Reminder: Fill Out Forms

Readers of The Wayne Herald who received the newspaper's reader opinion survey last week are reminded to fill out the form and return it as soon as possible. Nearly 2,000 questionnaires were sent out, the first time the newspaper has conducted a spot survey to find out what the readers think of the newspaper. Results of the survey will be used to improve the quality of news coverage in the paper. Results will be published as soon as possible.

Tri-Cog To Meet This Week

Members of the Tri-County Council of Governments will meet Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. in Crofton. A representative of Housing and Urban Development will be present for the meeting, stated for the community auditorium. All county and municipal governmental units in Dixon, Cedar, and Knox Counties are invited to send representatives to the meeting.

'Cooperation' Is Subject of Church Meeting

Delegates from the Northeast District of the United Methodist Church, the United Church of Christ and the United Presbyterian Church will meet tonight (Monday) at the Wayne Presbyterian Church to discuss denominational cooperation.

Six delegates, representing various Nebraska towns, are expected to attend from each of the three denominations. Visitors may also be present from the Nebraska Conference, Lutheran Church of America.

Purpose of the meeting, said the Rev. Robert H. Haas, local Presbyterian minister, "is basically to explore ways in which the various denominations in the general area of Northeast Nebraska can cooperate, looking toward the possible organization of larger parishes and the eventual sharing of pastors between denominations."

Lowen Kruse of Norfolk, district superintendent of the Methodist Church, has been working with Haas in getting the meeting organized. Originally scheduled for November, the assembly was postponed because of bad weather.

Hearing for WS Coed This Week

The preliminary hearing for a Wayne State College student charged with abandoning a dead human body is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Thursday in Wayne County court. Charged is Dorothy Spatz, a sophomore at Wayne State. She is free on $5,000 bond.

The coed was charged after discovery of the body of a newborn baby in the basement of Bowen Hall earlier this month. The charge is a felony, punishable by sentencing in the state penal complex for one to three years, a fine of $2,500 or both.

Results of an autopsy performed on the dead baby have not been relayed to the public, according to county attorney Budd Bernhoff. Conducting Thursday's preliminary hearing will be district county judge Joseph Hunter of West Point. He will decide if there is sufficient evidence to bind the coed over to district court for trial.

Hoskins Applies For Federal Aid For New Plant

The town of Hoskins, through the Mid Elkhorn Valley Council of Government, took the first step toward acquiring federal funds in order to build a new sewage treatment plant.

According to city officials, the town applied for the aid last week. The cost of the plant, which would be built west of Hoskins, is estimated at $45,000. The reason for the new plant, one official explained, resulted from state pollution control officials discovering that the present sewage treatment does not meet pollution control requirements.

If the funds are acquired, the village will have to provide 25 per cent of the cost.

Benthack Hall Is Name Of New WSC Building

A new building to be erected at Wayne State College will be named the Walter Benthack Hall of Applied Science.

It honors Dr. Benthack, who has practiced medicine in Wayne since 1920 and served on the state college governing board from 1939 to 1945. Dr. Benthack built a hospital in 1937 and directed its operation until the city of Wayne purchased it as a municipal hospital about 14 years ago.

Dr. W. A. Brandenburg, Wayne State president, in announcing the name of the new building, noted that Dr. Benthack has been prominent in civic activities and took a major role last year in a fund drive for a new Wayne sea hospital. The new applied science hall will house classes in industrial education, home economics and safety education. Construction will start when weather permits.

The State College Board of Trustees, in approving the name Friday, also designated two of the building's rooms to honor former faculty members. One will be the E. J. Huntemer Research Laboratory. Huntemer served as director of industrial arts from 1910 to 1938.

A certified architect, he designed all campus buildings erected during his tenure at Wayne State. After retirement he practiced architecture for many years in Grand Island, where he died several years ago.

An amphitheater for lectures and demonstrations will be named the Rodgers-Warner Lecture Hall, in honor of Mrs. Erma Rodgers and the late Miss Ida Warner, professor of home economics from 1956-1970 and 1945-1968, respectively. Mrs. Rodgers is living at Little Rock, Ark., and Miss Warner, after retirement, lived in her native Randolph.

ERA Opponents Gain Audience in Lincoln

A small group of area persons decended on the State Capitol early Wednesday afternoon with pleas that the recent Nebraska ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) be repealed.

The group, which included the Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Binger of Wakefield, Mrs. Dale Lessman, Mrs. Marvin Nelson, Mrs. Joe Rieken and Mrs. Lee Mendyk of Wayne, gained audience with Senators William Hasebrook of West Point, Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove and Maurice Kremer of Aurora. Governor J. James Exon and several other senators.

According to Mrs. Mendyk, the senators were sympathetic and admitted they had made a mistake in ratifying the ERA, claiming they had not understood the full implications of such a move. They promised to do what they could for the Wayne group and other Nebraskans who have notified legislators of their displeasure, she said.

The ERA will become part of the Constitution of the United States if it is ratified by 22 states. Opponents, according to letters with which Nebraska Senators have been peppered, contend that the amendment would threaten family life, subject young women to the military draft and deny women special privileges they now enjoy.

Also on hand to greet the anti-ERA group were three young women who said they had been notified by a phone call from Wayne that the group was on its way.

Said Mrs. Mendyk, "The women came barging in on our conversation while we were speaking with a group in the lobby and then accompanied us into the legislative chambers where they continued to inject their own conflicting ideas about the ERA."

Local, Area Persons Attend CIP Workshop

A group of about 20 area individuals interested in the Nebraska Community Improvement Program (CIP) turned out for the workshop hosted by the city of Wayne Wednesday evening.

The CIP got its start about 10 years ago, according to Ed Eggleston of the Office of Economic Development in Lincoln, who conducted the meeting. Last year 170 communities in Nebraska were involved in the program," he noted.

Purpose of the CIP is to stimulate greater interest and action in improving the economic, social, physical and cultural aspects of Nebraska communities and to recognize communities for outstanding achievements in their community development programs.

Eggleston discussed general information about the CIP and then led participants into individual group discussions on various phases of the program. Jerry Kaup of Columbus, who represents the Nebraska Library Commission, spoke for the group which discussed group involvement. The group's conclusions were that as many organizations as possible should be invited to have representatives at the initial CIP meetings to insure maximum involvement.

"Certain responsibilities should then be delegated to each organization," Kaup explained. "To give each of those organizations a sense of responsibility." He concluded that these measures should be followed up with local recognition for achievements of individuals and organizations.

The Rev. Robert Neu, CIP officer from Coleridge, was spokesman for the group which discussed the senior citizens' role in the program. Some of the projects credited with being advantageous were Meals on Wheels, regular get-togethers such as potluck dinners for senior citizens and senior citizen centers such as the one in Wayne.

