

Santa Ready for Mail

The Wayne Herald received a phone call this week from a jolly gentleman at the North Pole. "Santa Claus," he said his name was, and he asked us if we would collect his letters from children in the Wayne area again this year.

Mr. Claus told us that he would read each youngster's letter carefully and do the best he could to make everyone happy on Christmas Eve. He reminded us, however, that with the population increasing, his elves were having a difficult time keeping up with the orders and he might have to make substitutions. He also asked that children not ask for too many things so there would be plenty to go around.

We told Mr. Claus we would be happy to collect his mail for him, and to make sure he sees all the letters, we will print them in a special issue of The Wayne Herald scheduled to come out in early December.

That doesn't give you much time, boys and girls, to get your letters in. Mail should be addressed to: Santa Claus, The Wayne Herald, 114 Main Street, Wayne, Nebr., 68787.

Picker Mishap Takes Life Of Belden Farmer

A Belden man, 51-year-old Wesley Stapelman, died Thursday at the Osmond Hospital as a result of a cornpicker accident.

Stapelman was discovered by the man hauling corn for him late Thursday morning on the Stapelman farm a mile west and a half mile north of Belden.

Stapelman reportedly had both legs caught in the picker. He was taken by the Randolph volunteer ambulance to Osmond where he died a short time later.

Son of Edward and Ella Schutt Stapelman, Wesley Stapelman was born May 23, 1921 at Belden. He attended School District #1 and Belden Public School and had spent his entire life farming with his father.

Survivors include his parents, a sister, Mrs. Donald Most of Oakdale, Calif., and two nieces.

The body was to lie in state at Johnson Funeral Chapel, Belden, from 3 to 9 p.m. Saturday. Services were at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Union Presbyterian Church in Belden.

Trooper Heady was born in Kearney and lived in Callaway for the past 10 years.

While attending high school at Callaway, Heady was named to the Class C and D all-conference football teams as a defensive tackle. He spent two years at Chadron State College where he played defensive tight end.

Magazine Mountain

WAYNE HIGH SCHOOL recently received about 140 volumes of National Geographic magazines from Mrs. Laura Watson in memory of her late husband, Albert, who lived in Wayne. After the school received the magazines, students Lori Lesh, left, Kathy O'Donnell and Galen Miller started to help put away the bound volumes that date back from 1923 to 1971.

Tri-Cog Moves to Have Application Certified

Members of the newly formed Tri-Cog organization waited no time in getting the ball rolling for federal funding Wednesday night.

Representatives of the three county council of governments (Tri-Cog)—Dixon, Knox and Cedar—filed to have the group's application certified with the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) office in Omaha.

Secretary Ken Linafelter, one of the Allen representatives said, "Now all we have to do is wait for the federal government to certify us."

During the meeting 12 representatives of the 17 towns in Tri-Cog heard Don Messner, administrator of the Southland Metropolitan Planning Commission (SIMPCO) warn that in the future any small town under 2,500 population probably will be excluded from federal funding unless it belongs to a Tri-Cog type of organization.

"The towns will be cutting themselves off from any federal funding," Linafelter said, "especially from this revenue sharing program."

On Dec. 15 the Tri-Cog board of directors will meet at 8 p.m. in Hartington.

The Tri-Cog members are Laurel, Coleridge, Magnel, Fordyce, Hartington, Belden, Maskell, Allen, Newcastle, Dixon, Martinsburg, Wausa, Verdigre, Creighton, Niobrara, Bloomfield and Crofton.

Also belonging to the group are the Cedar County board of commissioners, Dixon County board of supervisors and the Knox County board of supervisors.

Middle School 'Sports Salute' Concert Set

The Wayne Carroll Middle School will stage a "Salute to Sports" Tuesday, Nov. 28, at the high school lecture hall.

The public is invited to attend the 7:30 p.m. program, no admission will be charged.

The Middle School stage band, sixth grade band and seventh and eighth grade cadet band will perform under the direction of Linda Nelson.

Musical selections will be interspersed with demonstrations by Don Koenig's fifth and sixth grade physical education students.

