City Council Slates Hearings on Request for Beer License, Rezoning

Public hearings on a request for an off-sale beer license from a Wayne food store and requests for rezoning of two pieces of property for business development will be held the night after Christmas.

City councilmen agreed at Tuesday night's regular meeting to hold the hearings during their next regular meeting, Dec. 26.

The request for a license to sell beer comes from Wittig's Super Value. That hearing will be held at 9 p.m.

The requests for rezoning properties come from W. J. Luaders, a Wayne businessman who plans on building a grocery store on East Sixth Street, and from a Denver based firm which plans on building a 36-unit motel along East Seventh St.

The hearing on Luader's request, which asks for rezoning of six lots on the south side of East Sixth just east of Dearborn from multiple dwelling to highway business, is set for 8 p.m.

The other hearing, set for 8:30 p.m., is on the request for rezoning about 10 acres of land on the north side of Highway 35 just east of the National Guard Armory from agriculture to highway business.

Although the council agreed to set a date for the public hearing on the request for rezoning submitted by the group which plans to build the motel, it could not agree on what to do with the group's request for annexation.

Councilmen bogged down in a discussion about how to make sure that the city would get right of way for a street along the west side of the 10-acre strip of land. Councilmen agree that the existing road just east of the Armory would make an ideal access road to the proposed new area medical center which will be built in northeast Wayne.

However, they couldn't agree on what kind of stipulations are needed to make sure the motel developers will make right of way for a road available to the city in the future.

Considerable time was spent discussing how and when this should be stipulated even though Mayor Kent Hall told the council that the time to ask for right of way is "when a plat is drawn up and not when annexation is requested."

$10 SWAY Checks Awaiting Servicemen

Twenty-two former servicemen from the Wayne, Winside and Carroll area will be able to pick up their $10 SWAY checks at the Vet's Club in Wayne tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m.

The checks will be presented to them from members of SWAY (Servicemen We Appreciate You), a unique organization formed in Wayne County several years ago to show servicemen that persons back home hadn't forgotten them.

The 22 $10 checks which will be awaiting area men are among 76 which were written out recently by the organization's board of directors. The other checks have been mailed to persons still in the service or who have moved from Wayne County following their discharge.

The checks are the first to be given out since late in 1968.

Food, Clothes, Toys Wanted For Indians

Wanted Food, clothing and toys for the Omaha Indians living at Macy.

That's the call going out from a group of Wayne State College students hoping to make the Indians' Christmas a little bit brighter this year.

Jerry VanMoorleghe, a sophomore from Omaha, got the idea after reading a newspaper story telling about the plight of the Indians as Christmas approaches. He suggested the drive in a sociology class discussing minorities and got several other students interested in collecting items for the Indians.

Persons in the Wayne area who wish to drop off non-perishable food, toys and clothes either at Bowen Hall or the Kappa Delta Gamma sorority house at 1016 Walnut St., will be asked if persons may leave items in their stores, he added.

The drive officially begins today and will end Monday, according to VanMoorleghe. He said the items collected will be packed Monday and taken to Macy on Tuesday.

Anybody wishing to have items picked up at their homes may call VanMoorleghe at 375-1440 or Virginia Riha at 375-1440.

Towns' Share Of Revenue Is Announced

The amounts of federal revenue sharing funds going to Winside, Hoskins and Carroll were announced this week by the Department of Treasury.

Winside received $2,451 for the first six months. Hoskins received $1,264 and Carroll received $821.

Wayne's share of the funds for the first six months of 1972 amounted to $25,230, while the county's share came to $54,645. Those figures were released last week.

The envelope containing Wayne's check from the federal government was stained by water and smoke, evidence that it was aboard the airplane which crashed in Chicago Friday.

Dan Sherry, city administrator, said the city's share of the funds has been deposited in the bank and will stay there until city officials decide how the money is to be spent.

DAMAGED . . . this is the crumpled and smoke-stained envelope containing the city's federal revenue fund check which was received by Dan Sherry, city clerk, this week.

Little Worry Caused by Towed Snow

The few farmers in the Wayne area who still have corn standing in the fields probably consider themselves lucky a strong wind didn't accompany Tuesday's snow.

About four inches of snow fell during the day, but the lack of wind kept it from knocking down corn stalks in the fields.

The snow should cause those farmers little problem, according to Harold Ingalls, Wayne County agricultural agent. He said about 10 per cent of the corn is still not harvested, but farmers could probably get it picked up with the blanket of snow that fell.

The snow, which now totals about six inches, could cause some corn loss if strong winds start it drifting, he added.

Herald's Carriers Treated at Omaha

Eighteen of the 19 Wayne Herald newspaper carriers were treated to a night on the town in Omaha Saturday.

The newspaper paid for the carriers' trip to Omaha, supper and admission into the Omaha Knights-Tulsa Oilers hockey game at Ak-Sar Ben Auditorium.

Wayne carriers making the trip were Sydney Mosley, Lisa Magnuson, Mark Shuffell, Mark Tietz, Dan Beeks, Bob Lamb, Dean Kiegl, Greg Mosley, Jim Fairchild, Norman Brown, Robin O'Donnell, Keith Turner, Perry Mangers and Robin Turner.

Carriers in the other two towns making the trip were Lynne Wylie, Bill Gottberg and Doug Oswald of Winside and Tammy Nelson of Carroll.

Jane Robinson of Carroll and Billy Fulton of Wayne, friends of carriers, also went along.

Unable to make the trip was Jeff Backstrom, carrier in Wayne.

Driving cars were Jack Manske, Norvin Hansen and Al Shuffell, all of Wayne.

