

Chamber Dinner to Focus On Economic Development

If you've got questions about how communities go about attracting industry, you should plan on attending the Wayne Chamber of Commerce annual dinner Monday night.

Guest speaker at the dinner, scheduled for the Student Center at Wayne State College, will be Stan Matzke, director of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development.

"If anybody in the area has questions about such things as community development and attracting industry, they should be able to get them answered during the dinner," said Bill Workman, chairman of the annual event.

Also speaking will be George Newton of Fairbury, a businessman who has been active in helping his community develop and grow.

Also present will be Jim Bradley, director of the industrial development division of the economic development department.

The dinner is open to the public, with tickets selling for $4 each. It begins at 8 p.m.

"We're emphasizing that the dinner isn't just limited to Chamber members," Workman said. "We want as many people as possible to attend, because the chamber isn't just an organization for businessmen."

Theme for the dinner: "All roads in a successful city run through the Chamber of Commerce."

That theme was chosen, says Workman, because it points out that the Chamber is an important force in any healthy and growing community.

It is also points out that the most successful Chamber organization in one which represents all parts of the community, he added.

A good Chamber is one which has members from the schools, farms, businesses, city, county and private sectors, he said.

Helping promote the dinner are a seven-man committee. On the committee are Dennis Spangler, Keith Mosley, Willis Meyer, Harold Ingalls, Eldon Bareiman, Jim Evans and Dan Johnson.

Tickets should be purchased in advance, according to Workman, because only a few will be available at the door.

Persons wishing to purchase tickets should stop at the Chamber office.

Fire Destroys Trailer Home Near Hoskins

Fire gutted a trailer home about three miles northeast of Hoskins Saturday morning.

The trailer, which was located on the Ray Graves farm, belonged to Mrs. Janis Veeder.

Several thousand dollars damage resulted from the fire, according to volunteer fire chief Herman Opler of Hoskins. The trailer, approximately 50 feet long, was totally destroyed, he said.

Opler said the fire was probably started by the trailer's furnace.

Although Mrs. Veeder and her two daughters, Carol, 16, and Jamie, 12, were at home when the fire broke out about 10:30 a.m., there were no injuries, he said.

Teaching Toys

A GROUP of special education students in the Wayne-Carroll school system will have a bunch of new toys to use during the school days, thanks to a local business. Sears Catalog Store donated the toys to the Kiwanis Club, which in turn gave them to school.

George Gahl, manager of the store, said the display toys have gone to Omaha in past years but this year he decided to put them to use locally. "It was especially pleasing with the way they were used this year," he said. Displaying some of the toys — everything from boxing kangaroos to a talking clock — are Gene Biegelov, Kiwanian who helped distribute the toys, store employee Mrs. Darold Soden, and special education teacher Gertrude Vahkamp.

Zoning Variance Gets Board's Okay Monday

Wayne's board of adjustment Monday night approved a variance in zoning requirements for a plot of land on West Seventh Street which may be the future site of a new drugstore.

The property involved is on the north side of West Seventh just east of Lincoln. It is zoned for highway business.

Manny Goldberg of Omaha, who has an option to purchase the property, had requested variances in the zoning regulations which would have permitted him to construct a building up to the property line on the north and the alley on the east.

Zoning ordinances require that a business be set back at least 25 feet from any surrounding residential zone.

The board recommended that the 25 foot space be required on the north side, but it approved permitting construction closer to the alley. The building can now be located up to five feet from the alley instead of the nine feet required prior to the variance.

The board also approved Goldberg's request to allow parking in front of the proposed drugstore building. The double row parking would accommodate about 20 cars.

Goldberg, who owns several Keystone Drugs in the state, has proposed constructing a building 50 by 124 feet on the lot. It would be a one-story structure.

Ministers Asked To Help Plan Hospital Chapel

Guests at the Monday morning meeting of the Wayne Ministerial Association were Mother Imelda and Sister Mary Theresa, who spoke in the plans for the new area medical center to be built at Wayne.

The guests, representing the Missionary Benedictine Sisters of Norfolk, who will operate the proposed facility, asked for specific suggestions, from local ministers regarding the chapel and adjacent family room.

The Ministerial Association decided not to attempt a joint worship service on Sunday, Aug. 5, in conjunction with the Wayne County Fair, but expressed appreciation to the fair board for not planning fair activities to see CHAPLAIN, page 8.

Boy Scouts Will Collect Papers Soon

If you've been running out of space in those old newspapers, don't worry about it.

Boy Scouts from Troop 175 in Wayne will be around Saturday to collect the newspapers, the first paper drive since late in November.

Collections will be made in Wayne, Winslow and Carroll.

Persons who have stowed away old newspapers in their garage or basement since the last drive are asked to tie them into bundles and leave them on the curb early Saturday. Scouts will pick them up during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hamilton of Wayne are chairmen for this month's drive.

The Scouts sell the old newspapers for recycling, using the money for such things as summer trips.

Dates Set for Signing Up For Set-Aside

Feed grain producers in the Wayne area will be able to sign up for the set-aside program starting Feb. 5 and ending March 16, according to Ray Butts, executive director of the Wayne County ASCS.

There are two options for producers to consider, he said. They can either set aside 15 per cent or 30 per cent of their base acreage.

A producer who chooses the 30 per cent option is allowed to plant all of the feed grains he wishes. The payment rate per acre set aside is approximately 58 cents a bushel based on the farm's established yield.

Producers who choose the 15 per cent option are restricted on See SET-ASIDE, page 8.

Spotlight To Focus on County Agent

Harold Ingalls, who will retire in February after serving as Wayne County agricultural agent since 1951, will be honored Sunday at an open house at the city auditorium in Wayne.

The open house will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. A short program is scheduled for 3 p.m.

In his 22nd year as county agent, Ingalls came to Wayne after serving as county agent in Sioux County for five years. Prior to that he served in the Navy during World War II and served as agent at Greeley County for two years.

The public is invited to attend Sunday's open house.

Carroll Man Suffers Broken Legs in Crash

A Carroll man remains hospitalized in Wayne with two broken legs, the result of a school bus truck accident west of Wayne Monday morning.

Hospitalized is Perry Johnson, 65, driver of the Wayne-Carroll school bus which collided with a Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) truck three and a half miles west of Wayne on Highway 35 about 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Also injured in the mishap were two Norfolk men, Richard Duval, driver of the truck, and Gail Voss, a passenger in the truck. Both are 77 years old. Voss suffered a compound leg fracture. Duval suffered hand cuts and a possible knee injury.

Both of Johnson's legs were broken below the knee; he also suffered cuts and bruises.

There were no students aboard the school bus, which Perry was driving back to Carroll after taking a load of students to Wayne.

"We were very lucky the bus was empty," said Superintendent Francis Haun. "The accident could have been a lot worse."

The mishap occurred when the NPPD truck went off the south side of the highway as it was heading east, skidded back onto the road and collided almost head on with the west bound school bus, according to state patrolman David Headley.

The school bus skidded into the north ditch after the accident. The NPPD truck remained on the highway, partially blocking traffic for nearly an hour.

The highway was slippery from packed snow and ice; snow was blowing and drifting.

A fire truck from Wayne was called to the accident to wash gasoline off the highway.

Both vehicles were heavily damaged, Headley said.

