

Downtown Parking Group Adopts 4-Part Resolution

It appears that Wayne business people and area shoppers will have more parking spaces in the city as a result of the majority vote Monday night favoring a four-part resolution aimed at improving employee and shopper parking.

At the second session of the Wayne downtown parking committee, members told the audience of about 15 persons at the City Auditorium that it had come up with four proposals to improve Wayne's present downtown parking situation.

Don Mangers, spokesman for the six man committee that studied the parking problem, said the group took a survey of 65 downtown business locations between First and Fourth and Main and between Logan and Pearl. The results, it was shown, proved that 50 businessmen felt that Wayne did have a parking problem.

Of the 65, which represented about 90 per cent responding to the questionnaire, nine said the city did not have a parking problem while six were not sure. The survey went on to show that currently Wayne businesses located in the polled area, have a total of 457 employees, of which 277 drive cars to work.

In a further breakdown, the survey pointed out that 158 of those driving used private parking along the street, 119, parked on the street.

In looking at the four part resolution, the group approved the idea of enforcing the two-hour restriction with an eye on trying to get employers to ask their employees to park on vacant side streets, mainly along Fourth Street from Logan to Pearl. As Mayor Kent Hall pointed out, this area is seldom used, so this would be a logical site to have the business people park during work hours.

The second part of the resolution contended upon expanding or widening about 15 different sections of city streets close to the downtown business district to provide diagonal parking.

Larry DeForge, one of the committee men, told the gathering that the estimated cost of such a project would be about $30,000. That figure, he said, would pay for 116 parking spaces.

Post Office Will Observe Holiday

Windows at the Wayne Post Office will be closed Monday, Oct. 9, in observance of Columbus Day.

There will be no mail delivery, but mail will be distributed to post office boxes. Lobby hours will be from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The Wayne County Courthouse offices also will be closed that day. City offices will be conducting business as usual.

Highway Job Begins Oct. 9

The Nebraska Department of Roads announces that guard rail work is scheduled to begin Oct. 9 on Nebraska highways 9 and 35 from Emerson to their junction north of Wakefield, and from Concord 2.3 miles east of State Spur S-26 B.

W. L. Schmidt Company of Potter has the $14,410 contract. The project is financed by the Department of Roads and allocated federal highway funds.

Oct. 28 is the estimated completion date. No detours will be necessary.

T. J. Johnson of Hartington is the project manager.

Mrs. Jim Hummel, Community Chest secretary, hands out cards to board members and guests during the first breakfast of the group Monday morning at Bill's Cafe. The 32 persons present will invite 100 other top donors in later year's drive to an Oct. 9 breakfast at Wayne State College when cards with names of all persons in Wayne will be distributed for solicitation.

Community Chest Receives Pledges

The first phase of the 1972 Community Chest drive was conducted Monday morning at a 7 o'clock breakfast when board of directors members and top donors during the 1971 fund raising campaign made their contributions or signed pledge cards.

Cards containing names of 100 other prospective contributors were distributed among the 32 persons present, who are to make contacts and invite those 100 persons to a second breakfast, next Monday morning at 7, at the Wayne State College Student Center.

The Community Chest drive will be officially opened at the Oct. 9 breakfast, at which time those invited guests will be asked to make their contributions or sign pledge cards. Cards with names of all Wayne residents will be divided at that time.

Community Chest President

Bob Jordan and drive Chairman Lyle Seymour hope that the drive will be completed by each of the solicitors no later than Oct. 23.

The goal for this year's Community Chest drive is the same as last year—$10,000. The '72 theme is "Thanks to You, It's Working."

Nine agencies are benefited from donated funds. The Wayne Recreation Program requests $3,000. Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, $1,500 each; Salvation Army, $1,100; Senior Citizens, $1,000; Red Cross, $900; United Service Organization (USO), $300; and Florence Crittenton Home and Cystic Fibrosis, $100, apiece.

All those depending on local donations for this year's operations were cut to approximately 63 per cent of their requests last year when the amount collected totaled only $6,300.

Seymour, at Monday's breakfast, gave a brief resume of each participating organization and Bob Carhart explained how the fund for money was conducted in the recent successful hospital drive.

Carhart advised the group that probably the most important thing solicitors must do is show enthusiasm, make immediate contact with persons on their lists and have knowledge of all aspects of the drive.

Brochure tips also include (1) knowing the facts on human care services provided by the participating agencies and the positive point of economy, efficiency and greater service to people through the Community Chest way; (2) sign up first before asking anyone else to give or make a pledge; (3) make face-to-face contacts instead of telephone "shortcuts"; (4) ask for a fair share pledge, but never argue, be factual and positive and talk to your prospect in private whenever possible and (5) assure your prospect that his gift indeed counts and is very important.

Big Gift to Hospital Foundation

The Wayne Hospital Foundation received an "early Christmas present" when Mrs. Lee Mendy, who operates the hospital campaign office, opened her mail Monday.

Included in the correspondence was a letter from Hamer Frank Wilson III, executive vice president and chairman and chief executive officer of the direct selling group for Dart Industries, plus a gift of 160 shares of 3M (Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing) stock.

Adon Jeffrey, treasurer for the Wayne Hospital Foundation, said the current value of the 3M stock is $79 per share, or a total value of $12,640.

This represents, slightly over half of the pledges of $25,000 made by Dart Industries, a worldwide corporation with diversified interests.

Wilson, whose offices are at Orlando, Fla., is a former Wayne resident who found out about the drive for a hospital, to be built in Wayne to service this area, quite by accident.

He called his "Aunt Mary," and almost immediately pledged $25,000 from his company.

The Dart Industries executive is a grandson of Hamer Wilson, who was associated with the First National Bank here for 35 years, beginning in 1889, where he worked up to the presidency. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson, farmed near Windsor for many years.

Hamer was graduated from Wayne High School and attended Wayne College, where the institution was a two-year school, working in a Wayne grocery store while receiving his education.

He became associated with Tupperware, a division of Dart Industries, about 10 years later.

"Today, he is a multimillionaire," Mrs. Shults said, while speaking proudly of her "nephew," who actually is a second cousin.

Hamer and his brother, Bob, also have several business interests at Kearney. They are cousins of Bill Mellor of 420 Sherman

Historical Ordinance

The event won't go down into school textbooks, but history of a sort was made at the last meeting of the mayor and City Council when Mayor Kent Hall signed an ordinance to transfer assets from the present Wayne Hospital to the Wayne Hospital Foundation.

Wayne became the first city to take advantage of LB80, a state statute passed by the Nebraska Legislature recently which permits transfer of funds and equipment from city hospitals to a non-profit organization.

The legislative bill was partially through efforts of city representatives who attended several sessions to help push the bill, introduced by Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove.

The transfer, was mandatory before approval of Hill Ordinance. The ordinance will be official after publication in The Herald, but the actual transfer will not be made until the new hospital is completed and occupied and the old hospital vacated.

"Our aim," he said, "is to set

Census Bureau Tab in County Is $83

The U. S. Department of Commerce spent $83 in Wayne County on Census Bureau activities during the year ending June 30, according to Congressman Charles Thone.

Census Bureau costs were only $12 in the preceding year. In the 27 counties of the First Congressional District, the Department of Commerce totaled $626,009, compared to $489,868 a year earlier, Thone said.

Reesman Asks For Rezoning

A public hearing for the rezoning of three lots of property on Seventh and Dearborn tentatively was set for Nov. 6 at the City Auditorium during the meeting of the Planning Commission Monday night.

Budd Bornhof, representing Ward Reesman, requested the hearing for the change in order to build a Derby Filling Station in the area.

In other business, the members voted to take a survey concerning left turns on Main Street.

Vehicles collide on Highway 35

A car, driven by Floanne Hadd, 114 Blaine, and a state truck, driven by Jerry Brand of Dixon, collided five miles east of Wayne on Highway 35 Monday morning at 8:15.

State trooper H. W. Nielsen of Norfolk said both vehicles were eastbound. The Hadd vehicle had pulled into the north lane to pass the state truck, which pulled out to pass a tractor at the same time.

Both vehicles were damaged extensively, but no one was injured.

REAP Plan To Boost Resources

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced a 1973 Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) that will strengthen conservation and diminish air and water pollution.

Through REAP, the federal government shares with farmers the cost (usually on a 50/50 basis) of carrying out needed conservation and environmental protection measures on their farms. Practices emphasized are those which help to provide long-term preservation of the environment.

The initial funding level for 1973 will be $140 million, the same as the initial funding for last year's program. A final decision regarding the program level will not be made until departmental programs are made on overall spending targets.

Farmers will receive federal cost-sharing for these new practices: (1) installation of excess water management systems where they are essential to control air pollution problems. In the past, cost-sharing for pollution abatement was limited to those practices with soil and water conservation benefits.

