By SANDRA BREITKREUTZ
"We're a first class city with a horse and buggy transportation system," said Mrs. Jocell Bull, director of the Wayne Senior Citizen Center, at a bus hearing Wednesday in Wayne.

About 25 persons interested in providing an efficient transportation system in and out of Wayne attended the hearing at the county courthouse.

John Finnigan of Lincoln, chief counsel for the Nebraska Public Services Commission (formerly the Railway Commission), heard the application by Arrow Stage Lines, Inc., and Black Hills Stage Lines, Inc. of Norfolk concerning changes in their bus line operations.

Robert Planansky and Patrick Quinn, attorneys from Lincoln, represented the stage lines.

Mrs. Bull spoke for the group of Wayne residents who were present to object to the recent bus schedule changes.

Charles Busskohl, president of Arrow Stage Lines and vice president of Black Hills Stage Lines, which operate on the same Norfolk office, presented facts concerning justification for the changes in the operating procedures.

Finnigan asked why the stage lines had put the changes into effect without first obtaining the consent of the Public Services Commission.

Busskohl explained that express—last freight service—is responsible for the majority of his company's revenue, and that if it were not for express, the companies would not be able to offer passenger service at all.

In a projected study by the stage lines for the period of Sept. 23, 1972 through Feb. 23, 1973, it was estimated that the companies would have operated at a deficit of $26,470 under the old system, he said.

Under the old schedule, a bus leaving Norfolk at 7:15 a.m. arrived in South Sioux City at 9:15 a.m., and a bus leaving South Sioux City at 4:45 p.m. arrived back in Norfolk at 6:45 p.m. Both buses made stops in Wayne.

Under the new schedule which went into effect Sept. 16, 1972, buses leave South Sioux at 9:45 a.m. and arrive in Norfolk at 11:30 a.m. and leave Norfolk at noon and arrive in South Sioux City at 1:45 p.m. Stops are made at Wayne.

Busskohl explained that the new schedule allows the buses to be free in the afternoons for charter service, a further source of income for the stage lines. In addition, he said, it cuts off several hours of layover time which drivers had to be paid for under the old system.

Mrs. Bull objected that the new schedule does not allow a Wayne resident opportunity to go into South Sioux City for shopping or a doctor's appointment and return by bus the same day.

She explained that most senior citizens are too proud to ask for a ride and many are unable physically or financially to spend the night out of town each time a trip is necessary.

She felt public relations could play a big part in increasing passenger revenue for the stage lines and pointed out that schedules are currently unclear and difficult to obtain.

She asked that the stage lines consider giving the town a workable schedule on at least one or two days per week if it could not manage one Monday through Friday.

Also speaking out in behalf of a more workable bus schedule were Mrs. Albert G. Carlson of Wayne and Kay Cliff, VISTA worker in the Wayne area.

Miss Cliff expressed her belief that many college students would use the bus if a schedule could be set up that would provide them with transportation back into Wayne on Sunday evenings.

Results of the hearing, which was recorded to be replayed for the Public Services Commission, will be made known in two or three weeks, said Finnigan.

Area Women on Council Board

Two area women were selected to the Northeast Nebraska Family Community Affairs Council board during last week's meeting at the Northeast Station near Concord.

Pat Dahl of Hoskins was elected for a three-year term to represent Wayne County on the board and Mrs. Marie George of Dixon was appointed to a two-year term for Dixon County.

Both women, along with the seven other members of the board, attended the two and a half hour meeting that centered on the future of mental health facilities in the Northeast Nebraska area.

According to Jane Ford of Norfolk, area mental health educator, there are eight "service centers" in the six county region ready to serve the needs of the community. Those counties are Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Wayne, Thurston and Dakota.

Mrs. Ford pointed out that the various communities in the counties need to be more acquainted with the facilities of the service centers in order for these centers to help the people.

Mrs. Ford called for "more involvement in the clinics and service areas" by the council to help generate better community interest.

During the earlier part of the meeting, Neal Boesch of Laurel, in charge of the alcoholism center in Norfolk, told the gathering of the usefulness of the center that helps serve 22 counties in the area.

In other business the members voted to send $10 for the Nigerian relief fund.

4 Winside Students Named 'Outstanding'

Four students at Winside High School have been selected as Outstanding Teenagers of America for 1973.

The youths are Pat Danberg, Jean Weible, Nancy Gallop and Scott Jackson.

Nominated by school officials, they were chosen for excellence in academic achievement and community service. They automatically qualify for state, regional and national honors and for scholarships totaling $7,000.

The four students will compete for the state's Outstanding Teenager of the Year trophy to be presented by Governor J. James Exon.

State winners will be eligible for awards totaling $7,000, with one boy and girl receiving scholarships of $1,000 each to a college or university of their choice. Ten regional winners will also be selected from the remaining state winners to receive $500 scholarships.

Principal at Wakefield Is Back at Work

A Wakefield school principal who lost his left arm in a farm accident in January returned to his teaching duties last week.

Elementary principal Derwin Hartman, who had his arm torn off in a power take-off while working on a farm near Carroll, began working full time last Tuesday.

The accident occurred on the Lester Boyce farm about three miles north and a half mile west of Carroll. Hartman was hospitalized in Sioux City following the accident.

The performers include William Fletcher of Wayne, violin; Pam Smith, Laurel, snare drum; Peggy Myer, Woodbine, Ia., mezzo soprano; Gerald Kubik, Bancroft, baritone; Mary Jo Casey, Peterson, Ia., clarinet; Cindy Haase, Denison, Ia., contralto; Jerri Paulson, Omaha, flute, and flute ensemble.

Interest Running High In 'Battle of Batters'

It looks like there's going to be little trouble in getting 90 men and boys signed up to take part in the coming "Battle of the Batters" in Wayne to raise money for the March of Dimes.

Rowan Wittse, chairman of the county fund drive, said he and Ted Bahe, co-chairman for the coming event, signed up about 45 businessmen Wednesday and Thursday with little trouble.

The event will be a contest to see who can bake the best looking and most creative cake. The contest is open to both adults and youths, with trophies going to winners in each division.

Contestants will bake and decorate their cakes either Tuesday or Wednesday, Feb. 27. The cakes will be sold the following evening to raise funds for the March of Dimes.

There are a few catches to the contest, however. The men and boys will not be able to receive any help from their wives or girlfriends, and they will have to bake the cakes from scratch within an hour and a half. There's an unlimited time allowed for decorating their efforts.

Trophies will be awarded on the basis of decorations, Wittse said, because there will be no way to determine whose cakes taste the best. "They can cover up their mistakes," he noted.

Funds raised in the cake sale will be added to those already collected in the city and those being collected in the county.

The contest is open to all men and boys in the area. Those wishing to take part should contact either Wittse or Bahe to sign up for a certain time period their baking.

Boys through the eighth grade may enter the junior division. Teenagers will compete with adults in the senior division.

The contest and auction will be held at Peoples Natural Gas Co. in Wayne.

Stage Band Plays in 3-State Jazz Festival

Wayne High's stage band took part in the first annual Tri State Jazz Festival at Morningside College recently.

The 22-member band, directed by Ron Dalton, competed with three other Nebraska groups — South Sioux City, Waltham and Osmond — and 10 Iowa high school bands in the all-day affair.

The Iowa schools took top honors in the contest — Jefferson, Des Moines Hoover and Fort Dodge.

Woody Herman was guest conductor during the festival. Herman and his Thundering Herd performed during an evening Herman and his Thundering Herd performed during an evening concert.

Wayne State's Phi Mu Sorority, which last year enlisted the aid of 28 young people in a $900 hike for HOPE, this year has hopes of involving the entire community in their fund-raising walk.

In an initial attempt to contact those present at the Phi Mu Organization, Susan Project HOPE representative from Houston, and Barbara Ludwig, Phi Mu member and local hike chairman, spoke with members of the Wayne High School student council last week.

This Thursday Phi Mu members will present an all-school convocation at the high school lecture hall. A film will be shown and hike pledge cards will be distributed. Jody Cullen, hike publicity chairman, Miss Ludwig, Ellen Funk and Cathy Anderson will be on hand to answer students' questions about the walk and about how to obtain pledges.

Project HOPE began in 1958 when a Washington, D.C., heart specialist, Dr. William B. Walsh, submitted a plan for the world's first peacetime hospital ship, the U.S.S. HOPE, a converted 15,000-ton veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict, emerged in 1960 as a self-contained 108-bed medical center.

The ship has since made training and service missions to Indonesia, South Vietnam, Peru, Ecuador, Guinea, Nicaragua, Columbia, Ceylon, Tunisia, the West Indies and Brazil.

HOPE goes only where invited and where the need is greatest. The ship's missions last from 10 to 12 months each and in some instances result in land-based programs being continued after the ship's departure.

MARJORIE JACOBSEN
The Gallery Operator Is Suicide Victim

A Wayne businesswoman was an apparent suicide victim Thursday morning.

Mrs. Marjorie Jacobsen, operator of The Gallery, was found dead in her home on East Fifth St. by law officers shortly before noon Thursday.

Death was attributed to carbon monoxide poisoning, according to Budd Bornhoff, county attorney.

He said Mrs. Jacobsen, who operated the fabric shop since last July, apparently had left her car running in the garage and had left the door from the garage to the house open. She was found dead in her bed, he said.

Vern Fairchild, city police chief, and S. C. Thompson, deputy county sheriff, found her body after being called by a store employee, who said Mrs. Jacobsen had not come to work Thursday morning.

Mrs. Jacobsen, 47, came from Beresford, S. D., last year to open the retail fabric outlet on Main Street.

Her husband, Robert, is serving in the U. S. Air Force in Thailand. A daughter lives in Kansas City, Mo., and a son lives in Downey, Calif.

Memorial services for Mrs. Jacobsen will be held at the chapel at Wittse Mortuary in Wayne at 11 a.m. Monday. Funeral services and burial will be in Olathe, Kan.

Teachers At Winside OK Offer

Winside teachers and school board members have formally concluded contract negotiations for the 1973-74 school year.

Acceptance by the teachers of the contract terms was received in writing from Doug Barclay, chairman of the teachers' salary committee, at last week's board meeting.

The board had met with teachers early in January to discuss salary, increments, insurance benefits, sick leave and extracurricular pay schedules.

The new contract provides a salary base of $4,500 with a three and one half per cent pay raise for each year of experience and a four per cent pay raise for each nine hours of graduate work accumulated.

This is an increase over the present $6,450 base with three per cent increment for experience and four per cent increment for graduate work.

The school district agreed to pay half of the monthly family insurance premiums.

The extra curricular pay schedule was revised to provide pay increases for experience.

Teachers will continue to have only 15 days cumulative sick leave, but will be allowed 20 day emergency sick leave subject to the superintendent's approval.

In other business the school board discussed but came to no decisions concerning salaries and fringe benefits for non-teaching teachers.

It was noted that three vacancies will need to be filled on the teaching staff for the coming year. Resigning are Mrs. Dennis Rohde, art instructor; Mrs. Cliff Peters, fifth grade; and Gladys Reicher, fourth grade.