Date for Bus Hearing Changed to Feb. 14

Monday's winter storm forced the State Railway Commission to postpone this week's public hearing in Wayne on bus service to February.

The hearing, originally scheduled for Wednesday, will be held Feb. 14 at 10 a.m. at the Wayne County courthouse.

Open to the public, the hearing has been scheduled by the State Railway Commission to hear viewpoints on the recent change in bus service between Norfolk and Sioux City by Arrow Stage Lines of Norfolk.

The company last summer changed its schedule for the bus running between the two cities, and protests to the state commission prompted the scheduling of the hearing.

The schedule now includes stops in Wakefield at 10:40 a.m. and in Wayne at 10:55 a.m. for the bus going from Sioux City to Norfolk. The bus stops in Wayne again at 12:30 p.m. and a Wakefield at 12:45 on its return trip to Sioux City.

Several persons in the Wayne area objected to the change, noting that the old schedule permitted persons to ride the bus to Sioux City early in the morning and allowed them enough time to do business there before having to catch the return bus about 6 p.m.

Now they have to stay overnight in Sioux City or Norfolk if they have to see a doctor or have business which takes time to complete, they said.

Automobile Registering Is Slow

Automobile and truck owners have 35 days to register their vehicles before the March 1 deadline, a Wayne County official notes.

So far only 1,700 of the 6,000 vehicle owners in the county have purchased their 1973 registration tags, said Wayne County treasurer Leon Meyer.

"If more people don't start to come pretty soon," they're going to have to stand in a long line," he warned, adding that See REGISTERING, page 8.

Jaycees Name Carroll Farmer OYF-R

A young farmer from west of Carroll has been named the 1973 Outstanding Young Farmer-Rancher by the Wayne County Jaycees.

Don Liedman, 31, will compete on a state level during the contest scheduled for Gering Feb. 3.

A 1959 graduate of Randolph High School, he was named the latest OYF-R by the Jaycees this week. He replaces Dick Sorenson, Wayne, a swine producer near Wayne who won the honor a year ago.

Winner of the state competition will advance to national competition at St. Paul, Minn., in March.

Bill Workman, who headed up the committee which selected the latest winner, said Liedman should stand a very good chance of winning at Gering next month. "His credentials are very good; and they will certainly catch the attention of the judges," he said.

Liedman, who lives just over two miles west of Carroll with his mother and father, was chosen on the basis of his

He farms about 900 acres of land and feeds about 330 head of cattle. Active in 4-H from the age of eight until he graduated from high school, he is now an assistant leader of the Blue See OYF-R, page 8.

Inside today...

What good are conventional livestock shows? Not much, according to a person who has been involved with them much of his life.

Harold Ingalls, Wayne County agricultural agent, says that "most of what is done at our conventional shows is a lot of hog-wash."

Let's Hear It Ladies

Is It a Man's World?

The article, "It's a Man's World," which appeared in the Jan. 15 issue of The Wayne Herald, has drawn numerous comments from women who disagree with results of the survey.

The survey was intended to discover whether Wayne women feel they are getting a fair shake in the world of business. About 15 working women in Wayne were contacted. Most responded that they were content; a few noted that they didn't feel they were being treated equally in comparison to men doing the same amount or type of work, and a couple refused to comment because of possible jeopardy to their jobs.

Okay, ladies, here is your opportunity. If we hear from enough of you to present the other side of the story, we will take another look at the question of whether women are being treated fairly. If we receive no replies, we will take it to mean that the majority of Wayne women are happy... or at least content with their positions. Your names will not be used if you make that request. We would like to know your age, length of time you have been employed and type of work you do.

the beauty of it all

Makeup—Be Bold With It! The color-drenched bold face of '73 emerges... and it's sensational! Bold lips, bright eyes, a whole new look so pretty, you don't even mind that it's a little more "made up" than what you are used to. It's the way the new you should look.

But many of us still find ourselves clinging to yesterday's "natural makeup" look. We've become so used to wearing less makeup that we're now simply too timid in applying the new makeup colors.

But why do we do this? Why are we trying to come off looking fantastically like something out of your favorite fashion magazine? Because you aren't doing enough! Start with your hair, then your eyes, then your lips. Give your entire face, blending beneath your neck. If your skin is too pale or sallid, try one of the two or even three different shades to highlight or shade.

Next, add your blusher or get rouge. And don't stop. Give your cheeks a real honest-to-goodness blush. Try a dab on your forehead, your chin—even your neck or your arms. Next, the eyes. A good rule is use to create the bold face yourself is to apply two coats lavishly but carefully. Two coats of highlighter over and underneath the eye, two coats of shadow, two coats of mascara.

The final touch: lipstick. Make it bright, shiny. Apply. Blot. Apply again.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION Notes

by Myrtle Anderson

Early childhood is a very special time, a period for exploring, testing, savoring. Grownups can do a great deal to provide a safer home environment by taking a few precautions.

Beginning with the crib and playpen areas, safety measures include: (1) Never leave infants unattended or alone on a bathnet, chair or table. (2) Leave sides of the crib up at all times. (3) Avoid any toy or piece of furniture painted with lead paint.

(4) Toys which are soft, cuddly and too large to be swallowed, with no detachable buttons or eyes to put in the mouth are safe choices.

The danger areas for the creeper or toddler can be stairways and windows. Gates need to be installed at the top and bottom of stairways while windows should be well screened and latched securely.

Avoid highly waxed floors, and keep them dry and clean to keep children from slipping or falling.

Open light sockets should be taped or capped to prevent little fingers from dangerous probing; electric fans and heaters should be kept out of reach. Matches and lighters should be kept on high shelves. Electric cords should be disconnected when appliances are not in use.

Kitchen safety is increased if gas burners have protective covers and pot handles are turned away from the front of the stove. All cleaners and detergents need to be kept out of reach of children by storing on a high shelf or behind fastened doors.

To meet emergencies, your medicine cabinet should be equipped with an antiseptic wash, such as hydrogen peroxide, antibiotic ointments, sterile gauze pads, bandages, absorbent cotton, ammonia inhalants, scissors and tweezers.

Lastly, never leave a young child alone at home—always have a responsible person

No Need for Women's Lib In Retirement

You often hear about women tacking equality with men—but it's been the other way around for figuring out retirement benefits under social security, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

"For example," Branch said, "a woman of 65 who has always earned the maximum amount that could be credited for social security would get about $269 a month if she retires now. But a man who is the same age and has exactly the same earnings would get only $259."

The new social security law will eliminate that difference over the next three years, he said.

Under present law, benefit amounts for both men and women are based on average earnings, but average earnings are figured up to age 62 for women and up to age 65 for men.

"Both men and women can strike out some years of low earnings, but because the different ages are used it works out that men must use three more years of earnings than women do in figuring the average yearly earnings on which the monthly benefit rate is based," Branch said.

Under the new law, men who reach 62 in 1973 will be able to drop an additional year of low earnings, men reaching 62 in 1974 will drop an additional three years.

Also, reduced benefits will now be provided for nondisabled widowers at age 60, as is now the case for widows.

Eagles Knock Off Raiders, 64-48 After Suffering Setback Against Homer

By BOB BARTLETT
The Allen Eagles didn't waste time Tuesday night in disposing of the Newcastle club, 64-48. The team opened up its guns and blasted the Raiders right out of the Allen gym.