The hockey game outing was the newspaper's Christmas present to the carriers. Similar outings are being planned for the future.

Kiwanis Holding Second Sale

The Wayne Kiwanis Club will hold another seasonal sale this Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the downtown area.

Purpose of the sale is to raise money for the club's treasury, according to Dan Sherry. The funds are returned to the city in the form of different club projects, he added.

The sale will be held tonight (Thursday) and Friday evening and Saturday afternoon.

Kids' Christmas Party Is Saturday

Kids, better tell your mom or dad to plan on taking you to the Christmas party scheduled for the city auditorium in Wayne Saturday.

The party, an annual event staged by three Wayne State College groups, will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

It's open to any youngsters four through 10 years of age in this area.

The sponsors, Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Kappa Delta Gamma sorority and the Order of Diana, hold the party each year just before Christmas to give youngsters a chance to have fun with others their same ages while their parents do their Christmas shopping.

About 500 youngsters took advantage of the event last year. Members of the sponsoring groups hope the event will be even more successful this year.

Numerous games and activities are planned during the party, according to John Ramsey TKE vice president who is in charge of this year's party.

Also, youngsters will be given a chance to break large pinatas, paper mache figures filled with toys and candy.

Youngsters are also invited to bring their entries for judging in the picture contest which will be held in conjunction with the party, he said.

Businessmen throughout Wayne have donated almost $400 to help pay for the party.

Lighting Contest At Allen Begins After Saturday

Judging of Christmas lighting display at homes and businesses in Allen will begin sometime after Saturday, according to the Allen, Community Development Club.

The contest is being sponsored by the Allen club and the Nebraska Public Power District.

Three prizes will be given if the residential lighting contest, with $25 going to the best display, $15 to the second best and $10 to the third best.

A $10 prize will be awarded the business with the best display.

Residents or businessmen need not register for the contest.

Local Man Wins 3rd $50 Prize

Glenn Sumner of Wayne has an extra $50 to spend on Christmas presents because he purchased his color television set from a local firm recently.

One of the numbered tickets he received when he bought the TV set turned out to be the winning number Tuesday as the annual Christmas Give-A-Way program in Wayne moved into its second week.

Sumner's ticket was the first one of 25 numbers, posted in Wayne businesses Tuesday afternoon, earning him the third of nine $50 cash prizes which will be given away during the two and a half week promotion.

Sumner was more than happy with his luck. "I've been running my legs off for 50 years trying to win something. Now I've finally done it."

Another $50 check will be awarded by the Chamber of Commerce tonight (Thursday). Persons who have received numbered tickets while shopping in Wayne will be able to check the numbers on their tickets with those posted in businesses throughout the city shortly after noon today.

The person holding the ticket with the first number listed will

GLENN SUMNER

Chamber will give away five $100 checks, one $500 check and eight bicycles in the promotion's climax.

Winners of the two $50 prizes awarded last week were two Wayne women, Mrs. Chris Baier and Mrs. George Barfels.

Kids, Sharpen Those Colors

Area youngsters should start sharpening their coloring skills if they hope to do well in the Wayne Herald's coming Christmas coloring contest.

Prizes of $3, $2 and $1 will be awarded the first, second and third place entries in the contest.

The contest is simple. Youngsters should cut out any advertisement in next Thursday's newspaper, color it and bring it or mail it to the newspaper by the Dec. 28 deadline. Contestants will have several days over the Christmas holiday to complete their entry.

Winners will be announced in the Jan. 4th issue of the newspaper. Pictures of the winning youths will be published along with the story.

Winside Plans Music Concert

Music students at Winside will be presenting their annual school Christmas concert on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The program will include three instrumental numbers by the band and a variety of vocal numbers by students in grades kindergarten through six, junior high and high school mixed choruses, girls glee club and swing choir.

Just Little Push Could Put Drive Over Goal Of $10,000

The $10,000 goal set by the Community Chest in Wayne is within grasp.

Drive officials reported this week that 92 per cent of the goal has been raised through donations, making the goal attainable with only a little more good will from residents in the city.

Anybody who has not been asked to donate to the fund is being urged by drive officials to leave their contributions with Community Chest president Bob Jordan at State National Bank.

Jordan said the drive has been much more successful than had been hoped a few weeks ago. With just a few more donations the drive could reach or even surpass the goal, he noted.

If another $800 is contributed so the $10,000 goal is reached, several groups active in the city and area will be benefited.

From the $10,000 the city recreation program, which provides such varied activities as football for youths and basketball for adults, would receive $3,000, the largest share of the total.

The recreation program also provides other sports activities for youths, skating parties, junior high dances, story-telling programs and summer park activities.

Receiving $1,500 each would be the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts.

Boy Scouts benefits some 200 boys in the city while about 125 girls take part in Girl Scouts.

The Salvation Army would receive $1,100 and the Wayne Senior Citizens Center would receive $1,000.

Other allocations from the $10,000 total would be $900 to the Red Cross, $300 to USO and $100 each to cystic fibrosis research and the Florence Crittendon Home in Sloux City.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION

Notes

by Myrtle Anderson

Carpet care becomes more important as winter days bring the family indoors for longer hours.

The kitchen carpet especially will need more attention as the homemaker spends more time preparing holiday goodies and meals for company.

Cleaning is always more successful when carpets and rugs are not permitted to become too soiled. Frequent vacuuming and cleaning when needed are the secrets to success. Embedded dirt left to accumulate also causes breakdown of carpet fibers as well as dulling the colors and design. Neglected stains are more difficult or even impossible to remove.