SWAY Checks To Go Out Before Holiday

The board of directors and officers of SWAY, Inc., are planning on giving $10 checks to persons who have finished their tour of duty in the armed forces.

Mrs. Eveline Thompson, president of the group, said the directors and officers will meet Nov. 29 to write out checks to approximately 77 persons and make further plans about how to hand them out.

She said the checks may be given out in Winside and Carroll during meetings of the American Legion members. A meeting will be set up in Wayne to hand out checks to those living in this area, she noted.

SWAY (Servicemen We Appreciate You) has not distributed $10 checks to those in the armed forces for the past couple years, but work was started recently so checks could be made out before Christmas for persons who have served in the armed forces during that period of time.

Roads Bids To Include Highway 20

Bids on construction of 18 miles of highway 20 between Laurel and Jackson will be opened by the Nebraska Department of Roads Dec. 14.

Total estimated cost of the nine projects is $7.2 million, according to the DOR.

The Highway 20 work, one of the major projects in the bid opening, will include grading, gravel, detour, pavement curbs, roadside improvement, three bridges and guard rails.

B-r-r-r But Beautiful

LAST WEEK'S first real touch of winter in the Wayne area had people hunching their shoulders and showing their hands in their coat pockets for protection against the cold. But it also had its more pleasant aspects, leaving scenes such as this one on trees and bushes Thursday morning. Other pictures on the Editorial Page of today's issue of The Wayne Herald.

'Cost of Proposed Park Not Set'

The amount of money which might be spent on developing the proposed park on the north east edge of Wayne is still very indefinite, according to one city councilman.

Jim Thomas said Friday that the council has not met to discuss how the park would be developed or how much money would be spent there.

He made the comment after receiving criticism following the story in Thursday's edition of The Wayne Herald which quoted a member of the city's engineering firm as saying the park could cost the city as much as $250,000 before it was completed.

The member of the engineering firm, Sid Magdanz, made the comment at Tuesday night's city council meeting during discussion of whether the city should take out two options on 22 1/2 acres of land for a road to the proposed hospital just east of Wayne State College and for use as a park.

The council okayed taking out the options at $100 each on land which would cost the city approximately $87,000.

Councilmen decided to take options to buy the property rather than sign purchase agreements because of the possibility of the federal government contributing about half the amount of the land cost if the land is developed into a park.

Magdanz said he doesn't think it is unfair to say the park could cost as much as $250,000 before it is developed. However, he noted, whatever amount of money spent on developing the park could be spread over a 10 or 15-year period.

The development cost could run that high if federal funds are used to purchase the land because the federal government stipulates that certain things have to be done during development.

make other improvements to meet federal requirements.

"By the time you do all these things, I don't think $250,000 is an unreasonable figure," he said.

The council decided to move toward purchasing the property in order to provide a second access road to the proposed hospital. Federal regulations require two access roads if federal funds are involved in construction of the facility.

Thomas said the council's decision to take the options was criticized because persons living in other parts of the city think the council does not plan on building other parks. If the land is purchased, he said, the park near the hospital would be just another step in providing park facilities throughout the city.

WSC Adds Night Class, New Testament Survey

A course titled New Testament Survey will be a new feature of the Wayne State curriculum in the second term.

Dr. John Bray, associate professor of history, said he plans to teach the New Testament as a literary document within its historical context. The course will be non-sectarian.

Open to regular students and others on a part-time basis, the course is listed as History 196. It will meet on Tuesday evenings, 6:30 to 9:30, from Jan. 9 to April 10.

Dr. Bray has a broad academic background in theology and history. He earned a B.A. degree in philosophy from Wayne State University, Detroit; a master of divinity degree from Fuller Theological Seminary, and M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in history from Stanford University.

He has done graduate research at the University of Strasbourg, France; the University of Geneva, Switzerland; and Concordia Seminary in St. Louis. He taught history at Florida State before coming to Wayne State in 1970.

Wakefield Kicks Off Drive for $100,000

A fund-raising drive with a goal of $100,000 of help construct a nursing home at Wakefield was started last week.

