Three Wayne residents Thursday talked to a Minnesota-based firm about the possibility of locating an assembly plant in Wayne.

Mayor Kent Hall, city attorney John Addison and Bob Merchant, president of Wayne Industries, Inc., talked to the president of the firm, which manufactures such things as lifts, trailers and spreaders. Also making the trip was a representative of the state department of economic development.

The three supplied the firm with information about taxes, employment, schools, financing and transportation.

Wayne learned that the company is considering expanding outside Minnesota through a letter sent to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Wayne was the first community to talk by phone with the company according to Merchant. The three had planned on flying to Minnesota last week to talk with company officials but poor flying weather forced them to postpone the trip, he added.

The company is considering constructing an assembly plant which would employ about 125 people, Merchant explained. The plant would cost the company about $1 million, he added.

Representatives of the company will visit Wayne sometime in the future to study the community, Merchant noted. He would certainly help if company officials would find Wayne residents eager to attract a new industry, he said.

Roeber Gets Dixon County Extension Job

Lloyd Roeber of Wakefield was elected president of the Dixon County Extension Board at their reorganizational meeting last week at the Northeast Station.

Elected vice president was Mrs. Don Curry of Ponca. Named secretary was Carl Lienemann of Wakefield, a representative from the 4-H Council.

Other members of the Dixon County Extension Board are: Darrell Curry, Newcastle; Mrs. William Sachau, Allen; Mrs. Gary Erickson, Concord; Mrs. Marlen Johnson, Concord, representing the Home Extension Council; Mrs. Ernest Stark, Allen, also from the Home Extension Council; and Marvin H. Hartman, representing the 4-H Council.

DX Signs Will Disappear In City By End of Year

A sign that has been familiar to Wayne motorists for many years, DX will disappear at the end of this year.

Bob Merchant, owner of two DX stations in Wayne and one in Hoskins, said Sun Oil Co.'s decision to withdraw market rebating operations in Nebraska and seven other states will affect him and several other DX station operators in the area.

DX stations currently in business in Randolph, Pender, West Point and Norfolk will cease operating under the DX emblem sometime during the year, Merchant said.

Merchant said he will continue operating his business next year even though it will not be under the familiar DX insignia.

He currently operates a station at Seventh and Main and at 121 West Second. He formerly operated DX stations in Winslow and Wakefield.

"We're guaranteeing all our customers their adequate supply throughout 1977," Merchant said. "They will get the same service they did last year," he said.

Merchant said he is now seeking another supplier to carry on in business, when his contract runs out the end of this year.

E.H. Merchant, Bob's father, began operating under the DX sign in 1927, making the brand station one of the oldest ones in Wayne.

The local DX station has been in existence longer than any other in the state, according to Merchant.

Sun Oil announced last week that it will sell more than 300 Sunoco and DX service stations in North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, Tennessee and Illinois.

The Wayne State Young Republicans Club voted Thursday to favor Nebraska's repeal of the Equal Rights Amendment, currently a boiling issue before the Legislature.

A bill sponsored by several senators proposes to rescind the last Legislature's ratification of the controversial ERA. Now powerful arguments are mounting on both sides of the issue, both in and out of the Legislature.

City Council To Consider Bids Tuesday

City councilmen will accept bids on several vehicles during Tuesday night's regular meeting.

Committees will report their recommendations on bids for trucks for the street and light departments, station wagon for the police department and electric derrick for the light department.

The council will also take action on whether to accept the lone bid submitted for work on pipes at the municipal swimming pool.

Also on the agenda is a public hearing on the request for a liquor license from the new operators of the Black Knight Lounge. A public hearing is also scheduled on the request for rezoning a small piece of property on the west edge of the city.

Other items to be considered by the council include discussion of hiring a manager for the swimming pool for this summer and a pension plan for city employees.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEMBER Mrs. Carlos-Martin examines one of the entries in the fine arts festival held at the city auditorium in Wayne Friday.