Four Eagle players scored in double figures to give Allen a balanced scoring attack while enforcing a constant man-to-man pressing defense.

Scott Von Minden and Neil Blohm ripped the nets for 12 points each and teammates Stan Perry and Duane Mitchell followed with 11 pieces as the hustling Eagles fired out to a 23-5 first period lead.

"We looked pretty good out there," coach Robert Moore beamed. "We played good defensive ball and were able to get the scores."

At the outset of the game, Allen let the visitors know what they could expect, with the Eagles viciously crawling on their backs with a hard-pressing defense.

The Raiders, barely able to get across mid-court, were plagued by turnovers when the less-experienced club tried to pass the ball.

Allen's top scorers were leading throughout the game to steal passes and turn them into points on the fast break.

Guards Perry and Neil Blohm scored the opening shots to put Allen ahead 4-0. Mitchell then connected for another basket to make the score 6-0.

Newcastle didn't get into the game until six minutes left in the first period when sophomore Scott Miller hit one from inside to make it 6-2. The quick second year man for the Raiders took high honors for the night with 27 points.

Allen's top guns continued the flood in the second period until Newcastle unglued itself from the Eagles tacky defense to put in 15 points. The Eagles, also scoring 15 during the period, took a 20-10 lead going into the second half.

Coach Moore called off his spirited defense in the third quarter, allowing the visitors to narrow the gap to two, 48-32. But the short-lived Raider scoring spree ended when Moore took out his substitutes and put in his starting five to ice the team's eighth victory against three defeats.

In the preliminary game, Allen again was victorious with a 39-24 win.

Paul Snyder and Roger Anderson had 10 points for Allen.

rebounds and our turnovers that gave Homer the win," Moore related. Both teams played a good game, he said, but Homer had the better free throw percentage—20-25 to Allen's 12-24.

"Homer started the contest with a 16-13 first period lead and added seven more to the total for a 34-24 lead at halftime.

Coach Moore's crew, led by Von Minden and Perry got moving in the second half, hitting for 20 in the third and fourth quarters. But the quick Homer team managed to stay close enough to carve out the win. Homer notched 19 points in the third quarter and 17 in the last period.

In the B team game, Allen knocked off previously undefeated Homer, 53-32, to boost the Eagles' record to 5-2.

Roger Anderson paced his team with 21 followed by Randy

Wayne High School

Substitution is an essential key to any school winning basketball games. But Wayne's Roger Saul presents a problem to coach Bill Sharpe—he doesn't have a replacement for the 6-3 senior.

"He's just that good," the coach commented about this week's Athlete of the Week.

"Roger is an excellent shooter, both inside and out, and he's our key man on rebounds," Sharpe cited. "But I don't have anyone to take his spot."

In his last four outings, the center has ripped the nets for a total of 76 points, with team highs against Tekamah-Herman (20) and Madison (25).

Saul has one other credit to his record—he has logged more time on the court than any of his teammates. The reason, the coach explained, is that Saul is ready to go most of the games.

He is intelligent, the coach pointed out. "When Roger's beat by a man one way, you very seldom see that happen to him again." Saul makes the adjustment during the game instead of calling a time out. "You can't win a game if a player has to take a time out to figure what went wrong," Sharpe said. "There aren't enough time outs in the world for that."

In the rebounding department, Roger and Wayne's other center, Larry Shupe, are just about tied for the lead. "I would say that Larry has the lead," the coach said. "But Roger usually averages 8 to 10 rebounds a game—probably closer to 10."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Saul, Roger also leads the team in scoring. Presently, he is shooting at a 14 point clip per game.

Randolph's 3rd Quarter Downs Laurel '5', 63-53

Bruce Strathman's 10 points in the third quarter helped Randolph to a win over Laurel Tuesday night, 63-53.

Strathman, who scored a total of 15 points for the night, helped the Cardinals break away from the visitors after Randolph fought back from a 14-11 first quarter deficit to a 25-22 first half lead.

The home team poured in 24 points in the third while Laurel, getting off only 11 shots during the same period, scored 11 points.

"I don't know what it is," said coach Joel Parks after the game. "We seem to play even ball through the first half and then suffer in the third or fourth quarters."

During the first half of action, Randolph continued its semi-press that seemed to prove ineffective against the smaller Laurel team. "I expected them to change," Parks said, "but they continued to use it. I guess this is what surprised the team."

Laurel took command in the fourth period, outscoring Randolph, 20-14. But the six-point margin wasn't good enough as Laurel took its 10th loss of the

Freshmen Bow Out At Schuyler

The Schuyler freshmen pushed the Wayne team out of the first round of the Schuyler Invitational Monday night, 62-58.

Coach Duane Blomenkamp's team ran into foul trouble in the early stages of the game and had to settle for a 30-24 half time deficit. Larry Crighton was high point man with 24.

"We came back in the third quarter," the coach said, pointing out that Wayne outscored the home team 17-7. But Blomenkamp lost two of his starters, Ritch Workman and Paul Mallette, after the fourth quarter.

Mallette went out in the third and Workman followed at the start of the fourth when the team was ahead by five points.

Wayne's man to man defense slowed down the home team, but Schuyler's Seckman scratched the rim for 21 points.

"I wasn't pleased with our kids," the coach said Wednesday. "They were tight and got into foul trouble." Blomenkamp noted that the team's 26 turnovers didn't help the locals' cause.

Wayne, now 6-4, will return home Monday to play the Norfolk freshmen at the city auditorium. "It will be great to get home," he added, "after playing the last four of our five ball games on the road."

On Feb. 12 Wayne will enter another tourney at Randolph.

Devils' Defense Halts Tekamah Drive

In the beginning of the season Wayne High coach Bill Sharpe said one of his main objectives was building a good basketball team to have a solid defense.

Saturday night, his defense must have looked like a brick wall against a tough Tekamah Herman team. Wayne handed the Tigers a one-point loss, 51-50.

With 33 seconds left in the game, the Blue Devils' strong defense literally shut off hot shooting Mike McCue and the rest of the Tiger team.

"Tod Bigelow really played a good game against McCue," the coach commented. Bigelow was responsible for bottling up the ace Tekamah shooter during most of the game.

The final foules came when guards Marty Hansen and Scott Ehlers combined to shut off the 511 sophomore right after he scored a crucial bucket to put his team within one of the Blue Devils.

Roger Saul, this week's Athlete of the Week, again took scoring honors with his 20-point performance.

Saul, who hit nine field goals and two out of two at the line, opened up the second quarter with eight big points to help the Blue Devils out of one of their sluggish periods.

"I really can't take all the credit," the 6-3 senior explained. "I got a lot of help from the rest of the team in setting up the plays."

Saul pointed out that guard Doug Sturm was instrumental in both getting the team going in the second period and assisting in Roger's scoring.

Coach Sharpe noted that Sturm played a good second quarter but began to fire out in the second half "I think Doug did a good job in both shooting and rebounding and helped us when we needed it," he said.

In Command At intermission, the Blue Devils were in command, 32-24, and maintained their lead after the third period, 44-35.

At one point in the fourth, the home team boosted the lead to 12 before a fire-up Tekamah team started hitting.

A combination of senior center Bill Method's working the ball in and McCue's shooting from the key put the Tigers within three before McCue dashed off an other top of the circle shot with about 33 seconds left.