Youth involvement was discussed by another group. Lefty Olson, CIP chairman from Wakefield, summarized for this group that the best angle in involving youth in the program is to go through existing agencies, such as Scouts, which are always on the lookout for possible projects.

The final area covered was industrial development for the small city. Katharine Cliff, Wayne County VISTA, spoke for this group.

Some of the problems considered were whether various industries would be too much of a burden to a city (such as where excessive taxation for sewer and water facilities might be countered) and whether the industries would be useful enough to compensate for such burdens.

Tax breaks, which the Nebraska Legislature does not at this time allow, were discussed as being a definite advantage in enticing industry to a city, the group felt.

It was brought out by this group that industry has in the past located in communities which are involved in the CIP more than in those which are not involved.

In a general discussion which concluded the workshop it was noted that towns just getting started in the CIP might be better off to concentrate on one area where they can expect to excel, rather than to spread themselves too thin by entering many areas of competition.

Eggleston also commented that those communities which enter the competition with the thought of what the program will do for their communities, rather than for the sole purpose of winning the annual awards, are apt to benefit the most.

Represented at the meeting were Wakefield, Hartington, Laurel, Coleridge, Hoskins, Ponder and Wayne. Dan Sherry of Wayne sponsored the workshop.

Mrs. JCs 'Marching' For Funds

Mrs. Jaycees began their Mothers' March to raise money for the March of Dimes Sunday.

The volunteers will be going from house to house during the next two days, asking residents to contribute money to help support the organization.

Mrs. Gary Pick is chairman of the Jaycees taking part in the Mothers' March, the first time one has been held in Wayne. She said the drive will try to increase the donations in the city since the rural areas usual contribute more during the annual drive.

The town has been divided into 12 divisions, with a leader for each who is responsible for collections in her division. Division leaders are Vicki Pick, Lana Reep, Bernita Kraemer, Bernice Workman, Judy Wochler, Mary Wochler, Wilma Moore, Betty Heier, Diane Zach, Nancy Boehme, Jackie Dittman and Delores Rebersdorf.

All except Mrs. Heier are members of the Mrs. Jaycees.

'Sure, It's Unhandy, But There's Never A Wood Shortage'

By BOB BARTLETT

For 57-year-old Elmer Rosdahl, the current fuel crisis crippling many of the nation's large cities and rural towns is "somebody else's business."

"I'm not going to try and tell everyone what to do," the Concord man said. "I'll just keep burning my wood and coal." Rosdahl, who has been using wood and coal for heat since he was born, wouldn't think of using any other kind of fuel. "It'll burn just like gas or oil, won't it?" he asks. "So why should I use any other kind of material to keep me warm?"

Rosdahl admits that there are some drawbacks to keeping a wood and coal stove burning through the night. "Sometimes I have to get up two or three times a night to put more wood in the stove. But I don't mind," he quipped. "I really need to do it only when it gets real cold outside. Even then, when it does get real cold outside, it stays about 40 degrees here inside."

Elmer keeps himself well supplied for winters. Stocked in his backyard are piles of chopped wood covered with snow. "A lot of friends and neighbors will cut down trees and give them to me," he said. "I then get my tractor and buzz saw and start to work cutting them," he added, noting that sometimes he has to cut the logs by hand.

Rosdahl says he's "a pretty poor guesser" when it comes to figuring out how much wood he has in his backyard. "If it (the winter) doesn't get to bad, I might have enough for the winter," he smiled.

Throughout the house, Rosdahl keeps stacks of wood and coal in barrels, and the back porch is filled with wood. "I keep it there," he smiled, "in case I might run out. I wouldn't want to have to go outside during the middle of the night in this cold weather to get some firewood."

Although he doesn't have any use for oil or gas, he does use electricity. "I like to listen to the radio," he said, explaining that he doesn't watch television "because I'm hardly ever home to enjoy it."

When he's not chopping wood, Rosdahl keeps himself busy doing odd chores for people in town or helping area farmers. "I have any extra time I'll be down at Logan Creek trying some trapping," he said.

"But the days are usually too short for that." Rosdahl considers himself an outdoor man and likes to get out on mild winter days. "The only time this winter I've been kept in was two weeks ago," he remarked, "when it snowed me out."

The cold weather isn't anything new to Elmer. Before moving to Concord in the fall of 1940, he lived in Colorado with his parents. After they died about 20 years ago he "never thought about using any other kind of fuel for heating. The fire still keeps me warm."

CONCORD resident Elmer Rosdahl doesn't worry about the fuel shortage — he just keeps on burning wood and coal in his stove.

Fuel Short at Allen, Too

It looks like Allen residents are joining the many area towns who are plagued with a fuel shortage.

Last week, one of the town's main suppliers of fuel oil gave the high school notice that it can no longer supply the school with oil.

For superintendent Gail Miller, that possibility of a shortage meant one of two things: either close down the school until further oil is available or begin searching for other dealers who have oil to sell.

Miller took the second choice after a "frantic search."

"I really didn't know what to do. All of a sudden," he said, "I knew that I had to make a quick decision."

The superintendent made several calls around the area and finally located a dealer in West Point.

The dealer said he could deliver 2,000 gallons. The day Miller called and would have 6,000 gallons brought to the school within two days. Miller said that the 4,000 gallons would keep the tank filled for a month. "But so far we've only got 2,000 gallons," he explained.

If the school doesn't get more fuel, he said, it probably will have to close by the end of this week.

Rich Schaefer, manager of Farmers Cooperative Elevator in Allen, said his oil supplier has reduced his amount to 27,000 gallons during the month of January. According to Schaefer that is a reduction of 12,000 gallons from the same period a year ago.

There are a lot of minor things a person can do to help out on this fuel shortage," Schaefer said.

"People can help, he noted, by opening up their curtains on the south side of the house, allowing the sun's rays to warm the house instead of keeping the furnace going."

"Another idea," he pointed out is to make sure all the windows and doors are closed.

Several churches in Allen are taking the initiative to cut down on fuel consumption by shutting off furnaces.

Fuel Shortage 'Tight' At City Power Plant

The fuel shortage at the power plant, in Wayne continues to remain "tight but not critical," according to the plant superintendent.

Norbert Brugger said Saturday that plant employees had hoped to get some natural gas Friday when the temperature climbed into the low 20s, but no natural gas was available.

The possible fuel shortage struck close to home last week when city officials were informed by the supplier of diesel fuel for the power plant that it would be able to supply only 75 per cent of the contracted amount of fuel until further notice.