Local School Population Follows Statewide Trend

The drop in enrollment in the Wayne Carroll school system this year parallels a statewide trend which started in the 1969-70 school year, according to figures released by school officials.

The State Department of Education said last week that current enrollment in both public and non public schools in grades kindergarten through 12 stands at 374,789, down 4,376 from a year ago.

Enrollment in the Wayne-Carroll system at the beginning of the year was 1,081, down seven from a year earlier.

Four years ago the state's school enrollment reached a peak, with 385,452 students enrolled. The same school year there were 1,147 students in the local school system, the largest number ever enrolled.

The enrollment locally dropped to 1,108 in the 1970-71 school year and to 1,088 last year, figures reveal.

The drop in students across the state has been caused by a steady decrease in the number of live births, the Department of State Education said. The same trend has been evident across the nation, it added.

State officials predict that the decline will continue through the 1977-78 school year, when about 346,000 students will be in school.

Enrollment in the local school district climbed steadily from 1955-56 when 444 students were enrolled. Enrollment fluctuated between 402 and 547 from 1924 until 1954.

This year there were 332

students in grades kindergarten through four, 305 in grades five through eight and 444 in grades nine through 12 at the start of school.

A year earlier there were 341 elementary students, 311 middle school students and 436 high school students.

Wayne-Carroll School Smallest of the AA's

The Wayne Carroll school district has the smallest enrollment of the 24 schools in the state which have received the coveted double A rating from the State Department of Education.

The AA rating is given to those schools which are able to meet especially high requirements set by the state. Wayne has had its double A rating for the past several years.

The Wayne County school enrollment of 1,081 at the beginning of the school year was 56 fewer than the school next from the bottom, Broken Bow.

The Lincoln school system, with 29,721 students, has the highest enrollment of the 24 double A schools. Next highest is Bellevue with 10,562 students.

Double A schools with fewer than 2,000 students enrolled include Wayne (1,081), Broken Bow (1,137), Minden (1,175), Chadron (1,213), Crete (1,343), Holdrege (1,409), York (1,618), Lexington (1,633), Alliance (1,711) and Sidney (1,751).

Other double A schools are Hastings, Kearney, Fremont, Millard, Ralston, Omaha Westside, Beatrice, Grand Island, North Platte, Columbus, Lincoln Bellevue, Gering and Scottsbluff.

Mrs. Hale attended Wayne High School and Wayne State College. She has taught school and has worked as a clerk in Wayne.

'Boy, That's What I Call Good Eating'

IT WASN'T ANYTHING FANCY, but the annual chili supper put on by the parents of Boy Scouts in Troop 125 in Wayne Thursday night attracted another large crowd. About 200 persons were served chili and vegetable soup during the evening, slightly more than were served last year, according to Scoutmaster Rod Hughes. Enjoying their supper are Jeanne Morris, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris, and Ann Jenness, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miron Jenness (left), and Pam Bahr, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bahr. All are from Wayne.

Another view: let's not kill the goose before it lays some more golden eggs

Reprinted from Industrial News Review in the U.S. we have made such a fetish of environmental protection that in some areas we risk losing sight of human needs for the amenities of modern civilization and perhaps even for jobs, food and shelter.

In undeveloped countries of the world people are still worrying about how to produce enough food to sustain life. They work most of their lives to do this and secure the minimum in the way of a roof over their heads and clothes to wear.

The question in such countries is how to make the economy productive enough to improve the standard of living of the people. That day seems so far off in many cases that the people in such nations simply would not understand the steps which the United States has taken to discourage the building of power plants, limit the use of agricultural chemicals, block the construction of industrial plants and prohibit the building of homes — all in the name of preserving environmental purity.

This is not to say that the concern which the United States exhibits toward lessening the impact of our civilization upon the natural environment around us is not a good thing. It is intended rather to point out that the American people should take pride in the fact that this nation has progressed so far and been so productive that it can afford to be concerned and do something about it.