With six seconds left the Tigers turned over the ball, getting it back with four seconds on the clock on a travelling call. Before the visitors could get the ball across the mid-court stripe the buzzer sounded, giving Wayne its ninth win against four

Winside Wrestlers Win Oakland-Craig Five-Team Tourney

The Winside grapplers won their third tournament trophy of the season Saturday when they piled up 81 points to finish first at Oakland-Craig.

The Wildcats outdistanced Oakland by 21 points in the five team meeting, Wakefield, an other area school participating in the meet.

Coach Doug Barclay had seven of his nine wrestlers place first in the finals.

Ed Lienemann, the only undefeated Cat wrestler, upped his record to 17-0 with a 6-1 decision over 185 pound Dan Schulz of Battle Creek.

Wakeside finished out its battle with the "class of our schedule." Saturday night when the Trojans brushed off a tough Scribner squad, 51-46.

"I'm glad this one is over," coach Joe Cobie commented after his team captured the nil-and-luck battle in the fourth quarter.

The visiting red and white Trojans were within one point after three periods of play with their aggressive man-to-man defense 3-3. But the Scribner coach changed his defense to a zone, allowing Wakefield to take advantage to take seven quick points in the lead.

"Both teams were playing excellent defense and offense," Cobie pointed out. "I don't know why Scribner changed but I sure did help us."

Wakefield, now 6-5, played patient ball throughout the game and went for the good shots. The first period reflected the teams' intentions to make each shot count as both were tied at 8-8.

"I was happy," the coach said, "that our team played a good patterned defense and kept the outstanding shot selections."

Dave Scheel again was Wakefield's hot man, pouring in 19 points while grabbing 11 rebounds. Sam Utecht, who the coach said is "vastly improvoving on his last three games, pulled down nine caroms.

"I think our defense is really getting," Cobie said. "The team showed a lot of poise both on offense and defense. Maybe now we can start to move up in the standings."

In earlier action, the reserves lost their bid for a win 55-47. Chuck Lindstrom and Doug Schwarten connected for 16 and 14 points respectively. Wakefield's record stands at 2-7.

Wayne Grapplers Pin Trojans, 49-9

The Wayne wrestling team smothered Wakefield Tuesday night, pinning a 49-9 loss on the visiting Trojans.

Ken Daniels, Arnold Stiefken, Brad Pflueger, Don Nelson and Charlie Brockman were the only local wrestlers to pin their men.

Daniels (98) grabbed the first fall when he pinned Terry Borg in 1:02.

Stiefken (145) stuck Wakefield's Dave Bodlak in 3:48 for a win in the 145-pound division before Pflueger pinned Jack Sievers (155) in '29.

The other two local men, Nelson and Brockman, pinned Tom Hattig and Merrill Hale to win their respective divisions, 185 and heavyweight. Both pins came in the second period, Nelson's in 2:34 and Brockman's in '31.

For the Blue Devils, Tuesday's dual lifted the team record to 3-5 for the year.

"As a team," said coach Don Koenig, "I thought we had our best effort this year."

Wayne's Jim Neiman, captain, injured to wrestle above his normal 132, took a 12-1 decision over Pat Nicholson in the 138-pound class.

Jim has wrestled great all year long," the coach remarked, "as well as Brad Pflueger."

Trojan coach Lyle Trullinger had three of his men take wins. Underleated Kirk Gardner (167) handed Gordon Cook a 7-1 loss while teammates Dave Rouse (112) and Ken Dolph (105) had back to back wins when they decisioned David Owens and Randy Surber, 3-0 and 4-1.

In reserve action the Devils took another win, 20-3 when four of the five men won their weight classes.

Collins' 22 Paces Cats Over Midland Team

Sophomore Chuck Collins got his biggest opportunity of the Wayne State basketball season Tuesday, and he made a considerable thing of it.

The 6-8 forward, an all starer on Butte High School's state tournament team of 1971, led Wayne in a 95-63 thumping of Midland. He scored 22 points, leading his previous season high of 14, and hauled in 11 rebounds.

Many of his ring-feld goals, out of 14 shots, came on leaping rebound tips into, a Collins specialty.

The shooting spree lifted him to a 27 point average, and his rebound average is 5.5—pretty good figures for limited playing time. He's been in all 16 Wayne games, but not often for long periods.

For a 95-point production, Wayne oddly had only two players in double figures. Dennis Stiefken hit 17, while working about half the game as subber, took over early in the second-half shoot-out. Before it was done, all but one of 14 Wildcats had chattered at least two points.

Midland, trailing 42-23 at the half and down by around 30 most of the second half, had one big point producer in Kermit

CHUCK COLLINS Sweeney at 22, but nobody else over eight. The Warriors are 7-8 for the season.

Wayne, 11-5, will entertain Mount Marty Friday night. The Lancers, 12-4, are the only team to beat Hastings (in the Bronco season opener) this year.

In the preliminary Tuesday Wayne's junior varsity evened its record at 4-4 with a 71-62 verdict over the Midland JV.

Two Upsets Throw City League Into 1st, 2nd Ties

Two upset victories have thrown the lead in the men's city recreation league into a two-way tie for first and second.

Team 5, led by Bob Wiesenberg's 28 points, escaped with a one-point win over former league leader Team 3 Monday night.

Dick Tietgen and Brendt Lessmann aided respectively with 15 and 14 points the cause.

Both teams were tied after one period of play with Team 3 taking a one-point edge into the second half, 33-32.

After three quarters, Team 3 boosted its margin to three, 40-46, before the upset.

Top scorers for Team 3 were Sid Hutter with 17, Brock Giese and Denny Paul with 14 each and Dick Dittman with 10.

In the second game of the evening, Team 4 knocked Team 2 from its second place perch with a last second shot to win 72-70.

Bill Workman's ace shot with three seconds left in the game put Team 4 into a tie for first with Team 3.

Leading scorers for Team 4 were Hank O'Brien with 20, Lynn Lessmann with 17, Rex Murray, 14.

For Team 2, Randy Helgren collected 27, while Kent Lingenfelder had 17.

Next week, city action will shift to Wednesday due to the junior high and freshmen basketball games set for Monday at the auditorium.

Teams 1 and 4 will meet at 7 p.m., followed by 2 and 5 at 8 p.m. Team 3 will play the Boys Club at 9:15. There will be no B league action this week.

Osmond's Robin Reed proved to be the fatal blow to upset-minded Winside Tuesday night as the lanky 6-3 guard pumped in 23 points to help tack the 10th loss on the Wildcats, 49-44.

"That third quarter really killed us," said coach Jim Winch. "Reed hit 10 points in that period to tear the game open."

Dave Weddington's 27 points and Keith Eickhoff's 18 boosted the Hartington team over the Cats Saturday night, 63-54.

Winside started out with a 14-9 first period edge but the hosts battled back with a 20-point second quarter to take command at the half, 29-24.

Hartington then put the clamps on the Cats in the third quarter, allowing the visitors to score only two points while collecting 20.

"We played our poorest game of the season," Winch remarked, noting that his team threw the ball away in the third period.

Hoffman netted 14 points for team high. Wieble followed with 12 and Langenberg collected 11.

NW Missouri Drops Crippled WSC Team

Wayne State's crippled wrestling team took a 22-13 loss from Northwest Missouri State Tuesday night in a meet at Maryville.

Wayne's little guys started strong with three straight wins and a draw, but from then on Northwest dominated all but match, a draw.

