

Mystery Child Finds Captive Audience at Laurel School

Keith Edward Chace, wherever you are, little do you know how you held a captive audience in the palm of your hand for about 45 minutes last week.

Answering the ring of the pay phone at the Laurel Public School lunch room shortly after noon Wednesday, a student was surprised to hear a youngster say, "Come and stay with me."

Suspecting a possible emergency, the student, a lunch room aid, the school nurse and the superintendent tested their wits to keep the child on the phone long enough to discover who he might be.

A tracer put on the call by the phone company turned up no evidence other than that the call was most likely from out of town. How far is anyone's guess.

What the worried group at the school did learn was that the five year old's name is Keith Edward Chace, his father's name is Bob, a baby brother's name is Scott and an older brother Steve is in the first grade.

The boy said he lives in a big white house with a station wagon parked in front. He does not live on a farm. An elderly lady lives next door.

He said his grandmother's name is "Grannie." "Barbie" cuts his hair. His father works at a packing house.

He could not give his telephone number, the name of his town (they had just moved) or the name of his school. His teacher is Mrs. Bell.

School personnel did discover that the child's mother had that morning taken the baby brother to the hospital after he had swallowed aspirin. Keith returned home at noon to an empty house and an empty stomach. He picked up the phone and began dialing.

Was the little guy just playing with the phone? Did he only need the reassurance of a friendly voice? Was he hurt? In trouble? There are still no answers.

Board Officers Picked

Ray Roberts Jr. of Carroll was elected chairman of the Wayne County extension board at a meeting Monday. He succeeds Lyle Krueger of Winside, chairman for 1972.

Elected to succeed Warren Hiltgrew, 1972 vice chairman, was Deivin Mikkelsen of rural Wayne.

Firemen's 'Fine Work' Limits Fire Damage

Volunteer firemen from Wayne and Wakefield are getting the credit for limiting damage in a fire at The Maxi Cafe in Wayne late Monday night.

The fire, which apparently started in the kitchen area, did several thousand dollars damage to the cafe, but most of the destruction was limited to the rear half of the building.

Holes were chipped in the roof of the cafe, located at 117 Main St., as firemen tried to get water into the building.

Both Peterson and Pintelman said the firemen did an excellent job in limiting the damage considering that the building had a false ceiling above the origin of the fire. In another area of the cafe there were two false ceilings where the fire was burning.

"They did a heckuva job," said Pintelman. "It could have got into the ASC building or the apartments above, if real easily."

There was extensive fire damage to the rear half of the cafe, which has been operated by Darold Kraemer of Wayne since about the middle of last year.

There was considerable water and smoke damage to the rest of the building.

Budd Bornhoff, owner of the building, said he presently plans of remodeling the building.

Filled with smoke during the fire were the buildings on each side of the cafe, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation building on the north and Dob's Lounge on the south.

Ray Butts, executive director of the ASC office, said he and others worked during the fire to remove files, records and equipment from the ASC office in case the fire spread.

Churches Aiming at Cooperation

Named to a steering committee during a meeting on church cooperation Monday night in Wayne were the Rev. Doniver Peterson of St. Paul's Lutheran Church and the Rev. Robert Haas of United Presbyterian Church.

The two Wayne ministers join two others on the committee—the Rev. Lowen Kruse of Norfolk, district superintendent of the Methodist Church, and the See CHURCHES, page 6

2 Power Plant Officials Not Worrying. . . for Now

Power plant officials in Wayne and Wakefield are breathing a lot easier these days.

Why? Because their generating plants are back on natural gas, reducing the threat of a fuel shortage for the time being.

Both Norbert Brugger, superintendent of the Wayne plant, and Dick Hansen, superintendent at Wakefield, were faced with the possibility of running out of diesel fuel only last week.

The Wayne plant could have run out of fuel eight days before the end of February at the rate it was burning fuel last week, Brugger said.

The Wakefield plant early last week had only about four days of fuel on hand before getting a load of 6,600 gallons from its oil supplier the middle of the week, according to Hansen.

Wayne went back on natural gas early Saturday afternoon and Wakefield was supplied with natural gas about noon Sunday.

Brugger said the city's supplier of diesel fuel will permit the city to use any of its oil not burned this month during February.

If the temperature doesn't drop and the plant continues burning natural gas for several days, there should be some excess oil to carry into next month, he said.

Hansen summed up their situation: "We're sitting pretty good now, but let's hope it doesn't get too cold."

If the temperatures do drop and the plants are cut off natural gas again, they would be back in about the same position as last week, they agreed.

Both superintendents said households and businesses should try to cut down on their use of electricity.

Allen High School, which last week faced the possibility of shutting down or curtailing classes because of a fuel shortage, now has enough fuel to operate, according to Superintendent Gail Miller.

He said more fuel was obtained for the school, giving it enough to operate the rest of the month.

Wakefield Man's Arm Torn Off in Mishap

Wakefield elementary principal Derwin Hartman remains in intensive care at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Sioux City following a power take off accident on a farm near Carroll in which Hartman had his left arm torn off and the other one fractured.

He also suffered cuts on the face and reportedly had one ear torn off. Doctors sewed his ear back on, it was reported.

Hartman was helping his brother-in-law, Carl Christensen of Laurel, shell corn about 11 a.m. Saturday when the accident occurred. Hartman reportedly was climbing onto a tractor when he slipped and fell into the power takeoff.

Science Meet Set Tonight For Students

An informal math and science discussion will be held this evening (Thursday) at the Wayne State College Carhart Science Hall, according to Robert Perter, president of the Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science.

The accident happened on the Lester Boyce farm about three miles north and a half mile west of Carroll.

The meeting is being sponsored by the WSC science department and will provide an opportunity for students to consult informally with instructors. The science hall will be open for the benefit of those who would like to tour the building.

WSC instructor Harlan Pankrat is in charge of arrangement. See SCIENCE MEET, page 6

Credit for Saving Life Goes to Winside Vet

A Winside veterinarian is credited with saving the life of a Wayne area farmer Fred Heier after he collapsed and stopped breathing on his farm Friday afternoon.

Dr. N.L. Diltman massaged Heier's chest and gave artificial respiration when he and John Claus went into a barn and found Heier collapsed on the floor.

Heier had stopped breathing and no heartbeat could be detected, according to his son, Darrell.

Dr. Diltman's efforts revived Heier, who was taken to the Wayne Hospital by ambulance for treatment. He remains hospitalized.

Heier, 69, and Dr. Diltman were chasing a cow in the barn yard when he fell down the first time. He got up and then went into the barn to open the door so the cow could be chased in.

When Heier never opened the door, Claus, who was on vacation from veterinarian school in Kansas and helping Dr. Diltman, went into the barn and found him on the floor.

"We're just lucky somebody was present who knew what to do immediately or he might have died before medical help arrived," his son said.

Dr. Diltman said he worked on Heier for about 10 minutes before getting him partially revived and breathing fairly regularly again.

"I've seen similar things happen," he said, "but nothing this serious. I was lucky that John was with me so he could call the ambulance while I massaged Heier's chest."

Allen Expands Courses For Second Semester

Students at Allen High School are getting a chance this semester to expand their knowledge in different fields with the addition of new courses.

High School Superintendent Gail Miller said the purpose of the new courses is "to meet the needs of all the students."

Miller explained that such courses as beginning and advanced constructions, basic electricity and electronics, plus mechanized agricultural a r e aimed at giving students not bound for college a chance to "experience and experiment" in various skilled jobs.

"Part of our philosophy," Miller pointed out, "is that our kids should have some skilled training in school so they can make wiser career choices."

Among some of the other courses are business law, speech and drama, and girls' shop.

The new courses began this week.

Stealing Signs Means Kids Can't Use Sleds

Youngsters in Wayne may find it harder to sleigh ride safely the next time there is a snow, according to a city official.

Vern Schulz, street commissioner, said this week that somebody has stolen two of the sawhorse signs used to warn motorists that youngsters use hills for sleighing.

"We can't afford to keep buying this equipment because each sawhorse, sign and blinking light costs about $50," he said.

"If they are stolen we have to cut down on the number of hills where kids can sleigh," he added.

The signs have to be special ordered each year, according to Schulz, and that takes time. If they come up missing, the city usually just quits putting signs out at some of the sleigh riding hills, he said.

Anybody stealing the sawhorses tossed in an alley or some other place should call the city street department or the police, Schulz said.

Local Pastor Resigns

The minister at First Baptist Church in Wayne, Rev. Frank Pedersen, has resigned his post effective April 1.

Rev. Pedersen, who also serves as pastor-supply of the First Baptist Church in Ober, said his plans for the future are indefinite. "We have several possibilities, but nothing has jelled yet," he said.

When he resigns, Rev. Pedersen will have served the local church for two months short of nine years. Before coming to Wayne he was minister of a Baptist church in Kammer, N.D., for about nine years.

He was active in the Wayne Housing Authority from 1951 to 1967, serving first as temporary secretary, later as vice chairman and finally as chairman. He resigned from the authority last fall.

Rev. and Mrs. Pedersen have three children. Their oldest daughter, Mrs. Ruth Hansen, is a graduate of Wheaton College in Illinois. Her husband is a graduate of Wayne State College. They live in Westlake, Ohio, but will live in Sioux City by February, where he will be associated with a money lending agency.

REV. FRANK PEDERSEN
The Pedersen's daughter, Rebecca, is a graduate of Wayne State College and is now an elementary school teacher in St. Paul, Minn.
Their son, Robert, is a sophomore at Bethel College and Seminary in St. Paul.

Rural Family Helps Put Oriental Touch on UN-L

A bit of oriental culture is blossoming at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Agriculture.

And a rural Wayne family can take pride in having a hand in it.

