

Area Farmers Feeling Pinch As Shortage Of Fuel Continues

By BOB BARTLETT
Wayne area farmers were a step ahead of Gov. J. James Exon last week when he asked Nebraskans to conserve fuel by turning down the thermostats in their homes.

The farmers had already turned down their grain dryers—and many of them had been forced to shut them off completely because they couldn't buy fuel.

The fuel shortage, brought about by the extended cold weather in the Midwest, is affecting farmers in Nebraska as well as surrounding states as they attempt to dry wet grain which was harvested late this fall.

"We are a lot better off for fuel supply than last week," Larry Skokan, manager of Standard Oil Co., in Wayne said Friday. "But the company gave us strict orders that we are to sell propane fuel only for home heat."

Skokan explained that last week there was a serious shortage due to lack of transportation.

"We normally get our gas from Norfolk or Whiting, Ia., but now we have to go to Kansas for it due to the shortage in the area," he said.

Skokan stressed that "at the present we do not know when we can sell fuel for grain dryers—it depends on the temperatures and the amount of gas we have."

The manager said he has enough for his area customers but is not looking right now for any new customers.

Arnold Zach, of Wayne Skelgas, said customer farmers are not "completely shut off" from using propane in dryers. "But we aren't generous either," he added.

"We're doing okay this month but I can't tell you what it will be like after December," he said.

Again, it was pointed out that if the cold weather persists farmers probably will continue to be cut off from using propane in dryers.

Keith Mosley, manager at Peoples Natural Gas Co. in Wayne, said there is no critical fuel shortage for city residences or small businesses in Wayne. There is a fuel shortage, Mosley admitted, but it will not affect the households.

Rather, the "interruptable customers"—large volume consumers such as Wayne State College and the city power plant—will feel the cutback.

"I buy so much gas each year," Mosley noted. "Each day the city is allowed so much, and if I have any excess I can sell it to the college or to the city. But I keep the city well supplied first and sell the extra if I have any."

City Clerk Dan Sherry said the city power plant has been operating on oil for the past two months.

Bids Opened For Work on Highway 20

Apparent low bidders on improvement construction of Highway 20 between Laurel and Jackson were announced Friday by the Department of Roads.

The 18-mile improvement project would cost 1,205,477 if the bids are accepted by the DOR.

The project was one of several for which the DOR opened bids Friday. Total cost of the 10 projects would be $6.4 million, according to the DOR.

B.O.C. Inc. of Hartington was apparent low bidder on the grading and gravel-detour for the Highway 20 project. The company's bid was $592,472.

Other apparent low bidders on the Highway 20 project: Metro Pavers, Inc. and subsidiaries and Olson Construction Co. and subsidiaries, Lincoln, $96,977 on pavement; Norfolk Bridge and Construction Co., Norfolk, $277,814 on culverts; K and H Co., Inc., Lexington, $75,631, on roadside improvement; Beatrice Construction Co., Beatrice, $149,988 on bridges; Panhandle Drilling and Testing, Inc., Scottsbluff, $12,595 on guard rail.

Icy Streets Blamed For Car Accidents

Slippery streets are getting the blame for the five traffic accidents reported to Wayne City police the past week.

About noon Wednesday a car driven by Emil E. Hogelen, 217 Nebraska St., was headed west on Seventh in the 200 block area when it stopped for traffic. According to the police report, a vehicle operated by Carroll D. Danielson of Allen struck the rear end of the Hogelen auto after trying to stop on icy pavement.

At 10:45 a.m. Thursday a red sedan owned and operated in the 300 block of Main.

Leifha M. Munson of Beemer was traveling south on Main when her car was hit by one driven by Patricia R. Olsen of Hartington.

At Second and Pearl about 4:15 p.m. the same day, two cars collided. Drivers of the autos were Bernice L. Hickerston, 1032 Pearl, and Robert D. Addison, 619 Lincoln.

About 8 p.m. that evening a car operated by Marjorie A. Porter, 315 W. Seventh, struck a

Drama Efforts Pay Off

Bob Skokan, a senior at Wayne High School, recently won a $300 scholarship to Doane College at Crete for being in a drama contest at Crete.

The contest was sponsored by the Lincoln Community Theater, state high school drama association, Midland College and Doane College.

Three Wayne high students, Skokan, freshman Phil Koeber and sophomore Mark Cramer, performed in Edward Albee's one-act play titled "The Zoo Story" in the competition.

Their acting earned them the third place in the school scholarship at Midland College.

Blenderman, who directed the one-act play, said the school has not notified how much the scholarship will be for or how it will be awarded by the school.

Skokan's scholarship, awarded for his third place show in a should come in handy, according to Blenderman, because Skokan is planning an attending Doane.

He may major in drama, Blenderman said.

Next competition for drama students at Wayne High will be at Stanton on Jan. 20. They will compete later in a district drama contest at Wayne State College on March 17-18.

The contest at Crete was the first for local drama students this year, Blenderman said.

Furnace Fire Damages Attic

An overheated furnace was the cause of an apartment fire Thursday afternoon at 912 Windom in Wayne.

Volunteer fire chief Cliff Pinkelman said the blaze started in the attic when a furnace overheated, setting the ceiling joists on fire.

Ron Johansson said, he and his wife returned from classes about noon when he noticed that "it was awful hot in the room."

Johansson tried to shut off the furnace but it kept going. "I opened the attic door to check it out when I noticed the smoke," he said.

Damage was estimated to be between $150 and 200. No one was injured.

College Cutting Staff

To comply with a legislative formula for college staffing, Wayne State College is reducing its faculty for the 1973-74 academic year. President W.A. Brandenburg said Friday.

Faculty members who currently fill the equivalent of seven full-time teaching positions, have been notified that these positions must be eliminated. This reduction is in addition to three resignations received earlier this fall.

According to the legislative formula for staffing, Wayne is supposed to trim its faculty by the equivalent of 13 full-time positions for the fall term of 1973. That will mean 86 FTE positions.

A "full-time equivalent position" might be manned by more than one person teaching part-time; hence a reduction of 13 may mean more than 13 persons.

Dr. Brandenburg said Wayne State is counting on the normal number of faculty resignations during the year—for varying reasons such as retirement or moving to another job—to reach the "eventual" reduction of 13. Some resigning faculty members will not be replaced.

Kearney State College recently announced a cutback of 24 positions, and Chadron State and Peru State are expected to make reductions according to the legislative formula.

The formula considers a number of factors, the major one being enrollment. Colleges all over the nation, both public and private, generally have had lower enrollments in the last two or three years.

Zach and Church Lead WSC Graduating Class

Sharon Zach of Humphrey and Yvonne Church of Sioux City are academic leaders of the Wayne State College senior class graduating Sunday.

Miss Zach majored in chemistry and minored in mathematics. Mrs. Church majored in elementary education.

Both rank summa cum laude with nearly straight A averages, respectively of 3.92 and 3.86.

They were among 25 seniors receiving diplomas with honors at the winter commencement in Rice Auditorium.