Wildcat winners were Tom Cortez with a 16-7 decision at 118 pounds, Jim Meyer, 5-3 at 126, and Larry Kersten, 8-7 at 134. Kent Irwin gained a 6-6 draw at 142, up one weight class from normal.

Tom Luth, usually at 158, moved up to 167 and fashioned a 1-1 draw against Kent Jorgensen, rated as Northwest's top performer.

Steve Gregory also went up one class to 177, subbing for Ken Monroe, and lost a 4-0 decision. Monroe missed the meet because of a night class.

Both Wildcat regulars at the top two weights missed because of injury. Fred Spale, in his first action of the year, lost by 6-1 at 190. George Bisack, also in his debut, lost the heavyweight match, 7-1.

Wayne forfeited at 150. Wayne now is 2-2 in duals while Northwest moved up to 7-1.

The Wildcats have another challenge Saturday at the Western Illinois University Tournament. Last year they finished second to host WIU, but two weeks ago they beat out Western Illinois at the Northwest Missouri Invitational — Wayne trying for first.

Laurel Gets New Carrier From McLean

Lyle Drey of McLean is a new rural mail carrier working out of Laurel. He began his route Monday.

Drey, who will work in the Laurel and Beiden area, has worked several years in the postal service, coming to Nebraska from Colorado in 1965.

He worked in the McLean area for six years, transferring to Laurel as the result of the newly inaugurated postal service program which dispenses the 25-hour delivery service week and combines routes to form a 40-hour week. The McLean route recently combined with the Osmond route to permit Drey's transfer.

Drey fills the vacancy left by the retirement of Gerald Leppley, who left the postal department in July last year. Darrell Blatchford, who will remain as a substitute carrier, filled in for Leppley until Drey's transfer.

REGISTERING

The number of registrants is down about 500 from last year at this time.

In order to register a vehicle, the owner must take his tax slip sent to him by the county assessor, $15.50 for the license tags, and his car registration to the county treasurer's office.

Meyer noted that the owner has the option to mail his registration and tax check, including the $15.50 for the license tags.

If a person is purchasing a new car and does not have a vehicle registration, he first has to pick up a title at the county clerk's office, go to the assessor's office for the evaluation and then go to the treasurer's office.

Producers who participate in the set aside program are eligible for Commodity Credit Corporation price support loans on corn, grain sorghum, barley and wheat. Butts said that all producers are eligible for CCC loans on other grain crops.

The Now Washbasket By Joyce Champion

Many clothing stains are too stubborn to remove by regular home laundering methods. Following are ways to combat some of these special problems: Mud — Let mud dry and brush off as much as possible. Launder in the hottest water safe for the fabric. If the stain still remains, sponge it with rubbing alcohol, then launder again. Paint — Scrape off fresh paint, then sponge the stained fabric with turpentine or paint thinner and launder. Candle Wax — Scrape off the excess wax with a dull knife. Place the stained area between two blotters or several thicknesses of paper towels or facial tissues and press with a warm iron. Repeat the process, then wet the stained area and rub in the stain removing product and launder. Coffee or Tea (without milk or cream) — Soak the stained garment in cool water with 1/2 cup of the product, overnight if necessary. Then rub the stained area and launder.

Ak-Sar-Ben Gives Aid to County Fairs

For the 19th consecutive year, Ak-Sar-Ben in 1972 presented aid to every county fair in Nebraska either in improvement grants or 4-H and FFA premiums, assistant general manager Bob Volk told the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers Tuesday. "Since 1954," Volk said, "the state's county fairs have received almost $3 million as a direct result of the Ak-Sar-Ben race meeting.

"The county fair program is one of Ak-Sar-Ben's most rewarding undertakings. The county fairs in this state are the envy of fairs across the country, and we believe Ak-Sar-Ben's contributions have been an important factor in helping our fairs to earn this reputation."

Last year Ak-Sar-Ben awarded $38,200 for permanent improvement grants to 87 counties. The total in improvement and spruce-up grants provided by

Industry Is Theme of Coming Area Confab

Norfolk will host one of six regional conferences in Nebraska which will aim at helping communities attract new industries. The conference is scheduled for the Villa Inn at Norfolk on Feb. 1. Open to the public at no charge it will start with a no-host luncheon followed by the program at 1:30 p.m.

"Many of Nebraska's communities are interested in the industrial development process but have had little opportunity to learn what is involved," Governor J. James Exon said.

"I have scheduled these regional conferences to fill that gap and to introduce a comprehensive guide to industrial development recently published by the Department of Economic Development.

Members of the department's industrial development division will conduct the two-hour program. Main part of the program will be devoted to an explanation of how the new handbook is to be used by community development organizations and a discussion of the steps needed to develop a successful industrial development program. The 18-page handbooks will be distributed to interested communities and groups at the conferences.

"Nebraska has needed some form of industrial development guide for some time and I firmly believe the handbook along with the regional conferences will prove invaluable to Nebraska communities in building their industrial development programs," Exon said.

Following the two-hour handbook discussion, there will be a question and answer session to give everyone the opportunity to obtain answers to specific problems. A Small Business Administration official will be on hand to answer questions involving federal assistance to local industrial development programs.

'Battle of Batters' is your chance, men

Okay, men, you're going to get a chance to prove that you can do just as good a job as your wife in the kitchen. And you'll be able to help raise funds for the March of Dimes drive in Wayne County at the same time.

The occasion will be the "Battle of the Batters" in February. The place will be downtown Wayne. The contest will be going which makes men and boys — can bake the best cakes.

If you think you can better the efforts of a lot of women in that field, you might want to start getting ready for the contest. If your effort is chosen the best in either the junior or senior division, you'll be given a trophy to display proudly somewhere in your home.

Remember this, however. You won't be able to get any help in the contest, and you'll have to bake your cake from scratch. Women will be allowed to give all the moral support they wish, but they won't be allowed to give the smallest bit of help during actual competition. And no cake mixes will be allowed.

The contest sounds like it might have little trouble attracting the 125 contestants hoped for by Rowan Wittise of Wayne county chairman for the March of Dimes drive again this year.

And it should make the businessmen in Wayne pretty happy, for it is being planned to take the place of the annual solicitation of funds from businesses.

With a little luck and a good turnout by some of our better bakers, the contest should raise several hundred dollars for the March of Dimes.

We will not comment on what kind of relationship will result in the homes of the winners.

It's appreciated

It's time again for a few editorial pats on the back.

Let's hear it for:

—The volunteer firemen from Wayne and Wakefield who worked last night last week in limiting the damage to the local business district fire almost completely to the building where it originated.

That job was no easy one, according to the deputy state fire marshal who investigated the blaze and local fire chief Cliff Pinkerman. The fire could have done much more damage to the cafe building and could easily have spread to the buildings on the north and south. It didn't, however, thanks to the hard work and knowledge of the firemen.

—Laurel's L. J. Mallatt, winner of his community's second annual Citizen's Award.

Like the volunteer firemen, Mallatt had done a lot for his town without being paid for it. His list of "jobs" include Boy Scout leader, Chamber of Commerce member, Lions Club member, president of the PTA, coordinator of the Wayne Hospital fund drive, church member and director of the Laurel Development Corporation.

