Walt Moller Loses Wayne County in Bid For Seat on State Board of Education

In one of the few surprises in Tuesday's voting in Wayne County, Wayne businessman Walter Moller was defeated by Newman Grove newspaper publisher Velma Price for a four-year seat on the State Board of Education from the Third District.

Moller gained 1,486 votes to Mrs. Price's 1,653 in the county voting.

However, the 71 absentee and disabled votes which will be counted today (Thursday) could alter that outcome.

Moller carried only two of the four wards in the city of Wayne. He won his own area of the city, Third Ward, by 238 to 185 and

Laurel Voters Replace Mayor, 1 Councilman

In one of the few city elections held in the area Tuesday, Laurel voters replaced their incumbent mayor and one of two incumbent councilmen.

Eugene Sohler got 148 votes in a losing race with Merlin Swanson, who gathered 327, for the four year term as mayor.

Councilman E. C. Huddleston lost to Wayne Finley, 175 to 72, in his bid for a four year term from the city's east ward.
The other incumbent councilman, Kendei Martin in the west ward, earned another term on the council. He had 85 votes to Galen Hartman's 75 and Mrs. Carolyn Upton's 64.
And incumbent Cedar County commissioner from the second district, Democrat Dan McCarthy of Laurel, lost to Republican Marvin Hartung of Coleridge, 945 to 741.

Alas, Nutcracker Passes On

This is an ornithological obituary. The Clark's Nutcracker which wandered far from its Rocky Mountain heights to the lowlands of Wayne last week died over the weekend.

Dr. Russell Rasmussen, who discovered and caught the bird for observation, said it may have succumbed to heat in Carhart Science Hall. And maybe to loneliness too, he surmised.

The nutcracker — by nature a sociable creature in its normal habitat with lots of tourists to beg from — seemed to enjoy life last week. It got quantities of attention from science students, and it ate a rich diet of skinned mice, too.

Pieces of Plastic No Mystery

Farmers and motorists in the Wayne area who have been puzzled by those white sheets of plastic along the highways and scattered in the rural areas needn't be.

The sheets are being used to conduct an aerial survey for Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD), which plans to construct a high voltage power line from its substation west of Dakota City to just north of Norfolk.

Pictures taken of the sheets between the two communities will help in pinpointing the route for the line, says Don Schaufelberger, NPPD's deputy general manager. A land survey will be conducted following the aerial photography, he said.

The line is being built to supply power to the planned steel plant in Norfolk as well as bring new power into the state, he said. In time, the line will continue south to Columbus, according to Schaufelberger.

Construction of the high voltage line will hopefully begin within the next two or three months and will be completed by next fall, he said.

Power will be obtained from the Bureau of Reclamation and several other sources, the NPPD spokesman said.

County Voting Slightly Greater Than in '68

There were only a few more votes cast in Wayne County in Tuesday's general election than in the general election four years ago, unofficial voting figures show.

If all 211 absentee and disabled ballots are returned in time for counting by the canvassing board today (Thursday), a total of 3,655 votes will have been cast, Clerk Norris Weible said.

Four years ago there were 3,601 votes cast after tabulating absentee and disabled ballots, he noted.

In the May primary this year only 2,411 voters went to the polls in the county, according to Weible.

Votes cast in the city of Wayne Tuesday, with number of registered voters in parentheses: First Ward, 326 (518); Second Ward, 489 (738); Third Ward, 434 (597); Fourth Ward, 444 (643). Total ballots cast in the city was 1,693.

The canvassing board will meet at noon today to begin its ballot checking.

Incumbents in Dixon County Retain Jobs

The two incumbent county supervisors running for reelection in Dixon County were successful in Tuesday's general election.

Unofficial returns show Democrat Doyle Hansen defeating Republican Darrel Conrad by a 274-182 margin in the second district. Both are from Newcas, Ia.

Richard Corkle in the race for the two year term from District One on the board of governors of the Northeast Nebraska Technical Community College.

Schreiner received 4,188 votes to Corkle's 3,849.

Schreiner gained his best support in Wayne County, defeating Corkle by 1,963 to 835.

He lost Antelope County, 1,880 to 835, and Wheeler County, 179

Nixon, Curtis, Thone Have Little Trouble In Carrying County

Not surprisingly, Republican candidates for national offices ran strong in Wayne County in Tuesday's general election.

President Richard Nixon, scoring one of the biggest victories for a president in the nation's history, defeated Democrat George McGovern of South Dakota by nearly three to one. The President gained 2,556 votes in the county on his way to a landslide victory over Senator McGovern, who tallied only 868 votes.

President Nixon carried all four wards in Wayne, the community of Winside and all 13 precincts in the county. His biggest margin came in the Fourth Ward where he handily defeated Sen. McGovern, 338 to 76.

Senator Carl Curtis, although given a strong but unsuccessful race statewide by State Senator Terry Carpenter for his job, won the county with little trouble.

Sen. Curtis gained 2,732 votes to Carpenter's 1,130.

And incumbent Congressman Charles Thone of Lincoln easily defeated Methodist minister Darrel Berg from Lincoln on his way to his second term in the House. Thone received 2,429 votes in the county to Berg's 925.

Like President Nixon, Curtis, and Thone carried all voting areas in the county in their bids for another term in national office.

Claude Trimble, Joseph Hunkler and Eugene McGadden carried Wayne county in the five way race for three jobs as county judge from the Ninth District.

McFadden, of Norfolk, was top vote getter with 1,944. Trimble won a close race for second with 1,750 and West Point's Hunkler with 1,742.

Defeated in the county for the district county judge position were the other three. Norfolk's resident Hennings with 1,600 and Grady with 1,045.

BOB MURPHY

Murphy Upsets Pfister

Wayne County voters proved the deciding factor in electing South's Robert Murphy to a term in the State Legislature from the 17th District.

Murphy, 53, defeated South Sioux resident LeRoy Pfister by 5,210 to 4,724 in the three county legislative district, unofficial voting results show.

But it was in Wayne County that Murphy made his strongest showing in his bid to unseat Pfister, named by Governor James J. Exon to fill out the unexpired term of Elmer Wallway, who resigned.

Murphy defeated Pfister 1,655 to 1,185 in Wayne County while splitting the other two counties with the incumbent.
Pfister won Dixon County, 1,537 to 1,212, but lost Dakota County, 2,243 to 2,002.
Murphy won in every voting area in Wayne County, with the closest contest coming in Huntley Precinct, where Murphy gained 66 votes to Pfister's 67.

to 115, but he won in Pierce County, 1,275 to 955.

Stanford's Dennis Poeschl defeated Norfolk's Allen Burkhardt in county voting for the two year at-large seat from a 14-county area on the governing board of the NEN Tech College.

Poeschl had 1,636 votes to Burkhardt's 1,349.

Chosen as members of the Wayne County Noxious Weed Control Authority board were Duane Rethwisch of Wayne, 2,496 votes, Lester Menke of Carroll, 2,294, and Erno Williams of Carroll, 1,965. Defeated in the four way race for the three jobs was Ernest Muhs of Wayne, who tallied 1,489 votes.

DENNIS POESCHL

Dixon, Cedar Counties Give GOP Victories

Dixon and Cedar Counties aired the national landslide for President Nixon in Tuesday's general election, unofficial results show.

President Nixon received 2,144 votes to Sen. George McGovern's 1,008 in Dixon County in Cedar County the President defeated McGovern by a 2,786 to 1,731 margin.

Both counties also heavily supported Republican Senator Carl Curtis in his successful bid for another term in office. He received 1,902 votes to State Senator Terry Carpenter's 1,150 in Dixon County in Cedar County the incumbent received 2,591 votes to Carpenter's 1,886.

Congressman Charles Thone had little trouble carrying both counties in his successful bid for a second term in the House from Nebraska's First Congressional District.

Thone won Dixon County by a 2,104-898 spread; he did even better in Cedar County, winning there by a 3,380 to 1,069 margin.

County Voters Turn Down 4 Amendments

Wayne County voters defeated four of 16 proposed amendments to the state constitution in Tuesday's general election, according to unofficial tallies.

Voters defeated by a 1,920-877 count the amendment which would have removed the 5400 limit legislators can receive monthly and which would have permitted the legislature to set the salary for its members.

Defeated 1,517 to 1,167 was the amendment which would have permitted legislators and legislative employees to be included in the existing retirement system.

Also defeated, 1,710 to 1,011, was the amendment which would have allowed legislators to receive a per-diem compensation for services when the Unicameral is not in session.

Dumped by a 1,432 to 1,099 count was the amendment which would have removed the State Tax Commission from the State Board of Equalization and Assessment as well as changed the tax commissioner's duties.

Poppies on Sale Today

Poppies will be on a sale throughout Wayne today (Thursday) as members of the Wayne VFW Auxiliary again work to raise money for veterans hospitals and activities.
Mrs. Helen Siefken and Mrs. Ed Kluge will be heading up the sale of poppies in the business district starting at 9 a.m. today, according to Mrs. Charles Siefken, Poppy Day chairman.

Prancin' and Dancin', WHBand Among Best

Wayne High School band members pranced their way to the highest rating possible in Saturday's Nebraska High School Marching Band Festival at Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln.

"We think we've got a first class band and now we've proved it," said Ron Dalton, band director.

"It's an honor for both Wayne and Carroll for the band to rate so high," he added.

