

It's Becoming Seasonal: Red-OU Fervor

By BOB BARTLETT
Thanksgiving Day. For most people, it's a day for rest and relaxation. But not in Nebraska, and certainly not in Wayne.

Turkey day across the Wayne area will bring many Big Red fans running into their living rooms while others will vacate the area and join the sea of red in the heart of Huskerland — Lincoln.

Mrs. Dick Arell, her husband, and son, Ralph, are among those loyal fans who will make the trip to Lincoln to cheer on their favored Husker team.

"We've been going to Nebraska home games for the last 15 years," she said, "ever since my husband was transferred to Nebraska."

Mrs. Arell said they've gone to most of the home games, even when Nebraska wasn't a big football power. "We went to the games because we both enjoy football."

When it comes to picking No. 1, Mrs. Arell believes the Cornhuskers should be given a chance to prove themselves in a nationally ranked bowl contest.

"I think Alabama should play Nebraska. I know our team could beat them. And who knows, maybe Southern California might get beat and Nebraska could be on top again," she said.

But Mrs. Arell confessed, "I think the team that beats Southern Cal. most likely will be No. 1."

Also making the trek to the game will be Herbert Bergl.

Bergl, an "avid" Nebraska fan, said he attends most of the Cornhuskers' games and believes that if Big Red should topple Oklahoma, they should be tops in the nation.

"Why not? If they beat the Sooners, they'll be No. 1 in the Big Eight Conference. Then they deserve to be No. 1 in the nation," he said.

Another loyal Big Red family heading for Lincoln is Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Otte.

Both Kurt and his wife, Bonnie, will be decked out in red, along with a group of friends and relatives, for the Thursday clash between the two Big Eight power-houses.

"I think we'll win like last year," Otte stated. "The game will be close, but I think Nebraska will win."

The Ottes got started going to Nebraska games several years ago when Heinz and Allen Otte got their brother, Kurt, interested in seeing Nebraska play.

"It was really my brother Heinz who got me started going to the games," he said, "about eight years ago when Nebraska built the south portion of the stadium."

Otte is willing to stand behind the Huskers and venture a guess that the Big Red could beat Southern Cal. if "they played up to their potential... but I don't think they'll ever get a chance to play them."

Kenny Whorlow said he and his wife, Dorothy, will be in Lincoln to watch the Big Red win their final home game of the season.

"I don't believe Nebraska can win the No. 1 spot in the nation any more. But it will be a good game."

Joining the rest of the Wayne followers will be Gene "Swede" Fredrickson.

"I'll be there dressed in Red," he laughed, "like everyone else, I guess."

Fredrickson said he is sure Nebraska will win this "one without too many problems."

For those Nebraska fans who won't be making the trip to Lincoln, the television set will be the next best thing... possibly even better than being at Memorial Stadium.

Harlan Farrants will agree to that: "It's the best spot in the world to see a football game."

Farrants picks the Huskers by eight points, but said the game could be closer than that.

"If Nebraska had the chance to play Alabama in the Orange Bowl, I'd bet they would beat the socks off them," he emphasized.

The Wayne and Lee Tietgen families will be manning two TVs this year to boost the Cornhuskers.

There will be about 30 relatives here for Thanksgiving Day," Wayne said, "so we'll need two TVs."

Wayne said he wouldn't be surprised to see some of his relatives wearing red on Thanksgiving during the game. "We're all Big Red supporters."

The Wayne Tietgen family started to follow Nebraska about 35 years ago when the games were first on radio.

Thomas: Hospital Isn't Seeking Rate Increase

No rate increases are being planned at Wayne Hospital, according to administrator Charles Thomas.

Thomas made the comment following Monday's story in the Lincoln Journal which listed the local hospital as being among 37 health care institutions in the state which are seeking rate increases.

He said the hospital has no intentions of increasing rates to patients.

However, the hospital is seeking approval of the Omaha District Internal Revenue Service for an increase in starting pay for registered nurses.

"We're just asking for that to put our salaries on the same level as those paid by other hospitals in the area," he said.

The Lincoln newspaper obtained the list of 37 facilities from the Omaha IRS office after contending that hospitals and other health care facilities seeking a six per cent or higher rate increase have to publicly disclose their rate increase requests.

Thomas said the story is incorrect in saying the Wayne Hospital is seeking an increase. Wayne's facility is listed along with the others apparently because of a rate increase requested last year for some services and for a wage increase.

The wage increase currently being sought by the Wayne Hospital is five and a half per cent for starting registered nurses, he said.

If the increase is approved by the IRS, the local hospital governing board will then have to vote whether to allow the increase, according to Thomas.

CAPTAIN STUBBY

400 Attend Wayne's 1st Farmer-Businessman Feed

More than 400 Wayne businessmen and area farmers packed the Wayne State Student Center Saturday night to mark the first annual Farmer-Businessman Dinner.

The huge group feasted on a smorgasbord dinner sponsored by the Wayne businessmen to show their appreciation to farmers from throughout the area.

"We finally got the dinner on the road," said Wayne Chamber of Commerce manager Floyd Bracken. "Wayne has been trying to get this type of appreciation dinner going and now we have it started."

During the two and half hour affair, Captain Stubby, a special dinner speaker for the stag dinner, kept the crowd on the sides of their chairs laughing at his tales of being an Indiana farm boy.

Tom Fouts, better known as Captain Stubby, then turned to the serious side of his act in closing the banquet. He told the group:

"You don't need a bankful of cash to be thankful. Be thankful you have what you do. Don't envy your neighbors' fruits of their labors, your torture rests solely with you."

"Here's cause for thanksgiving — the fact we're living where freedom of enterprise reigns, where all may aspire to what they desire — each well come to what he attains."

One thing to remember in June or November, whenever you feel thankfulness the most there's no earthly power can dictate the hour or how you give thanks to your host."

After a long round of applause, master of ceremonies Creighton Knau presented awards to the oldest farmer in attendance, the farmers with the least and most amounts of hair and the farmer most recently married.

Seventy six year old Harris Sorensen of Wayne took the first award — a hand saw — to "keep him busy," Creighton said.

Alden Johnson and Jack Rubbeck won the hair contest, Johnson for having the least and Rubbeck for having the most.

Finally, Jerry Bauermeister of Coleridge claimed the award for the most recently married farmer. He has been married for one and one-half years.

FILLING THEIR PLATES are some of the more than 400 farmers and businessmen who attended Saturday's first Farmer-Businessman Dinner at Wayne State College.

New Orleans Man Finds 'Lover' in Wayne Garage

By NORVIN HANSEN
American men have a love affair with the automobile, it is said, and a New Orleans man is proof of it.

Wilbur Menge drove 1,170 miles from New Orleans to Wayne — part of it through the aftermath of last week's wicked snowstorm in Kansas and Nebraska — to pick up a 1926 Model T (four-door touring sedan) he bought from Wayne resident, Roy Langemeier.

Menge, 46, admits the trip turned into a little more than he had expected: "I didn't know I was going to run into all the snow and winter weather that I did."

He arrived in Wayne Friday morning after staying overnight in Omaha. The trip took him 23 hours, he said, in spite of the bad weather.

But it was all worth it, he added, because he has finally found a Model T in almost perfect condition which was manufactured the same year he was born. In fact, the Model T was built by Henry Ford in Detroit in July of 1926, just a month before Menge was born.

"I've been looking for a long time for one like this," said the New Orleans mechanic, "but this is in the best condition of any I have ever seen."

And he doesn't plan on changing anything on the automobile, which still runs good enough to start quickly even in Nebraska's cold weather.

"I'm going to keep it original, but I will take out a few dents in the fenders and work on it in a few other places," he said.

The Model T is original — all the way down to curtains for the windows, shiny black paint and cloth top. However, it does have a pair of rear tires which Langemeier added after he purchased it back in 1957.

Menge will add the find to his small collection of cars he has built up during the 20 years he has been fascinated with antique cars.

His other antiques include a 1926 Model T two door sedan, a 1925 Model T speedster and a 1921 Model T depot hack.

He bought the automobile from Langemeier by talking over the telephone and looking at pictures the Wayne man sent him. Langemeier advertised the auto in the October issue of a nationally circulated magazine for antique auto buffs, and Menge called him on the telephone the same day Langemeier received his magazine in the mail.

Langemeier purchased the Model T from the Reikofski brothers at Foster in 1957. The Foster men bought it from the Plainview man who got it fresh out of the Detroit factory nearly half a century ago.

There's one bad thing about Menge's decision to buy the Model T.

"Now I'll probably have to hunt all over to find one exactly like it for my girl," he says with a smile.

CHUGGING UP onto a trailer under its own power is this 1926 Model T touring sedan. Guiding Wilbur Menge onto the trailer is Roy Langemeier of Wayne, who sold the antique auto to the New Orleans man last week.

Foundation Says Thanks For Payments

The Wayne Hospital Foundation has expressed its appreciation to families and businesses in Wayne and the surrounding area for their generous contributions in pledge payments made during the past year.

Pledge payments for the proposed new hospital in Wayne have been coming in very good for the most part, according to Adon Jeffrey, campaign general chairman, with a total of $80,938.50 in subscription payments received since the final meeting of the campaign in March.

The payments include payroll deductions, he said.

Several persons have already made advance payments on their 1973 subscriptions to obtain the tax benefit, he said, and others have already paid their five-year pledges in full.

Persons with past due subscription payments are reminded that the payment is tax deductible if made in 1972.

VA Pumps $1 Million into Wayne, Dixon, Cedar Counties

Slightly more than $1 million was disbursed in Wayne, Dixon and Cedar Counties by the Veterans Administration (VA) during fiscal year 1972, according to the VA regional director.

The total distributed in the three-county area was $1,049,580, said Harry Piper, regional director in Lincoln.

Across the state, the VA disbursed an estimated $8.4 million during the fiscal year.

The expenditures statewide represented an increase of $10 million over the previous fiscal year, he said.

Piper said the bulk of the payments was in the form of disability compensation and pension checks to veterans, their dependents and survivors. That amounted to $39.5 million of the total disbursed.

Wayne County received the largest share of the money going into the three-county area, $408,215.

Cedar County received $377,468 and Dixon County received $263,897.

As throughout the state, the largest payments in the three counties were made in disability compensation and pension checks.

