

City Council Approves Transfer Of Assets to Hospital Foundation

The Wayne City Council either must have been watching a lot of football the past week or they were taking lessons from Bob DeVaney's defensive staff.

The seven council members literally blitzed through the lengthy agenda Tuesday night with barely any votes tabulated during the two hour and 45 minute session.

Topping the yeas votes was the unanimous approval of Ordinance No. 737 which transfers the assets from the present Wayne Hospital to the Foundation Board for the new Wayne Hospital.

Foundation President Bob Carhart told the group that earlier the Council said it would grant the transfer when the time arrived. Carhart pointed out that in order for the hospital to acquire the Hill Burton funds, which total about $300,000, the Foundation would have to show proof to the Hill Burton people that it did have the assets to the present hospital.

Carhart emphasized that if the Council did transfer the assets to the Foundation, the city would still be in control of the assets. Not included in the assets is the property on which the building stands or the building itself.

Presently, Carhart said, the Foundation has gathered about $872,000 for the $1.8 million hospital with the Beneficence Sisters pledging about $750,000. With the Hill Burton check, he continued, Wayne would have enough to build the new hospital.

During the engineer's reports it was noted that water and sewage for the new hospital would be available for Council inspection at the Oct. 3 meeting. Prior to the Council's business session, Andy Maney, representing some of Wayne's eating establishments, told the Council that he and some of the proprietors of eating establishments object to the city endorsing the Chamber of Commerce's idea to help pay for the feeding of high school students attending Band Day at Wayne State College.

Maney explained that the Council, which authorized the city to pay 53% or half of the food bill for the students, was unfair to the restaurant owners. "We're here to make a buck," he said. "The city had no business to put in money to make the thing (feeding the students) go through."

Maney said that he and other businessmen were under the impression that after last year's Wayne Chamber of Commerce and city funding of the students' lunches, the idea would be canceled.

Mayor Kent Hall then pointed out that the idea of feeding the students belonged to the Chamber and it would be better for him to settle the matter there.

Ambulance Agreement
Turning to the first topic on the agenda, the councilmen gave unanimous approval to the ambulance extension agreement between the City of Wayne, Wayne County and the Hospital Board.

Good Will

Wayne Area Cub Scouts will be on the march this fall to help the handiapped. And they are asking the citizens of Wayne to help.

Cubmaster John Reber said the Cub Scouts are asking for help in buying the "Good Turn Bags" along with the help of the den mothers, to all homes in the city.

All area residents are asked to fill the bags and carry boxes with materials in repairable condition to the handicapped workers at the Goodwill Industries camp.

The Scouts will gather the bags on Oct. 7.

Open House At Morey

An open house reception has been scheduled for Sunday at Morey Hall on the WSC campus, according to housemother Roberta Wolfe, to honor new faculty members and to give the public an opportunity to see the changes at Morey which went into effect this fall. The event is scheduled for 2 to 4 p.m.

Creating conversation in the Wakefield area is a 3,500-ton corn silage pile belonging to Merlin Holm and Marvin Mortenson. To get some idea of the size of the silage pile notice the comparable size of Mortenson and a neighbor along the fence.

Wayne Hosts Board Dinner

Forty-seven members of the Nebraska State School Board Association (NSSBA) from West Point, Allen, Wayne, Laurel, Stanton, Fort Calhoun, Wakefield, Schuyler, Clarkson and Educational Service Unit 1, attended the Tuesday evening dinner meeting held at Wayne Elementary School Monday evening.

Following dinner at the West Elementary School, the group adjourned to the high school lecture hall for a business meeting. District Director Wilbur Giese presided and introduced Senator LeRoy Pfister of South Sioux City, and Senator William Hasebroek of West Point, a speaker in the Legislature.

The men spoke about legislation, state aid to education and attitudes toward local

Call it 'Corn Mountain'

Persons who aren't dropping in at the Marvin Mortenson farm one and a half miles east of Wakefield are "driving by slowly or stopping at the end of the lane."

The object of interest is a 3,500 ton corn silage pile. The pile is 20 to 22 feet high at its peak, 160 to 180 feet long, and approximately 70 feet wide. It took 150 acres of corn yielding 20 to 25 tons to the acre to fill the pile.

The corn silage is treated with a new formula protein additive which has a nitrogen and molasses base.

According to Mortenson "this pile is finished, we will fill the upright (silos) now."

"We" refers to Mortenson and his partner, Merlin Holm.

Other candidates for the three board positions were Bill Fulton, Al Wittig and Bill Workman.

The voting closed Friday afternoon and votes were counted Monday morning.

Objectives Outlined for Title III

Forty-one persons turned out for the first of four annual meetings to be held by the Title III Community Council. The group, which met at the West Elementary School Monday evening, was welcomed by Council Chairman Mrs. Henry (Dorothy) Lee, who outlined for new members the council objectives.

1) To strengthen the impact and success of Project Success; 2) To involve actively 75 per cent of the council members in sub-committee work; 3) To attain 80 per cent attendance at each of the four annual meetings.