Seven graduating magna cum laude are: Mary Pat Finn, Carroll, 3.74; Glee Hummel Ott, Arlington, 3.69; Margaret Ankeny, Dixon, 3.67; Joyce Sallach Johnson, Albia, 3.59; Diane Musorez, West Point, 3.57; Sheila Kramer, Winder, 3.52; and Thomas O'Connor, Sioux City, 3.52.

Graduating cum laude:

Donna Stevenson Stewart, Casper, Wyo., 3.47; Rita Oswald, Webster City, Ia., 3.37; Ronald Keller, Urbandale, Ia., 3.36; Steven McManigal, Creighton, 3.36; Lynn Johnson, Marathon, Ia., 3.33; Barry Benoit, Farmington, Minn., 3.32; John Cleveland, Lin Grove, Ia., 3.31; Cynthia Lauresen Bruner, Newell, Ia., 3.30; Thomas Martin, Norfolk, 3.30; Gladys Jahnke, Beemer, 3.29; Joan Schilz, Washita, Ia., 3.25; Martha Willis, Wayne, 3.24; Terry Carson, Norfolk, formerly of Pilger, 3.21; Candace Clough, Storm Lake, Ia., 3.21; Stephen Furby, Petersburg, 3.20; Sharon Otto, Norfolk, 3.20.

The graduating class includes 129 with bachelor's degrees, four with master's of science in education Eunice Behrens, Emerson, elementary education, BAE from Wayne State, 1965; Joann Carson, Norfolk, guidance, BA from University of Northern Iowa, 1966; Jerry Rautforth-Blair, physical education, BA from Nebraska Wesleyan U.

CIP Changes Subject Of Workshop at Wayne

Significant changes in Nebraska's nationally recognized Community Improvement Program will be explained during a regional workshop at Wayne in January.

The workshop, one of 17 scheduled across the state during the month, will be held at the city auditorium on Wednesday, Jan. 23. Local sponsor will be Dan Sherry of Wayne.

The changes include expanding from six to nine categories the "Special Awards" division and offering three prizes of $300, $200 and $100 each as well as a plaque for the outstanding project according to Marie Arnold, Department of Economic Development community affairs director.

These changes as well as others, some dealing with dead line dates for entries, will be spelled out in detail at the workshop.

The Department of Economic Development and the University of Nebraska extension division co-administer the annual competition, and their staff members will conduct the workshops and explain not only the specifics of the 1973 NCIP but also the community improvement process in general.

This will be the 10th annual competition, which is sponsored by Nebraska's natural gas companies. Last year 178 communities submitted entries.

The meetings will encourage towns and neighborhoods who have not previously participated to enter this year's competition and provide an opportunity for communities to share development ideas.

"We want to encourage every community to enter NCIP, of course," commented Mrs. Arnold, "but the workshops will provide valuable information to every Nebraska community interested in betterment programs, development and planning."

If a workshop has to be cancelled because of inclement weather, it will be held on week later at the same place and time.

Women Win Latest Prizes

Latest to win $50 checks in Wayne's Christmas Give A Way promotion are women from Wayne and Carroll.

Mrs. Leo Dowling of rural Wayne took home the Chamber's $50 check Friday night and Mrs. Clarence Morris of Carroll won the money Thursday night.

The two women are the fourth and fifth winners in the promotion. Fifty dollar checks will be given away on the first four nights of this week, and on Friday the promotion will reach a climax when the Chamber awards five $100 checks, one $500 check and eight bicycles to holders of the tickets with the correct numbers on them.

Shoppers who have collected numbered tickets during stops at Wayne businesses may check their numbers against those drawn today by going to a business with the numbers posted. The person holding the first number listed will win the prize; however, if that person does not claim the prize by 8 p.m., it will go to the person holding the next number.

Wakefield Collects $80,000

With collections still coming in the drive to raise funds to help construct a nursing home at Wakefield stood at about $80,000 Saturday morning.

The fund drive had a goal of $100,000 by Friday's deadline.

Wakefield has an application for a $160,000 grant and a $140,000 loan from the federal government to help pay for construction of the facility.

The nursing home would be built next to the existing hospital at Wakefield. It would be a 42 bed facility.

Tri-Cog Passes Program

The newly formed Tri-Cog (Tri-Council of Government) or Council officially passed its first act Wednesday night when approving Newcastle's new sewer program.

John Young of Dixon, member at large from Dixon County, said the measure now has to go before housing and Urban Development (HUD) in Omaha for the final okay before any action can be taken.

During the evening session at Hartington, the Tri-Cog members also adopted an eight-project work program.

Among some of the goals are sewer improvement, job development, improvement of parks and recreation facilities and land use.

The next Tri-Cog meeting, Young said, will be Jan. 17 at Crofton.

Concert Set Tuesday at Wayne High

A variety of music, including classical, traditional and contemporary numbers, will highlight Tuesday night's Christmas concert at Wayne Middle School.

The concert is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the high school lecture hall.

Performing will be the choir and glee clubs, orchestra and brass ensemble. They will appear singly and in combination.

The concert is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Rhonda Peterson To Make Trip To Hawaii Jan. 11-22

Rhonda Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Maciejewski of Wayne, will help take a bit of merry olde England to Hawaii in January.

A member of the Madrigal Singers at Sioux Falls College, she will make the trip to Hawaii when the group tours the state Jan. 11-22.

The group's tour will also include stops in nine cities in Iowa—Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Colorado and Wyoming. The tour will last from Jan. 6 through Jan. 25.

The singers appear in costumes of Tudor times, complete with satin capes, veils and plumed velvet hats.

Dixon County 4-H Members, Workers Recognized

Four-H members, leaders and council members were honored Wednesday night during the annual Dixon County 4-H Recognition Night in Allen.

Awards were presented to 39 4-H members, 35 leaders and three retiring members of the 4-H council.

Given a pin recognizing her 15 years of work as a leader was Mrs. Harold Kier of Allen the only leader to receive a 15 year pin this year.

Retiring 4-H council members recognized with certificates of appreciation were Mrs. Wallace Magnuson of Laurel, Everett Johnson of Wakefield and Richard Chapman of Allen.

Elected to the 4-H council during the evening were district representatives Louis Benscoter of Newcastle, Doyle Kessinger of Dixon and Curt Lienemann of Wakefield. Mrs. Earl Eckert of Dixon was named at large representative during the voting.

Other council members are Mrs. Fred Stark, Ponca; Marvin Hartman, Dixon; and Mrs. Verle Holm, Wakefield.

Lunch was furnished by the 4-H families. Working on the lunch committee were Mrs. Wallace Magnuson of Laurel, Mrs. Verle Holm and Mrs. Alice Steele and Mrs. Anna Janssen of Allen.