A total of $273,691, more than half of the VA expenditures in Wayne County, was in that form. Payments in the same category amounted to $239,332 in Cedar County and $176,932 in Dixon County.

Wayne County received another $92,624 for GI Bill educational and vocational rehabilitation programs and $41,900 for GI insurance and indemnities.

Cedar County received $80,996 for educational and rehabilitation programs and $36,640 for insurance and indemnities.

Payments in Dixon County amounted to $59,878 for education and rehabilitation, $27,087 for insurance and indemnities.

Cedar County was the only one of the three to receive direct home loan payments, a total amounting to $20,500.

A breakdown of the three-county disbursements:

County By County At A Glance

	Total	Comp. & Pension	GI Bill & Voca. Rehab.	Ins. & Indem.	Direct Loans
Cedar	$377,468	239,332	80,996	36,640	20,500

Crowd Enjoys Comedy Fare

A Review by SANDRA BREITKREUTZ
 Watching "The Great Airplane Snatch," a one-act play by Dan Greenberg, is like taking your first look at op art. You keep looking for something that isn't there and in the process overlook what is.
 "The Great Airplane Snatch," a contemporary play, was one of the Wayne State College "Tonight at Eight" productions staged at Ramsey Theatre Monday night. Director was Albert Kirtley.

The plot, which was actually more of a non plot, is the reverse hijack scene. A passenger is kidnapped by a pilot and stewardess, simply because the sketch is slightly reminiscent of "Love American Style."
 The lines in the play are fantastically funny and very "now," although many were lost by actors who were too anxious to be finished speaking.
 John Pigg played the young man who is kidnapped. Pam Nelson was the middle-aged stewardess and John LaPuzza was the captain, whose major contribution was an extremely convincing voice over the intercom.

 Miss Nelson didn't look like a stewardess, even a 40-year old frustrated stewardess. Costume and makeup were possibly at fault. Pigg may have been a little overanxious in delivering his lines, and his constant state of agitation tended to get a little tiring.
 Minor roles were an old man played by John Voss, a bus-nessman portrayed by Martin Torrey, a wife and foreign lady played by Alyce Johnson, a society lady and young girl played by Marla Evans, and a husband and businessman portrayed by Pat Domano.

 Of these, Miss Evans stood out as having a certain composure or sense of ease in front of an audience; in fact, she seemed unaware that there was an audience.
 On the bill with the Greenberg comedy was a melodrama, "He Done Her Wrong," by Anita Bell.

Snatched from another age, this one-act comedy piece directed by Mark Hamm provided a unique experience in audience participation. As in the days of its birth, the melodrama featured cue girls who appeared with cards advising the audience of the correct response to various scenes: "Boo," "Hiss," "Sob," etc. Peanuts were sold and the audience was encouraged to show their displeasure by pelting them at the villain and villainess.
 The villainess, Magee Hartin was truly the star of this show. A beautiful girl with a natural grace and knack for pleasing an audience, Miss Hartin had the crowd eating out of her hands.
 The entire cast, however, was exceptionally well chosen. Terry O'Donnell as Octavia Moneycracker, Jean Headquist as the daughter, Alvina Moneycracker, Janet Prazak as the heroine, Hyacinth Haven, Gregg Black as the hero, Fitzjohn Oliphant, and Dave Borron as the villain Fleetwood Dashaway.
 "He Done Her Wrong" was really a fun show, and a good note on which to conclude an entertaining evening.

LINETTE DARWOOD, in an aside to the audience, reveals her true feelings about the rich Mrs. Moneycracker and her darling daughter, Alvina, in the melodrama "He Done Her Wrong."

"NO, NO," protests John Pigg as the young man when Pam Nelson portraying the stewardess begins to strip down in a scene from "The Great Airplane Snatch."

Sixty at Center

Sixty one members of the Wayne Senior Citizen Center were present Thursday morning for the program arranged by the student committee, presentational and group leadership class. Members of the Bobbles and Bubbles band entertained with old favorites and students enjoyed dancing with Glen Sumner and Lillian Kirchner.
 Twila Wiedenfeld, chairman of the student committee, presented gifts to Lillian Kirchner for dancing at 85's years of age, to Glen Sumner for his November anniversary and to Anton and Rena Pedersen for being present as a couple. A turkey game was enjoyed and students furnished refreshments.
Library Hour
 Eleven members turned out for the library hour with Millie Pflueger that afternoon. Books which she brought and reviewed included "The Big Sea," by Richard Armstrong, "The Chinese Box," by Katherine Eyre, "Desperation Trail," by Vian Smith, "In The Footsteps of Lewis and Clark," by Gerald S. Snyder, and "Castles in the Sand," by William S. Stone.
 Books may be checked out from the center annex for one month and may be returned to the center or to the Wayne Public Library.
 Esther Larson reported on an interesting book she had read and Millie Pflueger gave the highlights of a recent vacation to Colorado and Arizona. The next library hour will be at 2 p.m. Dec. 21.

Serving on the volunteer committee were Ed Johnson, Anton and Rena Pedersen, Gladys Petersen, Louise Hoeman, Anna Mohlstedt, Rachel Bull, Bessie Peterman, Mary Kieper and Emma Soules.
 A program on crafts was given afterward by Mrs. Dorothy Beeks and Mrs. Babs Middleton, representatives of a local firm. Participating in craft demonstrations were Elizabeth Meyer, Lillie Zapp, Mary Echtenkamp, Rachel Bull, Rena Pedersen and Pearl Griffith.
Bible Study
 Mrs. Della Agler and daughter Donna led the center members in a Bible study Monday in the absence of the Rev. John Epperson. The lesson was on Matthew 26: 17-26. Films, "The Passover Supper" and "The Betrayal" were shown.
 Eleven members turned out for the study in spite of ice and snow.

Correction

There was an error in the Goodrich Lesch engagement announcement printed recently in the Wayne Herald. Shirley Goodrich, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Roemhildt, Wayne, will be married in June to Martin E. Lesch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lesch, Waterloo, not to Marvin E. Lesch.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION Notes

Thanksgiving Stain Removal Hints—At Thanksgiving dinner, the fabric sometimes seems doomed. But if stains are treated while still fresh, generally they can be removed. Here are some suggested methods for treating the most common holiday type stains.

Fruit stains including cranberries—Soak the area in warm water and enzyme pre-soak, then launder. If necessary, and color and fabric permit, launder again using chlorine bleach.

Gravy or milk—Use an enzyme pre-soak with cool water or make a paste of detergent and water and work that into the stain. Then launder. Should the stain remain, use a drycleaning solvent.

'Rubberneck' Opens Friday

The Allen High School Junior Class has chosen "Rubberneck" for their junior class play, to be presented this Thursday and Friday at 8 p.m. A matinee performance was scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Wednesday.

In "Rubberneck," the Wilkens family is faced with their once every two-year crisis. Uncle Erlyn, played by Darwin Rubeck, is planning to run for mayor, undaunted by the fact that he has lost the last seven elections to Fletcher Crawford, played by Neil Blohm.

Erlyn enlists the help of the youngest Wilkens daughter, Bob bie, who is played by Barb Creamer.

Scott Von Minden as Father Wilkens puts his foot down and declares there will be no more campaigning from the Wilkens house. This not only spoils Uncle Erlyn's plans, but also those of Mayor Crawford who likes to have Erlyn run against him. He says "It unites the voters behind me." Crawford visits the Wilkens house threatening dire consequences if Erlyn does not run. This results in the entire Wilkens family uniting in a plot to run a stuffed dummy named Rubberneck for mayor.

As the campaign gets underway the mayor becomes angrier than before fearing that he may be losing the election battle.

The cast also includes Denice Linafelter as Melanie Wilkens, DeAnn Troth as Mrs. Wilkens, Kaye Schroeder as Aunt Roberta, Roger Anderson as Aunt Roberta's fiance, Diane Fahrenholz as Wendy Crawford, Chuck Peters as Philip Frohisher, Jim Keester as the cab driver, Melodie Davenport as reporter Millicent Green, and Randy Lanser as photographer Osgood St. John.

DARWIN RUBECK as Uncle Erlyn and Denice Linafelter as Melanie Wilkens display the candidate for mayor, Rubberneck in the play, "Rubberneck," which opens at Allen High School Friday.

LAUREL BEARS READY TO POUNCE — seven Laurel lettermen will be bolstering Coach Joel Parks' squad this year. Parks, left, admits that his team will be short, but at the same time the members will be quick. Standing from

Team Quickness to Aid Laurel Five

A good basketball team usually relies on its height and quickness to be a champion, but Laurel High coach Joel Parks knows his team has only one of those ingredients.

"Our team will be quick," he pointed out. "We'll be short — with the tallest man 5'10 — but we're going to be fast."

"I don't know yet who will make the starting five," he nodded. "We do have seven returning lettermen," three of whom were starters. Keith Olsen, Chuck Hirschman and Gene Sarha, all seniors who played on last year's 17-8 team, will stand at 5-8, 5-10 and 5-9 respectively. "We'll be playing a 1-4 type of offense, so I can't really tell you what position these boys will play," the coach explained. The 1-4 offense basically works with a high post man and four "rover" men trying to work the ball in for the good shot. "It worked for us last year and I think it will work this year."

Of course, Parks admitted, last year's squad had George Schroeder to help boost his team to the state tournament in Lincoln.

Although the team lost in the opening round of state against Norfolk Catholic, Schroeder still shot over 30 points. The 1972 season opener probably won't bring any smiles to the head coach as his cagers once again face Norfolk Catholic Dec. 1 at Norfolk.

"We'll have to try to out-quick them," was his comment. "And I won't mind putting in more little people to do the trick."

Parks feels that plenty of area teams will go with the zone against his offense. "In fact, I'll be surprised if most of our opponents don't use the zone against us."

The lack of height on offense is one of Parks' noticeable headaches. The second head ache will be the team's rebounding strength.

"There's only one answer out there, your opponent."

The Wayne State graduate promises his club will be playing an "exciting brand of ball." "I don't want to use the term 'run and gun' type of ball, but I'll call it a sort of controlled freeline."

Six other men helping out in Parks' type of game will be senior Dave Diederik and juniors Kevin Gade, Tom Anderson and Gregg Anderson.