The 70 member group earned one's from all three judges in the contest in spite of one mistake in their seven-minute routine.

The mistake came when the applause from the capacity crowd drowned out the drum major's signal and all band members did not rise from a crouching position on cue, Dalton said. Still, the judges considered the band's routine good enough to rate the top mark, he said.

Wayne's band was one of only two among the 17 in its class to earn the highest rating.

The other top mark went to Wahoo Newman, David City Aquinas earned a one minus in the same class.

Laurel High's marching band of 65 youths—60 in the band, drum major and four twirlers—earned a one minus in its class. Last year the group got a two-plus rating.

Directing the Laurel group in the contest, the 15th annual one, was David McElroy, in his fourth year as band director at Laurel.

Both schools received trophies in the contest.

"Dalton said Saturday's contest was the climax to a successful marching season." The students came back after a poor afternoon practice session to turn in an excellent performance, said Dalton, in his fourth year as band director at Wayne High.

Last year Dalton saw his band earn a two-plus in the contest. In 1963, when there was no plus or minus system, the Wayne High band earned a one in the contest, and two years ago, the band brought home a one minus.

Wayne's band was made up of 64 band members, five twirlers and one drum major.

Wayne competed against such schools as Ord, Crele, Central City and Gothenburg. Laurel's band completed against bands from smaller schools, including Stanton, Plainview and Winer. Pitzer. A total of 57 bands took part in the contest.

Planners Set Date For Public Hearing

The Wayne planning commission will hold a public hearing on a request for rezoning of a strip of land on East Sixth Street at its Dec. 4th meeting.

The request for rezoning from multiple dwelling to highway business comes from W.J. Lueders, a local businessman. He is asking for rezoning of a strip of land 302 feet long by 150 feet on the south side of Sixth Street just east of Dearborn.

The city planners, who must make a recommendation on the request before it goes to the city council, set the date at Monday night's regular meeting.

The planning commission also approved notifying the council that it agreed with the decision to take down the signs on Main Street which prohibited left turns at Third and Second Streets.

Discussed by the planners was the new land use map which is being drawn up for the city by the commission's consultant.

Wayne Stores Offer Method To Cut Costs

Shoppers in the Wayne area will be offered a new way to cut the cost of living starting next week.

The new merchandising program—officially called National Dividend Checks—will be a gift in six Wayne businesses.

Shoppers will be given dividend checks worth points depending upon the amount purchased in the stores. The checks can be saved until the points amount to enough to purchase merchandise in one of the participating stores, or be turned in for cash.

An advertisement in Monday's issue of The Wayne Herald will explain the program fully and list the firms initiating the plan.

Mau Regains To Reclaim Consciousness

Donald Mau, who was seriously injured in a one-car accident a year ago, has shown considerable improvement in past weeks, according to his physician.

Mau lost control of his vehicle and was knocked unconscious when thrown from the car on Nov. 5 last year. He was taken to the Wayne Hospital and then transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital at Sioux City for a short time. He returned to the Wayne Hospital last December and has remained there since.

About six weeks ago, according to his physician and his mother, he began to show signs of regaining consciousness.

Sometimes he is able to say a few words and with considerable assistance can feed himself; he is able to move one arm, he said.

He seems to recognize people, his doctor said; and apparently has his memory back to some extent.

His doctor said it was not possible at this time to know when Mau will be able to return home.

Mau, 19, is the son of Mrs. Florence Mau of Wayne.

Fall Fun

ALL SMILES as they head down the slide in a Wayne park are these three youngsters out after all the fun they can have before winter snows arrive. The youths, sons of Dr. and Mrs. Sid Hillier of Wayne, are Chris, 6, Andy, 4, and Matt, 3.

Extension Workshops Announced

A tentative schedule of workshops, to be sponsored by the extension service of the University of Nebraska at Omaha, has been released by area home extension agents Myrtle L. Anderson, Anna Marie Kreifels, and Joyce Lynn Smith.

"Making a Master Pants Pattern," has been set for Jan. 5 and 19 in Pender and Feb. 6 and 13 in Wayne. The session will include instructions on altering stacks patterns and making a trial pair of slacks from woven fabric to develop a master pattern. Maximum enrollment will be 12. Those interested in attending this two-day session should notify Anna Marie Kreifels as soon as possible.

"Romance and Finance," will be held Feb. 1, 8 and 15 at either South Sioux City or Hartington. This is a money management short course for young married couples or young single adults. Included will be details on financial planning, credit, consumer legislation and buy-ship practices.

"Sewing with Double Knit Fabrics," will be held Feb. 20 at South Sioux City, Feb. 23 at Waterville, Feb. 27 at Northeast Station, Mar. 1 at Coleridge and Mar. 2 at Wayne. The one-day workshops will feature techniques for sewing with double knits. Sewing machines will be needed. Maximum enrollment will be 20.

On Mar. 20, a one-day session entitled "Eat Better—Live Longer," will be held at the station. The workshop will focus on the balance between good nutrition and weight. Classification of foods according to calorie content, planning meals with exchange lists for calorie limits. This workshop will be conducted by a state extension specialist in the foods and nutrition division.

Another one-day session, "Planning a Sewing Area," will be held Mar. 23 at the Northeast Station, with discussion of needs, space recommendations, proper lighting and adequate storage to be the principal topics. A state extension housing specialist will conduct the lesson.

"Color In Theory and Practice," a study of color dimension and seeing of color relationships, is scheduled for May 15 and 22 at South Sioux City and Apr. 17 and 24 at the Northeast Station. Participants will get experience in combining colors and applying color to every day living.

"Be Your Own Designer," will be held June 5 and 12 at the Northeast Station and June 6 and 13 at South Sioux City. The session will include instructions for designing different necklines, collars, belts and other pattern features to add individuality to basic dresses. Maximum enrollment will be 20. The class will be conducted by a state extension specialist in clothing.

Sometime in the fall, a class in "Landscaping Homes and Mobile Home Units" will be held at both Wayne and Hartington. Discussion will center on selection and use of plant materials, lawn care and maintenance and home fruit and vegetable production. Dates will be announced later.

The final workshop for 1972, also to be held sometime in the fall, will be "Sewing Clothes for Men." The class, set up to help homemakers become familiar with construction techniques used in sewing men's jackets and pants, will be held in Hartington and at the Northeast Station.

Dunker, Rieker Will Direct 1st One-Acts

"Tonight at Eight," two separate programs of two one-act plays each opens Friday, Nov. 17, at the WSC Ramsey Theater, and runs through the following Tuesday.

On the bill for the 8 p.m. performances Nov. 17 and 21 and the 2 p.m. performance Nov. 19 are "The Mice Have Been Drinking Again," by Clive Harbord, and "The Lesson," by Eugene Ionesco.

Gary L. Dunker, senior speech major, is directing "Mice," a comic situation set in San Francisco. Ron Kluck and Mary Jo Norby portray a young married couple who live with a cousin, Roxanne Conch, to be played by Sheri Skelton. Roxanne is a practicing Zen Buddhist who pours liquor under a rat hole to keep the mice happy, believing as she does that the mice are humans reincarnated.

"The Lesson," being directed by senior theater major Ron Rieker, is a comic-drama typical of Ionesco's abstract style. The cast includes a pupil, played by Patsy Benson; a professor, portrayed by Ed Havlovic, and a maid, played by Patty Gable.

The second bill, to be presented 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday Nov. 18, 19 and 20 will include "He Done Her Wrong," a melodrama, directed by Mark Hamm and "The Great Airplane Snatch," a farcical drama being directed by Albert Kirtley.

Theatre patrons can call for reservations beginning Nov. 13. The box office will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is free to all college students with ID's. Due to the limited seating arrangement for the one-act plays, reservations are encouraged.

Club Meets Thursday

Mrs. Conrad Weiershauser was hostess Thursday to the meeting of the Logan Homemakers Club. Mrs. Mike Revinkle was a guest. Roll call was answered with pet peevs. Prizes at pitch went to Mrs. Ed Meyer, Mrs. Louis Meyer and Mrs. Laverne Wischoff. The group made plans to hold their annual club supper at Bill's Cafe on Dec. 1 at 7 p.m. Next regular meeting will be with Mrs. Wischoff Dec. 7.

Open Meeting Tonight On Consumer Deceit

Consumers who suspicion that the wool is being pulled over their eyes will be especially interested in a talk tonight (Thursday) by Mrs. Lorena Meyers of Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Meyers, a graduate of Kansas State, is a consumer specialist with the Federal Food and Drug Administration, working in Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma. The meeting, open to the public, is to be held at 7 p.m. at the WSC Student Center Birch Room.

Mrs. Meyers will focus on misinformation, misadvertising and fraudulent practices in regard to foods, drugs and cosmetics.

The consumer specialist's visit is being sponsored by Colchecton, the WSC home economics association, according to advisor Madalyn Binger.

Mrs. Meyers is also scheduled to speak to classes being taught by Miss Binger and Dr. Robert Sutherland this afternoon, and possibly to a group of Wayne-Carroll High School students. Friday she will talk to Mrs. Eena J. Adams' home economics and to a biology class.

Railroad Caboose Makes a Comeback

By SANDRA BREITKREUTZ

Remember standing by the railroad crossing—in the days when it was common to see trains—counting the cars and waiting patiently for your first glimpse of the caboose?

There was something about that little tail-end car that almost everyone—adult and child alike—felt a personal attachment for.

