

Kristy Maxwell Crowned WSC Homecoming Queen

Kristy Maxwell of Norfolk was crowned queen of the Wayne State College 1972 homecoming Wednesday evening at the climax of a music-filled coronation in Rice Auditorium.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Maxwell, Norfolk, the queen is a junior, majoring in elementary education. She is a member of Cardinal Key, national honor society for college women, and as a freshman she qualified for Alpha Lambda Delta, a national sorority for first-year students with high academic standing. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority.

The women of Bowen Hall, her campus home, sponsored Miss Maxwell as a queen candidate. She is a resident assistant at Bowen.

Kristy Maxwell of Norfolk, junior at Wayne State College, was crowned Homecoming queen Wednesday night and will reign over the week's activities, climaxed by the football game with Peru State Saturday afternoon and the Homecoming Ball that evening.

Young Boy Hit by Car; Leg Broken

A five-year old Wayne youth suffered a broken left leg, facial bruises and possible internal injuries Thursday when he was struck by a car at Seventh and Sherman.

Ricky Haase, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Haase of 413 W. 10th, was taken to the Wayne Hospital after a car driven by George Hofeldt of 803 W. First hit the boy about 3:10 pm.

The Hofeldt vehicle, police reports noted, was traveling east on Seventh when the pedestrian light changed. According to Hofeldt, the light changed just as he got into the intersection. Then, Hofeldt said, the boy ran out in front of him.

The report also shows that the vehicle left 33 feet of skid marks before coming to a halt.

Mrs. Haase, the boy's mother, said her son's leg is broken above the knee cap and is in traction.

Metteer Will Speak On Language Disability

Richard Metteer, Wayne, Elementary School principal, will be a keynote speaker at the 23rd Annual National conference of the Orton Society, Inc., to be held in Seattle, Wash., Nov. 2-5.

The subject of the conference is "Specific Language Disability, Dyslexia."

Metteer is project director for "Project Success for the Specific Language Disability, Dyslexia." His talk will revolve around his research work at West Elementary School and its four functional components of research, identification and diagnosis of the target (SLD) group, prescription and delivery of instruction for the (SLD) group, evaluation of the program and communication and dissemination of the information to the general public and to professional educators as to the findings of the research project, a federally financed project through Title III ESEA grant.

Identification and diagnosis of the SLD children is carried out by Wayne staff members already trained in SLD testing. Teacher and parent questionnaires designed by the Wayne staff and Title III committee, which have been field tested for two years, will also be used.

Metteer now holds a place on the nominating committee for the upper Midwest Branch of the Orton Society for 1972-73.

Other representatives of Project Success, operated in the Wayne School system, who will attend the Seattle conference and appear on the program are Mrs. Dorothy Loy, Community Council president; Jean Owens, in charge of curriculum modification; Don Koening, motor perception instructor; and Marian Rennick, who works with the language arts division of the program.

The group will appear before the assembly Friday morning and afternoon to present a structural linguistic program, integrating all aspects of language. Their presentation is entitled "Elementary Curriculum Modification to Meet the Needs of the SLD (Specific Language Disability) Child."

In addition, Metteer has been invited to appear on the University of Washington TV station, to help acquaint the general public with SLD problems.

The trip is being funded by Title III.

According to Roger Saunders, Orton Society president, approximately 2,500 Orton Society members are expected to attend the four day workshop, which will include some 45 specialists from throughout the United States and two foreign countries. It is being held in the various areas of the study and treatment of children with Specific Language Disability, Dyslexia.

The Orton Society, Inc., is a national, non-profit, scientific and educational association.

Course Stresses Individual Need For Special Vocational Students

By Brenda Gustafson

Madam Education continues to shed the old, stereotyped courses and lay in the "new, innovative and relative."

At the Allen Consolidated Schools two special vocational needs classes, Computational Skills and Communicative Skills are now offered on the high school level.

"The courses have been developed to meet the individual needs of special vocational students pursuing one or more of the vocational areas, and preparing themselves for self supporting roles in society," according to Glenn Kumm, instructor.

"A wide variety of methods of instruction has been implemented to make possible the continuous adjustment and reorganization of the program," he said.

Students learning packets are used in the Computational Skills (math) class.

"These packets contain tests, daily work sheets, information sheets, cassette tapes, transparencies, and explanations in books," Kumm said.

"Students work through the packets at their own speed and abilities," he explained.

"So far, much time in the Communicative Skills (English) class has been devoted to personally, communication and reading improvement," he added.

The tenth grade students have been working on a unit in telephone communications.

The ninth graders have been concentrating on reading and spelling improvement and presently have begun a unit on reading literature for enjoyment and interpretation.

Kumm said "the subject matter is presented in a practical, stripped of nonessentials way, and wherever possible, is related to the world of work."

"In addition to motivating the student by showing him relevancy, material is presented in such a manner as to increase the students chances for succeeding with it," Kumm said.

According to Kumm, goals are set which are realistic and attainable for all.

Hospital Progress

The final narrative and plans for the new medical center, to be submitted to Hill Burton was reviewed at a meeting of the Wayne Hospital Foundation Thursday night.

Friday a meeting was held at Lincoln with the architects and Hill Burton agency representatives to review this application for final forwarding to Washington, D.C.

Chest Drive Hits $6,000

The Community Chest has reached the $6,000 mark, still a long way to go to reach the goal of $10,000.

Bob Jordan, president of the Community Chest, said that only 40 per cent of the cards had been turned in by solicitors. He urges that captains contact their volunteers so that the drive can be completed as soon as possible.

The campaign's purpose is to finance, in whole or part, nine organizations.

Long-range Plans in Basin Study

An Elkhorn River Basin level "B" study meeting was conducted at Norfolk Tuesday evening with 50 persons and three organizations: the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District, Upper Elkhorn Natural Resources District and Elkhorn Watershed Association, Inc. represented.

"The purpose of the meeting, called by Carroll Hamon, Lincoln, study director, was to select a Citizen's Interest Group to participate in the three year study. Thirteen individuals will be selected by the citizens themselves, with Hamon's approval, for the Elkhorn Basin Citizen's Interest Group to represent the following areas of interest:

Public at large, natural resources districts, fish and wildlife, cities, public power (electricification), agriculture, recreation, counties, regional planning agencies, basin associations, environmental, ground water irrigation and surface water irrigation.

The study, as outlined by the Missouri River Basin Commission and the Federal Water Resources Council, will provide a comprehensive plan of management of the water and related land resources in Nebraska's Platte River Basin. Included are four sub-basins, Elkhorn, Loup, Upper Platte and Lower Platte.

At its July, 1975 completion, the study will recommend plans and programs that will meet basin needs for the next 15 to 30 years and long range needs will be forecast for the year 2020.