Following Mrs. Wilber Giese's report on the meeting held in May, introductions were made and Elementary Principal Richard Mettler, who is director of Project Success, spoke on "The First Year, Behind and The Second Year Ahead." He emphasized the obligation under Title III funding to provide a working model of the project and to disseminate information on the project.

Program Definition
Project Success is a program of concentrated attention on the child with average or above IQ, but who has specific learning disabilities which prevent him from making normal progress in the learning field. Since the trend is not to isolate the unique child, all children in the school system will benefit from the program in some way.

Mettler, in commenting on the three phases of Project Success, displayed the manuals prepared in Language Arts, Motor Perception and Curriculum Modification.

22 Cyclists Earn $300 For YARC

Twenty-two bicycle riders were "bushed" Saturday afternoon, but the Youth Association for Retarded Children treasury for "bush" efforts in the Wayne to Pender and return bike-a-thon.

Mrs. Kenneth Siltman, YARC sponsor, said $250 in pledges had been turned in and it was estimated that $50 in pledge money was still to come.

Twenty-two riders left the National Guard Armory Saturday morning at 8:30, with the oldest rider in the group, 28-year-old Dennis Robinson, and high school student Sally Lesch being the first ones to arrive at Pender, at 10:45, just two hours and 15 minutes for the 24 plus miles.

The first rider back, however, was Greg Anderson, another Wayne High student, who completed the round trip in exactly four hours at 12:30 p.m. The last riders were back by 3:30 p.m.

The youngest rider in the group was 13-year-old Kirk Sommerfeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sommerfeld of Wayne. Assisting him with the bike a-thon were the Jaycees and Mrs. Jaycees. Refreshments at the Pender Fire Hall were supplied by the Pender Jaycees.

'Epidemic' Of City Accidents

A rash of accidents kept Wayne City Police hopping Monday, but none of the mishaps resulted in any reported injuries.

The tender Bender plague began at 10:55 a.m. when a pickup owned by Russell Luit of Route 2, Wayne, parked in the 200 block of South Main with its motor running, slipped into reverse and backed across Clark Street and into the parked car of Paul Pickett of 120 W. Second.

Coronation of the Homecoming King and Queen will be held at 7 p.m. on field, prior to the home game with Stanton, which is scheduled for 7:30. The student body chooses their royalty today (Thursday) from a list of candidates selected by the W Club and Pep Club, but names will not be announced until Friday night.

Alternates Lisa Lesh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lesh, and Larry Shupe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Shupe, will crown the king and queen. Crownbearers will be Stacy Mencl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mencl, and Robby Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen.

The Velvet Exposé will provide music for the 10:30 p.m. to 12:45 a.m. homecoming dance to be held at the high school gymnasium following the game. The king and queen will be presented. Dress is to be in formal but students are advised to avoid blue jeans or shorts.

Wayne State Seeking First Victory Of Season at Midland on Saturday

An offense that has averaged 24 points a game will face Wayne State's Wildcats Saturday night at 7:30, but defense may be the key factor when Wayne plays Midland College at Fremont.

Wayne displayed an improved rushing offense last Saturday while losing 10-6 to the University of Minnesota Morris, and it was a defensive linebacker converted to tailback, Reggie Smith, who provided the running punch for Wayne. The former West Point Catholic High star — one of the state's top fullbacks then — has been a defensive stalwart through three past Wayne seasons. But against Morris he ground out 63 yards.

Wayne Coach Del Stollenberg figures it will take that offensive thrust and more Saturday to bring Wayne its first win after three losses. Midland is off to its best season in years with a 3-0 record.

The Warrior defense, however, may be vulnerable if the Wildcats can jell their offense — and avoid a flock of mistakes which have plagued them so far. Interceptions and fumbles lost in three games stopped several good drives and sometimes set up opponent scores.

Two interceptions killed late scoring threats for Wayne against Morris after the Cats had scored for the first time this year. Earlier, Wayne's failure to recover two fumbles led to a Morris field goal in the second quarter and a touchdown in the final period.

The Wildcats trailed 10-0, when third string Quarterback Mike Welter went into the fray with 1:09 to go. Less than six minutes later he had Wayne on the scoreboard with a 20 yard pass play to End Gary Marfens deep in the end zone. Welter tried a run for two points, but was stopped inches short.

Area Teams Crack Crystal Ball; Only One Club Gets Friday Win

Anyone want to buy a crystal ball? Last week the shiny sphere seemed awfully dull in its predictions for area teams. Wayne, of course, won its third straight, handing Neligh its third loss of the season against no wins.

The Blue Devils, which currently rank number one in the western division of the Husker Conference, did have trouble with Neligh's varying offense, according to Head Coach Al Hansen.

Hansen said that his defensive unit played a good game in stopping the Warriors. Leading the list of tacklers was Junior Tom Frahm with 11.

In the kicking department, AFS student John Thavon, booted seven straight extra points in the past three games before missing his first.