Whatever the mystery, it was strong enough that today old cabooses are in great demand all over the country.

Eena J. Adams, assistant professor in home economics at Wayne State College, is one of the luckier ones. After spending most of her summer vacation in search of a caboose, she hit the jackpot.

The idea of owning a caboose had appealed to her for some time, she smiled. "I have a farm near Portsmouth, Ohio, and must be there several times a year on business. As the house has tenants in it, I needed a place to hang my hat," she Railroad, in 1925 had 40 cabooses made up which were the ultimate in quality. Number 63, which Mrs. Adams now owns, was one of those 40.

Adams spent the past vacation in a tent, camping out at her farm, much to the dismay of friends.

Mrs. Adams explained that Henry Ford, owner of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton (DTI) her tent headquarters, saying he had a caboose to sell.

The wheels had already been removed, a convenience in this case, and the car had been cleaned of coal dirt. The next problem was that of moving the car 15 miles to Mrs. Adams' farm. The problem was solved with the rebuilding of about a half mile of country road and the contacting of a company with equipment used to move bulldozers.

The caboose is set on blocks now, a patio is being poured around the front side and an outdoor fireplace will be installed. Electricity and water will be in soon and an outdoor bathroom is next on the agenda, said Mrs. Adams. She expects total cost to be about $3,000, including purchase price.

The caboose is 25 feet long and eight feet wide. It is made of wood, as the earlier types were, and painted red. The inside will remain basically as it was in the days when it served as a home for engineers and firemen.

Two bunks face each other across the aisle which runs the full length of the car and a steel frame above provides additional sleeping room. Storage areas, consisting of bins and closet type spaces, are sandwiched in the middle of the car, also facing each other. On the other end of the caboose are the sink and counter. An old icebox will be replaced by a small electric refrigerator and next to it is the three-burner coal range which also provides heat. This piece of original equipment will be retained.

There is an open porch with the well-known rails at each end of the car. Ladders near the middle lead from the inside to a cupola with windows all around. There are seats there which can also be converted into extra sleeping space.

Mrs. Adams said she looks forward to developing a lake or large pond in the area, and in fact has done some work on it already. She is also considering putting in a small vineyard as grapes have been recently found adaptable to that part of Ohio.

Among the first guests at the little caboose will probably be Mrs. Adams' daughters, One makes her home in Columbus, Ohio, and the other is a student at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque.

According to an announcement made at the Monday afternoon meeting of the Wayne-Carroll Music Boosters, Wayne Middle School, under the direction of Mrs. John Nelson, instructor, will present a concert at the high school lecture hall at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 28.

No admission will be charged, and the public is invited to attend. There will be "Sports" Groups to participate will be the Sixth Grade Band, Middle School Cadet Band and Middle School Stage Band.

Thirty-five members turned out for the booster meeting which was held at the high school band room. A film and taped comments by judges from the Nebraska Marching Band Festival held at Lincoln Saturday were on the program. The local band brought home a superior rating from the contest according to Ron Dalton, instrumental music director.

Dalton also announced that eight local students would be going to Kearney Nov. 17 and 18 for All-State Band, Choir and Orchestra.

Next regular booster meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 4 at the band room.

Wed at Grace Church

White carnations and orange tinted pompons on the altar of Grace Lutheran Church for the Saturday evening marriage ceremony of Peggy Ann Johnson and Joseph Burns. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Johnson, all are of Wayne.

Guests were ushered by Harry Fox, Albion Mrs. E.J. Bernthal was organist. The Rev. E.J. Bernthal officiated at the double ring rite.

Honor attendants for the couple were Vivian Johnson, Norfolk, the bride's sister, and Arthur Bruns, Wayne, the bridegroom's twin brother.

The bride appeared in a two-length gown of white polyester crepe, fashioned in long sleeves, lined with long bell sleeves and daisy lace trim. Her veil was caught to a matching lace headpiece and she carried a cascade of Robin Ayr roses and feathered champagne carnations with English ivy. Her sister's gown, also in toe length, was of orange flowered shantung in a similar style. She carried an orange tinted single white mum. Both dresses were made by the bride's mother.

The men wore brown business suits. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnson chose a floor-length gown fashioned with orange print skirt and black bodice, complemented with black accessories. Mrs. Bruns wore a street-length dress in beige with brown accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception for about 65 guests was held at the church parlors. A sister of the bride, Virginia Johnson, Pileger, registered guests and served punch. Mrs. Robert E. Darko, Minneapolis, Minn., cut and served the cake and Pat Wert, Wayne, poured. Serving were Maurren McClish, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mrs. Warren Austin, Mrs. Melvin Johnson and Mrs. Melvin Wert, Wayne.

Auxiliary Tops Goal

Wayne Hospital Auxiliary members overshoot the goal they had set for the annual fall bazaar Saturday, according to Mrs. Clifford Wait, treasurer, though the exact amount earned has not yet been determined.

The goal of $1,500 was the amount pledged by the group for the building fund of the proposed Wayne Medical Center. In addition to exceeding the pledge goal, the bazaar proceeds also topped last year's figure.

The annual event was held Saturday at the city auditorium.

Bread Workshop Set

"The Holiday Yeast Bread" workshop, sponsored annually by the University of Nebraska Northeast Station, Concord will be held today (Thursday) at the Equitable Savings and Loan Building, South Sioux City, and Friday at the Pender Fire Hall. Both meetings will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Main emphasis will be on shaping yeast breads. A registration fee of 50¢ per person will be charged and registration is limited. Joycelyn Smith at the station is in charge of the workshop.

Married October 26

In a quiet ceremony Oct. 26 at Grace Lutheran Church, Jane Sieger, Wayne, became the bride of Fred Novotny, Pender. The couple was attended by Mary Lou Sieger, Denver, Colo., and Brad Novotny, Pender. The Rev. E. J. Bernthal, Wayne, officiated at the double ring rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. George Sieger, Wayne, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Artie Novotny, Pender.

The altar was appointed with arrangements of yellow and bronze mums and the bride carried a nosegay of yellow roses and bronze mums to complement her street dress of beige double knit. Miss Sieger, the maid of honor, wore a navy blue street-length dress, also in double knit and carried a single yellow mum.

The bridegroom's father sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding's Father Song." The organist was Mrs. Bernthal. Ushers were Dana and Bill Novotny, Pender.

The bride's mother selected a blue printed double knit and Mrs. Novotny chose a brown print. Both mothers had black accessories.

A reception for 60 guests was held at the church parlors following the ceremony. Guests, registered by Eunice Diediker, Allen, were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Walt Sieger, Lawton, Ia., who served as hosts. Jan Horton and Connie Wilson, Sioux City, Ia., arranged gifts.

Mrs. Clarence Smith, Marcus, Ia., cut and served the cake and Mrs. Edwin Corbett, Fremont, poured. Shirley Baier, Wayne, served punch. Waitresses were Becky Sieger, Lawton, and Diane Sieger, Hornick, Ia.

The bride, a 1971 graduate of Wayne High School and a 1972 graduate of Stewart's School of Hairstyling, Sioux City, Ia., is employed in Scribner at the Fashionette Salon. The bridegroom is a 1970 graduate of Pender High School and a 1972 graduate of National Electronics Institute at Denver. He is employed at Midland TV in Scribner.

Trojan Team Seeks First Conference Win

By BOB BARTLETT

It looks like the stage is all set for today's climax game between the Scribner Trojans and the Wayne Blue Devils.

It won't take much to fire up these teams for the battle for the Husker Conference football title. Just a blow of the whistle to start the game should do it.

Trojan head man Richard Tingelhoff will be trying to win his first conference award at 2 p.m. on the home turf. Already in his six years of coaching, four as head coach, he has collected two East division titles.

The boys are quite enthusiastic about this Thursday. Tingelhoff said in a telephone interview. "Although we have a young ball club, the team looks like it is ready."

"Poppe is our passing quarterback," Tingelhoff noted. When the East Husker Conference winners get into a little trouble on the ground, Poppe usually will jump into the contest for his aerial feats.

"What makes it good," Tingelhoff commented, "is that Poppe is dangerous on the run-pass option. Already he has scored one 60-yard TD. Another factor to add to his credentials is his 516-yard passing clip, hitting 33 out of 44 attempts."

Most high school football coaches consider themselves lucky if they have one good healthy PAaOT 10-Speed Bicycles. 14 million bicycles will be sold in the U. S. in 1973. SCRIBNER COACH Richard Tingelhoff (center) will be ready for today's Husker Conference title match against Wayne at 2 p.m. along with his pass-run quarterbacking team of senior Jim Ries (left) and sophomore Russell Poppe.

quarterback lending the team. But Tingelhoff has a double ace up his sleeve with senior Jim Ries quarterbacking the running game.

Even when the 6-3 170-pounder isn't calling the plays, the team's No. 1 quarterback can be found on the end ready to receive a Poppe pass. Helping on the other end is 6-2 junior David Carper.

This year the Trojans are averaging about 240 yards a game with 163 of that amount on the ground. Spearheading that muscle is the Power-I man, senior John Dahl.

To help open the holes for the running back, the offensive wall is led by tackle Reed Muller. "Muller helps to jell together our 175-180 pound line," Tingelhoff said.

Defensively, the Trojans will start out in a "variation 53" defense.

"We'll have five men up front with three linebackers," Tingelhoff said. "But sometimes we'll use a 4-2."