Mrs. Wallace Magnuson, president of the county 4-H council, presented awards to the following 4-H members: LaVonne Blum, Dixon, dress revue award; Donald Bock, Allen, purple ribbon for participation in speech contest; Robert Bock, Allen, red ribbon for speech contest participation; Roxanne Bock, Allen, blue ribbon for speech contest; Anna Borg, Dixon, photography award, certificate for news reporting; purple ribbon for speech contest; Tammy Carlson, Wakefield, dress revue award; Colleen Chapman, Allen, See 4-H Awards, page 6

Heat, light, water... is the well running dry?

By Arch Booth

Winter is a good time to remember how much we take for granted, especially those of us in cold climates. Heat, light, comfortable, convenient transportation. The natural gas, oil, gasoline or electricity is always there. Just flick the switch or turn the key and it goes. What if, one day, it didn't go on? What if there were no gas in the pipe, no current in the wires, no oil to be delivered, no gasoline at the neighborhood service station?

Obviously, we are not likely to encounter such a disastrous state of affairs. But, most Americans would be very surprised to learn how close we are right now to the limits of our available supplies. While we won't run out of everything all at once, we have reached the point where there will be occasional shortages of some fuels in many areas.

Why? Well, for two reasons. First, U.S. energy needs double every 10 years. Second, we have been limiting the usefulness of some key fuels on environmental grounds.

Take electricity: It is the "cleanest" of all energy sources. But it takes heat to produce it (with the exception of hydroelectric power, which is an insignificant part of the total). The heat must come from coal, oil, gas or an atomic reaction.

Coal is the only fossil fuel we have plenty of. Unfortunately, much of it is high in sulfur content and therefore banned as a potential air pollutant. Much of the low sulfur coal is so situated that it would have to be strip-mined. But strip-mining is opposed by the environmentalists because it can disfigure the landscape.

Some oil is also unsuitable because of its sulfur content. Mostly, though, the problem with both natural gas and oil (and therefore gasoline) is that we are running out of them. New sources must be discovered. More must be imported. And there are problems here, too. Our easy-to-extract oil is already tapped. What's left is in places like the North Slope of Alaska and off shore, along our coasts. Environmentalists oppose development of these deposits, as well as the use of supertankers to import oil, because of the hazard of spills.

Atomic power plants are a possible alternative to generation of electricity by fossil fuels. But, construction of these plants is being held up nearly everywhere on environmental grounds. In most cases the objection is to discharge of heated (non-radioactive) water into rivers or lakes. In a few cases, there is a fear that radioactive material might leak out the utilities have gone to great lengths to design their plants so that this cannot happen).

Natural gas production is lagging because the government sets such a low price for it that producers do not feel it worthwhile now to look for new sources — an expensive and risky venture. Yet this is a premium fuel, and one in shorter supply than any other. Allowing the price to seek its natural market level would have two beneficial effects. It would stimulate the development of new sources, and it would make the scarce resource too expensive for wasteful use. The disadvantage, of course, is that our home heating bills would go up. Nobody likes that prospect. But, the hard choice is between getting enough gas (hopefully) at a higher price, or no gas at any price.

Serious as these problems may seem, they are nevertheless medium-term in duration. With wise management (which will have to include a more realistic attitude on the part of some environmentalists) experts estimate that our combined fossil fuel reserves will last about 200 years. That should be more than enough time to harness sources of power such as hydrogen fusion and solar energy, which are both "clean" environmentally and virtually limitless in supply. The critical period will be the next 10-15 years, when we will suffer the consequences of poor planning and bad decisions made over the last 20 years.

The author of this article, Arch Booth, is executive vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. As such he serves as a spokesman for American business and for more than five million business firms, organizations and individuals who belong to his organization.

Because of the continuing concern over shortage of fuels, brought home to the Wayne area by the lack of fuel to run grain dryers, the article should be of interest to our readers.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786

Tree planting project is a good idea

If there is enough interest shown, city officials will join residents in Wayne in an effort to plant trees throughout the city.

Councilman Harvey Brasch suggested the project at Tuesday night's council meeting, noting that the project would beautify the city as well as help replace the numerous trees killed by Dutch elm disease.

Trees would be purchased by the city and sold back to individual citizens some time this spring if the project is carried through. At the same time, the city would plant several trees at Henry Victor Memorial Park in the south portion of town.

His suggestion has merit, and we hope persons who wish to plant trees at a minimal cost will take part in the project.

Appraisal now in order?

The council Tuesday night found itself in a situation similar to one several weeks ago when discussing how the city can be assured of obtaining right of way for a street north from Highway 35 to the site for the proposed area medical facility.

The council authorized the city attorney to talk with a developer who plans to build a motel on that land and with the present owner of some of the land the road would probably cross if it is ever built. The council has hopes of getting the land owners to agree to give the city right of way if it is ever desired in the future.

However, it was interesting to hear one of the councilmen remark that an appraiser should be brought in to determine the value of the land if it becomes necessary to purchase a strip for the road at a sizable figure.

We can't remember any suggestion about getting the land appraised before the city went ahead and took out two options to purchase more than 22 acres for possible use, as a park next to the proposed medical facility. We're certain the strip of land necessary for a road will come nowhere near 22 acres.

Maybe some persons on the council have become a bit more cautious in such areas as picking up land options now that they know a fairly large number of citizens think an appraisal should have been made prior to picking up options to purchase some 22 acres for a possible park.

The good and the bad

Newspapers, it seems, are periodically criticized for emphasizing bad news and playing down good news. Editors, from those on papers in the New York Times class to those on the smallest weeklies, would rather run a story which reflects badly on an individual or group rather than one which points out something good that has been achieved, so the critics say. They're wrong, the critics are, at least as far as The Wayne Herald is concerned.

"Proof that they are as plain as the pictures and stories which have appeared on the front page of The Herald so far this month.

In the first four issues of the newspaper published this month there has been an overwhelming predominance of good news over bad news. By actual count, there have been 30 stories and 18 pictures on the front page which should have made groups and individuals proud or happy. These have ranged all the way from stories on the progress of a fund drive at Wakefield to stories on four Wayne State College seniors who ranked high nationally on an accounting test. Pictures have varied from one of four Wayne County 4-H'ers who were recognized for their work the past year to one showing the new Christmas decorations which brighten the Allen business district.

Four items appeared on the front page during that time which probably didn't please the persons involved. They included a story on two men released on bond by the district judge and a picture of the wrecked car a Winfield youth was driving after it sideswiped another car and ended up in the ditch.

Although that ratio probably would not hold true during several months or a year, we think the point has been made that good news far outweighs bad news. We don't plan it that way; it just seems to happen.

Come on, fellas, the election has been over for going on two months

The general election has been over for nearly two months now and campaign posters are still evident in Wayne.

If we remember right, there's some city ordinance which requires campaign posters to be removed shortly after an election is over. The difficulty with that is trying to enforce it.

It seems the persons who lacked up the posters should feel a responsibility to go around and remove them after results of the voting are in. It would be no great problem for them and would certainly make their candidates look better to the public if the posters were taken down.

True, persons who dislike dated campaign posters glaring from trees and posts could remove them. However, we don't think it's their responsibility to do so.

A closer look...