The board also adopted the 178 day school year to run from Aug. 23, 1973 through May 17, 1974.

Jim Ricketts of Nebraska City will be president of the Student Senate at Wayne State College in the coming year. He won a student body election, defeating Charles Emanuel of North Bend.

Paul Johaneck of Omaha won the vice-presidency over Joel Miller of Atlantic, Ia. The outcome was unusual as split-ticket voting elected a president and vice president from opposite teams for the first time in many years.

Ricketts is a junior majoring in communication arts. Johaneck is a junior majoring in social sciences.

The new officers will begin duties at the Senate's Feb. 25 meeting, succeeding President Doug Livermore of Oto, Ia., and Diana Pohl of Pierson, Ia.

Scholarships Offered to Wayne State

Spring graduates in Nebraska high schools have 17 opportunities to win full tuition scholarships at Wayne State College for the 1973-74 school year.

The scholarships are authorized by the State College Board of Trustees and the state legislature.

Requirements are that the seniors rank in the upper one-fourth of their class, receive high marks on ACT tests and good recommendations from school teachers and administrators.

Deadline for applying for the scholarships is March 1.

Yugoslavian Dancers at Wayne State

Wayne State College's Special Program Series will present the Ljubljana Dancers and Singers of Yugoslavia Wednesday evening at 8.

The widely acclaimed troupe's performance is open to the public. Because of limited seating in Ramsey Theater of the Fine Arts Center, all seats are reserved. Reservations can be made at the office of Dr. Robert Johnson, just off the lobby of the Fine Arts Center, from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Admission is free to Wayne State students and faculty, $2 for others.

The Ljubljana (pronounced Loo-bli-anna) company is noted for its performance of colorful Slovene folk dances and the jilting Yugoslav songs in authentic and original form.

The Singers and Dancers of Ljubljana combine two Yugoslav ensembles, the France Marolt Dancers and the Tone Tomaz Choir. Although they tour as separate societies, they were founded by the same man, the late Frances Marolt, noted conductor and collector of Slovene songs and dances.

City Office To Close On Saturdays

Starting in March the city clerk's office in Wayne will be closed on Saturday mornings.

Clerk Dan Sherry was given authority to close Saturday mornings starting next month by the city council during last week's council meeting.

Sherry said closing the office will affect few residents because the business done at his office Saturday mornings is very small. During the past six months, an average of four or five persons conducted business during that time, he said. The highest number using the office during those months was about eight, he added.

Sherry noted that those persons who often pay their light or water bills on Saturday mornings will still be able to do so by dropping their check in the door slot.

Americans want their mail delivered in reasonable time. They won't be flim-flammed into thinking service is good through misleading statistics, new mail schemes on mail boxes or by attempts to set up in post offices relating operations that compete with local businesses.

getting mail from here to there. That doesn't appear to be the emphasis of the Postal Service when it is hiring specialists in fringe benefits and social priorities making up to $24,783, lobby program officers drawing as much as $27,383, a suggestions award administrator whose top salary can be $30,280 and a manager of creative services with an earnings ceiling of $33,493.

careful digging into the Postal Service's record-keeping, however, reveals that a few factors were ignored in compiling their statistics. Sundays and holidays were treated as though they don't exist. Their measurement of time of transit began with postmarking, assuming that all mail is collected, transported and prepared for postmarking on the same day it is mailed.

It could be: "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night, shall stay these bureaucrats from delegating, forwarding for study, intercalating, infra-structuring and stimulating their dominions to effloresce."

Weekly gleanings. . . News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

A closer look. . .

By Norvin Hansen

Dear Editor: Wayne You stated in your editorial ("Progress Isn't Free," Feb. 9) that the farmers can't stop progress. We take it that you think it is progress to ruin a number of sections of choice Wayne County farm land for pivot irrigation.

Consolidated Edison is presently building 200-300 miles of 345 KV line underground in New York. This line from Dakota City to Norfolk is only 230 KV in comparison, and it would be a much simpler task to lay a line across open farm land underground than it is in the city.

About $400 in counterfeit $20 bills has been recovered at South Sioux City. The bogus money was found under the hood of a car driven by Malcolm Morrison, 36, of Sioux City. Morrison was arrested at a South Sioux business early in February after a bartender spotted a counterfeit bill. He was taken to Omaha to face charges in federal court of passing counterfeit money.

I ran across a most interesting book the other day. Its title: "Centerline." Its subject: accidents and death on the state's roads in 1971.

that county in 1968, but five died the next year, seven in 1970 and eight in 1971. Wayne County recorded four deaths in 1968, two in 1969, four in 1970 and three in 1971.

Wayne also has the highest mill levy among those school districts — a total of 67.50. Other total mill levies: Allen — 45.44; Winside — 47.02; Wakefield — 53.20; Laurel — 55.74.

Nebraska Public Power Company estimates the cost of underground line at $370,000 per mile, or $185,000 per half mile. Using the generated income theory, the quarter section would repay the underground cost is less than three years.

The party really guilty of stopping all progress is NPPD with its outdated surface line they are putting up. It stops all progress along its course forever. One can't use pivot irrigation, do aerial spraying of crops or increase the size of his farm. It's a detriment to the whole nation when it is put up in the middle of sections and diagonally across them. The very least they could do is follow permanent road boundaries in a straight line from their subdivision.

Borrowed from the "Nearly News" column written by West Point Republican publisher Dick Lindberg. An eight-year-old boy objected to going to Sunday school. "Stinks," he griped. "I bet dad never went to Sunday school when he was a kid." His mother reassured him that dad went regularly. "O.K.," the boy agreed reluctantly. "But I bet it won't do me no good neither."

Just try guessing how much those 45,492 accidents cost the state. Ten million dollars? Twenty million? Thirty million?

Just a few more facts before I drop this gruesome subject. If all the people who died on the state's roads in 1970 and 1971 were scattered across the state there would be a dead body every 11 miles along every federal and state highway in Nebraska.

These figures are taken from another publication which makes interesting reading if you have the time. It's the Nebraska Educational Directory for 1972-73. It's published by the State Department of Education.

OBSERVATIONS

Attracting industry not a simple task

A community can't just all of a sudden decide it wants new industry, and expect to get it. It doesn't work that way, according to the experts. There has to be a lot of advanced planning and work done if a community hopes to attract an industry to help provide jobs, spur the local economy and help share the tax load.

also providing more job opportunities. on and off the farm. People building means providing better educational opportunities, expanding health services, improving cultural opportunities and helping the disadvantaged.

All members of the board of directors of the Colonial Manor at Randolph were re-elected during a stockholders meeting recently.

Those are the figures for wage losses, medical and hospital bills, insurance settlements and property damage.

Teachers out looking for a job in Northeast Nebraska would probably be very happy if they could land one in the Wayne-Carroll school system — it pays better.

I wish the Wayne police department would start taking those people to court who don't scoop the snow off the sidewalks in front of businesses. There's an ordinance on the books which says the snow has to be removed within 24 hours after a storm, but there have been at least two or three places downtown which have remained unscoped for days after the recent snows.

Re-elected as officers of the board were Harrison Huwaldt, chairman; Joseph Rogers, secretary, and Vernon Viergutz, treasurer.

Those are the figures for wage losses, medical and hospital bills, insurance settlements and property damage.

The local school district pays its elementary teachers an average of $1,254 more and its secondary teachers an average of $2,275 more than the next highest paying area school district, Wakefield.

That's certainly not fair to the businessmen who see to it that their walks are scooped clean as soon as possible. It certainly couldn't be that the police are glancing the other way when they see those walks so nobody is offended? Well, one of these days somebody is going to slip, fall and suffer a serious injury. It's bound to happen. . . this winter or some other one.

Bob Fritschen, swine specialist at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station near Concord, will speak at a meeting on swine problems in Pender Thursday at 8 p.m.

Although Wayne and Cedar Counties have had about the same number of road fatalities each year for the past several years, the number killed in Cedar County climbed sharply between 1968 and 1971.

The Wayne-Carroll elementary teachers are receiving an average salary of $9,191 this year. The secondary teachers are receiving an average salary of $10,282.

Guests, registered by Nancy Wallin of Concord, were ushered to their places by Bryan Reinhardt of Wayne and Tom Podany of Pilger.

Candles were lighted by Robert Reinhardt of Wayne and Sally Podany of Pilger. Joe Manley of Wayne sang "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Harris Heinemann. The Rev. E.A. Binger officiated at the double ring rite.

Honor attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Koehimoo of Pilger. The bride chose a mid-Victorian gown of ivory peau de soie and Chantilly lace, fashioned with empire waistline, full sleeves caught to deep cuffs, and a chapel-length train. She carried yellow roses and a stephanotis wreath.

Mrs. Koehimoo wore an empire styled gown of dark olive velvet trimmed with white lace and carried a cascade of yellow and gold pompanos.

Mrs. Reinhardt chose a pink double knit for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. Podany wore a blue double knit frock. Both had black accessories.

2 Counties Reorganize Welfare Departments

Two Northeast Nebraska counties — Dixon and Cedar — are among 34 in the state to reorganize their county public welfare departments, according to state welfare director Lawrence Graham.

The counties have reorganized their staffs for reorganized administration of social services and income maintenance.

Independent functioning of these two programs was started Jan. 1 under a nationwide federal mandate to achieve better accountability of costs and results of services provided to welfare recipients.

Graham said the 34 counties separating staff functions represent 80 per cent of the state's population and handle 85 per cent of the services and assistance payments for aged, blind and disabled recipients and for families with dependent children.

While all counties will maintain separate procedures and records for social services, a division of personnel between services and income maintenance was not feasible at this time under Federal guidelines, he said.

Under the changeover, Graham said income maintenance technicians will process eligibility and payment determinations for the adult and family assistance categories, medical assistance eligibility, emergency aid and special needs.

However, he pointed out the most pronounced change is the new system of goal-oriented social services, which is designed to tailor services specifically to the needs of an individual or family, provide periodic evaluation of results and establish cost accountability for the various services.

Teachers Plan To Discuss Curriculum

All teachers in the Wayne-Carroll school system will meet Wednesday after school to discuss the health education curriculum recently drawn up by the school. The meeting to review the curriculum, recently presented to the school board, is set for the high school lecture hall. Superintendent Francis Heun said school officials are trying to impress on the teachers that instructing students in such areas as narcotics and drugs has to be done by all teachers and not just those in health education.

Caeseroles Coming Up

Defining the word "casserole" as a "conglomeration" could be fairly accurate... if conglomeration means a mixture of protein food, starches, vegetables, sauces, and seasonings. During next week lesson leaders from extension clubs and other interested organizations in the area will receive training on how casseroles fit into family meal patterns. These lesson leaders will then give the lesson to their clubs in March. Joycelyn Smith, area extension home economist from the Northeast Station near Concord, will be conducting training meetings as follows: -Feb. 19, 4-H Building, Wait-hill. -Feb. 20, Ridge View Manor, Coleridge. -Feb. 21, Northeast Station, Concord. -Feb. 22, Equitable Savings & Loan, South Sioux City. -Feb. 23, Villa Wayne, Wayne. All training meetings begin at 12:30 p.m. These extension lessons will show the advantages of casserole cooking in terms of time, money, convenience and variety.