Some special cleaning tips are:

—Remove spills immediately if possible.

—Vacuum frequently to remove litter and surface dust. Do a good vacuum job once a week to remove embedded dirt.

—For all-over cleaning use special rug cleaning compounds or make a solution of a few drops of mild detergent (not dishwashing compound) in lukewarm water. Use the liquid sparingly.

—Dry carpet as fast as possible. Observing these precautions, the kitchen carpet should come through the busy season with its fibers and colors intact.

Mental Health Meeting For Area Set Saturday

The purpose of an area association for mental health will be discussed during a meeting Saturday at Norfolk.
The meeting, scheduled for the Villa Inn from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., will include representatives from Wayne, Dixon, Cedar and 18 other area counties.
All interested persons from the 27 northeast and north central counties are being asked to attend the meeting to decide what they would like an area association to do for them.
The range of possibilities, according to a spokesman interested in an area group, includes becoming actively involved in influencing area wide policies in mental health, supporting the state association for mental health in influencing legislation, acting as a communication link between local associations and becoming involved in areawide projects such as education about mental health or promotion of careers in the mental health field.
Other items on the agenda include examining guidelines for possible by-laws and articles of incorporation and discussion of the relationship of an area group with existing local mental health associations.

By BOB BARTLETT
Wayne High School has no respect for tradition.

For the past six years Laurel has carried on the role of the victor in the rivalry with the Blue Devils on the basketball court.

But the Wayne five turned tradition around Tuesday night with a 63-46 stomping of the Bears for the locals third win in four starts.

Wayne made the seventh year the year to break away from past performances as team leaders Roger Saul and Larry Shupe guided their club past the Laurel quintet, who are searching for their initial win in three starts.

Saul pumped in 10 of his 20-point total in the second half to help the taller Blue Devils gather the needed momentum to escape the tenacious man-to-man Bear defense.

Coach Joel Parks' crew opened up the first half pressing all the way, causing Wayne to play Laurel's kind of game.

"Our problem," said Wayne head man Bill Sharpe, "is that we were playing their game by running with the ball and not setting up our shots."

"For three quarters we played right into their hands because we tried to force the shots even though our team is not quick enough."

Sharpe said it wasn't until the second half that Wayne started to use its big men - Saul and Shupe - for the scores.

"Laurel put a lot of pressure on and really hurt us," he added. "I've never seen so many hands in the air working on our boys."

In the first quarter it looked like Wayne would be in command of the game with a 9-6 lead in the closing seconds. But the smaller Bear team applied the pressure and converted Wayne's turnovers for a nine all tie.

Laurel's Chuck Hirschman and Wayne's Shupe set the battle scene as both fought it out under the boards in one of the season's most physical ball games.

Also in the first period, Laurel's Hirschman racked up his third personal, putting the Bears in serious trouble. But Parks kept his head and Hirschman in the game.

With 7:03 left in the second quarter Laurel finally got control of the game when it went out in front, 19-18, and stayed there until the half, holding a 24-20 edge.

"During the early portion of the second half, Sharpe looked to his bench for the right combination to pull his Blue Devils out of the slump."

After some shuffling, juniors Scott Ehlers and Bill Schwartz entered the game to help solve the problem.

"I needed to do something to calm down the club," Sharpe emphasized. "And Scott and Bill did a good job for us."

Ehlers' able ball handling helped the Blue Devils mount up a working offense, while Schwartz boosted the team score with eight points.

"I knew that all we had to do was to slow the game down to win it," the coach said.

Sharpe admitted it was "pretty tough" for his team to stay cool under the Laurel pressure but his team did the job.

"The kids have a lot of desire but they seemed to lose control when the pressure was on us tonight," Sharpe commented, noting that the team is improving in looking at his ball club.

Parks summed up the situation "Saul beat us."

"We played well on defense but the size finally got to us. What can you do when a guy like Saul scores four baskets on tip-ins?"

Parks said he was happy with the team effort in holding Shupe to 13 points. "But our overall shooting (21 for 30 per cent) hurt us," he said.

For Wayne, the offense blitzed the rim for 55 per cent, converting 26 of 49 losses.

"Our defense (1-3-1) played a good game," Sharpe said. "I'm really happy with the way it is working."

This Friday the Blue Devils will be on the road against Plainville and return home Saturday to face unbeaten Wakefield at Rice Auditorium.

In reserve action, the Wayne five collected its third win against one defeat with a 55-39 win.

Kerry Jech was high point man as he hit 14 points for the night. Bob Keating had 10, Laurel's Madsen gained his

Athlete of the Week

Dave Scheel
Wakefield High School

Any basketball coach will tell you that being a good offensive player is only half of what it takes to make a player good. It also takes defensive strength to help your team.

That's why this week's Wayne Herald "Athlete of the Week" award goes to Wakefield's Dave Scheel for his outstanding offensive and defensive playmaking last Friday when the Trojans beat Wisner-Pilger, 57-49.

Dave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Scheel, added the team's second win with 14 points and did a "tremendous" job of defending Wisner's 6-8 Steve Hornbeck, says his coach. "Scheel is consistent at both ends of the court," according to his coach, Joe Coble. "He uses his head and finds a position to score."

During the contest, Scheel held Hornbeck to only eight baskets. "His defensive play helped us make our game plan work," Coble added.

Scheel, who shot an even 50 per cent for the night and collected 11 rebounds, "played 32 minutes of basketball concentration on the big man."

To prove he can be just as effective on offense, the senior added 20 points to Saturday night's home contest over Coleridge for the team's perfect 3-0 mark.