Again Muller and Ries will head the defensive unit along with linebacker Doug Moeller and Sonny Marquardt. "Carper also will play on the defensive end spot. I think he is a very fine end."

Tingelhoff and his coaching staff, Mike Hunt and Roger Uecker, believed that at the beginning of the year the team would be facing the long chore of rebuilding. "We're all kind of surprised to see the team come this far in such a short time. Now all we have to do is beat Wayne for a perfect 9-0 season," the coach said.

Defense Bolsters Second WSC Win

What can the Wayne State football defense do for an encore?

Well, after three Wildcat defenders pulled off one of the oddest plays in football history last Saturday, the other eight might try something like a triple reverse on a pass interception and go 80 or 90 yards for a touchdown.

They have one chance to perpetrate such an encore when the Wildcats meet Nebraska Wesleyan at 2 p.m. Saturday in Lincoln.

Being more realistic, however, coaches and players will settle for a third win in a row and leave the fancy stuff to pure chance.

It was mighty fancy last Saturday when Wayne's defense came up with a scoring fumble return that featured two lateral passes. The touchdown gave Wayne a 23-7 win over Yankton College.

This oddity occurred in the fourth quarter after Yankton quarterback Alan Peabody had tossed three incomplete passes from the Wayne 35. On fourth down, Wildcat defenders blitzed Peabody about 20 yards back wards. He fumbled in a swarm of blackshirts. Out of the pack came defensive end Stan Lewis clutching the ball.

Forty-five yards away, there was the goal-line, and Lewis decided to inspect it. After five yards he found the traffic a bit dense, so lateralized to defensive tackle Ron (Moose) Coles, who was of like mind in wanting to see the end zone. The 250 pound Moose galloped 20 yards, until he heard Greyhound footsteps mightly close.

However, some other footsteps belonged to defensive end Ken Monroe, who was convoying Coles step for step. Another lateral went into Monroe's hands, and he finished the trip of 30 yards to the end zone. This was some sort of justice, for it was Monroe who had forced the fumble.

Peabody, the tumbler, got right back into the action and was just about to tackle Coles before Coles lateralized to Monroe.

Defense dominated most of the game. First quarter skirmishes featured a punting duel which forced Yankton slowly backward until Wayne's Dan Ernst got within field goal range. On the second period, first play he booted a 26-yarder. Most of that quarter belonged to DEFENSE, page 5

The Difference in Deer

WHITE-TAILED DEER: The tail, ears, and gait of a deer are immediate clues to its identity. An alarmed whitetail (left) holds its tail aloft when fleeing, exposing a white rump and the white underside of the tail. When running, its gait resembles a conventional gallop. Caim whitetails (right) hold their tail down. A broad tail, with upper surface the same color as the rest of the deer and ears that appear normal-sized are good clues.

Volleyball Action

WINSIDE VOLLEYBALL Coach Don Leighton patiently waits for his girls to take their match against Pender during the second evening contest in the C-4 District Girls Volleyball Tournament at Wakefield. On the right, Winside's Deb Bargstadt spikes another point for her team as the Wildkittens beat Pender, 15-11 and 15-12. Wednesday night Winside was scheduled to face Bancroft in the semi-finals with the winner of that game playing the winner of the Wakefield-Emerson battle in the Thursday night finals. Earlier Wakefield snuffed out Ponca in three sets, 8-15, 15-10 and 15-11. Allen, another area team in the playoffs, went down to Emerson 15-9 and 15-6.

Woes of A Wakefield Head Coach

WAKEFIELD HEAD coach John Torczon was still shaking his head Saturday morning after his team lost a heartbreaker, 80-0, to the Lyons club Friday night.

The area head mentor saw his team take its sixth and final loss of the season when the visiting Lions drove 21 yards in 17 plays to put six points on the board with 51 seconds left in the match.

"Our defensive team only gave up 81 points during the whole year," he said disparagingly. "That's an average of one touchdown a game. You can't complain about that fact."

Torczon noted that his ball club was really up for the last game of the season that could have boosted the school record to the 500 mark at 5-5.

"We know Lyons was a good ball club. And we knew that Roger Layman is a good running back. In fact, I would say he's equal to Kirk Gardner," the Wakefield coach added. Gardner, a senior, was an outstanding rusher for Wakefield this year.

After Layman dashed in for the score, the 180-pound senior added the two-point conversion to cinch the team's sixth win against three defeats.

Although the Trojans were 2-0 in West Husker Conference play, and currently hold second in the division, the area team will have to sit on the sidelines today as the division winner, Wayne, travels to Scribner to meet another Trojans 11 for the Husker Conference title.

There doesn't seem to be much choice but to pick the Blue Devils to take their 21st straight win in two seasons. At the same time, they can collect their second Husker Conference award.

Right now my predictions have been good on 30 of 42 games with only two games to predict—Wayne, of course, and yesterday's battle between Osmond and Walthill.

Since this column comes out on Wednesday in the city and Thursday in the rural areas, many out-of-town readers may think I'm predicting the winner of the Lewis and Clark Conference game after it's over. Not so.

The time is 4:03 p.m. Tuesday, so I'll say the Osmond Tigers should sweep the Bluejays for the No. 1 placing in the conference. By the way, in case no one knows yet and it's probably too late now to tell anyone, the Lewis and Clark playoff was at the Wayne State stadium.

TAKING AN early glimpse at the basketball season, good news greets this year's Wayne High team with the return of 5'11" guard Doug Sturm.

After a trip to Sioux City and a four page single spaced typewritten report, doctors have given Sturm the go ahead to play the round ball sport.

With the addition of the new head coach Bill Sharpe, the Blue Devils will be aiming to vastly improve last season's mark of 4-11.

Hunter Course Aims for Safety

"Gunning for safety. That isn't exactly the slogan of the members of the Nebraska Hunter Safety Course, but it is an important target the group aims for.

"Safety is of the utmost importance," said Bill Wilson, one of the program instructors. "We're here to have fun and learn too, but the group also is made aware to the respect of a gun or rifle."

The Hunter Safety course, sponsored by the Wayne V.F.W. and the Logan Valley Gun Club plus other groups, offers young people a chance to learn about the proper use and care of firing arms as well as a chance for a person to improve skills on the firing range.

Wilson continued, "where the various groups gather to first study a different aspect of fire arms, and then a practice session follows."

The four week course, meeting one hour a week, centers on knowledge of guns and ammunition, proper gun handling, sighting and shooting techniques and hunter responsibility. "The number of meetings can vary," added Dr. Richard DeNaeyer, also an instructor. "It depends upon the instructor and how many meetings he wants to have."

"Our meetings are held at the National Guard Armory," Wilson continued, "where the various groups gather to first study a different aspect of fire arms, and then a practice session follows."

The National Rifle Association Dr. DeNaeyer went on, requires a hunter safety course to present a minimum of four one-hour classes.

It is possible, Wilson added, that the state will require every hunter in Nebraska to take a hunter safety course before obtaining his hunting permit.

Presently, the sponsoring groups are winding up another session but hope to start up several more sessions in the near future. "If all depends on how many people are interested in the safety course," Wilson said.

Other instructors and helpers in the courses are Ted Blenderman, Larry Clay, Ken Carlson, Steen Anderson, Mrs. Richard DeNaeyer, Max Teeler and Roger Lentz.

Deer Rifle Season

Twenty-seven years ago, 500 hunters started a new wrinkle in Nebraska hunting that was to become an annual habit four years later. That was the state's first modern-day rifle season for deer. Place was Halsey Forest and Nebraska's "initial" group of big-game hunters responded with a harvest of 26 deer.

This Saturday (Nov. 11), 24,250 rifle hunters will go afield, almost 50 times the number of shooters that first season, in pursuit of mule and whitetailed deer. This pushes the accumulative total of rifle deer permits from 1945 through this season to 339,725.

Hunting success during the upcoming nine-day hunt is expected to be slightly better than last year's all time low of 44 per cent. This is because there are more either sex permits and there has been a cullback of about 5,000 permits to upgrade the equality of deer hunting.

During Nebraska's 24 rifle seasons hunters have racked up about a 63 per cent success score. Top year was 1956 when 80.2 per cent of the shooters brought home venison.

Hunters have their work cut out for them if they are to challenge the two state record deer, both topped in 1957. The No. 1 hog-dressed mule deer is a 310-pounder shot in Garden County and the No. 1 hog-dressed whitetail is a 287-pounder taken in Cherry County. Live weight, the mule would have gone about 380 pounds and the whitetail, 355.

"Our meetings are held at the National Guard Armory," Wilson continued, "where the various groups gather to first study a different aspect of fire arms, and then a practice session follows."

The National Rifle Association Dr. DeNaeyer went on, requires a hunter safety course to present a minimum of four one-hour classes.

Laurel Girls Top Hartington

The Laurel girls volleyball team knocked off Hartington, 15-6 and 15-7, Monday night to advance to the semi final rounds of the C-9 District Volleyball Tournament at Bloomfield Wednesday night.

If Laurel defeated Bloomfield, the girls were scheduled to meet the winner of the Coleridge-Wy not match later that night to decide the district state tournament representative.

Monday night's results included Coleridge's whipping of Wausa, 15-4 both times, and Wynol's win over Osmond, 15-3 and 15-4.