87 Study In Classes For Adults

Area adults interested in obtaining their high school diplomas or brushing up in one or more areas of study are reminded of the free adult basic education classes which are held weekly at Wayne State College. Twenty seven students are now enrolled in the classes, which meet each Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 17 of the WSC Fine Arts Center. Two of those students are planning to take their high school diploma tests within the next few weeks.

Mrs. Stanley Willis, who instructs the classes, has announced that the statistics for graduating students is higher in Wayne than in any other community where the program is in operation.

The classes, funded by the federal government, are open to area people of all ages. Students may enroll at any time during the year. Teaching is on an individualized basis.

Assisting Mrs. Willis are Mrs. Keith Mosley and Mrs. Lella Maynard.

More information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Willis or by calling the WSC registrar's office.

National Figures Say County to Experience Upsurge in Economy

For the Wayne County economy, all systems are "go" for 1973. Everything points to an upsurge in local consumer spending in the months ahead. One basis for the forecast is the extra amount of cash that local residents will be collecting in the form of checks from Washington.

The chief windfall will be the rebates that will be made to those who overpaid their income taxes last year because of excessive withholding from their paychecks.

Nationally, no less than $7 billion in such refunds will be going to about 40 million taxpayers during the next few months, the Treasury Department estimates.

The tax refunds to residents of Wayne County will add up to approximately $345,000. It is calculated that the reimbursement will go to some 2,000 people in the local area, averaging nearly $175 per recipient.

More money will be going, also, to those who are on government payrolls, including the military. They will share in a pay hike of $2.3 billion.

In addition, local residents will share in an extra $2 billion that will be distributed through social security, on top of the 20 per cent increase that went into effect in September, to certain widows, widowers, disabled persons and others.

Offsetting this somewhat are bigger payroll taxes that became operative at the beginning of this year.

All in all, however, the nation's consumers will have nearly $11 billion more from these three sources alone.

Assuming that Wayne County gets a proportionate share of it, there will be approximately $539,000 more available to local residents.

With the public in more of a spending mood than in a long time, it is expected this money will soon be reaching the cash registers of retail stores in the area.

For the national economy as a whole, the forecast is for strong growth in 1973. "It will be fast, cyclical and speculative," according to The Conference Board, "but the problems of controlling inflation may grow more acute."

State's Cage Queens To Be Crowned Here During 2-Day Meet

The queens of Nebraska collegiate women's basketball will be crowned in Wayne next Saturday, Feb. 24.

Six teams, including Wayne State's, are vying for championship of the two-day tournament.

The title game is scheduled for 5 p.m. Saturday in Rice Gym preceding the Wayne State-Hastings men's cage clash.

Miss G. I. Willoughby, tourney director and WSC coach, said pairings will be made Monday on the basis of best records against Nebraska opposition. Her own Wayne quint is 4-1 in state competition (9-3 overall).

Other tourney entrants are Kearney State, Midland, College of St. Mary, St. Omaha, UN- Omaha and UN-Lincoln.

First-round games are set for 3:30 and 5:15 p.m. Friday, second round at 7 and 9 p.m. Friday. Consolation games for the losers are scheduled at 9:15 and 11 a.m. Saturday.

One ticket at $1 for adults, 50 cents for students is good for all games.

Wayne's team defeated Dorset College here Wednesday, 60-52, as Claudia Paulson had a fine scoring day at 23 points. Dawn Von Glan and Cindy Davis tallied 13 and 12.

The Wayne girls had another home game billed for 7 p.m. Friday against Concordia, then a 7 p.m. game Saturday at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. Their finale before the tournament will bring Westmar to Rice Gym Wednesday.

KENNY STARK of Laurel was recently named vice-president of the State Rural-Urban Youth during a mid-winter institute at Beatrice. Some 150 youths from across the state attended the meeting. The organization is open to unmarried adults between 17 and 30 years of age.

Dick H. Schaffer Mr. NEBRASKAland

Some of us might be eating crow literally, if a recent proposal by the Fish and Wildlife Service is enacted. Regulated sport hunting for the common crow, a migratory species, would be permitted in the 48 contiguous States during a season or seasons not to exceed 124 days each year.

The States would regulate hunting methods, dates, and possession limits.

Crows have been hunted for many years, and since 1972, probably illegally almost everywhere.

According to Carl Gettmann, chief of the Game Commission's law enforcement division, Nebraska statutes permit the killing of crows. This law has not been changed, even though in 1972 the United States and Mexico signed a convention providing further protection for 32 families of birds, including crows, blackbirds, cowbirds, grackles, and magpies.

Gettmann said the act put the "kabosh" on crows, placing them off limits except for depredation situations.

While federal regulations permit taking depredating crows, they make no provisions for possessing those killed. If a person was to shoot a crow in Nebraska, or elsewhere in this country, technically he would be subject to arrest for violating federal regulations.

But according to Gettmann, no arrests have been made to his knowledge for shooting crows illegally in Nebraska.

The Fish and Wildlife Service says the crow is certainly not an endangered species, but that it should now be assured the protection accorded other migratory game birds.

The crow has never had it so good! It figures into still other action. Michigan Rep. John D. Dingell introduced a bill that requires a $1 federal permit for taking any migratory game birds other than migratory waterfowl. The crow falls into this group, along with sand hill cranes, doves, cool, rails, snipe, etc.

Today's $5 duck stamp covers only the hunting of ducks, geese, brants, and swans. Money from the proposed $1 permit would go into the migratory-bird conservation fund.

Next time you see a crow, give that black bandit a salute: he's moving up in the world.

Migration Underway

Waterfowl migration is apparently started. U. S. game management agent Joel Scraftford of North Platte reported the first migrants in south-central Nebraska — a minor influx of pintails, gadwalls, and mallards, and also a few whitefronts and Canadaes.

Late last week the Game Commission reported about 10,000 Canada geese at the Keith County Refuge.

Nebraska waterfowl specialist George Schildman noted that Nebraska's wintering birds are getting "antsy." They are beginning to disperse up and down the Platte River, into smaller wetlands and open waters, such as sheet water in fields, but not heading north as yet.

ASCS Offices Closed For Holiday

Because Washington's Birthday will be observed as an official federal holiday today (Monday), the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) county office will not be open for program sign-up or other farm program business.

Pointing out that this is the only holiday which occurs during the Feb. 5-March 16 sign-up period for the 1973 feed grain and wheat programs, county ASCS committee chairman Harry Heinemann said producers should not come to the office on that date.

"A lot of us are still not used to the fact that all federal holidays by law are now observed on a Monday — except for Christmas, New Year's, Independence Day and Thanksgiving," he said. "After all these years of knowing George Washington's birthday falls on February 22, it takes a while to realize the observance is on a different date."

Other federal holidays in 1973 on which the ASCS and other federal offices in Wayne County will be closed are: Memorial Day, Monday, May 28; Independence Day, Wednesday, July 4; Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 3; Columbus Day, Monday, Oct. 8; Veterans Day, Monday, Oct. 22; Thanksgiving, Thursday, Nov. 22; Christmas, Tuesday, Dec. 25.

Cleaning Up

WAYNE STREET DEPARTMENT workers were busy Tuesday trying to remove snow from city streets in hopes of getting as much of the snow removed as possible before the cold wave hit the city. They were pretty successful, making the streets a bit safer to drive on Wednesday when temperatures dipped way below freezing.

COMING TO WAYNE STATE COLLEGE Wednesday night are these Dancers and Singers of Ljubljana, masters of the ancient folk song and dance in their Yugoslavia homeland.

Over 100 Gather at 1st Annual English Day

The first annual English Day last week at Wayne State brought 96 students and seven teachers to the campus from the Wayne, Pierce, Emerson-Hubbard, Bloomfield, Lincoln, Plainview, Battle Creek and Wausa public schools.

Purpose of the English Day was to acquaint high school students with Wayne State College and its facilities and to encourage students to attend school at Wayne.

High school teachers were introduced to the procedures and standards in English required at Wayne State by many activities of the day and a workshop in standards of composition held in the afternoon.

Students visited many regular classes and special seminars in creative writing on essays, stories, poetry and poetry readings. Tours of the campus were also conducted.

Favorable comments were received throughout the day from students and teachers. Dr. Laura Franklin, head of the English Department, said she viewed the day as successful. She expressed hope it would be sponsored again in the future.

Students said they were surprised by the informal conduct of college classes and by the varied activities which they saw taking place around campus. Teachers spoke of valuable insight into the college English program, and how to prepare their students better for college composition.

known throughout Europe many years before World War II. Often his chorus, short of money, slept in a rehearsal hall for weeks during preparation of "Tours."

When the war broke out, their devotion to folk songs was so irresistible that they performed even in occupied Ljubljana. Then they went to fight for the liberation of their country.

Among many singers who died last, Tone Tomšic, who became a national hero. The choir took his name when it was re-founded after the war. At the same time the Marolt dance group also was formed.

Whoops! There Goes Another Cake Down The Drain

Men are already practicing their cake baking skills in preparation for next week's fund raising "Battle of the Batters" in Wayne.

Rowan Wiltse, county chairman for the March of Dimes, said one man has already tried baking a cake at home with little success.

"I'm going to have to bake a couple more," Wiltse quoted the man as saying after his first attempt was less than highly successful.

The cake baking contest will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Peoples Natural Gas Co., with the sale scheduled for the following night.

By earlier this week there were about 55 men signed up for the all male baking contest, Wiltse said. About 90 contestants should be signed up by the time the ovens are turned on, he added.

The contestants include businessmen, employees and several area farmers, he said. There may be as many as two dozen farmers taking part in the contest, he noted.

Men will have one and a half hours to bake their cakes and an unlimited time to decorate them. Baking will be done between 8 a.m. and 9:30 p.m. both Tuesday and Wednesday.

However, contestants can receive no help from women, and they must bake their cakes from scratch, Wiltse emphasized.

The event will be the first one ever held in Wayne to raise funds for the March of Dimes. It is being held in place of solicitations for funds from Wayne businessmen.

Wiltse said he hopes the sale of the cakes will raise approximately $300.

Learning the Finer Points

CHANCES ARE you won't find these girls working as "gas jockies" at a nearby filling station. They're only beginners learning the finer things about car engines at Allen High School. ## Don't Bet Against Computer Anybody wanting to match wits with a computer in a game of tic tac toe can give it a try Sunday afternoon at the Wayne State College Computer Center.

That game will be one attraction — on the lighter side — of an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. The main purpose, however, is to show the public numerous uses of the college computer and all the data processing equipment associated with it.

Dave Kruse, director, and Maurice Anderson, who supervises instructional use of the computer, plan to have a variety of programs running during the afternoon.

The Computer Center is located on the ground floor of the Hahn Administration Building.

In recent weeks the center has been host to high school students and teachers from the area. They learned some simpler techniques of data processing. Some of them also tried to beat the computer in tic tac toe — but few ever succeeded. Some Computer Center personnel have learned to outwit the foxy machine.