Laurel's schedule includes December 1 — at Norfolk CC; 8 — at Hartington CC; 12 — Wayne; 15 — at Emerson-Hubbard; 19 — at Stanton; 28, 29, 30 — Wayne Holiday Tournament, January 3, 4, 5 — NENAC Tournament at Creighton; 12 — at Neligh; 13 — Creighton; 19 — Madison; 23 — at Randolph; 26 — at O'Neill; 27 — at Elkhorn Valley.

February 2 — Bloomfield; 9 — Plainview; 10 — Crofton; 16 — at Pierce.

Bloomfield' FFA Aids State Wildlife

Nebraska's Acres for Wildlife Program has been given another boost with the enrollment of 43 acres in 16 plots by the Bloomfield Chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

Acres for Wildlife, administered by the Game and Parks Commission, is designed to set aside habitat on private lands in the state. Habitat plots, which must be at least one acre in size, are enrolled under the care of a "cover agent."

The plots are committed to the program for at least one year.

Jim Clark Tabbed Recipient Of Mike Wise Memorial Award

Jim Clark of Fremont was announced Monday night as recipient of the first Mike Wise Memorial Award at Wayne State College.

The award, established by the Wise family of Avoca, Ia., as a tribute to Mike, who died in a tractor accident last summer, honors the Wayne football player for best typifying Mike's spirit and dedication.

Dr. LeRoy Simpson, WSC director of athletics, said Wayne coaches selected senior fullback Clark for the award, which carries with it a plaque and a book scholarship.

Clark is a 1968 graduate of Fremont Beraun High School.

Grappler Clinic

A fall high school wrestling clinic will be offered for the first time on the Peru State College campus Saturday. PSC wrestling coach, Vincent Monseau, announced.

Speakers and technique demonstrations will be presented in the college gymnasium from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. A $3 registration fee per person will include a noon meal at the college cafeteria. No pre-registration is required.

Speakers will include Dr. Don Pate, Wayne State College; Wall Griffith, Bellevue High School; John Harris, Corning, Ia., High School; and Jim Holechek, Lincoln East High School.

Open to all junior and senior high school wrestlers and coaches, the clinic has been sanctioned by Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas high school athletic associations.

had his best Wayne season this fall, finishing second in rushing. He is a member of the W Club, has been its president, and also competes on the WSC swimming team. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Clark.

Wise was Wayne's leading rusher and the most valuable player on offense last year as a three-lettered junior. He was to have been one of the team captains in 1972.

The Wise award was one of three presented to WSC gridders at a banquet for college and high school football players, sponsored by the Second Guessers Club.

The other two awards, most valuable player on offense, to Reggie Smith of West Point, and most valuable on defense, to Ken Monroe of Arlington Heights, Ill., both seniors.

Teammates made the selections. For Smith, the offense accolade was a switch He played defense — linebacker — the previous three seasons and two games this year before a shortage of running backs dictated his shift to offense. He responded, at fullback, with 806 rushing yards in eight games. Had he run at that pace in all 10 games, he would have finished among Wayne's all-time ground gainers.

Smith already was among all-time leaders of football at West Point Central Catholic High School, where he graduated in 1966. He is the son of Mrs. Betty Smith.

Monroe specialized in defense through his Wayne grid career, though he sometimes plugged an offensive guard gap Team mates tabbed him for MVP honors because of his regular intrusions into enemy back fields. Statisticians lost count of the times he spilled quarterbacks or stopped runners trying to skirt his end. Twice he scored touchdowns on fumble and in interception returns.

Monroe's MVP plaque joins a collection which includes two for national NAIA wrestling championships, two Illinois state high school wrestling titles, Nebraska College Athlete of the Year bestowed last spring by the Omaha World-Herald, and a Wayne State Athlete of the Year Award.

A 1969 graduate of East Leyden High School, he is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Monroe.

Looking at Wayne's '73 Schedule

RIGHT NOW probably isn't the time to discuss next year's Wayne High football schedule. But some interesting facts came across my desk that might be worth mentioning to Blue Devil fans.

Wayne will open its 1973 gridiron season with Class B powerhouse Blair Sept. 14 at home.

Perhaps it isn't fair to give gray hairs to Coach Al Hansen after the head mentor picked up his second West Husker Conference Coach of the Year award. But Hansen most likely is aware that the Bears will be a tough foe.

THE LATEST boy population figures for Northeast Nebraska high schools show that Norfolk high is the leader with 644. South Sioux City follows with 398. Then Blair comes in with 302 and Wayne rounds out the top four at 232.

Running down the population stats for other area schools, we find Allen has 62 boys, Laurel 129, Wakefield 98 and Winside 82.

CONTINUING WITH Wayne's football schedule, the Blue Devils will be meeting Harrington Cedar Catholic for the first time. The Harrington club joined the West Husker Conference at mid-season this year.

During the 1972 season the Harrington Trojans started out in the West Husker Conference in rather slow fashion, sporting a 1-5 record. But the Gary Dunn club picked up momentum and finished the year with a 4-5 standing.

This fact may mean too much after the football season has ended. But it might give some area viewers a thought to next year's Wayne High football schedule — the teams are getting tougher.

WAYNE HIGH Wrestling Coach Don Koenig right now is probably contemplating rule changes in this year's matches.

"The new state rulings," he said, "allow one player to wrestle only 26 matches during the year. What this means is that quite a few schools will have to drop a lot of tournaments and other schools just to keep the wrestler within the 26-match ruling."

Before this decision, any wrestler could compete in an unlimited number of meets.

During the Monday night meeting at Neligh, wrestling coaches from around the area found out that they are allowed to shift weight classes without having to run them in order.

Other changes included:

- No medication during a match, only before or after.
- Length of hair can increase to the collar and partly over the ears.
- As long as there is one wrestler on the mat, the match will continue. It formerly was that if one boy was off the mat, the whistle was blown and the boys came to the center for a start.

Only two district representatives can go to the state meet.

There will be no predicament points. The wrestlers will be given two or three points on a near fall, Koenig said, depending on the amount of time a boy has his opponent's shoulder or shoulders in a 45 degree hold.

Four Bears On NENAC Team

Four Laurel lads made the 1972 Northeast Nebraska Activity Conference (NENAC) All-Conference football team, according to a news release from Doug Christianson, secretary of the NENAC.

Senior Dave Diederker and Dan Coughlin, a junior, were picked for the offensive unit. Diederker, a 5'10 senior, was selected for the backfield position along with Dave Timberly of Pierce, Kevin Roach, Plainview, and Jay Fuchman, Creighton.

Laurel's Coughlin made the line to complete the only two local selections for the offense.

Two other Bear players, Bill Dalton and Larry Wiebelhaus, were chosen for defensive duties on the All-Conference defense.

Both boys ranging from 175 to 180, made the line selections.

Kirk McCoy and Senior Chuck Hirschman were selected for honorable mention.

LAUREL HIGH School places four members of its second place NENAC team on the All-Conference listing. They are, left, Larry Wiebelhaus, Dave Diederker and Chuck Hirschman. Not pictured is Bill Dalton.

WINSIDE HEAD Coach Jim Winch will have four returning lettermen manning his Wildcat five. Although the team will be young, Winch believes his team can jell together for a winning season. Helping out on this year's crew will be, left, Scott Deck, Jeff Farran, Larry Weible and LaRue Langenberg.

Accent on Youth for Winside Cagers

That word pretty much describes head coach Jim Winch's Winside High basketball squad for the 1972 year. But what it doesn't tell about the team is its willingness to play basketball.

"We're going to be young this year," the coach confesses, "and we're going to be short, too. But our boys are willing to play and try to win."

Coach Winch's starting lineup will include two returning starters, seniors LaRue Langenberg and Scott Deck.

"We have two other men who lettered last year that play a big factor in helping our club move the ball," Winch pointed out.

Those players, juniors Larry Weible and Jeff Farran, will put some height in the team's 212 offense as Farran comes in at 6'3 and Weible at 6'0.

The Wildcats mostly will be made up of the two seniors with the probable addition of two freshmen to be named later.

"I'm not quite sure of the lineup now," Winch explained, "All I can say now is that I hope things improve throughout the year."

Winch believes the important key to his team's chances of winning will be to pressure the opponent's defense. "If we can cause a lot of turnovers, I believe we can run with the ball and score."

The head mentor doesn't deny that ball control on the boards will present a problem. Therefore, his club will have to rely on the steal to keep the opposition from scoring, he said.

It's hard to paint a picture of how the players will be, he said, until the season starts. "I know that we'll miss the efforts of John Behmer and Craig Titterton."

Both boys averaged about 15 points a game last year. But this year Titterton, who now is a senior, moved to Norfolk while Behmer graduated.

Last year Coach Winch's crew claimed second in the Lewis division of the Lewis and Clark

Conference despite a 5-13 mark. "We were able to beat our conference foes, allowing us to place that high in the conference."

Helping Winch this year will be assistant coach Cap Peterson. As Winch pointed out, Peterson is a hard-nosed assistant — "he'll make the boys work."

Winside opens its season contest against Wakefield Dec. 1, at home, followed by a game at Ponca Dec. 2.

Other schools in the schedule include:

Dec. 1 — Wakefield; 2 — at Ponca; 8 — Wynot; 15 — Harrington; 16 — at Osmond; 19 at pender.

Jan. 2-6 — Invitational Tournament at Coleridge; 12 — at Coleridge; 13 — Wausa; 19 — Wynot (to be played at Harrington); 20 — at Harrington; 23 — Osmond; 26 — Coleridge; 30 — at Wausa.

Feb. 2 — at Homer; 9 — Newcastle; 13 — Conference playoffs at Wakefield; 16 — Emerson.

Wayne Boxers Win Smoker

Three Wayne amateur boxers brought home trophies last week from the team's first smoker at Macy's.

Jim Nieman, Jerry Frericks and Jack Luff each won their weight division for first place honors.

Nieman won on a TKO over Ed Kinser of Columbus for the 133-pound class win while Jerry Frericks beat Harold Hahn, Petersburg, in the heavyweight bout. Jack Luff, 137, took a decision over Ken Dahlman.

Coach Gary Wiebelhaus said his fourth man, Arnie Siefken, lost his match with Pat Sackell of Columbus in the 155-pound class.