Officials say the study opens the door to planning for the future expansion and by planning water projects before the population grows, communities will be developed in an organized and controlled manner, with water shortages and pollution problems averted or minimized.

Four federal agencies — Soil Conservation Service, USDA; Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior; Corps of Engineers, Department of the Army, and Environmental Protection Agency, EPA — will have equal status as far as an input is concerned with the level B study.

The Elkhorn River Basin at present is first among the 12 river basins in the state of Nebraska in two categories, highest average annual flood damages ($2.5 million annually) and more comprehensive studies completed than any other river basin in the state.

Pork Group Banquet To Be Nov. 12

The crowning of the 1973 Northeast Pork Queen will be one of the highlights of the evening at the Northeast Pork Banquet, which will be held Sunday, Nov. 12, at the Coleridge Community Building.

Leo Lucas, superintendent of the North Platte Experiment Station, will be the dinner speaker. Lucas recently returned from Colombia, South America, where he headed up the University of Nebraska Mission Lucas was awarded the National Pork Industry Award, presented to one person annually for outstanding contributions to the industry.

Banquet tickets may be purchased from directors at the door the night of the event.

Directors of the association are Paul Bengtson, Ronnie Weststrand, Paul Everingham and Wilbur Utecht of Wakefield; Richard Long of Carroll; Kenneth Victor and Rodney Bonderson of Emerson; Curt Blankmeyer and Clair Hamar of Jackson; Curtis Papenhausen of Coleridge; Ken Thoen of Fort-Myer; LeRoy Wolfe of Hartington; Wayne Lamprecht of Ponca; Kent Jackson of Winnebago and Lee Anderson of Rosalie.

ASCS Loans Provide More Grain Storage

Wayne County farmers are using the Storage Structure Loan Program this year more than ever before. Ray Butts, executive director of the Wayne County ASCS, reports that good crop prospects prompted the need for additional storage on the farm. So far 72 producers have applied for storage structure, drying equipment and handling equipment loans. The bins and equipment have been erected and installed and the loans disbursed on 32 of the loans. The remaining loans will be disbursed as soon as the borrower notifies the ASCS office that the bin is completed.

Butts said loans are made to eligible farmers who do not have sufficient storage space on the farm to store two years grain crops. The current interest rate is 5.32 per cent per annum. The maximum amount loaned is 85 per cent of the total cost. Repayments are made in four equal annual installments.

The first grain bin loans in Wayne County were made in 1949 according to Butts. By the end of 1970 there were 292 loans made amounting to $302,452 and providing 1,017,317 bushels of storage on the farms in 1970 there were 34 more loans amounting to $113,452 and adding 222,388 more bushels of farm storage.

So far this year 32 loans have been disbursed totaling $115,319 and adding another 158,096 bushels of space for grain crops. This results in the loan program providing nearly 1,400,000 bushels of storage space for Wayne County farms.

Any producers interested in loans on grain bins, corn cribs, dryers or handling equipment should visit the ASCS office to determine their eligibility and learn the details of the program.

Council Meeting

The members of the Wayne City Council probably will want to hurry their regular Tuesday night meeting this week with the approaching of ghosts and goblins on Halloween.

Among some of the items during the 7:30 p.m. meeting are the rental fees for the airport T-hangers and the city's pension plan. A complete listing of the agenda is inside today's issue.

The Controlled Reader, Cassette Tapes, Tachist-O-Flash, Teletrainer, and other available audio-visual materials previously used only by remedial reading and special education students in the Allen Elementary School are now also being used in special vocational needs classes in the Allen High School.

Poeschl Endorsed

One important race that directly affects the citizens of Wayne and Wayne County in the election of Nov. 7 is for Director at-large of the Northeast Technical Community College at Norfolk. Dennis Poeschl, Stanton, current Board President, is opposed by Allen Burkhardt, Norfolk. We urge the support of Poeschl for several reasons. In addition to the member at large, the position Poeschl seeks, other board members are selected by district according to population and at large. Because the Board of Governors are elected in this manner, Norfolk will be assured of two members on the board already. It seems unfair that one city should have three members and thus be in position to better control the school's activities. If Burkhardt were elected, this would be the case. We believe the entire 14 counties that support NE Tech interests will be better served if more equal representation is elected to guide the institution.

The school is already located in Norfolk. In addition, the tax burden of the Norfolk Junior College has been lifted from the Norfolk citizens and transferred to the taxpayers of 14 counties. These taxpayers voted to tax themselves for vocational education and now must pay for academic education. If seems this is burden enough without losing more board representation. Poeschl is experienced and capable. He has served NE Tech as a board member for six years and has been the board president since 1970. Prior to being president he was the board secretary. He is aware of the problems of all 14 counties, especially in the area of vocational technical education. In addition he has great interest and dedication to the institution and its growth. He knows the school, he knows the area, he knows the problems and he knows the needs. He should be elected member at large to the Northeast Technical Community College board. —Alan Cramer

Sounds Logical

An unscheduled intermission was called during the recent Laurel High School Pops Concert when it was discovered the pianist and pit orchestra had music sheets written in different keys. As it happened there were two pianos on stage and one youngster suggested "if the piano and pit orchestra can't play in two different keys, why doesn't the pianist just change pianos?" Another item from an area school in the Kute Kapers, Sluff and Things category. Think modern-day teachers are any different than in bygone days? Fourth grade students at an area school know exactly where they stand in terms of discipline after a new piece of "modern equipment" was added to their room. Assisted by the school custodian, the teacher made a clearly marked "Board of Education" sign and placed it strategically by her desk. The message, put on a two inch piece of lumber, 18 inches long and six inches wide, is on the board, or more commonly known as a paddle. This "educational" piece of equipment speaks for itself. —Claire Hurlbert

By-Products

Utilization of every part of a slaughtered farm animal has been the aim of every meat packer throughout the nation, supposedly to return the producer every cent possible. But now the by-products of the live animal may result in a postponement of the meat. While government officials have been debating regulatory terms with feedlot operators concerning stream pollution allegedly caused by feedlot runoff, an Ohio dairy farmer has come up with the ideal method of feedlot cleanup that could automatically solve the problem. He is selling cow manure. And, at four times the price that he gets for his milk. Neil Bruynis of Goshen, Ohio, may have started a whole new concept of farm manure. Bruynis has 100 Holstein cows on his 500-acre farm and may enlarge his herd. "I'm hard-pressed to keep up with the demand," he claims. Apparently, based milkers aren't the all important thing. Just so they eat a lot — and dispose of a lot. The native of Holland, who came to the U. S. 17 years ago, said he gets about 60 cents a gallon for his "Nature's Own Deodorized Liquid Cow Manure." Sales have enabled him to add seven employees. They are kept busy storing the manure from stalls into a 56,000 gallon holding tank. He produces 1,000 gallons of fertilizer daily, using two old, converted milk mixers. "All the gardener has to do is pour," Bruynis says. And he claims they don't have to hold their nose with their free hand. Bruynis "cuts" the liquid with a deodorant — truly. If the cow is both a poor milker and an equally bad manure "producer" she may take the last, long ride. But, even when she may not have outlived her usefulness. Along with all the T bones, she may produce some "fringe" benefits. A Swedish scientist, R. J. E. Kihlstrom of Uppsala University, says that proteins extracted from cow manure may act as a love potion for men and increase their potency and virility. Kihlstrom said he has tested the extract on rabbits and says it not only increased their sexual activity, but also their sperm count. Similar tests will be performed on humans this fall, he said. After all, rabbits reportedly are the least of all nature's creatures in need of extra incentive. —Claire Hurlbert