The family is Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sorensen, swine producers who live two miles north and one west of Wayne.

The Japanese trainee who spent a year at the Sorensen farm learning practical agriculture is among the approximate 73 Japanese students who began their study at UN-L Monday.

The trainee is 27-year-old Seikio "Motto" Tokomoto.

He and the other 72 students from Japan will live and study at the Hall of Youth at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. They are part of a larger group of about 170 trainees who are currently in the United States as part of a two-year work-study program in agriculture.

The Sorensen family has been involved in the program since 1965 when the first Japanese trainee came to live with them. "Motto" is the sixth one to train at their farm.

The Japanese Agricultural Training Program, sponsored in the U.S. by the National 4-H Club Foundation, is in its sixth year at Nebraska. The program at NU started with 35 trainees in 1967.

During their stay at NU, the Japanese students will be concentrating on the areas of beef, dairy, swine and poultry production. The non-credit short course will involve the students in an in-depth study of animal agriculture from production to utilization.

In addition to examining U.S. agriculture, the trainees will also be exposed to American culture in a variety of ways. Often the students become involved in student organizations and share their culture with community groups.

They will study at UN-L until April when they will return to their host farms and ranches for about two months. Then they will tour the East Coast before leaving for Japan in July.

The unique aspect about the work-study program is that it is basically self-supporting. After a one-month English course when they arrived in the U.S. in July of 1971, the entire group of Japanese students worked in large groups in the fruit areas of Oregon, Washington and California. This enabled them to earn money for their study in the U.S. and at the same time get accustomed to the American way of life.

In January last year the study group joined the first host farm families to a U.S. farm. Sixteen of the students came to Nebraska while the remainder lived with families in Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Oregon and Washington.

Although the trainees return to Japan, several from past groups have returned to NU to work toward degrees in agriculture.

The Sorensens aren't going to be thrown into confusion now that their Japanese youth has left the farm—however.

A seventh trainee, Kiyoshi "Nelson" Ogata, 23, arrived late in December to spend a year with them.

Program To Honor Ingalls

The I-H Council of Wayne County will hold an open house reception honoring county agent Harold Ingalls, who will retire at the end of February, serving as county agent since 1951.

The open house will be held Sunday, Jan. 28, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Wayne city auditorium. A short program will be held at 3 p.m.

The public is invited to attend. See INGALLS, page 6

Minister Speaks At Club Meet

Guest speaker at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Wayne Federated Woman's Club meeting was the Rev. Robert H. Haas from the United Presbyterian Church. Pastor Haas chose for his subject the probable trend of religion in the next few years.

Thirty-five members turned out for the meeting which opened with group singing of "America" and "My Faith Looks Up To Thee." Mrs. Lella Maynard, a member of the Title "11 Community Council, reported on the progress of Project Success in the Wayne-Carroll School system.

Dan Sherry spoke to the group on the possibility of getting a Community Improvement Program going in Wayne.

Plans were made for the annual Federated Woman's Club Arts and Crafts Contest to be held at the local level Feb. 9. Winners will be eligible for district and state competition.

Next regular meeting will be Jan. 26 at 2 p.m. Hostess Friday were Mrs. Minnie Ulrich, Mrs. Mabel Sorensen, Mrs. John Thiel, Mrs. Raymond Starman and Mrs. Lee Caawue.

Memorial Read At BC Meeting

A memorial for a former member, the late Mrs. Henrietta Baird, was read at the Jan. 5 meeting of the BC Club.

Eight members attended the meeting, which was held in the home of Mrs. Warren Baird. Roll call was answered with childhood memories and cards served for entertainment. Prizes went to Mrs. Richard Carstens and Mrs. Melvin Korn. Mrs. Carstens will host the group's 2 p.m. meeting Feb. 2.

Kathy Reinhardt

Making plans for a February wedding are Kathy Reinhardt and Warren Podany. The engagement and approaching marriage have been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Reinhardt, Wayne.

Miss Reinhardt will graduate this spring from Wayne Carroll High School. Her fiancé, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Podany of Pilger, is a 1970 graduate of Pilger High School and a 1972 graduate of Millford. He is presently stationed at Fort Dix, N.J. for National Guard basic training.

Wedding Bells To Ring

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Harley Olson of Carroll have announced the engagements and approaching 1973 wedding dates of their daughters.

Marcia Lee Olson, who is presently teaching in the West Lincoln Elementary School, Lincoln, will be married Feb. 3 to Savas Erozer, of Belmont, Mass.

Miss Olson is a 1967 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and graduated in 1971 from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, where she is affiliated with Alpha Phi Sorority.

Her fiancé received his BA in social psychology and an MA in clinical psychology from the Istanbul, Turkey University. He received his MA and PhD in education from the Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., where he is affiliated with Phi Kappa Delta. He is currently doing research and working as a teaching assistant at Harvard where he is a candidate for his doctorate. The couple will be living in Cambridge.

Nina Olson, who will be a 1973 mid-term graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School, will be married May 26 to Brian Dean Erdmann of Madison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Erdmann of Crofton. Miss Olson is employed at Farmers State Bank of Carroll. Her fiancé, also a WHS graduate, works for Madison Foods, Inc.

Jayne Bruns

The engagement of Jayne Bruns of Wayne to Dr. Edgar T. Clemens of Stillwater, Okla., has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malvin Bruns of Wayne.

Miss Bruns is employed as a secretary by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Her fiancé, who is the son of Mrs. Emerson F. Clemens of Grayslake, Ill., and the late Emerson F. Clemens, is on the staff of Oklahoma State University, in Stillwater. No wedding date has been set.

Grocer Speaker At AAUW

Bill Reeg, local grocer, appeared at the Jan. 11 supper meeting of the American Association of University Women, explaining to the group how to buy and prepare meat successfully.

Thirty-four members turned out for the meeting which was held at the WSC Student Center. Guests included Mrs. E. I. Roberts, Mrs. Phil Griggs, Mrs. Darrel Rahn, Marilyn Sims and Mrs. Bill Reeg.

The meeting was concluded with a short business meeting. Mrs. Eena Adams, home economics instructor at Wayne State College, has consented to speak at the March 8 meeting of the AAUW. Her topic will be "Good Techniques of Consumer Buying and Consumer Problems."

Guests at the meeting will be residents of Villa Wayne, where the meeting is scheduled to take place. A salad and sandwich lunch, to be prepared by members, will be served. Hostesses will be Mrs. Lou Lutz, Myrtle Anderson and Claudia Bruce.

John Epperson Gives Slide Presentation

The Rev. John Epperson, pastor of the Wakefield Christian Church, has consented to speak at the March 8 meeting of the AAUW. His topic will be "Good Techniques of Consumer Buying and Consumer Problems."

Seven Attend Circle

Seven were in attendance at the Naomi Circle meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran Church Jan. 8. The group met in the home of Mrs. Paul Baier with Mrs. Ida Myers as leader. The lesson was taken from the book of "Amos." Mrs. Jewel Cavanaugh will have the lesson at the Feb. 12 meeting. The group will meet with Mrs. Hans Rethwisch.

Couple Wed at Home of Bride

The generously falling snow of Jan. 3 did not alter the plans of Karen Kay Willis and Phillip Wayne Kelton to be married that afternoon. A small group of friends and relatives gathered at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Willis, for the 2 p.m. double ring rites. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Kelton. All are of Wayne.

Candles and floral arrangements set the mood for the ceremony. A background of piano selections was provided by the bridegroom's brother, Harry Kelton of Cambridge, Mass., who also served as best man. The Rev. Frank Pedersen of the First Baptist Church officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length skirt of gold velvet with a cream colored crepe blouse for her wedding day. She was attended by her sister, Mary Willis of Wayne, who selected a white crepe blouse with a red floor-length skirt. A younger sister, Kristy Ann Willis, was flower girl. She wore a navy blue top with floor-length blue print skirt. Flowers were red roses.

The bride's mother and the mother of the bridegroom also chose floor-length skirts. Mrs. Willis' a navy blue with pale blue blouse, and Mrs. Kelton's in a wine color with cream blouse. The men were attired casually in turtleneck sweaters and slacks.

The wedding cakes, which the bride and bridegroom had prepared themselves the day before the wedding, was served to the 15 guests at a reception which followed the ceremony.

The couple's new home is at 625 S. 14th St., Apt. B 3, Lincoln.

The bride, a 1967 graduate of Wayne High School and a 1970 graduate of Wayne State College, attended the University of Lyon in France from 1970 to 1972. She is currently a graduate assistant at the University of Nebraska and is working on her master's degree in French.

The bridegroom was graduated in 1966 from Wayne High School and received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Nebraska in 1970 and his master's degree there in 1972. He is currently employed as an instructor in the University computer science department.

Mick Carlsons Home In Lincoln Apartment

Now at home at 634 A. St., Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Mick Carlson who were wed in Saturday evening rites at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Mrs. Carlson, nee Gloria Joan Hix, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hix of Wayne. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Donna Meier of Wakefield and the late Walfred Carlson Jr.

The wedding party included Jennifer Samuli as maid of honor and Cinda Owens as bridesmaid. Both are of Carroll. The bridegroom's attendants were Rick Ginn and John Meyer of Lincoln.

Tammy Jo Carlson of Wakefield, the bridegroom's sister, was flower girl and candles were lighted by LaRee Jones of Carroll and Amy Echtenkamp of Omaha. Ushers were Steve Hix of Carmel, Calif., a brother of the bride; Brad Carlson of Wakefield; a brother of the bridegroom; Dick Todd of Lincoln and Larry Grono of Wayne.

The Rev. Doniver Peterson officiated at the double ring rites and Bob Barr sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Peterson. All are of Wayne.