Teams of solicitors will be calling on persons living in and around Wakefield over the next several weeks in an effort to reach the goal set by the Nursing Home Finance Committee.

The money raised in the drive will be used to help build a 42-bed nursing home onto the present hospital at Wakefield.

The community grant applied for a $160,000 grant and a $140,000 loan from the federal government to finance the rest of the construction costs.

The grant, administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is a cash grant for construction of hospitals, public health centers and nursing home facilities.

Plans call for the drive to be completed prior to the December hearing on the community's request for the grant.

The nursing home and long-term care facility would be located north of the present hospital and would be connected to the existing facility on the northwest corner.

Topics to be considered in his course:

- Historical development within the intertestamental period.
- The origin and development of the New Testament canon.
- The Gospels: their literary form in the light of form criticism.
- An historical summary of the New Testament.
- An analysis of the individual books of the New Testament in terms of their authorship, designation, literary form and theological emphasis.

Bit of Olde Englande Coming to Wayne State

A bit of merrie olde England is coming to Wayne State College campus this Christmas.

Called an Elizabethan Christmas Dinner, it will be held in the Birch Room at the Student Center on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 15 and 16 at 6:30 p.m.

The banquet will combine English Christmas customs—the bringing of the Yule log, procession with the boar's head, decking the hall, merriment around the wassail bowl—with traditional English banquet fare—roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, wassail and flaming Christmas pudding.

Carols and other music appropriate to the English traditions will be sung by the 16-member Wayne State Madrigal Singers who will take the part of the carolers and entertainers in the festive celebration, says Dr. Corneli Runestad, director of the singers.

During the main course, guests will be entertained by strolling carolers who will move about the hall serenading at each table of diners, he noted.

The entry of the waiters and waitresses with the dessert course—the flaming Christmas pudding—comprised a colorful finale to this unusual presentation where English Christmas custom are merged into a unique, sophisticated evening of dining and musical entertainment, according to Dr. Runestad.

Members of the Madrigal Singers from the Wayne area who will be performing during the evening are Beth Bergt and Tim Sharer, both of Wayne, and Steve Johnson of Laurel.

About 110 persons can be accommodated each evening, and tickets will be available by advance sale only. Tickets may be purchased for $3.50 at the college music department and First National Bank in Wayne.

City moves quickly to acquire park

At least one thing can be said about the Wayne city council's decision to move ahead with plans to buy a large piece of land for a park and road near the site of the proposed new hospital.

The council spent less than an hour — closer to half an hour — in deciding to take up options on 22 1/2 acres of land at a price of about $87,000.

Those in favor of building a park there say that the city currently has a terrible shortage of large parks. About all the city can boast of are several small playground areas, and even those are not numerous enough to serve all the citizens.

Council should reconsider assessments

Property owners along the half block East Eighth Street just west of St. Mary's Church are probably breathing a little easier now.

The reason is that the city council has taken action which will permit the councilmen — if they wish — to charge others in that area to help pay for paving that half block and the alley intersection.

Before Tuesday night's council meeting, the five property owners assessed for that work were being charged $4,075 of the total bill of $5,100.

Those are large figures to almost anybody; they are even larger to elderly persons, as some of those property owners are.

visiting in the hospital. The land, although it would cost the city several thousand dollars an acre, will never be any cheaper. And, if things do not work out as planned, the city could sell the land and possibly make a profit.

Those who disagree with the decision say the council has no business buying land on one extreme edge of the city for a park area when there are so many other sections of the city where the money could be better spent.

Some of the arguments on both sides are valid. It seems to us, however, that those against building such a large park there might have the stronger case.

It doesn't seem right for the city to decide to build a park partly because there is talk of housing developments going up near it some time in the future. A quick look in other parts of the city shows that houses are being built there right now.

True, another access road is needed to serve the hospital and it is the city's responsibility to provide it. But is it necessary to purchase such a huge piece of land and spend so much money to provide that road?

than it benefited St. Mary's Church, which was not being asked to help pay for the street improvement.