Proper Tire Inflation Aids Mileage, Safety

The nation's tire industry has pledged its full cooperation with a broad new government-sponsored program to help consumers get more mileage out of their tires—and promote safety—by proper inflation. The blueprint for the new program was contained in a report, "Tire Inflation and the Consumer," made public by the National Business Council for Consumer Affairs. The report was prepared by NBCCA's Sub-Council on Product Safety, headed by Ruth Handler, president of Mattel, Inc. "The new program holds out promise of great benefits to all motorists in increased safety and economy," said Ross R. Ormsby, Chairman of the Tire Industry Safety Council, in a letter to William D. Lee, executive director of NBCCA. "The Inflation report recommended that everybody involved in the sale, servicing and use of tires increase efforts to educate consumers on the importance of proper tire inflation. It also recommended that the federal government initiate and coordinate a continuing program to assure accurate air pressure readings" at service stations, tire stores and other places. "The tire companies, of course, have been aware of the inflation problem, and working on it in various ways, for a long time," said Ormsby. "We are glad to have other interested groups now join in a stepped-up program as a result of the NBCCA's work." "The additional efforts of the tire companies will be coordinated through the Tire Industry Safety Council in Washington, Ormsby said. The Council, supported by U. S. tire manufacturers, puts out much material on tire care and safety. "The NBCCA was created by presidential executive order in August, 1971, to give private industry a new vehicle to respond to "the concerns of the American consumer." It now has 111 members, organized into seven sub-councils, working in conjunction with the Commerce Department. Earlier reports dealt with "packaging and labeling" and "violence in the

The new tire report said that proper inflation is important to safety, economy and quality of ride. It cited recent government and private studies showing one out of four cars with under inflated tires and nearly one-third of air towers surveyed inaccurately by four pounds. "These conditions could be remedied if all motorists checked their tires regularly with hand gauges, the report said, but not enough drivers do. So there is "need for a program to provide for regular calibration of air towers. As "one effective and inexpensive solution," the report cited a proposal one made by the National Bureau of Standards to provide existing state and local weights and measures officials with equipment to check and correct air towers when they visit service stations to check gasoline pumps. This would cost only $100,000 for the entire nation, the report estimated. It called on the Department of Transportation, which has the federal responsibility for highway safety, and the Department of Commerce, which maintains liaison with state and local weights and measures officials, to join in the calibration program "without delay."

SUPER SAFETY DAY • NOV. 15

Gov. J. J. Exon has proclaimed Nov. 15 as "Super Safety Day" in the state of Nebraska in a program aimed at cutting down the spiraling fatality toll on the state's highways. This is the symbol designed to designate Super Safety Day.

Livestock Industry Given 'A' by Teachers

With Americans being assailed by a deluge of conflicting health claims, crash diets and off-beat food fads — coupled with a dearth of nutritional knowledge among most — the need for accurate information on proper eating and nutritional requirements has become increasingly important. Nebraska's cattlemen stockgrowers and feeders, through their investments in the Nebraska Livestock Foundation, are contributing to the improvement of nutrition education in Nebraska and throughout the nation. One of the newer projects within the state undertaken by the Nebraska Foundation is providing funds to assure the distribution of primary grade nutrition education materials to Nebraska schools. The program was inaugurated by the National Live Stock and Meat Board as a means of assisting teachers of children at the first and second grades. According to Jesse Felker, program director of the Foundation, the demand for the Primary Grade Nutrition Education Kits has exceeded the financial ability of the Meat Board to supply all that are needed. The Nebraska Livestock Foundation is picking up the slack in order to assure maximum distribution of this valuable teaching tool in our own state," said Felker. "Other livestock and meat groups are cooperating in a similar manner in a number of other states. Thus, the cattle people of Nebraska, who daily invest in the production of nutritious beef, also are investing in the cause of nutrition education. Not only are the dime they put into the program of the Nebraska Livestock Foundation used in Nebraska, but also in the national program of the Meat Board to finance projects such as the Primary Grade Nutrition Education program."

more important at that age. No one can be so adamant in his refusal to eat "what's good for him" than the primary school youngster who has so many more "important" things to think about. Unfortunately, too, Mother is not the center of his world any more and already her halo of brilliance and omnipotence is beginning to dull. But on the brighter side, there is no greater nagger than a seven or eight year old, and proper nutrition education presented by his new love — the teacher — is certain to be felt in his demands to the home menu planner. In planning its new venture, which will go into its second full year this fall, the Meat Board took cognizance of these youthful personality quirks and the importance of the teacher in the lives of young students. Because of well organized and financed advertising campaigns aimed at impressionable youngsters to promote nutritionally hollow snacks and treats, the importance of reaching this age group with correct nutrition information presented in an appealing manner

Time Changes Mean Different Driving Habits

Autumn's arrival calls for a lot of adjustments — some major, some minor. But the most important one for motorists is the change in their driving habits that became necessary when Standard Time went into effect at 2 a.m. Sunday. The early darkness that accompanies the time change increases driving hazards during evening rush hours. For their safety, as well as that of other motorists and pedestrians, Nebraska residents are urged to take the following precautions: Reduce driving speed and increase following distance. Avoid looking directly into glaring headlights. This practice is especially dangerous for older drivers, since their eyes take longer to recover from glare. A motorist's center vision should also be focused on the right edge of the traffic lane. Oncoming lights should be kept in the side vision. Be extra alert for pedestrians. Artificial light makes those wearing dark clothing especially difficult to see. Be on the watch for bicycle riders, whose ranks are increasing. Young bikers may be careless and lack knowledge of safe practices; adults who are cycling for the first time in many years also may be rusty on traffic rules. Tail lights, turn signals, backup lights and high and low beams should be inspected to make certain they are operating properly. Motorists should also keep headlights and windshields clean at all times for maximum visibility.