ASCS County committees will develop their 1973 programs within national program guidelines and will have opportunity to keep some or all of their 1970 county practices as was the case for 1971 and 1972.

The following conservation and environmental protection farmers will receive high-priority during the coming year:

Dixon School History Compiled

By Brenda Gustafson
 (Pictures on Page 10 of this issue)

This time of year Drive Carefully signs, Football Scoreboard, and paid maximum fine and that school is in full swing.

Reminders of school in past years often include students stranded in buildings during blizzards, buildings moved in the night, bees blocking the way to the "little houses on wheels" and the loss of a high school.

A history of Dixon School District 62, written by Mrs. Ronald Ankeny for the Dixon Alumni Association, recalled some of the school memories of Dixon residents.

"At Mrs. Willis Jenkins came to what is now Concord township in 1878. The next 10 years several more families came and occupied the surrounding land," said Mrs. Ankeny.

"Sometime after the settlers came, a school district was formed in 1883, and a school building built on the Jenkins farm. It was located east of his farm buildings and about a half-mile north of the present home of Clarence Nelson.

"The first teacher of this district was Mrs. Clara Dewey. Mr. Jenkins' daughter, Records in Ponca show that in 1884, this district received $27.97 in state apportionment and county taxes and licenses. That year the state allotted $1.10 for each student.

"During the blizzard of January, 1888, the teacher and pupils were stranded in the schoolhouse. Mr. Jenkins took

Comprehensive Health Planning Pushed for Northeast Nebraska

Dave Dorpat, assistant director for community affairs for the Nebraska Division of Comprehensive Health Planning, told Wayne Kiwanians Monday that his goal is to "sell" comprehensive health planning to the northeast Nebraska area, of which Wayne County is included.

"Our aim," he said, "is to set up a health care office by Jan. 1 at Norfolk that would handle Wayne County and many neighboring counties." The cost to the county for the first six months of operation would be $576.96, he said. Many of those neighboring counties have endorsed the plan, Dorpat added.

The advantages of an area office, the speaker pointed out, would be that all policies would be made locally and not dictated from the head office in Lincoln. Also, an area representative could pinpoint more readily the need of the area in the way of health care.

The area encompassing Wayne and stretching north and west to central Nebraska would select an advisory health planning council to help determine those needs in the health care field.

"We are not now meeting those needs," the speaker said bluntly, "and must face up to health problems. We have people who are dying who should not be dying."

The science of medicine has made tremendous strides in the past 50 years, Dorpat admitted, adding that neonatal and infant deaths have been reduced.

Discipline, according to Mrs. Ankeny, so three teachers were hired, one being a man.

"One of the men hired, H. H. Hvilstrand, is remembered for being a big fellow who really kept order. He had the help of a large horse that he frequently used."

"By this time the school had been extended to include 9th and 10th grades. Many of the older residents of our community are graduates from Dixon's 10th grade."

"During those early days each room had a large pot-bellied stove and for a few years, Bill Gillan, who ran the hotel, filled

Murder Charges Are Filed

County Attorney Pat Rogers reported Tuesday that charges of murder in the first degree were filed late Tuesday afternoon against Richard Kruckman of Coleridge.

Kruckman is charged with shooting his wife, 49-year-old Judy Kruckman, at the Coleridge Meat Processing Plant on the night of August 27, 1972.

Mrs. Kruckman was killed by a bullet wound in the side of her head, and her husband called the Coleridge fire number to report the shooting. She was taken by the Coleridge ambulance to the Osmond Hospital, where she was pronounced dead.

Until releasing word of the charges, officials had given no indication whether the death was believed to be accidental, self-inflicted, or murder. Further details are not expected to be released until a trial is held.

Scouts Collect Bags Saturday

The final phase of the annual Mid-America Area Council Boy Scout "Good Turn Day for the Handicapped" will take place this Saturday when area Boy Scouts, along with Scoutmasters Bob Carhart, Ray Replogle and Roger Huges, will gather the bags in Wayne.

The Scouts request that the contributors have their bags and boxes of material out on the front step by 8 a.m. as they will not ring doorbells.

Young GOP Meets

Present at the Young Republicans meeting held Monday evening at the Wayne State campus were Senator Gerald Stramer of Kearney, state president of Young Republicans, and Carolyn Whiteith of Lincoln national committeewoman.

In his address Senator Stramer stressed three main goals for the organization: 1.) to develop leadership; 2.) to provide an education program; and 3.) to create a social atmosphere.

Miss Whiteith's topic was "Becoming Involved," and concentrated on involvement with legislative bills and in community activities.

Club President Joe Shearer added that the local group needs to stir up action on campus, and urged the group to support President Nixon and Carl Curtis in their re-election campaigns.

He announced that canvassing was being continued on campus and absentee ballot information is available from any Young Republican.

Art Exhibition Scheduled

"Dame Folly Speaks," an original xylograph by Fritz Eichenberg, is an example of the type of works to be on display at the art show and sale scheduled for Friday, Oct. 13, at the WSC Fine Arts Center.

Wayne State College will sponsor an exhibition and sale of original graphic art by contemporary and old master artists. Arranged by the Ferdinand and Reichen Galleries, Baltimore, Md., the exhibition will be held Friday, Oct. 13, 1972 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Fine Art Center Gallery.

Included in the exhibition will be over 1,000 original etchings, lithographs, and woodcuts by artists as Picasso, Chagall, Miro, Dalí, Goya, Renoir, Kollwitz, and many others, including contemporary American, European and Japanese printmakers. Prices start at $5.00 with the majority priced under $100.00.

A well-qualified representative of the Rolen Galleries will be present at the exhibition to answer questions regarding graphic art and printmaking.

Next Dance Open To Area Seniors

For their next old fashioned dance and sing-a-long, members of the Wayne Senior Citizen Center have decided to reserve the city auditorium and extend invitations to all senior citizens in Northeast Nebraska, including Fremont, Lincoln and Wahoo. The date will be announced later.

Twenty seven attended the session held this past week. Amelia Bahe at the piano and Glen Sumner on the harp provided music and refreshments were served by Goldie Barney, Emma Soules, Lottie Longneck and Lillie Zapp.

Center members plan to display articles for sale at the Lions Club flea market to be held this weekend at the city auditorium.

Evangelist Will Speak at Concord

The Rev. Royall Lindquist, evangelist with the Lindquist Brothers gospel team, will give his personal testimony, entitled "Forty-eight Hours to Live," at the Concord Auditorium Saturday at 9 p.m.

Rev. Lindquist, at age 10, was stricken with bulbar polio and was given no hope to live. He says God performed a miracle by saving his life in answer to his parents' prayers and great faith.

The musical portion of the program will be furnished by the Lindquist Brothers, a musical team that has traveled from coast to coast and abroad, conducting gospel crusades in hundreds of churches which involve many different denominations. Their varied program includes gospel songs, both old and new.

Dry your clothes
don't cook them

All Maytag Dryers are Maytag Halo-of-Heat® Dryers. That trademark identifies Maytag dryers only. The dryers with the gentle warming circle that keeps every Maytag dryer running with a bare minimum of heat. Your clothes never get so hot that you can't touch them. They never get baked or overdried. Not unless you guess the timing wrong.

But that gentle circle of heat in a Maytag Halo-of-Heat dryer doesn't work alone. Air, not heat, is the biggest thing about drying. The flow of the air is what makes the difference between spotty drying and all-over drying. And direct air flow is the big thing about all Maytag dryers. The air flowing through the drum works like a team with the circle of heat.

It's the air that's warmed, not the clothes. It's the warmed air that dries. Poor circulation breeds poor drying. Maytag circulation means even your cabinet is insulated by air itself. Cool air coming in cools the cabinet. And warm air going through means no hot spots—inside or out.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION Notes

It's here at last—a new care labeling rule, effective July 3, 1972, requires that wearing apparel and piece goods manufactured after July 3 have a permanent label listing recommended care instructions. These instructions will be woven or printed on cloth which must not unravel during laundering or dry cleaning and must remain attached to the garment and legible for the average life of the garment.

Labels will be attached in the back neckline or at the center back waistline of garments. On packaged or folded merchandise the label must be visible, or the identical information on the label must appear on the outside of the package.

Piece goods intended for garment construction must also be accompanied by a label or tag which clearly states care instructions as recommended by the manufacturer. This label should be attached to the garment after construction is completed.

Permanent labels are a form of insurance so the consumer will get greater satisfaction from her purchase. The consumer must assume her responsibility by looking for the new labels, asking for them if they are not present on merchandise, and following care instructions as stated on the labels. If care instructions are followed and the garment or fabric does not meet expectations the consumer should exercise her right to complain.