The paving apparently was not done at the request of the property owners. It was done after the church asked that the alley intersection be improved because it was so difficult to get in and out of the church's parking lot in bad weather.

We won't argue about whether the street needed paving or not. It was one of the few streets north of First which was not paved.

However, it is unfair to assess part of the costs for the street and alley work only to those persons with property directly north and south of the street. It is certainly not unfair to say that others benefited as much if not more from the work and that they should help pay for it.

Little Red Riding Hood... a modern version

A short story about the sudden fall of the heroic woodcutter and subsequent developments

This satirical version of the time less fairy tale appeared recently in an issue of Lumber Merchant. It originally appeared in the North Platte Telegraph. Like all satire, it pokes fun at some of man's follies.

Once upon a time, in a far-away country, there lived a little girl called Red Riding Hood. One day her mother asked her to take a basket of fruit to her grandmother, who had been ill and lived alone in a cottage in the forest. It happened that a wolf was lurking in the bushes and overheard the conversation. He decided to take a shortcut to the grandmother's house and get the goodies for himself. The wolf killed the grandmother, then dressed in her nightgown and jumped into bed to await the little girl.

When she arrived, he made several nasty suggestions and then tried to grab her. But by this time, the child was very frightened and ran screaming from the cottage.

A woodcutter, working nearby, heard her cries and rushed to the rescue. He killed the wolf with his ax, thereby saving Red Riding Hood's life. All the townspeople hurried to the scene and proclaimed the woodcutter a hero.

But at the inquest, several facts emerged:

- (1) The wolf had never been advised of his rights.
- (2) The woodcutter had made no warning swings before striking the fatal blow.
- (3) The Civil Liberties Union stressed the point that, although the act of eating

Grandma may have been in bad taste, the wolf was only "doing his thing" and thus didn't deserve the death penalty.

Several nights later, the woodcutter's cottage was burned to the ground. One year from the date of "The Incident at Grandma's," her cottage was made a shrine for the wolf who had died and died there. All the village officials spoke at the dedication, but it was Red Riding Hood who gave the most touching tribute.

She said that, while she had been selfishly grateful for the woodcutter's intervention, she realized in retrospect that he had overreacted. As she knelt and placed a wreath in honor of the brave wolf, there wasn't a dry eye in the whole forest.

A closer look...

You would have to toss me in a bag and drag me there for every meeting to get me to serve on the city council.

Why, that group is probably in and out of more hot water than a four-year-old boy if he isn't out in the alley scratching out roads for a bunch of trucks and tractors, he's rummaging through some dusty boards in the basement. Plug! He's back in the tub.

It's another case of damned if you do and damned if you don't.

But I've got to admit it is fun standing on the sidelines watching all the action. And it seems the action is a good bit heavier than it was a few years ago.

Like Tuesday night, for instance, the council was put on the spot when asked to rezoned an area on East Seventh Street so a new filling station could be built there. There are certainly reasons for not allowing a business there, but a similar request had been okayed for a plot of land on West Seventh so the council would have been taken to task for saying no to the request.

And no sooner did they get done with that than they were back on parking restrictions. That old bugaboo has been hanging over the council for years now, and it doesn't show any signs of melting away.

Opinions flew back and forth about why parking should or shouldn't be restricted. Safely gets cars off the streets... snow removal. But about all that came out of it was that a couple councilmen will look into specific cases and see if something might be changed.

If all adds up to a heckuva way to spend two Tuesday evenings out of every month. But it also adds up to some delicious copy for the newspaper the next morning.

Something's going to have to be done about all the dogs running loose around town. Only a couple hundred dogs are licensed in the city, but everybody's pretty sure there are plenty others not licensed, and therefore probably kept track of a little less than the others.

If the darned owners aren't going to watch their dogs closer, the police are going to have to start picking more up to get rid of the problem. It probably wouldn't last long, but a law permitting picking up the owners might have better results faster.

Motorists stopping for the red lights at Seventh and Main should heed the law concerning turning right, especially now that slippery roads are with us. The law permits turning right on a red light, but apparently there are quite a few drivers who want to do things the old way. They'll probably continue doing them that way until somebody crinkles up their rear end. Their car's, that is.