That means the city could run out of diesel fuel eight days before the end of the month if consumption continues at its present rate of about 6,000 gallons a day, according to Brugger.

If no natural gas is available in February and the consumption remains the same, the plant could run out of diesel fuel about halfway through the month, he said.

According to fire officials in Carroll, volunteer departments from Belden, Randolph and Carroll answered the call about 8 p.m.

Preliminary reports said the fire started in the office section and flames partially damaged the front of the building.

Don Kuhl of Randolph, is owner of the business.

The United Methodist Church shut off one furnace, heating only the upstairs portion of the building.

The Sprigbank Church east of town began to cut down on heating after Schaefer asked them to.

An accident waiting to happen

Trying to find a place to put all that snow scooped off the city streets in Wayne is, we admit, not an easy task. It seems, however, that there is a better place to put it than on the street corners, as has been done in several places. Piling the snow on corners such as 12th and Main Street obstructs the vision of drivers, forcing them to creep out farther than usual to see if traffic is coming. At 12th and Main a driver has to look ahead until the front of his car is almost in the traffic lane on Main Street before he can see what is coming from the south. The police department has reported at least two accidents over the past few days which were caused in part by high snowbanks. There will be more unless the piles of snow are removed.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786

How Much Longer?

Until we're stunned into action-producing awareness of our snowballing energy crisis by some Pearl Harbor type catastrophe or Sputnik-like spur, we the people, I guess, will simply continue the present drift to the brink of an energy disaster.

The present and continuing standoff between well-informed, off-misguided and misinformed environmentalists and those who need and those who have to provide energy is quite apt, you know, to result with both winning their points, at the price of losing what has to be and is essentially the same objective.

Believe me, when businesses all over the land have their energy rationed and job hours reduced, when homes have only certain hours that their lights can be on, when...

on the part of energy users and suppliers. If I were President — and I guess I'm not — within the next year or two I would awaken the public to the growing direness of our energy shortage and thus provide the impetus toward solution and resolution, by announcing the forthcoming inauguration of gasoline rationing a la World War II. Then we would find a swift drive for an intelligent solution, compromise, balance between rain-wet fields and irrigated ones.

Because we're barely coping with our present huge trade imbalance, there is no way — if it were available — that we could buy all the oil we'll need in the reasonably foreseeable future from abroad. I have heard it said that Japan itself in the next dozen years or so could use all the oil presently available from the Middle East (or some such fantastic statistic).

Maybe we should get smart like some of these international wheeler-dealers. Since there's just no way the Saudi Arabians can buy enough air-conditioned Cadillac to use up the tens of billions that they will be getting for their oil, and since there's little likelihood that Libya's Colonel can get rid of all his tens of billions of additional oil revenues by continuing to finance revolutions and revolutionaries (because the revolutionaries will all have so much money they'll want to enjoy it a bit), we should encourage these Arabian Aladdin oil-lamp lands to invest their money in American businesses at an ever-faster pace.

Animal ag in U. S. is guilty only of producing world's best food

Inflation and rising costs of production have been felt by the swine industry, and while the selling price per hundred weight has reached new highs, so have production costs.

Since feed costs represent 70 to 80 percent of all production costs, profitability or returns is nearly unchanged from a year ago. Yet, the profitability of swine enterprises rank high among all farm enterprises and the future for swine producers appears bright.

A common concern to all pork producers is the use of antibiotics in swine rations. While this looms as a cloud on the horizon, all is not lost.

The antibiotic situation is influenced by several factors. Most recent of these factors is the ruling to remove D.E.S. from beef cattle use. This may influence antibiotic usage in swine production simply by setting a precedent.

Another factor is the current political expediency of such issues. Many well meaning people, with incomplete or inaccurate information, are willing to pursue such issues without regard to total implications.

Much of the concern, whether real or imaginary, can be traced to two sources — the book Silent Spring and the Swann Committee Report.

The message and accuracy of Silent Spring is well known and needs no further comment.

The Swann Report is based upon the supposition that the development of resistant forms of certain organisms may occur because the agricultural use of antibiotics may create equivalent resistance problems when the same or comparable drug is used to control the same or comparable organism in man. Stated more briefly, this is referred to as the "resistance transfer factor."

The Swann Report, made in England, had the ultimate effect of regulating which drugs could be used by the producer and which could not. As a result, a veterinary prescription is needed for the following drugs in England: oxytetracycline (Terracycline), chlortetracycline (Aureomycin), furazolidone, nitrofurazone, sulfonamides and lysozin.

The cost of this regulation is said to be high. The cost of similar action to the American pork producer and consumer is cause for speculation, but there is little doubt that it would be great.

The question being asked by all concerned with the future of the industry involves the necessity for antibiotic regulations beyond the current status. Certainly the goal of everyone in agriculture is the production of wholesome, nutritious food at the lowest possible cost.

Since the introduction of penicillin in 1945 and the subsequent development and use of other drugs in livestock production, not one single human death has been attributed to the resistance transfer factor. During the years when antibiotics were used with greater frequency in animal production, the human life span has been lengthened and the duration and frequency of illness lowered.

Producers and others concerned with the withdrawal of antibiotics from livestock production in the absence of research evidence have a course they can follow — writing to your congressman and expressing your concern.

Those who do nothing imply consent through silence.

So far, animal agriculture in America is guilty only of producing the world's most wholesome food at the lowest cost.

Dear Editor:
In 1972, Nebraska went on record as one state which ratified the Equal Rights Amendment. That was a "giant leap for mankind," to coin a phrase.

Now, however, we have entered a new year and face a new decision on the Equal Rights Amendment. We are being asked to take one step backward and reverse our decision to support this bill.

The Equal Rights Amendment is a clear, concise and urgently needed piece of legislation which would amend the Constitution of our country to insure that men and women have the same rights and responsibilities under the law. I have read and heard a great deal of literature (and I emphasize the word "Con- clu- sion") on what the Equal Rights Amendment would and could mean, but in none of these argumentative state- ments so far have I seen an actual statement of the amendment itself.

The Equal Rights Amendment states that: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

The need for this legislation is extremely evident in our society today. The following statement speaks for itself:

"Of the whole, sex discrimination is still much more the rule than the exception. Much of this discrimination is directly attributable to governmental action both in maintaining archaic discriminatory laws and in perpetuating discriminatory practices in employment, education, and other areas. The social and economic cost to our society, as well as the individual psychological impact of sex discrimination, are immeasurable. That a majority of our population should be subjected to the indignities and limitations of second class citizenship is a fundamental affront to personal human liberty." — Report No. 92-689, Senate Judiciary Committee.