What species a hunter will bag depends considerably on where he hunts. While both mule and white-tailed deer occur throughout Nebraska, white-tails predominate in the eastern half and mules, the western half. Incidentally, age of a deer cannot be determined by antler development. The amount of wear on the teeth is the most accurate method.

Again this year check stations will be in operation and successful hunters are required to have their deer checked.

Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset daily.

Fishicious

Mrs. Dale Fatig offers this to the ladies, and the men: After browning fish filets, sprinkle half to a full package of dry onion soup (she uses Lipton) on the fish in the frying pan. Then add one-half cup of water and one-half cup or more of white wine and simmer for about 15 minutes. The results are fishicious.

DEFENSE —

to Yankton. The Greyhounds missed field goals of 52 and 18 yards, then scored on a 12-yard pass from Peabody to Gary Schuurmans. Jerry Edels made it 7-3.

Yankton fumbled on its own 12 yard in the quarter. Wayne recovered and four plays later scored on fullback Dennis Linke's three-yard plunge. Ernst added the point.

Wayne moved to a 16-7 lead in the third quarter when freshman quarterback Rick Benedetto found his most dependable receiver, Gary Martens, wide open on a 67 yard pass play — longest Wildcat aerial of the year. The nearest Greyhound was 25 yards away when Martens crossed the goal line. Ernst missed his kick, but he added a point on the four-quarter TD.

Defensive back Ken Ridley had another fine game, with interceptions and numerous tackles. He is Wayne's leader in interceptions, punt returns and kickoff returns.

Altogether Wayne defense limited Yankton to 13 yards rushing, 71 passing. The Wildcats didn't fare too well themselves on rushing — 72 yards — but traveled 135 yards by air. A week earlier they got 369 running, zero passing.

IF NEVER FAILS

Goose hunters in central Nebraska, particularly near St. Paul along the Loup River, aren't thinking too fondly on the three day closed season on geese (Oct. 29 through Nov. 1). As late waterfowl have it, a tremendous push of hunting geese started throughout the area on the first day of the closed season, peaked spectacularly on the second, and dwindled on the third and last day of "no hunting."

Two St. Paul river hunters, LaVerne "Curly" Jacobsen and Virgil Welsh, who know duck hunting, flights, etc., as if they wrote the book, said the only other flight comparable to this year's fabulous movement occurred in 1928.

Conditions then were similar — low ceiling, cold, and rainy. The Hutch's were flying low and dropping in among the decoys throughout the day.

Serpent-Like-Catch

The Recek of Columbus is credited this past summer with one of the most unusual catches of the year. Fishing in Tailrace Park, east of Columbus where the Platte and Loup rivers join, Recek caught a 30-inch long, three-pound American eel with a 2 1/2-inch girth. The eel, a true fish, was taken on chicken liver.

Wayne-Carroll School Board Takes First Step Toward Girls' Athletics

Girls at Wayne High School will be permitted to play intramural volleyball or basketball when the new year rolls around.

The Wayne-Carroll school board Monday night approved spending up to $500 on the pilot program for the months of January and February and about the first two weeks of March.

The board's decision followed last month's meeting at which approximately 50 high school girls attended the school board meeting to voice their support for girls' athletics.

Girls in the high school will be permitted to sign up for either sport, with the one receiving the most support being put into effect. A survey conducted earlier in the high school showed that volleyball is most popular among the girls.

There will be no conflict with boys' basketball when the girls' sport begins, according to Francis Haun, superintendent, because all games will be played after 7 p.m.

Number of girls who will participate will determine how many nights a week are devoted to the girls' sport, Haun told the board.

The Wayne-Carroll school system is one of only four schools in the state which offer no interschool sports competition for girls, the board was informed by Haun.

Other schools which have not yet opened the door for girls' sports are Mitchell, Aurora and Falls City Sacred Heart.

All other Nebraska high schools -- about 372 of them -- offer some sports activities for girls, Haun informed the board.

Haun told the board that there are not enough funds in this year's budget to offer more than one or two intramural activities. However, he told the board, money will probably have to be budgeted for girls' athletics in the 1973-74 budget.

Appointed by the board president, Irvin Brandt of Wayne, to help with salary negotiations for the coming year were Willbur Owens of Carroll and Milburn Giese of Wayne.

Brandt, who will also serve on the committee, said having more than one or two persons on the committee will give more board members opportunity to learn about negotiating as well as provide another viewpoint during negotiations.

The board voted to change graduation requirements so a student can graduate in seven terms if a total of 180 semester hours of work are gathered. Presently, students are required to attend a full eight semesters even if they fulfill their graduation requirements in a shorter period. The change is retroactive.

The board's decision will permit students meeting their requirements to leave in the middle of their senior year, allowing them to attend graduation ceremonies with the rest of their classmates when spring commencement rolls around if they wish.

In other action the board: — Directed Supt. Haun to set up specifications for bids on liability insurance for board members. The bids may be ready for the board at its December meeting. The insurance would cover board members in such cases as suits arising from unfairly administering a school program to some students, firing a teacher without cause and the like.

Reviewed the recently completed school audit. After examining the costs of the school lunch program in the audit, the board decided to consider at its next meeting a raise of five cents in the cost of lunches for high school students. Several board members said that charging the same amount for both high school students and elementary students — 45c singly or 40c on a weekly basis — is not fair because of the larger portions eaten by the older youths. The increase, which would be the first in three years in the hot lunch program, would raise approximately $1,800 a year, the audit revealed.

Up'n Coming

- Today (Thursday): Husker Conference playoff between Wayne and Scribner at Scribner, 2 p.m.
- Today and Friday: Parent-teacher conferences in grades K-8 in Wayne-Carroll schools.
- Friday: Nebraska Marine Corps birthday ball at El Rancho Supper Club, 6:30 p.m.
- Friday: Wayne County American Legion and Auxiliary convention at Carroll, 7:30 p.m.
- Saturday: Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers banquet at Coleridge, 7 p.m.
- Wednesday: Tri-Cog meeting at Allen Fire Hall, 8 p.m.

Request for Hospital Funds Goes to KC

The first two sections of the request for Hill Burton funds help construct the new hospital planned at Wayne have been forwarded from Lincoln to Kansas City for review, reports Bob Carhart of Wayne, Wayne Hospital Foundation president.

Carhart also reported this week that easements for sewer and water lines to the new hospital, which will be built northeast of Wayne State College, have been obtained from owners of the land the lines will cross.

Wakefield Will Host County Convention

Dixon County American Legion and Legion Auxiliary will hold their annual convention at Wakefield this Saturday according to Gene Erb, Wakefield. The men will meet at the Legion Hall at 5 p.m. and women will assemble at the Cornhusker Cafe, Wakefield, at 4:30 p.m.

The banquet, to be catered by the Cornhusker, will be served at 7 p.m. at the Wakefield Elementary School, and will be followed by a dance. Master of ceremonies will be Cecil Rhodes and guest speaker will be Harry Mills.

Tickets for the evening are $5 per couple.

Benefits From VA Total Over $3 Million Monthly

More than 38,000 Nebraska veterans, widows, orphans and parents are receiving benefit payments from the Veterans Administration totaling over $3,250,000 monthly, according to Chris Bargholz, Wayne County veterans service officer.

Continued entitlement to these benefits in many cases, depends on the amount of income received by these persons, he said. More than 16,000 of these claimants will be sent a questionnaire with the benefit check they will receive this month, he said, and the questionnaires must be properly completed and returned to the VA not later than January 15 or the January check will not be released.

He offers his help to all residents of Wayne County in the proper completion of the questionnaire. His office is located at 108 Main St. in Wayne and office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily Monday through Friday.

RN Is Assigned To District IV

Mrs. Gloria Koch of Stanton is one of six registered nurses joining the Nebraska Department of Public Welfare as a regional field nurse.

Lawrence L. Graham, state welfare director, announced that the move to appoint the nurses to different regions in the state is intended "to improve the department's capability to periodically review the care of elderly welfare patients in skill ed nursing and intermediate care homes."

Mrs. Koch, assigned to Region IV at Norfolk, began work this week. Wayne is included in Region IV.

Deadline Near For Servicemen's Christmas List

A list of names and addresses of area servicemen for use during the Christmas season is being prepared for publication in The Wayne Herald.

The list, which will be printed in the Nov. 23rd issue, will be handy for area persons wishing to send cards, letters or presents to friends or relatives serving in the armed forces.

Anybody wishing to have a name and address printed in the list should send it to The Herald as soon as possible. Deadline for including names in the list is Saturday, Nov. 18.

If you have friends or relatives who say "nobody speaks clearly any more," you should encourage the person to have a hearing test. Such statements can be a sign the person is suffering from an undetected hearing loss.

Computer Good at Tic Tac Toe, Too

High school students and teachers who got an introduction to the Wayne State College computer Monday night learned a bit about operating the mysterious machine.

They also learned that the computer can beat you at tic tac toe practically every time and that the computer can both compose and play music.

However, the high school visitors — 32 of them from Laurel, Wakefield and Wayne — came for more serious purpose than playing tic tac toe. They had accepted a Wayne State invitation to attend a weekly course in computer operation.

Maurice Anderson, associate professor of mathematics, gave the class a brief talk, then showed how the computer works. Some of the groups also key punched a few program cards — the kind by which people talk to computers.

In the remaining eight or nine Monday night sessions at 7:30, Anderson will lead the class into simple program writing and let them convert the programs to key punched cards which will actually operate the computer.