The Wayne County Jaycees are offering men and women a chance to join an athletic club which will make use of facilities at the Wayne High School auditorium every Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m.

The facilities include weights, weight-lifting machine, ping-pong tables and trampoline. Club members will also be able to jog, practice tennis, play badminton and volleyball and fry their hand at the "Nebraska ball," a heavy ball used like volleyball to build shoulder and arm muscles.

Fee for joining the club is a nominal

$10 for one person or $15 per couple for 20 Sundays. What makes it even more inviting is that you can work out in the gym only those Sundays you wish to.

Sore muscles just might keep some persons away the second Sunday, but they can always give it another try the following week.

Proceeds from the club will go to help pay for the new weight machine acquired by the high school.

You can say what you want about editors of weekly newspapers... and most of it's probably true... but there's probably no other job where you can learn so many fascinatingly unimportant facts.

How else would you learn that the people of La Gomera in the Canary Islands can "talk" to their neighbors as far away as five miles by standing on the peaks of their hilly homeland and using a special whistling language they have invented... or that Paula Murphy, one of the world's fastest women, broke an international speed record at Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah for the third time recently. She averaged 134.168 miles per hour, and her "terminal" velocity (would she have been terminated if she had passed it?) was 250 mph.

That's just a beginning. Today's mail revealed that Madison, the state capital of Wisconsin, is built on an isthmus between Lake Monona and Lake Mendota... and that duck hawks have been known to dive at almost 250 mph... and that Mike Mitchell recently sailed from

Wayne

Dear Editor: I read and completely agreed with the letter to the editor in the Nov. 13th issue of The Wayne Herald.

Its purpose was to inform your readers about the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA). Along this same line, I think another person who should be commended is Mrs. E. A. Binger. She has put forth much time and effort in her attempt to inform the public about this terrible amendment.

I definitely view this amendment as another communistic attack on our great nation and I wonder why more people do not recognize it as such.

I ask myself, why don't the Women's Libbers see the danger in this amendment or has it been so sugar-coated that it looks good to them? I find it hard to believe that they actually do not recognize it as communistic and it is frightening when you realize that we have two Women's Libbers on the local school board. If it would be well for the general public to become better informed regarding some of the programs in use at our schools.

One such program that will be coming up concerns sex education in the school. If you think sex education is good you'd better educate yourself fast. It is pornography and obscenity in the worst form.

To become better informed on the subject I would highly recommend that you read the book "Child Seducers" available at the public library. It will enlighten you to the fact that sex instruction courses are written and designed by Humanists, a small fanatical band of extremists who seek to impose their immoral cult upon millions of American children. It tells that "Sex Education came into Anaheim, California, unheralded and unasked. Once the program was entrenched, the people awoke to discover that they had literally been had. They'd paid a million and a half dollars for a program that not very many people wanted, and that even fewer understood."

If we are going to change this evil tide that is sweeping over our country, we must write in effort. Become informed on local and national issues and then let yourself be heard. When an important subject, such as changing our Constitution, can be decided by a group of women it is time to do something.

Icy Bridges Driving Peril

At this time of year, icy bridges are a real peril to unwary motorists, a spokesman for the Nebraska Department of Roads warns. Drivers are cautioned to beware of bridges that appear to be wet or frosty. Those tell tale signs are the cue to reduce speed immediately without applying the brakes. Highway research has shown that under these conditions a vehicle can skid out of control at speeds as low as thirty-five miles an hour. The phenomenon, called hydroplaning, results when tires ride up on a thin surface of water, losing contact with the pavement. Icy bridges occur at this time of year as a result of high humidity, low temperatures and a current of cool air beneath the bridges.