Looking at the rest of the area teams, Wakefield lost a squeaker to top rated Pierce, 8-7, when the Bluejays went for broke in the Fourth for two points to dash the Trojans' hopes for a perfect season.

Wakefield, which now stands at 2-1, is second in the conference standings. This Friday the Trojans will host tough Ponca, 2-1, for Homecoming. The Indians knocked off Allen, 22-14, in Ponca's Homecoming game.

Turning to the Northeast Nebraska Conference, Pierce leads with a 3-0 mark with Laurel dropping to fourth. The Bears now sport a 2-1 record. The team will also host its Homecoming Friday against Plainview. The Pirates, which didn't play last Friday, boast a 1-1 mark.

Tom Frahm, left, led the defensive corps Friday night in Wayne High's victory at Neligh. The 155-pound junior guard charted 11 tackles. John Thavon, right, AFS student at Wayne High, missed on his eighth soccer-style placement attempt. The Thailand native had booted seven straight in wins over Madison and Wisner-Piager, but his try for No. 8 hit the goal post.

Allen, in the Lewis and Clark conference Eastern Division, will take on the Homer Knights at home. Coach Charles Haag's club will try to better its 1-1 record against Homer's 2-1 set.

Finally, Winside, in the West Division of the Lewis and Clark Conference, will be the only area team on the road as the Wildcats jump to Wausa.

The Vikings currently stand in second place in the division, behind Coleridge, while the Wildcats fall to fifth place at 1-2.

Now comes the time when the scratched up and battered little globe tries to improve its 8-5 record.

Let's be generous to the homecoming teams and predict the Wayne club will take Stanton. The Blue Devils should improve offensively.

Ponca at Wakefield — The Trojans may be still feeling the sting of their last encounter but the Indians should feel the worst bite. Although Ponca first year man Rom Heerman's club looks pretty good behind the running of Bob Curry, Craig Jones and Quarterback Dennis Hurley, the Trojars should be able to shoot down the Indian's shotgun of Homer.

Plainview at Laurel — The Bears should bounce back on this one and rob the Pirates of their second win.

Homer at Allen — Quarterback Scott Von Minden could be in contact in the Eagles' aerial game to explode past the Knights.

Winside at Wausa — This game looks like it could be a toss-up. The crystal ball says Wausa should win since it is the home team. But let's go with Winside, hoping that Doug Barry's crew can shake off their last two losses.

Big Day for LHS; Homecoming Friday

In preparation for their annual homecoming activities, scheduled for this Friday, Laurel High School Students have singled out Kim Gowery, Debbie Helms, Peg Shearer, Gloria Tuttle and Joan Erwin to vie for the title of Homecoming Queen, and Dave Diederker, Dave Anderson, Chuck Hirschman, Jerry Schutte and Larry Wiebelhaus to compete for homecoming king. Queen candidates, all senior members of Pep Club, were selected by L Club members and king candidates were chosen by the Pep Club.

The senior class picked Denise Magnuson and Dan Coughlin as junior attendants. Crownbearers, chosen by student council members are first graders Shelly Fredrickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fredrickson, Laurel, and Alvin Kessinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Kessinger, Laurel.

Homecoming events will get underway with a 7:30 p.m. parade, led by the senior and junior bands, followed by candidates, homecoming royalty, class floats, Pep Club, pom pom girls, majorette and starlette floaters. A pep rally will be held at the main intersection of the Laurel business district and floats will be judged by members of the Laurel Chapter of Commerce. Cash prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place winners. The parade theme this year is "Movie Titles." The parade will form again for halftime during the game between the Laurel Bears and Plainview Pirates at 7:30 p.m.

The coronation will follow at the school gym, with admission set at 15 cents. The 1971 royalty, Penny Bruggeman and Bruce Johnson, will be on hand for the crowning.

The Bandits will provide music for the 10 p.m. homecoming dance. Admission will be $1. All students in grades seven through 12, and one and two year alumni are invited to attend. Informal attire is suggested, though no blue jeans or cutoffs will be permitted.

Homecoming festivities are sponsored by the student council, with Pam Hinrichs as decorating chairman. Chuck Hirschman and Yvonne Kraemer are parade chairmen.

Deer harvested by firearm and archery hunters in 1968 totaled 12,464, according to the Game Commission.

City Football Team Scores Win, 30-14

Wayne's Mike Wieseler dashed off a 65-yard scoring run and a 40-yard TD pass Tuesday night to lead the city football team past Randolph, 30-14.

The Wayne club, playing at Randolph, chalked up its 14th win in a row after a sluggish first quarter start.
The locals ripped off three TD's in the second quarter to take command of the game, 22-0. Halback Marc Lawrence scored Wayne's first six points on an off-tackle play after Fullback Wieseler set up the score with a 26-yard run, placing the ball at Randolph's 34-yard line.