"It's hard to measure a player's ability in just the number of points he scores," Coble emphasized. "It takes a player's knowledge of knowing where to be at the right time."

Wayne State's Volleyball Team Ends Season at 18-5

Wayne State's women's volleyball team completed an 18-5 season Saturday when they bowed out of the Nebraska state tournament in the semifinals.

Kearney defeated Wayne in the semis, 15-11 and 15-10, then lost to host Chadron in the finals. There was no playoff for third place between Wayne and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

In Friday's first round Wayne defeated Northeastern Nebraska, 5-15, 15-10, 15-9, and Doane, 15-6, 15-7, then lost to Concordia, 15-13, 6-15, 9-15.

Coach Bernice Fulton summed up the 12 team tournament—and the whole season—with an emphatic, "I was really proud of the girls."

She also had praise for a Wayne coach, Wendy Shol, who worked as a state tournament official—going nearly 12 hours Friday as she officiated seven games then again Saturday in the semifinal and final rounds. Miss Shol is a certified volleyball official.

For many of the volleyball girls, the athletic season changes abruptly to basketball this week.

Cage Coach G. L. Willoughby has a veteran squad returning from last year's squad that went to the national tournament. The team lost no players and has added several promising newcomers.

Their first action comes Friday afternoon at 1 when Kearney State coeds are the foe in Rice Gymnasium. This will be the only pre-Christmas game for Wayne.

Nebraska's underwater-powered spearfishing season opens with game fish ends on Dec. 31, 1972, and reopens on Aug. 1, 1973. Nongame fish may be taken by this method year-round.

Trojans Hit Coleridge For 3rd Team Victory

The Wakefield five made it three wins against no defeats Saturday night in what looked like a run-away battle, 65-59 over Coleridge.

The Trojans, led by Randy Johnson with 21 points, socked the Bulldogs for an 18-8 first period lead on the Wakefield home court with the aid of a man-to-man defense.

Johnson, who rammed in 17 points in the first half, helped to drive Coleridge out of the zone for the good scores.

"We had three quarters of exceptional basketball," coach

Joe Coble said, noting that his team had an 11-point lead going into the fourth period.

"We seemed to lose our pulse in the last period and started to run and gun," Coble said. Coleridge then popped in 21 points to 16 for Wakefield before the contest ended.

Dave Scheel, tabbed as this week's "Athlete of the Week," followed Johnson with 20 points, hitting four for four at the line and converting eight baskets.

"I wouldn't want to play Coleridge again," the coach remarked. "They played a good game, especially in that fourth quarter. I think they will be a strong team once they get a few more games under their belt."

For the Bulldogs, four men hit the double-figure rank, led by Alan Bensen's 16, Kevin Krejci had 14, Rich Rhode 10 and Larry Rathgeber 13.

In the preliminary game, the Wakefield reserves lost their second game of the season, 43-35.

Chuck Linstram paced his club with 14 followed by Jensen's 11. Coleridge's Ron Stone was his team's high man with 15.

This Friday Wakefield will travel to Lyons in search of victory number four.

The Saturday contest will offer area viewers a chance to see Wakefield and Wayne battle. Game time is 6:30 p.m. for reserves and 8 p.m. for the varsity.

Winside Board Okays Buying New Uniforms

The Winside school board approved purchasing new band uniforms for the 1973-74 school year during the Monday night meeting at the high school.

The new uniforms, costing about $5,300, will be purchased by the Band Boosters and the Winside board of education.

Also, the board set up a negotiating committee of Mike Deck, Erv Morris and Dennis Bowers to study teachers' pay increases and salaries for the 1973-74 school year.

Other topics included approval of Superintendent Don Leighton to attend the national school administrators' convention in San Francisco next March.

She'll Be Coming Around The Bin

WHEN JOHN KAY started hauling this empty grain bin down Main Street, everyone going in his direction knew it was time to go the other way or make a quick detour. This 40 by 100 foot bin, headed for Feeders Elevator on 410 Fairground Ave., had to make a couple of in and out turns before it finally reached its destination. John Kay, who owns the moving service, decided the best way to make a right turn at the corner of Fairground Ave. and Main was to use a little ingenuity and cut down the street sign.

Taking on the task was Wes Beckenhauer of Morris Machine Shop. The bin was moved from the old site about a mile and a half south of Wayne. The bin is one of several used for grain storage by the Federal government.

New Tax Forms Are Now in Mail

Retired persons and others in the Wayne area who filed only for a food sales tax credit on last year's Nebraska income tax return will be receiving a new tax form to complete this year, a state official says.

William Peters, state tax commissioner, said the new form should speed up refunds.

Some 93,000 of the new forms, Nebraska Individual Food Sales Tax Credit Return, were mailed last week. The new form has only six lines to be filled out by the taxpayer, and many taxpayers only have to complete three lines to file for their refund.

The majority of those receiving the special food tax return are retired taxpayers, Peters said.

'Hmmm, That Looks Good'

IT WAS a tasty and bounteous feast, that International Dinner the foreign language clubs of Wayne State College prepared Sunday evening. Folks of French, German, Spanish or English ancestry found dishes out of their national heritage, but the diners (about 265) could have been any ancestry and savored the vast array of foods. Most varied of all were the desserts, pictured in foreground, and there was considerable anguish when anybody tried to pick even two or three. Students and faculty for the foreign languages department prepared the entire menu and kept busy serving it for nearly two hours at St. Mary's Catholic School in Wayne.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786

Another record in sight

In spite of Gov. J. James Exons' efforts, it looks like Nebraska is going to kill a record number of persons on highways and roads in the state this year. Through the end of November, automobile fatalities totaled 457, 24 more than last year at the same time. Drivers in the Wayne area can help hold down the death rate by being extra careful now that slick roads are here. By being just a little more cautious, we might be able to keep from adding to that grisly death toll.