Miss Heroin

The following appeared in a national VFW Auxiliary publication and was submitted to The Herald for reprint by the Laurel VFW Auxiliary. The poem, entitled "Miss Heroin," was written by an anonymous addict. So now Little Man you've grown tired of grass, L.S.D., acid, cocaine and hash. And someone pretending to be a true friend said, "I'll introduce you to Miss Heroin." Well, honey, before you start fooling with me, just let me inform you of how it will be. For I will seduce you and make you my slave. I've been much stronger than you to your graves. You think you could never become a disgrace. And end up addicted to poppy and seed waste. So you'll start inhaling me one afternoon; You'll take me into your arms very soon. And once I have entered deep down in your veins, You'll need lots of money (as you have been told) For darling, I'm much more expensive than gold. You'll swindle your mother and, just for a buck, You'll turn into something vile and corrupt. You'll mug and you'll steal for my narcotic charm, And feel contentment when I'm in your arms. The day when you realize the monster you've grown, You'll solemnly promise to leave me alone. If you think that you've got the mystic knack, Then, sweetie, just try getting me off your back. The vomit, the cramps, your gut tied in a knot, The jangling nerves screaming for just one more shot. The hot hell, the cold sweat, the withdrawal pains. Can only be saved by my little white grains. There's no other way, there's no need to look; For deep down inside, you know you are hooked. You'll desperately run to the pusher and then You'll welcome me back to your arms once again. And when you return (just as I foretold) I know that you'll give me your body and soul. You'll give up your morals, your conscience, your heart; And you will be mine until DEATH DO US PART. —Anonymous Addict

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

The Wyoming Education Association presented its highest award to Silas Lyman, superintendent of schools at Will Creek, Fremont County, Oct. 5. The Gold Key award was presented at the state teachers convention in Casper. Lyman, who was born and raised in Wakefield, was an outstanding football player and was salutatorian of his graduating class of 1927. The recent honor was for his successful efforts to change one method of determining a school's entitlement under the foundation program.

Ken Hallgren, new business and occupational internship teacher at West Point High School, reported that the recent magazine sales drive was a complete success and the goal of $2,000 worth of magazine sales was reached. The money-making project was the first such attempt in several years. Top sellers were Pat Collins, first; Cindy Benne, second, and Mark Johnson, third.

A program held at the Lyons school auditorium Sunday was the second of a series of three annual events which David and Harriet Beck have provided as a living memorial to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Beck. The Lyons Ministerial Association selects the persons to present the programs. The stipulation the sons made is that the events be of cultural value and of community-wide interest. The Oct. 29 program featured Rabbi Myer S. Kripke, Beth El Synagogue, Omaha, whose topic was "Religion's Relevance in the 70's."

Plans for the eighth annual hobby show at Coleridge are progressing, according to Mrs. Seth Anderson, chairman. It will be held Saturday, Nov. 18, from 1 to 4 p.m., with no charge for exhibiting or admission.

Nelson's Bar and Lounge at Sholes will reopen Saturday. The original building was burned beyond repair in July. The new business is located across the street from the previous one.

Weather permitting, the elementary students from Emerson Elementary, Hubbard Elementary and Sacred Heart Elementary Schools will participate in a Halloween parade at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. The parade will begin in front of the Emerson Elementary building, will proceed along Main Street to Warnock. Students will be dressed in Halloween costumes and will return to classrooms for parties afterward.

Thurston, which has 51 postal patrons and 78 country mail boxes, can now boast of a new post office. Two weeks ago the office was moved into a trailer house across the street from the former building. The old post office had been in use since 1915.

Village trustees or councilmen from Elgin, Oakdale and Neligh met last week and indicated that they may fight the proposed rate increase by Kansas Nebraska Natural Gas Co. Previously some 50 attorneys from the 121 communities, affected by the proposed rate increase met in Grand Island to determine what action to be taken provided the communities worked as one unit.

Under the sponsorship of the Nebraska State Health Department and Beemer Public Schools, two separate classes, one for boys and one for girls, were given last week a total of 100 minutes of instruction and two ways to combat venereal disease. Discussion and a film helped demonstrate the seriousness of the disease. A State Health Department official conducted the meeting for the boys and Mrs. Muriel Schlueter conducted the girls' meeting.

The home of an elderly West Point man, Otto Peterson, was vandalized over the weekend by person or persons as yet unknown. It had not been determined if anything was taken, but a total shambles was made of the interior of the main floor of the home, to the extent even of having cooked spaghetti and corn thrown against walls and stove in the kitchen. Upholstered furniture was slashed, articles broken and silver items scattered about. Peterson lives in a rest home. The damage was discovered by a nun from St. Mary's Convent next door to the house who has access to storage space in the basement.

History of Halloween

More than 2,000 years ago, before Christianity came to Ireland, people used to build huge bonfires on Oct. 31, the last day of the old pagan calendar and the day on which the souls of the dead were thought to revisit the earth. Legend had it that Samhain, god of the dead, sent by the fire to catch the approaching souls and turn them into animal form. Most wicked of the ghosts were metamorphosed into black cats. In later time, to scare away spooks, people began hollowing out turnips and pumpkins and placed lighted candles inside to scare evil spirits from the house. Why was the result called a Jack O'Lantern? Tradition says that an Irish man named Jack, too wicked for heaven and expelled from hell for playing practical jokes on the devil, was condemned to walk the earth with a lantern evermore. Few people realize that trick-or-treating was originally an adult custom. English country folks went "a-souling" on Halloween, begging for "soul cakes" door to door. In Ireland, hundreds of years ago, groups of farmers went from house to house soliciting food for the village Halloween festivities, promising good luck to cheerful givers and threatening lightwads with evil fortune. But it was the kids who originated Halloween customs after all. It was the custom in some regions for children to dress up in each other's clothes (boys donning girls' outfits and vice versa) and go out to play tricks and collect loot. Our Halloween celebrations today keep many of these early customs unchanged. Young and old still gather in tubs of water, grinning pumpkin jack-o'-lanterns, resting constalks, and white-sheeted figures create an air of mystery, and black paper witches and cats are used for party decorations. Other Halloween traditions are much newer, and one of the most beneficial is the tradition of helping UNICEF at this time of year. In 1971, millions of American students participated in the "Treat of Life" for UNICEF drive, aiding disadvantaged youngsters throughout the world. Their efforts provided UNICEF with more than $135,000 in new funds.

Pigeons Used As Medical Couriers

Medical services in Nebraska 70 years ago were often less than adequate. Although doctors still paid house calls, the automobile was not widely used and the telephone was not readily available as a means of summoning medical aid. No doubt many patients died who otherwise could have been saved if the doctor had arrived on the scene more quickly.