Wayne, Nebr. 216 Main Street

Wakefield's Bob Twile tries an end sweep, but Allen players Jim Koester (89), along with two unidentified Eagle players made the stop. The Trojans went on to win the contest, 31-0.

Gardner's 3 TDs Crush Allen, 31-0

The Wakefield football fans who migrated to Allen Tuesday night expected their team to give a 100 per cent effort. But Coach John Torczon's Trojan club didn't accomplish that figure.

Instead the bullish visiting offense crushed Allen with a 200 per cent effort, 31-0, at Allen. Wakefield Fullback Kirk Gardner hauled the ball for 103 yards, almost half of the Trojan's 207 total yards during the game, and scored three Wakefield TD's.

Senior Craig Blohm recovered an onside kick in the opening play of the game. The Allen club then took over on the 45-yard line.

But the Eagle 11 soon found out that Wakefield's defense, which gave up a total of 96 yards — six in the second half — wasn't about to be pushed around. On fourth and three the Allen team got off a bad kick but a lucky bounce placed the ball at Wakefield's 31-yard line. The home team kept the opposition from scoring on its initial drive, and forced Wakefield to punt. Gardner, who also had a strong night in kicking, booted one of two kicks over the 50 yard measure to put Allen on its 20 yard line.

Three plays later Wakefield snaggged Eagle Quarterback Scott Von Minden's second aerial attempt to set up the Trojans first TD. Five plays and 38 yards later Signal Caller Bob Twile plunged over from the one yard line to make the score 6-0. Twile, who also kicks the point after, put this one through the posts for a 7-0 lead with a 09 left in the first quarter. Both ball clubs continued to play about even ball throughout the first half, with Wakefield grounding out the majority of its 118 yards while Von Minden also favored the ground game, gaining 57 on the turf out of the team's half-time total of 99 yards.

While the spectators saw the teams remain about equal in the total yardage mark, Wakefield managed to score on another six points after Sam Utecht recovered a fumble on Allen's 29-yard line.

Area Teams on Winning Road As Mid-Season Approaches

If you ask Laurel Head Coach Bob Olson what he thinks about his offensive club, he might tell you that they are slow in getting started, but they are effective.

The Bears, with a 3-1 record, currently are all alone in third place in the Northeast Nebraska Conference behind Pierce and Creighton, who have 3-0 and 2-0 conference marks.

Pierce, continuing its bid for the little-wiped out Bloomfield, 40-6, while Creighton ended Randolph's 12-game winning streak, 28-19.

The interesting thing to note about Randolph and Creighton is that neither team, despite their records, cat with the NE Nebraska crown should the chance prevail to take the conference. According to Doug Christensen, Bloomfield, secretary of the conference, both teams are ineligible since neither plays all of the conference clubs. Both joined this year and were not able to arrange their schedules to include the area teams.

Tuesday night's loss to Wakefield. Allen's Scott Von Minden, who still leads the Lewis and Clark Conference in last week's passing department stats, will have two top receivers in Craig Blohm and Charlie Peters. Both boys rank 10th and 11th respectively in the individual receiving lineup in the conference. Allen, offensively in team passing holds down the number two spot.

Wakefield at Tekamah — Things keep rolling along for the Trojans as Coach John Torczon pushes Wayne for Jitter contention.

Wayne Takes on Chadron Saturday After Controversial 9-7 Decision

Wayne State's football Wildcats will plunge into Nebraska College Conference lay Saturday afternoon, 2 p.m., at Chadron, but the winless Cats will be underdogs as they strive to defend their 1971 conference championship.

Wayne lost a controversial 9-7 decision to Midland Saturday at Fremont while Chadron State continued at ancient frustration by losing to NCC foe Kearney State, 20-9. The Eagles last defeated Kearney in 1948. Chadron had Kearney down 9-0 with only 10 net yards gained until the Antelopes scored two quick touchdowns late in the second quarter. Even at game's end the Eagles had outgained and outdowned the visiting Antelopes.

Wayne coaches and players contended that Ridley actually moved a yard or two away from the goal line before he was tackled and pushed back into the end zone. After viewing game movies, coaches declared this was true and that Wayne should have had a touchback at the 20-yard line. Instead, Wayne had to kick off at the 10 — instead of the 20 because of a penalty. Another penalty of 15 yards after the ensuing kickoff return gave Midland possession on the Wayne 32. A pass from Mike Pirtle to Bill Porter scored on the next play, and an extra point kick made the score 9-0.

Wayne reached the goal line early in the fourth period on an eight-yard run by tailback Reggie Smith. Dan Ernst made it 9-7. Three more times the fired-up Wayne coaches and players contended that Ridley actually moved a yard or two away from the goal line before he was tackled and pushed back into the end zone. After viewing game movies, coaches declared this was true and that Wayne should have had a touchback at the 20-yard line.

Randolph Win Skein Is Broken

The Creighton Bulldogs proved their bite was worse than their bark Friday night at Randolph as the visitors snapped the Cardinals' 12-game winning streak, 28-19.

The home-town Cardinals were forced to play catch up ball during the entire contest as Creighton scored first on a 27-yard aerial by Quarterback Mike Hopkins to Dan Peters with 9:09 left in the first stanza. After the PAT by Greg Timmerman, the visitors led, 7-0.

But four minutes later the Randolph 11 struck back to knot the game on a two yard plunge by Wes Beltz. Dave Leiting put the ball through the uprights for a 7-7 ball game.

At this point the Randolph club fell behind, failing to convert on two extra points after touchdowns in the second and third quarters to put the margin at 21-19.

With five seconds left in the ball game, the Bulldogs iced the contest on an off tackle play for a half yard and six points. Adam Timmerman, who went four for four, kicked the ball for the final point.

Wayne should pull through, though and take win number five. Coach Al Hansen's defensive crew should get a test from Plainview's running back, Ken Randy Bohi and Rich Bivens. Both men, along with quick thinking Quarterback Kevin Roach, who stands 6-3, will offer the Blue Devils competition.

In other area games, Ponca will again be on the road, this time traveling to Winside. The Wildcats, fresh off a squeaker over Wausa, 7-0, may have to load their defense full of shotgun formation. In case Coach Doug Emery doesn't have much about Ponca, Bob Curry and Craig Jones like to run around the ends when the team expects an off tackle play. Let's leave it up to the Wildcats to plan their own offensive and defensive strategy to meet the Indians.

At Newcastle, look for the Eagles to bounce back after Junior High Team Hits Wisner, 38-0.

The Wayne Junior Hi team won its second game of the season, against no defeats, pounding Wisner, 38-0. Tuesday night at the Wayne city ball park.

The locals jumped off to a 16-0 first quarter lead on 22 and 25 yard scampers by Mike Wiesler and Mark Brandt. Before the half Brandt intercepted a Wisner aerial and raced 55 yards for a half-time score of 22-0.

The third quarter saw two more Wayne TD's come on Steve Brandt's 75-yard dash and Quarterback Ralph Atkins' one-yard sneak over the middle for the final score.

Offensively, Coach Hank Overin said, Bill Marr, Tim Bebee, Tim Kall, Norman Brown, Mark Poehlman, Marc Lawrence, Wiesler, Brandt and Atkins played a good game.

Defensively, he tagged Joe Kenney, Rick Straight, Bryan Ruwe, Brian Helthold, Wiesler and Brandt.

Next Tuesday Wayne will face Laurel in a game at the city ball park.

Green Team Beats White Club, 12-0

The Green team in the City Recreation League topped the Whites Tuesday night on a 12-point, fourth quarter spree.

Steve Bostenfeld ran in for the team's first score early in the fourth, two plays after Doug Bedell blocked the Whites' punt. Quarterback Vic Sharpe then handed off to Bostenfeld for the 60 yard, PAT failed.

Late in the final stanza, Sharpe intercepted a White pass and ran 45 yards for the game's last TD.

Next Tuesday at 8 p.m. the White team will take on the Orange squad at the city ball park.

USD Pups Squash Wayne JV's

Wayne State's junior varsity football team can explain approximately how Minnesota felt after running into Nebraska.

The Wayne Jayvees ran into the University of South Dakota Coyote Pups Monday evening and went home licking a 50-6 wound.

Badly outnumbered in both height and weight, Wayne came out of the first half with a 22-6 deficit and looked strong in the latter minutes when they mounted their one scoring drive of 54 yards.

Brian Moeller, freshman from Scribner, punched over the touchdown by literally climbing over a three-yard pile of linemen.

Earlier the USD Pups had scored on two long campaigns and an interception return of 40 yards, plus two conversion kicks, and a safety caused when a wild center pass to the Wayne punter sailed through the end zone.

Three more touchdowns and three conversions went on the USD scoreboard in the third quarter, one of the TD's on an 82-yard sprint by Steve Chase, at 5:9 one of the few Pups under six feet.