A quarterback sneak by signal caller Ralph Atkins failed for the PAT to leave the score at 6-0.
The junior high team then struck back on a 25-yard TD scamper by Left Halfback Mark Brandt to boost the lead to 12-0 and the PAT pass from Atkins to Brandt was good for 14-0 lead.
With four seconds left in the half the Wayne club added eight more points on a 40-yard pass play from Quarterback Atkins to Wieseler to make the halftime score 22-0. The PAT pass to Wieseler was good.

Wayne coach said Coach Hank Overin, appeared to play sloppy ball in the third quarter as both teams again failed to score.
But with five minutes left in the fourth quarter, the locals scored their final points on the 65-yard run by Wieseler to end the team's scoring punch at 30-0.
After Wayne's successive drives, the Randolph club came alive, dashing off two TD's for a 30-14 deficit before the sound of the gun.

Fullback Akers kept his ball club going on end sweeps of 35 and 45 yards with two minutes left in the game. With three seconds left, Akers almost scored his third TD but stepped out of bounds near the 30-yard line before going into the end zone.
Defensively some of the standouts for the winners were Joe Kinney, Tim Koll, Marc Lawrence, Brian Heifold, Mark Brandt and Mike Wieseler. Offensively, said Coach Overin, they were Randy Davie, Dennis Murray, Tim Bebee, Ralph Atkins, Mike Wieseler and Marc Lawrence.
Next Tuesday the Wayne team will host Winer at the Wayne Baseball Park at 4:45 p.m. Other games included in the four-game season are: Oct. 11-Laurel at Wayne and Oct. 18, Wayne at Wakefield.

Winside Girls Win Consolation

Winside won the consolation trophy Tuesday night at the Newcastle Invitational Volleyball Tournament with a two-set victory, 15-6 and 15-5, over Homer.
The Winside girls had won their first round game by 15-7 and 15-11 over Allen, but then fell in their second Monday night appearance to Emerson in a best-of-three match, winning the first set by 15-10, but losing the next two by margins of 15-9 and 15-7.
Emerson won the championship in a three-set victory over the host school, 12-15, 15-5 and 15-11. Homer had beaten Ponca, but fell to Newcastle in other Monday night action.
The Winside girls will go against Wynot at home Thursday (tonight).

Way Back When

Refreshing Experience

Several years ago, while living in southeast Nebraska, a young boy ran up to this writer on main street and breathlessly said he found a billfold "with a lot of money in it" and wanted the newspaper to see that it got back to the owner.

College's football stadium and said he had found a billfold containing identification — and a $10 bill.

We regretted that after the owner of the lost wallet, who appeared to be a student, had made his appearance, that we failed to get the boy's name.

We would have been delighted to have relayed his deed to parents who should be extremely proud of the results of their home teachings.

He wasn't looking for any reward. In fact, he had to be asked to remain until the owner came to make his claim. And, we don't know whether there was any reward given.

This boy was not seeking any publicity, back patting or financial returns—he was doing only what he knew was right.

Appreciation Days

Sweet Tooth

Candy munchers across the nation and Nebraska, too. It's time to take a stand. The 10-cent candy bar may be on its way out, replaced by the 15-center, according to spokesmen for several vendors.

Various Plans Offered For State School Aid

LINCOLN—State school aid—certain to be one of the more explosive issues in next year's legislative session—offers its supporters a variety of routes to travel.

Still another suggests that the present system of distributing state aid—based on statewide needs, not individual districts—be retained, but that the state provide 75 per cent of the operating revenues.

Series of Hearings

After any alterations, the committee will hit the road and hold a series of hearings throughout the state to take testimony on the proposals.

Then, before the end of the year, the committee will meet once again and decide what it ought to recommend to the session convening in January.

Another plan calls for the state to assume three-fourths of the operating costs of each district, with the remainder

First Hike in Agriculture Employment in 13 Years

A review of employment in Nebraska 1969-71 reveals several changes in direction since a report covering the period 1960-69 was published, according to Dr. E. S. Wallace, director of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Bureau of Business Research.

Writing in the monthly College of Business Administration publication "Business in Nebraska," Wallace notes that for the first time since 1959, there has been an increase in agricultural employment.

Other factors in the 1969-71 employment picture that differed from the 1960-69 survey include: More than half of the net increase in employment was in the private sector; manufacturing employment showed an actual decrease, but at a slower rate than nationally; trade, although still the largest category, had an increase of less than 28 per cent, and the state substantially exceeded the growth rate of the nation in non-agricultural employment.

During the two-year period 1969-71, total employment in Nebraska grew by 26,000 (4 per cent as compared to the national growth rate of 3.2); the total number of jobs increased by 18,400 (2.9 per cent compared to a national rate of 1.6), and unemployment rose from 2.4 per cent in 1969 to 3.4 in 1971 but remained below the national rate of 5.9 per cent.

Since the 1971 figures are available for less than half the counties in the state, it is not yet possible to pinpoint geographically the decline in manufacturing employment over the two-year period.

However, Dr. Wallace reports that most of it apparently took place in Hall County, which lost 250 manufacturing jobs (35 per cent of the 1969 total).