One inventive physician, Dr. F. S. Morris of McCool Junction in York County, hit upon a scheme to improve the communications between him and his patients. His solution: homing pigeons. The details of the plan were revealed in a news item copied by workers in the Federal Writers Project, whose records are now in the State Archives, Nebraska State Historical Society.

Under the dateline of York, May 10, 1900, the article relates that, "His (Dr. Morris') practice is principally in the southern part of York County, a thickly settled, prosperous farming community, and owing to the long drives he has to make and where the conditions of the patient demands it, he leaves carrier pigeons, with instructions if symptoms of the case do not show improvement they are to write on a sheet of tissue paper, enclosed in an aluminum tube attached to the bird's leg, and turn it loose. By an electrical arrangement, the minute the pigeon arrives and opens the door to the pigeon house, the doctor or office attendant learns of the arrival and at once secures the message. The doctor either visits the patient or sends medicine, and in this way the patient has much better medical treatment."

The plan proved so successful, according to the news item, that Dr. Morris had arranged to leave several pigeons at the Blue Vale post office and store, some eight miles from McCool Junction. Thus the farmers in the surrounding area needed only come to the store and release a pigeon in order to summon the doctor. Perhaps Dr. Morris' idea would have received wider acceptance had it not been for the development of

No Cure for Baldness

It was about 3400 B. C., and the Egyptian Queen Seneb, mother of King Teti, was growing bald. She defamed, and got a conviction that was "guaranteed" to restore her balding head to its former hirsute condition.

The mixture consisted of dog toes, date refuse, and the hooves of a jackass.
It did not work.
Anyone, says the Nebraska Medical Association, who is willing to apply such a potion to the top of his or her head certainly deserves to grow hair, but unfortunately is just as likely to grow it through plain old will power—and in neither case is it likely or even possible.

Such is the plight of the bald and balding. Because there is no known drug, preparation, or device recognized as a cure, remedy or competent treatment for baldness. The truth, sad though it may be, is that there is nothing capable of growing or aiding the growth of hair, preventing baldness, or feeding or nourishing the hair or scalp. Hair does not have "roots" like a plant and cannot be "fed" by any external application.

The quality and amount of hair on any body area are inherited characteristics, just like eye color or skin texture. And since many more men than women become bald, the male hormones are probably involved. However, hair loss can not always be explained by hormone-hereditary patterns since baldness in younger women has become more of a problem recently. Among the many possible causes, no one knows yet which is the true cause. On the other hand, hair loss due to the breaking off of hair above the scalp surface is probably increased by too frequent permanents and dye treatments, which pull at the scalp, and rough teasing or ruffling of the hair.

The Nebraska Medical Association points out that loss of hair sometimes results from factors in physical health or environment, and these can often be corrected. For the victims of baldness outside that category, there are wigs, hairpieces, toupees—and for the optimistic, look at the money you save on combs. Small consolation.

The girls will be out from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Last year the local chapter earned $159.68. The money is used to help children in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East. UNICEF's goal is a world of healthy children who have a chance to grow and develop their talents.

ETV Focus on Election

It's election-time USA with the heat of campaigns and the concern of candidates focusing on the final countdown of activity before election day, Tuesday, Nov. 7.

The Nebraska ETV Network winds up the "Candidates Forum '72" series this week with some outstanding programs beginning Monday (today) at 7 p.m. when legislative candidates take the TV forum. At 8 p.m. the top five amendments on the ballot will be debated by members of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln varsity debate team.

Legislative candidates continue their appearances Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. "DateLine Nebraska" at 8:30 p.m. the same evening features the appearance of U.S. Senator Carl Curtis. The candidate will be questioned by the regular program panel of Don Pieper, Omaha World-Herald; Don Walton, Lincoln Star; and Dick Herrman, Lincoln Journal. The guest editor slot will be occupied by Mrs. Mary Zilly, Lincoln, representing the Nebraska League of Women Voters.

At 9 p.m. following the "DateLine Nebraska" program will be a continuation of appearances by legislative candidates. Forty-eight candidates for the Nebraska Unicameral will appear during the entire sequence of legislative candidates programs on the Nebraska ETV Network.

The public affairs unit of the network has held public meetings to videotape candidates throughout the state including sessions at Alliance, Norfolk, Kearney, Omaha and Lincoln. All but one congressional candidate also will appear on special programs of the "Candidates Forum '72" series this year.

Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. additional legislative candidates will make appearances on the network during the 2 1/2-hour program. Culminating the formal presentations by candidates during the series will be the appearance of congressional candidates at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Highlighting the completion of the series is "Political Party" Friday at 8 p.m. This program will originate from the Lincoln studios of the Nebraska ETV Network and will include music, views and in formal interviews with candidates. Joel Fowler, senior producer of public affairs for NETN, states that the enthusiastic viewer acceptance of the informal TV "political party" held during the last general election prompted scheduling another unique wind up "party" for statewide viewing. During the "Political party" election experts will review the historical factors relating to elections and professional pollsters will discuss the impact of polls on the electorate.

If isn't all political programming this week, however, as

New System for the 3 R's

Learning Is Fun at District No. 51

It used to be, during the 1930's and 1940's, that a four or five mile walk to school wasn't unusual for area school children. Oftentimes a youngster would make the jaunt through snow or icy winds to go to a one-room schoolhouse for his or her daily dosage of reading, writing and arithmetic.

Many students, once they made it through the cold morning walks, would huddle around an old black potbelly stove while the school marm would prepare her class work for the day's lessons.

During those times, the situation wasn't real good but it had to do. Today, consolidation has taken over, with many rural schools combining into districts. It seems that the one-room schoolhouse is fading out.

And almost has, except for a two-room schoolhouse west of Wayne.

District No. 51 is about a half a block from Highway 35, nestled near a field of corn.

It presents a scenic view to most who pass by, but to the children attending the classes, it is quite an experience.

"I enjoy teaching children in grades one through four," said Ruby Nelson. "It keeps the teacher alert to what is going on in the educational fields."

Mrs. Nelson admits that a good teacher has to stay ahead of her pupils in learning new materials.

"A teacher really has to compete with television," she explained. "The students today are learning so much from TV that the teacher has to learn more about various subjects to answer the children's questions."

It is not a case where the students take notes all the time or memorize the reasons why. They want to understand every thing about the subjects in class,

Planning Group Approves Rezoning Request; Now Up To City Council

In a special meeting of the Wayne Planning Commission held Friday evening at the Women's Club rooms, members decided, by a 4-3 vote, to grant the request by Ward Reesman of Falls City to recommend to the City Council the rezoning of property on East Seventh Street.

At the commission's regular meeting early in October, Reesman had presented with the request his intention of constructing a Derby filling station II rezoning from R-2 (mixed residential with multiple housing) to B-1 (highway business) would be allowed for Lots 1, 2 and 17 in Block 1, East Addition to the City of Wayne.