—The approximate 100 persons who turned out for the 4-H Idea Day at the Northeast Station, near Concord last week. The only thing they get for the time and effort they put into 4-H is the satisfaction of seeing young people develop and grow in a better way than they probably would without their help.

—Wayne's Darryl Lehms and Dennis Boehme. Named last week to head the Community Chest fund drive in Wayne, they have their work cut out for them if they hope to do as well raising funds in 1973 as was done last year. Workers in the 1972 drive raised about 94 per cent of the $10,000 goal in the drive, quite an achievement considering that at one time they thought the drive might fizzle out somewhere around the 65 per cent mark.

—Wayne High's basketball team, winners over a tough Neigh club Friday night and a strong Tekamah-Herman team Saturday night. The team shows signs of getting into a unit which both the high school and community can be proud of.

—Winside veterinarian N. L. Diltman, who helped save an area farmer's life through quick action and clear thinking. While his helper called the ambulance, he massaged the chest of a man who had collapsed and stopped breathing. By the time the ambulance arrived, the man was breathing again.

—Street department workers in Wayne who did a good job cleaning up the snow after the storm earlier this month and who wasted little time in cleaning the streets again after last weekend's winter blast.

Now you can see

Have you ever wondered just what goes on during a regular working day at the State Capitol Building in Lincoln?

If so, now you are being offered a chance to find out.

The state's educational television network will broadcast highlights of each day's legislative activities every evening. The 30-minute broadcast will start at 10:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, with the exception of Thursday when it will be broadcast at 11 p.m.

It's bound to cost plenty of money to film, edit and broadcast the activities. However, it could be a major step forward in educating the public in how state senators go about representing the people back home. Anything which can do that is worth spending a considerable amount of tax money.

Nebraskans should be proud of this educational television offering. It is believed to be the only one of its kind in the nation.

Weekends during the legislative session. "We are really delighted to provide this service," said Jack McBride, general manager of the Nebraska ETV Network. "We regard it as a challenge and an opportunity."

Air times for the 30-minute programs are 10:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, with the exception of Thursdays when it is broadcast at 11 p.m.

This new broadcast series follows a pattern of public affairs programming of the legislature — 1947 when the Nebraska ETV Network requested and received funds from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB) to pro-

30 Years Ago

February 4, 1943: Wayne County was in the spotlight of the Sioux City Stockyards broadcast last Friday noon. Don Cunningham, former Wayne resident, was in charge. Wayne County Red Cross Chapter was highly complimented on its sewing by Miss Anderson, St. Louis field worker, who was here Friday. Matt Holt Jr. suffered cuts on the face and head Thursday morning when the car in which he was returning from Sioux City skidded and struck a tree. Oliver F. Kellogg, who came to Wayne from Amesla, bought the Wayne News, taking possession Monday.

25 Years Ago

January 29, 1948: Plans were completed this week for an expanded program for the annual Wayne County All Farmers Day in Wayne Feb. 12. Wayne County's goal is at least one carload of relief cereal for central Europe on the Abraham Lincoln Friendship Train. Reuben Hintz, who farms south of Winside, accidentally broke his right arm Saturday while cranking a tractor at his home. The first notice of a convention for the nomination of candidates to city officers of Wayne appears in The Herald today. The convention is set for Feb. 1. Rebuilding of Fredrickson's Tavern damaged extensively by fire a few weeks ago, is being completed this week and the tavern will reopen Saturday morning.

20 Years Ago

January 22, 1953: The city's newly installed dual fuel power unit at the light and power plant is now under full operation. Firemen were called to the Clifford Carlson home west of Concord Thursday afternoon to extinguish a chimney fire.

15 Years Ago

January 30, 1958: Purchase of Ben track Hospital for a municipal hospital was proposed at a meeting of Wayne citizens Monday night. The group will circulate petitions to have the question

Dear Editor:

As our elected school board considers the salary negotiations with our teachers, I hope they keep their electorate in mind. They ought to keep the governor and the president in mind, also. Governor Exon was elected because he promised to "hold the line" tax-wise. President Nixon is going the legal limit to keep prices and wages from spiraling upward.

Surely, it would be in order for the board members to do their part to halt inflation. Any thinking person knows that to raise the salaries is to raise the taxes.

People living on set incomes cannot bear additional taxes. We don't need promises of a broadened tax base. We need to "hold the line."

This thank you note for my $10 SWAY check is sort of late. But better late than never, as the saying goes.

Dear Editor:

I would like at this time to thank the Wayne County veterans groups, merchants and friends for the $10 SWAY check I just received. This gift due to a change in address and duty station from San Diego to San Francisco, Calif. I feel that this gift shows that we are not forgotten. ETV offers nightly peek at senators Nebraskans now have the opportunity to watch their state legislators at work by means of a nightly half-hour program just initiated by the Nebraska Educational Television Network.

This unique service, believed to be unequalled in the U.S., will provide Nebraska viewers with actual highlights of the legislature's activities each day it is in session.

The legislature recently decided to broadcast its actions on a daily basis over the statewide ETV network. The network previously had taped proceedings twice a week from the legislative floor and broadcast them in edited form as a "Unicameral '73" series on the weekends during the legislative session. "We are really delighted to provide this service," said Jack McBride, general manager of the Nebraska ETV Network. "We regard it as a challenge and an opportunity."

Air times for the 30-minute programs are 10:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, with the exception of Thursdays when it is broadcast at 11 p.m.

This new broadcast series follows a pattern of public affairs programming of the legislature — 1947 when the Nebraska ETV Network requested and received funds from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB) to produce an experimental series of programs on the Nebraska legislature.

Based on information available at that time, NETN was the first public television station in the nation to attempt such coverage on a regular basis.

The Nebraska legislature granted permission for the 1969 coverage and has continued to do so each session. Acceptance has come from the public for this type of public affairs programming.

Virtually every community in the state receives the Nebraska ETV Network signal either directly or via cable. Nine channels and five translators bring public television into the reach of thousands of Nebraska homes in 93 counties.

State's senators are complaining about power of executive branch

LINCOLN — Congressmen have complained lately that the executive branch of the federal government has usurped too much power.

The same kind of complaints are coming from state senators in increasing volume.

The issue touched off some strong comments on the floor last week when they discussed authority they had granted in past sessions to the State Department of Administrative Services.

The point was raised by Sen. Herbert Dits of Gothenburg who had asked for an attorney general's opinion on the constitutionality of a 1969 law which requires the governor's approval of all construction or remodeling contracts.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Gerald S. Vitamvas, writing the opinion for the State Justice Department, said the law isn't valid in regard to the University of Nebraska. He said the state constitution grants the Board of Regents authority over the university.

"If, as construed by the director of the Department of Administrative Services (Gus Litske), these provisions were intended to be applied to the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska, then a part of the authority of the University of Nebraska would be subjected to the control of the governor."

The question is whether or not the exercise by the Board of Regents of their authority can be made subject to the approval of the governor at the executive office of the state government by the Legislature. We think not," Vitamvas wrote.

The opinion recommended that the lawmakers amend the statutes so the university wouldn't be subject to approval by Lincoln's agency before expenditures on construction approved already by the Legislature could be made.

There were strong indications from the floor discussion that such an amendment may be attempted this session.

"This Legislature has been giving away things that are rightfully ours because it's the easiest way. I stand for checks and balances," Sen. George Syas of Omaha said.