In an article entitled "A Question of Ecology" Dr. A. L. Jones, senior research associate at the Standard Oil Company (Ohio), takes a knowledgeable look at the question of whether the United States does indeed face an ecological crisis. He became interested in the subject beyond the requirements of his profession when his 15-year old daughter asked if this would be the last generation of people. This was apparently the impression she was getting from her high school classes.

His findings suggest that some environmental doomsayers may have vasty overestimated man's ability to destroy the environment surrounding him, assuming that he has enough intelligence to avoid a global nuclear holocaust. For example, Dr. Jones states that we are not exhausting the supply of oxygen in our atmosphere. In fact, the supply is virtually unlimited and not threatened by man's activities in any significant way. It is estimated that "if all of the organic material on earth were oxidized (burned) it would reduce the atmospheric concentration of oxygen by less than one per cent."

We have been told that Lake Erie is dead and that the phosphates in detergents are primarily responsible. Actually, sewage from such cities as Toledo, Cleveland and Detroit decomposing in the lake is using up the oxygen in the water. If adequate sewage treatment facilities are installed "the lake will sparkle blue again in a very few years." It is worth noting that the installation of such facilities will depend upon public willingness to pay the cost and upon the availability of vastly increased supplies of electric power.

In summing up, Dr. Jones points out that there is too much alarm caused by the "dire announcements made by technically untrained people and by scientists who have not bothered to check their assumptions against the evidence." Dr. Jones concludes: "We must use our knowledge and not our fears to solve the real problems of our environment. Our future can be better... if we choose to make it so."

The real danger which the United States faces is in failing to recognize the great achievements which are ours. We should appreciate the fact that we have, to a greater extent than any nation in the history of the world, reached the point where we can be concerned with improving many aspects of our life, our society and our economy. The U.S. can do things in this regard that are simply beyond the reach of most of the world's people, considering the present stage of their development.

So far as the U.S. economic system is concerned, it is time we observed the wisdom of fables. To assure that our goose lays more golden eggs, we should not kill it, but rather concern ourselves with its proper care and feeding.

The recent art contest conducted by the Pender Junior Woman's Club attracted 554 entries from students in grade school and high school. A crowd of about 300 persons turned out to view the entries. Winners will go on to district competition in March.

A $2,350,000 bond issue for a new junior high school building at South Sioux City will be voted on March 20.

The rectangular structure to be built on a 14-acre site near the present high school would provide room for 1,000 pupils.

In announcing the special election school board president Sam McMaster said the need for a new junior high building is "critical" because of the extreme over-crowding in the present junior high building.

The existing junior high building would be used as a middle school if the bond issue passes. The new building would cost $1,920,000. Furnishings and equipment would cost $215,000. The parking lots would cost $40,000 and fees for architect and attorney would run $115,000. The other $480,000 would be used for remodeling the junior high shop into a central kitchen.

Dogs have killed 68 head of sheep the Earl Bud' McLaughlin farm near Dakota City since September, the farm says.

"We were losing one or two lambs a night for a good 30 or 35 nights running," he said. The dogs are described as McLaughlin as a black Labrador, German Shepherd and a small cur.

Community leaders at Randolph will meet Friday to elect officers and plan projects for the community's entry in the 1973 Nebraska Community Improvement Program. The meeting will be at the Colonial Manor meeting room at 7:30 p.m.

A closer look...

What a surprise to pick up the latest Nebraska road map and find Charlie Evans riding right out of the Old West to announce the latest effort to promote the state.

Old Charlie is the reincarnation of Buffalo Bill Cody. And the North Platte man relishes the role he plays. Dotted up in long black boots, western jacket and cowboy hat, astride his well-trained white horse and sporting long white hair, mustache and goatee, he's quite a sight. He so closely resembles the famed Buffalo Bill it's amazing.

For North Platte people, Evans is the symbol of their city and their Wild West Show. He gallops onto the football field in front of the North Platte High Buildings during home games, gives something of a show at halftime and rides around the football field firing his six shooter every time the Bulldogs score a touchdown.