I honestly feel that much of the argument against this bill is a mass of irrational conjecture reminiscent of the Salem witch hunts of the 17th Century. I have no fear that this bill would or even could eliminate "women" as a human entity unique unto herself.

On the contrary I, along with many others, feel that this legislation will strengthen and confirm the status of women by insuring a woman's right to choose her place in society whether that place be in her home (as I have chosen) or in a professional position outside the home. The Equal Rights Amendment will insure that every woman will be treated as a rightful and responsible human individual.

I sincerely hope that Nebraska will not take that step backward by reversing the decision to support this bill. The responsibility rests on us as concerned individuals.

As an interested citizen, as an American, as an individual, as a Christian and as a woman, I urge you to write to our representative, Senator Robert Murphy, State Capitol Bldg., Lincoln, Neb., and make your voice heard. I also urge you to remember all of our legislators' own thoughts and prayers as they make this decision and all others facing them as representatives of the people of Nebraska.

Mrs. Jean Renee (Robert) Swanson

Dear Editor:
I am writing this letter about the Women's Liberation movement.

First off, I can hear the men chuckle as most men think it is a big joke. Many women are under the mistaken impression that women's liberation means more job employment opportunities for women, equal pay for equal work, appointments of women to high positions, admitting more women to medical schools and other desirable objectives which all women favor. But all this is only a sweet syrup which covers the deadly poison masquerading as "women's lib."

Women's lib is anti-family, anti-children and pro-abortion. They do indeed intend to "break the barriers" of the Ten Commandments and the sanctity of the family. They even go so far as to say that God made a mistake in creating two sexes, should be unsexed.

How then, is it possible for women libbers to be church members? With God it is all black and white — there is no gray. You are either for Him or against Him; you cannot subscribe to both.

At women's lib rallies, some of the fiery speakers cite Russia as an example of a country where women have equal rights. The Soviet Constitution guarantees, and this is a quote from the Phyllis Schafly Report: "Women in the U.S.S.R. are accorded equal rights with men in all spheres of economic, state, cultural, public and political life." Equal rights in the Soviet Union means that the Russian women are obliged to put their baby in a half hour or extended nursery or kindergarten so she can join the labor force. It means that the women do the heavy, dirty work American women do not do, but men are still the bosses. Russian women have "equal rights" to mine coal, load cargo ships, work in heavy construction and labor in the fields. A typical garbage pickup team consists of two women hauling the garbage and a man driving the truck. A typical road construction "brigade" consists of a dozen women digging ditches while a male brigadier "supervises."

If you were fortunate enough to hear John Noble, who spoke in Wayne last spring, give personal testimony of his slavery in Russia you will know all this is true.

I say, if the Women Liberation movement wants equal rights like that in Russia, "Bon Voyage!" There might even be room in that ditch, ladies (?).

Dear Editor:
Today I read the news of the Wayne, Carroll school board meeting. I don't usually take issue with what goes on, but there is a problem that I would like some answers to. Does the school board really know what is going on in the classroom, except what they are told by the administrator?

The problem I wish to take issue with is the individualized mathematics program in grades nine through 12. We have an individualized program in the seventh and eighth grades, do we not?

Well, there are about 65 eighth graders in the middle school. Mine is one. The assignments are given on sheets and the child has a certain amount of time to do the problems and the projects. It seems that quite a few eighth graders are not doing the assignments until the deadline date. They are not told each day to do so much work and hand it in. Then when the deadline to have the work done comes around you will find about 35 students staying after school to do it.

I have found that my child does the work for any other class willingly because it is either daily work or different. When I asked my child about why he did not do his work he says it is the same as last year, and he hates it — even though he can do each chapter in a half hour and gets grades in the 90's.

No one is telling him to do the work until it is absolutely time for the teacher to say, "Stay after school."

How do the bus student parents feel about this when they have to come to town to pick up their child?

Are there other reasons for the math room being full after school? I would like to hear what the problem is from other parents.

I feel that the seventh and eighth grades are the wrong place to let the child do as he pleases on math work until he has to be made to do it.

I also feel that we hire teachers to teach children, and with independent or individualized study no one is teaching and the child goes to the teacher's desk (maybe) for help. Sure the teacher is there, but sits behind the desk and makes out the grades.

Until a child is old enough to decide for himself if he wants to do the lessons, I feel he should be taught. Answers please.

A Parent

Editor's Note: The Wayne-Carroll school board Monday night was handed a list of 14 possible goals for the school district. The goals have been worked out through several faculty and administrative meetings. They range all the way from individualizing the mathematics program in grades nine through 12 (the same as is now done in earlier grades) to broadening the tax base. The board is now going to look over the list of possible goals, make additions, deletions or changes where it wishes and come up with some guidelines on when the goals should be reached, cost and personnel needed.

Crofton farmer Frank Paulsen has been given a meritorious service award by the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Paulsen was recognized for 34 years of service with the administration of farm programs, starting in 1938 as an elected community committee member in Knox County. Paulsen served as a member of the county committee 18 years. For 16 years he served as a community committee member.

Ann Rihaneck, senior at Pender High school, has been named winner in the Pender Voice of Democracy Contest.

Miss Rihaneck, who received a $25 bond, came in ahead of Don Trimble and Mark Carey. Trimble, who placed second, is also a Pender High senior. Carey, third, is a senior at Bancroft High.

Out Albion way, publisher Jack Lough has this comment in his "The Loughdown" column in the Albion News last week: "If you shoot an arrow in the air and it sticks, then pollution will indeed be something to get concerned about."

Ross Ringer was re-elected as chief of the Wisner Volunteer firemen recently. Named first assistant chief was Harry Jorgensen. Warren Carsten was named second assistant chief.

Officers elected were Willis Hollman as president, Mike Kuzelka as secretary and Barry Meyer as treasurer.

Jim Enstrom, lifelong resident of Burl County, will become managing editor of the Lyons Mirror Sun effective the first of February.

The newspaper will be sold to Bob and Shirley Boque, publishers of the Oakland Independent effective the same date. Evelyn Heldeman, who has operated the newspaper under lease for the past three years, will become news editor in February.

A Hadar youth, Gary Heckman, is free on $2,500 bond after being arrested on a charge of unlawful delivery of marijuana.

Investigation into the Dec. 12 incident, and the subsequent arrest, was made by the Nebraska State Patrol.

The annual city bowling tournament in Wausa began over the weekend. The tournament, which features action for teams, doubles and singles, will be held for two more weekends.

Two-way radios may be installed in school buses at Neligh.

The first baby born at the Osmond General Hospital was a seven-pound boy born at 9:38 a.m. Jan. 1. Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bauer of Wausa.

Robert Houser has been granted a settlement of $6,884 by the South Sioux City school board after the board's vote to fire him was overturned by the State Supreme Court.