"The reason this Legislature isn't more highly thought of (by the public) is that we've given away so much that there's not much left we can give."

Sen. Fred Carlens of Beatrice complained that the Legislature has raised legislative appropriations has been subjected to what he described as "fool-dragging" by the administrative branch.

Delays which Sen. David H. Stahmer of Omaha attributed to the administration have raised the cost of a music building at the University of Nebraska at Omaha. Increased inflation, he said, had raised the construction price so far there wasn't enough money left to equip the building when it eventually was built.

Sen. Carlens expressed worry about invasion of legislative territory by the other branch of government — the judiciary.

The Budget Committee complained that the Supreme Court had started a court administrator program last July 1, the start of the current fiscal year, when it knew only enough money had been appropriated to finance the office for six months.

The senators contended this forced the Legislature to come up with a supplementary appropriation this session or see the office close for half a year.

In effect, the committee members said, this usurped the legislators' constitutional authority to appropriate.

Court Administrator James Dunlevy, who appeared before the committee to explain the supplementary appropriation request, said it was necessary to open the office early so preparations could be made for the new district court system which began its operations Jan. 4.

Drug Investigation Planned

The Legislature's Judiciary Committee has announced plans to conduct an investigation of drug traffic in the state's two largest counties — Douglas and Lancaster.

Chairman Roland A. Luedtke of Lincoln said he might invite educational television cameras to record the testimony when hearings are held.

Luedtke said the probe probably would start sometime in February if the plan gets approval from the full Legislature.

Your local newspaper leads the way in providing local citizens with a voice in your community.

The majority of school, city, and county officials recognize the need for keeping the public informed. An informed citizen is an educated citizen.

Changes Needed

The advent of carcass evaluation of all market cattle shown at the Nebraska State Fair and Ak-Sar-Ben has provided some information worth noting.

Shows have long been an important tool for the improvement and promotion of livestock. We have always put great emphasis on selecting for "ideal type" however much it may change over the years.

The judges ritual of showing placings has held the interest of many an audience. Everyone lends an attentive ear as the judge gives reasons for placing with much emphasis on expected carcass merit in market classes.

Would you be shocked if I were to declare emphatically that most of what is done at our conventional shows is a lot of hog-wash?

An analysis matching live with carcass placings of more than 1,300 cattle shown at State Fair and Omaha in 1972 is revealing.

This study shows that 11.6 per cent of all the cattle shown rated purple in carcass merit.

The percentage breakdown of live ribbon groupings was: Of those placed purple alive, 12.3 per cent were purple in carcass; of those placed blue alive, 11.9 per cent were purple in carcass; of those placed red alive, 10.3 per cent were purple in carcass; and of those placed white alive, 11.8 per cent were purple in carcass.

These figures apply only to those placing purple in carcass.

If we go to those placing white in carcass, the corresponding figures are: Of those placing purple alive, 17.3 per cent were white in carcass; of those placing blue alive, 29 per cent were white in carcass; of those placing red alive, 30.6 per cent were white in carcass; and white matching white, 37 per cent.

Any practical stockman can sort off those animals which are obviously under-finished or over-finished and wastey. When we eliminate these the lack of correlation is apparent in all placing groups.

What I am saying is that there is no significant correlation between live and carcass placings.

Nebraska 4-H members start some 16,000 cattle on feed annually. Most of these are selects, many of which are purchased at substantial premiums over the going feeder market. Of these, less than 1,000 (the best) go to the major shows.

The consensus of experts is that a minimum of low choice (quality grade) be the guideline in selecting top placing cattle. A common goal of Midwest feeders is to market when 75 to 80 per cent reach choice grade. Approximately 40 per cent of the market cattle shown at the Nebraska State Fair in 1972 made the minimum low choice. Of those cattle placed purple alive, less than 10 per cent were low choice in carcass.

The judges' defense is that they are selecting for yield grade (cutability). The grand and reserve champions (State Fair) graded good and their cutability scores were below the average for all cattle shown.

Growth rate or rate of gain, which can be measured, is not used in determining placings at major shows. Carcass evaluation systems are fairly well standardized and they do provide reliable measures of carcass value.

I agree that there is more involved than carcass merit and growth performance in placing animals. However, what other purpose can these animals serve?

The one thing that visual observation does best is to determine an animal's ability to walk freely across the scale.

I maintain that the sorry condition of many cattle coming to the shows is highly influenced by the examples selected by judges.

Some of my colleagues do not agree and are inclined to defend the system.

Our traditional wisdom often obscures the pursuit of logic.

USDA Increases Interest Rate on Commodity Loans

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced an increase in the interest rate on commodity loans to producers to more nearly reflect the borrowing cost of money the Commodity Credit Corporation, reports the Wayne County ASCS office.

The interest rate was increased from 3.5 per cent to 5.5 per cent per annum, computed on a daily basis, the ASCS office said.

The new rate will become effective with 1973 crop year loans and will apply to all prior crop year loans which are extended on or after Jan. 1, 1973.

The availability of current crop loans to producers and producer cooperatives are continued as in past years. The loans provide interim financing for producers during harvest-time gluts, and allow producers to hold and maintain control and ownership of commodities not currently in demand.

Commodity loan operations have been carried out by CCC since 1933. During the past fiscal year, 1971-72 a total of 1,672,296 loans were made to producers, individually and through producer cooperatives, for a total value of $2,680,812,542.

NU Scientists Identify 2 Calf Scour Viruses

Two viruses that cause calf scour outbreaks in Nebraska have been identified by University of Nebraska-Lincoln veterinary science staff members, announced Dr. Alex Hogg, NU extension veterinarian.

NU veterinary researchers have classified the viruses as reovirus and coronavirus. Nebraska researchers have found the reo and coronavirus in about 80-85 per cent of the herds checked that suffered from a calf scour problem. These viruses have been found in 21 states in addition to Nebraska and probably claim a world-wide distribution.

The viruses have different effects on young calves. Dr. Hogg noted. For instance, the reovirus causes a profuse yellow watery diarrhea in two to three-day-old calves. The calves are quite depressed and usually have saliva dripping from their mouths.

Salivation (drooling of the saliva) is quite characteristic of reovirus infection and is a useful sign of diagnosis. Dr. Hogg added that reovirus calves completely lose their appetites for 24 hours. Death loss may run from one per cent to 30 per cent of infected calves. The difference lies in the effects of secondary bacterial infections.

Dr. Hogg continued, "Coronavirus affects older calves — from 6-21 days old. They are not as depressed, the diarrhea is more moderate but more persistent and contains clear mucus that resembles the white of an egg. The death loss is usually three per cent to 20 per cent."

A second coronavirus is thought to be involved and it is suspected to affect calves that are 2-3 days old, the same age that reovirus calves become ill.

If a farmer or rancher wants a diagnosis, he should contact his local veterinarian and ask that he collect suitable samples and send them to the Veterinarian Diagnostic Laboratory, East Campus, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska 68503.

Warned Dr. Hogg, "Our laboratories are quite busy with research and other diagnostic activities and can accept only a limited number of samples. Prior arrangements should be made through local veterinarians before submitting samples for diagnosis."

Treatments are available that can materially reduce the death losses, he said. They consist of intravenous or oral administration of fluids and electrolytes. Antibiotics and or sulfas are also used to control secondary bacteria.