The bride's gown was a long-length empire style of frost white velvet, featuring an A-line skirt, full, bishop sleeves caught to wide cuffs and lace trim. Matching lace edged her floor-length mantilla which cascaded from a demi crown and she carried a French cascade of pink bridal roses, lavender azalea blossoms and white stephanotis.

Her attendants wore floor-length dresses of purple crepe which were trimmed at the neckline, yoke and sleeves with white embroidered lace. They wore lavender stephanotis and pink azaleas in their hair and carried French nosegays of pink bridal roses.

The bride's mother chose a pink and white floor-length gown of double knit and Mrs. Meier chose a floor-length dress in lavender.

Guests were registered by Shelly Carlson, sister of the bridegroom. Gifts were arranged by Linda Gust of Wisner, Emilie Lamp of Wayne and Jean Smith and Jeri Deras of Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Morris of Carroll and Mr. and Mrs. Don Carlson of Wayne served as hosts to the reception which was held at the church parlors following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pryor of Wayne and Mrs. Henry Langenberg of Winslow, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Al Carlson of Winslow and Mrs. Gilbert Dangberg of Wayne poured and Julie Overin of Wayne served punch. Waitresses were Mrs. Steve Mrsny of Wayne and Mrs. Al Thomson of Wakefield.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Wayne Carroll High School and is in her freshman year at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. The bridegroom, also a WHS graduate, served three years in the U.S. Army and is employed in Lincoln.

Mrs. Elder Has 88th Birthday

In observance of her 88th birthday, Mrs. Myrtle Elder, planned a festive afternoon for members of the Wayne Senior Citizen Center Friday afternoon.

A bouquet of fresh yellow mums, a gift from Mrs. Elders' daughters, centered the serving table and the tables were set with nutcrups, ice cream and cake were served to all present, and the guest of honor was treated to the traditional birth day song.

The hostess recited some of the poems she had written at age 17 including "Oh! The Joy of Morning in Spring."

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Pedersen showed their slides from Denmark and members participated in a sing-a-long, accompanied by Teresa Stenwall at the piano. An old fashioned dance to stereo records followed.

On the serving and clean up committee were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Pedersen, Mary Kieper, Ruth Wright, Leona Bahde, Gladys Petersen, Ann Nelson, Mary Echtenkamp and Joceli Bull.

Couple Wed in Denims

In spite of current trends, the Adams Geiger Dec. 30 wedding was originally intended to be traditional. But that day's blizzard altered plans somewhat and the guests and members of the wedding party who braved the weather did so in blue jeans and coveralls.

The ceremony, scheduled for 7 p.m. that evening, was held at 4:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Allen. The Rev. J. B. Choate of Ponca officiated at the rites uniting lone Linda Adams and Jerry Ben Geiger.

Attendants who were able to be present were Mrs. Dale Strivens of Allen, sister of the bride, Kathy Chapman of Lincoln, Charles Geiger of Fremont, brother of the bridegroom, and Ray Brellinger of Allen. Karl Stark of Jackson, who was the flower girl, was also present.

Janice Kraemer of Norfolk, Scott Stalling of Concord and Jeff Cravin of Dixon, who were also in the wedding party, did not make it for the ceremony, but appeared with the others, this time in full wedding regalia.

Recent Bride Is Honored Sunday

A miscellaneous bridal shower honoring recent bride Mrs. Darrell Junck was held Sunday afternoon in the Paul Brader home, Carroll. Mrs. Junck is the former Ronda Karnes.

Hostesses were Mrs. Paul Brader, Mrs. Arnold Junck, Mrs. Ernest Junck, Mrs. Gilbert Sundahl, Mrs. Dale Clausen, and Mrs. Charles Junck Sr.

Debra Brader and Cheryl Karnes assisted with gifts. About 30 guests attended. Judy and Patty Brader of Sioux City conducted pencil games. Prizes were won by Mrs. Dean Junck, Mrs. Ray Junck and Mrs. Roley Isom.

The honoree received a corsage from the hostesses, Ronda Karnes and Darrell Junck, who were married Dec. 29 at Yankton, S.D., are making their home in Laurel. The bride groom is employed there by McCorkindale Implement.

Wallins Wed Saturday

The marriage of Karen Wallin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winton Wallin of Laurel, to Michael Wirth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wirth of Wakefield, was solemnized in 2 p.m. double ring rites Saturday at Concordia Lutheran Church, Concord.

The Rev. Clifford Lindgren of Concord officiated at the ceremony. Candles were lighted by Renee Wallin of Laurel and James Wirth of Wakefield. Music consisted of "Wedding Song," and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," sung by Pam and Mary Nelson of Laurel who provided guitar accompaniment. Organist was Beth Bergt of Wayne.

Maid of honor was Nancy Wallin of Laurel, a sister of the bride. Another sister, Janis Wallin of Laurel, and a sister of the bridegroom, Sherry Wirth of Wakefield, were bridesmaids. Best man was Gerele Johnson of Wakefield and groomsmen were Bryan Reinhardt of Wayne and Jon Wirth of Wakefield. Dan Bard of Wakefield and Dale West of Cherokee, Ia., ushered.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown of white velvet, fashioned with long sleeves and Venice lace trim. Matching lace trimmed her long mantilla and she carried a French nosegay of white pompons, purple statice and pink bride roses.

Her attendants wore purple double knit jumpers in floor-length with long-sleeves blouses of light lavender. Each carried lavender mums and baby's breath.

The men wore gray luxedos trimmed in black with gray striped trousers and black ties.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wallin chose a floor-length gown of crepe with purple print bodice and gold purple skirt. Mrs. Wirth's dress, also in floor-length was of lavender knit. Both had white cymbidium or chids.

Julie Wallin of Laurel registered guests and Teresa Duhr of Sioux City, Ia., Mrs. Phil Fisher of Curtis and Gerald Luhr of Norfolk arranged gifts for the reception which was held at the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Bard of Wakefield greeted the 130 guests. Mrs. Dale West of Cherokee and Mrs. Glen Green of Wakefield cut and served the cake and Mrs. Wallace Magnuson of Laurel poured. Mandy Anderson of Wayne served punch.

Waitresses were Denise Magnuson of Laurel and Rachel Bard of Wakefield.

Assisting at the serving table were Mrs. Iner Peterson and

Club Has Tour Of Greenhouse

Members of the Roving Gardeners Club toured the Wayne Greenhouse at the close of their Jan. 11 meeting which was held in the home of Mrs. Roy Albertson. Eight members attended the meeting, answering roll call by explaining their methods of feeding birds in during winter.

Mrs. George Biermann gave the bird study and Mrs. Clara Barelman had the lesson on pruning in the garden and yard. An original poem, "1973 Wishes and Resolutions," was read by Mrs. Chris Tietgen.

Plans were made for a therapy workshop to be held at Wisner Manor Feb. 9. The next regular meeting will be Feb. 8 with Mrs. Barelman.

WSC Coed Majoring In Industrial Education

Industrial arts classes have a new look. Margaret Hansen of Randolph is majoring in the "manly art" of Industrial Education.

A fanatical women's liberator, she is not to be bothered by the prospect of disrupting classes? No, Miss Hansen's interest stems from a desire to enter the Peace Corps. She made note of the fact that Industrial Education, coupled with another major in Spanish, will come in very handy in the Corps.

Miss Hansen commented that she felt there will be many openings for the particular skills she is learning. She noticed there were mixed reactions from the men toward her presence in class. One positive change was a noticeable reduction of unbecoming language in classes she attended.

Her decision to enter I. E. began as a friendly banter between Dr. Niel Edmunds and herself. Now it has developed into a serious undertaking.

After graduation and two year stint in the Peace Corps, Miss Hansen hopes to pursue her chosen field, hopefully in a larger school.

As far as anybody on the Industrial Education faculty can remember, Miss Hansen is the first coed to major in I. E. at Wayne.

Hansen's TKO Highlights Smoker

Many of the 330 persons who attended the Wayne County Jaycee boxing smoker Saturday night anxiously awaited for the main event between area favorite Vaughn Korth and heavy-weight Stan Holan of Verdigré.

But another hotly-contested bout took the spotlight when Wayne's Bruce Hansen TKO'd Norfolk's Dennis Shumaker.

"This is the first time I've ever boxed," Hansen admitted after the fight. "It wasn't exactly what I thought it would be," he added. "I thought there would be a little more fitness to the sport."

Hansen came out in the first round and literally mauled Shumaker with punches to the face and body.

Often, the Norfolk native was pinned against the ropes as Hansen continued the pounding.

Both men, battling in the 160-pound class, came out in the second round ready for action. But Hansen, in his relentless pursuit and aggressiveness, caught Shumaker with a hard left that forced referee Dale Hixon to end the match.

Hansen, who also plays defensive back for the Wayne State College football team, hopes to continue fighting for the Wayne team and enter the Golden Gloves tournament in Norfolk Feb. 16-17.

In other action involving Wayne men, Jerry Ferricks lost a decision to heavyweight Jim Majerus of Petersburg.

Majerus, who weighed in at 235, dwarfed 184-pound Ferricks. After the first round, Majerus began to slow down, allowing Ferricks to sneak in and out for the body punches that led to the decision went to Majerus.

Jim Neiman, also of Wayne, lost his bout to experienced Mark Hofman in the 132-pound division.

Holman, took control of the match with his quick jabs to the head and stomach while Neiman tried to counter with his body punches.

This is the second time the two have met. Holman was victorious in the first match also, dropping Neiman's record to 2-1. Saturday night Neiman's record evened out to 2-2.

In the main event, Vaughn Korth of Blair captured the first round but tired out during the remaining two to lose his bout.

Korth, formerly of Wayne, came out swinging in the first round, delivering body blows to the face that stung Holan for a brief moment. But the lack of regular workouts became evident as Korth tired in the last two rounds.