The high court said the 32 vote to discharge Houser was not legal since it takes a majority of the full board and not a majority of those present to fire a teacher.

The district court had upheld the board's vote.

It's a Man's World... and Apt To Stay That Way

By SANDRA BREITKREUTZ Women's Libbers across the nation are urging members of the fairer sex to take up banners and follow them in a gigantic protest which is supposed to grant them opportunities, pay, respect and treatment akin to what their male counterparts are receiving.

get on the short end of the deal in the business world. "There was only once," she said, that a man refused to do business with me because I was a woman. He told her, 'to go back and send her boss over.' "I feel women in Wayne have real good opportunities for pay advancement," she noted.

responsibility should be more." A college professor, Mrs. Kathryn Hepburn, is another woman with no complaints to make. Delores Schulz, who with her husband operates Wayne Yellow Cab, doesn't feel being a woman is a handicap in the taxi business. Only once has a passenger indicated he would have more trust in a man driver, she recalled.

honest gripe. Women get what they are entitled to. If they want to work, that's their privilege. A registered nurse, Sandy Anderson, feels women should be paid on the same scale as men because they can do just as much and sometimes more (not taking into account jobs which involve physical labor).

Elaine Anderson "...you get what you work for..."

Luverna Hilton "...more opportunities now..."

To find out, the Herald questioned 15 local women—a group which included teachers, clerks, women engaged in running their own businesses and officers. Some refused to comment, but others are quoted here. Luverna Hilton, who serves as assistant district county judge in Wayne feels there are now more women in positions once held almost entirely by men. She noted that at a recent meeting she attended in Lincoln there were eight women who were serving as district county judges and at least 40 women who were serving as associates.

Marjorie Kudrna "...women are going to ruin things..."

"I get as fair a shake as I want," says The Gallery owner, Marjorie Jacobson. "But my line of business (fabrics) is in the woman's realm and you don't normally find discrimination against women there anyway." Elaine Anderson, who works as a bookkeeper at a doctor's clinic, says, "I'm convinced that anyone, a male or female, can get what he wants if he wants to work for it."

are certain privileges reserved for women employees which I would not want to give up," she added. "For instance, if there were a sick child in the family, most businesses would be understanding of a woman's absence. The same would probably not be true for a man. I may complain," she concluded, "but I don't really go for this women's lib movement. I still want a woman's privileges."

Sandy Anderson "...women should have equal pay..."

studio if she had been a man. Also, she noted, commercial jobs might come easier. "As it is, many of the commercial jobs I have obtained have resulted in something of a surprise to the customers. Sometimes a customer will walk in the door, talk to me as if I'm a receptionist and ask, 'when will the photographer be available?' When I reply that I can go right now they may do a double take, but no one has backed out. In spite of some minor discontent and a few 'no comments,' it would seem that the man's position as dominant males is not to be challenged by Wayne ladies.

ALLEN'S DUANE MITCHELL can't seem to find anyone to pass to as three Ponca players crowd in to stop the Eagle from scoring — Don Mohr (55), Bob Curry (23) and Craig Jones (43).

Ponca's Pressure Defense Fails to Stop Allen; Eagles Take Over Division

By BOB BARTLETT
The men of the A are No. 11. The high-flying Allen Eagles, powered by five top gunners in doubles figures, won their fifth win Friday night, rapping No. 1, Ponca, 59-53.

Sailing Stan Perry led his squad with 17 points to pace his team to victory. But he got assistance from Chuck Peters, with 12 and Duane Mitchell, Scott Von Minden and Neil Blohm with 10 each.

"I can't say that both offenses looked good tonight," said Eagle head man Robert Moore. "Both squads were kind of shaky tonight with the pressure of the No. 1 lead of the Clark division of the Lewis & Clark Conference hanging in the balance."

Allen tipped the scales to its side in the first stanza when it jumped out to a 16-11 margin. At the start of the contest, the Eagles advanced to a 6-0 lead before the favored Ponca tribe could muster a basket.

"It was kind of worried about Ponca's man-to-man defense," Moore admitted after a long look at the game. "I scouted Ponca during four games and I knew that their press would be hard to handle."

Coach Moore kept his starting five in for most of the game as the Indians tried, but failed, to apply a stiff press.

Both teams, lacking a steady offense, pushed the ball up and down the courts, but too many turnovers cost them what should have been easy scores.

"When you look at it," the coach mentioned, "all of us were turning over the ball a lot more than we should have."

Moore pointed out that in addition to turnovers, neither club could hit from the charity line. Ponca managed 7 of 18 while the Eagles claimed about the same percentage, 9 of 17.

"That's just not us nor Ponca," Moore remarked.

Allen, in control throughout, built its budget to 11 at the half with a 32-21 score.

The Braves, searching for their set offense, found the going rougher in the third when they could gather only 11 points to Allen's 14.

Eagles' Scott Von Minden and Chuck Peters found their way under the basket for the scores while the evenly matched Ponca five saw their shots jump in and out of the hoop.

Both Indian big men, Don Mohr and Craig Jones, who hit 20 and 13 points respectively for team highs, were able to get inside for baseline shots but the lid seemed to be closed and the Eagles were there for the rebounds.

"I think everybody was hustling out there," Moore commented. "It was a nerve-racking game, but our boys came through."

Whether Allen stays in the driver's seat in its division depended on the outcome of Saturday's game at Walthill. As of Friday night, the Eagles hold a 3-0 division mark and a 5-2 overall record.

In the preliminary game, the Braves resumed pushing their record to 4-1 with a 48-27 win over the Braves.

Don Kluever and Randy Lanser collected 11 and 10 points respectively to lead the team.

Allen opened up with an 18-3 first quarter score before the Indians could gather 14 points in the second to Allen's 12.

After the half, coach Moore's team had trouble in the third, scoring only six points to eight for the visitors. But the home club came back to net 12 big points to Ponca's two for the win.

Friday night the Eagles will travel to Homer for another rough encounter and then return home to face Newcastle Saturday night.

Kenneth G. Schroeder of Wakefield paid a $10 fine last week, according to the Nebraska Games and Parks Commission, for hunting in the wrong deer unit.

Neligh Drops Laurel

Second-rated Class C Neligh gave Coach Joel Parks' Laurel team one of its worst defeats of the year Friday night. The Bears were stopped by the score of 70-50.

"I can't understate Neligh," Parks pointed out. "They're a good ball club with even balance not only in height but also in depth," he added.

The Warriors, playing without two starters, got help from 6-3 senior forward Mark Murphy. The piling Neligh man pumped in 24 points for the night, connecting on 10 buckets and four for four from the free throw line.

