

Council Votes 5-3 Against Issuing One More Package Liquor License

If the state liquor commission follows the recommendation of the city council, the number of package liquor licenses in Wayne will remain at five.

The council Tuesday night voted 5-3 to deny Frank Woehler's application for the sixth license.

Voting to deny the application were Keith Mosley, Frank Prather, Pat Gross, Harvey Brasch and Jim Thomas. In favor of permitting another package liquor license in the city were Vernon Russell, Darrel Furbert and Ivan Beeks.

The recommendation will go to the state commission for a final decision.

Woehler, operator of the Gem Cafe for about the past 24 years, now holds an on and off sale beer license.

Before making their decision, councilmen discussed the current city ordinance which stipulates that only five package liquor licenses are to be issued in the city.

They agreed there should be some guide set up for issuing more than five, such as one for every 1,000 increase in the city's population, and directed the city clerk to list everybody who has applied for a similar license during the past five years.

The list, the council agreed, could be used to make sure that those who asked for licenses in the past would be given priority if the council ever decides to permit more than five in the city.

Approved by an 8-0 vote was the application for package liquor and on sale beer licenses by Harold and Richard Korn, new operators of the Nu Tavern.

The council's vote on that application also will be forwarded to the state liquor commission for final decision.

Kindergarten Roundup Is March 23, Not 21st

Kindergarten roundup for youngsters entering school for the first time this fall will be held Friday, March 23, not Wednesday, March 21, as was stated in a story in Monday's issue of The Wayne Herald.

During the one-hour sessions which get underway at 9 a.m., parents will be given information about sending their children to kindergarten and youngsters will be given a taste of what it's like to attend school.

Parents should bring their children's birth certificates with them to the roundup, according to Richard Metteer, elementary principal.

Parents will meet in the kindergarten room with kindergarten teachers Mrs. Viola Hartman and Mrs. Inez Boeckenhauer. Regular kindergarten classes will not be held that day.

Youngsters whose last names begin with the letters A through H will meet from 9 to 10 a.m. Other times scheduled: I through O, 10:30-11:30; P through S, 12:30-1:30; and T through Z, 2-3.

Discussed at considerable length but not acted upon was the assessment schedule for the storm sewer work done along Meadow Lane in the northwest portion of the city.

Councilmen received two petitions objecting to the schedule, one signed by 100 property owners and the other signed by eight interested persons.

The petitions noted that the work, which cost a total of $19,433.45, was local in nature and should be paid for completely by the persons whose property is improved from it.

The proposed schedule calls for the city paying $13,033.45 or

Wanted: 'Wizard of Oz' Posters for Annual WSC Contest

An important facet of the children's show presented annually by the Wayne State College Theatre Department is the poster contest, open to all area youths in kindergarten through eighth grade.

Posters are to be drawn or painted on 11 x 14 paper and must contain the name of the play and the date, time and place where it is to be presented. Pictures without this information will be disqualified.

Each school is to pick the best entry from each grade and submit them to the theatre department by Monday, March 26.

Entries will be judged on the basis of originality and artistic achievement by members of the college art department; the first and second place winners in each grade will receive cash prizes.

All entries will be on display in the lobby of Ramsey Theatre at the Fine Arts Center during the run of the play.

This year's play is a musical, "Wizard of Oz," and will be presented at 1 p.m. April 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6. An 8 p.m. performance is scheduled for April 4.

The poster contest has been conducted for the past seven years, according to Dr. Helen Russell, head of the theatre department.

It's Been A Wet, Wet Winter

The winter period from December to March may set a new all time record for moisture in the area, according to statistics kept by Triangle Finance of Wayne.

During those three and a half months a total of 5.25 inches of moisture has fallen in the area—22 of an inch short of the 1968-69 record of 5.47 inches.

During the month of December, Wayne recorded 1.51 inches to lead the four month period. February was next highest with 1.43 inches recorded. So far this month, 1.40 inches of precipitation has fallen. January had 91.

In the winter of 1968-69 the peak month for moisture was February with 1.94 inches. January was next at 1.46. December moisture that winter amounted to 1.23. March moisture amounted to .84.

The average for those months over a 22 year span in Wayne is 3.64 inches.

So far this winter, March is the only month that hasn't kept pace with the average. But with more than two weeks left, there is a good possibility it will surpass the 1.32 average.