Researchers have used an experimental reovirus vaccine on over 20,000 calves in 14 states including Nebraska during the past two years with good results, Dr. Hogg reported.

To reduce calf scour losses, until a vaccine is available, says Dr. Hogg, good management procedures are valuable. These include:

1. See that newborn calves get a feeding of colostrum milk as soon as possible after birth.

2. Scatter the cows during calving to reduce the spread from calf to calf.

3. Avoid calving in muddy lots, well drained slopes are best.

4. Provide small sheds with openings to admit calves but not cows; calves will use these shelters if well bedded with straw.

5. Provide clean drinking water and salt-mineral boxes to young calves.

6. Several persons have indicated an interest in a series of three cow calf workshops scheduled to start in Wayne next week, according to one of the persons who will help conduct the series.

Lee Foote of Wayne said the workshops, which are scheduled to start Monday, will be limited to the first 25 persons who sign up. Foote is the agricultural representative of First National Bank, where the workshops will be held.

Helping him conduct the workshops will be Phil Menke, extension livestock specialist at the Northeast Station near Concord.

Subjects covered during the workshops will include pest control, disease management, equipment, breeding management, nutrition, marketing and economics.

The other two workshops will be held Feb. 5 and 12. All three begin at 7:30 p.m.

Chaos Is the Result If Company Expected

Hardly anything causes complete panic throughout the household like the announcement: "Company coming! Got to get this house cleaned up."

Winter or summer — absolute chaos.

The first response might be: "What's the matter with it like it is?" or "If it's good enough for us, it's good enough for them."

Diplomatically, you begin telling your family it would be healthy and helpful if they would follow a few simple cleaning instructions.

Of course, they all agree with you. But at the same time they're agreeing with you and saying "Yes, Mom" and "Any thing you say, dear," they are grabbing their coats and sneaking through the door.

Well, it's only 10 days until the company arrives. You're going to show them you run a clean household. All they have to do is hang their clothes where they belong, put the newspapers away and the toys back into the toy box.

The house slowly begins to glisten as walls, woodwork, closets, blinds and drapes are cleaned while youngsters are in school, smaller ones take long naps and the "boss" is busy outside.

But by the time the operation moves to the kitchen and porch, complications set in.

The "boss" can't understand why you get so upset about his overflowing ash trays. Of course they are for ashes, but you're trying to get things cleaned up.

You try to explain to the youngsters that they are to use the old towels in the bathroom — you don't want to wash the color out of the new ones.

Even "Old" Shop acts like he does after you've severely scolded him for being in your flower beds. In fact, if he sneaks in the house he slouches down beside one of the youngsters or tries to hide.

On the day the club girls are to arrive you try to have everything in complete, shiny order.

Pets have been kept outside all morning. Clean papers have been spread on the porch floor. Chore coats and shoes have been put in the washhouse.

The "boss" comes in early for a quick bowl of soup. While you wash the dishes and scour the sink once more, he settles down in his chair to watch the noon markets — and refills the ash tray.

As you go outside to give Old Sheep the scraps, you stop suddenly at the sight of your once clean porch. One loud yell brings the "boss" on a fast run. Then he stands right there and tells you he can't see what's wrong.

What's wrong is the big pile of mud covered coveralls and boots. He can't understand what's wrong with that. He put them on the papers.

You exasperatingly explain that the papers were put on the floor to keep it clean, but you wanted to keep the papers clean also.

You hesitate about what to do with the scraps, deciding that if you don't give them to Old Sheep you'll have another mess to clean up.

When you return, you quickly stash the dirty newspapers into the wastebasket. Now it's full again. If you hurry you can burn the stuff before the gals arrive.

Now to change clothes and act like a perfect hostess. You are relaxed until you try to find your shoes. They aren't in the closet where they belong. Then you remember putting them in the wastebasket to dry after cleaning them last night. You make a mad dash for the trash barrel.

As you return the girls begin arriving. Barefoot, dirty and holding your charred shoes, you use your utmost composure to greet them.

After they leave the kids come home from school, the "boss" comes in for coffee before chores, the pets return to the house and the house becomes slightly less than immaculate again. You laugh, sigh and relax.

After all, you never did want to be the neighborhood's perfect housekeeper and hostess. Just a perfect wife and mother.

And your family thinks you are gaining on this goal with the lived in look in your house. It will stay that way, too, until company comes again.

File Early, Advises IRS

The earlier you file your federal income tax return, the earlier you will receive your refund, Richard Vinal, district director for the IRS said today.

By filing out your tax return now, you avoid the last minute rush and are less likely to make careless mistakes.

Before you start, gather together cancelled checks, receipts and other financial papers and be sure to include a copy of last year's return. Then, take a good look at the new tax forms and read the instructions carefully, he said.

By preparing your return well ahead of the April 15 filing deadline, it will be easier to determine all your tax deductions and figure the lowest possible tax. It will also allow time to double-check any problems that may arise and to review your return to correct any possible errors.

Twin Lakes State Special Use Area near Pleasant Dale covers 1,270 acres, including two lakes totaling 255 acres.

Letters to the Editor

To the People of Nebraska:
We, the farmers along the proposed route of the power line being built by Nebraska Public Power District, Columbus, make an appeal to you to help stop the outrageous desecration of the beauty of the countryside and the condemning of thousands of acres of potentially irrigable land not for five or 10 years but for eternity.

Ugly poles and dangerous wires are already strung over the face of the earth. Will we let it continue?

Do you know what the loss of potential irrigation can cost you in food prices in the future? Think of how the growth in Russia and India is right now costing you more money for your food. Fortunately, we had the grain to help a nation in need. What if that nation in need were ours? Is it certain Russia or India could not help. They cannot produce enough food for their own people in a good crop year. Only irrigation can ensure the needs of a growing population and a rapid shrinking of farmable land.

New land cannot be created. We must preserve what we have.

This area of northeast Nebraska where the power line is to run is in the heartland of agriculture. Will you stand by and say nothing for us? We put your food on the table cheaper in per cent of income than anywhere in the world. Please help us to continue to do this.

The power company can run their line underground: however, that would cost them more but it would save you many dollars in food costs in years to come and preserve the beauty of the land. If the power company insists on putting up a surface line they could put it down the road right of way which would take virtually no land out of production and they would have a road there to maintain the lines.

Putting the line 100 feet inside a field or diagonally across it means they will run down many acres of crops.

It is too inconvenient for these crops cannot be replaced in food on your table.

The power company could also straddle the fence lines if they had to go down the middle of a section, but they will not do this either. It is too inconvenient for them while putting up the line. They care nothing that the farmer must spend a lifetime trying to farm around poles and under dangerous wires.

In the case of irrigation, he simply cannot farm the land. By putting the poles in the middle of a field the farmer is forced to maintain the ground under the line free of charge.

All of this is being rushed into being because of a car smelting plant to be located in Norfolk. For ecology's sake and the sake of the land, why not locate the plant at the source of electricity and not 100 miles from it? Which is more important to your future, the smelting plant or a plentiful supply of food in time of need?

There is pitifully little land in the world that can even be farmed and far, far less that can be irrigated. The power district proposes to cross 60 sections of ground and every quarter section they cross diagonally is rendered useless for pivot irrigation, which is the only

The willful taking of prime agricultural land out of production must stop. Ugly, unsightly, dangerous, wires and poles strung in every direction must stop. With your help we can stop it now.
