the Northeast Tech board of governors has continually emphasized it had no intention of levying any tax for the college in new counties after the 1973-74 fiscal year. The law limits the levy to a maximum of one mill. This is because the new law also provides for state funding of three-fourths of the operating budgets of the two Northeastern Colleges.

The Northeast board has agreed that, even though a tax would not be levied until July, 1973, technical college students from neighboring counties would be treated the same (in area tuition rates and waiting list positions) as those in the 14 counties, as soon as their county commissioners petitioned the state board of vocational education to have the county, or the part of the county that the student lives in, be included in the Northeast Area.

This action has already been taken by county commissioners for five total counties, and for portions of two other counties. Students enrolled from those neighboring counties this fall quarter paid the lower tuition rate. Those counties are also presently being considered on an equal basis with the original 14 counties in current plans for other educational services in their area, Dr. Cox said. The final decision on whether these petitioning counties will join the Northeast Area will be made by the voters in the Nov. 7 general election.

'Diagnosis' Worsens Stuttering Problems

Just a few days ago your child was speaking normally. Now, all of a sudden you feel he is stuttering. How do you know?

The Nebraska Medical Association has found that the speech of most young children who are taken by their parents to be stutterers is not, for the most part, unusual. After the parents begin to think of a child as a stutterer, the speech often becomes unusual.

Evidence shows that the judgment, or "diagnosis," of stuttering is one of the chief causes of stuttering. In most cases, this judgment is made by the mother. It is perfectly appropriate for the mother to label herself as given a hesitancy or repetition in the child's speech, the child catches the attitude and may feel uneasy and disapproved of. The child, in turn, may do something about it, interferes with his speech even more. That is when the real problem called stuttering begins to bloom.

If a speech problem seems to be developing, first check with the doctor to be sure that the child is in good health. Then advise the Nebraska Medical Association, try to follow these suggestions:

Do not make him self-conscious about his speech by calling attention to it. Let him know it is perfectly normal under the circumstances. Look for tension and situations of stress that may be to blame. And do not forget to look at yourself.

To understand the problem better, note the conditions under which he hesitates and repeats, and the times he speaks smoothly and easily.

Never label him a stutterer, whether you are talking to him or about him.

Try to be the type of listener he likes to talk to. Never ask him to "speak pieces" or show off his speech to anyone. Give these suggestions an honest trial. If, at the end of six

NASA Official Guard Speaker

Eugene Kranz, chief of the Flight Control Division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, will be the featured banquet speaker at the 17th annual conference of the Nebraska National Guard Association Sept. 9 at the Omaha Hilton Hotel.

National Guard Officers from throughout the State have been invited to the conference. Kranz, who served as flight director for several Gemini and Apollo missions, is the second speaker of national importance. It was announced earlier that Col. James Deerin (Ret.), executive vice-president of the National Guard Association of the United States, would be the keynote speaker during the afternoon business session.

Laurel 4-H Youth Wins A Purple

Robert Patfield of Laurel received a purple ribbon in the 4-H category of the Garden Division at the Nebraska State Fair.

Only 20 purples were awarded in the Garden Division, which included displays of fresh cucumbers, squash, pumpkins, muskmelons and watermelons in the vine crops category.

Those 4-H'ers exhibiting caned vegetables along with their fresh produce have to preserve the products from this year's garden crops.

Other area exhibitors in the Garden Division were JoAnn Synover of Pierce, who received a blue ribbon, and David Moore and Susan Malcolm of Allen and Sharon Kruse of Pender, all of whom received red ribbons.

Terry Borg of Concord won a blue ribbon for his wildlife article in the Conservation division.

WINSIDE Observes 86th Birthday

Mrs. Edward Oswald
Phone 284-4872

Mrs. Henry (Lizzie) Von Seggren of Winside observed her 86th birthday Friday at her home.

She was born Sept. 1, 1886 three miles east of Altona, where she lived for 19 years until her marriage to Henry Von Seggren. The couple lived in Cherry County until 1926 when they moved to their present home in Winside. Mr. and Mrs. Von Seggren observed their 67th wedding anniversary in June.

Mrs. Von Seggren started school at the age of six at Winsor. Later she attended school at what was known as "Frog Pond School." She was the oldest of eight children.

Mrs. Von Seggren stated "I had to look out for the younger children at home."

Lizzie Von Seggren reading and her two pet kittens.

She enjoys playing cards and she also attends the Winside Senior Citizens. Her husband is the oldest resident in Winside and will observe his 96th birthday Jan. 16.