The amount that usually falls in December comes to .50, while January averages .61 and February averages 1.01.

Last winter, February was the wettest month, with a reading of 1.10 inches. March followed with a .99 showing while December recorded .70 and January .79.

Salary Talks At Allen High Continuing

Teacher contract negotiations at Allen High School for the 1973-74 school term advanced another step last week when the board presented the teachers its list of proposals.

Gail Miller, superintendent, said representatives from both the board and teachers may discuss further negotiations this week.

The members also discussed remodeling of the old workshop area and improving the school playground area and football field.

Miller said the board hopes to buy new equipment for the playground as well as black top part of it. For the football field the board discussed building new restrooms and a serving stand for the pep club.

The board also approved purchasing of new baseball uniforms for boys and volleyball uniforms for girls. Cost for the girls' uniforms is about $170; and the baseball uniforms cost about $350.

Buying new track equipment, valued about $450, also received approval from the board.

Tolman Is Retiring July 1

Walt Tolman, beef specialist at the Northeast Station near Gary, will retire the end of June, according to Cal Ward, station superintendent.

Tolman, who started working at the Station in the fall of 1959, reached the mandatory retirement age of 65 three years ago. But, Ward pointed out, because of his good health and good work, he continued working at the agricultural experimental facility.

The position vacated by Tolman probably will be left open, Ward said, due to the current plan to freeze vacant positions at the various University of Nebraska experiment facilities across the state.

Pizza Firm To Build In Wayne

A new pizza business is coming to Wayne.

Pizza Hut, Inc. of Wichita, Kan., will construct a new 50x60 foot building east of Wayne on the south side of Highway 35.

The Hut, one in the Pizza-Hut chain across Nebraska and part of the Midwest, will feature the well known styling of brick walls and wooden roof.

According to Reginald Boothe, company president, construction will start no later than July 1.

"We are planning for a June 15 starting date," he said. Completion of the building is expected by Aug. 15, he added.

Boothe pointed out that the business, with a total investment of $100,000, will employ about 15-20 persons. "We will furnish the manager," he said.

Plans call for parking facilities for about 45 cars.

The ground, which the company has an option to purchase, is located just east of Valley Drive on the east edge of the city.

Salary Talks at WHS Yield Results Tuesday

Representatives of the Wayne Carroll school board and the Wayne Education Association Tuesday agreed on a salary schedule for the 1973-74 school year.

Teachers in the school system were to vote on the package proposal Wednesday. The board will probably consider the proposal at its April meeting.

Superintendent Francis Haun said the schedule would cost the school district about $16,500 more in salaries and about $1,750 more in fringe benefits than the present schedule.

Under the tentative agreement, the base salary for a beginning teacher with a four year college degree would be increased from the present $6,650 to $6,800, an increase of 2.25 per cent.

The proposal makes no changes in the salary increases granted teachers for experience and advanced education. The current schedule provides pay raises of four per cent of the base for each step up the experience ladder and five and a half per cent for each step up the professional advancement ladder.

Haun said the schedule "is in keeping with what is being agreed upon in area schools of comparative size."

Most of the teachers realize that the Wayne Carroll school system has a high mill levy, he said, and that the board is being as fair as possible.

Haun said the proposal would require an increase of two mills under present evaluation.

The proposal would change the mandatory retirement age from 65 years to 64.

It also would result in small increases in the school district's contribution toward the medical health plan for teachers and would make minor changes in the extra duty schedule.

Chamber Considering Cash Night Promotion

The board of directors of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce Monday night discussed the possibility of once again holding some type of cash giveaway on Thursday nights.

The board decided to have Chamber manager Floyd Bracken discuss the subject with local businessmen to see if enough of them want to hold the weekly promotion and to get ideas on how it might be changed from the one held in past years.

Discussed during the meeting was the possibility of drawing up bylaws for the Chamber's President's Club, a group formed last year to handle membership relations. The club currently does not have bylaws spelling out what its specific functions are.

Announced during the evening was the date for the meeting at Grand Island to discuss legislative proposals which would give the University of Nebraska Board of Regents authority to acquire the facilities of Hiram Scott College at Scottbluff and See CHAMBER, page 5

Fad diets are bad diets
Remember this when someone tries to convince you that a certain food or diet will restore hair, renew complexion or cure an illness: As far as we know, no one has found the fountain of youth or the universal cure all.