Dr. Wallace also notes as significant: An increase in the non-agricultural employment from less than three times agricultural employment in 1960 to more than five times in 1971.

Inflation Control A Basic Problem

Success in the effort to control inflation is basic to the resolution of virtually every other problem facing the nation, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States contends.

Inflation results when our national government spends more than it collects in taxes, and when the supply of money is expanded faster than the production of goods and services on which it will be spent.

Obviously there is only one way to curb it: Spend less and restrain the expansion of the money supply.

Here's the five-point program developed by National Chamber to halt the relentless rise in government spending and impose a ceiling on such spending by the Congress and the Administration:

Project all major spending over a five-year period.

Pilot test every proposed major program before it is put into operation nationwide.

Require a joint congressional committee to evaluate the budget as a whole.

Subject all major programs to the same spending controls as other tax supported programs.

Increasing. During the 1960's, most of this increase was in education, which is no longer true.

"Since goods-producing industries are no longer the principal avenue of national growth, the chief hope for future expansion appears to lie in increased efforts devoted to stimulating employment opportunities in the service-producing sectors of the state's economy," Dr. Wallace concludes.

Crime Report For Wayne, Area Counties

Wayne County had 18 reported cases of burglary, breaking or entering during the first six months of 1972, according to the Nebraska Uniform Crime Reporting program of the Nebraska Commission on Law Enforcement.

The county also had 13 cases of larceny $50 or over and one auto theft reported.

Of that total, nine of the burglary, breaking or entering occurred in Wayne.

The city also "claimed" four of the larceny cases and the lone auto theft.

The Nebraska Uniform Crime Reporting program is centered around 221 local and state law enforcement agencies that submit monthly reports according to law.

Reports from neighboring counties: DeWitt County—Burglary, breaking or entering, 8; larceny, 25.

Cedar County—Burglary, breaking or entering, 1; larceny, 1; auto theft, 1. (Includes only Hartington, information incomplete on Randolph and no reports submitted from Laurel and Coleridge).

Strom County—Burglary, breaking or entering, 7; larceny, 23; car theft, 16. (Information incomplete).

Big Red Barn Becoming Thing of the Past

On the horizon of America, the big red barn is going the way of the little red schoolhouse.

Farmers don't need them any more. They are wanted only by real estate speculators and architects with an eye for imaginative—yet costly—remodeling into spacious houses with old wood beams.

Once a barn-raising was an American exercise in ultimate neighborliness. Farmers for miles around gathered to hammer and nail the huffy beams into place so that the frame of a barn would be standing by sundown.

Today's barns—or what passes for them—go up just as quickly. But hired building contractors arrive with trucks of sheet metal and steel girders, welding rigs, cement mixers and power hoists.

Hay barns' Larders Hay is what made yesterday's barns big as a barn. Every farm needed a lofty, dry space to store the huge loose quantities of fuel for much needed warmth.

on the farm, and old bossy and the rest of the herd have been replaced by dairies selling milk to farmers grateful to escape the tyranny of twice-daily milkings.

The dairymen use open-sided storage sheds, which hold two-thirds more than barns because the hay is neatly compressed into bales.

Cows, eight at a time, may be milked automatically by one man presiding over a small "milking parlor." Gone are the long lines of stalls, each bearing the name of its own cow.

Garage-like equipment buildings are innocent of the harness room's lengths of strain-smoothed leather. Tractor gasoline all but overpowers the memory of aromatic oil buns.

Outcasts' New Life New cities, weather-beaten barns often survive as outcasts amid subdivision dream houses. In the country, they try for new lives, as antique warehouses, summer theaters or ski lodges.

But barns have long outlived the amazing carillon who occasionally met the fate of their 1801 tombstone.

fourth of November. In raising his barn he was hit by a timber."

The old-time barn builder cut his lumber from trees on his own farm, often with tools he forged himself, erecting barns with lines and proportions admired and copied by designers through the years.

Farmers followed old almanacs' advice to "slope your barn against northern blasts" to allow heat-insulating snow to pile up. Near the peak of the roof, they added "lofted openings" or "wind eyes"—today's windows—to cope with summer's heat.

For many, the time to shingle a roof was in the dark of the moon to avoid warping; a hundred years after, many roofs laid on "sturgeon" nights" are still unrotted and waterproof.

The seasoned, weather-worn look was standard until the late 1700's when a Yankee farmer shined up red oxide of iron, lime and skim milk—and painted the world's first red barn.

WSC Library Facilities Explained at Kiwanis

Charles Stelling, head librarian at Wayne State College's Conn Library, explained the facility's functions and various services available at the regular Monday-dinner-meeting of the Wayne Kiwanis Club at City Auditorium.

"We are concerned with the past, present and future of our library and in filling in any areas where there is a lack of communications," he told the Kiwanians before giving a slide presentation of the college library facilities.

"We also are concerned with supplying relevant information when it is needed through such conveniences as videocassettes, videotapes and the Educational Information Systems, where questions are teleyped to larger libraries when such material is not available here," he added.