Dan Gadeken, another janky forward at 6-3, aided the Warriors in their 11th win against one loss, when he added 18 points to the total.

"We were ungodly cold from the field," Parks exclaimed. "They just wouldn't fall through for us."

In the reserve game, the Bears fell three points short 43-40. Kirby Cunningham and Sterling Stolpe had 10 and nine points for the reserve's high.

Devils' Full-Court Press Key to Win Over Stanton

Despite a "sloppy" offense, the Wayne Blue Devils upset their season mark to 7-4 Friday night with a 72-46 victory over Stanton.

Defense, coach Bill Sharpe emphasized, kept "us in the ball game — we used a man-to-man full-court press which I think really got our team more involved in the game."

"With this type of defense," the coach said, "I saw a lot more enthusiasm — the kids were really hustling."

Wayne gave up the ball 19 times to 17 for the visitors but the head man attributes the team's ability to stay in the game to the hustling defensive plays. "If a team doesn't have a defense," he explained, "then it's not much good if its offense should fail."

The Blue Devil offense, led by Roger Saul with 17 points, could not get any real drive going, Sharpe said. "It was a tight game until the fourth quarter when we hit 26 points to Stanton's 11," he noted.

Wayne started out in the first period with a 17-16 lead and managed to take a four point lead in the second half before the Devils started playing offensive ball.

"We had the bench cleared during the whole game," Sharpe went on, because none of our guards were doing what I wanted." As a result most of the players saw at least four minutes worth of action during the contest.

Marty Hansen, who chalked up the second high score with 14, was the only other Wayne High man in the double figure column.

To many spectators the game must have seemed drawn out with players going to the charity line 55 times — Wayne 33 of them, Stanton 22.

Guard Randy Nelson, suffering from a sprained ankle during the holiday tournaments, disuse some action. According to Sharpe, the spunky senior was about 80 per cent recovered.

As for forward Bill Schwartz, his condition is still doubtful. No definite date is known when he will play again, but Sharpe hopes to have him in the lineup next week if all goes well. He was also injured in holiday action.

Wayne will be at home again this Friday, hosting a tough East Husker team, Tekamah Herman at the city auditorium. Wayne State is scheduled to play Peru this Friday at Rice, causing the move.

In Friday action, Tekamah gave Wakefield its fourth loss, 68-58.

Coleridge Hands Winside Its Seventh Loss, 66-44

Winside, still struggling for its second win, lost its seventh game of the season Friday night to a strong Coleridge team, 66-44.

The Bulldogs' led by Larry Rathgeber's 30 points, pulled out for a 29-24 first half lead and continued to stay out in front, 43-34, at the end of the third period.

Coleridge then blew the game open with a 23-point fourth period spurge to wipe out the Cats.

"They played us a tight man to man defense," head coach Jim Winch said. "But in the second half they hit us with a zone and we couldn't hit anything from the outside," he explained.

Late in the second quarter Winside trailed the taller Bulldog team by two and hung on to stay within four during the fourth before foul trouble sent Scott Deck and Jeff Farrant to the bench.

"Larry Weible, our other big man, went out of the game in the third, creating some of our problems," he said.

Winside had a number of problems trying to cross the 28 point margin during the fourth while Coleridge outshined the smaller visitors.

"I think Weible and Hoffman did a good job for us," Winch pointed out. Both men had eight rebounds and nine points each. "Hoffman," he continued, "is only a freshman I think he's coming along, real well."

Winch explained that Hoffman seems to be relaxing more when he's starting. "I took him off the starting five and kept him on the bench for awhile — I think this is helping him in his game," Winch explained.

"Friday the team will travel to Wynot. Winside will go out on the road this Saturday when they face a tall Hartington team."

The reserves, holding a 1-6 mark, fell to the Bulldogs, 39-28. Cal Bob Hartman had 11 points for team high.

Reserves Plaster Stanton, 76-20 For Eighth Win

The Wayne High reserves plastered Stanton for their eighth win Friday night, 76-20.

Randy Workman and Kerry Jech had 11 and 15 points while Earle Overin connected for 12 to set up the team's win.

The reserves, using a full court press during the first and part of the second quarter, took a 40-12 halftime lead when the stronger home team limited Stanton to nine points in the first period and three in the second.

In the second half, the Blue Devils continued the squeeze on the visitors, allowing only two points in the third quarter and six in the final stanza.

Good defensive work again put the club in control of the game.

Top Area Wrestlers

FIVE AREA wrestlers were among the top selections in the World Herald's first State Class C picks for each weight division. Winside coach Doug Barclay had four men place, with undefeated Ed Lienemann (185) and Dean Krueger (155) placing second. Both Steve Suehl (138) and Dave Jaeger (119) ranked third. Wakefield's Kirk Gardner, the only Trojan matman to make the listing, is No. 1 in the 167 pound division.

McCue Sparks Tekamah-Herman Club To 68-58 Victory Over Wakefield

Tekamah-Herman's smooth Mike McCue ripped holes in Wakefield's defense Friday night as the Tigers handed the Trojans their fourth loss in nine outings, 68-58.

"We just couldn't keep that McCue from scoring," Wakefield coach Joe Coble admitted after the game.

Doug Soderberg did a good job on him the second half, but he was able to score that first half," he said.

McCue, only a 5-11 sophomore, rammed in 32 points in the contest, 12 of them in the second quarter as Tekamah-Herman pulled into an eight-point lead going into the third quarter.

Wakefield jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the opening seconds of the game, but the visitors quickly carved out a lead with their strength, quickness and power under the boards.

Dave Scheel hit 16 points to lead the defeated Trojans, while Randy Johnson pumped in 14 and Doug Soderberg came up with 13. They were the only Trojans to hit double figures.

Tekamah-Herman had only one player in two figures—McCue—but that was enough. "We couldn't get the ball inside and the continuity of our offense was poor," Coble said. "We started off good, but they were able to dictate to us almost all the time. Wakefield trailed their cross-conference rivals 48-35 going into the final eight minutes of action, but pulled to within nine points two times in the final few minutes of play—59-50 and 63-54.

The hosts suffered through their third poor shooting night of the year, hitting 31 per cent of their field goals. They managed only 31 rebounds, a good share of them by Scheel, as they were outshouted under the boards on both ends of the court.

The Trojans, who played East Husker foe Pender Saturday night, go up against West Point in a home game Friday night. In Friday night's reserve contest, Tekamah-Herman pulled off a 52-44 win.

Kieth Siebrandt was the only reserve Trojan to break into two figures, collecting a dozen points. Doug Schwarzen had six and Bruce Paul had five. The reserves are now 1-6 for the year.