By Norvin Hansen

Although I've gained a reputation for losing more times than winning, I would bet that my front name is one of the most misspelled and mispronounced ones ever tacked onto an innocent child.

Almost daily letters come addressed to such non-existent individuals as Mervin Hansen, Norval Hansen and Norbin Hansen. Shortly after I started working for the newspaper somebody, possibly a person with a flair for words, addressed a missive to Novel Hansen.

Then there were the letters to Nervin, Norton and Nordin. They have to rank among the best — along with such items as Nordin, Nordin, Martin, Marvin, Norton, Melvin, Nervin and Merfin.

Occasionally, just often enough to break the monotony anyway, something comes addressed to Norvin Hansen. It isn't often enough, however, to keep me from worrying about my own true identity. It makes you wonder sometimes just who the devil you really are.

But I gotated the other day when my mother's cousin, after whom I was apparently misnamed, sent her a newspaper clipping about his being named to some board for a bank in North Carolina. Surprisingly, to a newspaperman at least, they even spelled his name correctly in the story.

The real confidence-builder, however, was the little note he included with the clipping: "It's nice to know there's more than one of a kind." Never having met another Norvin in some 32 years on this earth, I was beginning to wonder.

The real insult will probably come upon my demise.

One of my few acquaintances will probably walk up to another of the rare breed and tell him I'm no longer with them. The conversation might go something like this:

"Hey, did you hear that Nerbin Hansen died yesterday?"

"Who? Oh, you mean Newton Hansen, the guy who used to write for The Wayne Herald. That's too bad. He was a bad guy, but I could never understand why he always introduced himself as 'Fuzz' Hansen. Helluva nickname for a grown man to go by. Never did see anything wrong with the name Nerlon Hanson."

Of course, one thing I could never live down would be to have something like this inscribed on my tombstone: "Narten Hansom, born."

Speaking of names, Nebraska is a storehouse of interesting, unusual, beautiful and downright funny names.

Just glance at a map sometime and you'll quickly notice the large number of lyrical names given cities, towns and stopping-off places. A poet must have had a hand in naming such places as Naponee, Ringgold, Eldorado, Callaway, Chris Creek, Assumption and Danneberg.

But it was practical, down-to-earth settlers who probably came up with such names as Angus, Holland, Battle Creek, Blue Hill, Pleasant Dale, Table Rock, Wood Lake and Holstein.

A bit of the humorist might have been in those who named places like Bucktail, Filley, Pickrel, Surprise and Flais. Dreamers' better places might have been trying to make their settling places seem something other than they were when they named them: Byron, Panao a community water well, then at a 90-foot depth; and the mundane requirements in getting established in the new town or on ranches in the Sandhills required most of the settlers' energy.

If Valentine merchants Thacher, Cornell and Sparks Bros. had stocked Yuletide merchandise, they did not advertise it in the Reporter. But J. M. Thacher, post trader at nearby Fort Niobrara, carried "toys, Christmas cards, and other Christmas goods." The editor thought it worthwhile for Valentiners to drive for a Christmas program and a symbolic treat at its assembly hall. "Presenters were mostly for children," according to the Reporter, "but there were a few exceptions: Col. Summers received a very nice pick and shovel. J. M. Thacher a specimen stick of the wood that will be furnished on next year's contract. Capt. Blaine was given a long 'ice long,' the latter to assist in the 'ice harvest' which had just commenced on nearby streams following a hard freeze.

By December 20 the townspeople still had not arranged for a Yule tree or program, but invitations were cut for a "Grand Christmas Ball... to be held on Tuesday, December 26, 1882." The paper announced: "The best music available has been engaged. Tickets are on sale at Dr. Lewis' drug store and at J. M. Thacher and Co.'s at the Fort."

At Fort Niobrara about 4 1/2 miles east of town, military authorities, however, had arranged for a Christmas program and a symbolic treat at its assembly hall. "Presenters were mostly for children," according to the Reporter, "but there were a few exceptions: Col. Summers received a very nice pick and shovel. J. M. Thacher a specimen stick of the wood that will be furnished on next year's contract. Capt. Blaine was given a long 'ice long,' the latter to assist in the 'ice harvest' which had just commenced on nearby streams following a hard freeze.

If any holiday-related church services were held in Valentine, they were not reported by the newspaper, but military authorities arranged a Christmas program for soldiers at the post on the Sunday prior to Christmas Day and invited "everyone... to attend the praise service at the Hall."

The Grand Ball came off as scheduled and the Reporter commented on it in its first edition following the event: "The Christmas dance was a decided success in every way and was well attended by our citizens. Several partners from the Fort were in attendance. Johnny Stetler appointed himself as evening 'bouncer' at the dance Tuesday evening and proved quite adept at bouncing all the stray dogs and cats from the dancing area." On December 26 events were back to normal.

HIGH FLYING EAGLE Stan Perry appears that he's about ready to jump into the arms of three Homer defenders Friday night as the 6-1 senior tries another layup. Homer's Stan Coppel (left) and Kurt Hohenstein (middle) along with an unidentified player stopped Perry for the two-point effort. On the right, fast-moving Pete Snyder spins around his man, leaving the impression that he's using four arms and hands to aid in the scoring threat.

Eagles Offense Sets Fire for First Win, 61-53

By BOB BARTLETT
There was a fire at Allen Friday night.
Nothing was destroyed except a visiting Homer basketball team when the host Eagles started a blaze in the first period, leaving the head mentor wondering if the team was going to follow in the last game's footsteps.
"When both boys reached their third foul, I really began to get scared. I knew I had to do something, so I put in Jim Koester and Neil Blohm." Both juniors helped to fire up the team and step out ahead 19-14 after the first quarter.
Allen continued to press in the remaining first half, causing the Knights valuable turnovers resulting from bad passing.
Allen started off with a 9-2 deficit halfway through the first period as foul trouble once again plagued the Eagles. Two power starters, Duane Mitchell and Scott Von Minden, each collected three personals in the first period, leaving the head mentor wondering if the team was going to follow in the last game's footsteps.

Wildcats Even Season Mark at 3-3

Perhaps it was bound to happen. But any coach and team would say, "Why not next time?"
So it did happen. For the first time since 1960, Wayne State lost a basketball game to the University of South Dakota.

Jr. High Team Takes 2nd Win

The Wayne junior high team with the aid of Mark Brandt's 11 points, scalped the team from Randolph Thursday, 31-13.
Brandt unleashed eight points in the second half after the locals took a 1-6 lead in two quarters of play.
Mike Wieseler popped in eight points for the Wayne club's second high-point man. Ralph Atkins had four, Marc Lawrence and Jim Koll had three each and Tim Koll had two.
The junior high team record is 2-0.

Springfield. The Wildcats beat Springfield (formerly known as Southern State) 19 straight games until they tangled Wednesday night. Result: Springfield 79, Wayne 77.
It was small consolation that Wayne shot from the field, 43 per cent, and outshot the Pointers by eight goals. The difference came at the free throw line, where Wayne had only eight chances and hit five while Springfield shot 36 and hit 23.
Small consolation too, that Wayne had five players scoring 10 or higher for the second time in a 3-3 season, or that Wayne outrebounded Springfield by 57 to 36.