Wildcat Grapplers Prime Up For KSU

Wayne State's wrestling campaign is about to begin as usual in recent years—the hard way—with Kansas State University the first foe, 7:30 p.m. Friday (Nov. 24) in Wayne's Rice Gymnasium.

For one Wildcat, two-time national NAIA champion Ken Monroe, there's special incentive in this meet. His draw against KSU's 177-pounder last year was the only blemish on a perfect record.

As usual, Monroe will go at 177 in early meets, after just finishing a football season with his weight at 185 to 190. Eventually, he will drop to the 167-pound weight where he has won two national titles.

Another national placer from last year, heavyweight Ron Cotes, Indianapolis, Ind., who finished third, is back, along with four other lettermen expected to lead Wayne to the national heights. The Wildcats finished in a tie for seventh among 80-plus teams in the 1972 NAIA National, and they have been in the top nine the past five years.

Returning for combat are letterman Dennis Reid, 190-pounder from DeWitt, Ia.; Steve Gregory, 158-pounder, and Kent Irwin, 134-pounder, both of Council Bluffs, Ia.; Jim Meyer, 126-pounder, of Wayne.

Monroe, a senior from Arlington Heights, Ill., and graduate of East Leyden High School, is the team's only three-lettered wrestler. His collegiate record is a remarkable 46-7-2. One of his losses came in the NAIA national finals when Monroe finished second—between his two firsts as a freshman and junior.

Gary Rosso, graduate assistant serving as wrestling coach, reports lively competition at most weights, especially at the lighter end.

The schedule:

November—24, Kansas State University.

December—2, at Yankton Invitational; 6, Morningside; 9, at UN-Omaha Tourney.

January—9, at Kearney State; 13, Northwest Missouri State Tourney; 27, Western Illinois University Tourney; 31, Westminster.

February—2, Concordia; 6, Yankton; 14, at UN-Omaha; 17, at Augsburg (double dual); Minneapolis; 24, Nebraska College Conference meet at Kearney.

High School Play Is Weekend Hit

A REVIEW
Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth" is the playwright's comment on man's ability to survive.

In each of the three acts, Wilder superimposes a contemporary family onto the face of one of three periods of history—in Act I, the ice age, or man's struggle with the elements; in Act II, the floods, or man's struggle with moral weakness, and in Act III, the war, or man's struggle with social evils.

That a high school group should even attempt such a production, let alone succeed in understanding its myriad of hidden meanings and relating them to the audience is remarkable.

But this is what the Wayne High School Drama Club members, under the direction of Harold Benderman, drama coach, and Bob Skokan, student director, accomplished this past week. The play was presented Friday and Saturday nights at the high school lecture hall.

Outstanding in their performances were Diane Boden as Sabine and Kathy Reinhardt as Mrs. Antrobus.

Miss Boden's part was a charming character hopdog of an attractive maid, beauty queen and master of ceremonies.

Miss Reinhardt never strayed from character in her part as the overprotective mother and faithful wife.

Other major roles were carried by Galen Miller as Mr. Antrobus, Nancie Proett as the young daughter, Gladys, and Phil Koeber as the young son, Henry.

Miller's portrayal, good in the first two acts, seemed to lack authenticity in the final episode. Bob Skokan takes over as older

Henry and Brenda Gaiuni as older Gladys in Act III.

Act I and II somewhat less professional. The final act, a bit obscure, was saved by Miss Boden's concluding comments to the audience.

A dinosaur, played by Jan Hauen, and a mammoth, played by Marvel Carlson, appear as housepets in Act I. It has to be said that the dinosaur's coquettish and entertaining actions, while delighting the audience, may have also drawn emphasis from the dialogue.

Costuming and makeup was without flaw throughout the production, even in the instance of the animals where incompetence could have easily caused the audience to be embarrassed for the players.

A small part, but one that should be noted, was that of the telegraph man, played by Joan Hochstein. Miss Hochstein did a fine job of turning a minor role into a character portrayal.

In Act II, the carnival atmosphere might have been enhanced with midway type background music. This act fell a little flat, and confusion seemed to alternate here for a disturbing, unfinished effect.

Gigi Goblirsch, as the fortune teller, in relying on a hypnotizing, swaying motion as she swept back and forth in front of the audience, lost some of the impact made in the initial stages of her address to the audience.

Others in cast were Janet Splitterger as the announcer, Joe Manney as Mr. Fitzpatrick, Virgil Kardell as a doctor and convener (convention goer), Jim Hepburn as Moses and a convener, Donn Dutton as the professor, Fred Bailey and a convener, Mike Schmidt as Homer, a convener and Mr. Tremayne, Erin O'Donnell as Miss E. Lush, a convener and Ivy, Lori Lesh as Miss T. Muse and a convener, Kathy Nelson as Miss M. Muse and a convener, Mary Shuffell and Deb Bodenstedt as drum majorettes, Lisa Tooker as Hester and a convener and Bob Bergl as a broadcast official.

Miller Fund Tops $900 at Final Count

Total donations to the Brent Miller fund at Winside State Bank amounted to $996.41. The fund is now closed.

Miller, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller who farm southwest of Winside, was seriously injured Aug. 4 when he fell from the back of a tractor being driven by his 13-year-old brother.

Brent was taken to the Lutheran Hospital at Norfolk and then transferred to the intensive care unit at the Omaha Methodist Hospital.

He is now improving at home and is able to attend school.

County Fair Promoters Elect Officers for '73

The Cedar County Agricultural Society recently hosted the 49th annual meeting of the Greater Northeastern Nebraska Fair Circuit at Laurel.

Elected as officers for 1973 during the meeting were Richard Hanson of Dixon County as president, Neal Nelson of Thurston County as vice-president, and Marilyn Koch of Wayne County as secretary-treasurer.

The group in attendance were welcomed by F. J. Pletz, president of the Cedar County Agricultural Society. William Pick Jr. president of the Greater Northeastern Nebraska Fair Circuit, called the business meeting to order.

Representatives were present from fourteen counties, Burl, Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Dodge, Douglas, Knox, Platte, Saunders, Stanton, Thurston, Washington and Wayne.

The following guests were recognized: Henry Brandt, manager, Nebraska State Fair Association; Orville Koch, Dunbar, state president of Fair Managers; Robert Volk, assistant general manager of Ak-Sar-Ben; Dale Thomas of Belgrade, and Senator and Mrs. J. W. Burbach of Crofton.

Brandt informed the group that the State Fair plans a 10-day fair instead of a seven-day fair for 1973, with equal time to be designated to 4-H exhibits, FFA exhibits and open class exhibits. Brandt also stressed the importance of exercising the use of fairground facilities during the entire year rather than using these grounds only for county fairs.

Volk explained the grants made available for spruce-up improvements or new construction, but emphasized that Ak-Sar-Ben would appreciate recognition for their millions of dollars spent in grants each year.

Sen. Burbach spoke briefly regarding the work necessary for a successful county fair, followed by a round table discussion that showed 12 counties operated four-day fairs, one county a five-day fair and one county a three-day fair.

Various problems relating to entries, gate fees, operation of fairs, expenses encountered were discussed by the group.

An invitation was extended from Dixon County to host the Greater Northeastern Nebraska Fair Circuit in 1973, which was accepted. The Thurston County group extended an invitation to host the group in 1974. That was also accepted.

Wayne stands firm with his Husker team and picks them to win over Oklahoma by 10 points.

"Nebraska is the best team in the nation," he added. "I just wish they had the chance to play Southern Cal and prove it to the nation that Nebraska is No. 1."

Brother Lee hopes Nebraska will win by at least one touchdown. "I just want to watch the game and see what the outcome will be," he said.

"I was born and raised in Nebraska," said Pat Wert, another Big Red fan, "so you know I'll be watching Nebraska on TV."

Pat is sure that Big Red will win this contest. "I'm planning to have several people over to watch the game as well as have a Thanksgiving dinner. When they come in, they'll see me dressed in red rooting for the Nebraska team."

Females Now Included in VA Law

A female veterans' "bill of rights" is included in the new veterans' education law signed by President Nixon Oct. 24.

To receive the additional amounts of Veterans Administration education allowances, compensation and pension money that male veterans are allowed for their wives, women veterans no longer will have to prove that their husbands are disabled and permanently incapable of self support.

Harry W. Piper, director of the Lincoln VA regional office, said this provision applies to the GI Bill, vocational rehabilitation, pension, compensation, and dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC), which is paid for service-connected deaths.

Piper said that the new law also liberalizes the criteria for paying additional amounts for children who are in custody of a veteran and also awaiting adoption.

Where the child has been placed for adoption with the veteran under an agreement with an authorized adoption agency, additional benefits may be paid for the child during the time the child remains in custody and before the court decree of adoption, he said.

Until this liberalization, unless there was an interlocutory decree of adoption, no payments could be made while the child was in custody of the veteran until a final decree of adoption was issued.

Piper said that women veterans had been receiving the same additional amounts of VA educational allowance and compensation money payable for children that were paid to male veterans.

Busy Volunteers Sell $700 Worth of Honey

The city of Wayne was turned into a beehive of activity Sunday by members of the Youth Association for Retarded Children, Kappa Delta Gamma sorority at Wayne State College and Wayne county Jaycees.

All three groups combined to canvass the town to sell jars of honey on Honey Sunday with funds going to the Nebraska Association for Retarded Children.

"We collected about $706," said JC President Bill Woehler, "and we still have some jars left over."

Out of the 40 cases of pure honey the JCs purchased, only about 11 cases are left.

"The whole group of people did a great job," Woehler smiled. "Now all we have to do is wait for the total bill for the honey to see how much money can be donated to the Association."

Last year the Wayne County Jaycees collected $757.93 with $479.96 of that amount going back to the county to aid retarded youths.

Anyone who still wants jars of honey may contact Woehler for further information.

Firemen Awakened By False Alarm

Wayne volunteer firemen were awakened early Sunday morning by a false alarm, according to Cliff Pinkelman.

The false alarm was turned in about 1:40 a.m., he said, by a practical joker.

Special Effort Needed for Picking Snowy Corn Fields

Although some farmers in the Wayne area are reporting their corn crop is drying in spite of the recent wet weather, much of the corn in the state has too high a moisture content for good harvest.