But it is by most of the time computing college budgetary problems, working projects in science and mathematics, and processing many kinds of data useful to students or the faculty. Classes in data processing use the computer regularly.

Kruse plans to demonstrate some of these functions at the open house. Visitors are welcome to ask lots of questions.

Local School Project Termed Outstanding, To Be Recommended for Adoption Nationally

A federally funded project in language disability developed by the Wayne Carroll school district, has been validated as one of the outstanding programs in the nation and will be recommended for adoption by schools nationally.

A team of four validators from outside the state this week completed two days of intensive analysis of "Project Success."

The program, which will be a national demonstration project, offers new approaches to teaching reading, writing and spelling to children whose learning style is not geared to the conventional methods of teaching.

"Evaluation by the four was presented Tuesday to the project staff and members of the Community Council, the local group interested in promoting and backing the project.

The evaluation report was televised and will be shown later to the full Community Council and parent workshp program to be highly innovative," said Lloyd Lockwood, content specialist, who heads a five county diagnostic clinic in the field of special education in Salina, Kan.

"Elements of this program may be found in other situations, but the products and processes of Project Success, taken as a whole, are not found anywhere else in the country," he said.

Lockwood added, "The fact that between 10 and 20 per cent of intelligent children in the U.S. are not being taught successfully indicates that a change in educational techniques is long overdue."

Project Success is designed to answer that need.

Dr. Anton Netusil, associate professor in statistics at Iowa State University, complimented the staff on the well written goals of the program and the day by day evaluation by which the staff can tell where every child is in building the skills he needs to become a good reader and speller.

"If you really want to know how tightly we think of this project," Dr. Netusil said, "watch all of the copies of the material we're taking home with us from your project to get people fired up in our own districts."

"You have made fabulous gains," said Dr. Netusil. "The results of your project would be even more revealing if you established a control group in another district to show the contrast of what happens when SLD children do not get the instruction they need."

Francis Scholtz, coordinator of education in the Diocese of Sioux Falls, commented, "This program can be exported to other districts at relatively low cost because the materials needed have already been written at federal expense, and classroom teachers can be re-trained in a short in-service program."

Dr. Netusil said he hoped work would go on in further validating the motor test devised by Don Koenig, motor perception specialist.

There is a real scarcity in the field of motor perception testing, and the Koenig test has been created to fill a need in this area, he said.

Also heading up aspects of the project along with Koenig are Jean Owens, curriculum modifier, and Marian Rennick, head language therapist.

The project was started in 1967 when Loren Park was elementary principal. Richard Meltzer, current elementary principal, is now project director.

Picture Pages, Letters Rated Tops by Readers

Picture pages and letters to the editor are the most widely read features in The Wayne Herald, a reader opinion survey shows.

A total of almost 94 per cent of those responding in the survey usually read or read sometimes the picture pages and photo features carried by the newspaper.

Nearly 94 per cent usually read or read sometimes the letters to the editor on the editorial page.

Getting the highest readership was the front page, with more than 97 per cent of those surveyed saying they usually read it or read it sometimes. Less than one per cent said they almost never read the front page.

Other features of the news paper gaining high readership were courthouse news, with more than 92 per cent of those surveyed saying they usually read it or read it sometimes; hospital notes, just over 90 per cent; editorials, slightly over 89 per cent; regular advertisements, nearly 89 per cent; classified advertisements, just under 88 per cent; feature stories, slightly over 86 per cent, and city council agenda, nearly 85 per cent.

The survey is the first extensive one ever undertaken by the newspaper.

Nearly 2,000 questionnaires were sent out to readers in Wayne, Winside and Carroll and a sampling of the rural readers. A total of 484 were returned.

Norvin Hansen, editor of the newspaper, said the staff was very pleased with the large number of survey forms returned. The return was much higher than is usually expected in such a sampling, he said.

Some of the features and articles aimed at the rural readers did not fare as well in the survey because fewer farmers were quizzed, he said.

"I was surprised at the high readership of such features as the letters to the editor, hospital notes and courthouse news," he said.

Results of the survey, which See SURVEY, page 11.

EXTENSION NOTES

By Joycelyn Smith

Are you one who takes a vitamin or other food supplement every morning? Did you prescribe it yourself or are you taking it because of your doctor's advice?

Any kind of self-medication seems unnecessary when expert medical advice is readily available. The taking of food supplements without a doctor's prescription is a form of self-medication.

Consider the use of food supplements in a practical sense. That bottle of pills or capsules is costing you money. No one gets any enjoyment out of taking one little pill. And if your body doesn't need the supplement, it will be excreted or will replace food which is deposited as extra pounds on your body.

Instead, use the money to purchase good, nourishing foods. Food gives you nutrients. You also get the exercise of planning, buying, preparing and eating the food. The textures and flavors are certainly more pleasing than a pill. There is no socialability in pill taking, but loss of it in dining with your family and or friends.

At times, food supplements are very helpful and should not

FDA Urges Caution In Using Eye Makeup

Many women suffer infection from misuse of eye cosmetics each year, according to the Food and Drug Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

An FDA report, "Safe Use of Eye Cosmetics," which points out that many women contaminate eye makeup through carelessness, is available at no charge from Consumer Product Information, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Misuse of mascara, eye shadow or eye liners can lead to growth of dangerous bacteria. When applied to areas around the eye, the cosmetics can cause infection. FDA offers the following advice to women who use eye products:

Immediately discontinue use of any eye product that causes irritation. If irritation persists, see a doctor.

Wash hands before applying eye cosmetics. Hands contain bacteria that can cause infection.

Do not use old cosmetic containers if the product has not been used for several months, discard it and purchase a new one.

Do not use saliva to wet or thin eye cosmetics. Bacteria from the mouth may grow in the cosmetic and infection can result. Boiled water can be added to products which have thickened.

Do not share cosmetics.

Do not store cosmetics at temperatures above 85 degrees Fahrenheit. Cosmetics left for extended periods in hot cars, for example, are more susceptible to deterioration.

Allen, Wakefield Advance in Districts

Wakefield and Allen advanced one step further in the Class C basketball district playoffs Monday and Tuesday when the two area schools won their first-round game.

Wakefield, playing a come-from-behind game, turned the fourth quarter into scoring grounds Monday when the area team hit Emerson-Hubbard, 81-73. Allen, using its basic five starters, needed overtime Tuesday to dump Walhill, 89-85.

The Eagles began the game in fast pace motion when they jumped off to a 22-21 first quarter lead and continued the hot shooting into the second and third quarters with 21 points each.

Coach Robert Moore, labeling his offense as perhaps the best in the Lewis and Clark Conference, said he was very pleased with the way his men performed in the scoring department. But as for his defense: "We're probably not as strong."

Allen continued its changing defense in the third, allowing the Jays only 16 points to move out to a 64-51 lead. But then the curtain fell.

"Instead of playing a controlled ball game, we just played our regular game which accounted for their 28 points against our 15," Moore explained. It resulted in a 79-79 tie at the end of regulation play.

During that period, Jeff Gilpin boosted his total output to 28 points — the high for both teams. Moore continued with his starters — Scott Von Minden, Stan Perry, Duane Mitchell, Charlie Peters and Neil Blohm — to carry out the duties in the overtime.

Each man responded with double-figure scoring opportunities. Von Minden, who led his chargers with 24, had help from Perry with 18, followed by Peters with 17, Neil Blohm with 16 and Duane Mitchell with 12 to give Allen 10 points to Walhill's six.

Trojans Triumph
Wakefield's Doug Fischer may not be the biggest man on the Trojan team, but Monday night the 5-8 player didn't need height.

Stage Set (Again) for Possible Repeat of Midland-WSC Clash

Midland and Wayne State College women's basketball teams are seeded one and two for the Nebraska collegiate women's championship tournament scheduled this Friday and Saturday, at Wayne.

That seeding put Midland and Wayne in the same position they finished last year when Midland coached won the state finals. Miss C. L. Wroughton, WSC coach and tournament director, said seedings are based on records of the six entries against Nebraska opponents.

After Midland and Wayne, the seedings put Kearney State in a tie third, University of Nebraska-Lincoln fourth, UN-Omaha fifth, and College of St. Mary, Omaha, sixth.

UNL and St. Mary are matched in the first game at 3:15 Friday in Wayne State's Rice Gym, the winner going against Midland at 7 p.m. Friday.

Wrestling
The hustling junior playmaker used his ability to score six buckets and break a deadlocked game three times to aid Wakefield to a 81-73 first round district win over Emerson-Hubbard at Wakefield.

Fischer, who popped in a total of 18 points for the night, flashed his way through the Pirate defense to grab the important steals that enabled him to break a 69-all tie, that eventually led coach Joe Coble's club to their 13th win against seven losses.

Emerson-Hubbard was a 3-16 going into the tilt.

Emerson-Hubbard, in command through three quarters of action, rattled the nets for a 27-23 first quarter lead. Wakefield trailed 8-2 early in the period.

"They just out hustled us for the rebounds and the good shots," Coble remarked.

Both teams settled down in the second quarter with Wakefield leading the edge, 12-10, for a two-point deficit, 37-35, at intermission.

In third quarter play, the Trojans fought to an 18-18 deadlock before the Pirates hit 28 points to the Trojans 18 in the final stanza.

The Pirates, who took the lead in field goals, 31-30, came out on the short end of the charity line where they converted only 11 of 19 compared to the Trojans' 21 of 33.

During the heated contest, the Pirates were called for 27 personal fouls.

Pirate junior guard Jim Sullivan garnered 23 points for game high teammate Dale Bell, also a junior, ripped the nets for 20.

Helping Fischer in the scoring department were four other players in double figures—Dave Scheel with 16, Sam Utecht with 15, Keith Siebrandt with 12 and Doug Soderberg with 10.

Winside Whipped
During the first round action Monday night, Pender pounded out its right to stay in the tourney when it pummeled Winside, 57-20.

Dragon Barry Mable scored 20 points followed by Keith Berg's 13 as Pender moved out to a slow first quarter lead, 10-4.

The Cats, led by Larry Weible's 10, could put together only two seemingly strong periods with 10 points in the second and fourth stanzas while collecting six in the third.

Wakefield's Gardner, Rouse Take State Crowns at Wrestling Tourney

By BOB BARTLETT

Wakefield's Kirk Gardner and Dave Rouse broke the old news that 13 is an unlucky number.

Both Trojan grapplers, along with Steve Sorenson, made the trip to the state wrestling meet in Lincoln last week to give coach Lyle Trullinger the honor of having 13 men make it to state during his four years of coaching at Wakefield.

Gardner and Rouse added the crowning blow to the superstition when they captured gold medals.

Gardner, for the second year in a row, took the 155-pound state title Saturday when he decisively Mike Rhoades of Mitchell 7-5. In addition, the Trojan senior completed his wrestling season with a perfect 28-0 record.

Earlier, Rouse powered his way to the top spot in the 105-pound class with an 11-1 decision over Doug Paulson of Fremont.