Some fad diets become popular by word of mouth. There are diets that emphasize one special food such as yogurt, grapefruit or wheat germ. These are not harmful foods, but they should be used as part of your total nutrition—not as the main food stuff.

There are specialty stores, sometimes called health stores, that promote organically grown foods, special seeds, medical teas and elixirs. You have no assurance that all of these products are produced and sold under sanitary conditions. The prime purpose of these stores is to make a profit.

The modern faddist is the old time medicine man in modern dress. The compound he is selling may be harmful or harmless. You have no way of knowing the effect of the product on your body. The salesman will discover your particular desire for improvement and then slant his pitch accordingly. Some products being promoted are bone meal, ground egg shells and queen bee honey.

Wayne Woman Comments on Trip

"There wasn't enough time to see it all," said Mrs. Julia Haas of her recent trip to the Far East.

Mrs. Haas of Wayne returned home last month after traveling and visiting since December with her daughter, Sandra Walker, who has taught the past seven years in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia.

Sandra, who began her vacation in December, visited briefly in Wayne, then she and her mother left for Los Angeles and Honolulu shortly before Christmas.

Mrs. Haas witnessed her first Hawaiian wedding, a beautiful ceremony on the church lawn beneath a monkey pod tree. Members of the wedding party wore colorful leis and the men were attired in white trousers and white ruffled shirts with cummerbunds of red or blue velvet.

After leaving Hawaii, Mrs. Haas and her daughter stopped in Tokyo, then went on to Sendai, Japan. Here they were entertained by the Shigetoshi Katsura family. Sandra had become acquainted with the family while teaching in Eugene, Ore., where Shigetoshi had been a student at Eugene University.

Mrs. Katsura prepared a special Japanese dinner for her guests, including fish in a brown sauce, rice prepared with an herb, a fondue dish which contained chicken, very sweet cookies, rich tea cakes and warm saki.

Next stop on the trip was Hong Kong where Mrs. Haas and her daughter met 10-year-old Kam O'Wong, one of two orphans sponsored by Sandra through the Christian Children's Fund. They met the second little girl at Bangalore, India, later in their travels.

Before leaving China the women took a tour of the new territories with a visit to the border of mainland China. They rode the Star Ferry from Kowloon to Victoria Island for a Peak Tram ride which gave them a view of one of the busiest harbors in the world.

A brief stop in Bangkok, Thailand, preceded their arrival in Penang, Malaysia, on Christmas Eve. They took in the unspoiled landscape, and noted the Malay homes on stilts, carts along the roadside and banana, nutmeg and clove trees.

A friendly taxi driver, who found them a hotel when they discovered they had no reservations, gave them a complete tour of the island and they celebrated Christmas day by watching the street parade of floats and acrobatic stunts which marked the Malay Pesta, festival time.

Further south on the Malaysian Peninsula, Sandra and her mother visited the city of Kuala Lumpur, and with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gaw of San Francisco, they drove to Murthaba and Satay. They stopped at an outdoor cafe, enjoyed fresh coconut ice cream and walked through the open markets.

At Singapore the women enjoyed performances at the Cultural Center and toured various attractions. A side trip took them to Johore and one afternoon they toured the harbor and islands on a Chinese junk.

After Singapore the travelers spent a night at Madras, India, prior to a flight to Bangalore. In Bangalore they met representatives of the Southeast Asia Christian Children's Fund and Patricia Cunningham, Sandra's seven year old Indian orphan.

Sandalwood and silk cocoon leis, carved elephants, a sari and fresh flowers were brought to the visitors' hotel at Bangalore.

"Of India Mrs. Haas said, 'The mosquitoes were so bad we slept under netting.' She found the living conditions heartbreaking. 'It was so filthy in some parts,' she said. 'There are no sewage facilities and not enough food for the people.' She added that the cow, which with the cobra, monkey, peacock and bull are sacred, seem better fed than humans.

After the short stop in Bombay, Mrs. Haas and her daughter returned to her home in Dhahran, where Mrs. Haas spent the next six weeks.