Because Reesman's request was not in time for the commission to act upon it at that meeting, the decision was postponed until the next regular meeting which would have been Nov. 5. Reesman was informed, however, that he could request a special meeting if he did not wish to wait until that time. The Friday meeting was called at Reesman's request.

Prior to the vote, Budd Bornholt, Reesman's attorney, addressed the commission, noting that 1.) the question before the commission was not whether land should be rezoned for the purpose of putting in a filling station, but only whether land should be rezoned; 2.) that the petition, signed and presented by opponents of the request was the only objection to have been brought forth through ample time and opportunity had been given for those against the rezoning to be heard; and 3.) that as far as he could determine, the organized opponents of the rezoning were primarily opposed to the rezoning because of the competition the filling station would afford them, and while this would be an understandable feeling, it could not be a legitimate argument to influence the commission in its decision.

Discussion followed between commission members and those present at the hearing and at one point Bornholt reprimanded Commission chairman Merin Mordahl for airing his personal views as an opponent to the request while serving as chairman of the commission, and asked that Mordahl refrain from voting.

Mordahl retorted, saying he could not afford counsel to represent him, but agreed to abstain after noting that his abstinence would assure there would not be a tie vote as only eight of the nine commission members were present.

Commission members recalled the decision they had come to against rezoning on Seventh Street after surveys were made

'Bucket Brigade' Helps Spark First Winside Fire Department in 1888

By Pat Oswald

It took a fire in 1888 to get the Winside residents working for a fire department. But it wasn't until 1907 that dream came true.

When the town's first fire destroyed the post office and McDerby's store, the "Bucket Brigade" was called to the scene. After that tragic episode, when both buildings burned down, the Winside people gathered to begin planning for organizing the first department.

A new water tank and water works system were installed in the town, followed by three hydrants, one near the school and two along main street.

Equipment and hoses were first pulled around on a hand drawn cart until the late 1920's, when a second-hand Model T Ford was remodeled to carry the needed supplies.

Winside's first chief, George Barlow, headed the first fire department, but interest soon died out.

It wasn't until a large fire which destroyed a really firm and a bakery that the residents once again realized the need for a permanent fire department. Thus a second one was organized in the 1920's.

In 1921 the village purchased a Model A Ford chassis and later a body was built for the truck by one of the members of the fire department to handle the equipment. The next step was to install a 50-gallon chemical tank on the truck.

The Winside Fire District was mapped out in 1943. During that same year a scrap drive was held by the department to raise money for a new truck. It was purchased later the same year.

The present fire department has 25 volunteer firemen manning a city pumper, rural tankers of 1,000 and 1,500 gallons and a supply wagon.

The present officers include George Voss, chief; Edward Oswald, assistant chief; Charles Jackson, president; and Willis Reichert, secretary.

The Volunteer Fire Department is very active. Each year it holds a fish fry for wives, a family picnic is held during the summer and it sponsors a dance. Plans are being made to hold the annual dance Nov. 4 at the City Auditorium with John Hartin providing the music.

A rescue unit was added in 1970 and a first aid class is scheduled for Nov. 6 at the fire hall with Roy Stohler, of the Northeast Station at Concord, instructor.

Often times people take the fireman for granted. He is very important to the community which he serves.

The firemen have to get out in all kinds of weather, any time day or night. Those belonging to the department usually have to give up sleep when emergency calls at night and still go to their regular job to do a day's work. These are just a few of the many risks and happenings in a volunteer fireman's life.

The Winside department, a member of the Elkhorn Mutual Aid Association, has helped to keep fire losses in the town to a minimum, mainly due to the local department's efforts.

Police reports show that the accident, on First and Main, occurred about 12:35 p.m. as Powley was turning left from W. First and caught Pokett going north on Main.

The Blue Flame Record Breaker

Looking very much like a science fiction jet plane without wings, "The Blue Flame," a vehicle fueled with natural gas in liquid form, set a world land speed record of 622,407 miles per hour at the Bonneville salt flats in Utah. That's faster than the cruising speed of today's commercial jetliners.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q Should a firm include revenues from the sale of exempt items when making calculations to determine compliance with the Price Commission's profit margin limitations?

A Yes. Revenues from the sale of exempt items such as raw agricultural products must be included in profit margin calculations. However, revenues from farming, public utilities, life insurance and wholly foreign operations are not included in profit margin calculations.

Q Are lumber companies with 60 or fewer employees exempt from controls?

A No. Because increased lumber prices have been a major source of the increase in the Wholesale Price Index, the Cost of Living Council has reimposed controls on those lumber companies previously exempted by the small business exemption. Now, all manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers with more than $100,000 in sales of lumber, plywood, veneer, millwork, and certain related wood products are subject to wage and price controls.

Q Could it be considered a pay increase if an employer lends money to an employee at a bargain interest rate?

A Yes. Where an employer makes a loan or advance to an employee pursuant to an agreement entered into after Nov. 13, 1971, and charges no interest, or charges interest at a lower rate than would have been charged in an independent transaction, the difference between the agreed interest and that which would have been paid if an arm's length interest rate had been charged must be included as an item of wages and salary.

Allen's Duane Mitchell starts out on his 57-yard run to pay dirt after receiving a Walthill punt during the opening of the third quarter. Bluejays Rick Nightree (61) and Mike Storm (68) pursue the speedy back, but Mitchell finds his way off blockers on the left end and zooms his way into the end zone to tie the match at 6-6.

Walthill Nips Allen Eagles, 13-12, To Claim East L-C Conference Crown

By Bob Bartlett

A bone chilling wind drove the temperatures into the lower 30's Friday night at Allen. But an even colder feeling grew over the home field when the Eagles dropped a one point decision to No. 1 Walthill, 13-12, and lost its bid for the East Lewis and Clark Conference title.

The Eagles and the Bluejays flocked onto the field in search of the No. 1 crown as both clubs, one and two in the league, were evenly matched. But it wasn't mistakes that labeled the Blue jays the best team in the East half, just good football playing.

Allen took the lead in the statistics, with 237 total yards to the visitors' 168. Both big runners for each team, Allen's Duane Mitchell and Walthill's Pat Morgan, gained 70 and 77 yards respectively.

Morgan first got his team on the board on a two yard plunge with 5:13 left in the first half. The 150 pound sophomore capped the 40 yard scoring drive in 12 plays for a 6-0 lead.

A determined Allen club bolstered by sophomore Paul Snyder, stopped the Bluejays at 42 yards for the extra point when Snyder blocked the kick with both hands high in the air. That left the score at 6-0 going into the second half.