Wayne defense in the fourth period stymied USD, but a deflected Wayne pass fell as a fumble, and the Keith Pfeiffer set up the ball for a 42-yard touchdown jaunt. It was he who scored on the first-quarter interception.

The young Wildcats put together 114 yards of rushing, but eluded PUP pass defense only four times, for 39 yards. USD rushed 260 yards and passed for 100.

The loss left Wayne with a 1-1 record and one game to play here against Yankton College Jayvees Oct. 23 at 7:30 p.m.

Essay Contest On Hunting

View of grade and high school students on hunting and its place in wildlife management will have a forum soon in an essay contest held in conjunction with the first Grand National Mixed Bag Hunt at Silver Creek.

Contestants are asked to take either side of the question—"Hunting—is it a useful wildlife management tool?" Competition will be split into two age groups, and a trophy will be awarded to the writer of the best essay on each side of the question in each of the two divisions.

Essays should be typed or neatly handwritten on one side of each sheet of paper, and the authors' names, grade, school, and home address must appear on each page. Entries will be judged on the basis of appropriate subject matter, creativity, accuracy, and neatness. Plagiarism will mean automatic disqualification.

Contestants in grades three through eight should make their points in 250 words or less, and writers in grades nine through 12 may use up to 500 words. The essays must be delivered by Oct. 25 to Dr. Bruce Cowgill, Grand National Mixed Bag Chairman, Silver Creek.

Awards will be presented at a banquet on Nov. 4, following a two-day schedule of hunting, conservation, demonstration, muzzle-loader target shooting, and other outdoor entertainment.

Entries should be sent to the following address: Essay Contest, P.O. Box 100, Silver Creek, Neb. 68468.

Spawning Countdown

Western Nebraska fishermen have begun their countdown for trout, for the spawning run of rainbows from McConaughy Reservoir, up the North Platte River, and into its tributaries is underway. Nine Mile Creek, west of Bayard, is the state's main spawning stream, followed by Red Willow Creek. Spawners, though, show up in most of the Platte's tributaries.

The run started in late September, and by the time the spawners head back for Big Mam, probably around December, many lunkers will have hit the dust.

The State's fish-trap on the North Platte River, just above McConaughy, was slated to begin operation this week. Here, three electrical suspensions block the three channels of the river, and an opening on the south bank guides the fish into the trap.

Vital information is gathered on numbers, size, weight and age, the latter through scale samples. All fish are returned unharmed to the river to continue their spawning run upstream.

With the exception of an occasional carp, only rainbows are caught in the trap in the fall. About two years ago, though, a mysterious drum appeared. Where the drum came from is unknown, for there are no drum in McConaughy nor are there any plans to start them there.

The trap will probably operate 24 hours around the clock until the first week of November.

No Water, No Ducks
Duck season starts one-half hour before sunrise Saturday, Oct. 7, but the scarcity of water offers not too much optimism for a good season. Starting times: Omaha—6:56 a.m.; Lincoln—6:59 a.m.; Norfolk—7:03 a.m.; Grand Island—7:01 a.m.; North Platte—7:15 a.m.; Valentine—7:16 a.m.; Scottsbluff—6:27 a.m. Scottsbluff is Mountain Time and all others, Central Time. Hunting ends daily at sunset.

Remember, the season is closed on canvasbacks and redheads. Point values are: 90 points—hen mallard, wood duck, hooded merganser, New Mexican duck; 20 points—drake mallard, hen pintail, ring-necked duck; mottled duck; black duck; 10 points—all other species and sexes of ducks and mergansers.

Geese
Word from Kinderley, Saskatchewan, a major staging area for whitefronts, snows, Canadas, and Ross geese, is that there has been no detectable movement south. The Game Commission's Nick Lyman, here to band whitefront geese in cooperation with the Saskatchewan and Canadian wildlife services, reported that while it has been snowing there for the last 10 days to two weeks, and most of the shallow marshes, have skim ice, there is still ample open water in the larger, deeper lakes to hold the geese.

Usually, the geese begin moving out in the first week of October and are gone by freeze-up later in the month. The whitefronts and Canadas at Kinderley come our way but the snows head for the Pacific Flyway.

To Spot Coyotes
A first for Don Kindschey, RFD, Wisner, Don received coyote spotting permit No. 001 from the Game and Parks Commission "to use an aircraft for the purpose of spotting coyotes for directing hunting as a means of control."

To date 33 of these permits have been issued. This is the first year that both coyote spotting permits and coyote shooting permits are required. Each costs five dollars.

State Law Outlaws Shooting Of Canvasbacks and Redheads

Hunters will take to the state's marshes and lakes on Oct. 7, ready for the opener of Nebraska's duck season one-half hour before sun-up.

The state's waterfowlers will again be on the 100-point bag limit system, but there will be one important change over past seasons: Two species of ducks will have a closed season. Canvasbacks and redheads are completely protected this year, so gunners must be sure of their target before raising a scattergun.

Last year, canvasbacks and redheads carried a 100-point tag and when one was taken this automatically meant an end to the day's hunting. This year, shooting one of these ducks will constitute a violation of both state and federal regulations.

Most old-time waterfowlers have little trouble picking out canvasbacks and redheads, or the 90-point birds like the hen mallard, wood duck, and hooded merganser. But, the average hunter and the beginner need a few pointers before going out. A good start would be a look at the Game and Parks Commission's pamphlet, "Duck Identification Guide for Hunters."

Ducks fall into two basic categories, puddlers and divers, and each group has fairly distinctive characteristics. Since canvasbacks and redheads are protected, it is important to know the difference. See STATE LAW, page 10.

Reserves Tie, 6-6

The Reserve defense preserved Wayne's undefeated mark Monday, limiting the Wisner squad to six points while scoring the team's only touchdown for a 6-6 tie.

Wayne's Jack Froehlich put his team on the scoreboard when he pounced on a Wisner miscue in the third quarter. The 130-pound sophomore recovered the visitors' high snap from center in the end zone after Wisner got off the bad center while on its 10-yard line. The two-point attempt failed.

Wisner tied the game at six all in the fourth on a 10-yard TD aerial from Quarterback Kane to End Kent Meyer. Again the conversion failed.

Wayne Reserve Coach Don Carnes said his team, which sports a 2-0-2 record, displayed a good defense with Froehlich, Dave Sherry, Kim Baker and Bill Schwartz leading the unit. Both Baker and Schwartz led the team in tackles with Baker making 10 and Schwartz getting seven.

Offensively, Wayne had a very poor showing, the headliner added. "The team wasn't fired up," he said.

Monday night the reserves will take on West Point Central Catholic at home in a 4 p.m. game.

Snag-Fishermen: Lookout For Paddlefish in Missouri

Snag-fishermen went into action in the Missouri River recently, and some of them may have already taken paddlefish wearing numbered metal tags in their lower lips.

The tags are part of a cooperative effort by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission and the South Dakota Department of Game, Fish and Parks to gather data about the "spoon-bill" fish in managing this unique species.

However, success of the study hinges on the cooperation of sportsmen, according to fisheries biologists. Snaggers taking one of these fish, are asked to submit the tag or its number to an area conservation officer, along with the date and location the fish was taken.

The paddlefish is one of the most interesting species inhabiting Nebraska waters. It can be a real heavyweight, weighing up to 150 pounds reported in some waters. Nebraska's state record tops 85 pounds.

Its name comes from the elongated snout or rostrum, which may comprise as much as one-third of its length. Other characteristics include a large pointed gill covers, a shark-like body, and the absence of scales except for a few on the tail.

Winside Girls Post 3 Wins

The Winside girls' volleyball team won a three-team tournament at Osmond Tuesday night after the varsity took a three-set victory at Wakefield Monday evening, boosting Don Leighton's club to a 3-1 mark in the Lewis and Clark Conference and 8-3 overall.

Winside dropped the first set to Osmond, 15-7, but came back strong in the second and third for 15-10 and 15-8 triumphs. Then Winside capped two straight, 15-8 and 15-12, over Wausa.

PARKING

seemed to leave the problem up to the businessmen to pay for the proposed parking change.

Twenty-five felt that the district (separate business district) should pay for a section of the parking change. Thirteen noted that perhaps the city should pay while three likes the idea of the city and districts combining to foot the bill. Twelve were not sure.

In backing Mayor Hall's proposal that employers get their workers to use available spaces, Adon Jeffrey said the members should first seek to get the available spaces filled first, then go to the City Council for additional spaces if needed.

Mangers added that this week letters were sent to employers, asking them and their employees to park in the empty stalls.

With that point, Mangers, along with Ted Bahe, who made the motion for the resolution, Dr. J.J. Liska, who seconded, and the majority of the audience, voted in favor of the resolution.