Adult Classes Offered At Allen High School

Two adult education classes for residents in the Allen school district have been offered recently and will be started if enough interest is indicated. Persons interested in either course are asked to contact Gary Lockhorn or Daryl McGhee, vocational agriculture instructors at Allen High School. At least six couples would have to be enrolled in the class on farm and ranch business management in order for it to be practical, according to Lockhorn. The course would be taught by Lockhorn and McGhee. Tuition would be $35 per year per couple and would cover the cost of computer analysis, textbooks, record forms and miscellaneous needs of the group. The basic course, planned to last one year, with meetings one night per month, could be extended into a four-year program if there were enough interest in addition to the monthly meetings, course instructors would make visits to the couples at their farms from six to 12 times during the year. Classes would last two hours each.

The second adult education class being offered is in welding, also to be taught by McGhee and Lockhorn. Minimum enrollment will be 10 students. Classes will meet approximately two evenings per month and are expected to end in May. The only requirement for the welding course is an interest in learning basics of welding. This class will feature individualized work. Tuition has not been determined.

Cat Cagers Keying on Balancing the Game

Balance the offense. That's the goal of Wayne State College basketball coaches going into the 1972-73 campaign.

Coach Ron Jones explains: "We have to take some of the load off Denny Siefkes. He averages 26 points and 11 rebounds last year, but we had only one other player scoring in double figures at 10.3."

"Jones thinks he has the players to accomplish the balancing act. There is more experience than last year and more height than Wayne has ever enjoyed. Four returnees are 6-0 or taller. All have added useful weight. In addition, three freshmen ranging from 6-6 to 6-10 show promise."

Siefkes still is expected to be the scoring ace and the bulwark of defense, Jones says of the 6-7 Somers, Ia., senior who made everybody's Nebraska all-star team last year.

Joining Siefkes in the front lines are two-lettered forwards Ronnie Jones, 6-4, junior from Kanakake, Ill., and Tom Harvey, 6-6, senior from Denison, Ia.

Coach Jones describes player Jones as "quick as ever and shooting better." Harvey rates as "a heady player who knows the game and works harder than anybody."

Guard positions are open, and the team's two other lettermen are prime contenders: Tom Erwin of Concord, and Jim Merchel of Hazel Park, Mich., both 5-11 and juniors, both rated "super quick." Erwin might well have been a starter last year, but proved more valuable as a reliever.

"When he went in fresh, he was sure to give somebody trouble," Jones said. "Merchel, back after a year's absence, is showing in practice the stuff that made him a freshman starter on Wayne's senior-dominated championship team of 1970-71."

Two other guard prospects took good enough to make the back court: jobs a four-way tussle, Jones said. Junior Jeff Piibeam, 6-2, of Peotone, Ill., who anchored the junior varsity for two years, is in the thick of contention. He's tighter and stronger after a summer tour with the Marine Corps. John Burch of Caney, Kan., also is taking aim at a guard slot on his experience at Coffeyville (Kan.) Junior College. He's a fine outside shooter.

A cheering prospect is the depth up front, and the height of that depth. Sophomores Chuck Stoltenberg, 6-8, and Neal Walde of Denison, Ia., both 6-8, are fabled for relief duty at forward and center. Sparkplugs of last year's JV team, they should be able to spell Jones, Harvey and Siefkes. Bob Wentz, a 6-3 junior from Bellevue, is adding defensive savvy to shooting skill and will bolster the front line.

Rounding out that varsity are Rod Erwin of Concord, (cousin of Tom Erwin); Dave Marron of South Sioux City, a Northeastern Nebraska College graduate, and Dan Burke of Oswego, Kan., another Coffeyville JC product. Jones describes them as quick and scrappy ball hawks.

"Wayne opens at home Nov. 22, against Northwestern College. We'll have three starters back from last year's Iowa NAIA champion team. The Red Raiders beat Wayne in overtime, 96-87, in their 1971 opener. Wayne went on to a 16-9 season."

Stoltenberg: 3rd WSC Win 'Most Enjoyable'

Wayne State's last game of the football season was "most enjoyable," said Head Coach Del Stoltenberg.

"It was just a matter of us taking the game away from Nebraska Wesleyan and winning 32-6."

Stoltenberg, all smiles, told the Thursday noon meeting of the Second Guessers' club that his Wildcats played a "superb defense," holding the Plainsmen to a minus 90 yards.