Wayne Sophs Win
The Wayne High sophomores knocked off Norfolk last week, 80-36. Leading scorers for the locals was Rich Mitchell with 21 points. Earle Overin and Gordon Emery each collected 15.

Dunk Kearney
talent apparently to Kearney's surprise—and was.

When the final event came, the 400 freestyle relay, Kearney had edged into a 54.59 lead. For Bentley, the outlook did not look too hopeful as Kearney entered its four best freestylers. Wayne won anyway and took all the relay points—seven.

Dave Justi, a transfer student eligible for the first time, gained points for Wayne in the 500 and 1,000 freestyle. Bob Floersching capped the other two Wildcat firsts, the 200 medley and the 200 butterfly.

Winside Girls Elect Officers
Debbie Dahl was elected president of the Winside High School Girls' Letterman Club Friday at the organization's first meeting.

Selected as vice president was Pal Dangberg. Patty Mann was named secretary-treasurer.

The club is under the direction of teacher Jim Winch and superintendent Don Leighton.

SIDELINE FAN Denise Fischer leads cheers for Wakefield during Friday night's contest against Tekamah-Herman. The yells of the cheerleaders failed to spark the Trojans, however, as they dropped their fourth game in nine outings, 68-58.

RON JONES... sets rebounding record at WSC-Chadron game with 25 caroms.

Jumping Jack Jones Snares Rebound Record

Only a few were aware of the drama unfolding in Rice Gym Thursday night as Wayne State walloped Chadron State. Not even the star of the drama knew what was happening.

It started at halftime when Wayne's student statistician added up rebounds and discovered that jumping jack forward Ron Jones already had snared 17. That's more than most players ever get in a full game.

More important, statistician Dennis Kubick knew the Wayne State one game rebound record was 25, set in 1961 by Larry Coney, then of Piiler.

Kubick told Coach Ron Jones—but not player Jones—how things stood.

The second half started, with Wayne ahead by 41-28. While the rebound pace slowed, the 6-4 Jones gradually added to his total. Meanwhile, Coach Jones cleared his bench of the regulars, only Jones stayed in the game.

With about four minutes left, another flock of subs came in, but not a one replaced Jones. One time he looked at the bench with something that seemed to say, "Hey coach, how come I'm still in here?" Or maybe he was thinking of putting in for over time pay.

Finally, Coach Jones called a time out and gathered his troops to make an announcement: "Jonesie, you just tied the Wayne all-time rebound record."

The unsuspecting rebound ace lit up like a 500 watt bulb. Then the coach declared:

Team 3 Sole Leader in City BB. League

The tie for first place in the city recreation basketball league lasted only one week when Team 2 dropped its second game of the season Wednesday to Team 1, 44-62.

Team 2, holding a 3-1 mark during last week, was tied for the league lead with Team 3 until Team 1's Dennis Spangler and Maurice Boeckenhauer connected for 24 and 14 points, respectively to unseat Team 2.

After taking a first period lead, 14-12, Team 2, led by Kent

Lingerletter with 24 points—look commanding going into the second half with a 48-37 advantage. Team 1 narrowed the gap to four at the end of three before squeaking out the victory.

Also scoring for Team 2 was Mike Keen with 16.

In preliminary action, Team 3 continued its winning pace after its initial loss last week, to hit Team 4, 62-51.

Balanced scoring from Sid Hillier (17), Brock Giese and Danny Paul (both with 14), gave the winners their fourth win against one loss and sole possession of the lead.

For Team 4, Lynn Lessmann and Bill Woehler knotted at 14 each followed by Rex Murray with 16.

In the B league, the Whites took the Reds, 57-47.

Duane Blomenkamp, Craig Tiedtke and Chris Luaders pounded the basket for 16, 14 and 12 points, respectively for the winners while the Reds' Bill Workman had 18 and Danny Deescher connected for 14 points.

Monday night (tonight) Team 4 will take on Team 5 at 7 p.m., followed by Teams 1 and 2, battling it out at 8:30.

Team 2 draws a bye, but will play the Boys Club Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. B league action will follow at 8:45.

Year of the Trapper

This appears to be the year of the Nebraska trapper, based on present or anticipated prices. Generally, prices are up considerably over last year, due to a stronger demand for furs and possibly a better economy.

Too, long-hair furs are once again in favor. These include coyotes, fox, and raccoon, which apparently are as abundant as ever.

Last year, for example, male mink brought $10 to $11. This year they're selling for $18 to $20. A good female mink on the other hand will bring about $10, double that of last year. The price of fox, too, is much improved.

Nebraska has more or less two or three different qualities of furs in the northeast and north-central, furs and animal size and of greater quality than most in the south and south-central.

As an example, male mink will run about 25 per cent larger in the northern section of Nebraska and probably bring 20 to 25 per cent better price than those from the south. This holds true for most fur-bearing animals.

With muskrats, the most westerly you go in Nebraska, the poorer the quality. But then with coyotes, the opposite is true: quality is better in the west than it is in the east.

Here is about what trappers should be getting on furs that are prepared and ready for market:
Raccoon (large type, good quality), $8.50.
Muskrat (large eastern Nebraska type and extra large), $2.50.
Beaver (blanket size), $20 to $27.
Coyote (eastern pelts), $7 to $9; (western pelts), $9 and $14.
Fox (good quality), $17 to $20.

"Treed" Pheasants
"To better to see you with" could apply to the vantage point of seven pheasants spotted high in a tree last week about 100 yards south of Wakefield in Lincoln. The four roosters and three hens could have been surveying hunter traffic in the waning days of the 72-day season.

Hunting ends on ringnecks and quail this coming Sunday, Jan. 14, climaxing what has to be described as a disappointing season. Early snow knocked down considerable cover, forcing pheasants into the bigger fields.

Adverse weather persisted, delaying crop harvest. And toward the end of the season, muddy fields and roads limited hunting. Total kill will probably be down from that of last year.

Gals Come Through
Two women—and one out of stater are included in the final listing of top Master Angler award winners in Nebraska. The first list appeared last week in Lincoln. The four anglers are: Teresa Butler, 37 pounds, 9 1/2 ounces, (Crystal Springs Lake), goldeye, 16 pounds, 9 1/2 ounces, Alfred Johnson, Kearney (Kearney County Lake); kokanee salmon, 3 pounds, 1 ounce, Roy Haines, no address (McConaughy); Kentucky spotted bass, 3 pounds, Ron Howell, Brady (Brady Interstate Lake); largemouth bass, 8 pounds, 4 1/2 ounces, Rolland Vice, Stella (Richardson County); northern pike, 23 pounds, 11 ounces, Todd Jennings, Neligh (Missouri River, Knox County).