The other two parts of the proposal included discussions with the Presbyterian Church, 216 W. Third, and St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 421 Pearl, for the use of present parking facilities. Also to put out a joint effort by the City of Wayne and the Wayne Chamber of Commerce to promote the City of Wayne.

Business Note

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Doescher, owners of Doescher's Appliance in Wayne, have been informed by Westinghouse that they have won a 10-day trip to Honolulu, Hawaii, for sales in the period from Jan. 1 through Aug. 30. They will leave Friday, Oct. 13.

Boat Motor Is Stolen

A 10-horse boat motor, valued at $200, was taken off a boat belonging to Ken Dahl, 806 Lincoln, some time last Thursday or Friday.

Heavy damage was reported in a two-car accident at Fourth and Douglas Monday, at 3:10 p.m. Sharon Fritz of 622 Westwood Road was eastbound on Fourth and Nancy Niemann, 320 W. Fifth, was northbound on Douglas when the two collided.

There was $1,015 damage to the front end of the Niemann vehicle.

Dennis Davis of Des Moines, Ia., was charged with hit and run in connection with an accident Friday night. Davis, who said he apparently blacked out, hit a utility pole south of the administration building at Wayne State College and left the scene. A light globe on the pole was broken and Davis' car was damaged on its left side.

Mrs. Kermit Andrews of Blair reported that a radio antenna was snapped off her car while in was parked at Villa Wayne. The vandalism was reported Tuesday afternoon.

greatly and all but freed early-day parents from the threat of tragedy by varied diseases to newborn, "but a recent study found that the health care field is not well-planned, not well-coordinated."

"He hastened to point out that no blame can be attached to medical facilities or qualified doctors. Also, money has been made available for research and improvements.

Thirteen counties in the state are now without physicians. "A Comprehensive Health Planning program conceivably could help to remedy that problem," Dorpat concluded.

"But," Dorpat emphasized, "money alone cannot do the job unless there is the right type of coordinator," adding that the government has contributed a great deal to the problem with its duplication of efforts.

"In the free market," he said, "the more engaged in any field drives prices down, but duplication in the health care field drives those prices up."

Currently, he claimed, it costs $40,000 per bed to construct health care facilities—and $20,000 per bed per year to maintain them.

Coaches' Day Proclaimed by Nixon

Wayne High School coaches are taking a front seat in the sports news this week, along with other area and state head mentors as President Richard Nixon proclaims this Friday as National Coaches Day.

Nebraska Coaches Association President Rod Felix of Seward said the proclamation is particularly noteworthy in that it is the first time that a day honoring the nation's coaches has been set aside by the President of the United States.

Athletic Director Harold Maciejewski is one of those coaches who will be honored by the school staff with his 25 years of coaching, 20 years at Wayne High.

Maciejewski was the head coach in all sports from 1953-1962. He started his present position the same year.

During that span the Wayne A.D. coached six basketball teams to Husker Conference championships and took the conference title in football in 1958. He has had nine district championships to his credit and one state championship—in Class B basketball in 1956.

Maciejewski received the 25-year Nebraska Coaches Award this year as a memento to his long career.

Before going into coaching, Maciejewski attended Henderson State College in Arkadelphia, Ark., where he was graduated in 1942. After graduation he attended the University of Indiana and Greeley State.

Football Coach Al Hansen is in his seventh year as head track and football head mentor.

From 1954 to the present, Coach Hansen's teams have won six Conference titles, four at Wayne High. The last one was the 1972 honors for his undefeated football season and the conference crown.

During the summer of this year, Hansen was selected as one of the North Shrine coaches

Coach Hansen, while teaching at Home, picked up two basketball district championships and two track district championships while at Wakefield.

Hansen is a graduate of Wayne State College.

Don Koenig, wrestling coach the past six years and assistant football coach for five years, also is a graduate of Wayne State. His grapplers have won four conference championships. All but one of Koenig's seven years in coaching have been at Wayne High.

Don Johnson, former Blue Devil basketball coach, has been a freshman football mentor for eight years. Including four years of coaching other than here, he has been at the helm of two conference champions, in 1962 and 1963. Johnson received his BA from Chadron State and graduate from Wayne College.

Darrel Heier received all of his higher education at Wayne State and came to Wayne High two years ago after graduation, where he had been assistant in wrestling and track.

William Sharpe, new basketball coach at Wayne, has had 12 years of coaching experience and his teams won conference and district championships in 1970 and 1971 since his graduation from Colorado State College at Greeley. He received his graduate degree from Adams State, Colo., College.

Ron Carnes has been freshman football, freshman basketball and assistant in both football and basketball the past four years. Following graduation from Peru State College and after receiving his graduate degree from Colorado State University, he coached two years before coming to Wayne.

Mike Mallette received his BA and graduate degrees from Wayne State College coaching at other schools for eight years before coming to Wayne as basketball coach eight years ago and has coached four district champions (1968-1971) and two state championship teams, in 1968 and 1970.

Duane Blomenkamp also is a Wayne State alumnus, but received his graduate degree from the University of South Dakota. He coaches elsewhere for three years before taking the post of freshman assistant football coach and fresh basketball coach last year.

STATE LAW —

both divers, the novice water fowler will have half of the battle won when he learns to differentiate between the two classes.

Flight patterns can generally tell a hunter whether the birds are divers or puddlers long before they approach scattering range. Birds flying in a well-coordinated flock, turning in unison and flying rather low and in a straight line are generally divers. Another diver trait is a fast wingbeat and a very audible whistling sound made by the wings.

Puddle ducks, on the other hand, travel in less compact flocks, and use a slower, less urgent wingbeat. They approach an area flying quite high and circle a bit before coming in, in contrast to the divers' low, direct approach.

Birds that decoy too readily should be eyeballed closely.

Redheads are notoriously easy to fool with a few imitations, and canvasbacks are also quite susceptible to the counterfeits. And, anytime a gunner spots a hint of red on a bird's head or neck, he should hold his fire. The red is a distinguishing mark on drakes of both species, and if one bird in the bunch is a protected bird, chances are good that others are the same species.

A hunter also has a head start on duck identification if he considers the area he is hunting. On or near a deep open water lake or reservoir, he is in diver territory and should assume that a canvasback or redhead could show up at any time. Chances of running across one of the protected birds are much smaller on marshes, creeks, and small ponds, which are the preferred haunts of puddle ducks.

But even there, the water fowler should have his guard up. A jumpshooter who watches a duck rise straight off the water is looking at a puddle duck, all of which are legal game. But, if the spooked bird must taxi along the water before becoming airborne, it is a diver and rates a closer look.

Restraint is the best strategy for the waterfowler uncertain of his duck identification prowess. The burden of responsibility for identifying the duck rests with the hunter. If you are not sure, don't shoot, say Game and Parks Commission biologists. This is especially true during and one-half hour before sunrise period when light conditions are non-toe good.

They point out that there is a long season ahead; plenty of time to carefully select and down a fair share of legal birds. And, the novice who does a bit less shooting and a little more observing early in the season will be well on his way to becoming a better hunter by the end of the season.

Nebraska's duck season will continue through Dec. 15 in the eastern part of the state and through Jan. 2 in the west. Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Utilities Rights Of Way Discussed

The Wayne County Commissioners met with Cal Comstock, Wayne County Public Power District, and Ken Olds, attorney representing the company, to discuss utility rights of way during the county Tuesday afternoon during the commissioner's regular session.

In other business, T.P. Roberts, Wayne County Civil Defense director, also met with the members in a short session.

Wildcats launched attacks. The first ended on an interception. The other two fell short on missed field goals by Ernst. The second field goal attempt from the 37 with seconds left to play went far enough but missed the goal post by inches. It would have won the game.

Smith dominated Wayne's offense with a 127 yard rushing effort on 25 carries.

Ridley, far from being the game's goal because of the interception dispute, stopped at least two Midland scores when he caught Midland runners from behind.

Law on Rural Development Meeting's Aim

Four meetings to explain the new rural development law will be held in Nebraska's First Congressional District by Representative Charles Thone on Monday, Oct. 16.
The man in charge of the law's administration, William Erwin, Deputy Under Secretary of Agriculture for Rural Development, will accompany Thone to all the meetings.
The meetings locations and times are: South Sioux City, American Legion Hall, Ninth Street just east of Dakota Avenue, 8 a.m.; Wahoo, John F. Kennedy College auditorium on U.S. 77, 10:30 a.m.; Crete, second floor assembly room, City Hall, 739 East 13th, 1 p.m.; and Nebraska City, Pioneer Theatre, 110 South 11th, 3:15 p.m.
"The primary purpose of this law is to stem the tide or migration from rural areas to the over crowded metropolitan centers. The law seeks to do this by helping cities of under 10,000 and rural counties to attract industry and to provide better local government services. A second purpose of this law is to help farmers in the fields of conservation, erosion and antipollution installations," Thone said.