Rouse made his last run 2-1 after breaking a 1-1 deadlock with his riding time against Scott Arnold of Wymore, south, in the first pairing he drew a bye.

In the quarterfinals, Rouse found his second match a bit easier as he took a 7-0 decision over Okhosh's Kent Pollard to get the right to the semifinals.

For Gardner, his first match pitted him against Terry Jantzi of Millard. Kirk won that match with his only pin of the tourney, a 5-1 effort.

The following match, against Ravenna's Joe Keefe, saw Gardner take a 16-2 decision for his second win and a ticket to the semifinals.

In the semi's Kirk ran into last year's 115-pound state runner-up, Roger Hunter of Pushville, but the hefty Trojan escaped with a 3-1 decision.

Wakefield's third man, 138-pound Sorenson, lost his bid for state honors when he dropped a 5-2 decision to Raymond Central's Mark Kubik in the quarterfinals. In the first round of competition Sorenson drew a bye.

Hopes were still alive that Sorenson could salvage third place.

But an apparent misunderstanding eliminated Sorenson from going any further when he failed to appear for Friday night competition.

According to Trullinger, an official Friday night said that Sorenson was to have Saturday morning for a chance to take third. But when Steve came that morning, officials said he was eliminated because he did not show up Friday night.

Winside and Wayne, who had a total of 14 wrestlers in the state meet, failed to see any of their men take first place.

But Wildcat Ed Liemann, wrestling in the 185-pound class, made it to the finals and finished with a second place showing.

Liemann, battling Roger Vurus of Hebron, suffered his first loss of the season, 7-2. He finished his season with a 24-1 record.

Ed started out with a bye and worked his way up to the finals with two decisions. The first one came over Paul Jochim of Fremont 11-3 in the quarterfinals and an 8-2 slapping on Lou Pinnas of Bridgeport in the semi's.

Liemann was the only member of the nine-man Wildcat squad to place in the state tourney. Other men completing were Monte Pfeiffer (98), Brad Brummett (105), Dave Jaeger (119), Douge Lage (126), Steve Sueli (132), Dean Krueger (145), Brian Hoffman (155) and Dan Bowers (167).

Brummett, Hoffman and Pfeiffer lost their matches in the first round. But Jaeger, Lage, Sueli and Bowers lasted until the second round before each man faltered. Both Jaeger and Lage drew byes in the first rounds but were nabbed in the following matches.

Bob Schneider pinned Jaeger in 5:19 while Lage fell to Chuck Bell of Okhosh, 5-2.

For Sueli, his first match ended up in an 11-2 victory over Neal Johnson of Hooper Logan View. But the next match, against Red Cloud's Rick Hansen, ended in a 3-3 deadlock and an overtime situation. Hansen took the win, 6-0.

Bowers decisively John Maly of Fremont, 10-0, for the first round win but lost the second contest, a pin, to Bob Houston of Bridgeport in 2:37.

Krueger, who also drew a bye in the first round, nailed North Bend's Francis Zakovek in 1:49 before falling to Mark Jones of Broken Bow, 4-2.

Jim Neiman of Wayne, was the only local grappler to finish in the top four. Neiman won fourth place after Dan Brown of Alliance pinned the local in 5:15.

In his first round, Neiman pinned Chris Potter of Valentine in 1:55 before he decisively Lincoln Plus' Jim Finnigan, 8-2.

Neiman then lost his next two matches, 11-5 to Rick Roll of Albia in the third round and finally Brown.

Other Blue Devil men competing were Charles Brockman (heavyweight-1), Brad Pfeiffer (155), Barry Ruback (119) and Arnold Siefkes (145). All four bowed out in the first round.

Brockman was the only Blue Devil to exit on a pin. Sidney's Lawrence Humphrey won the match in 3:16.

Pfeiffer lost his bid on a 5-1 decision to Kelly Langenecker of David City. Aquinas' Jeff Ulm of Tekamah-Herman lacked a 30 decision on Siefkes, while Ruback went down to Gary Maresch of Ord, 7-2.

GIVE ME YOUR HAND Is what Wayne's Jim Neiman seems to be saying as he prepares to take Lincoln Plus' Jim Finnigan in the 132-B class to claim his second win of the tourney. Neiman won the match, 3-1.

Brinkman Out Of Golden Gloves Meet

Wayne State's Bruce Brinkman was eliminated from the Golden Gloves competition last week and when the heavyweight was stopped in the second round.

According to manager Gary Wiebelhaus, Jim Majerus of Petersburg ended Brinkman's hopes of representing the area at the regionals in Omaha, March 9-10. Majerus went on to win the heavyweight title.

In an earlier match, another WSC student Rick Lock (165) advanced to the regionals when he won an unopposed

Athletes of the Week

KIRK GARDNER WAKEFIELD HIGH
DAVE ROUSE WAKEFIELD HIGH
ED LIENEMANN WINSIDE HIGH

Trying to select one athlete of the week is an impossible job when you consider that 20 area wrestlers were among the hundreds who won berths in the state grappling meet in Lincoln last week.

Even trying to choose of those 20 seems like an impossibility. But three area men who deserve recognition are Wakefield's Kirk Gardner and Dave Rouse and Winside's Ed Lienemann.

All three men wrestled their way to the final matches Saturday night—and two of them took home No. 1 honors. Gardner, the only undefeated matman of the three, won his 28th match on a 7.5 decision over Mike Rhoades of Mitchell. In doing so, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gardner of Wakefield set a record for himself in twice repeating as the state champ in the 155-pound division.

Rouse, who was defeated in the state semis last year, completed the goal he set for himself—12 months ago—to win the 105-pound title.

Saturday night the Trojan fireball laid a 11.5 decision on Doug Paulsen of Friend to achieve that goal.

Wildcat Lienemann, who finished second in the 185-pound division, completes the trio.

The senior ended his season with only one loss in 26 matches. During the finals, the Cat grappler lost a 7.2 decision to Hebron's Roger Virus.

Wayne-Hastings Tilt Marks Close Of Cats Season

Wayne State basketball reaches the end of the year this week with the 7:30 finale Saturday evening in Rice Gym against Hastings College, following a Wednesday conference clash at Peru State.

A win at Peru would give Wayne championship of the Nebraska College Conference on a 5-1 record. A Wayne loss would knock the Wildcats in a three-way tie with Kearney and Peru, all at 4-2.

Whatever the NCC outcome, it will not change the fact that Wayne is out of the running for an NAIA district playoff berth. This plum goes to the top team among the four NCC quints plus the University of Nebraska at Omaha. In that circle, Wayne's 23 victories over Peru ranked behind 4-1 UNO and 5-2 Kearney.

UNO can get the playoff bid with a Feb. 28 win over Kearney. However, an Antelope victory would force a one game playoff to settle the state college champ.

The Wayne-Hastings tilt will match teams with the winningest records in Nebraska college basketball (as of Tuesday). Wayne 16-7 and Hastings 21-2.

The Broncos, winners over Wayne 83-77 last month, currently rank No. 16 in the NAIA. They have a winning average close to 20 points a game.

Wayne's last game produced a 72-67 win at Chadron State Friday. It also produced an unusual scoring pattern with Wildcats hitting 13, 12, 11, 10, 9.

Rites Set For George Dennis

Funeral services for George B. Dennis, 73, of Laurel, are set for 2 p.m. today (Thursday) at the United Methodist Church, Laurel. Mr. Dennis died Monday at his home.

The Rev. Robert Neben will officiate. Burial will be in the Laurel Cemetery.

Twelve varieties of bats have been recorded in Nebraska.

Wayne 8-Ball Tourney Finals Next Week

Eight area men will compete in the final rounds of the regional Midwest 8-Ball tourney at Dick's Tavern in Wayne Tuesday night.

Bill Carlson, first week's winner, will challenge Benni Bonenberger in the first round. Other matches include Bob Hewitt, Bruce Roeber, Jack Luft Doug Finn and Mike Loope-Terry Lull.

The winner will represent Wayne at the finals in Omaha, April 8.

Tankers Collect 'Best-ever' Record

There never has been a swimming meet at Wayne State like the dual Tuesday night.

Before the first event, a crowd of some 300 gasped as the lights went out. Within seconds they understood why. A spotlight sliced the darkness to illuminate a color guard of Wildkittens from the college drill team bearing the American flag.

A rousing pep yell by Wildcat swimmers echoed in the pool. Another spotlight shone on the team, standing at the pool's west end — at attention as the National Anthem was played.

And to make the opening ceremony complete, spectators sang the anthem.

Then, on with the Wayne State-Concordia meet. When it was done, Wayne owned a 70-37 victory, running its record to a best-ever 13-3 as a finale to the dual season. Only district and national NAIA tournaments remain.

Wayne won 10 of 13 events and would have claimed first and second points in two of the other three except that they entered as exhibition. Strangely, there was not a single double winner, an indication of team balance.

Dave Justi boomed to a school and pool record in the 500-yard freestyle with a 5:19.2 time. In an earlier meet he set a 1,000 free record at 11:12.1.

The 400 free relay team of Justi, Jim Batten, Mitch Veeder and Doug Krecklow broke a pool record at 3:25.

Last weekend Wayne scored another lopsided win of 65-35 over Buena Vista College Friday at Storm Lake, Ia. Coach Roger Bentley expected that. He also expected what would happen the next day at Marshall, Minn., and he was right.

Powerhouse Southwest Minnesota State submerged the Wildcats, 71-36. The hosts not only won every event, except the exhibition 400 free relay finale, they finished second in all events.

Bloomfield Erases Bears from Districts

The Bloomfield Bees didn't really need Perry Brothers' 32 points Tuesday night — they would have nipped Laurel by one without his efforts to advance to the second round in the Class C district tournament at Norfolk.

The Bloomfield five doubled the Bears' 33-point effort to take a 66-33 win.

Coach Joel Parks' team had trouble from the field, managing only 15 points in the first half while the Bears, backed up 26 points.

Laurel, which hit a total of 16 field goals for the game, only hit one of 11 charity tosses in their season finale.

"We just couldn't hit," Parks said.

WSC Matmen Aim for 9th NCC Championship

A ninth straight championship of Nebraska College Conference wrestling is the goal of Wayne State matmen Saturday at the league meet in Kearney.

Four Wildcats are defending champions. Jim Meyer of Wayne at 126 pounds; Kent Irwin of Council Bluffs, 143 last year but likely to go at 142 this time; Ken Monroe of Arlington Heights, Ill., at 177, and Dennis Reid of DeWitt, Ia., at 190.

Three of these also were NCC champs in 1971. Irwin and Monroe at the same weights and Reid as a heavyweight. Tom Luth of Grand Island placed second in both 1972 and 1971. In one of his 1971 conference matches he achieved a 27-second pin, the fastest fall in Wayne records. He will go at 167 pounds in this meet as Monroe moves back up to 177.

The tournament team and records:

118—Tom Cortez with a 15-7 record and seven pins.

126—Jim Meyer, 13-9, two pins.

134—Larry Kersten, 14-6-1, two pins.

142—Kent Irwin, 11-6-2, two pins.

150—Herb Harris, 2-14-2.