Another hot contest matchup kept fans on the edge of their seats when Gary Bauer of 126-Randy Sigmors, Petersburg, scored in the 155-pound division.

132-Garth Bauer, Neligh, beat Jim Schragge, Petersburg.

132-Mark Holman, Verdigré, beat Jim Neiman, Wayne.

Athlete of the Week

Allen High School

Stan Perry

On the court, Allen's Stan Perry seems to be a dynamo of energy — constantly weaving in and out of the opponent's defense while creating havoc with the opposition's defensive guards.

Last Friday, the 6-1 senior pumped in 17 points against a highly-regarded Ponca team, a big reason the team won the contest, 59-53.

As a result Perry has been named the latest "Athlete of the Week."

When it comes to playing basketball, the Sioux City Central transfer doesn't brag about what he can do, said head coach Robert Moore. "He does it."

"Perry is the kind of player that makes coaching easy," Moore stated. "He's attentive and willing to learn," he added, "and doesn't fly off the handle."

After his first outing this year, Perry has settled down to some hard shooting. In the first encounter against Coleridge the hustling Eagle could only connect on one basket during the entire game. But he has come alive in the remaining seven games for a season average of 14 points a game.

"It might seem hard to believe," Moore pointed out, "but Stan, with all his quick and fancy moves on the court, is rather quiet."

"But," the coach added, "he doesn't have to say much — his shooting and playing does it for him."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Silvia says his talents when it comes to clutch free throw shooting, too.

In Friday's game, Moore called Perry's converted free throws in the closing seconds of the game as the winning margin.

"There's no doubt about it," he said, "when we were up by four his two shots gave us a lot of breathing room."

Wildcats Grab Share of Throne

At NW Missouri Grappling Meet

They made it to the throne this year, the Wayne State wrestlers who have finished second three times at the Northwest Missouri State Tournament.

This time the two teams deadlocked with 64 1/2 points to beat out defending champion Western Illinois University, the favorite to win again. WIU garnered 60 points while host Northwest Missouri scored 52. Upper Iowa 40, Westmar 32 1/2, Northeast Missouri 7.

Three Wayne wrestlers won championships. For Ken Monroe it was the third in four visits to Maryville. The other year he finished second to a referee's decision. Ken dethroned Mike Van Horn of Northwest, 50, in the finals this time.

Jim Meyer of Wayne won at 126 pounds, outpointing Greg Hutchinson of Upper Iowa, 6-2.

Tom Luth provided the extra points that proved decisive for Wayne. The 158 pounder, in his first action of the season after returning to school this term, collected extra points for his major decision in the first round. He went on to a pin victory in the second round, then added another pin in the final tussle, decking Joe DePaulo of Western Illinois in 3:51.

Kersten encountered a first-round foe familiar to Wayne wrestling — Max Branum, former Wildcat star now at Western Illinois. Branum always a whirlwind, hand Kersten a 17-0 loss. In fairness to Kersten it should be noted that he fought at 142 this time, two weights above his usual 126. He did not go at 126 because Meyer defeated him in pre meet matches.

Kersten went on to third place with a 3-0 decision over Dave Peters of Northeast Missouri. Branum won the 142 title.

It is interesting to speculate what the team scoring might have been if Wayne's 190 pounder, Denny Reid, had not suffered a dislocated right elbow in the second round. First seeded, Reid might well have won at least one more match to give Wayne winning points.

Wayne's next meet will take the Wildcats right back to Maryville, Jan. 23 for a dual with Northwest Missouri.

Wayne State cagers shot above their normal pace but could not match the torrid shooting of Hastings College Monday and fell victim to the Broncos, 83-75, at Hastings.

The Broncos, 13-1, put 60 per cent of their field shots through the hoop while the Wildcats were hitting 46.5 per cent.

Wayne Coach Ron Jones said it really was a closer game. His 12 point spread suggests. His Wildcats came off a 42-38 half-time disadvantage to pull within two points about five minutes before the end. Then a three-point Hastings play sent the Broncos on a spree, aided by Wayne's ball-streeling efforts which netted the hosts six free throw points in the late going.

Dennis Siefkes set a couple of season records with 27 points — one over his previous high — and 12 field goals. Jim Merchel was the only other big Wayne point producer at 18 while Hastings had five hitting from 12 to 23.

With the loss slipping Wayne down to 9-5, the Wildcats entertain conference rival Peru State Friday night at 7:30 in Rice Gym. The junior varsity plays at 5:30. Peru, 5-7, overall and 1-1 in conference, edged Doane Tuesday night. Wayne owns two wins over Doane.

A three day respite between Monday and Friday action was a welcome relief to the Cats, who played five games in nine days, starting with Kearney Jan. 6.

Saturday night Wayne tripped over a stubborn Dana quint, fired up as always when they meet the Wildcats in Blair. It might have been a psychological lull after six straight wins. But whatever, the Cats saw an 11-point second half lead evaporate into a 76-72 loss.

Siefkes and Merchel led the attack with 24 and 20 points — Merchel's high for the year.

Smaller Wausa Team Hits Winside, 50-42

The Winside Wildcats, unable to take advantage of their height, dropped their eighth game of the season Saturday night to Wausa, 50-42.

Coach Jim Winch's taller club trailed throughout most of the game, 11-7 after the first quarter, 25-16 after the second and 38-28 going into the fourth.

"It was a pretty evenly matched game," Winch pointed out. "But they converted their shots more often than we did."

The Cats shot 71 times and converted only 19 for 27 per cent while the Vikings hit on 21 of 41 attempts for 51 per cent.

Senior Larry Weible, team leader with 20 points, ripped the net for eight goals and was four out of the five at the charity stripe.

Both teams played a relatively free game with Winside committing 12 personals and Wausa eight.

"It was kind of a change," Winside coach Ed Traverser said. "We play a smaller club. In fact it was kind of a shock," he added.

In preliminary action, the Cats also lost, 41-31.

Norman Libengood laced the nets for 13 to grab the high scoring mark for his club as the Wildcats dropped to a 1-7 record.

Friday night the Cats will take on Wynot at Hartington, the second meeting for both schools. Earlier, Winside knocked off the Blue Devils for its only win, 38-20.

"There's no doubt about it," he said, "when we were up by four his two shots gave us a lot of breathing room."

Coach Duane Blomkamp's squad then coasted the second half for the win.

Last week the freshmen found the going a little more difficult when they ran up against a strong Norfolk club, losing 56-48. Wayne will meet Norfolk again Jan. 29 in the city auditorium.

Next week, the squad will participate in the Schuyler tournament, facing Schuyler at 6 p.m. Monday.

According to Blomkamp, if the players win Monday night they will play Thursday night and have the right to play in the final Feb. 1. The tournament runs on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday of next week with the finals the following week.

Other freshmen teams involved in the meet are Columbus Lakeview, David City, Fremont, Bergan and Columbus Scotus.

SDSU Tankers Take Wayne

Wayne State Swimming Coach Roger Bentley had a chance Saturday to do some experimenting as his team defeated South Dakota State University, 64-49, at Brookings.

He shuffled his swimmers into unaccustomed events, and they still won nine of 13 — probably would have won the final 400 yard freestyle relay, except that Bentley declared his entry as exhibition. That means they swam, but not for points.

Bob Floerchinger accounted for a pair of Wayne firsts, in the consecutive 200 individual medley and the 200 butterfly — both of them firing races. The Just brothers won three — Dave the 200 freestyle and 200 backstroke, Rick the one-meter diving.

Also getting first for Wayne were Dan Carney in the 1,000 freestyle, Doug Krecklow, 50 free; Jim Batten, 100 free; Mitch Feeder, 500 free.

The Wildcats were scheduled for a dual with Concordia Wednesday night at Seward. Saturday they will make an annual trip to the Grinnell Relays.

Wayne State cagers shot above their normal pace but could not match the torrid shooting of Hastings College Monday and fell victim to the Broncos, 83-75, at Hastings.

The Broncos, 13-1, put 60 per cent of their field shots through the hoop while the Wildcats were hitting 46.5 per cent.

Wayne Coach Ron Jones said it really was a closer game. His 12 point spread suggests. His Wildcats came off a 42-38 half-time disadvantage to pull within two points about five minutes before the end. Then a three-point Hastings play sent the Broncos on a spree, aided by Wayne's ball-streeling efforts which netted the hosts six free throw points in the late going.

Dennis Siefkes set a couple of season records with 27 points — one over his previous high — and 12 field goals. Jim Merchel was the only other big Wayne point producer at 18 while Hastings had five hitting from 12 to 23.

With the loss slipping Wayne down to 9-5, the Wildcats entertain conference rival Peru State Friday night at 7:30 in Rice Gym. The junior varsity plays at 5:30. Peru, 5-7, overall and 1-1 in conference, edged Doane Tuesday night. Wayne owns two wins over Doane.

A three day respite between Monday and Friday action was a welcome relief to the Cats, who played five games in nine days, starting with Kearney Jan. 6.

Allen Stays on Top of Clark Division With Win Over Walthill

Number 1 Allen of the Clark division of the Lewis and Clark Conference hung on to the top spot Saturday night with a rough and bruising win over Walthill, 68-59.

Scott Von Minden took scoring honors with 10 buckets and two out of three at the free throw line for 22 points. But the hot shooting junior also finished the game with another reminder of the rugged match — a black eye.

"This was literally a hard-fought contest," coach Robert Moore stressed

Cash, Checks Missing From Wakefield Firm

A pouch containing $1,208.57 in cash and checks was stolen Monday morning from the True Value Hardware in Wakefield.