He does about the same thing during the Wild West Show, sending the Easterners in the crowd into confusion wondering whether he's part of the show or just off his ranch in the Sandhills and out for a night on the town.

Considering all the parades, shows, press conferences and the like that the gentleman takes part in during the year, I wonder how he manages to make a living.

But, like I said, he relishes every minute of it. I still think it would make a great feature story if somebody could corner old Charlie and find out what makes him tick. I've got a feeling that he probably thinks he is Buffalo Bill Cody and that he's not playing any sort of role.

He's a tough character to photograph, however. He's one of those guys who seems to always end up in your picture, whether you really want him in it or not. Always flashing that smile, shoulders back, chest up, western attire standing tall. One while working on the North Platte newspaper I had to pose a photograph where a couple men were signing a contract on his back and you could just barely make out his face. I don't think he ever forgave me for that.

ANYBODY who hasn't seen the latest road map should get hold of one. The 28 x 36 inch map is sprinkled with four color photographs taken around the state to promote "Nebraska: The Good Life."

Some 600,000 copies of the map were printed for free distribution throughout the nation and to some foreign countries. Total cost of the maps was $46,500.

THERE ARE currently five states — Minnesota, Utah, Mississippi, Louisiana and Hawaii — which prohibit use of studded tires.

They remain prohibited in spite of studies which show that cars equipped with studded tires on the rear can stop 19 to 30 per cent shorter than cars without studded tires, says the Tire Industry Safety Council.

Studies show that cars equipped with studded tires on all four wheels can stop up to 50 per cent shorter than cars without the studded tires.

Haven't been able to figure out why Hawaii would outlaw studded tires. I never even knew they had winter in that paradise state.

EXPLORER SCOUTING is one of the biggest youth movements now going on, according to Scout officials.

Although the history of Exploring can be traced back to 1912 when the Sea Scouts became the first "special" program of the Boy Scouts of America, the real growth has come since 1968. Currently there are more than 25,000 posts across the nation, with membership running just under 400,000. It looks like several posts will be formed in Wayne soon, kicking the membership even higher.

About four per cent of the nation's high school students are Explorers, but in some places the membership is much higher. In Omaha, for instance, 13 per cent of the youths are Explorers.

State patrolman Roy Van Winkle has asked for a jury trial on the assault and battery charge made against him by Elgin police officer Robert Block. The trial has been set for Feb 21 at Neligh. The charge was made after Block was allegedly shot in the neck by the patrolman following a highway chase between Elgin and Neligh.

OBSERVATIONS

Unusual opportunity offered area youths

Young people in the Wayne area who think they might want to study for or enter certain professions when they get out of high school are offered an easy way to find out whether they would like that kind of work.

The opportunity is being offered through the Explorer Posts which will be started up in Wayne following informational meetings scheduled through this week.

A schedule of those meetings is printed elsewhere on this page.

Explorer Posts look like a great opportunity for young people to find out whether they would really enjoy spending the rest of their lives in certain fields.

Membership cost is small. Meetings are usually not held more than once or twice a month. The posts are kept as informal as possible. The adult advisors are just that, they advise rather than run the posts. The youths help decide such things as when to meet and some of the things they would like to do for post activities.

And the variety offered in the posts is amazing, everything from experimenting with air construction to nursing to teaching.

Area youths ages 14 to 20 can attend any of the meetings scheduled this week to find out if they are interested in joining the posts.

He held leads in two one acts, "The Footsteps of Deves" and "The Great Airplane Snatch," and carried a major role in "Space Slowaways." At the same time they are able to make a once-a-year contribution to the council owned Camp Crossed Arrows, located north of Fremont.

plete with platform tents, la tables and wash shelters have been developed.

In 1972, proceeds from the cookie sale were used to main- tain the camp and about in building the first major con- struction on the camp, a win- terized troop house. This year, the proceeds will go toward the debt on the building.

As in previous years, the girls will offer five varieties of cookies: Savannah, minis, scot- tish chocolate and vanilla cream, and cocoa fudge. The cookies which sell for $1.10 a box, tax included, will be delivered after Mar. 30.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q. How long does a landlord have to make a refund to a tenant after the IRS notifies him that he is violating the rent control regulations?