The recent snows across much of the state and to the south of Wayne have not put corn completely down in most instances, but field losses of dropped ears and broken stalks are increasing say a University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural engineer.

In areas where there has been rather heavy amounts of snow, adjustment of gathering points and snapping rollers is important, says Delbert Lane, UNL extension agricultural engineer.

The points need to run close to the ground to get under the down and leaning stalks and need to pivot freely so they will ride over irregularities in the field, he said.

It is best to have the point come into down and leaning stalks. Otherwise the stalks are straightened in the row and will not be picked up. Snapping rollers need to be aggressive as the stalks will be wet and tough; also, the ear shank and husk may be tough and light.

Rollers should run no closer than necessary to snap off the ears or trash building up on roller may be a problem, he said.

For corn combines it is especially important to come into the leaning stalks on down and leaning corn. The snapping bars on the combine will sometimes push a stalk away before it can be grabbed by the rollers. Use as wide a spacing as possible on snapping bars to help in getting the stalks into the rollers. However, this can increase shelling by the snapping bar. Keep cylinder speed as low as possible. The wet grain and cobs are soft but the grain is hard to get off the cob. A high cylinder speed will break up the corn more without removing the grain.

More cylinder bars may be needed rather than filler plates for part of the cylinder bars. However, increasing the number of cylinder bars or concave bars will increase kernel damage. The lower cylinder speed, more cylinder bars and closer concave setting would give more aggressive shelling and more kernel damage.

Plenty of wind and attention in adjusting the sieves is necessary as the wet, heavy material won't lift well on the rack and sieves. If grain is going over, check the racks for grain being carried over in matted material. If not, check for matting of materials on the sieves. It may be necessary to go to a larger size slot where the slotted screens are used for corn. The adjustable sieves would tend to plug more if much material about the size of the corn kernel is getting on the screen.

On corn combines take as little material as possible around the return. The crackage and kernel damage is high on the return. It may be necessary to use a tailboard to keep material from the top sieve going around the return. If so, there will no doubt be some loss of grain over the tailboard.

When harvesting wet grain, handling and keeping the grain needs to be considered.

Be especially careful around this kind of machine. The probability of plugging on the rollers is high when the crop and soil are wet. If you yank on a stalk which is plugging the rollers with the machine running the chances of beating the roller is nil. Also, when the ground is slick it is easy to slip and stick a hand into moving machinery. Stop the machine before you dismount to clear any part.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q. My landlord automatically raised my rent 2.5 per cent last March. He says he can automatically raise rent another 2.5 per cent in January. Is this true?

A. No. A landlord must wait until 12 months have elapsed since the last automatic 2.5 per cent increase before raising rent another 2.5 per cent in your case. In the case of longer lease, the landlord must generally wait until the lease expires before raising rent to reflect these items.

For more information, see IRS Publication 5-3019, "Rent Guide Lines." It's available free by dropping a postcard to your Internal Revenue district office.

Q. Are railroad retirees included in the IRS "rent watch" for illegal rent increases to social security recipients?

A. Yes. The Internal Revenue Service has begun checking for rent overcharges in units housing railroad retirees, as well as those rented by social security recipients.

Q. If a company does not increase its contribution to a qualified pension plan or other qualified employee fringe benefit plans by the permitted 0.7 per cent, can it use it the following year without having it charged to the general wage and salary standard?

A. Yes. The 0.7 per cent is cumulative if not used in a prior control year, and a company may accumulate credit for increasing its contribution to its qualified benefit plan in a future control year. Thus, if a company does not increase its contribution to qualified benefit plans this year, it may have a 1.4 per cent increase next year without charging it against the Pay Board's 5.5 per cent standard.

Q. Are all lumber firms with $50 million or less in annual sales exempt from price control reporting requirements?

A. No. To counteract rising lumber prices, the Cost of Living Council recently extended quarterly reporting requirements to all firms with annual sales of lumber and wood products of over $5 million. Firms can obtain the necessary forms at Internal Revenue offices.

Q. What kinds of firms may take advantage of the Price Commission's special rules for low profit firms?

A. In order to qualify for relief under the low profit regulations, a retail, wholesale or manufacturing firm must not have received, during its most recent fiscal year, more than ten per cent of its income from the providing of services. A low profit firm may also be a service organization which received at least 90 per cent of its income from the providing of services. Public utilities, milk producers, providers of health services, insurers, public benefit corporations, or cooperatives are not eligible firms.

For more information, drop a postcard to your Internal Revenue district office and ask for a free copy of IRS Publication 5-3022, "Low Profit Firms."

Q. If a Category II manufacturer wants to increase prices, what forms does it have to file and when?

A. Category II manufacturers—generally those with sales of $50 million to $100 million—must file a Form PC-1, "Report for Price Increases for Manufacturing, Service Industries and the Professions," with the Price Commission for the quarter in which a price increase has occurred. Along with the PC-1 form, a Form PC-51, "Report on Sales, Costs, and Profits," must be filed not more than 45 days after the end of a fiscal quarter or 90 days after the end of the firm's fiscal year. If a Form PC-50, "Base Period Income Statement," has not already been filed, it must be submitted at this time.

Smaller firms, which are not required to file with the Price Commission, may find these forms helpful in complying with Economic Stabilization regulations. Forms may be obtained at any IRS Office.

The Tradition of Freedom... Our Cherished Legacy

Freedom is a tradition in our great nation. From the earliest beginnings, the courage of our Pilgrim forefathers made it possible. The will and faith of our people have kept it alive. It will remain ours with vigilance and dedication. So—the past, the present and the future are inextricably woven together. Through freedom. Today we give thanks for this precious legacy. We remember and cherish our tradition. We pray that freedom will become the inalienable right of all nations.

Veterans' Benefits

Questions, Answers

Q. How long do I have to convert my National Service Life Insurance term policy?
A. NSLI five-year term insurance can be converted at any time while in force. Term policies with numbers prefixed by "W" cannot be kept in force if they expire after the insured's 50th birthday, and they must be converted before they expire.

Q. An extra large dividend put me over the income limit this year. Will this cause my Veterans Administration pension to be discontinued?
A. No. As long as this income could not have been anticipated and was of a non-recurring nature, it will have no effect on your pension.

Q. What should I do if my Veterans Administration benefit check is not delivered on time?
A. You should wait long enough for the mail to clear, then write the VA regional office which has your file, and include your name if you're a veteran, or the deceased veteran's name if it is a death claim, and your claim number. Do not write to the Treasury Department since this will result in further delay.

Carroll Girl Receives UN-L $50 Scholarship

A Carroll girl, Linda Baier, was one of 41 University of Nebraska Lincoln students recognized as recipients of scholarships at the University 4-H Club's 19th annual honors banquet Sunday night.

Miss Baier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Baier of Carroll, received a $50 scholarship. Also recognized were 29 Union Pacific Scholarship winners.

In addition to scholarship presentations and recognitions, the banquet featured Roger Sandman, assistant director of the Nebraska Department of Agriculture.

Sandman encouraged young people to become involved in community and state rural development. He listed the Nebraska Agricultural Youth Institute (NAYI) and Building Our American Communities (BOAC) as state programs youth can involve themselves in.

This summer the Carroll girl was one of 14 Nebraska 4-H members selected to make up a team which stumped the state to tell the 4-H story to a wide of your tax situation, the more options you have.

LINDA BAIER variety of citizens' groups. The group attempted to help broaden and strengthen the image of the University's extension youth program through informing community, business and industry leaders of the objectives and accomplishments of 4-H.

Ask your tax man to remind you of new provisions and events that will affect your estimate, such as:

—Disaster Losses: If you were hit by flood losses in the first six months of 1972, you can still treat the loss as if it happened in 1971 if that would give you a tax refund which you need soon.

Only the owner may deduct the loss, but if you occupy rented property that was damaged you may deduct your repair costs as a business expense.

—Political Contributions: For the first time you can take a limited deduction or credit for political contributions.

Other changes that affect you: Every personal exemption is now worth $750. The standard deduction has risen to 15 per cent of adjusted gross income or $2,000. For the self-employed, the Social Security contribution rate is now 7.5 per cent and will rise to 7.65 per cent in 1973. And the maximum income subject to Social Security contributions is now $9,000, up $1,200 over 1971.

Get your business affairs in order before you visit your tax consultant.

—Make all the entries in your record book and total the year's business to date.

—Sort out, list and summarize all your capital gains transactions, such as sales of breeding stock, land, bonds or stocks. Look up the original cost—or the remaining value on the depreciation schedule if it is a depreciable asset.

—List and total all of your payments of interest during the year.

—Review the monthly accounts or cash-flow sheets for data you might need on costs or returns of farm production.

Update the list of equipment, trucks, grain bins, etc., on your depreciation schedule. Check the investment credit situation on anything you traded in to determine recapture or payback if you did not keep it as long as you had anticipated on the schedule.

Get a final run on your taxes. Here are some alternatives to discuss with your adviser when you know your position.

If you taxable income is high:

1. Take advantage of investment credit which applies now, it could be wiped out again in 1973. So what will you need to buy next year that you could buy now and take advantage? This credit amounts to 7 per cent of the cost of a qualifying item that you can take directly off your tax. Examples of what qualifies if bought in 1972: machinery, equipment, crabs, bins, silos, feeding floors, breeding stock (not horses), fences, life pond inlets, water systems, outside electrical installations. If refrigeration or controlled atmosphere is necessary to the quality of your product, it qualifies. But not air conditioning just for comfort in warm weather.

2. Buy and pay for some of your fertilizer, seed, insecticide, herbicide, etc. this fall. You can save on taxes, and possibly get a price break, too. Don't get more than a normal supply, however.

3. Do any planned soil conservation work in this calendar year. You can deduct expenses up to 20 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

4. Delay checks for hail damage if you normally would sell in 1973 the crop you insured.

5. Consider income averaging if your 1972 income is more than 20 per cent over your previous four year average.

6. Deduct the cost if you hired a baby sitter so your wife could help with the farm work. But for you to be eligible you must have children under 14 and must earn under $18,000. Check other limitations.

7. Pay your kids for farm work they do and take the deduction as a business expense. That's a natural for farmers whose children provide a lot of labor. If you're in a 25 per cent tax bracket, wages to your two teen-agers could save you as much as $1,000 of tax.