According to Dixon County sheriff Dean Chase, the pouch contained $106.16 in cash and the remainder in checks, to Peoples Natural Gas Co. Chase said that Mrs. Cecil Rhodes, part owner of the store which serves also as a collection agency for the gas company, placed the pouch on the desk top and walked away. When she returned a short time later she discovered the pouch missing.

An employee at the store, Pauline Hank, told the sheriff that her billfold containing $30 was also missing.

On the same day, 11 trading stamp books valued at $1,375 were discovered missing from the Milton G. Waldbaum Co. They were taken sometime between Saturday afternoon and Monday morning, the sheriff said.

Although the books were found in a parked pickup behind the plant Monday evening, the investigation is continuing.

CHURCHES —

Rev. Charles Kurtz of the West Point United Church of Christ.

The committee will outline the agenda for the next meeting of the group, scheduled for Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the local United Presbyterian Church.

"The purpose of the meetings is to work toward mutual cooperation between denominations whenever possible," said the Rev. Haas.

Present at the Monday night session were the Rev. Folmer Farstrup, assistant to the president of the Nebraska Council of Lutheran Churches, and the Rev. Willard Lampe, Presbyterian Synod staff representative. Both men are from Omaha.

Representatives from the Lutheran Church of America, the United Methodist Church, the United Church of Christ and the United Presbyterian Church, in attendance from Norfolk, West Point, Verdell, Plainview, Creighton, Randolph, Alliance, Clarkston, Tekamah and Wayne. Twenty-four turned out for the session.

SCIENCE MEET —

Presentations will be made by college students with projects completed last term or those currently involved in setting up projects.

The sessions, which have been held for the past year and a half, usually draw about 40 to 60 students and approximately 20 instructors.

OFFICERS —

Mrs. Cyril Hansen of Wayne, who replaces Mrs. Norman Wichman of Pender.

New board members taking office for a three-year term beginning this year were David Johnson, Wakefield; Mrs. Melvin Wilson, Pender; Merrill Baler of Carroll, Dwayne Rethwisch, Wayne, and Phillip Scheuchrich, Hoskins.

Carry-over board members in addition to the elected officers are Lyda Krueger, Winnside; Warren Holtgrew, Winnside; Stan Baler, Wayne; Marion Glass, Winnside; Larry Wittler, Randolph; Mrs. Leo Hansen, Wayne and Keith Owens, Carroll.

Meeting with the board was Cal Ward of Wayne, district extension director, who discussed replacing county agent Harold Ingalls when he retires at the end of February.

Fun in the Snow

Mental Health Meeting Subject

Persons in the Wayne area interested in mental health are invited to attend a meeting of a steering committee seeking to establish an area-wide association for mental health in this part of the state.

The meeting, the fourth one of the committee, will be held in Neligh Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The meeting will be at the public library.

Once formed, the area-wide association would be affiliated with the Nebraska Association for Mental Health and would serve as a communication tie between the three local mental health associations.

The local association serving the counties of Wayne, Dixon, Dakota, Thurston, Knox and Cedar is the Northeast Nebraska Family and Community Affairs Council, Inc. The other groups it would work with are the Mid East Mental Health Clinic, Inc. and the North Central Mental Health Association, Inc.

The steering committee is composed of persons from Northeast Nebraska who have as their ultimate goal the promotion of good mental health. The committee will review the first drafts of the articles of incorporation and the by-laws for the proposed association. It will be a voluntary non-profit organization.

Aim of mental health associations on local, state and national levels is to promote good mental health, to develop a coordinated citizens voluntary movement to work for the improved care and treatment of the mentally ill, and to support development of improved methods and services in research, prevention, detection, diagnosis and treatment of mental illness.

The local associations for mental health in Northeast Nebraska have been promoting mental health by activities such as disseminating information about mental health, developing additional mental health services and giving all day programs and workshops on peoples' problems.

Anyone wanting more information about the local mental health associations or the steering committee should contact Mrs. Jane Ford, Mental Health Educator, Northeast Mental Health Clinic, Norfolk.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION

Notes

by Anna Marie Kreifels

Do you really need a new car? Remember that a car's value depreciated 25 per cent the first year you own it. Studies show that the most economical trade-in time is at the end of three years, or 60,000 miles, whichever comes first.

If you decide to trade, there are some "seasonal" guidelines to help you get the best buy. A good time to buy a car is during a snow storm or a blizzard. Few people would think of visiting an auto showroom at that time.

Reader Opinion Forms Flow into Newspaper is satisfying the readers with its news coverage in Wayne and the area.

Results of the spot survey will be released as soon as they are compiled.

Readers who have not sent back the forms are urged to do so as soon as possible. Persons who did not receive the form but who wish to fill one out should call or stop in at the newspaper office.

"Although we haven't gone through all the forms yet, some patterns are starting to show," said Marvin Hansen, editor.

"For example, the best read part of the paper seems to be the editorial page," he said.

"Almost everybody reads the letters to the editor and the editorials."

"It's also interesting to note that the public notices printed in the newspaper get very high readership," he said.

FNC Meet Is Friday

FNC members met in the home of Mary Echtenkamp Friday evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Echtenkamp and prizes at cards were won by Amos Echtenkamp, Gilbert Krallman, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fuoss, Mrs. Ed Meyer and Irene Gerwe.

February 2 meeting will be in the Lavern Harder home.

February Plans for Mrs. Jaycees 1-3 Year Term

A Clarion, Ia. man, Terry Russell, 22, was sentenced to Nebraska penal complex last week during a district court hearing at Wayne County Courthouse. District Judge Merritt Warren of Creighton sentenced Russell to one to three years for four counts of forger.

In other action, Daneil J. Jensen, 17, of West Point, was placed on 18 months probation for breaking and entering a vehicle on Oct. 31, 1972.

College's 3rd Annual Music Clinic Saturday To Attract 12 Schools

Wayne State's third annual Stage Band Clinic will bring 12 high school bands to the campus Saturday for a day of playing and criticism.

Dr. Lee Mendyk, Wayne State director of bands, said each stage band will have a 30-minute period to present a program of pop music and also to play under the direction of guest clinician Dr. Neil Humfeld.

Each band will receive a taped criticism from Dr. Humfeld, professor of music at East Texas State University. He is known as one of the finest trombone soloists in the country.

During the day Dr. Humfeld will perform four solos with the Wayne State concert band after rehearsing with it Friday evening.

The public is invited to attend the clinic any time during the day long activity. There will be no admission charge.

Schools and band directors who will participate: Walthill, Mark Cripps, Pen-

$512,200 Road Budget Gets Commissioners' Nod

Grading and equipment buying head the list for the one and six-year Wayne County street improvement program adopted by the county commissioners during a public hearing Tuesday.

By a unanimous vote commissioners Floyd Burt, Ken Eddie and Joe Wilson approved the $512,200 budget for the 1972-73 fiscal year.

The budgets for the rest of the years," said county clerk Norris Weible, "will average about $550,000 a year."

Included in the program expenditures are $543,000 for 1973-74; $539,500 for 1974-75; $521,500 for 1975-76; $569,500 for 1976-77 and $585,000 for 1977-78.

According to Weible, the increased cost for the final two fiscal years is due to expected increases in costs for labor and materials.

Among some of the projects scheduled for the program are:

1972-73
—Grading for Sholes road an estimated cost of $40,000 with half the cost to be paid with federal funds.

1973-74
—Rebuilding two bridges at an estimated cost of $26,000 for each project. One bridge is located five miles west and three and three quarters south of Wayne; the other is five miles west and three and three quarters south of the city.

1973-74
—Grading near Winside, $40,000.
—Purchasing three dump trucks and a maintainer, $90,000.

1974-75
—Grading near Carroll at an estimated cost of $40,000.
—Buying two maintainers valued at $30,000 each.

1975-76
—Grading near Winside, no estimated cost given.

1976-77
—Construction of a federal aid secondary road from Allona four miles east at an approximate cost of $60,000.

1977-78
—Grading of a three-mile stretch of road four miles south of Wayne, $140,000.

OSHA Seminar Slated

Businessmen, farmers and others in the area interested in learning more about the controversial Occupational Safety and Health Act, (OSHA) are invited to attend a one-day seminar in Wayne next week.

The seminar is scheduled for Thursday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Les' Steak House. Cost of the seminar is $5 which includes luncheon.

Conducting the program will be a representative of the U. S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

Discussed during the day will be responsibility of the employers under the act, how standards are applied, what happens when a business is inspected and industrial operations.

Sponsoring the seminar are the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, Small Business Administration and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

A loan officer from the seminar will answer questions regarding SBA's role in assisting businessmen to meet requirements under the law.

Persons wishing to attend the seminar should contact the Chamber office, since the seminar will be limited to the first 50 to register. Persons also may register the morning of the seminar at Les' Steak House.

Lions Aim Efforts at Farmers

The Wayne Lions' Club will continue its efforts to expand its membership beyond the city limits at next month's meeting.

Members will invite area farmers to the Feb. 20th meeting, continuing a practice started last year to sign up farmers around the area in the club.

President John Vakoc said during Tuesday night's Lions meeting that last year's efforts were successful in getting farmers into the club.

Wayne Youth Breaks Leg in Skiing Mishap

A Wayne youngster is all home with a broken leg as a result of a skiing accident at Esterville, Ia., Saturday afternoon.

Timmie Thomas, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thomas, broke his left leg between the knee and ankle in the accident at the ski resort.

The accident happened when another skier fell in front of him, forcing him to turn away onto ice. He fell when he hit the ice.

Young Thomas, a fifth grader at Wayne middle school who recently finished a short skiing course at school, was hospitalized at Esterville overnight and returned home Sunday.

He went on the skiing party with the Jack March family of Wayne.