"The boys were really ready to put Wesleyan in the minus 100-yard bracket in the second half when they learned they already had the homecoming team deep in the hole with 90 yards against them," he said.

"After winning our last three games (for a 37 record), we hope to have this same initiative going towards the next season," he added.

Stoltenberg pointed out that next year he will lose nine seniors—five of whom were starters.

Before turning the program over to Club President Dale Gulshall, Stoltenberg thanked the members for all their support throughout the up and down season: "I don't know if you people kept coming out of interest or sympathy, but thanks a lot for your support."

The athletic feed honoring Wayne State and Wayne High football players is set for tonight (Monday) at the Wayne City Auditorium. The time has been changed from 6 to 6:30 p.m.

Allen, Winside Place 11 Boys On Lewis, Clark Division Teams

Allen and Winside High Schools each faced to get football players on the All-Conference teams for their divisions this year. And both schools came out winners.

Allen took the lead in the number of players in the Lewis division with eight players making the roster while Winside landed five boys in the Clark division.

Allen players making the offensive team were Randy Lanser, guard; Duane Mitchell, end; Craig Blohm, halfback, and Scott Von Minden, quarterback. Defensively, Mitchell and Lanser again made the squad as a halfback and linebacker respectively. Other members on the unit were Neil Blohm, interior lineman, and Terry Noe as an end.

The Eagle's Craig Blohm grabbed the Lewis division's individual leading scorer title, collecting 56 points on nine touchdowns and a safety. Teammate Duane Mitchell tallied seven TDs and one extra point for 44 points during the season.

Quarterback Scott Von Minden, who tied Waitstill's John Bellar for signal calling duties on the division squad, was sixth out of the top 18 scorers with five touchdowns for 30 points.

In the individual rushing and receiving categories, Blohm again ranked high. The 145 pound senior captured second in the rushing mark with a 71.6 average, second behind Waitstill's Pat Morgan, who had a 86.5-yard rushing record.

Mitchell took over the second spot in the individual receiving field, catching the ball 24 times for 363 yards and five touchdowns. Blohm followed in sixth place with 16 receptions for 237 yards and three TD's.

Other members of the Eagle squad named to the All-Conference listings were Neil Blohm, Randy Lanser and Terry Noe. All three played on the defensive unit.

Over in the Clark division of the conference, Winside's Ed Lienemann, Larry Wieble, Brian Hoffman, Dean Krueger and Dave Jaeger found spots on the honor team.

Offensively, Lienemann made the end position while halfback Wieble helped fill the backfield.

On the defense, Winside's Hoffman was named to the interior line. Joining him on the blackshirt unit were teammates Dean Krueger, linebacker and Dave Jaeger, Halfback.

Winside Head Coach Doug Barry pointed out that the selections do not necessarily fill all 11 positions on a team.

"The coaches picked the best eleven boys they thought would deserve to be on the All-Conference team," he said. If there are some positions not filled, it is because the coaches did not feel that there was one boy who deserved to win that position.

Deer Hunters Are Using Bow, Arrow

Deer hunters in Nebraska had to go back to the bow and arrow, as the state's firearm deer season closed Sunday and the archery season re-opened today.

Archers left the field during the firearm season, which opened on Nov. 11. In general, riflemen experienced rough treatment from the weather, as rain, muddy roads, fog and large fields of standing corn hampered visibility and travel opening weekend, and snow later in the season compounded their problems.

Nebraska's archers have until Dec. 31 to bag their deer. Shooting hours for deer hunters are one half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset.

One-Acts Provide Escape, Social Comment

A typical situation comedy, "The Mice Have Been Drinking Again," was the first of two one-act plays which opened Friday evening at Wayne State College.

Written by Clive Haubold and directed by WSC student Gary Dunker, this is a sketch featuring a young couple, Jerry and Julie Reed, portrayed by Ron Kluck and Mary Jo Norby. Julie's cousin Roxanne, who is into Zen, has the lease on the house where the trio live. Harold D. Leffer, played by Jack Grange, is a soul mate for Roxanne, provided by Comput-a-Pal.