A. If all or part of an increase is determined to be illegal, the landlord has 30 days to refund this amount to the tenant.

Q. I signed a lease on Jan. 1, 1972 and my landlord did not raise rent at all during the year. He now wants to raise rent five per cent next year—twice the automatic 2½ per cent increase allowed under the rent regulations. Can he do this?

A. Yes. This automatic 2½ per cent annual increment may be accumulated. This means that if a landlord did not take advantage of it one year, he may use it the following year.

Q. If I raise my tenants' rent only 1 per cent early in 1973, can I raise their rent by the remainder of the automatic 2½ per cent increase later in the same year?

A. No. This automatic increment may be used only once in any 12-month period, regardless of whether all or only part of the total allowable increment is used in the increase.

Nine Winside Matmen Heading for State

Nine of Winside's 12 varsity grapplers will be heading to state competition this week after coach Doug Barclay's crew literally walked over district competitors at Neligh.

Cat Ed Lienemann (185) and Dean Kruger (145) led the team with three straight pins to earn berths in state competition at Lincoln, Friday and Saturday.

Kruger, with a 24.1 mark, pinned John Gunnin of Plainview in 5:27. His teammate, Lienemann, taking a perfect 22-0 record to state, pinned Battle Creek's Dan Schultz in 2:43.

Winside masterminded its way to the district title with a total of 118 points to outdistance second place Neligh with 70 points.

Dave Jaeger, 119, helped the Winside club mount up the high lead when he decided Neligh's Bruce Bauer, 5.0. Doug Lage added to the cause when he pinned 126-pound Barry Weber of Plainview in 3:32 in the following match.

Earlier Monte Pfeiffer (98) and Brad Brummels (105) lost their matches. But, Barclay pointed out, the top two wrestlers in the different weights will go to the state.

Pfeiffer lost his 2-0 decision to Steve Koenig of Elgin Pope John before Plainview's Roger Hanemann pinned Brummels in 1:25.

Pfeiffer and Brummels, along with second place finishers Steve Suel and Brian Hoffman, are among the nine going to Lincoln.

Suel (132) dropped a 9-2 decision to the No. 1 Class C wrestler in the state, Dale Bonge of Plainview. Teammate Hoffman was pinned by Neligh's Paul Fullerton in a time of 4:36.

One other Cat taking a victory was 167-pounder Dan Bowers. Bowers won a decision over Neligh's Bill Fallesen, 8-3.

In looking over the individual's records, coach Barclay said four of his top wrestlers have 20 victories. In addition to Lienemann's unblemished record, Dave Jaeger holds a 22-1 mark while Kruger has a 21-1 record and Lage holds a 22-3 record.

Sueli possesses the next best mark with an 18-5 showing, followed by Pfeiffer's 14-7. Hoffman's 10-4, Bowers' 7-4, and Brummels' 5-3.

In consolation finals at Neligh Jamey Gunter won the 138 division with an 8-0 win over Plainview's Brookhouser. Doug Anderson (112) also won his weight with a pin over Battle Creek's Hulinsky, and heavy-weight Mike Anderson decided Plainview's Jim Urbina, 8-0.

"I am real proud of our kids in the consolations," Barclay explained. "Even though they knew they could not win a place in the state competition, the guys showed individual pride in winning third place medals."

Medals, he added, were given out to the fourth place winners also. "But none of the boys finished lower than third place—an excellent showing," Barclay said.

The results:

Allen Nudges Pirates For Finale Win

Allen's Stan Perry did it again Friday night. He helped turn the Eagles' last game of the regular season into a 60-50 win over Emerson-Hubbard, their 12th of the year.

The sparky senior forward, who collected a total of 21 points, socked it to the nets with 10 big points in the final stanza to pull Allen out of what looked like a possible defeat.