In 1972 your youngster can earn $2,050 before he has to pay tax. You do not pay Social Security contributions for your own kids under 21 years of age, and you can count the kids as dependents if you provide over half of their support and they are under 19 or are students. However, if a youngster nets more than $400 on an enterprise such as a 4-H project, he is liable for Social Security payments as a self-employed person.

If your taxable income is low:

1. Try to avoid a net operating loss. Especially you need to defer expense or move enough income into 1972 to use up your family deductions. For if you pass them up, you have lost the tax on that amount in the long haul. Any time you pass up a deduction you could have had, you will pay tax on it sometime in the future. Here are some specific remedies:

1. Hold off paying fall bills until January. Use those deductions next year.

2. Seal corn or beans and declare the loan as income in 1972.

3. Put small equipment and small overhauls that were in expense on depreciation.

4. Carry unused investment credit back for a deduction against tax paid previously. You will find it pays you to become knowledgeable about tax laws, making notes and filing information that applies to you.

Help of Area Cattlemen Is Needed to Rid Disease

Cattlemen in the Wayne area and across the state are being asked to cooperate in an effort to find and eliminate any remaining brucellosis-infected herds.

Doing so would regain Nebraska's Modified Certified Brucellosis standing, according to Dr. Alex Hogg, University of Nebraska extension veterinarian.

Herd owners must be persuaded to cooperate in area testing programs, and in seeing that breeding cattle being shipped to slaughter are back tagged at the auction markets.

They must also observe the state regulations which require that all cattle over 24 months of age must have a negative brucellosis test no more than 30 days before a change in ownership," he added.

Since there is an occasional reaction in the blood test to antibodies that persist after calving vaccination, and since nearly all reactions are in calves vaccinated at oldest permitted ages, Dr. Hogg recommended vaccinations at the three to six month age bracket instead of six to nine-month ages.

He added, "certainly none should be vaccinated older than the permitted ages. These ages are eight months in dairy and 10 months in beef herds."

The brucellosis crisis developed in September through lack of cooperation by a few cattlemen in Loup County, which prevented that county from testing enough cattle to meet brucellosis eradication regulations, stated Dr. Hogg.

Every county must do enough brucellosis testing to qualify the entire state as a modified certified brucellosis area. Several other counties will soon become delinquent unless the necessary brucellosis testing is completed, warned Dr. Hogg.

To meet the requirements for a state to achieve the rating of a modified certified brucellosis area, all counties within the state must have an infection rate that does not exceed one per cent of the cattle in that particular county, and infection can exist in no more than five per cent of the cattle herds.

The extension veterinarian detailed the effects of the loss of status. "Some states, such as Iowa, will now require that Nebraska breeding cattle being shipped interstate be quarantined on arrival and held for a retest. This retest is in addition to the test required in Nebraska before cattle can be shipped to another state."

According to recent figures the present rate of infection is about 8 per cent. This is in contrast to a 10 per cent rate in the 1930's, when the cooperative brucellosis eradication program began.

In the 18 years since 1954, federal and state governments have spent more than $10 million on brucellosis eradication in Nebraska, said Dr. Hogg. Costs of private testing for sales and other reasons would be considerable and would be in addition to the government expenditure.

Tax Strategy

No outdoor work you do on the farm pays you better than the few hours you spend in the fall with your tax man, figuring out your end of the year strategy. If you wait until Jan. 1, all you can do is record the facts on your tax forms. It's too late for any big pay-off that requires action on your part, because it takes time to buy feed or fertilizer, sell crops or livestock, do terracing or tiling whichever your income picture indicates. The earlier you get the picture

Cattlemen Should Pump Holding Ponds

Cattlemen in the Wayne area with holding ponds are being advised to pump them now before the ground freezes or run the risk of the livestock waste systems being not able to deal with snow melts and springs rains.

The advice comes from E. A. Olson, University of Nebraska extension agricultural engineer. This fall's heavy rains, and the recent variable snowfall, have greatly lessened the capacity of holding ponds to accept future runoff, he noted. If the ponds overflow, pollution may result, defeating the original purpose of the entire system, he said.

"The operator who empties his holding pond is providing good management to help assure satisfactory performance of his waste management system," Olson said.

The NU specialist advised feedlot operators to pump holding ponds immediately, using a small centrifugal pump with either a gas engine or electric motor. The liquids can then be spread on crop land with a gated pipe system, if available.

If the ground is frozen, Olson said, another possibility for pollution occurs: the liquids can run off into local streams.

Operators should use caution when disposing of the liquids in any case.

Manure holding pits used in farms and beef operations, whether under or outside of buildings, should also be ready for winter. Olson recommends emptying such pits before any further freezing occurs. The pits, he noted, must have a 120 days' storage capacity to meet Department of Environmental Control regulations.

During spawning, the male kokanee salmon is easy to identify. His body color changes to a deep red with a greenish head, the jaws become hooked, and the back becomes humped.

Preserving Grain

A NEW grain preserver by the Sentry division of Union Carbide offers area farmers, Merlin Preston (right) and his father, Russell, of Route 2 Wayne, protection of their grain from molds and spoilage. According to Fred Gilderleeve, of Wayne Grain and Feed, this is the first time the product is being used in the Wayne area. The corn, he said, is coated with the preservative that will last one year.

Let's Be Thankful

Thanksgiving is the time for "killing the fatted calf." In most cases it is killing the fatted turkey as celebration for our blessings and worldly abundances.

But somewhere along the line, we've neglected to be truly thankful. The Christmas season seems to begin before the ghosts and goblins hibernate for the year, so Thanksgiving has become just another holiday.

Oh, everyone says they are thankful. But are they really? Thankful for the routine, everyday things in life that are truly blessings?

Are you thankful you are alive? We seldom even give that a thought unless we have a loved one deprived of life. How many of us really take advantage of being really alive? Be thankful you can read. That is a simple, everyday blessing bestowed on us by our parents and teachers. Do you have any idea of how many people there are in the world who can't read? Think about not being able to read.

We should also be thankful for the blessing of sight so we can exercise our reading abilities. This again is something we talk about but don't actually realize until we see someone who is blind.

If you are unable to read this, evidently someone must be reading it to you. Be thankful for their consideration, companionship and patience. There are numerous clichés such as looking but not seeing, but when was the last time you actually saw what you were looking at? If you actually became alive and opened your mind to the transmissions coming from your eyes, you might be surprised at what you see. You might see several blessings you didn't know you had.

In order to successfully cope with life itself you must be alive in a happy, psychological way. This is a great blessing to have if you happen to be unhealthy.

If you meet a friend or neighbor on the street who seems to be "under the weather" and tell him about how bad he looks, chances are he will be bedfast within the hour. At least his spirits will be in need of help.

But if you greet him with a statement about how good he looks, remind him of how fast he must have recovered from what ever has been ailing him, you're almost certain to get a good response as well as deepen your friendship. And friendship is definitely a blessing for which we should be humbly thankful.

Our list of blessings is almost endless so as Thanksgiving ap proaches, let us, as rural people, be truly thankful.

Thanksgiving is observed across the nation in the city and country alike to remind us of that first bountiful celebration and its rural setting.

Thanksgiving is a special time when the farmer gathers this brood around him in a humble thanksgiving to his Creator for a good year just past and the promise of an even better year ahead.

This year practically every farmer who has an ear of corn left in the field to be combined or picked will be working-weather permitting, on Thanksgiving Day. But unless you are a farmer or have been one and weathered barren harvest years, you have no idea how thankful farmers are to have the corn in the field to be picked. And how thankful they are to be alive and able to pick it.

So on Thanksgiving day when the city children return to the farm and the farmer continues to reap his harvest, rest assured he is very thankful.

Let us all be thankful, especially on Thanksgiving Day, for our harvest, be it in the form of ears of corn or simple, everyday blessings.

August Retail Sales In Area Higher Than Same Month in '71

The Wayne area was among 10 areas in the state showing a more than five per cent increase in retail sales during August, reports a University of Nebraska-Lincoln publication.

The Bureau of Business Research's monthly publication titled "Business in Nebraska" reports that August was a relatively good month for retail trade in most of Nebraska, with the state showing a growth of 15.3 per cent between August of 1971 and August of 1972.

The Wayne area, which includes Wayne, Pierce, Antelope, Madison and Stanton Counties, showed a 14.5 per cent increase in net taxable retail sales over the same month a year ago.

Through the first eight months of the year, the same area showed a growth rate of 14.8 per cent over the first eight months of 1971.

The Nebraska dollar-volume of business index moved strongly upward in August following a July slump, according to the publication.

Except for the sharp drop in April and a somewhat less pronounced drop in July, the Nebraska business trend is one of substantial growth, it noted.

A part of the dollar volume growth of 10.9 per cent for the first eight months in 1972 is the result of price inflation, the publication points out, but "real" activity has also increased significantly, as is demonstrated by an increase in the physical volume index, up five per cent over the same period last year.

Month-to-month growth would appear much smoother in the economic indicators if it were not for erratic fluctuations in the cash farm marketings series used to represent agriculture.

Among the individual sectors of non-agricultural indicators, there seems to be fairly uniform growth patterns with the exception of construction. This area continues to show a growth rate several times the average for the other sectors.

Student Teacher Becomes Big Help in Class

By SANDY BREITKREUTZ

In the past few weeks, several hundred students and dozens of teachers have learned to depend on Carla Meisinger and others like her.

Carla, a senior at Wayne State College, is one of several prospective teachers in the Wayne Public School system who are undergoing a training period commonly referred to as practice teaching. And as the local teachers will tell you, the assistance provided by the student teachers is most welcome.

Carla, 21 and married, will graduate this December from WSC with a major in elementary education. Her husband, Marlen, is a student at Wayne State also.

Since her arrival at West Elementary School Oct. 30, she has become a friend and assistant to nearly 30 fourth grade students and their instructor, Mrs. A. J. Atkins.

At first the student teachers merely observe, Mrs. Meisinger explained. "Now I am taking roll and teaching two classes, English and spelling, but the last two weeks I will be teaching everything," she continued.

"I really like teaching," she noted. "Most of my summer jobs have been working with children. Last summer I was a teacher's aid in Norfolk."