Also, Saturdays were the worst days for motorists, with 14 fatal accidents on that day during November. Fridays were next, with 12 deaths, followed by Sundays with seven. And, 27 people died during daylight hours, 22 after dark. Thirty-five of the 49 persons killed were male. It doesn't take any special intelligence to understand those figures. They simply tell us to be careful while driving in the rural areas because a large share of fatal accidents happen off state highways. Young drivers are more likely to have accidents, which result in death, and weekends are the worst time to be out driving. Driving during evening hours or just before or after sunset or sunrise is especially dangerous. Male drivers are more likely to die than female drivers. The statistics aren't hard to comprehend. What we're going to do about them is something else.

Invisible but deadly

Along a similar line, Wayne area drivers are urged to guard against carbon monoxide poisoning. Carbon monoxide gas—invisible, tasteless, odorless—has killed about a dozen Nebraskans so far this year. It will likely kill a few more before 1973 rolls around. To guard against death from the fumes, which annually kill some 1,900 persons nationally, public health officials advise the following: —Check your car's exhaust system to prevent fumes from leaking into the passenger compartment. —When parked, turn the engine off or open a window a crack. —Keep garage doors open when the car engine is running; better yet, don't leave your car in the garage when it is running.

But automobile drivers aren't the only ones who can be killed by carbon monoxide poisoning. Deaths can also occur in the home. To guard against deaths at home, have heating systems checked to make sure that vents, pipes, flues and chimneys are tight. Be sure to use only heating devices that were designed to be used indoors. Charcoal grills and hibachis used inside can be fatal. Fireplace dampers should always remain open until fires are out. If you suspect carbon monoxide poisoning, move the victim to fresh air immediately. If breathing has ceased or is irregular, begin artificial respiration. Keep the victim warm and still to prevent shock. Aid circulation by rubbing the victim's arms or legs. Call a doctor immediately.

Way Back When

30 Years Ago
Dec. 17, 1942: The midwest scored another victory Monday evening in a wartime blackout which was declared practically perfect. The test involved 15 million people in nine states. An unannounced blackout is planned for the near future. Fire which is thought to have started from an overheated furnace destroyed the Donald Podoll farm home, northwest of Winside, last Thursday afternoon. Wayne Players War-time Revue at Wayne Auditorium was attended by a capacity crowd last Thursday evening. The fire department was called to the Lester Hotel/stop Saturday evening to extinguish a blaze which broke out in waste materials. No damage was done.

Saturday evening after a month's vacation near Bunde, Germany, where they visited Mr. Victor's mother, and four sisters. A farewell party was held for Mr. and Mrs. Duain French at their home by the members of the Sholes Social club and their husbands. The Frenchs had a farm sale Monday and plans to move to Denver. The sanctuary chapel in the WSTC student union building received approval at a State Normal board meeting at Lincoln Saturday. Board members authorized the college to accept contributions for that purchase. Harold E. West was elected worshipful master of the Wayne Masonic lodge at a meeting in the Masonic hall Thursday night. He succeeds Jason Perston.

25 Years Ago
Dec. 18, 1947: Two desk telephones were taken and an apparent attempt made to find money Saturday night when an intruder entered the Graham Ice Cream plant. The residents of Wayne county invested $56,760 in E. F. and G. series U. S. Savings bonds during November. Oscar Peterson and Carl Samuelson arrived home Dec. 5 after a three-month trip to their native land, Sweden. It was the first trip back in 41 years for Mr. Peterson and 40 years for Mr. Samuelson. A telephone was installed in the Carroll fire house for use of firemen only, making it possible for firemen to save time in getting to the fire. Sunday Hornakers club, Brenna precinct, were with the Melvin Schnoor family Thursday evening as a farewell party for them before they leave for Boise, Idaho.

Dec. 19, 1957: Wayne High's choir, directed by Monty McMahon, will present a concert at 5:30 p.m. today over Sioux City TV. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brockman, Winside, suffered bruises and shock last Tuesday night in a two-car accident about one mile north of Carroll. Plans to include a small inter-faith chapel in the WSTC student union building received approval at a State Normal board meeting at Lincoln Saturday. Board members authorized the college to accept contributions for that purchase. Harold E. West was elected worshipful master of the Wayne Masonic lodge at a meeting in the Masonic hall Thursday night. He succeeds Jason Perston.