There are varying degrees of hearing losses. Just because a person can hear "enough to get by" does not mean his hearing ability is normal they add.

Police Searching for Hit and Run Driver

An unidentified driver was involved in a four-vehicle accident about 10 a.m. Monday when the vehicle he was operating struck two parked cars which in turn struck a parked pickup.

According to the Wayne police department, a vehicle turned onto Second Street from Logan when it crossed the center line and hit the two autos in front of Carywell Auto car lot. The pickup involved belonged to Roger Heftl of rural Wayne.

About 3:45 p.m. the same day a car operated by Natalie Stevers, 516 E. Fifth, exited from an alley near the 100 block on East Third when it struck a westbound auto driven by Timothy L. Charlton of York.

On Tuesday a parked car owned by Beverly Junck of

Omaha TV Station Focuses on WSC

Students May Yawn, But Course May Be A Good Investment

A new course at Wayne State College just might be the savior of high school teachers struggling to put on a musical play but not familiar with both musical and stage techniques.

The course, Seminar in Musical Theatre, is the brainchild of Ron and Nancy Wachholz, husband-wife team who teach drama and speech at Wayne State. Between them they have acted in or directed some 30 collegiate musicals, as students or teachers.

They already have about 20 Wayne State students enrolled in the course, but can take more enrollments through this Friday. It is a senior-graduate level course with three hours credit.

There is an unusual feature about the class. It meets, at night from 9:30 to 12:30 on Thursdays.

Why so late? Because most of the students are busy in drama and music, and that's the only time they all could make the class.

The Wachholz team designed the course to:

—Help non-theater teachers learn the problems of casting a musical, choosing the right singers and the appropriate instruments to accompany them.

—Help non-theater teachers learn techniques of staging a play.

—Help teachers who are not actors, musicians or choreographers learn enough to make a musical look good.

—Study a variety of popular musicals, read the scores, analyze their production problems and so learn how to choose a musical that fits the available student actors and musicians.

Officers Take Over Monday At Allen Meeting

New officers who took over at the Monday evening meeting of the Allen Community Development Club are Herb Ellis, president; Richard Schaeffer, vice president; Mike DeBorde, secretary; and Bill Louisa, treasurer, program and Clair Schubert, lot.

The men were elected at the board of directors meeting Saturday morning at the Home Cafe.

Named to head committees were Cliff Golch, membership; Richard Schaeffer, program; and Bill Haas, treasurer, program and Clair Schubert, lot.

Small Group At Workshop

A small group of persons turned out last week for a workshop at Wayne State College aimed at explaining the Golden Rod Hills Community Action Council.

Outlining the programs available to the counties served by the council was Don Ralston, community program development coordinator from the office in Wallkill.

Jane Ford, public health educator from the Norfolk Regional Center, explained the mental health service center that operates in Wayne and the purpose of the Norfolk-based center.

Also speaking were Pat Dahl and Alita Thies, who explained the summer food program and the job exchange program. Marie Herrmann, who runs the senior citizens centers at Carroll and Winside, also spoke to the group.

WSC Represented At UN-L Meeting

Wayne State College was among 17 Nebraska colleges, technical schools and universities who met at Lincoln Friday for a follow-up meeting on pre-engineering instruction in Nebraska.

Last summer, Nebraska college representatives attended a two-week workshop at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln on the instruction of freshmen engineering courses in pre-engineering programs at technical community, state colleges and universities.

The meeting was designed to provide an open line of communications with the various colleges, advise seminar participants on freshman engineering courses and develop means whereby first rate pre-engineering programs are available on these campuses.

A NICE GIFT can be made by wrapping decorative bottles with Swiss straw. Mrs. Fred Dangberg displays some of the bottles she has wrapped since starting the hobby.

Job Officer Coming Here Next Week

Persons in the Wayne area with questions or problems concerning employment will be able to talk to a representative of the Norfolk employment office when he is in Wayne next week.

The representative will be in the basement of the Wayne County courthouse on Wednesday from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

According to the Norfolk office, the labor supply in the 14-county area served by the office continued a seasonal increase through December.

A total of 1,227 persons were seeking employment through the office at the end of December compared to 948 registered job seekers at the end of November and 1,153 at the close of December in 1971.

The largest increase of applicants was seasonal construction workers laid off due to winter weather, according to an office spokesman.

Nonagricultural job openings received from employers during December totaled 142. This compares with 238 openings received during November and 98 received during December.

1971-The month closed with 38 openings left unfilled.

Placements made by the office during the month totaled 146, 13 of which were on farms and ranches. That figure compares with a total of 136 placements in November and 85 in December 1971.

Car Experts Agree: Wash Your Car If You Don't Want Rust Holes

By BOB BARTLETT
During warm weather many car owners like to give their cars a good washing to bring out that new car look. But to keep that new car look requires a lot of washings—even during cold, blustery winters.

Wayne's street superintendent Vern Schultz, points out that Wayne does not use salt on its streets to melt the ice, but some salt is used in gravel poured on the streets.

"We don't use any pure salt," he explained, "because the city council has banned it." Instead, he continued, the department scatters gravel along all the streets in Wayne except state highways running through the city.

According to a Department of Roads street pure salt is used on most of the state roads to melt snow and ice. Occasionally, he pointed out, the department will use chlorine mixed with salt when it is needed.

But what does a car owner do when he spots the white, flimsy substance on his car? Wash it.

That is the answer given by the three car dealers in Wayne and a number of filling station owners.

"There is no solution," said Fritz Ellis of Coryell Auto, "outside of washing your car."

Ellis added that waxing your car also will help, but the biggest help is to wash the car. "Somebody may want their car undercoated," he said, "but this doesn't necessarily help."

Undercoating is primarily used to prevent the squeaks in the car, he explained.

Ellis went on to say that new cars are better built today and therefore may not rust as easily.

"The problem of rusting generally stems from rock chips in the paint or a poor paint job," he said. "When there's a hole in the paint, water is able to penetrate to the metal and the result is a damaged car."

Service station managers also agree that washing is the best way to prevent rust.

Bob Mericant, Merchant Oil Co., and Ed Grashorn, Phillips 66, pointed out that if a person is going to wash his car, they should make sure to "get all the salt off."

People who don't have the medical insurance part of Medicare because they didn't enroll during the first three years they were eligible now have a new chance to enroll, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

"Previously," Branch said, "you had to sign up in an enrollment period that began within three years after you became eligible for the medical insurance—or within three years after your protection stopped because you cancelled. The three year deadline is eliminated by the new law."

These people, he said, now can sign up for medical insurance in any general enrollment period—January, February and March of every year.

The basic premium is now $5.80 a month. But, Branch said, the monthly premium increases by 10 percent for every 12-month period you could have been enrolled but weren't.

Under the new law, disabled people newly eligible for Medicare benefits and almost everyone who reaches age 65 after June 1973 will automatically be enrolled for the medical insurance part of Medicare unless they say they don't want it.

If they do decline the protection," Branch said, "and later decide they want it, they can enroll at any social security office during the first three months of any year."

The medical insurance part of Medicare helps pay for doctor bills and other medical services. Funded by individual premiums and general revenues of the federal government, Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Before sending in your 1972 federal income tax return, check it over to see if you have left anything out, says the Internal Revenue Service.

A quick check of your return may eliminate errors that delay refunds and slow processing, the IRS says.

Richard Vinal, district director of IRS for Nebraska, said that taxpayers who make a final check before mailing their returns often find deductions or items they have omitted or catch errors in arithmetic that need to be corrected before the return is filed.

Vinal also urged citizens to use the pre-addressed, peel-off label from the front cover of the tax forms packet on the tax return they file with the IRS.

Income tax returns with these labels attached can be processed quicker and with far less chance of error. If for any reason the name, address, or social security number on the label is incorrect, make a correction through the wrong item and insert the correct information so IRS can correct its records for next year.

Saw-Tooth Polka

MUSIC TO SAW BY. F. L. Cadwell, 89, strums away with his saw and bow, entertaining many listeners Monday at the Lil' Duffer. According to Cadwell, a Wayne resident, he started playing his "musical saw" when he was 16. "My brother and I were sawing wood when I discovered the saw can make a different sound, so I began to learn how to play it," he said. In addition to his saw, Cadwell also plays the harmonica. He plays at the Lil' Duffer and a few other places whenever the mood strikes him. He just enjoys playing his unusual instrument for others, he says.

Tax Booklet May Help Area Persons
A booklet that gives information on how to fill out federal income tax returns is on sale at the Wayne post office.

"Your Federal Income Tax" was written by the Internal Revenue Service, and contains examples to illustrate how tax laws apply to actual situations.

A special feature of the booklet is the sample, filled-in return. From 10,000 copies of the booklet, where explanations can be found for each entry on the return.

The booklet costs 75 cents. Another popular publication, "Tax Guide for Small Business," is available from the Norfolk post office for 75 cents each.

This publication answers many questions businessmen have about federal income, excise and employment taxes. It also contains a 1973 tax calendar with due dates for various tax information returns and payments.

Through the success of Ak-Sar-Ben's agricultural, charitable and educational programs, we have been able to share with our good neighbors across Nebraska the rewards of our efforts and activities.

To date, this means Nebraska is $5,068,517 richer.

Here's how it was shared:

Newsman writes: Public's right to know isn't a freedom for the press, it's a 'people' freedom

The writer of this article, Bob Plakerton, is president of the Nebraska Press Association and publisher of the Western Nebraska Observer at Kimball.

His defense of the law requiring public bodies to publish minutes of meetings, ordinances and other public notices is a reply to a clerk of a small village who asked if the public meeting law passed in the last Legislature is fair to villages. The article appeared in the December issue of The Nebraska Municipal Review.