Stelling reminded the group that many library facilities are open to the public "but the student has No. 1 priority."

In 1970 an addition was completed at Conn Library to include housing for selective government documents. "These documents are available for check-out to the public at any time," he said.

Stelling explained the card file and index systems, reference service, the Technical Services area, which is responsible for classifying and cataloging of materials and acquisition, and the system of microfilming of books and periodicals, photo graphed on 35 millimeter film and enlarged through a Micro form for viewing.

"Today's library has expanded its functions greatly," Stelling said, adding "at our Instructional Materials Center we have film strips, audio tapes, reel to reel recordings, records, cassettes, and various other non printed materials.

The audio visual area has many other possibilities, including the means of transporting information for home courses to students, an expanded version of the present Educational Television.

Dick Manley received a pin for 14 years of perfect attendance at Kiwanis meetings from Irvin Brandt. Orvid Owens received a three-year award and Harland Pankraz, one year.

The Agent's Angle

by Harold Ingalls

several harvesting problems. Slower ground speed and trashy beans are two of the penalties for poor weed control.

2. Reduce ridding when cultivating. Mechanical cultivation is often combined with chemicals for weed control. A key issue here is to keep ridding to a minimum in order to allow the cutter bar to pass below the lowest pods. Research has shown that increasing the cutting height from three to four inches may increase the bean loss from three to six per cent of total yield.

3. Harvest at 13 per cent. Have the combine ready to go, and start harvesting when the beans reach 13 per cent moisture. Pods tend to pop open or shatter excessively at lower moistures.

4. Follow manual recommendations. Engine and beater speeds should be set exactly as recommended in the combine manual. This means that the straw walkers, sieves, augers and elevators are operating at the optimum speed. Adjust the cylinder concaves, fan and sieve openings as recommended in the manual. This gives good machine settings for average conditions.

5. Adjust the header. A majority of harvest loss occurs at the combine header. The knife should be sharp and run as close to the ground as possible. Automatic header height controls will help to cut low weeds, maintaining good ground speed.

The center of the reel should be eight to 10 inches in front of the knife, and set low enough to control the beans without carrying them over the reel. The reel balls should run about 25 per cent faster than the combine forward speed. Tests have indicated that a pick-up reel is helpful in moving plants into the header.

6. Check your losses. A few minutes spent in periodically checking machine performance will help keep those losses low. Check a row area behind the combine. A count of four beans per square foot will equal about one bushel per acre loss. Adjust the cutting height and reel, and consider reducing forward speed if this count is high.

7. Readjust throughout the day. As the pods and beans dry, a check of the grain tank may indicate excessive cracking. Reduce cylinder speed or increase concave clearance under these conditions. Fan and sieves should be set to remove as much trash as possible without carrying beans out the back of the combine.

8. Harvest when pods are damp. Harvesting early and late in the day has the advantage of reduced pod shatter. The cylinder speed would have to be increased under these conditions.

Soybeans are very easy to combine once the plants are in the header. Periodic loss checks and header adjustments are the key to a good job of harvesting.

The new Beef Carcass Data Service eartags are now here and ready for use by Nebraska beef producers. Persons wishing to obtain carcass data on certain animals may purchase the tags for 50 cents per head. A completed carcass data form will be returned to the tag's purchaser for $1.50. University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension beef specialist Jim Gosey, pictured with the tags, urges those interested to contact him at the UN-L Animal Science Department, Lincoln.

State's Beef Eartags Now Available

Nebraska's share of the new Beef Carcass Data Service eartags are now here and ready for use.

Some 3,000 of the distinctive shield-shaped tags were acquired from the USDA by the Nebraska Beef Cattle Improvement Association reports University of Nebraska Extension beef specialist Jim Gosey. The tags are available to beef producers across the state at a cost of 50 cents each.

Producers and feeders can tag cattle they would like carcass information from with these bright orange, serially numbered eartags. When the tagged animal is slaughtered, the following carcass data will be collected and returned to the original purchaser of the tag.

1. Degree of marbling; maturity; degree of shading; quality grade; test thickness; ribeye area; kidney, pelvic and heart fat; hot carcass weight and yield grade.

A fee of $1.50 per head is charged for the completed data form, making a total cost of $2 per animal for complete carcass information.

As a result of requests from the Beef Improvement Federation (BIF) and numerous other livestock associations, the Beef Carcass Data Service was expanded to a nationwide program this year by the USDA. The service operated previously in a four-state midwest area pilot study.

Actual collection of carcass data will be done by the livestock division of the USDA.

Agricultural Marketing Service cattle producer and feeder organizations, agricultural organizations and State departments of agriculture will cooperate in distributing eartags and returning completed data forms.

This data collection service, says Gosey, will provide a unique opportunity for producers to obtain much needed data on the value-determining characteristics of their cattle.

"The program will help seed stock producers identify sires that are producing calves with superior carcasses, and will help feedlot operators determine where their better feeder calves are coming from."