Earlier the visitors started on Allen's 40 yard line and marched to the 25 on a third down and 16 yard aerial from Senior Quarterback John Bellar. Six ground plays later the Bluejays were on the Eagles' 13 yard line. From there Morgan and Bellar took the ball down to the two yard line and Morgan was in to score.

The Eagles played a tough first quarter, allowing the gang from Walthill only one yard in its first series of downs. Mean while Allen ripped off three first downs on its first plays before bogging down.

After a strong defensive stand, the Eagles were off to a flying start, staking out four more first and tens before the team's only fumble stopped what could have been Allen's first six points.

Quarterback Scott Von Minden was caught scrambling in the backfield in the 32 yard area before Linebacker Greg Nudac spotted a free ball to give Walthill its first break of the game.

Allen suffered its second bad break in the game when Running Back Craig Blohm suffered a bruised thigh in the start of the second stanza.

From that point on, Mitchell kept the running duties for the rest of the game. And starting out the second half, he made the home crowd stand up and cheer on a 57 yard punt return to knot the game at 6-6.

Mitchell took the kick at the Winside B Team

Crushes Coleridge

The Winside reserves crushed the Coleridge B team, 34-0, to put its final mark at 42.

Defensive man Bobby Huffman set up three of his teams scoring when recovering three fumbles while picking off eight unassisted fumbles.

Quarterback Tyler Frevert connected on two TD aerials to keep the hot pace going while Dwight Lienemann returned a 50-yard punt runback for an other six point play.

Doug Bruggeman scored on one fumble recovery when he took the ball in from 12 yards out. Greg Logge also added a 28 yard scal for another Winside score.

Goose Hunters Lock Up Guns for 3 Days

Goose hunters in Nebraska must put away their scatterguns for three days, beginning Oct. 30.

The goose hunt will reopen one-half hour before sunrise on Nov. 2 and extend through Dec. 14.

In order to make the 70 day goose season authorized by the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife fit the needs of both eastern and western Nebraska hunters, the three-day split was adopted by the Game and Parks Commission.

Eastern Nebraska hunters have their best shooting early in the season, when blue and snow geese move down the Missouri River in western Nebraska, where Canadiana make up the bulk of the goose migration, hunting does not reach its peak until early December.

After three downs they picked up only five yards. A fourth and five pass from Quarterback Doug Soderberg to Gardner went incomplete and Scribner took over for their 10 as the third quarter ended.

The fourth quarter saw neither team mounting any serious offensive threat and each team was stopped on fourth down and yardage situations at midfield.

The lead rushers for Wakefield were Gardner, with 17 rushes for 82 yards, and Twite, who had 27 yards in 16 attempts.

John Dahl led Scribner rushers with 25 yards in 15 attempts while Reese added 58 yards on nine attempts. Reese also led Scribner receivers with 122 yards and three catches while scoring three TD's.

Next week Wakefield will take on a 4-1 record against an inspired Lyons' team (5-3) in the final home contest for the Trojans, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Coach Del Stoltenberg: Wayne Will Beat Peru!

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! It is now official Wayne State will beat Peru Saturday!

Head Coach Del Stoltenberg made it official Thursday noon that the Wildcats will win their first game of the season by clobbering the Peru State Bob cats during Homecoming in Wayne.

Coach Stoltenberg told the members of the Second Guessers that his club is really primed up for the contest and knows his club will topple Peru from its third place ranking in the Nebraska College Conference. Both teams are 0-2 in conference play.

"We had a real good workout Wednesday night," he explained, "and it looks like we'll have every thing together."

Last week the Wildcats took their seventh loss, 33-13, against no wins when the team traveled to Conference leader Kearney State.

The Wildcats were the first team to get on the board on a sustained drive from about the 30 yard line. From that point it did look like the team was going to win, the coach continued. But fumbles, once again, plagued the team.

Freshman Quarterback Rick Benedetto piloted his club to the first TD as his running action was similar to Chicago's Bobby Douglas. Benedetto faked a handoff to his fullback and then, in a bootleg type play, ran around the left end for about 48

"The Elderly Deserve Better Treatment"

As a minister, I know the problems of retired people well. It is not enough to raise Social Security benefits every election year. We must allow older people to be full and active participants in society.

This means we should provide full medical care for all people over 65. And we should also give them relief from paying high property taxes. Finally, we should set the minimum Social Security payment at $150 a month and eliminate the restrictions on outside work.

SMV Value Borne Out in Statistics

One of the big traffic safety problems has been the marking of slow moving equipment on the roadways.

The number of accidents related to crashes between slow moving equipment and faster moving traffic is small, according to Rollin Schneider, safety specialist at the University of Nebraska.

However, the resulting accidents between automobiles and slow moving equipment, such as farm tractors, result because the automobile drivers cannot relate the speed differential between the faster moving automobile and the slower moving equipment, or because the equipment is improperly marked or lighted.

These two points are interrelated. For example, if the driver of the faster moving motor vehicle realizes that a slow moving equipment is on the roadway ahead, he can slow to a point where there is less possibility of an accident.

Nebraska statistics, plus those from other states, show that laws related to slow moving equipment or proper marking can have an effect on cutting down on accidents.

The slow-moving-vehicle (SMV) emblem legislation took effect in 1967. Since that time there has been a reduction in the number of accidents between faster moving traffic and SMV's.

This law states that, "It shall be unlawful after January 1, 1967, for any person to operate on the roadway of any state a slow moving vehicle or equipment, a n y a n d r a w n vehicle, or any other machinery, designed for use at speeds less than twenty five miles per hour, including all road construction or maintenance machinery except when engaged in actual construction or maintenance work either guarded by a flagman or clearly visible warning signs, which normally travels or is normally used at a speed of less than twenty-five miles per hour unless there is displayed on the rear thereof an emblem as described in and displayed as provided in subsection (2) of this section. The requirement shall be in addition to any lighting devices required by the law. The emblem shall not be displayed on objects which are customarily stationary in use except while being transported on the roadway of any state highway of this state."

Another section of this law states that all equipment sold after Jan. 1, 1968, shall also have a bracket for displaying the emblem.

A number of questions arise relating to the use of the slow moving vehicle emblem. For example, a new standard under the Occupational Safety and Health Act relates to the use of the SMV. Since this is an employee safety act, it requires that the emblem be affixed on every piece of slow moving equipment used by an employee on any roadway.

The Nebraska law says only the roadway of the state highway. This says that an employer must use the emblem if he is driving his equipment on a state highway, however, he would not need it to drive on other roadways. He would need it for every highway, however, if his employee drove the slow moving vehicle. This puts the employee under the Federal act.

Two other problems have been evident with the use or misuse of the SMV. One is associated with its use on stationary equipment or on equipment traveling faster than 25 mph. Some people have used these as driveway markers. One school has the emblem mounted on a chain gate at the entrance to the school. In another case a bank used one as a directional marker. These practices are in violation of the law.