158—Forfeit (Steve Gregory is injured.)

177—Ken Monroe, 16-2, four pins.

190—Dennis Reid, 8-7, three pins.

Hwt.—Ed Travers, 7-5, four pins.

Wayne split a double dual Saturday at Minneapolis, losing to host Augsburg, 24-16, and defeating Augustana of Sioux Falls, 24-22. The action closed Wayne dual season with a 7-3 record.

Cortez topped Wayne efforts with two pins. Luth won by fall and decision; Monroe and Meyer both got a pair of decisions.

Travers, loser in the Augsburg dual, came up with a fall victory against Augustana to give Wayne the team verdict.

Wayne-Augsburg results:

118—Tom Cortez, Wayne, pinned Dave Yamaguchi, 7:50.

126—Jim Meyer, Wayne, decided Scott Brown, 6-4.

134—Jack Soley, Augsburg, decided Larry Kersten, 5-0.

142—Dean Kennedy, Augsburg, won by forfeit.

150—Bill Schmidt, Augsburg, decided Herb Harris, 5-0.

158—Tom Luth, Wayne, decided Mike Haltenbeck, 9-0.

167—Ken Monroe, Wayne, decided John Burgeon, 7-0.

177—Steve Gregory, Wayne, drew with Scott Davis, 1-1.

190—Kim Anderson, Augsburg, pinned Dennis Reid, 4-45.

Hwt.—Ken Schwichtenberg, Augsburg, decided Ed Travers, 11-0.

Wayne-Augustana results:

118—Tom Cortez, Wayne, pinned Gene Vetter, 1-44.

177—Doug Getting, Augustana, won by default over Steve Gregory.

190—Clare Duda, Augustana, decided Dennis Reid, 14-4.

Hwt.—Ed Travers, Wayne, pinned Loel Hayden, 3-40.

Carroll Youths Did Their Part in Remembering Vietnam Prisoners Former WS Instructor Is Dead at Age 97

By MRS. JACK KAVANAUGH
 POW bracelets have created strong, deep personal feelings among young and old for the men whose names are on the bracelets.

And when the names of the prisoners of the Vietnam war being released were announced, many were thrilled by reading a familiar name.

Among those in this area wearing the bracelets are Dallas Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hansen, Joni and Jodi Isom, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Isom, and Bonnie Frahm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Frahm, all of Carroll.

Names of known prisoners and missing servicemen, their rank and date of capture are inscribed on the bracelets worn by many as symbols of hope for servicemen.

The bracelet idea was originated by a Los Angeles group, Voices in Vital America (VIVA), as a way of drawing attention to the plight of captured Americans. It is reported that some 1,400 names of servicemen are engraved on bracelets throughout the nation.

This does not represent all the POWs or missing, only those whose next of kin allowed the names to be put on the bracelets. The Defense Department has listed 1,925 men as prisoners or missing.

After the prisoner's release the bracelet wearer should send the band, accompanied by a letter to VIVA.

The servicemen are expected to receive hundreds of letters from other bracelet wearers so the sender shouldn't expect to get a response. However, VIVA recommends that if a self-addressed envelope is enclosed, an answer may be received.

Dallas Hansen's bracelet with

"Lt. Frederick Masterson, 71172," inscribed on it, was given to him by Miss Dottie MacPhie of Omaha. Miss MacPhie was among the first to purchase one of the bracelets and was rewarded when Morris Charles was released earlier. Charles was one of the captured American pilots released by North Vietnam.

Miss MacPhie returned her bracelet to VIVA and they sent her another one. Later she received another bracelet with a letter telling her if there had been a duplicate, she should give the second bracelet to a friend.

Miss MacPhie, a native of Nova Scotia, works with Dallas Hansen, in the First National Bank of Omaha.

Joni and Jodi Isom received their literature about the bracelets from an uncle who is stationed in Thailand with the Air Force. After sending to the VIVA address, they received bands with Lt. Theodore Sier, 11 19 67, and Capt. John Davies, 2 5 67, written on them.

Miss Bonnie Frahm's bracelet with Lt. Comm. Paul Galanti, 6 17 66, inscribed on it indicates he has been captured the longest of the group.

Earlier rumors hinted that bracelets with a hole in them indicated something about the prisoner's destiny. Information from VIVA proved the hole meant nothing more than an error while inscribing.

If a bracelet wearer learns that the serviceman is still missing in action, the band should be worn until information about the man's status is known or until he returns.

If the serviceman is listed as killed in action or died in captivity, VIVA officials say it's up to the individual bracelet wearer how she or he wants to dispose of it. They recommend, however, the wearer send a letter of sympathy to the family, addressed to the VIVA address.

When the announcement of peace echoed throughout the world and the names of the American men were being released by North Vietnam, those wearing the POW bracelets were grateful for their small part in the loyalty to the military man.

Former WS Instructor Is Dead at Age 97

A man who won the Wayne State College Distinguished Service Award in recognition of his more than 70 years of teaching in Nebraska died in Lincoln last week.

Dead is Dr. J.G.W. Lewis, 97. Dr. Lewis was head of the history and political science department at Wayne State from 1910 to 1935 and was associated for about 25 years with the University of Nebraska Extension Division until his retirement at the age of 91.

He received the Wayne State award in July 1967. At that time a J.G.W. Lewis scholarship fund was set up at Wayne State by Mr. and Mrs. Val Peterson to be awarded each spring to an outstanding student in the field of history and political science. The scholarship fund has been designated as beneficiary for any memorials in Dr. Lewis' memory.

He held the Robert Carroll Bronze Jordan Medal conferred by the Wayne Masonic Lodge.

Dr. Lewis graduated from Grand Island College. After several years as Clatsop County superintendent of schools, he earned his master's degree from the University of Nebraska in 1910. In 1925 he received his doctorate in political science from the University of Chicago. He was a member of the 1919-1920 Nebraska constitution at convention and served on the Lincoln city charter revision committee. He served also as president of the Lincoln men's chorus and was active for many years in the Open Forum Club.

Survivors include one brother, Leland, of Tallahassee, Fla.; two daughters, Jeanette (Mrs. E.E. Copes), of Ainsworth, and Virginia (Mrs. J.R. Burnham), of Omaha; one son, John K. Lewis, of St. Louis; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Iowa Beauty Pageant Is Tough, Coed Says

In many, a beauty pageant is all glitter and glamor, but Cindy House of Demison, Ia., found it to be a "rigorous affair." Cindy was a participant in the Miss Iowa Universe Pageant held in Ames, Ia., Feb. 9-11.

According to Cindy, the week end was filled with early rising, classes, practicing and plenty of hard work.

Friday afternoon, the girls worked together on their production number. Then, on Saturday, beginning at 5:30 in the morning, Cindy attended modeling and makeup classes, modeling in a shopping center and was interviewed by judges.

Cindy commented that some of the questions like "Do you believe in women's lib?" were hard to answer in the short time allotted.

The pageant began at 2 p.m. Sunday. The girls were judged on personality, poise, intelligence and beauty. Each contestant participated in swimsuit, evening gown and costume competition along with an on-stage interview. Cindy regretted that there was no talent competition. Women's lib advocates were present, handing out anti-pag-nant pamphlets and heckling the contestants.

Relieved that it was over, Cindy said, "It was a very good experience, but I'm glad I didn't get the title because it is a lot of responsibility and there's more to it than anyone thinks."

Cindy, a Wayne State sophomore and Chi Omega pledge was N.A.A. District Wrestling Queen last year, along with one of five finalists (and Miss Congeniality) of the Iowa State Dairy Princess contest.

Heart Disease Leading Cause of Deaths in County, Statistics Show

Heart disease is found to be responsible for no less than 75.9

percent of all deaths among residents of Wayne County. That is the local average, based upon figures compiled by the U. S. Public Health Service and released in its last three biennial reports.

The extent of the problem, locally and elsewhere, has been brought into sharp focus by the recent death of President Johnson and by the fact that this is National Heart Month.

Heart disease, comprising all ailments of the cardiovascular system, continues to be the major hazard to life in the United States, dwarfing all other diseases by a wide margin.

Although there have been important gains made in the fight to control it through new anti-coagulants, pacemakers, open heart surgery and various other techniques the dramatic cures for which medical scientists have been searching still elude them.

The 75.9 per cent mortality among Wayne County residents is somewhat higher than the United States average, 53.9 per cent.

It is higher, also, than the state of Nebraska rate of 55.9 per cent.

A series of major endeavors to reduce the heart toll has been undertaken by the National Institutes of Health and others.

The big push is to find out how to prevent arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, which was the cause of President Johnson's death. It is the primary culprit in heart disease.

Doctors know that it is some thing that begins early in life and progresses steadily as deposits of fat form in the walls of the body's arteries, destroying their flexibility. Eventually, the passageway becomes too small for blood to flow through freely.

Trouble follows.

To counteract this, doctors are advising people to cut down on fatty meats, shell fish and fat rich baked goods and candies and to substitute, wherever possible, products prepared with unsaturated fats.

Among residents of Wayne County, according to the vital statistics reports covering the three years, the number of heart deaths per year averaged 63 out of a total annual mortality of 83. This is exclusive of deaths locally of non-residents.

Carroll Man Escapes Injury

A Carroll man escaped injury Monday morning when the car he was driving skidded out of control on a county road, went through a ditch and rolled over in a farm field about three miles east of Carroll.

Bill Brader was headed east when his car apparently hit a patch of ice on the road, causing his vehicle to veer off into the ditch on the north side of the road, the Wayne County sheriff's office said.

650 People Attend 1880's Shocker

A Review By
SANDRA BREITKREUTZ
"Ghosts," written by Henrik Ibsen, shocked audiences in the 1880's by talking about social situations which had previously been accepted in silence. Ibsen dared to comment on such issues as class distinction, sex discrimination and venereal disease.

Over 650 persons turned out to see the three-act drama produced under the direction of Dr. Helen J. Russell at Wayne State's Ramsey Theatre this week.

The parts were superbly cast and the players all seemed familiar with their newly acquired identities. However, a certain lack of realism was evident throughout, probably caused by the inability of actors to relate to problems of a society based on the nineteenth century complexities of propriety and position.

The cast included Pam Nelson, as the widow Mrs. Alving; Ed Havlicek as her son, Oswald; Mike Carruthers as the very proper Pastor Manders; Janet Prazek as the attractive maid, Regina Engstrand, and John Pigg as her father, Jacob Engstrand, a carpenter given to drinking spels.

The story unfolds in the widow's home on one of the larger fjords of western Norway. The British son has come from Paris to attend the dedication of an orphanage built by Mrs. Alving in memory of her late husband.

As Oswald begins to take a fancy to Regina, the servant, Mrs. Alving finds it necessary to reveal that Regina is the illegitimate daughter of the late Captain Alving. It turns out that Oswald is suffering from a weakness of the mind, a hereditary condition, caused by the promiscuous habits of his father.

In the final scene, Mrs. Alving is faced with the decision of whether or not to administer a fatal dosage of morphine to end the life of her mad son.