Women Voters Face the Issues

If women had voted in force in 1968, President Hubert Humpfrey might well be sitting in the White House today.

One can only speculate on the course history might have taken had the elections turned out differently four years ago, but there is no reason to speculate about the power women voters can exert. Right now, women make up 51 per cent of America's potential voting population.

Because of this startling and significant statistic, Louis Harris and Associates conducted an opinion poll to find out how women feel about the significant issues facing them as voters.

Here are some of the findings: The Dominant Issues: Women in general, according to the Poll, are more concerned about the war in Vietnam and drug abuse than are men. The younger women interviewed tend to be more troubled by the way the economy, racial problems, the environment and poverty than their elders, who are disturbed more by drugs, crime, unemployment and taxes. Not surprisingly, black women place a high priority on the issues of poverty, unemployment, education and housing.

The Drug Problem: Of those women interviewed, two out of three feel that regular users of soft drugs, like marijuana, should be given medical and mental treatment, rather than "stiff prison terms." One in six women, however, advocate "stiff prison terms" for users of hard drugs, "like heroin and speed." Overall, less women than men recommend imprisonment for drug users.

Crime in The Streets: Women (64 per cent) of those interviewed feel "more afraid and uneasy on the streets today" than a year ago. And while 45 per cent of the female respondents report the presence of guns in their homes, 80 per cent favor strict gun control.

The Pollution Problem: Women, by a wide margin of 9 to 1, feel that air and water pollution has gotten worse in the past few years. Nearly two-thirds of the women polled say they would be willing to pay $300 more for a car "to eliminate health risks from smog and pollution," while the majority of women questioned also said they would be willing to pay 10 per cent more for electricity to eliminate environmental health hazards caused by generating plants.

Recession, Inflation and Taxes: Three out of five women, the Poll discovered, feel the country is "in a recession" and nearly three out of four believe that taxes are "unreasonable." So much so, that three out of five women say they "have reached the breaking point on the amount of taxes they pay."

Further, most women "flew these very taxes as a major cause of inflation. Government Spending, While majorities of women favor more government spending on pollution controls and education; they would like to see less spent on foreign aid, the space program and Vietnam. Interestingly, nearly half of the women approve of increased government funds to help the cities, but most are not willing to pay higher taxes to achieve this. And though most women support cuts in defense spending, they don't want it done at the expense of placing the U. S. in a "second position behind the Soviet Union."

For centuries, sugar remained a luxury of royalty and the rich.

WHS Tests Planned

Freshmen and juniors at Wayne Carroll High School will be involved in tests several days this month, according to Guidance Counselor Ken Carlson.

Tuesday, Oct. 10, freshmen will be given the Iowa Test of Educational Development as well as the Primary Mental Abilities Test. All freshmen students are to report to the lecture hall at 8:50 for the all-day session, and will be dismissed at 3:30 p.m.

Juniors are to be given the Iowa Test of Educational Development Thursday, Oct. 12, during periods one through five. They are to report at 8:50 a.m. to the lecture hall and will be dismissed at 2:00 p.m., when they are to go the period six classes.

Selected juniors will be taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test on the lecture hall during period one and two on Tuesday, Oct. 24.

The PSA-NMT is a two-hour version of the three-hour Scholastic Aptitude Test required by many colleges and universities for entrance, and, like the SAT, is taken by high school seniors who plan to enroll in a college or university, indicates to the student his ability to do college work.

In addition, the PSA-NMT scores, if high enough, are entered in the National Merit Scholarship contest, giving the students opportunity to compete for college scholarships.

A $2.50 fee is charged for the PSA-NMT, which covers the cost of scoring test results. Checks should be made payable to PSA-NMT.

Beat the First Frost

Save yourself many uneasy moments and a lot of last minute operations—start to prepare your garden areas before the first frost warning. Bulbs that are tender (dahlia, gladiolus, canna and tuberous begonia) should be lifted and stored before the first killing frost.

House plants that have been enjoying the outdoors should be taken into the house before even a light frost. Most house plants which were placed directly into the soil last spring will need to be cut back when needed. Check yearly on houseplants thoroughly for insect problems before bringing them inside. If there is any doubt about the presence of insects, spray the houseplants before bringing the plants inside.

Harvest tender vegetables (squash, pumpkin, etc.) before frost. Vegetables, such as tomatoes, which will ripen after harvest should be picked before the first frost. Herbs for your culinary artistry and flowers for drying should also be harvested before the first frost.

If your garden has a number of items to be tended before the first frost—why not start before the first frost warning?

Winside Elects Class Officers

Winside High School recently held its election of class officers with Senior Pat Danberg elected as president. Other senior officers elected were Edna Lienenmann, vice-president; Scott Jackson, secretary; and Dave Jaeger, treasurer.

'Digging in' to Push Potatoes

The wholesome, flavorful "Irish" potato, which originally graced the tables of Inca royalty in pre-Columbian South America and became a staple of European farmers, is about to get a big boost in the American marketplace.

This nutrition-packed vegetable has been having its marketing problems recently. Mr. and Mrs. Consumer have partly turned from potatoes to newer foods in a misguided effort to shorten their bellies. All foods, from time to time, suffer from such misconceptions. The truth is potatoes contain fewer calories per serving than many of the currently popular diet foods.

To promote the nutritional advantages of potatoes, effective Sept. 15, U. S. Department of Agriculture approved rules and regulations for implementing the National Potato Research and Promotion Plan. The plan was authorized by the Potato Research and Promotion Act, passed by the Congress and signed by the president Jan. 11, 1971. It is a program which originated with those most affected—and which was approved by a majority of growers—and which was approved by a majority of growers who voted in a national referendum.

The plan creates a National Potato Promotion Board made up of 86 growers from all 48 contiguous states. The Board is charged with creating and operating a "continuous coordinated program of marketing research, development, advertising and promotion to help maintain and expand domestic and foreign markets for potatoes and to develop new or improved markets." The newly-elected Potato Board will work to see that the nutrition story of Irish potatoes is told to the nation's consumers via all the means of modern communications—television, radio, newspaper food sections and supermarket produce, frozen foods and grocery departments. The Board will work with shippers and handlers to help see that potatoes come to market in the most attractive condition. And the Board will work with foreign governments to see that American Irish potatoes are given an export position equal to or better than American poultry or American wheat.

All this means bigger and better markets for American potato growers. Funds for the program will be provided by an assessment of one cent per hundred weight on all potatoes handled for ultimate consumption as human food and seed (potatoes used for non-human food purposes such as starch are exempt from assessment, as are potatoes grown by producers of less than five acres). Federal law requires the assessment be paid by the designated handler, which is, in most cases, the first handler—the person who first places potatoes in the channels of commerce—even though the handler in turn may assess the grower.

In line with American traditions, the potato program is a case of "self help." The growers who stand to benefit from expanded markets are asked to help get things underway.

Full program details and report forms are available from the National Potato Promotion Board, 1313 Tremont Place, Suite 8, Denver, Colo. 80204.

22 Million Cats in the U. S.

There are 22 million family-owned cats in the United States, according to the Pet Food Institute, and most likely all their owners would agree with Mark Twain, who wrote:

"A home without a cat—a well-fed, well-petted and properly revered cat—may be a perfect home, perhaps, but how can it prove its title?"

As pets, cats are delightful creatures, well-mannered, independent; they possess beauty, grace and noble dignity.

Though easily trained and cared for, cats are discriminating eaters. They prefer day-to-day variety, and at room temperature, please.

Feeding Their Majesties
Fortunately, catering to their gourmet tastes is both easy and economical today. There is a wide selection of good commercial cat foods on the market. Scientifically formulated, these are superior to a table-scraps diet of uncertain nutritional value. Some commercial foods combine the desired high protein content with all the essential vitamins and minerals your cat is known to need for daily maintenance.

Some others, however, do not; these foods are best used for occasional feeding or for mixing with the maintenance type food.

But you don't have to guess which is which. Just take a moment to check the labels when you're shopping. A complete list of ingredients and guaranteed analysis appear for your information and assurance.

Normally healthy and self-sufficient, cats will stay well under conditions unsatisfactory for dogs. However, certain vaccinations are necessary along with the veterinarian's periodic checkup.

Did You Know?
—That a cat catches a mouse hiding in the darkness because the mouse emits infra-red rays, guiding the cat's thermal sensitivity as the warmth of the sun's rays guides a blind man.
—That a cat walks or runs by moving the front and back legs on one side, then those on the other. The only other animals that move like this are the camel and giraffe.
Remember, your pet's best friend is the veterinarian!