Allen led the lead at the close of the first, 21-6, setting the pace for what appeared to be a one-sided affair. But Emerson took out their varsity string, except for team leader Mayberry, who ended with 15 points, and went to work the next two quarters to put the Pirates out in front by two going into the fourth quarter.

Perry, Scott Von Minden with 17 and Duane Mitchell with 14 guided Allen to a 23 point showing in the last stanza while holding the Pirates to 11. "Our offense didn't move the second and third quarters," coach Robert Moore pointed out. "But the team put it together in the fourth."

Friday night's encounter marked the end of Allen's regular season. This Tuesday night at Wakefield the Eagles face Osmond for the Lewis and Clark Conference title.

Last week it was announced

Midland Gals Drop Wayne Coeds, 48-43

Revenge begets revenge apparently Midland College basketball coeds came to Wayne State Friday night and did exactly what Wayne's girls had done to them last month. Midland came from behind to win, 48-43, in the varsity's home court.

In a dandy game of suspense, Wayne jumped into a first quarter lead of 14-8, but by halftime Midland pulled up to 20-20. Again the Wayne girls served ahead only to find themselves in another tie, 35-35, as third period time ended.

Then the visitors moved out by six points Wayne rallied from a scoring drought, but could not erase the deficit despite heroic efforts at ball hawking and play making.

Wendy Sno and Dorna Von Gar shared top scoring for Wayne at 13. Eneer Troy led Midland with 14.

Last month Wayne downed Midland at Fremont, 47-45, to average a Midland victory last year in the state women's sport rivalry.

In a junior varsity game following the varsity, Wayne whipped Midland 38-15, playing six-minute quarters.

Wayne's varsity has a 6-3 record; the JV, 5-0.

In B action, the Allen club finished its season with a 9-4 mark, after knocking off Emerson's reserves, 56-38.

Five Blue Devils Off to State

For the first time in Coach Don Koenig's five-year coaching duties at Wayne High, the Blue Devils are sending five men to the state wrestling finals in Lincoln this week.

Jim Neiman, Charles Brockman, Arnold Siefken, Barry Ruback and Brad-Pfleuger will try their hand against the state's top Class B grapplers this Friday and Saturday.

Pfleuger (155) was the only Blue Devil to take a first place in the district meet at Albion Friday when he decided Terry Clark of Albion, 5-1.

Ruback, Siefken and Brockman each took second, but the

As a team, the Blue Devils finished third with 76 points. Schuyler took that spot while Albion captured honors in the seven-team district with 125 points.

"I was a little disappointed that the team didn't get second," Koenig said, "but when you look at it, sending five men to state isn't bad."

Halls at WSC Filled with Language All Understand

Music is the universal language, the song says, and Wednesday afternoon seven junior high bands from the area filled Wayne High School with the language during the West Husker Conference junior high band festival.

According to director Ron Dalton, this was the first time a clinic of this type was held in the area. The only other clinic planned in the state will be held at Papillion, he said.

Although none of the individuals or bands were competing against one another, the air of excitement was present for members of the Wisner-Pilger, Columbus Lakeview, Wayne, Stanton, Madison, Wakefield and Emerson Hubbard junior high bands.

"This gives the student a good chance to see and hear how his peers are doing," Dalton pointed out. "The kids can learn a great deal more because the expert clinicians can offer the students constructive criticism."

Jay O'Leary, woodwind specialist from Wayne State College, and Don Schumacher, brass specialist from Norfolk, listened to the solos, ensembles and large groups. Both men could be found on the stage after each group performed giving the band instructor and members suggestions to improve their playing.

"Both men were a real help," said Diane Trullinger, after her Wakefield band performed. "They thought the band did a very good job."

Mrs. Trullinger was inclined to agree with the pair since Wednesday's performance was the first ever for the members as one group. "Most of the students being to the senior high band and do not get a chance to play together," she added.

Dalton, as he was busily hustling in and out of the auditorium, making sure the program was running smoothly, later confessed things were running "too smooth." "We were really ahead of schedule," he remarked, "which is alright by me."