Perhaps this previous experience accounts for the calm classroom manner which, according to Mrs. Atkins, Carla has had since the first day.

MRS. MEISINGER and three of the fourth grade children look over a pioneer days display in the classroom. From left are Christy Wert, Tracy Otte and Michelle Kubik.

There are differences in schools and teaching methods since Mrs. Meisinger was an elementary student in the Norfolk Schools. The "new math" is possibly the biggest change, she commented, but it is easier for the students when they start on it early. "We were introduced to it in sixth grade and it wasn't so easy to switch over," she noted.

Mrs. Atkins and Mrs. Meisinger agreed that students have more opportunity to make decisions in the classroom today. Also, more thought questions are asked, rather than those which require extensive memorization.

In spite of the job scare, Mrs. Meisinger feels there are jobs to be had in the teaching field. She doesn't know how lucky she will be, however, in locating a position in the immediate area. She and her husband plan to remain in Wayne until Marlen graduates in about a year and a half.

Local Farmer Wins Award for Entry In Growing Contest

A Wayne farmer, Gene Perry, has won a special award for his early entry yield in Project: 200, a high yield corn growing contest sponsored by Funk's G-Hybrids.

Perry's early entry yield was 143.3 bushels per acre made with Funk's G-444 and G-445. He planted his field on May 8 in 30-inch rows. Final plant population was 23,500 per acre, and total combined fertility program included 100 pounds actual N, 46 pounds actual P and zero pounds actual K per acre. The yield was harvested on Oct. 9 at which time the grain had reached 24.2 per cent moisture.

Project: 200 is the nation's largest high yielding corn growing contest. The seed company says. Started in 1969, the contest has grown each year, with 5,500 corn growers submitting harvest records in 1971, the company notes.

Contestants harvest and shell a minimum of two acres from not less than four, adjacent rows.

The blue whale is the largest animal ever known to live on the earth.

Give Thanks 'In Everything'

By REV. PAUL REIMERS
"In everything give thanks; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."
I Thessalonians 5:18

We know about giving thanks. We have a national day to do it which we are celebrating this week. Some people may not give thanks for anything, taking everything as it comes, assuming it is their just due. Most people give thanks for some things and are not very thankful for a lot of other things. We may give thanks before meals when we have plenty to eat; we may give thanks for bumper crops and good prices; we may give thanks for peace and quiet around the house.

It is easy to give thanks for the things we enjoy and appreciate, for the things that bring us comfort and pleasure.

But what about the words "in everything"? Do we skip over them when we read such a verse in the Bible? Do we really pick and choose the things for which we can be thankful? We are thankful for abundant food, warm sunny days and undisturbed Sunday afternoons, but not thankful for burnt toast, cold wet days, bothersome people and unwanted interruptions.

Yet, St. Paul tells us "in everything" give thanks, and he really means everything. Another version of scripture says it this way, "Give thanks in all circumstances." We can do this for peaceful, calm, smooth, loving and comfortable circumstances, but can we do it for chaotic, disharmonious, spiteful and uncomfortable circumstances?

What would happen if you would give thanks to God the next time things did not go right? It would change you, your attitude and reaction, and thereby change the situation for your good. It would help you grow spiritually in patience and self control. It would bring the power of God into your negative situation and bring his blessings to you.

Romans 8:28 tells us, "We know that in everything God works for good with those who love him." God can work in everything in your life — the good and the bad, the happy and the sad, the joyous and the tragic — for your good. If you love him and give thanks for all things.

Giving thanks to God for pain, suffering, depression and difficult circumstances might sound strange and ridiculous, but this is God's idea, not ours. Do you have a better one? Do you have a better way of facing troubles than with your heart and mind full of praise and thanksgiving to God for the circumstances he is using to help you grow spiritually and draw closer to him?

Chaplain Merlin R. Carothers in his books "Prison to Praise," "Power in Praise" and "Answers to Prayers" gives case after case of people who sincerely tried to praise God for everything. He tells of people giving thanks in everything, and as a result the power of God flowed into their lives and changed them in wonderful and marvelous ways. This can happen to you, too.

This Thanksgiving try giving thanks in everything, for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you.

Wakefield Hosts 'On the Go' Youths During Weekend's 3-Day Fall Retreat

By BOB BARTLETT
It wasn't surprising if the town of Wakefield was in a "go" mood over the weekend considering the invasion of high school students from eastern Nebraska.

The Rev. Dick Lindman only had to repeat the phrase "get up and go" once to the 65 youths and they were ready for the Wakefield Covenant Church Hi Leaguers' three-day fall retreat.

"A lot of these students," said Rev. Lindman, associate pastor of the Covenant Church in Omaha, "have reached a certain point in life where he or she must make a commitment in life. It is at this time we would like to remind them that they are living for what God wants them to be."

Rev. Lindman said the retreat offered the young people three things: fun, spiritual enrichment and an opportunity to share their experiences with others.

"Most of these students know each other from summer camp," he pointed out, "so you might call this sort of a reunion."

Despite the weekend of snow and bad weather around the state, only 18 youths — all from Aurora — were not able to attend.

During the three-day affair, which began Friday, the students were involved in skills, pantomimes, crafts and gym activities such as volleyball and basketball.

"Some of the kids," Rev. Lindman noted, "added a touch of music with guitars. A lot of them even write their own music, including both words and notes."

Besides the singing, fun and hayrack ride, sponsored by Wakefield farmers James Stout, Paul Everingham and Bud Erlandson, the students took time out to think about the retreat.

"I think it is neat," said Jan Peterson of Omaha Central High School. "I wanted to come here and meet kids — and to sit down and figure where I'm going."

Bruce Linateller of Wayne, serving as one of the counselors along with his wife, Bonnie, believed the retreat was "great."

"The kids were able to get together and share. They didn't even know each other 24 hours earlier and were still able to share with each other."

Both Bonnie and Bruce are seniors at Wayne State College. Also helping as counselors were Mr. and Mrs. Myron Osbahr of Wakefield and Bob Stromberg of Chicago.

Stromberg, a student at North Park College in Chicago, found the retreat to be an interesting experience.

"I travel around the country," he said, "trying to find what the Lord's niche is for me. At the same time I get a chance to meet people and share my talents."

Last month the musician visited Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Seattle, Wash., and New York.

Stromberg, whose major is art, hopes to get his degree and work in Christian education.

Rev. Lindman said the Nebraska Area Christian Association gave him the responsibility of planning the retreat.

"I decided to pick Wakefield," he explained, "because it has one of the nicest small town churches in this part of the state."

The small town atmosphere, he continued, adds to the group feeling of the retreat. A big town such as Omaha "doesn't give you that atmosphere," he said.

PARTICIPATING in a retreat also means taking time out to listen to the radio, especially if it's a Saturday afternoon and the Nebraska football team is playing a home game. For Bruce Linateller (top left), Rev. Lindman (below Linateller) and Myron Olson (to the right of Rev. Lindman), listening to Nebraska beat Kansas State makes it worthwhile to take a time out from the retreat.

PILLOW FIGHTS are always a favorite of young people, and six girls joined in during a battle Saturday afternoon at the Covenant Church in Wakefield. Those invited are, Lois Hanson; Wakefield; Suzanne Lundling, Allen, and Deanna Benson, Sandy Sizemore, Susan Steinacher and Janiece Hogberg, all of Omaha. In case you only see five girls, the sixth one is buried behind the pillow.

City council errs

The Wayne city council made a mistake when it authorized the city attorney to negotiate a selling price for the land which may be used for a road to the city's proposed new hospital and for a city park.

The council took that action after being informed by the city attorney that he, as a real estate broker, had a listing to sell part of that very same land.

Since the selling price of the land would affect the commission received by the city attorney as a private real estate broker, we feel there was definite conflict of interests involved as soon as the council told the city attorney to begin negotiating with the owners.

The city attorney did not try to hide the fact that he had a listing for part of the land the city council was considering purchasing. We feel he should have gone one step further and disqualified himself from being the negotiator for the selling price. And the city council should have had the foresight to demand exactly that.

A third party, which would have had nothing to gain or lose from any negotiations, should have been brought in to represent the city.

We will say this in the council's favor.

Quick action was needed to negotiate a selling price so the city's application for federal funds to help purchase the land could be submitted by last week's deadline. The council found out only a short time ago, according to a city official, that two access roads into the hospital are needed if federal funding is to be obtained to help build the facility. When that became known to the councilmen, steps needed to be taken to provide the second road.

Things began falling together like a puzzle after that. The land in question was available for purchase. It happened to be almost exactly where the city's new land use map will call for a park within the next few years. It would be an attractive asset for the hospital as well as the city. It would permit the city to build a road to the hospital which would not benefit any private landowners.

Although it is easy to say after the fact, more thought should have gone into the method the council took to negotiate an option to purchase the land. Action, we feel, could have been taken which would not have later turned out to be thoughtless action.

Let's make hunting enjoyable

Farmers aren't the only ones who are complaining about not getting their corn crop out of the fields this fall. Hunters, hoping to get into the picked fields to kick out pheasants, wish the job were done, too.

One good thing might come from the late harvest, however. It might emphasize to hunters the need for showing respect for unpicked fields when they are looking for birds.

True, the game birds and animals inhabiting the state belong to all the citizens of the state. But, it's a big but. . . 97 per cent of the land on which these creatures live belongs to private individuals.

Less than three per cent of the state's 77,000-plus square miles is publicly owned and open to hunting. The rest, at least a good share of it, is private land owned by farmers and ranchers. It is just as much theirs to do with as they wish as the front lawn of somebody living in the city.

If every hunter who headed out into the country made a strong effort to treat that private land respectfully, there would be far fewer "no hunting" signs posted about and far fewer angry farmers at the end of the season.

Each hunter can do his share toward that end. And it's not that difficult.

First, abide by the law. State law requires hunters to ask permission before hunting on private land. If the landowner is not home, that land is off limits. Also, law prohibits hunting within 200 yards of an inhabited dwelling unless permission has been obtained.

Second, use common courtesy. "Please" and "thank you" are words which will do magic things when talking to a farmer about hunting on his land. Don't wake a farmer up at the break of dawn to ask to hunt his land—he will appreciate it about as much as you would. Use gates, and close them. . . rather than climbing over fences. If you have good luck, leave the farmer a bird for his evening supper. Abide by the rules he sets down.