Cat Grapplers Hand Neligh 42-14 Beating

The Winside wrestling team stretched its winning streak to 5-0 Thursday with a 42-14 whitewashing of Neligh.
The Wildcats, led by Ed Lienemann, Dave Jaeger and Doug Anderson, 4-1, all undefeated, bulldozed over one of the Lewis and Clark Conference favorites at Neligh with three pins and five decisions.
Winside Coach Doug Barclay labeled the team effort as "real good," pointing out that freshman Keith Suehl (98) broke another school record when he decided Neligh's Don Murray, 20-6.
"Keith earlier this year set a new school record when he scored 19 points in one match, breaking the old mark of 15," Barclay said. "Now he's done it again."
Presently, the young Wildcat grappler is going after another school record as he tries to break the number of near falls — both two and three point types.
"Right now Keith is one or two away from breaking both marks," said his coach.
The Winside reserves continued their winning ways also by edging past the Warriors, 15-12.

Freshmen Top Hartington

The Wayne freshmen basketball team piled up a 45-15 first half lead Thursday, leaving Coach Duane Blomenkamp to put in substitutes during the remainder of the game as the Wayne team coasted to a 68-57 win.
The freshmen are now 4-0.
"The team started out with a 19-10 first quarter lead," the coach said, "and then they poured in 26 points the second period while Randolph hit five."
Larry Creighton, Ritch Workman and Monte Lowe scored in the double figure column with Creighton having 17 points, Workman 11 and Lowe 10.
"Everyone got to play at least one half," Blomenkamp added. "I was real pleased with the team's performance."
Other Wayne members scoring were Dave Hix and Vince Jenness — 8, Rob Mitchell — 7, Bryan Magnuson — 4, Mike Sharer — 3, Rod Turner and Tom Maier — 2, and Verlyn Stoltenberg — 1.

Elk Victim of Poachers

Nebraska has been host to a scattering of majestic elk for at least the past seven or eight years, with only a few ranchers, conservation officers, game biologists, and outdoorsmen aware of them.
Attention was called to their presence rather tragically on opening day of Nebraska's deer season, when someone shot a bull elk and abandoned it near Chadron. The animal weighed an estimated 800 pounds and sported an impressive rack with five points on each side.
Game and Parks Commission Conservation Officer Cecil Avey of Crawford said the animal was shot three times by the poacher, then apparently abandoned either from fear of apprehension or because the animal was much too large to move. Elk are protected in Nebraska. Anyone shooting an elk may be fined $100, assessed $300 in liquidated damages, and possibly sentenced to a jail term upon conviction.

Clutch Charity Shooting By Bears' Sarha Earns Laurels' First Win

Clutch free-throw shooting by Laurel's Gena Sarha on one-and-one foul situation, gave the Bears their first win in four games Friday night at Emerson-Hubbard.

With no time left on the clock Sarha converted both charity tosses for a 42-40 win over the Pirates.

"Gene was fouled right at the buzzer," said coach Joel Parks, "and put us in a good position." Sarha then pumped in the first shot which sent Bears fans screaming home with the good news.

"This game is almost poetic justice," Parks stated. "After losing our first three games in the fourth quarter, we finally won this one in the last period."

Both Emerson and Laurel were knotted at 10 apiece after one quarter of play, but the Bears jumped out to a four-point lead going into the second half.

After three quarters, the visitors were still in front by four until the last when Emerson tied the game.

"We were off and on the whole night," Parks pointed out. "At one time we were ahead by eight and then they tied us. But we never trailed during the game."

The head Bear blamed himself for the close game because "I slowed the team down too much."

Sarha, who garnered the team high with 14, had help from Dave Dietiker who added 10.

"What really helped us was our defense," he noted, saying that Chuck Hirschman held high-scoring Randy Mayberry to 16 points for the night.

"We would pick him up on the outside and play hard one-on-one ball on him so Emerson wouldn't feed him the shot," Parks said.

Laurel's man-to-man defense again proved to be tough as the Pirates shot 32 per cent from the field while the Bears had 39 per cent.

Pirates Drop Wayne For 2nd Loss, 67-64

The lack of consistency and costly turnovers kayped the Wayne Blue Devils Friday night when the squad lost their second game of the season at Plainview, 67-64.

Wayne, which gave up the ball 21 times, failed to find the range from the field, hitting 72.26 for 36 per cent—only two percent age points better than the home team.

"We never got started in the ball game," Coach Bill Sharpe said disgruntlingly. "We gave up four to six turnovers in the first quarter and consequently we were five points down at the end of the first period."

But the Blue Devils fought back in the remainder of the half to knot the game at 28-28.

"We could manage to get within one or two points during the third quarter," Sharpe pointed out, noting that again turnovers and failure to make the good shots hurt his team.

Going into the last stanza, the Blue Devils were trailing by three. Both teams gathered strong momentum for a 24-point scoring spree, but the margin remained the same for Wayne, making the locals' record stand at 2-2.

Wayne managed to hit 92 percent from the charity line (12-13) compared to Plainview's 83 per cent (15-18)—the three-point difference in the game.

"We played a pretty poor game for the whole night," the coach remarked. "For awhile our offense began to look good in the fourth quarter and I thought we would win. But some easily missed shots and lack of defense kept them in the lead."

Wayne used "every kind of defense" in an effort to stop the Pirates. But both Kevin Roach and Jeff Hoffman burned the nets for 20 each followed by Rich Bivens' 13.

"We started out in a man-to-man type of defense and looked like that might stop the hot shooters," he said. "Then the turnovers began."

Wayne had three men pacing the team: Roger Saul collected 10, while Marty Hansen had 13 and Bill Schwartz dropped in 14.

In reserve action the Wayne team upped its unbeaten string to five with a 66-37 romp.

Kerry Jech slapped in 16 points for team leadership and Kim Baker hit 12. Bob Keating finished with 10 as the young Blue Devils opened up with a 10-9 lead in the first quarter.

Wayne then poured it on with 19 in the second and 21 in the third period before cooling off to 16 in the last quarter.

After the Wakefield game Saturday night, the Blue Devils will take a rest for Christmas vacation before resuming regular action Jan. 16 at Madison.

They complete in the Wayne State College holiday tournament Dec. 28-30.

Wayne High Matmen Win First Dual, 31-21

The taste of victory was sweet to the Wayne High School matmen Thursday evening when they toppled Wisner Pilger, 31-21.

Wayne used "every kind of defense" in an effort to stop the Pirates. But both Kevin Roach and Jeff Hoffman burned the nets for 20 each followed by Rich Bivens' 13.

Another First

WINSIDE HIGH SCHOOL has started another first for area schools with the addition of a girls' letter club. Under the direction of Jim Winch, the club presently has 18 members with most of the girls wearing a new letter jacket and letter purchased just for the girls. "We feel the girls deserve some recognition for their participation in sports," Winch commented, "so the girls got together and formed a letter club."