Steering Column

Q. What's the best way to react to a blowout?

A. Here's some sound "blow-out" advice gathered from experienced professional truck drivers by Clark Equipment Trailer Division and the ATA Foundation.

First, grip your wheel hard and increase speed slightly to get the car under control.

Then gradually remove your foot from the accelerator to let the engine act as a brake. Don't touch the brakes until the car has "stowed" down to a speed where braking will not cause it to swerve. Pull completely off the road before stopping.

Get passengers out and well away from the traffic lane before you change the tire. If possible, station two "guards" at least 100 feet from the car, one in each direction, or place emergency warning devices as professional drivers do.

Set the brake, put the car in gear and block the wheel diagonally opposite the flat tire. (A 4 x 4 piece of lumber carried in the trunk does nicely.) Then jack up the wheel and put on the spare.

Technology Satellite Orbits Earth

The first Earth Resources Technology Satellite (ERTS), a unique spacecraft designed to help international scientists prepare an inventory of much of the world's natural resources, is circling the globe 14 times a day.

The NASA spacecraft is expected to increase man's knowledge in agriculture, oceanology, forestry, geology, geography and hydrology.

ERTS 1 was launched by a thrust-augmented Delta vehicle into its 500-nautical-mile, sun-synchronous orbit in late July. From this near-polar orbit, the 1,965-pound spacecraft is circling the globe every 103 minutes, surveying more than 42 million square kilometers of the earth each week. Its three Return Beam Vidicon Cameras (RBV) and a four-channel Multispectral Scanner (MSI) are sending back images of 100 x 100 nautical mile squares of the earth's surface, providing global coverage every 18 days.

Each RBV camera senses a different spectral band, providing coverage in both the visible and near-infrared portions of the spectrum. The MSI provides overlapping coverage with the RBV, involving four different spectral bands within the visible and near-infrared spectrum. A Data Collection System aboard the satellite receives digitized environmental information from automatic data collection platforms of fixed locations in the United States and Canada. ERTS 1 has the capacity to handle as many as 1,000 such platforms.

These stations collect data on up to eight local environmental conditions, such as water and snow depths, stream flow, soil moisture, temperature and humidity. This information then is transmitted to the satellite and relayed via telemetry to NASA ground stations.

A Ground Data Handling System at Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., is designed to process a combination of nearly 10,000 color, black and white and digital tape images of the earth's surface weekly for use by ERTS experimenters.
Data collected by the ERTS system is expected to help experimenters broaden man's understanding in a number of earth science areas, including agriculture, geology, geography, hydrology and meteorology. Scientists interested in participating in the earth resource program submitted the largest number of proposals NASA has ever received for a space project. NASA is negotiating with more than 35 nations for possible participation in the ERTS program.

Agriculturalists may use the ERTS data in land use planning, identifying crop diseases, improving irrigation techniques, estimating crop yields and managing use of grazing land.
Geologists might use ERTS information in monitoring glaciers and volcanoes and for identifying terrain features generally associated with oil and valuable mineral deposits.

Hydrologists may be able to detect water pollution trends, inventory lake and reservoir levels, measure rain and snowfall, predict flood potentials and locate additional fresh water reserves.

Geographers might use ERTS sensors to produce a constantly updated map showing both natural and man-made changes on the earth's surface. This information could be valuable in urban development and transportation planning and map making.

The ERTS 1 spacecraft has a design life of one year. Under NASA's present Earth Resources Technology Satellite Program, the second satellite in the series, ERTS B, will be constructed for launching during 1974.

LIVESTOCK POISONING
Fall is the time to be alert for prussic acid (cyanide) and nitrate poisoning in livestock.

The plants most often involved in prussic acid poisoning are the sorghums, sudan grass, sorghum-sudan crosses and corn.

Some of the factors that increase prussic acid in crops are:
—soils high in nitrogen and low in phosphorus;
—drought, frosting or wilting of the plants;

—warm days and cool nights; and
—new growth from the stalks of sorghum that have been cut for hay or silage—especially right after a frost or when there are warm days and cool nights.

Young-green plants are highest in prussic acid, and leaves are generally higher in concentration than the stalks.
Properly cured hay or silage loses most of its prussic acid potential. Growing plants lose their poison potential about one week after a hard, killing frost.

Prussic acid is a potent, rapidly-acting poison. Animals may be found dead, as clinical signs last only a few minutes.

Major factors to consider in planning a house include:

If a livestock owner plans to pasture or feed with sorghum or sudan, a precaution he can take is to feed the forage to only one or two of least valuable animals first. If these animals are normal in a few days, it is assumed there is no danger.

How do you handle iron deficiency in florabunda roses?

To alleviate iron deficiency, change the soil content by adding sulphur. The best way to determine how much sulphur is needed is to take a soil sample to your county agent for soil test.

Oxygen-free Silos Are Less of a Fire Threat

Silo fires are increasing in Nebraska and present quite a fire-control problem, warned Don H. Venter, Rural Fire Training Manager at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He added, "They are usually caused by spontaneous ignition and can occur at any time during the year. A silo fire cannot happen without a source of oxygen. Above ground silos are supposed to be essentially air tight. The tall metal silos that dot Nebraska's landscape are oxygen free silos and depend on the principle of no oxygen to complete the silage process. As the name implies, it is not likely that a fire will occur."

"However, should one develop close all openings in the silo, caution people to stay away and permit the fire to burn itself out. Do not open the silo up and apply water or any other extinguishing agent."

"Gases produced by the burning silage will cause an explosion when mixed with the air being fed into the silo. It has been suggested that the silo be emptied by removing the burning materials. However, the danger of an explosion during this procedure continues to be a probability.

"Vertical concrete silos are not necessarily oxygen free and present less of an explosion hazard," commented Venter.

In case of fire, seal it as tightly as possible and allow it to burn itself out, and unload the contents after proper ventilation. Some water and foam may be applied, however, use caution and avoid excessive use because the extra weight of the water could cause a structural failure.

"Fires in trench silos are not considered an explosion threat. Some 'flash over' fires caused by rising gases may appear on the surface so extinguish with water and remove the burned or burning silage as soon as possible," advised Venter.

"The most logical way to avoid silo fires is to make sure all forage is above 45 per cent moisture when it enters the silo. Unstirred silo is definitely air tight. It should not be filled with alfalfa, clover, grass or hay silage containing between 20 to 45 per cent moisture," concluded the training manager.

Dutch Elm Disease Testing Inconclusive

Local interest in Dutch elm disease has increased since publicity has been given to benomyl as a control for this disease. Much of this interest was generated by the EPA when they granted registration for the use of Benlate as an aid in control of Dutch elm disease.

Benlate benomyl is an exciting chemical which has real potential for the control of many plant disease. However, the research data that are available for review by the scientific community on its effectiveness against Dutch elm disease are limited and inconclusive. For instance, University of Nebraska tests in 1969 showed that symptoms of D. E. D. could be suppressed for about six weeks following a capsule injection of benomyl but that no significant differences were apparent 88 days after treatment.

Following is a list of the most commonly-asked questions concerning Benlate and Dutch elm disease.
Q. Will Benlate benomyl cure Dutch elm diseased elms?
A. The University of Wisconsin reported that 10 of 19 treated trees (53 per cent) which had less than five per cent crown infection at the time of treatment were healthy at the end of the season. Where the disease had progressed to more than five per cent almost all the trees died. No untreated check or control trees were reported in this experiment. Application was made via trunk injection.
Q. Will benomyl prevent American elms from becoming infected?
A. Preventive treatment in the spring via trunk injection of randomly-selected healthy elms in a Wisconsin community reduced the incidence of new infection from 16.4 per cent in the control (untreated) population to 6.5 per cent in the treated population. There were 165 treated trees and 61 control (untreated) trees in this experiment.

Q. Should trees be treated twice during the season?
A. There is no evidence to date of benefit from the second application.

Q. Will benomyl prevent or cure infection resulting from root graft transmission?
A. No.

Q. Do trees have to be treated every year?
A. Yes.

Q. Are there other methods of application being investigated?
A. Yes, by several agencies. Investigations include firming

Thone Sees Best Harvest Ever

"Nebraska is now headed for the most bountiful, all-around harvest in history with the best all-around farm prices ever," Congressman Charles Thone believes. "It's about time our state's farmers enjoyed a really good year."

"As one who grew up on a farm and who, with my brother, still owns a farm near Hartington, this forecast has me happy as a cow in clover."

"Only disastrous weather in the next few weeks will prevent our Cornhusker state from having our biggest harvest."

"A record corn crop, the second largest harvest of soy beans and milo and one of the better years for alfalfa and wheat were predicted for Nebraska by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the September 1st estimate of production.

"The fact that national production will be down from last year for most crops will help Nebraska farmers obtain better prices for their great harvests."