Anderson said it will be possible for others to start the course next Monday, but after that they would be too far behind. He anticipates offering a Monday evening session will begin in Carhart Science Hall, Room 102, for a lecture period, then move to the computer center in Hahn Administration Building.

Anderson said he was pleased at the number of teachers attending — nearly half the group. He added that it is feasible for high schools to offer a basic course on computers.

Poppy Day Proclamation

WHEREAS, the sacrifices of those who have lost their lives, their health, or their livelihood as a result of their military service are rightly the concern of all citizens; and

WHEREAS, the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars offers an opportunity for the people of this community to express their solicitude for those unfortunate persons who have paid more than their share of the cost of freedom; and

WHEREAS, V.F.W. Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans, and the proceeds of this worthy fund-raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans, in the desire to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living"; therefore,

I, Kent Hall, Mayor of the City of Wayne do hereby urge the citizens of this community to recognize the merits of this cause by contributing generously to its support through the purchase of Buddy Poppies on Thursday, Nov. 16, the day set aside for the distribution of these symbols of appreciation for the sacrifices of our honored dead.

I urge all patriotic citizens to wear a Buddy Poppy as mute evidence of our gratitude to the men of this country who have risked or lost their lives in fulfilling their obligations as American citizens.

Kent Hall, Mayor

Clara Krueger Funeral Rites Held in Hoskins

The Rev. Andrew Domson officiated at funeral services held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Trinity Lutheran Church, Hoskins, for Mrs. Fred (Clara Ida) Krueger, 71, of Hoskins. Mrs. Krueger died last Wednesday in a Norfolk hospital.

Funeralbearers were Arnold Miller, Jerry Krueger, Clifford Krueger, Philip Lubke, Alfred Krueger Jr. and Victor Krueger. Music was provided by Mrs. Gerald Bruggeman and accompanied by Ronald Schmidt. Burial was in the Springbranch Cemetery, southwest of Hoskins. Clara Ida Krueger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lubke, was born Nov. 23, 1900 in Pierce County. She was baptized Feb. 3, 1901.

On Sept. 29, 1932 she was united in marriage to Fred Krueger at Pierce. They had made their home in the Hoskins area all their life.

Survivors include her widower, Fred of Hoskins, one daughter, Mrs. Leon Irene Sellin of Sioux Falls, S.D., one son, Dale of Denver, Colo., one grandchild, one sister, Mrs. Irmada Miller of Pierce, and one brother, Charlie Lubke of Norfolk.

She was preceded in death by her parents, two brothers and two sisters.

Police Check Fender Benders

Sunday is usually considered a day of rest for most area residents. But the Wayne police Department found that day a busy one for area motorists involved in fender benders.

About 10:45 a.m. Sunday a car driven by Phebe B. Benhach, 414 W. 4th, struck the left rear end of a parked auto owned by Chilton L. or Richard J. Ginn of 4114 Douglas when she was backing out of her driveway.

Sunday afternoon a vehicle driven by Robert D. Addison, 1143 Sunset Dr., hit a vehicle driven by Gene E. Schaaf, Emmel. According to police reports, Addison was attempting to turn right from Main onto 14th when he drove left of center and struck the left front corner of Schaaf's car.

Another accident, this one occurring at 8 p.m. Friday, involved two parked cars near 108 W. Eighth.

A car owned by Robert J. or G. Joseph Engler, Osmond, was parked on a driveway when it slipped out of gear, rolled around on the terrace and ran into a car owned by John Cleveland, Linn Grove, Ia., parked on W. Eighth.

A grain wagon broke loose from its hitch about 2 p.m. Tuesday and broke a 4 by 4 highway sign on the 200 block of East Seventh St.

Eldon Bull, Route 1, said he was driving his tractor, pulling two wagons filled with grain, when the tongue broke on the rear wagon. The wagon jumped the curb and struck the sign.

Voting over, state senators prepare for another year

Legislators jockey for top posts, start thinking about school aid, abortion, new criminal code as '73 session nears

Capital News

LINCOLN — With the election finished, it's time to look ahead to the 1973 Legislature. The state senators — new and old — will gather in Lincoln early next month for the pre-session meeting of the Legislative Council. At that time, they will hear reports from the study committees and lay the groundwork for the 1973 session. The scramble for the speakership generally begins in earnest during the Legislative Council meetings. Policing for other leadership posts also is a big part of the late fall sessions. This year, the Legislature will cooperate with the League of Women Voters on a program designed to orient new senators in the legislative procedures. Some of the key issues due for consideration in next year's 90-day session are school aid, mental retardation, no-fault insurance, abortion and a proposed new criminal code. A study committee headed by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly currently is taking the school aid question around the state to gather public reaction to a variety of approaches the committee has lined up for consideration. Gov. J. J. Exon also is drafting a proposal and promises to bounce it off public opinion prior to the session. The combination of additional state aid to the elementary and secondary schools and of property tax relief is expected to be one of the hottest topics before the legislators. Mental retardation — whether a building of the facilities at the Beatrice State Home should come ahead of more effort for the community-based programs — also will ignite sparks next session. The governor has unveiled a plan for adding staff and doing remodeling and new construction work at Beatrice. His decision has been criticized by the advocates of the community-based programs, but Exon has said he won't be swayed from the decision. Opponents of the governor's plan have promised to line up legislative support for their side, insuring the issue will be an item for floor debate. The legal fraternity and the insurance industry are on a collision course on the no-fault insurance question. Under the direction of Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway, a study committee is preparing a no-fault bill — and maybe more than one. The Nebraska State Bar Association and the Trial Lawyers Association each have passed resolutions opposing the no-fault concept. They claim the type of bill Waldron is expected to propose would be harmful to the public because it would eliminate a right to sue for general damages (pain and suffering).

Waldron contends the no-fault plan would reduce premiums and make the collection of benefits easier. The abortion issue hasn't surfaced in the Legislature in recent years, but that's because the lawmakers generally have taken a hands-off attitude toward it. The 1973 session, however, is expected to see a bill introduced. The proposed revision of the criminal code includes the abortion laws which have been in the lawbooks for decades. Authors of the revised code said they decided not to stir up the controversy that would accompany abortion law changes. The code does call for capital punishment in two instances — first degree murder or kidnapping where there is an attempt to conceal another crime. Exon also has announced his penal reform plans. He lists four instances in which he thinks there should be a death penalty. They are murder during an aggressive sexual assault, multiple assaults in which one or more deaths occur, carnal or attempted assassination of public officials or candidates and the killing of a hostage. The Exon plan lists a number of other changes in the statutes and construction programs he would like to see adopted by the 1973 Legislature. A study committee headed by Sen. Roland A. Luedtke of Lincoln also has been looking into penal reform and is expected to issue a report differing in many respects from Exon's proposals. Among other things, Exon suggests that the Parole Board be enlarged from the present three members to five. He says three of the members should work fulltime, with the other two on a parttime basis. Now, only the chairman, John Greenholz, serves fulltime. The governor also proposes that the parole and probation activities be consolidated into a single operation. He calls for a "drastic overhaul" of laws dealing with bad check writers, with crimes involving less than $1,000 to be considered misdemeanors instead of felonies. A consulting firm working under a $90,000 contract is preparing the report for the Luedtke committee.

Snow Tires Now Legal In Nebraska

The use of studded snow tires is now prohibited in five states and one Canadian province, the Cornhusker Motor Club advises Nebraska motorists. The states are Colorado, Minnesota, Mississippi, Utah and Hawaii. Minnesota, which is in the second year of the ban, has retained to the extent that it does allow studded tires on cars registered out of state. In addition, says the Nebraska AAA club, 26 states and seven provinces of Canada place time restrictions on the use of studded tires, ranging from Alaska's Sept. 15-May 1 use period to Arkansas' Nov. 15-March 15 period. Nineteen states and two Canadian provinces accept studded tires with no restrictions.

Dr. John Neihardt to be spotlighted on state's ETV

Fans of Dr. John Neihardt will be able to hear him reminisce about his early life on two special programs to be broadcast on the stations of the Nebraska Educational Television Network. The first program will be Friday at 8 p.m., the second on the following Friday at the same time. The first one will mark the return of the popular series "The Bookshelf," which has been broadcast in its present one-half hour format since 1964. Dr. Neihardt, who has many ties with the Wayne area, will talk about experiences recalled in his recently published autobiography, "All Is But A Beginning." He recalls his boyhood in Kansas City. "I used to go over and sit under a tree and watch the rich people. They looked so happy. A boy my age had a big dog, a St. Bernard, and I would sit on the opposite side of the street and wonder if I would ever know a boy like that." Other experiences recalled by Dr. Neihardt include his "love story" with a four-year old girl when he was five. "One day I didn't turn up at the bridge (where they played), and she came up to the grocery store and kissed me through the screen." He also tells of his fond attachment toward his teacher. He remembers that she was tall and slender and, "All my life I identified many women with her." The second program will be a continuation of the first with both programs giving the viewer a chance to experience visiting with an author in his 90's who is still actively engaged in his craft.

Way Back When

30 Years Ago
November 12, 1942: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnett, Wayne, observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home Tuesday. Registration for gas line rationing will be conducted in Wayne County Friday, through the schools. About 300 Wayne school students were vaccinated last Thursday for immunization against smallpox and diphtheria. Ismael Hughes, Carroll, has accepted a position with the Council Oak company. Mr. Hughes has had 17 years of experience in the grocery business although the past few years he has published the Carroll News which he has suspended for the duration. Mrs. C. P. Dillon, Wisner, is new pastor of Winside Methodist Church.