Janet Prazek as the maid seemed to best understand her position in the story and in the era. Her portrayal was the most realistic, and only in scenes with her father, played by John Pigg, did she seem to drop her character and search about for an identity.

Pigg, provided the solitary light note in the story, treated his grateful audience to an occasional laugh, but it could not be said that his portrayal was in the best interests of the entire production. He seemed too twentieth century to fit comfortably in the 1880's setting.

JOHN PIGG as Jacob Engstrand spins Janet Prazek, portraying Regina Engstrand, around to face him in a scene from "Ghosts," presented by the WSC Theatre Department this week.

Mike Carruthers obviously put a good deal of study into the part of Pastor Manders and created a believable and quaint character. His gesturing and make-up, without being over done, were a delightful addition to his part. And the audience, along with Mrs. Alving, enjoyed his stuffy observations.

Pam Nelson may have overworked the role of Mrs. Alving with her constant pacing and panting.

Her vocal intonation and modulation were excellent; however, and even in whispered speeches she reached the audience clearly.

Her makeup had a strange manner of making her seem in

Ed Havlicek, who played Oswald probably had the most demanding role and did credit to the casting. The scene where he loses his sanity was especially good and was accomplished without making the audience ill at ease.

Throughout the entire play one was made too aware of the garish color scheme. Probably intended to reflect the gloom of the rainy weather, the purple mauve walls inside and wine colored mountings on the stage screamed at each other and fought with the reddish wood hues, detracting from the dialogue and action of the play.

A slamming off stage door belatedly and unnecessarily reminded the audience of the departure of each member of the cast.

Though criticism of this production is probably more severe than for most productions by the WSC staff, it would have to be admitted that the classic was probably one of the most difficult undertakings of the college theatre department. It was written long enough ago that students are unfamiliar with the feel of the times, yet recently enough that the audience can still recognize errors in interpretation.

Heart Sunday Efforts Slated This Weekend

Volunteers will be working in Wayne, Hoskins and Carroll Sunday as fund-raising efforts to tie in with National Heart Sunday get underway.

Jim Keating of Wayne, county fund drive chairman, said envelopes and information will go out to volunteers later this week so they can start passing the envelopes around to houses in the three communities.

The drive for funds in the rural area will not begin for about another two weeks, he said.

Efforts to send envelopes asking for donations around to each of the homes in the communities will take about two weeks, he said. Envelopes should be returned to county treasurer of the drive, Rich Kraemer, at Tri-County Finance in Wayne.

Chairman for the local drive is Mrs. Paul Otto. Mrs. Howard McLain is handling the drive in Carroll, and Mrs. George Langenberg is chairman in Hoskins. No chairman has been named yet for Winnebago.

Handling the drive in the rural areas of the county are Mrs. Con Munson and Mrs. Warren Erlandson, both of Wakefield. Heart Sunday is the high point in the annual drive, with about two million volunteers across the nation calling on their neighbors to distribute heart information and to donate to the Heart Fund.

In Nebraska there will be about 24,750 volunteers taking part to raise funds for the Nebraska Heart Association in its efforts to reduce premature death and disability caused by diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

Goal statewide is $301,000.

Gymnastics Class Getting Parents' Approval

The gymnastics arena of Wayne State's Rice Gymnasium is the site of an unusual class every Tuesday afternoon — unusual because the class consists of elementary youngsters.

It all started last fall when Dr. Ed Elliott, who teaches physical education at the college, and his wife got the idea of giving their children something extra in physical training. Better yet, try to interest other parents in a class for their children.

That's what happened. After clearing arrangements with Dr. Ralph Barclay, chairman of the college physical education division, the Elliotts enlisted two coaches with majors in P.E. and experience in handling children. Since late in the fall, Bev Glew of Sioux City and Claudia Paulson of Ogden, Ia., have been meeting 17 young dynamos every Tuesday from 4 to 5. Dynamos is the right word, too. With great gusto the youngsters go through a varied program of activities — gymnastics, tumbling, races and running an obstacle course.

The instructors keep records of performances, and the kids put out spirited effort to improve. Mainly it is competition with self, not with others. Last week Misses Glew and Paulson sadly had to say good-bye to the kids because this week they started directed teaching in Omaha. As their final act, they gave each child a combination farewell-valentine gift.

But the class continues, now under the direction of Terry

McMillen and his wife, LeeAnn, both physical education majors. Children in the class are Roxanne and Steve Hurd, Peter March, Curt Fritz, Gregg and Glenn Elliott, Jeff Keidel, Rod Dahl, Chris Hillier, Layne Marsh, Pam and Brett Bahe, Bobby and Anne Lisika, John Carhart, Stacey and Jon Jacobmeier.

What do parents think of the class?

A reporter watching the parents who came to observe didn't need to ask. They're enthusiastic.

One mother, Mrs. Vern Jacobmeier, commented that the youngsters "really love it," and that her daughter "has decided she'd like to teach gymnastics."

She added that it is worth the $1 a week per child they pay the instructors.

Mrs. Elliott has been in charge of arrangements. Originally she set up a few rules, among them a request that parents not come to observe — except some days when they were invited. On those days, practically all the parents turned out, including some dads who could get away from work.

Lions Host Farmers

Fifteen area farmers and a Wayne businessman were guests of the Wayne Lions Club Tuesday night during the service club's second annual Farmers Night.

Telling the guests and members about some of the projects the local club has sponsored or helped recently was Clete Sharer.

Sharer said the club sponsors such things as the annual football throwing, passing and kicking contest, helps pay for the local summer baseball program and provides leader dogs for training to guide blind persons.

Money is raised through such club activities as light bulb sales, flea markets, white elephant sales and the St. Patrick's Day dance, he said.

Attending the monthly meeting were area farmers Fritz Mann, Rollie Victor, Alvin Meyer, Glen Olson, Dick Sorenson, John Anderson, Marty Willers, Paul Sievers, Willis Nelson, Ed Vanikamp, Lowell Glassmeyer, Marian Dill, Eldon Bull, Wallace Victor and Merle Ring. Bob LaPoint, owner of Elm Motel, also was a guest during the evening.

TOP PROJECT

Schools at Lennox, S. D., told the group Tuesday that the basic start-up costs of this highly effective program would be low for another district. The project director and the validators excellent job of preparing a cost analysis for any replicating district, he said.

The validation team mentioned they were impressed with the way the community, parents and staff worked together here for the benefit of children. The contribution of the more than 20 aides working in the project was especially noted.

"This validation will give us an even greater opportunity to share our ideas so that other children whose learning styles differ will be helped to achieve success," said Marian Rennick, head language therapist of the project.

"To me the most significant benefit would be what I observed was what they called the 'spin-off' to the entire school," Dorothy Ley, Community Council chairman, said.

"What they meant was that the project encourages us all to look more carefully at children, analyze how they learn and then how we can best teach each child. All the children in the district benefit from this increased awareness," she said.

"Mrs. Ley concluded, 'This validation is one more proof that great things happen when interested Community Council members, concerned parents, dedicated administrators and creative staff all work together for the worthwhile goal of helping children become successful, happy learners.'

'Crimes Can Be Cut If the People Care,' Fairchild Tells Group

Crime in the city of Wayne was down 32 per cent during 1972. And it can decrease even further, said Wayne police chief Vern Fairchild, if the people care.

Much of the responsibility for today's high crime rate across the nation, Fairchild pointed out at the Monday noon Kiwanis meeting, can be attributed mainly to the lack of parental interest in what their children are doing. "If a parent would put down his paper or quit watching the television for a while and sit down and talk with his child, the nation wouldn't have its present crime problem," he said. In addition to the parent side of the problem, the chief noted that today's generation of youngsters has more freedom and mobility, which plays an important part in the crime problem. Fairchild explained that during 1972, Wayne experienced a 32 per cent decrease in crime—the biggest decrease in Wayne State enrollment and the increase in preventive control mileage. We're covering a broader area now and that helps a great deal. "Although crime is down in the city, Fairchild noted that across the nation the national figures show an increase. "The biggest factor is the lack of respect for law enforcement officers," he said. "And this is mainly due to the news media."

The police chief said the news media dwells on police brutality and crooked cops as a part of the nation's police systems. In addition, he went on, the extra burdens of policemen checking out reports of kids running across lawns and dogs running loose doesn't create respect for a police officer. "The job of a policeman is to protect the citizen, prevent crime, investigate crimes and apprehend criminals. But the role of an officer starts downhill when we have to investigate such things as loose dogs, he said. Fairchild noted that the two types of law enforcement agencies that are respected by the public are the State Patrol and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. But they don't handle jobs such as the local officers do, he said, so it is up to local police to carry out the duties. In order for local departments to be staffed with good men, the chief said, citizens must be willing to pay. "If the public does not want a man with bone between his ears and more muscle on his shoulders, then it must be willing to pay for it." During the luncheon, Kiwanis president Bob Carhart reminded members that March 8 the Kiwanians will hold their annual pancake feed at the city auditorium. According to vice-president Dale Gushall, Freeman Decker is the chairman in charge of the project. Tickets will go on sale this week, he added.

'Observing Simple Rules Will Cut Horse Mishaps'

Observing some simple rules when around horses could eliminate many of the accidents which occur on farms, reports Roy Stohler, Dixon County agricultural agent.

He notes that animals accounted for one of every 10 accidents reported in an eight-state survey by the National Safety Council in Chicago. The eight states surveyed were Nebraska, Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana, Louisiana, New York, Ohio and Wisconsin.

In the survey of 134,000 injuries on farms, cows were involed in 40 per cent of all animal accidents in buildings, Stohler says. Of the cow-related injuries, 22 per cent resulted when the victim was pushed against or otherwise struck an object, and 27 per cent resulted when the person was struck by the animal. About 40 per cent of the farm fatalities involved dairy farms.

Horse safety could eliminate a portion of farm accidents and fatalities, Stohler notes. He offers these suggestions on horse safety which were drawn up by a United States Department of ### Agriculture specialist:

- Always approach a horse at an angle, never directly from the front or rear, and always speak to it as you are approaching.
- While working a round horse, stay in close to the horse so if it kicks, you will not receive the full impact of the kick. Work about a horse from a position as near the shoulder as possible.
- Be calm, confident and collected around horses; a nervous handler causes a nervous, unsafe horse.
- Do not leave a halter on a horse turned loose. The horse may catch a foot in the halter strap or the halter may catch on a fence.
- Never wrap the lead strap

- or reins around your hand, wrist or body. When leading, tying or untying a horse, avoid getting your hands or fingers entangled.
- Be extremely cautious when leading a horse through a narrow opening, such as a door. Keep firm control, step through the door first and quickly get to one side to avoid being crowded.
- Use judgment when turning a horse loose. It is generally safest to lead the horse completely through the gate or door and turn the horse about, facing the direction from which you have just entered. Then, release the lead strap or remove the halter or bridle. Always untie the horse before removing the halter.
- Use the halter rope, not the bridle reins to tie a horse, and - never tie below the level of the horse's withers.