Capital News State senators hold spring training session

LINCOLN—The legislative version of spring training was conducted last week. The state senators—lame ducks and newly-elected rookies alike—were on hand for the two-day meeting of the Legislative Council. The council is composed of all members of the Legislature. It acts as the administrative arm and oversees the interim studies. Reports from the study committees are delivered at the biennial council sessions just prior to the start of the odd-numbered year legislative session. That's the official reason for the council meetings, but it's also a time for candidates for legislative leadership posts to try to line up support and for the newly-elected members to get acquainted. This year, the senators, sitting as the council, also decided to get in some preliminary ticks on the rules which will be offered for adoption by the 1973 Legislature when it convenes. Many rules were considered, but two emerged as the most significant. One takes the gag out of newsmen during executive sessions of the Legislature's standing committees. For the past few years, reporters have been allowed to sit in on those sessions for background, but they weren't allowed to write about what was said. They could, however, tell the public what a committee's decisions were on the disposition of a bill. Under the new rules, the public still will be excluded from the executive sessions—but newsmen may report all the conversations and debates which lead to decisions. Another significant change in the rules deals with the method of selection of members of the Committee on Committees. That committee has two jobs—to make assignments to standing committees and to hold hearings on appointments by the governor which need legislative confirmation. It's that first job—the allocation of committee posts—that makes service on the Committee on Committees so attractive from a political standpoint. A chairman is selected by a floor ballot and other members have been named by caucuses of senators from each of four districts. This year, the boundary lines of these four districts were changed to conform with the reapportionment of the Legislature. The new division leaves Douglas County (Omaha) in a district by itself. Omaha area senators fought the plan, favoring instead a map which would show three districts and link Sarpy County (Bellevue) with Douglas County on grounds the metropolitan areas have common geographic and economic ties. The four-district alignment won. Changed at the same time was a rule under which the Committee on Committees would name a chairman for each of the standing committees (budget, public works, education, etc.) Under the new rule, those committees chairmen will be chosen on the floor by secret ballot. No senator wanted to go far out on a limb in predicting what the effect of the floor election of chairmen would be, but wasn't considered likely to upset chairmanship which have been held for a long time by some veteran senators. Hastings Sen. Richard D. Marvel, for example, isn't expected to have any problem repeating as budget chairman, no matter what method is used for chairman selections. The rules changes adopted by the Legislative Council will require ratification by the official membership of Jan. 2. That's the same day the lawmakers will swear in the 11 new senators and choose the leadership which will hold office through the 1974 meeting. Under the annual session plan, the speaker and other officers serve through the 96-day and 40-day sessions. The speaker's battle was a two-way scramble after the council meeting. Omaha Sen. Richard F. Prou and Lincoln Sen. Harold D. Simpson will be the contestants next month. Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff is seeking the chairmanship of the executive board of the legislative Council. That's one of the power posts. Omaha Sen. Eugene T. Mahoney is running for the vice chairmanship. Sens. Ramsey Whitely of Chappell and John Savage of Omaha have announced their availability for the chairmanship of the Committee on Committees. After the two days of council meetings, the new senators—and some of the veterans—attended an orientation session sponsored by the council and the League of Women Voters. They were briefed on how to get drafted, the procedural rules and other aspects of operating as a state legislator.

ALCOHOL HAS SAME EFFECT AS ANESTHETICS USED IN OPERATIONS

Those western movies where the hero drinks whiskey before the country doctor probes for a bullet aren't so far wrong. The American Medical Association says alcohol has the same characteristics as ether or chloroform, and you certainly wouldn't drive after taking an anesthetic, would you?

Out of Old Nebraska

Pershing for President, 1920
The recently concluded campaign for the presidency recalls to Nebraskans that its prominent men have played major roles in past elections. Foremost of course, is William Jennings Bryan, three times a loser as Presidential candidate (1896, 1900, 1908). Charles G. Dawes was the successful Vice-Presidential nominee of the Republicans in 1924, when Calvin Coolidge was elected President. Few recall, however, that Nebraska Republicans made a strong effort in 1920 to place Gen. John J. Pershing, hero of World War I, at the head of their national ticket. The Pershing-for-President campaign is the subject of an article in the summer, 1972, issue of the Farmer's quarterly publication of the Nebraska State Historical Society. Author of the article, Prof. Lawrence Murray of the Department of History at the State University of New York (Fredonia), notes that "of our 36 Presidents, 11 owed their nominations in considerable measure to military records." Pershing is an outstanding exception to this propensity of the American electorate for military leadership in the White House. Friends in his adopted state of Nebraska, however, thinking his stature as a military commander might be an insurmountable asset, worked diligently in his behalf. The Pershing "boom" began in Nebraska because of his close ties with army units in the field here and because of his service as commandant of cadets of the University of Nebraska. Pershing, born a Missourian, said before a Kiwanis Club dinner meeting at the outset of his campaign in Lincoln: "I have always considered Nebraska one of my homes, but today (1920) I confess it is the most important of all." His two sisters, Miss May Pershing and Mrs. D. M. (Bessie) Butler, both lived in Lincoln at the time. They were raising the general's son Warren, only survivor of the fire which had taken the lives of his wife and three daughters in 1915 at the Presidio in California. Among those working in Pershing's behalf in Nebraska were Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Col. Frank Eager, Harvey Rathbone, E. F. Pettis, and Mark Frank, and George Woods. Pershing was at first a reluctant candidate but later dutifully made the expected political appearances. Throughout the presidential primaries, however, he often remained in the background, too often for his own good and his backers never succeeded in attracting much support from the "old pros" in Republican circles. Pershing ran fifth in the Michigan primary with 18,000 votes. His support in other states was equally disappointing. In his "home state" of Nebraska he ran third with 27,469 votes, 21 percent of the primary total. Sen. Hiram Johnson of California (63,262 votes) and Gen. Leonard Wood, another army commander, (42,385 votes), ran first and second. Neither, however, was the choice of the Republican National Convention as a dark horse. Sen. Warren G. Harding of Ohio, became the party's candidate. Pershing's name was never placed in nomination before the convention. In the general election in November, 1920, Harding swamped the Democratic candidate; another Ohioan, Gov. James M. Cox, 16,152,200 to 9,147,353 in the popular vote and 404 to 127 in the electoral vote.