He adds that the success of the program will depend on the cooperation of all segments of the beef industry in seeing that the tag stays with the carcass and data can be collected. "The effectiveness of the program can be increased as everyone learns to recognize the tag and what it means," Gosey concluded.

The NU specialist urges Nebraska cattlemen interested in ordering eartags or those interested in further information to contact the Nebraska Beef Cattle Improvement Association, c/o Jim Gosey, University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

Time to Treat for Cattle Grubs

Nov. 1 is the deadline to treat Nebraska-raised cattle with systemic insecticides for grub control, and treatment before October is even safer, according to Dr. Jack Campbell, University of Nebraska entomologist stationed at North Platte.

Both Campbell and Robert E. Roselle, NU Lincoln Extension entomologist, say that treating Southern-raised cattle now or later is risky. There have been a few incidents of sick cattle and occasional death—losses from toxic reactions.

Toxic reaction depends on the development stage of the grubs in the animal's body. Since grubs in Southern cattle are further advanced than our native cattle, the risk is increased.

"Southern cattle should have been treated earlier in the season at points of origin," explains Roselle.

Campbell and Roselle agree that pour-on materials are more effective than sprays. It's more difficult for sprays to reach the animal's skin in sufficient concentration to be absorbed. If sprays are used, Campbell recommends that sprayer pressure be maintained at about 300 pounds per square inch, and to spray cattle at close range.

Three systemic insecticides—Ruelene, Prolate, and Neguvon—are available either as a spray or pour-on. Go-Ral is registered as a pour-on, spray or dip. Famphure is used as a pour-on or feed additive, and Trolene is strictly a feed additive.

"Be sure to read, understand and follow label instructions," urges Campbell. "There are a number of precautions which must be observed when treating cattle, and the best guides are on the label."

Roselle offers these general warnings for using the grub control agents:

—Do not treat calves under three months old.

—Do not treat along with other insecticides or veterinary pharmaceuticals or when animals are under any kind of stress.

—Do not treat after October. Following treatment, if animals show a weakness in rear legs, have staggering walk, diarrhea, increased salivation, bloot or grunt, consult your veterinarian.

—Follow directions regarding number of days required between treatment and slaughter.

—Do not treat lactating dairy animals. Non-lactating dairy cattle can be treated with Co-Ral, Famphur or Ruelene, but follow directions of days required between treatment and freshening. Do not use feed additives for dairy cattle.

—Those applying grub control chemicals must avoid exposure to their skin. Excessive exposure could cause toxic reactions to humans.

Tests Include Subsoil

Soil testing can do more than tell the farmer when to add nutrients to his soil in order to get a better crop. Testing can also save the farmer money and prevent pollution of the ecosystem, says Del Knudsen, assistant professor of agronomy soil testing at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"Soil testing will be reduced if investments are made for fertilizer to supply plant nutrients which are already adequate. In addition, excesses of certain fertilizer materials can cause pollution of ground water."

Elements such as phosphorus and potassium are less apt to move to the ground water, but nitrate may, at least in sandy soil.

Knudsen says a relatively new program for nitrogen testing involves more work, but gives far more accurate results than previous methods. He said that the extra work comes from testing both the subsoil as well as the topsoil.

"Plants' need on nitrogen to a depth of as much as six feet. Sampling the topsoil only does not give us much information."

Knudsen explained. The basic program of nitrogen testing advocated by Knudsen calls for sampling the top two feet of soil. Generally, 40 per cent of the nitrate in non-irrigated soil is found in the top two feet. Knudsen says that sampling to three feet would give even more accurate results, but involves a good deal more work.

However, for fields that will be planted in sugar beets, sampling to at least four feet is recommended.

Complete instructions for up-dated soil testing can be found on the back of information sheets available at county extension offices.

Knudsen offered these general guidelines:

—Air dry samples before sending them in for nitrate otherwise the nitrate will be lost during shipment.

—Send a regular topsoil sample taken to a depth of eight inches. Then send a second sample taken from that depth to two feet.

—Several cores are needed to make up a representative sample.

High Moisture Grain is the name of the GAIN!

With an automated Harvestore feed processing system, you can harvest your grain early, at peak nutrition, before weather and lodging take their toll. There is less handling. Grain goes direct from field to structure. There is less storage loss. And, drying is eliminated. Livestock get a more nutritious and palatable ration, too. A feast for all... about 600 people gathered in the town of Carroll Saturday for an afternoon of feasting. Marking the Appreciation Day for area farmers was the free faverns and watermelon served to the visitors.

Serving up hot faverns and warm beans top the day's menu for visitors. Just ask Mrs. Dave Hay as she takes her plate for a sample from Mrs. Vernon Schnoor. Helping her is Mrs. Arlyn Hurlbert. Standing to the far right is Mrs. Allen Frahm.