The high school sponsors girls' volleyball and track. Displaying the new red, white and black trimmed jackets are Pat Dangler, left, and Deb Soden. As yet the club has not elected officers.

Winside Drops Fourth To Hartington, 54-42

The road to victory is a long one for Winside Coach Jim Winch and his Wildcats. And Friday night the road didn't shorten, as the visiting Hartington team won its fourth game against no defeats, 54-42.

The Wildcats, playing heads-up ball, tied the taller Hartington five at the half, 24-24, and kept the pace even after three quarters, 33-33. "We just fell apart after that," Winch said.

"Our kids never did quit," he emphasized. "They were in there hustling all night, but it was Hartington's fast break that enabled them to jump out with an eight-point lead and put the pressure on us."

Wildcat Larry Weible, with 18 for the night, spurred the team with 14 points in the first half action before running into foul trouble in the third quarter.

"I put a lot of the game with about a minute left when he got his fourth personal," the coach explained. "I was afraid that he might foul out and I might need him in the fourth."

But the last period proved to be a nightmare for the winless Cats as Weible ended with a fifth foul.

"I was gambling tonight, telling the team to go after those rebounds. Our shooting was so poor there wasn't anything else we could do except try to steal the ball."

Both teams gathered 42 rebounds but Hartington grabbed the edge in shooting percentage, 40-25. "I was pleased with the shooting of freshman Bob Hoffman, who was the second high scorer with 13 rebounds for us," Winch said.

Hartington's Mark Hegert placed 20 points and 10 rebounds for the game's high honors.

Lyons Hit Trojans for First Loss

A surprising Lyons team knocked off sluggish Wakefield, 45-37, Friday night at Lyons to stop the Trojans winning streak at three.

Coach Joe Coble, stunned by the upset, pointed out that his club "Just stood still" in the last period to score only four points to the Lyons 14.

"We just couldn't do anything," the Trojan mentor sighed. "The team couldn't hit from the outside or get any rebounds. They were stymied."

Lyons started out with a 12-9 first quarter lead, but the Wakefield five fired up to within one, 22-21, at the half.

Veterans' Benefits

Questions, Answers Q. I served during the Spanish-American War and wonder if I qualify for a Veteran's Administration pension?

A. You are eligible for pension if you received an other than dishonorable discharge after at least 70 days of active duty, or left service sooner because of a service-connected disability.

Q. Can I take some college courses while receiving on-the-job training under the GI Bill?

A. No. The Veterans Administration pays full-time benefits for on-the-job training which would make you ineligible for additional benefits if you took college courses at the same time.

Q. I applied to the Veterans Administration for dental treatment but I live 150 miles from the nearest VA clinic. Do I have to go there for treatment?

A. Not necessarily. Write the VA for examination papers and an authorization to have your dentist complete an examination and return the report to the VA. After the VA reviews the examination papers, you may receive additional authority for dental treatment. You should not make any appointments or have any treatment until you receive this authority from the VA.

Equipped for Bear

Fishermen who pined the waters of McConaughy Reservoir this past summer for striped bass were "equipped for bear." Light fishing tackle gave way to heavy gear, in anticipation of doing battle with the toughest, most savage tackle-busting fish to swim Nebraska waters.

Present state record striper tops 10 pounds, with certainly some bigger bass than that still at large. A fairly large number of six and eight-pounders, probably five years old, were caught in 1972. The first verified striped bass catch in Big Mac was back in 1968.

The big striper of today are a far cry from the one to four-inch fingerlings stocked in McConaughy, dating back to 1961. Since that time some 322,000 striped bass have been released in McConaughy, and 51,000 in Harlan County Reservoir.

Even though striper stockings have been made annually, 282,000 or 75 per cent of all striped bass released to date in Nebraska were planted this year. This reflects tremendous progress by the Game and Parks Commission in successfully rearing the stripers from the very delicate fry stage to fingerling size at the North Platte Hatchery and more recently, also at Gretna.

Stripers by Air
Nebraska's striped bass have "air time," having been flown here commercially from South Carolina and Virginia in exchange for walleye and northern pike fry. More fry will be Nebraska bound again in 1973. Next year, however, the State hopes to supplement these for the first time with eggs taken from McConaughy stripers.

The Game Commission's Bob Thomas expects to take some mature females in the trap at the upper end of McConaughy next spring. Some striped bass have been caught in the trap in the past. Thomas said the stripers will probably go upstream in April to spawn.

Inasmuch as striped bass are highly prolific, only a few mature females will be needed.

Striped bass, native to the East Coast, are voracious predators, and it is hoped that they'll feast on the larger gizzard shad which have outgrown the other predators in McConaughy. However, the small stripers will probably compete with white bass for the smaller shad.

Few other fish have created so much excitement and anticipation in NEBRASKALAND as the striped bass.

Birds of Year Predominate

Hunting in the Clay Center area recently, Navy Captain Gary Lockee and eight friends from Washington, D. C., Maryland, North Carolina, and Illinois counted 59 pheasants after four days of hunting. Surprisingly, 56 of the 59 ringnecks were "birds of the year" (birds hatched in 1972).

How unusual is this? The Game Commission reports that at the Humboldt checking station the young-to-old ratio varied all the way up to 12.1 to 1. The statewide average is 5.3 young to 1 adult.

The big harvest of young birds in the Clay Center area could mean: (1) the older birds are more wary and less susceptible to the gun, and (2) there was an exceptionally larger harvest of adult cocks the previous year.

Christmas Shopper

What to get that sportsman for Christmas? How about a 1973 fishing and hunting permit? And if you want to be "extra special," order a low numbered permit.

According to the Game Commission's Ruth Bassett, only the No. 1 fishing and No. 1 hunting permits were sold at the time contacted, so both permits were available beginning with No. 2. With combination fishing-hunting permits, best bets for a low number start at 100.

Combination permit No. 1 is usually reserved for the governor. This year, however, it wasn't purchased by April, so it was sold to R. A. Lock of Lincoln. Combination No. 2 was bought by Game Commission Director Willard Barbee.

Anyone may purchase a permit for another person, providing all necessary information is submitted, and providing the recipient signs the permit before using it. The various resident permits: combination fishing-hunting — $8; hunting — $4.50; fishing — $4; upland game bird stamp, $1.

Permits for 1973 are available from all permit vendors. However, if a low number is desired, order permits from Nebraska Game Commission, 2200 North 33rd, Lincoln, Nebraska 68503, and note that the lowest possible number is requested.

Mishmash... Pheasant "oldsters" apparently are on the move when it's cold. Anyway, a week ago last Monday, when the frigid air moved in, a rooster with a 23 1/4-inch-long tail feather was shot by Ron Patten of Omaha and entered in a contest at Doud's Ball & Tackle Shop near Venice. This was the longest tail checked during the season. Coincidentally, the second largest was also shot and entered that same day, this by Jerry Brown of Clearfield.