- Protect your head from the horse's head when bridling by standing in close just behind and to one side (preferably on the left side) of the horse's head. Use caution when handling the horse's ears.
- If it is necessary to ride on roads or highways, ride on the side your state requires. When riding at night, wear light colored clothing and carry a flashlight. Walk the horse across hard surfaced roads.
- Infectious organisms are prevalent around barns, corrals, and fences. Gloves are a safeguard against cuts, scratches, splinters and rope burns.

Loading and unloading horses in trailers set the stage for many accidents. If at all possible, have two people around to load a horse. Train the horse so it can be sent into the trailer.

It is least desirable to get in front of the horse and lead it into trailer. Never do this without an escape door or front exit. It is safest to remove the saddle and bridle and load the horse with a halter.

Also, consider the safety of the horse with matting or bedding to avoid slick floors in the trailers.

Time Short For Planting Windbreaks

There may be a lot of winter left, but just over a month remains until trees can be planted on area farms, says William Yost, district soil conservationist at Worfield.

Many farmsteads need to plant new windbreaks or add to their present ones to give better protection to livestock, buildings and work areas, he explains.

Cold winter winds and snows are uncomfortable to both man and livestock, he reminds area farmers, and the protection provided by a good windbreak is a welcome relief.

Although the supply is limited, there are still Clark McNary trees available for spring plantings, he notes.

Both county agents and the Soil Conservation Service can help farmers with planning the windbreak and ordering trees.

But, he emphasizes, farmers should start planning and ordering as soon as possible before all the trees are gone.

Genetics Is Affecting Cattle Growth—Guyer

The genetic potential for growth in feeder cattle has been changing rapidly in recent years, resulting in a shorter growing period. University of Nebraska extension livestock specialist Paul Guyer said last week at the first of two Beef Cattle Feeders Days.

Selection for rapid gains and importation of larger sire breeds were named by the NU specialist as reasons for the increased growth potential. This increased growth potential "tends to reduce the length of the growing period needed and, in fact, may eliminate the need for a growth period following weaning for some breeds and crosses."

Guyer explained that energy intake is usually limited in growing rations by feeding feeds high in cellulose (roughages). "This permits full or self-feeding of the entire ration with a minimum of digestive disturbances, feed bunk space and management problems. If roughage is low in price, gains may also be cheaper than from limited feeding of liberal grain rations," he said. Emphasizing the importance of adequate protein for efficient feed utilization, Guyer said that plant proteins have been more efficiently utilized than area during the growing phase. "Now, however, with high protein prices, use of area in the growing ration may be justifiably," he said.

Cattle fed the urea base supplements will gain about 2-3 pound per day less, but should compensate for this lower gain when fed high grain finishing rations. Several tests indicate that area may be used more efficiently when fed with dehydrated alfalfa (roughage) tests indicate that feeding urea along with the urea containing supplement speeds the adaptation to urea," he reported.

He also suggested alfalfa hay or silage as competitive sources of protein in growing rations. "In tests at the Northeast and North Platte stations, gains were lower than 4.6 pounds of alfalfa were fed as the source of supplemental protein, but gains were satisfactory (about 1.5 pounds daily) and economical," he concluded.

Just because a crop has been planted, cultivated and harvested doesn't mean the farmer is done with it. It still has to be converted into money, either by selling it or feeding it to live stock to be sold later.

That big pile of corn out on the hill may look like a lot of money to a city passerby, but it still represents a lot of work for the farmer.

Some of it may be ground, kernel and cob, for the cattle but it is usually sheltered for grinding or selling.

Tractors and loaders have eliminated a considerable amount of backbreaking scooping but, here again, neighbors are a necessity. The machinery still has to be operated by man. And there is always "cleaning up" and "raking in" to do around a corn pile.

If takes you most of a day to get the sheltering "lined up" because when Neighbor John can help, the shelter is shed up elsewhere or when you can get the shelter, you can't get enough wagons to hold the sheltered corn.

So you'll have to get trucks to haul some of the corn. By the time you get the shelter, wagons, neighbors and trucks organized to shell and haul the corn, you have to find out if the elevator man will buy it.

That is, the corn that you don't keep for feed.

Sometimes it takes a little diplomacy to make the elevator man understand all the trouble you'll have to go through again if he doesn't buy a couple loads. Naturally you're a reasonable man. All you're asking is number 2 price for a couple truck loads.

Then you have to obtain the weather man's co-operation. And this is one of the many times it would be hard for him to cooperate.

If he makes it warm enough to comfortably work outdoors, it has thawed too much to get tractors and trucks near the corn pile.

If he makes it cold enough to keep the ground froze, it's too cold for you to set on the old tractor and operate the loader. Well, you could get off and scoop corn for a while, but goodness, you wouldn't want Neighbor John to get cold while setting on the tractor!

No matter how you strategically placed the corn piles last fall, there is always plenty of snow to be scooped from around the pile before you can shell.

Somehow it seems to be inevitable to disturb the graceful, wind blown snow banks. But irrelevant would hardly describe how the hogs will feel if you don't get some feed for them—not to mention how the banker will feel if you don't get some money for that overdue note.

When it's extremely cold, you've had trouble doing chores and it's late before you've finished scooping the snow. Al is right on time with the shelter. Well, he can wait on you this time. Last time when you were ready, he was about an hour late.

By the time you finish, Al has the feeders strung out, the shelter in gear and Neighbor John and the boys have arrived with scoops slung over their backs. But now the trucks are late, so you start filling the wagons.

Then Al starts yelling that you're feeding the shelter too fast. Sure wish he'd make up his mind. Last time he was complaining that the shelter ran empty most of the time. "Well, guess you do have more help this time and the corn is rolling in better."

Shortly before the wagons are full, the trucks finally arrive. Ever for a couple times when a chain jumps a cog on the shelter, everyone works hard and fast to keep warm. Looks like you're going to get done before dinner.

Since everyone will no doubt stay for dinner, you might as well shell that other pile.

When the last truck load leaves for town and Al loads up the feeders, your work on that crop is finished. Now to figure out if you have enough money left from it to pay the expenses.

Area Youths Offered Chance to Train for Exemption Certificates

Youths 14 to 16 years of age wishing to do work on farms other than their parents' are being offered a chance to take special training so they can receive exemption certificates.

County agents in Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Thurston and Dakota Counties will present the training program on March 15-17 at the Northeast Station near Concord. The course will meet from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Youths interested in receiving the training or needing more information should contact their local county agent. Prior registration for the course is required.

There will be a $4 registration fee payable in advance for the course, which is open to both boys and girls. The course is open to 13-year olds if they will be 14 this summer.

Youths completing the training will have an opportunity to obtain their Nebraska drivers licenses as part of the training. Youths from 14 to 16 are now restricted by the Department of Labor from doing many farm jobs on farms not belonging to their parents. Included in the restrictions is operation of a tractor of over 20 hp horsepower.

More Fuel Is Needed To Farm New Acres

County USDA emergency boards were recently requested by Paul Sindt, chairman of the State USDA Emergency Board, to assemble estimates of fuel needs for farming the additional land that will come out of set-aside and into production during the year 1973.

County estimates show that 1,838,000 acres will be released in Nebraska as a result of lower set-aside requirements. They further estimated that approximately 992,000 acres would be planted to feed grain, 272,000 to soybeans, 385,000 would be summer filled and 189,000 would consist of hay, small grains and pasture.

It was further estimated that

State Sets Road Limits

State Roads Director Thomas D. Doyle has announced that the Department of Roads proposes to place weight limitation of axle loads on certain state highways where subgrade or surfacing will be weakened by climatic and soil conditions.

Restrictions will be effective at Noon Tuesday. The 54 miles of roads on which a weight limitation has been placed have a low grade bituminous surfacing. The axle limitations are imposed each spring during thawing to prevent break-up of the surfacing. Restrictions are removed on each highway as climatic and soil conditions improve sufficiently to carry vehicles with normal weight limits.

Among the highways affected is the Waterbury Spur from Waterbury north to Highway 20. The approximate one-mile stretch will have load limits of 14,000 pounds for single axle and 24,000 pounds for tandem axle vehicles.

Concordia, owned and operated by the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, offers teacher training programs leading to bachelor of science in education degree and master of education degree, as well as a liberal arts program leading to bachelor of arts degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Dendinger of Des Moines, former Wayne residents, will leave Friday on a four day vacation trip to the Bahama Islands as a result of their winning a contest in the Omaha zone in service management. Dendinger is a service manager in a Des Moines Ford dealership.

Allen High Girls Learning About Spark Plugs and Points

Six girls at Allen High School may be taking part in a unique course at the school, but their major concern right now is learning more about what goes on underneath the hood of a car.

The girls, all seniors, are enrolled in girls' shop, a new course this semester at Allen High.

The aim of the course—to teach girls about cars, wood working and fixing appliances.

Daryl McGhee, a 1972 graduate of the University of Nebraska who is teaching the course, said it offers the girls an opportunity to learn some basic knowledge in the three fields.

Right now the six girls—Mary Peters, Julie Tighe, Deb Ellis, LaRaye Lubberstedt, Sheila

Book and Kim Hanson—are studying automobile mechanics. "The course is not designed to make mechanics out of the girls," said McGhee, a Winnebago native. "We just want to familiarize the girls with the working parts and what the girls can do to keep the car in working order."

During sixth period each day the girls gather at the school's new fine arts and music building, don their overalls and literally dig in on fixing a car.

McGhee said the girls are learning to change spark plugs and adjust points among other things. They'll also learn how to change the oil, study lubrication system and learn about the car's electrical system.

Although the girls do not agree on the central purpose of taking the course, most point out that they are enrolled because "all boys do is talk about cars—so we want to be able to understand them."

McGhee, in charge of vocational agriculture at Allen High, said the course is for senior girls only.

"After we complete this segment of the course, the class will study about household appliances."

The third part of the semester will be devoted to wood finishing, with the girls learning how to refinish furniture and do upholstery work.

About four years ago several Allen High girls showed interest in a course such as this, but lack of funds and enough instructors prohibited the school from offering it.

With the addition of McGhee this year, the school officials decided to offer the course.

"Right now it looks as if the school will continue the program next year," McGhee said.

McGhee is pleased with the way the course is working out. The girls are "one of the most enthusiastic groups" of students he has. "They show a lot of interest. They especially want to figure out how things work."

Law Change Affects Disabled

Under a change in the social security law, monthly benefits can be paid to adults who were severely disabled before age 22, starting in January, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

Previously, "childhood disability" payments could be made only to paid to adults who were severely disabled before age 18, he said.

Monthly payments are made to severely disabled adult sons and daughters of workers getting retirement or disability benefits from social security—and of deceased workers whose families get social security survivors benefits.

"The new law extends the age for qualifying," Branch said, "because people who become severely disabled between 18 and 22—like those disabled when younger—generally haven't had the chance to work long enough under social security to get disability benefits on their own work records."

"If they become able to work," he said, "their social security payments stop. But if they become severely disabled again within seven years of the time they became able to work, the new law provides that payments can be resumed."

About 13,000 people will be newly eligible for about $1.4 million a month in benefits under the new law.

Social security now pays $30 million a month to 300,000 people 18 and over who were severely disabled in childhood.