Leffer solves the problem of how to get Roxanne out of the Reed's hair by becoming engaged to her. Roxanne is Sherri Skelton.

A constant flow of clever lines keeps the rather tired plot moving, and good casting, especially with Roxanne, give pleasant interlude from reality.

"The Lesson," on the other hand, is pure reality—so pure in fact that it is hard to recognize at first.

Playwright Eugene Ionesco is known for his absurd situations with hidden meanings, and "The Lesson," the second one-act on the bill, is a supreme example.

Directed by Ron Rieker, the cast includes Ed Havolvic as the professor, Patsy Benson as the pupil and Patty Gabel as the maid.

In this sketch the pupil comes to the professor for instruction and the professor, during the lesson, becomes angry and kills her. The maid then reveals that this is the 40th such crime for the professor.

Rieker has provided abstract scenery to enhance the effect and keep the audience from being distracted from the actors' words—words which actually provide a play within a play.

The entire sketch comes across as a comment on society's inability to communicate, but under this seems to be other, subordinate feelings which Ionesco wished to portray—for instance, the absurdity of the degree of respect we pay a man, not because of his mind, but because of his situation; the inability or lack of desire on the part of man to change his course of action, even when faced with the reality of his way of life, and the acceptance by man of what is offered without questioning whether there is a choice.

Havolvic and Miss Benson are excellent in their roles, doing justice to a fine, absorbing play.

The maid, Patty Gabel, seems to be misplaced from another play. Her portrayal is not outstanding until the final scene where she gives evidence of her real capabilities.

An enlightening play, "The Lesson" will be talked about and remembered.

Work Starts This Week On Cable TV Lines

Work rebuilding the cable television line from the tower south of Wayne into the city is expected to begin this week, according to the manager of Wayne Cablevision, Inc.

Larry Hanson said that the work is part of a renovation program which will cost a minimum of $45,000 before it is completed.

When completed, the cable television services to customers in the city should be greatly improved, he said.

During the next several days while the new cable is being installed along the four miles south of town, there will be interruptions in signal to the city between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., he said.

Other work will include installation of underground cable in the parts of the city where underground utilities now exist, extending lines to serve the high school and college, installation of equipment at the tower site and replacement of old amplifiers, Hansen explained.

During work in sections of the city, signals will be interrupted for short periods of the day, he said.

Work on the company's lines should be completed in about three weeks, according to Hanson.

LHS to Perform 'Flowers for Algernon'

Some area residents may remember the movie "Charly" several years ago. The story was about a mentally retarded man, Charlie, who bridged the gap from a moron to a genius before regressing to his former mentality.

On Wednesday at 8 p.m. Laurel High School Juniors and Seniors will present that same play at the gym but under a different name.

"Flowers for Algernon" is the compelling story of Charlie and the "strange interweaving of his life with that of Algernon, a mouse," according to a New York critic.

It is a different kind of play, poignant, romantic, funny and tragic, but with a hope for the indomitable spirit of man.

Miss Ella Larsen, play director, said the play deals with man's attempts to change the mentality of a mouse and then that of a man.

After a successful operation is performed on the mouse, Charlie is next in line. Both proved to be doing well before the mouse suddenly shows signs of regression.

At that point Charlie becomes aware of what will happen to him. It then becomes a matter of time for Charlie to save himself before the same fate befalls him.

The lead characters are David Anderson as Charlie, Susan Schroeder as Miss Kennan, Rick Pippit as Burt Seldon, Jerry Schutte as Dr. Strauss, LaMont Sohler as Professor Nemur, June Pearson as mother, Steve McCorkindale as father, and Cindy Schutte as Mrs. Donner.

Wednesday's meeting of drive officials revealed that the figure has climbed to $8,500, about $300 higher than a week earlier.
Although this year's drive officially ended several weeks ago, drive officials note that anybody with donations to turn into their chairmen should do so as soon as possible. Anybody wishing to donate who has not been contacted may do so by turning in donations to Vera Hummel or Bob Jordan at State National Bank.
This year's goal for the drive was $10,000. Last year the same goal was set, but only $6,300 was collected.