25 Years Ago
November 13, 1947: The first snow storm of the season struck this section Thursday night. It followed considerable rain, and motoring was hazardous with a coating of ice. Ted Mildner, son of Mrs. Johanna Mildner, Wayne, last week joined the local Brown McDonald store as manager of the men's department. Hans Lundin, superintendent of Winside light plant resigned his position effective Nov. 4. N. H. Brugger, Wayne, will inspect the Winside plant at certain intervals. Winside city council purchased a new Buckeye engine for the power plant. Rev. P. Pearson, Wayne, 91, received his first plane ride Wednesday, a birthday gift from a friend. R. G. Fuelberth was the pilot. Conducting a whirlwind drive for the purchase of new uniforms: mothers of the Wayne public school band members announced Monday nearly $1,400 had been collected.

20 Years Ago
November 6, 1952: Robert Boultong, Winside, who operated a garage and auto repair business for the past 12 years, sold the business to John Gallop this week. Mr. Gallop took possession immediately. Paul Fenske, Hodgins, left last Wednesday to join other delegates to the World Conference of Christian Youth being held at Travencare, India, in December. Friends and neighbors of Elray Hank, Concord, held a husking bee for him Friday. Mr. Hank is being treated for polio at a Sioux City hospital. A farewell service for Rev. Wallace Wolff and family was held Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church, Winside. Rev. Wolff and family will leave Dec. 6 for British Guiana, South America where he will serve as missionary.

15 Years Ago
November 14, 1957: Bonnie Lutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lutt, was winner of the Wayne Jaycees annual Voice of Democracy contest last week. Herbert Hilkemann, Randolph, was re-elected chairman of the Wayne County School Reorganization committee at a meeting Friday night at the courthouse. Allen firemen were called to the Vern Hubbard farm Sunday night to battle a granary fire. Eighteen Wayne Prep third graders toured The Wayne Herald Thursday to learn how the newspaper is printed. Thirty-eight NE Nebraska children attended the crippled children's clinic at the WSCC student union Saturday. Welfare Director Mrs. Yleen Rhudy reported this week. Floyd Bernard, Newcastle, was elected Dixon County Legion commander at the annual county convention Monday at Wakefield.

10 Years Ago
November 8, 1962: Reuben Voecks broke his ankle Tuesday afternoon in an elevator accident. He was hospitalized but has been released. The Wayne Community Chest reached 101 per cent of its goal this week and still has a few envelopes to come in. John Blanchard, New York Yankee catching star, will be the main speaker at the Old Timers Baseball Association annual meeting in Wayne. Lauren Bockenhauer, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bockenhauer, was named to the National 44 Club Congress with his 4-11 boy's record project.

the SOBER FACTS

EYE MUSCLES FIRST OF REFLEXES TO BE AFFECTED BY ALCOHOL

85-90% of the information drivers received about the traffic scene comes from the eyes, and the six muscles that control eye function are among the first to lose their effectiveness as the result of alcohol.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786

Bothersome but necessary

With the drying weather that has finally come to the Wayne area, drivers are urged to be a little more cautious on the highways and county roads. Farmers will be shuffling between fields and farmsteads as they work to get the corn crop out of the fields and into storage. They don't move too fast, those tractors lugging equipment behind them. But they have every right to use the roads which were built with their help. It's easy to get irate at Mr. Farmer for taking up so much room as he moves at a what seems to be a turtle's pace down the road. Don't get too irate, however. If he doesn't get that crop in, he won't be shopping around for a new car, or looking at a new freezer, or trying on new suits. For that matter, he might consider not renewing his newspaper for the coming year.

A great idea, but will it help?

What long-term benefits Governor Exon hopes to gain from the coming Super Safety Day campaign is a bit difficult to understand. The campaign might — but we wouldn't bet on it — cut down the number of accidents on state highways and roads that day, November 14. But what happens the day after that statewide effort is what is important. It's a good bet we will see on killing and maiming each other with amazing skill, sending friends and relatives to hospitals and morgues at about the same rate and frequency as before Super Safety Day. True, the state may see a small reduction in the number of accidents which yearly kill nearly 500 persons and injure another 17,000. The loss that day may be somewhat under the estimated $500,000 wiped out each and every day of the year because of automobile accidents. But what's going to happen the following day? And the day after that? Let's not kid ourselves, we're not going to make any dent in the state's highway slaughter through one day's campaign. There are only a few things which will do that. Stricter law enforcement control is one of them, probably the most important one. Safer highways and cars would help, too, and more concern by drivers across the state would have its results. But all those things are going to have to be present on a daily basis the year around. Without them, a Super Safety Day campaign — regardless of how well publicized and trumpeted — will be about as successful as a one-legged tackler against Nebraska's Johnny R. he's here - now - he's there Johnny Rodgers.

Wayne
Dear Editor,
As a reader of The Wayne Herald, I have never found anything printed in it to get too upset about until a recent issue came out with an altered version of the Twenty Third Psalm.
As a believer in the Bible and a follower of Jesus Christ, I would like to say that there is only one Shepherd, and He is The Great Shepherd, political or otherwise.
"Because the Lord is my Shepherd, I have everything that I need. He lets me rest in the meadow grass and leads me beside the quiet streams. He restores my failing health. He helps me do what honors Him the most. Even when walking through the dark valley of death, I will not be afraid, for He is close beside me, guarding and guiding all the way. He provides delicious food for me in the presence of my enemies. He has welcomed me as His guest. Blessings overflow! His goodness and unfailing kindness shall be with me all my life, and afterwards I will live with Him forever in His home." This was taken from the Living Bible.

This is the true meaning of this beautiful psalm, and should be the only way it is used.
Who are we to take such a special passage and use it in a mocking way?
Name Withheld Upon Request
(Editor's Note: Last Thursday's issue of the newspaper contained a "slightly altered" version of the Bible's Twenty Third Psalm which poked fun at government intrusion in the lives of taxpayers as well as the tendency for politicians to make their most frequent visits back home when election time rolls around.)

WAYNE HIGH BLUE DEVILS

1972 WEST HUSKER FOOTBALL CHAMPS

Our hats are off to Coach Allen Hansen, his coaching staff and the 1972 Wayne High School Blue Devils for their perfect 9-0 season and a berth in the Husker Conference Play-off at Scribner today (Thursday). Each player deserves a share of the trophy for his dedication, long hours of practice and hard work which resulted in the highly successful grid season. Special recognition goes to the parents of these fine young athletes who encouraged their sons and faithfully followed the Blue Devils throughout the football season.

The Agent's Angle

by Harold Ingalls

Sources of Profit And Loss in Cattle Feeding

Phil Henderson, extension economist at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, provides us with this brief analysis of the cattle feeding situation:

"Have you ever considered the fact that 'profits' from cattle feeding really come from just two sources, i.e., price margin and feeding margin?"

"The term price margin refers to the difference between the selling price per cwt. of the finished animal and the purchase price per cwt. of the feeder animal. In recent years, we have been operating with a near zero or even negative price margin a good share of the time."

"The other source of profit, feeding margin, could be defined as the difference between the selling price per cwt. and the cost of gain per cwt. Selling prices of fed steers have been high enough in recent years to make a very favorable feeding margin.

"The total cost of putting on 100 pounds of gain has been approximately $25 or $26 if all costs are included and corn is around $1.10. An increase of 10 cents a bushel would increase costs of gain by about $1 to $1.25 a cwt. The cost of feed per cwt. of gain tends to run a little lower for calves than for yearlings. But non-feed costs may run a little higher for calves due to the fact that the length of feeding period is longer."

"Since both price margin and feeding margin relate to the selling price, the probable selling price of cattle becomes extremely important. Live cattle futures for next spring and summer have been close to the $38 mark. With this kind of selling price and a 27 cent cost of gain, those who feed yearlings and have paid $42 a cwt. for 700 pounds can expect to lose about $28 on price margin ($38 minus $42 x 7 cwt.) and to make about $44 ($38 minus $27 x 4 cwt. gain) from feeding margin. Those who have paid as high as $45 for feeders may be hard pressed to balance the losses from price margins with the gains from feeding margins, unless selling prices actually turn out to be higher than $38.

"Those who feed calves may also find the losses from price margin nearly balancing the gains from feeding margin. For example, the person who pays $55 a cwt. for a 225 lb. calf would take a 47¢ loss on price margin ($38 minus $55 x .4) and original weight) compared to about a $75 gain from feeding margin ($38 minus $26 x 6 x .4 cwt. gain).

"Feeding margin is relatively more important to the calf feeder since roughly 69 per cent of the weight he sells comes from gain. On the other hand, price margin tends to be more important to the man who feeds yearling cattle since he buys over 60 per cent of the weight he finally sells."

"Expressing the importance of price margin in a little different way, a dollar a hundred mistake in buying 400 lb. calves amounts to only $4 per head, but $7 a head on a 700 pound steer.

"Those who manage to balance losses from price margin with gains from feeding margin as illustrated in the preceding examples will be selling their feeds (if home produced) at market price, getting about 8 to 8 1/2 per cent interest on any equity they have in the business, earning about $2 an hour for their labor and recovering enough to cover depreciation, taxes and other fixed costs on their facilities. That's not really too bad.