The problem of the SMV emblem being associated with speeds over 25 mph has occurred primarily with anhydrous ammonia tanks. If the tanks are pulled by a tractor, they are in compliance. If pulled by a pickup, they may travel faster than 25 mph. In this situation it is recommended that the emblem be covered to avoid confusing drivers. If the equipment this may be removed in the future if discussion of reducing the towing speed of anhydrous tanks to less than 25 mph becomes a reality.

Subsection 2 related to the slow-moving-vehicle emblem as it is commonly known. The Nebraska law states that the emblem shall be mounted three to five feet above the roadway and is to be maintained in a clean, reflective condition.

Learning

is greatly aided by the use of teaching aids. "It is through the District No. 51 school board that I am able to acquire these teaching aids to help the students learn."

One particular aid that is helping the students in the lower grades learn is Acoustifone. The recorder and acoustifone are in constant use as motivations for writing original stories, poems, etc., she emphasized.

"Oral grammar is taught to an advantage," she smiled. "Exercises, where the child selects the correct form of a verb, should be heard rather than read if real speech improvement is to take place. This lessens the gap between written and oral speech."

Other advantages of the acoustifone, "to aid in diction of spelling, taping of instructions to poor readers so they may achieve in social studies and other areas which require reading skills, and provide math and physics drills."

Other aids that help to change the old scene of the one room schoolhouse is Mrs. Nelson's number land puppets.

The number land puppets are used in first grade to help pupils understand number sets, equivalent, non equivalent, unions of, as well as ordinal and cardinal number orders," she added.

District No. 51 represents a new type of rural school designed to serve children from grades K through eight.

With the help of Mrs. Virginia Koll and part-time Music Instructor Mrs. Frank Pedersen, the school offers rural students in the Wayne and Carroll area a new system of learning the three R's.

These young artists display part of their talents, along with the other members of Mrs. Nelson's class, in constructing autumn leaves. Pamela Franzen (left), Curtis Rohde and Steven Rethwisch pin up the tempera painted leaves on the bulletin board to help shape a tree.

Social Security

Questions, Answers

Q. When I went to the hospital earlier this year, I had to pay $68. They told me this was my deductible. I thought I met my deductible earlier when I had some doctor bills. Now, I'm really confused. Can you tell me why I had to pay the deductible twice?

A. You didn't pay, the same deductible twice. There is a deductible under each of the two parts of Medicare. For the hospital part the deductible is $68 for each benefit period and for the doctor bill part the deductible is $30 a year. You had met the $30 deductible with your doctor bills, but you had not yet met the hospital insurance deductible when you went into the hospital.

Q. I became disabled a couple of months ago and want to apply for monthly disability benefits from Social Security. I know I can't do my regular job any more. When I decide whether my disability will keep me from doing any other work?

A. You apply at your Social Security office, but doctors and vocational specialists in a state agency (usually the Vocational Rehabilitation Agency) who have had experience in seeing the effects of disabilities upon peoples' abilities to work make this decision. They study all the facts you have submitted, the medical reports, and information about your training, skills and education.

Rezoning

about a year ago to determine the wishes of the property owners directly involved.

At this point Clete Sharer reminded of her commission members of the recent rezoning of the Shupe property on Seventh and Lincoln Streets, and said he felt the commission's action in this instance had notified those earlier studies.

It was also brought up during Bornhoff's presentation that a request had been made by William Luenders to rezone an area 150 feet square at Sixth and Dearborn Streets.

and it is logical to assume," Bornhoff said, "that he is thinking of putting a grocery store there." He added the coming of the Gibsons Store had changed the whole complexion of the area... and he advised that Wayne should welcome every new business coming to town, whether large or small.

Carl Haas, one of those who had signed the petition against the rezoning, was present, and upon being queried by Commission Member Andy Manes, explained that he was against the rezoning because he felt Wayne simply could not afford to support another station.

Also speaking for the opponents was Dennis Spangler, who owns property adjoining the lots in question, and who expressed his reasons for being against the proposed measure.

He said, "I do not want to live next to a filling station," and "how can I be guaranteed that the increase in property value which such a rezoning might bring, will come soon enough to do me any good?"

At the conclusion of the discussion by the commission after the hearing, Clete Sharer made the motion to grant the Reesman request. The second was by Bob Jordan and yes votes came from Clete Sharer, Jordan, Gary Nuss and Bob Allen. Voting no were Larry King, Andy Manes and Willis Johnson.

The commission will now give their recommendations for rezoning to the City Council, which will have the final say.

During the month of October the students are reminded of Halloween. So to help them keep track of the days of the month, Mrs. Nelson constructed a scarecrow bulletin board with a calendar (hidden) for each of the students to read. The calendar, she said, is one of the opening exercises each morning. The children then become acquainted with the days of the week and the months of the year. Putting some of the straw into the scarecrow are left, Debbie Woslager and Marcia Rethwisch.

Fight Fungus: 'Take a Powder'

Not all plants grow in the ground. Some of them, unfortunately, grow on us.

It may come as some surprise to you, but just about everybody plants a host to one or more plants in the fungus family. Like the ones that cause ringworm of the scalp, ringworm of the body, and the ringworm of the feet called athlete's foot.

Making their home in the dead cells of your skin, hair and nails, these fungi, for the most part, remain dormant and inactive. Only when growing conditions become favorable do they come alive and spread as a skin infection.

experience its discomforting tell-tale symptoms of between-the-toes cracking, peeling or itching.

Consequently, scientists agree that the emphasis in prevention and treatment should be placed on keeping your feet and toes as dry as possible. And the best way to do that is to "take a powder."

ATTENTION VOTERS

Of Our County Court District: (Antelope, Cumings, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton and Wayne Counties)

I am one of five candidates filed for County Judge in your counties. Under the new court reform laws, three will be elected from our seven-county district, so they must run in all seven counties.

I was born in West Point, and have been County Judge there since 1966. The other four candidates are from Norfolk. After 28 years in military service (Air Force pilot), I re-entered law school, graduating in 1963. I have since been the President of our Nebraska County Judges' Association and of our District Bar, and am a member of the Nebraska Bar, the American Bar, the Nebraska Juvenile Judges, American Trial Lawyers and the American Judicature Society.

I have been educated and trained for this type of work. Because our seven-county area is so large, I may not be able to meet each of you personally. I will appreciate your vote, and whatever other support you can give me. If elected, I will do my best to represent the people, under the law, providing the best justice I can.

JOSEPH F. HUNKER

Cumings County Judge

(Ordered and paid for by J. F. Hunker, 237 S. Farragut St., West Point, Nebraska.)