As commendable as it is to save taxpayers' money, I would maintain that in the long term, public notices actually save money.

Laws upon which our country was founded went to great lengths to provide protection from government becoming omnipotent while cloaked in secrecy. Checks to such a secret government were provided in many ways, not the least of which are public notice laws protecting the private citizen from his government and affording him certain guarantees.

Our government is the most open in the history of the world. It was designed that way, by wise men who knew the error of a closed government. Government must be bathed in the spotlight of public scrutiny if it is to have its greatest chance at being honest and efficient. Public notice laws help make government more efficient, more open in its dealings, more cost-cutting in its conscience.

The framers of our constitution were quick to envision the value of public notice in keeping government the public's business. After all, government is public and its administrators must never forget its obligation to the people it serves: openness, accountability. Yet each day there is a chipping away at the protections laid down by our constitution and subsequently written into our laws.

Public notice can be traced back to the days of Julius Caesar. Historically, notice via newspapers is the most acceptable and usually the most desirable way of informing citizens.

Public notice has two basic functions: To provide an accounting of public stewardship for citizen trust, and to inform about a contemplated action before action is taken.

"The Watchfulness of the Citizen is the Salvation of the State." Inscribed upon Nebraska's capitol, words which certainly envelope the purpose of public notice.

Public notices are sometimes like fire insurance: They aren't needed because there is no fire; yet they are offering protection just the same.

Your school board or city council is most likely completely honest, efficient, fair. By publishing minutes and invoices the public is afforded a look at the operation of the public entity. Without operating in this watchful scope, would the school board or council be tempted to spend more money out of town? Would it become careless in its expenditures? Would it be that much more removed from public attention and thus operate with less regard for the public? I think the answer is almost certainly yes. Not in any one particular district or city. But in some districts!

It is possible that a public notice may not be read by a single person and yet do its job, just as surely as the closed circuit television camera in the bank lobby is doing its job, even if it's a dummy model. The fact that it is there is its value. One could halt all public notices and government would continue to run much as it had for weeks, months, perhaps years. But I sincerely believe that under this umbrella of non-accountability it would be only a matter of time until a "public be damned" arrogance would replace integrity and service.

Recently under the guise of "streamlining of government" there have been attacks on the ideals and institutions behind public notice. Unfortunately, well-meaning public officials and legislators sometimes do not perceive the value of public notices and think of them as unnecessary expenses and simply "plums" for newspapers.

The public must have access to the government process, to permit otherwise it is to draw the wraps of secrecy ever tighter around government. And when ultimately it is unwrapped by a much wiser populace, the government will have become an unmanageable leviathan, too powerful to contain; a master, not a servant.

It behooves all of us who are interested in good government to ward off incisively any attacks on the people's right to be informed. But curiously there are too few defenders of public notice today. Save for legislators who have studied its worth, the only others who voice an outcry when public notices are pared are publishers. And they are thought to be selfish, greedy men interested only in the dollar.

Those things which help make this country great and which serve to safeguard the system—however seemingly unimportant in themselves—should not be allowed to be lost to erosion by well-meaning people. The public's right to know, to be informed, to be advised, is not a press freedom, but a "people" freedom.

Public notice laws which protect and inform should be defended not alone by newspapers but equally vigorously by the public and by government itself!

Capital News Terrible Terry delivers on his vow to be a whirlwind as he tackles first issues

By MELVIN PAUL
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
LINCOLN—Floor action during the first two weeks of the 1973 Legislature was fitful.

The senators took off Friday of the first week and Thursday and Friday of the second, saving their rationed work days for a time when there might be more to do.

The lawmakers are limited to 90 working days by the Constitution and the activity during the first two weeks was too limited to waste, the senators decided.

But that didn't mean there was a lack of legislative action, even if it did take place off the floor.

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter, who had promised to be a whirlwind when the Legislature elected him chairman of the Executive Board, was living up to his advance billing.

He was busy putting the Carpenter stamp on a variety of activities.

First, he launched a move to hire more staff to provide research for the senators and to investigate the possibility of getting home-district office space to improve senatorial relations with the constituent.

Next, he battled to keep the Nebraska Educational Television Network producing daily, half-hour programs on legislative activity. There was opposition to the programming—approved last month by Legislative Council at Carpenter's suggestion—but Carpenter was insisting they be continued.

Although ETV officials had said there would be as much as $60,000 in additional costs to produce the programs, Carpenter said they later reversed themselves.

"I explained it to them in my usual diplomatic way and they changed their minds," the senator explained to reporters.

Next, Carpenter dove into the issue of computers for state government, arranging an appearance before the Executive Board of all state agencies with data processing equipment.

During this meeting, Carpenter announced that he had taken it upon himself to have computer experts hired by the Council of State Governments come to Nebraska to study data processing facilities and help decide whether the state ought to accept one of the three bids to replace the present central data processing equipment.

Carpenter conceded he hadn't been given authority to make the arrangements by the board, but none of the members objected. The senator said later the consulting costs could run as high as $100,000.

Gov. J. J. Exon, meanwhile, said he had been caught by surprise by the Carpenter action.

He said he had met with Carpenter the day before and pledged his cooperation in legislative probing into the computer issue. Exon said he gave Carpenter a letter to this effect and asked the senator to read it to the board. Carpenter didn't read the letter, and the governor later released it to the press.

In his letter, Exon said he had been "amazed at opposition in some quarters to the state even considering competitive bidding" on computer equipment.

During the meeting, Carpenter and other senators, however, said they considered Nebraska's data processing system to be one of the best in the nation and that the bidding had "disrupted" the operation.

What's more, Carpenter offered, no other company could provide better equipment than the one used by the computers now used for the central data processing.

Carpenter wound up the meeting by telling officials of the major state agencies using computers to get busy coordinating their activities to provide a uniform and unified system.

He said he wanted a report on their progress in 30 days and follow-up reports every 30 days thereafter.

Penal Pricetag Revealed
Carpenter wasn't providing all the out-of-session news.

The Judicial Committee, headed by Lincoln Sen. Roland A. Luedtke, staged a briefing to which all lawmakers were invited to report on the recommendations prepared by consultants on the state correctional system.

The report included proposals for increased emphasis on probation and parole—with the result that populations in the prisons would be reduced—and for new buildings which would cost a total of $30.5 million over a seven-year period.

New penitentiary and reformatory buildings would be constructed in Lincoln and a reformatory was tabbed for Omaha, along with diagnostic-evaluation centers in both cities.

We need those questionnaires

Now is the perfect time to make yourself heard if you have a complaint, suggestion or compliment you want to make about The Wayne Herald.

Just fill out one of the reader opinion forms we mailed out last week and let us know exactly what you think of the newspaper. If you didn't get one when we sent out the survey to nearly 2,000 homes, just call us up on the telephone or stop at our office and we will make sure you receive one.

The reader opinion survey should give us a better idea about how we can make the newspaper even more readable than it now is.

The forms are set up so it takes only a few minutes to fill one out. You just make checks to tell us what regular news items or features you read. There is space for comments on general news coverage and room to make suggestions or criticisms.

It is always difficult for persons on a newspaper to know if the paper is doing everything it can to satisfy the readers. Occasional comments by readers give a hint about the quality of the paper, but they are too few to use as a yardstick.

The survey we are now conducting should give us a much better idea. If our readers will take a few minutes to help us conduct it.

Sign stealing can be stopped. Neither do we.

However, we hope that if somebody sees the signs being stolen or knows somebody who has the signs or blinkers in their room that they report it to the police.

Although unlikely, it is possible that stealing signs could result in an accident and injury to some unsuspecting child. We hope that doesn't happen. We hope whoever is responsible for stealing the signs keeps that in mind the next time they have an urge to decorate their room or pull a prank.

What does it cost to build a new school or fix the streets in your town?

The public has a right to know what it costs to build or improve a street or building in your town. Your local newspaper is the publication where you find that information.

For centuries, people have recognized the right of the community and of the individual to be put on notice.

Many citizens don't understand what a legal notice is, or why they're printed in your local newspaper. Many people don't read them until it's too late.

Legal notices keep a citizen informed on all school, city and county action by official bodies. Legal notices also give a citizen an opportunity to do something about some proposed action that may affect his rights.

Your local newspaper is a long established medium for such notices as provided by law or by official designation. And, it's one of the many public services provided by this newspaper.

'Better Start Early If You Want Tax Credit, Refund'

Are you planning to file for your food sales tax credit or refund by April 15? If so, it's a good idea to get started early, says Roy Stohler, Dixon County agricultural agent. You may contact the Nebraska Department of Revenue in Lincoln to receive a form for your food sales tax credit, he advises. Those thinking about filing may find answers to the following questions helpful, Stohler says. Who is eligible for tax credit? Every Nebraska citizen who has been in the state for six months is eligible for the tax credit of 10 per cent exemption after filing the form, including Nebraskans who did not make enough money to pay state income taxes. They are still entitled to the food sales tax credit since this arrangement is used instead of exempting food from the sales tax. When are these claims due?