"The prediction for Nebraska corn is nearly 500 million bushels, compared with about 455 million bushels produced last year. In contrast, the national prediction for this year is 5.1 billion bushels, about 400 million bushels less than produced in 1971.

"The 132 million bushels of milo predicted for Nebraska this year would be second by about 10 million bushels to the 1966 record. The national prediction is for 854 million bushels, about 4 million less than the 1971 record.

"The 23 million bushels of soybeans forecast for our state in 1972 will be about 3 million under the 1969 record. Nationally, a record harvest of nearly 1.3 billion bushels is expected.

"Nebraska is expected to harvest close to 95 million tons of alfalfa hay this year, about the fifth highest crop. The national estimate is 76 million tons, down from last year.

"About 95 million bushels of winter wheat are expected to be harvested in Nebraska this year, down about 12 million from 1971 and 18 million less than the record set in 1958. The national forecast is for approximately 1.2 billion bushels.

"On Oct. 12 an estimate of Nebraska production, as of Oct. 1, will be available, and I wouldn't be surprised if the Cornhusker state harvest forecast isn't raised a little based on what I see traveling through the district."

"The latest estimate of the total U. S. farm income for this year is a record $18.6 billion dollars. This is up $500 million from the last estimate.

"With an all-around record harvest, with good prices for crops and with satisfactory prices for livestock, Nebraskans should enjoy a larger than usual share of the record nation farm income."

Check Your Home for Fire Safety

Every 37 seconds, a fire breaks out somewhere in the United States. Of these fires, approximately one in three damages or destroys someone's home. No matter what the season, fire can be a relentless enemy and you must be on guard.

Here are some hints from Junior Fire Marshal program, on how to prevent fire in the home:

1. Make youngsters promise not to play with matches and never to build a fire except under adult supervision. More than 27,000 fires each year are caused by children playing with matches.
2. Look through your basement, attic and garage and get rid of newspapers and other fire-kindling material.
3. Make sure any paint, varnish or oil stored in the garage or basement is kept in tightly closed metal containers and away from the furnace.
4. Get a yearly check-up on all heating equipment. Defective heating and cooking equipment causes one out of every three fires.
5. Keep ashes from the fireplace or furnace in a covered, hole-free metal container and dispose of them frequently.
6. Check to make sure any flammable liquids in the basement or garage are stored in safely approved metal containers.
7. Have trash and rubbish burned only in a wire mesh or other suitable incinerator. (Note: Many cities prohibit burning of trash.)
8. Unplug the iron cord when the iron is not in use, even for a short time.
9. Be sure that all mops are hung in a safe, well-ventilated place. Check to see that oily rags are either thrown out or kept in metal containers. Oily mops and rags can burst into flame all by themselves.
10. Check on all lamps and electrical appliances to make sure they are not frayed or worn.
11. Make sure that all extension cords are in life open—not over hooks, under rugs, or through partitions or doorways where the insulation may get worn off and be the cause of fire.

12. Be sure that portable heaters are kept away from curtains, drapes, furniture, walls and partitions. Heaters should be regularly checked for leaks and cleanliness.

13. Make sure that your fireplace is covered by a metal fire screen.

14. See if proper-size fuses are in the fuse box... and that spare fuses are on hand.

15. Careless smokers cause more fires than anyone else. Never smoke in bed. And be sure that matches and cigarettes are out before leaving them.

16. Discuss the subject of fire with the whole family. Plan how you would escape from each room of the house if fire cut off one or more exits.

17. Check the location of nearest fire alarm box. And learn how to call the fire department.

18. Remind the family that the local fire chief is always willing to offer advice about individual fire problems. When in doubt about any hazardous condition, always seek professional help.

For safety's sake, heed these hints and put them into effect now. Don't let a dangerous situation hang fire.

New address for Mrs. Edna Barelim, who was recently transferred from St. Elizabeth Hospital at Madonna Care Center, Lincoln, is 2200 S. 52nd, Room 11, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Larsen, Wayne, visited Mrs. Barelim, who is her sister, there Sunday and called in the Karel Wake home, also Lincoln, before returning that evening.

Former Wayne residents Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bilson, Scottsdale, Ariz., arrived Saturday to visit friends in the Wayne area. They had spent some time in Lincoln with his brother-in-law and sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson and family, and planned to be in Oakland with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Miller before returning home.

High Blood Pressure Is Hard to Diagnose

High blood pressure or hypertension often causes no symptoms according to the Nebraska Medical Association. Sometimes, only a physician can tell when high blood pressure is present.

Some five million people in the United States have hypertension conditions. Continued high blood pressure overworks the heart and circulatory system. It reduces the system's ability to function as well as it should.

Low blood pressure occurs in many healthy people, says the Nebraska Medical Association, and is usually considered an asset.

Hypertension or high blood pressure can be controlled through drugs, management of diet and changes in living habits.

Blood pressure is the pressure put on the walls of the arteries as the heart pumps blood through them. Blood pressure normally varies from time to time. Blood pressure may go up when a person is excited; go down, when a person is resting.

Blood travels through the arteries at a speed of more than 40 miles an hour. Arteries pump the blood through the capillaries where it travels very slowly absorbing waste and furnishing food to parts of the body.

The human body has a total of 70,000 miles of blood vessels. The largest percentage of the blood vessel system is the capillaries which could hold the body's entire blood supply of about five quarts. Tissues that can use more blood such as arms and legs, have more capillaries than other body tissues.

Old Carnival Days Recalled by Wayne Resident

Many carnival rides have changed immensely and a host of others have been added through the years, but the merry-go-round and ferris wheel operated by Glenn Sumner of Wayne during the 1930's still look pretty much the same.

Sumner, who will celebrate his 60th birthday on Oct. 12 at his home at 106 Douglas, still recalls well the years he spent on the circuit traveled by the Savidge Amusement Co., which was headquartered at Wayne and owned by the late Walt Savidge.

"We hit an average of 25 towns a year and were out 20 to 22 weeks every summer," he recalled. Some of the towns played by the Wayne-based carnival were Dixon, Wakefield, Laurel, Beemer, Allen, Wisner, West Point and the Wayne County fair.

"One year at Allen the bugs got so bad we had to close up for the night," Sumner remembers, adding "you could have scooped them up with a scoop shovel."

Another well-remembered incident occurred at Wisner in 1933. "We had shut down for the night when a tornado hit," he said. "Luckily, there was no one in each town purchasing the tickets. The first charge made was five cents, which later went up to 10 cents.

"Our busiest day was during the Cherokee, Ia., 1935 celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the town," Sumner reported. "We gave rides to over 5,000 kids that day

The 3-R's

Turn of the century students in the Dixon Public School included Ray O'Flaherty, Raleigh Barker, May Carroll, Tony Mills, Joe O'Flaherty, Ann Carroll, Genieve Hall, and Grace Hall. "It is said that at one time 105 pupils were enrolled in school. Many were older children (as old as 18 years), and of other nationalities (especially Swedes) who could not speak English very well."

Dixon's third school house, a two story frame building, was completed in 1896 and was located on the site of the present school building. This building was in use for 35 years. "After 30 years, this school had just about served its purpose. We hear stories of having to dismiss on some cold, windy days. The furnace that had been installed could not keep up with the cold drafts. The walls and partitions were not too sturdy and it became somewhat of a fire trap."

Dixon's first school district was formed in 1883, and a school was built on the Willis Jenkin's farm. In 1889 residents of the school district decided to move the school building to town. "The Jenkins family objected to having it taken from their farm, so a group of men with teams of horses and other needed equipment pulled the building from their farm before the family was up and brought it into Dixon. It is believed that it was placed directly east of what is now the United Methodist Church." It was later remodeled into a private home and is now owned by Mrs. Marion Smith.

Dixon's first girls' basketball team was formed in 1905 and coached by H. P. Wolcott, a former football player from South Dakota. "He was well-liked by some, but some of the more timid girls became early day 'drop-outs'. He frightened them." Pictured in the top row are Esther Borg, Jennie Hall, Clara frightened them." Pictured in the top row are Esther Borg, Jennie Hall, Clara Gillian, Professor Wolcott, May Carroll, Aletha Bass, Pearl Lumbeck. Lower row: Josie Dougherty, Ada Sherman, Nellie Delay, Mabel Christianson, Ann Carroll, Grace Hall and Genieve Hall.

and now ...

"Records in Ponca show that in 1884, the district received $27.97 in State Apportionment and County Fines and Licenses. That year the state allotted $1.10 for each student." Each of the first and second grade students in this 1972 picture is allotted considerably more.

The present six room, one story brick building was ready for use in January of 1932. Teachers in the K-8 system now are Mrs. Dale Stanley, Mrs. Wayne Lund and Mrs. Robert Taylor. Like teachers all over, they are thankful for bright, sunny days on the playground.