Carroll 'Thanks' Farmer Friends

By Betty Kavanaugh

Saturday afternoon the main street in Carroll was blocked to traffic. But no one seemed to mind. Carroll business men treated customers and friends with a real honest-to-goodness, almost forgotten type of Free Day. Saturday afternoon all 70 established firms in Carroll combined efforts and finances to show appreciation to their patrons.

Picnic tables were set in the middle of the street where approximately 650 people ate their free faverns, baked beans and potato chips, and washed it all down with coffee and soft drinks.

Businesses contributing were: Carroll Feed & Grain, Cunningham Well & Supply, Farmers State Bank, Geneva's Cafe, Graham Car Wash, Halteen Beauty and Barber Shops, Hansen Grocery, Hurlbert Milk Transfer, Hurlbert Repair, Karen's Beauty Shop, Kavanaugh Feed & Trucking, Litho Speed Inc., H. McLain Oil Co., Nelson's Repair, Postmaster John Rethwisch, Rohde Body Shop, Ron's Bar, Sandahl Repair, Vern's Building and Repair, Village Wash.

Free coffee and doughnuts also were served Saturday by Nelson's Repair in observance of their grand opening. Door prizes were won by Elmo Jenkins, Colorado, electric drill, Gus Hanks, Carroll, transistor radio, and Mrs. Addie Jorgensen, Mrs. Agnes Duffy, and Ellery Pearson, all of Carroll, and Vernon Goodsell, Belden, flashlights.

Free melons were served by Kavanaugh Feed & Trucking in observance of their 6th Farmers Appreciation Day. Winners in their pumpkin contest were Greg Lackas, first; Robert B. Jones, second; Lem Jones, third, and G. E. Jones, fourth.

Leonard Halteen was the winner of the free Christmas cards given by Litho Speed Inc., which also held open house Saturday.

Penny beer was featured at Ron's Bar. Carroll also boasts of another new business being established, Carroll Plumbing and Heating, owned by Wayne Harkins, is in the process of locating a building to house his equipment and office.

There is much enthusiasm among the business people and farmers that this type of Free Day can once again become an annual affair.

Before the meals were served these Carroll residents started the long process of fixing the yummy faverns and mixing the cans of beans. Helping out are Mrs. Arlyn Hurlbert, Mrs. Maurice Hansen, Mrs. Lyle Cunningham, Mrs. Howard McLain and Mrs. Vernon Schnoor. Partially hidden are Mrs. Leroy Nelson and Mrs. Jack Kavanaugh.

Watermelon... I'll take a slice, says Janee Isom as she carries a mouthwatering chunk of free watermelon.

Oops! Lynell Billheimer was caught in the act when she dropped her favern during Saturday's free meal at Carroll. Her brother, Darin, was just as surprised as she was when the picture was taken right after the accident.

Jack Kavanaugh takes a hard cut at this watermelon, one of over a hundred served during the afternoon feed. Watching out for the flying juice is Don Nettleton.

ACT Tests Offered

Students at several Wayne County high schools who are planning to attend college will have the opportunity to take the ACT Assessment during the 1972-73 academic year.

The first of five national testing dates on which the national assessment examination will be offered is Saturday morning, Oct. 21, with Wayne College one of the testing centers for area schools. Students planning to take the five-part ACT Assessment on that date must have registered no later than Oct. 2.

The complete national ACT schedule for the 1972-73 academic year (with corresponding registration periods in parentheses):

- Oct. 21, 1972 (Aug. 21-Oct. 21); Dec. 9, 1972 (Oct. 9-Nov. 13); Feb. 24, 1973 (Nov. 27-Jan. 29); April 28, 1973 (Feb. 12-April 2); July 21, 1973 (April 16-June 25).

Cost to students for the ACT Assessment, which takes about 3 1/2 hours to complete, is $6.50. Resulting information reports are of valuable use to students and counselors in pre-college planning.

Last year approximately one million persons in the U.S. and overseas took the five-part examination, which is required or recommended for applicants at more than 2,000 colleges, universities, two-year colleges, scholarship agencies and athletic conferences.

The ACT Assessment includes a series of four tests designed to assess general educational development. Another part is a questionnaire that collects information about the students' academic and nonacademic backgrounds, immediate plans for college, and career aspirations.

It is recommended that students take the ACT Assessment in their junior year or early in the senior year of high school. With national headquarters in Iowa City, Ia., ACT is an independent and non-profit corporation that offers varied services for use by students and educational institutions.

Social Security Questions, Answers

Q. I'm retired and getting monthly payments from Social Security. I don't work but I do receive dividends from some stock I own and a small pension from my former employer. Must these be reported to Social Security as earnings?

A. No. Neither your dividends nor your pension have any effect on your Social Security payments. What the law considers is the extent of your retirement from work. Only earnings from employment or self employment affect your payments and must be reported.

A. My wife and I were retired and getting monthly Social Security payments. My wife, who never worked under Social Security, died last month. My neighbors told me that I should apply for a lump-sum death payment to help with the funeral expenses. Is this correct?

A. No. The death payment is only made when a worker insured under Social Security, dies.