'ERA would make women second-class citizens'

Dear Editor:
The very fact the writer of the letter in the Dec. 4 issue of The Wayne Herald has been "reading with concealed amusement at frantic efforts to have Women's Equal Rights Amendment defeated" and is baffled with the "arguments regarding the passing or defeat of this bill" clearly indicates how uninformed and apathetic that person is. Many concerned citizens do not find such an abominable amendment amusing. Connecticut repealed the amendment within a week when they learned by wiring Washington that women would be drafted. If the majority of women in this country had known implications of this amendment, they would not have allowed its passage in the Senate, nor would they have allowed 22 states to ratify it so quickly. With only 38 states needed to make this amendment a part of the Constitution, people who care had better wake up!
Men traditionally have been the defenders of their countries. Women can help in other ways. Women in Israel serve in the armed forces, not because they demand "equal rights" but because their country is so small they are needed. People complacently say that President Nixon is working to abolish the draft and establish a volunteer army. The Viet Nam war is not over and there is no guarantee of peace, but there is certainly guarantee of another war. The point is, war or no war, it is not right for young women to register for the draft and to be drafted. Women already have the option to join the service on a voluntary basis.
The amendment reads: Section 1. Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex. Section 2. The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article. Section 3. This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification.
Why are we not "amused" with this amendment? Legal scholars of Harvard, Yale and the University of Chicago have interpreted this amendment and they are not amused. With equal rights comes equal responsibility. These are not "alarmist tactics." These are interpretations of those who deal with constitutional law.
Read for yourself in the Congressional Record dated March 20, 1972 and Report 92-489 dated March 14, 1972 by Senator Birch Bayh of the Judiciary Committee.
The writer of the Dec. 4 letter also stated that "a little common sense should tell one that women are not going to be drafted if they have children by their side." Excerpts from the Yale Law Journal which are supported by the amendment's proponents say the following, and proponents and opponents agree on the amendment's effect in this area:
1. "The Equal Rights Amendment will have a substantial and pervasive impact upon military practices and institutions. As now formulated, the Amendment permits no exceptions for the military."
2. "Women will serve in all kinds of units, and they will be eligible for combat duty. The double standard for treatment of sexual activity of men and women will be prohibited."
3. "A woman will register for the draft at age 18, as a man now does."
Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School and other outstanding scholars joined one of America's greatest legal scholars, Paul A. Freund of Harvard, in a statement opposing the ERA upon the ground they feared this devastating interpretation be placed upon it if it should be adopted.
"If anything about this proposed amendment is clear, it is that it would transform every provision of law concerning women into a constitutional issue to be ultimately resolved by the Supreme Court of the United States. Every statutory and common law provision dealing with the manifold relation of women in society would be forced to run the gauntlet of attack on constitutional grounds. The range of such potential litigation is too great to be readily foreseen, but it would certainly embrace such diverse legal provisions as the widow's allowance, the obligation of family support and grounds of divorce, the age of majority and the right of annulment of marriages, and the maximum hours of labor for women in protected industries," they said.
Prof. Phil Kurland, Chicago Law School, said: "There remains a very large part of the female population on whom the imposition of such a constitutional standard would be disastrous. . . Certainly the desire to open opportunities to some need not be bought at the price of removal of legal protections from others."
The late Justice Felix Frankfurter, in a statement to the Republic magazine many years ago, said: "Only those who are ignorant of the nature of law and of its enforcement and regardless of the intricacies of American constitutional law, or indifferent to the exacting aspects of women in industrial life, will have the naivete or the recklessness to sum up woman's whole position in a meaningless and mischievous phrase about 'equal rights.'"
Sen. Sam Irvin, North Carolina, says: "This amendment is advocated by a national organization of business and professional women. . . I imagine that that organization is similar to the organizations I belong to, and that a handful of members or delegates to the national conventions adopt national policies with little or no concern of the desires of the entire membership of the organization. I cannot understand why these business and professional women should demand the passage of this amendment, because the business and professional women who do not elect to become wives and mothers have complete freedom, under present law, to compete on an absolute equality with men in any of the undertakings of life. Why these women, who have such complete freedom for themselves, want to rob their sisters of the protections which the law gives those whose work is not entirely intellectual in nature, or those who elect to become mothers and wives, or who unfortunately become widows, is something that is not intellectually comprehensible to me."
The Elmo Roper poll, the only detailed poll taken on women's feelings on the equal rights amendment, indicated that 77 per cent of the American women disagree that women should have equal treatment regarding the draft; 83 per cent disagree that a wife should be the breadwinner if better wage earner than husband.
Yet, supporters of the amendment in the Yale Law Journal say that "the Equal Rights Amendment would bar a state from imposing greater liability for support on a husband than on a wife merely because of his sex. . . 69 per cent of American women disagree that a divorced woman should pay alimony if she has money and her husband hasn't."
Supporters of the amendment say in the Yale Law Journal that "the Equal Rights Amendment would not require that alimony be abolished but only that it be available equally to husbands and wives."
We do not need an Equal Rights Amendment added to our Constitution. We already have rights against discrimination in the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the 14th Amendment. I do not consider working in a coal mine as "advancement" to the dignity of women. There are ridiculous so-called "advancements," for example, the woman who wanted to play Santa Claus in Texas. We don't need to change over 1,000 laws for these kind of whims. Count me among the majority of women who do not feel oppressed, inferior or second-class. Only if the Equal Rights Amendment is made a part of our Constitution will women become second-class.

action is confidential, and a confirmation of sale appears on a printout.

Bidding is "regressive" rather than "Progressive." That is, the first price offered by the selling agency is the highest price and the price is reduced until a party indicates he will buy the lot of cattle. Since bids cannot be increased, there is only one acceptance bid on each lot and an acceptance of an offer to sell concludes the sale.