Perch, 2 1/4 pounds, Edward J. Abraham, Ainsworth (Willow Lake); rainbow trout, 13 1/4 pounds, Kevin Vernon, Gering (Tub Springs Creek); rock bass, 2 1/4 pounds, Edna Zuege, Haigler (Dundy County farm pond); white bass, 3 1/4 pounds, Dana Brown, Norfolk (Gavins Point); Sacramento perch, 1 pound, 11 ounces, Joe Nagy, North Olmstead, Ohio (Clear Lake); sauger, 6 pounds, Claude Pinkley, Leigh (Lake North).

Smeltmouth bass, 5 1/2 pounds, Michael Wagner, no address (Lake near Valley), also Gerald Dikeman, no address (Red Willow); striped bass, 9 pounds, 5 ounces, Harold Kraupis, Bridgeport, also Robert Cornelius, Phillips (both McConaughy); sucker, 3 pounds, Ted Golden, North Platte (Lake Maloney); sunfish, 1 1/2 pounds, Carroll Hill, Lincoln (Antelope County lake); walleye, 12 pounds, 11 ounces, Forrest Hill, Trenton (Swanson Lake), and yellow perch, 1 1/2 pounds, Dennis Schultz, Lincoln (Box Butte Lake).

MISHMASH... Beaver trapping in southwestern Nebraska ended Sunday, Jan. 7. This was the fourth limited season to rebound beaver fur prices, which were almost eliminated in some southwestern areas. Beaver trapping continues elsewhere in state through Feb. 28. Malfards generally comprise at least 50 per cent of the duck harvest in Nebraska.

Testing of lead shot substitutes for waterfowl gunning, involving 2,400 pen-reared mallards, continues through the winter at Winchester-Western's Mill Farm near Brighton, Ill. Work on the Ash Hollow Interpretative Cave Shelter, 50 by 35 feet in size, northwest of Ogallala, hopefully will be completed by next summer. Already finished is a stone shelter of covered wagon design at the base of Windless Hill, and a foot trail to the top.

119 Steve Meyer (W) decision
120 Allen Ekberg (W) and Dennis Michael drew, 7-2
132 Rob Stevenson (A) decision Roger Meyer, 7-0

Not As Easy As It Looks

ABOUT 150 STUDENTS in Don Koenig's fifth and sixth grade physical education class at the middle school in Wayne learned that skiing isn't as easy as it looks — especially if you're being pulled behind a snowmobile and in front of a host of critics. The students, who just finished a unit on skiing, got their chance to try their hand at the sport Thursday. Aims of the one-week unit was to teach the students something that would have value later on, said Koenig. "We want them to learn things they can use after they are out of school," he said. Furnishing the snowmobiles were Logan Valley Implement, Country Sportsman and Ed Niemann. Clockwise from top left: Jeff Mrsny, perfect example of the pose many of the youngsters took during the day; Chris Hamm, beams with expectation as onlookers can't wait to see how good she is; Ricky Johnson gets help from Scott Hurlbert and Dean Hansen; Don Koenig, gives a startling boost to Doug Hummel.

'Pat' Hailey Finally Gets State Award

Wayne's assistant chief of police, E. L. "Pat" Hailey, has finally received a plaque recognizing his work with young people over the past several years.

Hailey received the plaque this week, several months after being singled out by the Police Officers Association of Nebraska for his outstanding work with youths.

Two other police officers, both from Bellevue, were also recognized by the state association.

Hailey has been assistant chief in Wayne for 15 years, and he plans to retire sometime this year. He was a member of the first Nebraska State Patrol force in 1937.

He has worked with the bicycle safety, pedestrian safety and junior police patrol groups for several years.

Edna P. Noe, 85, of Allen, died Sunday at a Sioux City hospital following a brief illness. Funeral services were held Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Springfield Friends Church, Allen, with the Rev. Tom Moore officiating.

Burial was in the Ponca Cemetery under the direction of the Mohr Funeral Home, Ponca.

Pallbearers were Marlin Stewart, Jerald Stewart, Paul Stewart, Dennis Stewart, Wayne Jones and Courland Roberts.

Edna Pearl Adair was born Oct. 11, 1887 at Holibird, S.D. She was a graduate of Huron College, Huron, S.D. and taught rural school for eight years in South Dakota before her marriage.

On June 12, 1912 she was married to J.E. Noe at Huron, S.D. They lived at Watsiska, Alberta, Canada for four years and in Montana for one year. The couple then moved to South Dakota where she taught for four years.

In 1933 they moved to Dixon County, Nebr., later moving to Allen in 1936 where they farmed. She was a member of the Springfield Friends Church at Allen.

Preceding her in death were her husband in 1936 and one daughter in 1936.

Survivors include three sons, Vern of Laurel, Merland and Glenn, both of Allen; two daughters, Mrs. Maurice (Wijma) Hallstrom of South Sioux City and Mrs. DeWayne (Bernadine) Hallstrom of Allen; one brother, Roe Adair of Eugene, Ore.; three sisters, Mrs. Gladys Chapman and Mrs. Clarence (Ethel) Murray, both of Eugene, Ore., and Mrs. Furlie (Vivian) Fife of Onamia, Minn.; 13 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

Former Laurel Resident Dies At Hartington

A former Laurel resident, George H. Collins, 86, died Monday at Goddard Home in Hartington where he had resided since 1970.

The son of William and Anna Hoag Collins, he was born Feb. 24, 1886 at Orchard. Before moving to Hartington, he had resided in Laurel most of his life with his brother and sister.

Services were held Tuesday at 11 a.m. at the United Presbyterian Church, Laurel, with the Rev. Douglas Polter officiating. Mrs. Melvin Smith sang "Just As I Am" and "No Night in the Valley" as accompanied by Mrs. Douglas Polter.

Pallbearers were John McCormick, Charles Paulsen, Howard D. Hansen, Ross Van Fossen, Paul Ebmeier and Melvin Smith. Burial was in the Laurel Cemetery.

Survivors include two nieces, Mrs. William Mathwig of Sioux City, Ia., and Mrs. Kenneth Suter of South Sioux City, and one nephew, Gene Collins of Brownsburg, Ind. He was preceded in death by his parents and two brothers.

Stacks and Stacks and Stacks
STUDENT LIBRARIANS Lori Grashorn, Susan Schwartz and LaVonne Francis, from left, arrange books before they are placed back on the shelves in the middle school library. The library has been remodeled over the past several weeks, with new carpeting, shelves and paneling being installed. The remodeling makes the room much more inviting for the young students, especially because the new shelves are their height, says librarian Fannell Bennett.