Finally, give the state's conservation officers a hand in keeping hunting a sport for all to enjoy. If you see somebody breaking the law, tell the nearest law enforcement official. . . just as you would if you saw somebody stealing a friend's car. If he is stopped now, his actions won't reflect on you and other hunters in the future.

If all hunters would remember to do those simple things, hunting would be a lot more enjoyable. . . for the hunter as well as the farmer.

It could save a life

Is your home poison-proof? If not, you should make every effort to make it so, especially if you have young children.

Elsewhere on this page you will find an article about a mother from northwest Nebraska who probably saved her child's life after he swallowed several aspirin. She quickly called a toll-free number in Omaha.

The telephone call to Poison Control Center at Childrens Memorial Hospital in Omaha put her in almost instant contact with a doctor who advised her exactly what to do for her child. Hospital officials say her call was just one of hundreds received by the center each month.

For your protection, clip out the telephone number which appears with that story. It could save you child's life.

Quick telephone call saves child's life

One sunny spring morning a housewife from northwest Nebraska went to her garden to plant some roses. Her three-year old son, Tommy, was playing with his toy truck in the kitchen when she went outside.

An hour passed quickly and the housewife went into the kitchen for a coffee break. Tommy was no longer in the kitchen. Looking in the bedroom, she found Tommy lying on the floor struggling to breathe. He was in a dazed, confused condition, breathing erratically and mumbling. Next to him was an almost empty bottle of aspirin. The young mother remembered the bottle had been more than half full the night before when she took a pill for her headache.

Frantically, the young mother fumbled through her phone book for the number of their family physician—but on the inside front cover she saw printed Poison

Control Information—Call 800-642-9999. Grabbing the telephone, she dialed the number of Childrens Memorial Hospital in Omaha. A calm, reassuring voice of the Poison Control Monitor answered, "Poison Information Center, Mrs. Leahy speaking, may I have your name and telephone number please?"

The voice of the housewife broke out with "My little boy, Tommy, has swallowed a half bottle of aspirin! He's struggling for his breath, acting confused and looks pale. What should I do?"

Mrs. Leahy asked for the mother's name, address and phone number, Tommy's age, weight, physical symptoms and an estimate of the amount of aspirin swallowed. All this information was tape recorded while the conversation was in progress in case the calling party was disconnected.

Mrs. Leahy then checked the card file which lists more than 350,000 poisonous products and plants and notified the emergency room doctor. The physician on duty advised the young mother to give Tommy a glass of milk or some activated charcoal if it were available. Then she was encouraged to induce vomiting unless Tommy was having convulsions. Finally, the poison monitor told the anxious mother to drive Tommy to the nearest hospital as quickly as possible. She was reassured Tommy would be fine as soon as he got medical attention.

A calmed mother said, "Thank you. . . and goodbye!"

This situation is an example of one of the hundreds of telephone calls the Poison Control Center receives each month. Each call brings a quick response from Childrens Memorial Hospital where emergency information is available 24 hours a day.

State's crime rate on the rise

LINCOLN—The crime rate is on the rise in Nebraska.

It's going up in the counties, the small towns and the big cities. Only in the middle-sized cities—those with populations of between 5,000 and 10,000—is there much improvement shown in a comparison of crime statistics for the first nine months of this year and the records for the January-September period in 1971.

Overall, the crime index prepared by the State Crime Commission for the first three quarters of the year is up 17 per cent from the same period a year earlier. The index is made up of reports from local and state law enforcement officials on offenses they know occurred.

Statewide, there was an increase of 48 per cent in the number of robberies. The total jumped from 258 during the first nine months of 1971 to 531 during the same span in 1972.

The biggest climb was in Lincoln, where the 1972 total of 41 robberies was 215 per cent larger than the 1971 figure of 13. Second class cities—those with populations smaller than 5,000—reported a 200 per cent increase, with six robberies this year, compared with two a year earlier. In Omaha, the total jumped 44 per cent—from 312 to 449, while counties reported 21 robberies this year and 15 last year, for a climb of 40 per cent.

But in first class cities—those in the 5,000 to 100,000 population class—there was a 13 per cent decrease. The incidence of robbery fell from 16 in 1971 to 14 this year.

The largest percentage drop reported from first class cities was in forcible rape. The total fell from 13 during the January-September period in 1971 to seven this year, for a drop of 46 per cent.

Statewide, there was a 1 per cent drop in rape cases—but Lincoln reported a 39 per cent decrease and counties had 6 per cent fewer cases.

Small towns, however, reported a 33 per cent climb. There were eight cases this year, compared with six a year ago. Omaha had 101 cases, compared with 87 last year, for a 16 per cent increase. . .

Murder cases climbed 25 per cent statewide, with 28 slayings a year ago and 35 this year. Lincoln, with five cases compared with two a year earlier, had the largest percentage increase—a hike of 150 per cent.

Statewide increases of 21 per cent in burglary cases and 20 per cent in larceny ($50 or larger) also were reported in the crime commission statistics.

Tax Rates Remain Same

The State Board of Equalization has set 1973 sales and income tax rates for 1973. They're just the same as this year's, with one exception.

The corporate income tax rate will be 37.5 per cent next year, compared with 35 per cent this year.

But it really was the Legislature, not the equalization board, which mandated that change. The lawmakers decided the corporation tax should be 25 per cent of the individual rate, starting next year, instead of 20 per cent.

When the board re-established the 1972 rates of 2½ on sales and 15 per cent on personal income, it meant a boost of three quarters of a percentage point for corporations.

The 15 per cent personal rate means Nebraskans will pay the state 15 per cent of the amount they owe Uncle Sam in federal income taxes.

The corporate rate, however, is based on gross income—not federal liability. Corporations will have to pay the state 37.5 per cent of their gross income for 1973.

The sales tax rate remains at 2½ per cent for tax purposes. Omaha and Lincoln each have a 1 per cent city sales tax, so the levy in those two cities is 3½ per cent.

Way Back When

Out of Old Nebraska

Nebraska

Researchers using the newspaper files in the State Archives at the Nebraska State Historical Society at Lincoln can hardly fail to notice the variety of titles which adorn the various issues. Of course, many are common names which elicit little attention, but others demonstrate real imagination on the part of the editor or publisher. This was especially true during pioneer days when newspapers proliferated and editors were often visionary types, very optimistic, and inclined to view life humorously.

Many titles were descriptive of the newspapers political persuasion such as Republican, Democrat, Independent, or Populist. Other papers adopted names which denoted their primary function as informational media: News, Reporter, Journal, Record, Gazette, and Chronicle. The list of these is nearly endless. Some titles apparently were designed to instill confidence in the newspaper as a vigilant force watching over the welfare of their communities. These included Citizen, Sentinel, Leader, Monitor, Critic, and others.

The more unusual names provided the most interest however. One finds, for example, daily events coming under the scrutiny of the Hildreth Telescope, the Holbrook Observer, and for variety, the Kenesaw Kaleidoscope. Illuminating reports could well have issued from such publications as the Elm Creek Beacon, the Ohioa Spotlight, the Stromsburg Headlight, the Valentine Searchlight, and the Wood River Sunbeam, not to mention a host of Stars and Suns. The reflective view of the news was provided by the Monroe Looking Glass and the Arapahoe Public Mirror.

Native Americans were not ignored by Nebraska journalists as witnessed by the Winnabago Chief, the Red Cloud Chief, the Pawnee Chief, and the Tecumseh Chieftain. Names such as the Wagon Breeze, the Lincoln Blizzard, and the Herman Cyclone, conjure up visions of editorial pontification ranging from the mild to the extreme, though none wished to chance the name Wind or Windy. Perhaps these various breezes and cyclones in turn spawned such titles as the Spaulding Grit, and the Silver Creek Sand, though the latter two names also have connotations of steadfastness of purpose.

Some Nebraska papers prove difficult to categorize, for example, the Rosalie Rip-Saw, The Wahoo Wasp, the Trenton Torpedo, and the Lawrence Locomotive, though their origins can be imagined. Finally, one notes such unpretentious offerings as the Wahoo Newspaper and the Valentine Newspaper. For understatement, however, it will be difficult to find a simpler designation than the Dobb's Paper, which, like many of Nebraska's most unique titles, had vanished.

THE WAYNE HERALD

Student Council Donates $50 to AFS

The local American Field Service chapter is $50 richer thanks to the Wayne High School student council.

The student council has donated that amount to the chapter to help with fund raising for the 1973-74 budget year.

Wayne's AFS program needs $1,000 annually to bring a student to America for study at Wayne High for a year and to take part in the American's Abroad division of the AFS program.

American's Abroad enables a Wayne High student to study in a foreign country either during a school year for 11 months or during the summer for two months.

Wayne's current AFS student is John Thavon from Thailand. He is staying with the Cyril-Hansen family of rural Wayne.

Sportsmen must wait at least 60 days after bagging a big game animal to have it measured for a state citation. Bopne and Crockell, or Pope and Young recognition. The waiting period allows for shrinkage before final measurement.

644 Seek Jobs at Norfolk Labor Office During October

A total of 644 job seekers were registered with the Norfolk Department of Labor office at the end of October, a decrease from the 653 registered at the end of August.

Of the total registered, 305 were female and 129 were veterans, an office spokesman reported.

The number of veterans seeking employment increased slightly during October, but remained about the same as October last year.

Nonagricultural job openings received from employers during October totaled 243. That compared with 267 in August and 173 for October a year ago. Construction continued to account for the majority of job openings received.

Nonagricultural placements made by the office numbered 216 during the month, a decrease of 29 from August and an increase of 88 over October last year.

Local Youths Advisors on State Council

Anybody wishing more information about the recently formed Alcohol Youth Advisory Council may contact either Cindy Beeks or Galen Miller in Wayne.

The two local youths are on the 12-member council, which was formed during a meeting at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln earlier in November.

The organization, which was representative from across the state, is attempting to educate youths about alcohol and its effects and informing the public about the drinking patterns of young people. It also will work with the Nebraska Division on Alcoholism in researching particular problems.

The council consists of 10 high school students and 2 college students.

In the Lincoln area, more than 20 hunter-safety instructors have been certified by the Game and Parks Commission.