"The organization and implementation of a national teletype market for fed cattle in the U. S. can probably best be done by an already existing farmer-owned organization," Johnson suggested.

The location of a fed cattle marketing association's head quarters should be reasonably close to the geographic center of its service area, which would place its location in the Omaha vicinity," Johnson analyzed.

Two basic communications networks would be needed for operating a national teletype market—one for communicating between the producer or seller and the marketing association, and the other for communicating between the packer or buyer and the marketing association.

"Such service," Johnson said in his paper, "can be provided within a relatively short time by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co and Western Union," and both major communications companies "are interested in teletype marketing," he said.

Summing it up, Johnson predicted implementation of a teletype marketing system for fed cattle would accomplish the following:

1. By selling strictly on specification, the practice of average pricing would be eliminated and pricing accuracy would be improved.
2. Product quality would be improved by rewarding producers of a superior product and penalizing producers of an inferior product.
3. It would improve market performance by evening out short-run gluts and shortages in fed cattle supply.

4. It would improve the accuracy of supply outlook reports such as marketing intentions and the number of cattle on feed by being able to sample or use the entire universe of cattle feeders, estimated at 200,000.

5. It would reverse "the present trend toward formula pricing based upon the 'yellow sheet' or some other pricing reference.

Johnson believes that "the teletype method of selling should be extended to include all classes of slaughter livestock and could be adapted to the selling of a number of other products or commodities."

"I don't believe the question is 'will the system be adopted' but rather, 'when,'" Johnson said.

Kubik Takes Part In Area Dairy Day

Farm Show Is Slated Jan. 16-17

Irrigation will be spotlighted during the two day Northeast Central Nebraska Farm Exposition in Columbus on Jan. 16-17.

The sixth annual show will be staged in the Exhibit Hall at the Platte County Agricultural Park.

More than 6,000 farmers from some 23 counties attended last year's exposition.

Several speakers will talk on such subjects as obtaining maximum yield with minimum water and center pivot sprinklers during the show. Also discussed will be fertilizing for top production, insecticide and herbicide recommendations and effect of irrigation on the water table.

Returning a child to school with an undetected hearing loss can force the youngster to compete in the classroom under a serious handicap. Each student should have a hearing test at least once per year.

This is definitely an age of great scientific and medical breakthroughs. And they aren't confined only to human allergies of something or other. They have been many breakthroughs back on the farm.

First, to explain to those who aren't farmers, farming is gradually being recognized as a tremendously important, highly technical and costly field.

This is proven by the amount of time and money spent throughout the nation for researching farm problems and the increase in importing and exporting of farm commodities.

Farming is no longer a hard work and long hours operation as compared to many years ago.

There are many, many metropolitan businesses that require far less money for ownership and operation than does an average farm.

This is also an age where money "talks." Perhaps this has been a prime factor for the farmer's recognition in the world of industry and research. It is practically impossible for a financially poor person to under take the business of farming.

One farm magazine says an average family of four on the farm must have at least a $250,000 dollar investment. It also says that within the next eight years' that figure will likely double.

Now, to explain to those who are farmers. This kind of breakthrough doesn't mean Old Bossie breaking through the fence, nor Momma Pig breaking out of her pen, nor Junior Bossie breaking through the barn door.

One of the scientific and medical breakthroughs referred to is the numerous types of medication available for farm critters—some for when they are actually sick.

One of the most common is the kind put into the diet, usually administered through commercial feed.

Years ago an herb pack or drenching of some kind was used for curing almost every thing. A little extra grain was fed for energy boosts which, incidentally, is still done today.

Then as long as you knew which herb pack to use for which ailment, things were relatively simple.

No one ever heard of intentionally slowing down the growth of a pig or steer because it was having health problems caused by growing too fast.

As the population grew in leaps and bounds, more food and more money was needed. Therefore, the farmers needed to get more of their animals to market offener.

Now there are umpteen kinds of commercial feeds containing unpronounceable medications for every known farm animal. Each medication is aimed at, so the research technicians inform the farmers, curing or preventing almost any health problem the vet can formulate.

Most of this can be stealthily fed without Old Bossie knowing she is being fed "uppers and downers" or curers or controllers or whatever else.

Today's farmer is momentarily bewildered by some of the advanced techniques and breakthroughs, but some of these new ailments are bewildering to Old Bossie and Momma Pig, too.

The farmer of today is not and will not be insulated from challenge and change; therefore, it's not long before he has overcome the new techniques and breakthroughs.

Well, at least you overcame the last batch of feed you ground. Now what did you put in it? Did it have chlortetracycline or sulfamethazine in it? Or did you use both? No, come to think of it you put some kind of medication in that batch. Maybe the MF's will remember, "Hey, Mom..."

Allen Youths Get All Daubed Up for Operetta

A Make-Believe World Comes Alive With Lipstick, Rouge and Costumes

It doesn't take much to turn a simple stage setting into an enchanting world of make believe for a group of youngsters... and some adults, too.

A host of elementary students at Allen proved that last Friday night when they staged "Mr. Grumpy's Toy Shop," an ageless story about a grumpy old man who would just as soon the Christmas season were done away with.

The youngsters, under the guidance of Susan VonMinden, elementary teacher at Allen, told the story of the old man who finally came to understand the true meaning of the Christmas season after the toys in his shop came alive and explained it to him.

But much of the action took place behind the scenes to get the youngsters off-painted-up and ready for the stage. That job was handled by Mrs. VonMinden and her sister-in-law, Pat VonMinden, also a teacher at Allen.