Taxpayers should file claims for refunds on or before April 15. If you did not file a state income tax return, you should request the proper form from Nebraska Department of Revenue and claim your refund. If you filed a state income tax return but failed to include the food sales tax credit, you must file an amended form to the state income tax. This form is also available from Nebraska Department of Revenue. If you failed to file for your food sales tax credit or refund in past years, you are still entitled to that credit. Contact the Nebraska Department of Revenue in Lincoln and inform them of your situation. How much credit or refund will you receive? This depends upon the number of exemptions you can claim. Exemptions include yourself, spouse and dependents. Generally, a dependent is anyone for whom you provide over half of their support. May the dependent's food sales tax credit be claimed by both the parent and a child who earned enough to file a return? No. The food sales tax credit of 10 is supposed to cover the tax paid on food during the year. Therefore, each individual is entitled to only one credit or refund per year. May an elderly person receive the food sales tax refund if he does not pay any state income tax? Yes. Senior citizens are entitled to the refund of the sales tax they have paid on their food, now set at $10. However, remember that you must file the proper form with the Department of Revenue to receive this refund. May an elderly person receive the food sales tax credit if he is in a rest home or institution? It depends. If the home or institution is exempt from paying taxes on food and the elderly citizen is a resident of the home or institution for more than six months, he will not receive the food sales tax credit. On the other hand, if the home or institution is not exempt from paying food sales taxes, he will be entitled to the $10 food tax refund. Also, if he is a resident of an exempt home or institution for less than six months, he may file for the food tax credit. The food sales tax credit is designed to lessen the impact of Nebraska's general sales tax upon low-income persons and families without the complications of exempting food from the tax. Its effectiveness requires that taxpayers know how it works and how to claim the credit or refund, Stohler concludes.

 HERE'S WHAT DISCOUNT WITH A DIFFERENCE MEANS

Our Discount with a Difference offers many savings on the wide variety of high quality meats, poultry and other foods which help to build Safeway's reputation.

When we converted to our new, wide-ranging changes in operating methods, these changes, which included new pricing methods and the elimination of numerous non-handling expenses, reduced our cost of doing business. Our savings were immediately reflected in substantial price reductions. We introduced our everyday low level prices which helped to make the discount program so popular and effective. With low prices in effect all week long, there was no longer need to postpone shopping until the weekend. Low level prices gave our customers added incentive to buy large quantities of their food needs. With shopping spread more uniformly throughout the week, and throughout the store, our whole business became more efficient. We increased our stock levels and improved the possibility of errors at check out.

Savings on our cost of doing business continue to be reflected in the prices of change as well. Shop Safeway for the finest foods and a low total food bill. That's Discount with a Difference.

fertilizers when applied to the soil surface. Nitrogen losses are most serious when atmospheric conditions induce high evaporation (high temperature, low relative humidity and wind), soil PH is over 7.0 and residue prevents the fertilizer from contacting the soil.

Ammonium nitrate is least subject to volatilization losses of the nitrogen fertilizers commonly surface applied. Urea is generally considered to be the most subject to ammonia volatilization losses.

All nitrogen sources are considered essentially of equal value when properly applied at equal rates of nitrogen.

In most instances, nitrogen should be incorporated into the soil. This does not mean that nitrogen will be lost if it is not incorporated, but the probability of volatilization loss of ammonia is greatly reduced or eliminated with proper timing of incorporation.

Nitrogen solution sprayed on the surface or dry pellet nitrogen fertilizers bulk spread should be incorporated as soon as possible, especially when applied to the surface of high PH soils or soils containing large amounts of residue.

When incorporation is not possible, as with topdressing grass pasture or wheat, dry ammonium nitrate is theoretically the preferred nitrogen source. Urea is not recommended for surface application without incorporation on soils with nitrogen 7.0. With conducive atmospheric conditions, large amounts of ammonia volatilization can occur within a few hours after surface application of urea.

Androus ammonia is most suitable for soils in good physical condition that are not extremely sandy or contain large amounts of clay. Ammonia losses can be great if soils are too wet or too dry. Such losses may be especially high when placing ammonia less than six inches deep in very clay soils or very dry sandy soils.

Losses of androus ammonia can be substantially reduced by shortening the spacing between knives. Reducing the knife spacing from 40 to 20 inches reduces the amount of ammonia application at each knife point by one-half. Reducing ammonia application at each knife point greatly reduces loss potential under all application situations.

Cover Helps Wildlife

FARMERS IN WAYNE COUNTY interested in providing cover for wildlife could take some tips from this planting, says the Soil Conservation Service office in Wayne. The planting is just east of the municipal airport and runs about 1,800 feet from Highway 35 north to Logan Creek. The planting, made by Don Johnson, manager of the airport, consists of three rows of trees and shrubs which provide cover and feed for rabbits, pheasants and other wildlife. Fields of corn and grain sorghum adjacent to the planting provide additional food, and the creek plenty of water.

Cow, Calf Clinic at Concord Is Aimed at Making More Profit

Producing more profit per calf and cow will be the theme of a beef cow-calf clinic to be held Thursday, Jan. 25, at the Concord grade school auditorium.

The evening clinic, co-sponsored by the animal science staff of Nebraska's Cooperative Extension Service, and Midwest Breeders, Inc. will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Topics to be discussed during the first session will be practical performance programs for small herd owners, nutrition of the cow herd during wintering and breeding and development of replacement heifers.

Jim Gosey, University of Nebraska extension beef specialist, will visit with producers on these topics as well as discuss breeding systems designed for getting the most heterosis or hybrid vigor from commercial crossbreeding programs.

Cow-calf expansion opportunities for Nebraska producers also will be discussed by Gosey.

Midwest Breeders representatives will kick off the second half of the program by visiting about several items related to cow-calf profit. These include color vs. characteristic in a breeding program; rules for a successful artificial insemination program, and how to use performance and progeny tested sires to make maximum genetic progress in a cow-calf operation.

Midwest Breeders representatives also will discuss managing artificial insemination in the herd. A discussion on equipment (corral and chutes) use and cost, heat detection methods, conception results and evaluation of calf performance will round out the evening program.

Ray Stotler, Dixon County agricultural agent will serve as master of ceremonies. Anybody interested in cow-calf information is invited to attend.

Charge batteries in an area that has free air movement. This prevents the build up of hydrogen gas to explosive proportions - four per cent by weight in air. Do not make any connections either to or from the battery while the charger is on.

When making connections with jumper cables to start an engine, connect to the fully charged battery last and make the final connection to the grounded terminal. Always connect negative to positive and negative to negative when using jumper cables. Otherwise the diodes in the alternator may be damaged.

Never use matches around a battery and be particularly careful when making a connection so a spark is not given off.

Control Pig Scours Increase Gains With Weaner CX Supreme

4x4 Weaner Supreme is now available with Mecadox, a new feed additive for swine developed by Pfizer, Inc. Pfizer research shows Mecadox will treat and control scours. When combined with 4x4 Weaner Supreme in trials conducted at Walnut Grove's Research Farm, the additive helped increase gains 6 per cent and reduce feed requirements by the same figure over a 26-day period. Let's put this formulation to work on your farm.

Rural Ramblings

Budgets, budgets, budgets — January seems to be the time for thinking about budgets.

During the year surveys and statistics are focused on politics, stocks, war, drugs and other national interests and problems. But January seems to be the time for balancing the budgets. Seems like the entire national economy is weighed against the farm income...policies and programs.

If the farmer had a successful year and livestock markets were higher than the previous year, the entire nation seems to think the farmer has become a millionaire. Therefore, everyone else should be getting more money for whatever he's doing.

The consultants and economists seem to forget that the surplus of that reasonable price for that one-time only abundant crop has to pay for the bank loans carried over from previous years.

Some of the statistics and reports given for the past year are facts, some are just educated guesses.

Unfortunately, the agricultural budget for the average farmer isn't usually determined as precisely as the federal budget. If the federal government has suffered budget deficits, caused by too many programs involving "relatively uncontrollable outlays," guess who gets the axe? It sort of works like that on the farm, too.

If your budget suffers "relatively uncontrollable outlays" such as a tractor overhaul job, exceptionally high death loss in your hogs or cattle, drought, combine breakdowns and so on, something else gets the axe.

Such as no new cement feeding floor this fall, fixing up the old wagon boxes rather than buying new ones, selling the grain rather than being able to buy more livestock and feeding it. Even the Mrs. gets the axe because her new carpet may have to wait until the budget balances.

It's a good thing the farmer has a few minutes during the winter months to read about all the things that affect his operation. He may not be able to pronounce some of the words but he usually reads them.

If the presidential budget is being balanced by increasing international exports of his product, the farmer knows this will affect his crop program for the coming year. Well, it may not affect him until next year but they are getting around to it.

But you aren't able to say we'll tax the pigs so much or the milk cows so much and know you'll be able to collect exactly that much money. You can make an estimate, but you sure have to be ready to make many drastic changes.

The only thing you can depend on in your budget is if you leave so many acres idle the government will give you back so many of those dollars you already gave him for taxes. That is, unless Uncle Sam decides he needs that money for some of those "uncontrollable outlays."

Gosh, it seems like you can't depend on anything anymore. It boosts your spirits to read about the farm outlook this year. Too bad they have so many ifs, maybes and depends on.

But then, so does your budget. You'd think that the president and all of his advisors could manage to balance their budget. They must have a lot of ifs, maybes and depends on, too.

Maybe if their professional economic advisors and your professional economic advisor would get together, they might get something done. But who would do the chores for the Mrs. while she was in Washington?

those "uncontrollable outlays." Gosh, it seems like you can't depend on anything anymore. It boosts your spirits to read about the farm outlook this year. Too bad they have so many ifs, maybes and depends on.

...you are reading this ad, then isn't it a safe assumption that others read Herald ads, too?

Proper Application
Nitrogen fertilizer is one of the lowest-priced inputs in relation to return available to the Nebraska farmer. But because of its relatively low price, producers often lack the incentive to do a proper job of nitrogen application.

While application methods may not always make it economical to reduce nitrogen losses to zero, producers should be aware of the conditions where large losses can occur.

Nitrogen fertilizers sold in Nebraska are primarily of three kinds: anhydrous ammonia, ammonium nitrate and urea (the latter two are available either dry or in solution). Aqua ammonia is less widely available.

Studies in Nebraska and other states have shown that ammonia nitrogen can be lost (by process called volatilization) from dry ammonium nitrate and urea