"Some of the prices being paid for feeder cattle are apparently based on a more optimistic opinion of the future selling price of fat cattle, lower costs of gains or lack of knowledge concerning what gains actually cost."

During 1972, the U.S.D.A. is looking to implement a broad program designed to help farmers control pests more effectively and more economically, while at the same time reducing the amount of DDT and other chemical pesticides currently being used.

High on the Hog

During the entire spring, summer and fall everyone on the farm seemed to be working to preserve food for the livestock. You'd think the way he goes on about getting the hay stacks moved in or the corn in the crib that the livestock were the only things that have to eat during the long, barren winter.

In between dinner and lunch, going after parts and chore time or taking the kids swimming, you have been busy putting beans in the freezer and tomatoes in the jars. You need food to put on the family table long after the garden vegetables have ceased to be green.

The shelves in the cellar or basement are lined with shiny, delicious looking jars of food. The freezer is half full of chickens, corn and peas. There is still a smell of fresh dirt on the pile of potatoes in the cave. All you need to make that winter menu complete is a nice selection of steaks, roast or pork chops.

The usual way to get steaks or pork chops on the farm is to persuade the man of the house to take one of his young, tender steers and a big, fat hog to the locker.

But he completely ignores your first suggestion of your needing a little variety of meat in the freezer. Funny how he can hear one faint mist among the loud clanging noise in the old tractor but he can't hear a word you say.

Several days later your suggestion will no doubt get an instant replay of the market prices. In a not so soft voice, you'll also learn exactly how much that steer would bring at the top price which it is worth. So he says. Last week when he was talking about shipping it, it was several dollars less. Maybe the markets went up that much.

Of course you are aware of the cost of meat. Especially if it's bought at the supermarket. You also know that if you bought steak in town that he'd gripe with every bite he took. He always claims it doesn't taste as good as his own, homegrown steaks.

So with his reluctance the menu begins to be a steady variation of ground beef. You're saving the chicken for the winter menus.

After a few days of goulash, meat loaf, hamburger patties and casseroles he'll probably have a good, logical sounding excuse about not having time to sort a steer and a hog to take to the locker. Then you'll get reminded of the cost of the processing at the locker.

Well, you can always save that money by doing it like Grandma used to do. Those were the good old days. When the "fatted calf" was killed Grandma used to make some delicacies that still make your mouth water. But there's only one big problem. You haven't the faintest idea how she made them.

Not only that but if he doesn't have time to take a steer to the locker, how will he find time to butcher a critter?

If the market is so much and the steer weighs so much, there is nothing to reduce that factor. Yet if you haven't paid any on that note, you'll never actually know how much difference one little steer or one big hog will make.

Those who have to buy their entire food supply in a supermarket seem to think that a farmer's wife gets her food free of cost. They think that all she has to do is buy a ten cent package of seed, plant it and reap vegetables a hundred fold. Well, in the first place it is hard to find a package of seed for ten cents. But that is about the way it begins.

There there are a few added features like sugar, fat lids, plastic bags, spices and so on. Not to mention a little thing like "time".

And, of course, with all the livestock just roaming around, you'll never miss a couple that went into the freezer. Not any more than Cousin Jim would miss the overtime on his paycheck if it's never there.

But that still doesn't put any steak or pork chops on your table. After another week, the ground beef begins to become altered with luncheon meat. Now, to a farmer, that is a high priced delicacy. Luncheon meat is to be used only for club or company. If he hasn't weakened by this time and taken the critters to the locker, you give him the third degree. A solid diet of wieners. After that you're living "high on the hog."

Local Church to Burn Mortgage

Grace Lutheran Church members will burn the mortgage on their enlarged church building in Wayne in special services Sunday at 10 a.m.

Today marks the 10th anniversary of the dedication rites for the renovated building.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Vernold W. Aurich of Lincoln, who serves as executive secretary of missions and stewardship for the Nebraska District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

Rev. E. J. Bernthal, pastor of Grace Lutheran, will officiate at the mortgage burning ceremony. Assisting him will be members of the building committee for the new addition, Chairman Roy Langemeier, Adolph Claussen, Harvey Grosse, Carl M. Lueders and Neil Sandahl.

A cooperative congregational dinner will be served at noon. Plans for the dinner are being made by women from the congregation's three auxiliary or organizations. Mrs. Harold Ekberg, Mrs. Otto Heitold, Mrs. Henry Rethwisch, Mrs. Otto

GI Bill Students Now Getting Checks Averaging $450

GI Bill trainees in Nebraska will receive checks averaging nearly $450 during November as a result of an increase in their educational assistance allowances.

Harry Piper, director of the Veterans Administration regional office at Lincoln, said VA computer personnel are trying to complete the necessary changes to get the checks out near the first of November.

Nationally, more than a million former GI's now attending school will benefit from the new law approved Oct. 24 by President Nixon.

Piper said the law permits the VA to make the monthly payments to students in advance rather than at the end of each month of training. As a result, November checks will include both the November advance and the October payment which was due at the end of the month under the old system.

Increases are retroactive to Sept. 1, so those who were enrolled in September and continue in school through Oct. 24 will receive the difference between old and new rates for any part of September they were attending school.

Students need not contact VA if they are already on VA rolls as GI Bill students, Piper said. Those who are already certified by their schools will receive higher payments automatically.

MORTGAGE BURNING for Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne is scheduled for Sunday, the 10th anniversary of dedication rites for the renovated building.

Wakefield Girl Is Vying for Queen Title

A Wakefield girl, Judy Gustafson, is one of four who will be competing for the Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers' Queen title during the group's annual meeting Sunday at Cole ridge.

Miss Gustafson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gustafson, will compete against three other girls, Mary Kay Potts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Potts, Hartington, Jeanne Milander, Saul, Mrs. Wallace Victor and Mrs. Al Wittig from the Ladies' Aid Society, Mrs. Mern Mordhorst and Mrs. Alan Beebe of the LWML Evening Circle, and Mrs. Arnold Maurer and Mrs. Frederick H. Mann from the Duo Club.

Organized in 1925 with 40 communicant members and nine Sunday school pupils, the congregation's first church was a modest 40 x 28 frame building located at the site of the present church on the corner of Ninth and Logan Streets.

In 1942 a 56 x 39 face brick structure built by Karl Othe Construction Co. was dedicated. Title was secured in December of 1949 on an 85 x 150 lot at the corner of Ninth and Main from the former Baker estate. A dwelling on this property served as overflow educational space for a number of years.

Ground was broken in April of 1962 for an addition to the existing church which would provide an additional 1,900 square feet of space for educational needs and social purposes, and would increase the combined nave and balcony seating capacity to its present 550.

A new hot water heating system throughout the structure, new lighting, pastor's office and working sacristy, all new chancel furnishings and pews, church kitchen, music storage room, new public address system and parking lot adjoining the church building were included in the $149,000 enlargement and renovating project. Payments on a $66,000 loan needed to complete the addition were completed this summer.

During its 47 year history, Grace Lutheran has had only three pastors, the Rev. H. H. Hopmann, Rev. Walter Brackensick and the present pastor, Rev. E. J. Bernthal, who came to Grace church in March of 1949. At the present time efforts are being made to secure another pastor to serve Wayne State campus and assist part time at Grace Lutheran.

City Without Electricity for Short Period

Portions of Wayne were left without electricity for about 10 minutes Monday morning when one of the engines at the city light plant dropped part of its load. Herman "Bud" Wacker said the 16-cylinder engine which was producing electricity for the city began sounding unusual to the operator and dropped part of its load when the operator switched from natural gas to oil. He said the engine is switched to oil from gas whenever it begins malfunctioning for safety reasons.

The engine was running at about three quarter load when it began acting up, he said. The power difficulty began about 7:12 a.m. and was cleared up in about 10 minutes.

Damage Spotty From Worms In Corn Fields

Rootworms accounted for the lodging of 50-60 per cent of the plants in a few Nebraska corn fields, but damage was spotty, reported Dr. David Keith, University of Nebraska-Lincoln entomologist, upon completion of NU's annual fall rootworm and corn borer survey.

Most of the rootworm activity this year occurred in the eastern third of Nebraska, but some heavy infestations were reported from the southwest crop district. In the northeast, east, southeast, central and south districts, corn plants were 7.4, 7.0, 3.5, 0.0 and 0.0 per cent lodged, respectively.

"Statewide rootworm populations generally increased in 1972, although we observed no widespread devastation. Rootworms and rootworm damage usually occur in the heavier soils and lower ground, but there are exceptions. We have not found any evidence of resistance to the commonly-used rootworm chemicals."

"Of the 125 fields in each of the five major corn producing districts that we examined, probably 65-70 per cent of them were treated with soil insecticides," noted Keith.

Several factors may influence the degree of next year's rootworm infestation, the entomologist said. Late maturing varieties, which had green silks last August and fields that were unusually weedy tend to attract egg-laying beetles. The fields, if planted to corn, are the most likely to suffer damage if untreated.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Gingham Gals

Twelve members of the Gingham Gals 4-H Club met Oct. 24 at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Evan Bennett for their annual Halloween party. Jolene Bennett and Anita Sandahl were in charge of games and refreshments.

The lesson, "Parliament Procedure," was presented by Mrs. Evan Bennett. New members of the club are Jane Edmunds and Kelly Palmer.

The Nov. 6 meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Ray Bults.