The same cold "iced in" the trout lake at Two Rivers, ending fee fishing until next April... Friday marks finish to goose hunting statewide... Saturday ends duck hunting in eastern Nebraska; it continues in west through Jan. 4... In England, clay pigeon shooting has become popular among many who cannot afford time or money for game shooting. Most shooters have never fired a gun at game and never will — owning a gun and shooting is enough.

Slihr Museum, Grand Island, for "Christmas on the Prairie," in addition to circle drive featuring outside lighting, interior of main building is decorated with fourth annual "Fantasy of Trees."

Five Are Outstanding At Wakefield School

Five students from Wakefield High School were chosen recently by the school administrators to participate in the Outstanding Teenagers of America program. The students are Miles Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Per Pearson, Barbara Luhr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Luhr, Kirk Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gardner, Kathleen Pospisil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pospisil, and Kaye Dolph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Dolph. All are of Wakefield.

The five students, along with other award nominees, will be considered for the Outstanding Teenagers of America national scholarship of $1,000 and the Outstanding Teenager of Nebraska trophy. Last year, Patricia Williams, a senior from Minden, was presented the state award by Governor J. James Exon.

The five Wakefield students will also be eligible for a $500 regional scholarship.

Nominees must have completed the tenth grade in high school and distinguished themselves in leadership, community or school service, extracurricular activities and scholarship or sports.

parked vehicle on the 1000 block and Douglas owned by Tim Bramble of Londa. Ja The report said the Bramble car was illegally parked.

Finally, about 12:50 p.m. Friday a car driven by Jake J Johnson, Route 2, was hit by a car driven by Nancy L. Mott-hoff, 1013 Sherman, as she was backing her car. The accident happened on the 100 block on West Third.

A two-car accident near Hoskins on Highway 35 sent two area residents to a Norfolk hospital Thursday.

Mrs. Adolph Rohlf of Winside suffered severe lacerations of the face, broken right wrist, possible broken ribs and internal injuries when the car she was riding in collided with a pickup driven by George Langenberg Jr. of Hoskins.

State Troopers Dwain Essley and Dale Ruppert reported that the accident occurred when Langenberg, driving the truck full of corn, attempted to cross the highway onto his property. The Rohlf auto, operated by Adolph, was headed east on Highway 35 when it struck the truck. Rohlf was treated for bruises and released from the hospital. Langenberg was not injured.

Fuel Shortage —

"We were cut off by the gas company about two months ago and now are using oil," he said.

Sherry said the city's cost to operate the plant is higher with oil than gas but there is nothing the city can do until the gas supply is large enough to handle the city's needs.

At present Sherry does not see any immediate problem. But he added that if cold temperatures continue in the area and the city is forced to continue using oil, the electricity rate could go up. He did not say how much or when.

As far as one grain storage business in Wayne is concerned, it "just can't dry" the grain fast enough.

"The cold temperatures cause us to use a lot of fuel," said Dale Preston, manager at Westside Grain and Feed. "We're burning a lot of fuel but it isn't really getting the job done, as fast because of the snow and moisture."

Last week, Preston said, he went without gas for two days due to the fuel shortage.

"We have fuel now but these cold temperatures aren't helping things any."

MANY AREA farmers are resorting to storing grain on the ground until there is enough propane gas to run the dryers. According to Wayne County agricultural agent Harold Ingalls, farmers generally have two choices if they can not dry the grain—store it until spring and then dry it or use it for feed. But, he warns, if the grain is stored beyond spring, chances for spoilage increase.

Spreading Cheer

LUTHERAN CHURCH WOMEN at Redeemer Lutheran in Wayne spread the Christmas cheer to about 35 residents of Villa Wayne Wednesday night. The church group decided to hold its annual Christmas party potluck supper at the housing center rather than the church as has been done in past years. "It was just an attempt to spread good will to people outside the church group," said Mrs. Dean Backstrom, who helped organize the dinner. The dinner included devotions, slide show about the legend of the Christmas rose which featured pictures drawn by second graders at West Elementary School and special music. Singing to the guitar playing of Mrs. Jim Hummel were Mrs. Fritz Ellis, Mrs. Bill Kugler, Mrs. Les Luff, Mrs. Ed Bate, Mrs. Darrell Hierer, Mrs. Phil James, Mrs. Robert Nelson and Mrs. Backstrom. Photograph at left: Helping Mrs. Linda Brudigan, left, and Mrs. Anna Luff to some pie during serving is Mrs. Erwin Longe. Top photograph: Mrs. Henry Reeg, left, and Mrs. Cliff Dahl add more food to an already overflowing table. About 80 persons attended the dinner, the first such gathering for Villa Wayne residents.

Bertha Wolter Funeral Rites On Wednesday

Funeral services were held Wednesday at St. John's Lutheran Church, Wakefield, for Bertha Wolter, 84. She died Sunday at the Valley View Nursing Home, Norfolk, where she had resided for the past few years.

The Rev. Donald E. Meyer and the Rev. Eugene Vetter officiated. Burial was in the Wakefield Cemetery. Pallbearers were Rudolph Suckstorf, John Suckstorf, William Eggers, William Wolter, Paul Bose and James Geisler.

Music was "I'm But a Stranger Here" and "Jesus Savior Pilot Me," accompanied by Mrs. Leonard Dersch.

Bertha Louise Wolter, daughter of Karl and Louise Rauber Suckstorf, was born Jan. 9, 1888 at Gieksau, Schleswig-Holstein, Germany. She was baptized Feb. 20, 1888 and confirmed March 23, 1902 in the Lutheran Church in Germany.

At the age of 16 she came to the United States and lived with her brothers, Adolph and William at Cedar Bluffs, Nebr. She later worked in Eremont until her marriage to William Wolter on Aug. 2, 1923 at Omaha.

The couple made their home on a farm northwest of Wakefield until 1940 when they moved into Wakefield. She had spent the past few years at the Valley View Nursing Home in Norfolk.

Mrs. Wolter was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church and the Ladies Aid.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. William (Gertrude) Klein of Bawtie Creek and Mrs. Verna Sawkins of Alhambra, Calif.; one brother, Clarence Wolter of Alhambra, Calif.; five grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

'Use Care in Turning Cattle Into Fields'

Cattlemen turning beef cows or feeder cattle into cornstalk or milo fields are cautioned about the possibility of them getting too much grain.

Dr. Paul Guyer, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension livestock specialist, said that some corn varieties have lodged seriously in this year's extended harvesting season with as much as 20 bushels per acre left in the field after harvesting some varieties.

Beef cattle can do a relatively good job of gleaning corn and milo fields, but it's important that cattle are not turned into fields when they are hungry, he said. They may overload on grain and founder or die.

To avoid possible over-consumption of grain, make sure cattle have a fully belly before they are turned into the cornstalks and milo fields, he advises. Do not turn hungry cattle into stalk fields, he said.

Don't Look

IS IT THE NEEDLE OR THE CAMERA? This young Wayne State College coed turns her head as one of the nurses inserts a needle during Monday's Red Cross bloodmobile visit at the college's Student Center. About 218 pints were collected, said Terry Schmit, chairman of the Tau Kappa Epsilon-sponsored drive, topping the old record of 209 set last year. Schmit labeled the day-long affair as a "success," noting that both the dormitories and Greek houses were involved. Delta Sigma Pi won the top donor award for the fourth year in a row with 75 per cent participation followed by TKE with 50 per cent. For the dorms, Pile Hall collected the award for the third year with 34 per cent participation. Anderson came in second at 26 per cent.

handful of packaged soap or detergent. Add a little water and whip this mixture with a rotary beater or an electric mixer until it stands in stiff, merging-like peaks. Apply this snow lavishly to the cone-like "tree." Insert Christmas tree balls into the snow—large balls for a larger tree, tiny balls for a smaller tree.

Cards of Thanks

I WISH TO THANK my relatives and friends for the cards, letters, gifts and visits during my stay in an Omaha hospital and since returning home. A special thank you to Pastor S. K. deFreese for his prayers and visits and to Helen for her daily visits. Telephone calls to my bedside were also appreciated. You are all very kind. Mrs. Victor O. Kniesche. d18

Chrismon Trees
THE ALTAR OF St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Winside, is one of many which in recent years has featured the Chrismon tree. The ornaments are symbols which designate various aspects of Christianity.

I WOULD LIKE TO SHOW my appreciation at this time to everyone who sent me cards, letters and flowers during my stay in the hospital. God bless you all. Katie A. Schroeder. d18

WE WOULD LIKE TO SAY thank you to everyone who made our silver wedding anniversary such a happy one by greeting us with cards, gifts and flowers. We are sure it will be long remembered. Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Siebrandt. d18

The first penny newspaper was printed in Chicago on Christmas Day in 1875.

Johnson Named To ASC Board

Alden Johnson of Wakefield was elected to replace retiring Lloyd Morris of Carroll on the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee during a meeting last week in Wayne.

Johnson, who was appointed as vice chairman, will join Harry Heinsmann of Winside, chairman, and Ralph Olson of Carroll on the three-member board.

About 20 county community committeemen attended the meeting at which Elvis Olson of Wakefield and Jim Corbit of Wayne were named first and second alternates to the county committee.

Nice Christmas Present

TWELVE YOUNG MEN were given checks for $10 Thursday night from Wayne County's unique organization which attempts to show that folks back home haven't forgotten those in the armed forces. The checks were from SWAY ( Servicemen We Appreciate You ); they were the first ones handed out by the organization since November of 1968. Receiving checks were: Top photograph, back row from left: Delmar Swacker, Mike Jeffrey, Dennis Jensen, Lawrence Johnson; seated at left: Stanley Stenwall and Warren Anderson. Bottom photograph, back row from left: Larry Grono, Roger Schwanke, Randy Luff; Bill Carlson; seated at left, Michael Msrny and Les Echtenkamp.

HOSKINS Marks 81st Birthday

Mrs. Hans Asmus Phone 545-4172 The Fred Moores, St. Charles, S. D., Mrs. Nora Marten, Leonard Marten and Wilbur Andersons were Sunday evening guests in the Frank Marten home in honor of his 81st birthday.

The Leonard Marten family and Frank Marten were Monday supper guests in the Eugene LeCroix home.

Meet for Dinner Eleven members of the 20th Century Extension Club met Wednesday in the Phil Scheurich home for a 1:00 Christmas no-host dinner.

Christmas Party The Hoskins Saddle Club held their annual Christmas party Monday evening at the Hoskins Public School auditorium with about 75 attending.

A no-host chili and oyster supper was served. Children's game prizes were won by Jeff Behmer, Lori Langenberg, Julie and Jodi Brummels. Pitch prizes were won by Joni and Don Langenberg, high, and Mrs. Robert Vogel and Robert Roth, low.

Mrs. Rieck Hosts Nine members of the Hoskins Homemakers Extension Club met Tuesday afternoon for a Christmas dessert luncheon in the home of Mrs. Kathryn Rieck.

Mrs. Fred Brumels, president, opened the meeting with the extension club song. Roll call was answered by telling how each member found out about Santa Claus.

Mrs. Ezra Jochens and Mrs. E. C. Fenske were in charge of entertainment. Prizes were won by Mrs. Kathryn Rieck, Mrs. Awalli Walker and Mrs. H. C. Falk.

Crits were exchanged and a no-host lunch was served at the close of the afternoon.

The Jan. 9 meeting will be in the Erwin Ulrich home.

Vacation Begins Hoskins Public School dismisses Dec. 21 for Christmas vacation and classes will resume Jan. 2. A party for teachers, principal and pupils, with a gift exchange, is scheduled for the 21st.

The Public school children will enjoy their Christmas dinner on Wednesday. Cooks, Mrs. Edwin Brogie and Mrs. Meta Pirogi have planned a menu of turkey, mashed potatoes, gravy, cranberry salad, hot crescent rolls and butter-milk Christmas cake and whipped cream.

School Dismisses Classes at the Trinity Lutheran Parochial School in Hoskins will be dismissed Dec. 22 according to Principal Ronald Schmidt and will resume Jan. 3. The children will have a Christmas dinner of turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, cranberry salad, hot buns, milk, butter and Christmas dessert.

Mrs. Eugene Brudigan and Mrs. Lyle Marotz are cooks for Trinity School.

Vernon Behmer entered a Norfolk hospital Monday evening and underwent surgery Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Marie Karabel, Albion, Mrs. Theresa Fox, Osmond, Mrs. Alma Cohrs and Mrs. Betty Leisner, Pierce, were no-host dinner guests in the Harry Schwede home Monday. Christmas gifts were exchanged.

Social Security Rules To Be Changed in '73

Starting in 1973, people who are working while getting social security benefits can earn more but never lose more than $1 in benefits for each $2 earned, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

"The more you earn, the higher your total income will be," Branch said. "Under the new social security law, social security payments will be reduced by $1 for every $2 earned over $2,100 in a year."

Previously, monthly payments were reduced by $1 in benefits for every $2 earned between $1,680 and $2,880 in a year, and by $1 for every $1 earned over $2,880.

"People 72 and over will continue to get their full social security benefits regardless of earnings," Branch said. Under the new law, people under 72 can earn as much as $2,100 in a year and get their full social security benefits. Different rules apply to people getting social security disability benefits if they work, he noted.

In addition, starting in 1973, full benefits can be paid for any month in which an employee's wages are not more than $175 or substantial services in self-employment. Previously, the monthly limit was $140.

"Also starting in 1973, only earnings in the months before you reach 72 will be used to figure what benefits are due you for those months," Branch said.

Before, earnings in the entire year a person reached 72 were counted in figuring benefits due for months before reaching 72. Another feature of the new law assures that the earnings exemption for people getting social security payments will go up automatically in future years as earnings levels increase. Branch said. The first year there can be an automatic increase is 1975.

Merry Christmas — Happy New Year!

It has been a pleasure to serve the people of Wayne during 1972. My sincere thanks.