Sandra's home is one of many duplex type cottages in the area, and like most of the residents of the Arabian oil center she has a houseboy who comes in twice a week. Many residents also have cooks and gardeners.

Sandra is employed by the Arabian American Oil Co. (Aramco) as a teacher for the children of company employees.

While in Arabia, Mrs. Haas visited in Abqaiq, Hofuf, Khahran, Ras Tanura, Qatif, the Tarut Island, Jubail and Al Khobar. They toured the camel market, saw the open baths for men and their donkeys as well as shopped for exotic goods in the open markets.

"It looked just like Bible times," remarked Mrs. Haas of the Arabian countryside.

Before Mrs. Haas returned home she and her daughter visited the Kamal Abdul Karim and Sami Kubeisy families in Beirut, Lebanon. They drove through the mountains, spending an evening at the Casino Du Liban.

Mrs. Haas returned home via London, Detroit, Chicago and Omaha to unpack her treasures and memories of a trip which she says was "like a dream."

Koenig's Annual Wrestling Clinic Introduces Youths to Sport Early

Wayne High wrestling coach Don Koenig admits he has a selfish reason for conducting the annual wrestling clinic for youngsters in grades four through eight.

He wants to introduce the youngsters to wrestling early in hopes they will be better at the sport when they reach high school age.

But the boys couldn't care less about his reasons for holding the clinic. They just have a ball during the event, learning the basics of the sport in after-school classes and then pairing off to see who is the best in their weight class.

This year's clinic, held last week at the high school and Wayne State's Rice auditorium, attracted more than 100 boys. Most of them were from the Wayne-Carroll school system but a few from rural schools took part in the event, Koenig said.

This was the fourth year in a row for the clinic.

The second annual cheerleading clinic conducted in conjunction with the wrestling clinic, attracted about 80 girls. Wayne High cheerleaders taught the young girls fundamentals so they could back their teams during the clinic.

Climax of the week-long clinic was Saturday night's tournament at Rice Auditorium, with boys competing for medals and a team trophy.

The All-Stars copped the trophy by racking up 24 points in the tournament, just edging out Big Blue, who finished with 22 1/2 points.

Tied for third place with 19 points were the Bulldogs and Scorpions. The Wildcats placed fifth with 17 points and Rednecks sixth with 15.

Coaching the youngsters were high school students Ken Daniels, Charlie Blockman, Tom Frahm, Don Nelson, Brad Pfeiffer, Arnold Sietken, Doug Straight, Alan Ekberg, Jim Neiman, Scott Brummond, Les Thomsen and Roger Meyer.

Serving as officials and timers during the tournament were Barry Rubeck, Keith Owens, Dan Marr, Kevin Heidolph and Doug Heitler.

Darrel Heier, assistant wrestling coach, helped Koenig conduct the clinic.

Cheerleaders instructing the girls were Jane King, Kay Pankrat, Jeanie Luff and Linda Hall. Helping them were Carol Wilfse, Donna Johnson, Marjorie Lundstrom, Sally Kenny and Carol Peterson.

The Fat Kat provided free 15 cent ice cream cones for tournament winners, 10 cent cones for runners-up and five cent cones for the other wrestlers. Coaches in the event received free meals.

Results of the championship rounds Saturday night:

Fourth Grade—Jerry Morris defeated Mike Luff, 56-62 pounds; Mike Schock defeated Doug Proett, 63-68 pounds; Ted Skokan defeated Chip Carr, 69-79 pounds; Tod Heier defeated Robbie Harmeier, 80-86 pounds; Keith Turner defeated Mike Macke, 87 and up.

Fifth Grade—John Dunn won over Dan Mangers, 64-73 pounds; Jay Peters defeated Jeff Minsky, 74-84 pounds; Rick Johnson defeated Kevin Loberg, 85-95 pounds; Danny Mitchell won over Doug Hummel, 99 and up.

Seventh Grade—Bryan Meyer defeated Scott Carhart, Class A; Joe Teeter defeated Todd Beiermann, Class B; Nick Fleer won over Frank Minsky, Class C.

Eighth Grade—Mark Brandt defeated Joe Kenny, Class A; Rick Straight won over Rick Davis, Class B.

Golf Course Operation Changes

A former secretary treasurer of the Wayne County Club is coming back to work for the club again.

Don Echtenkamp of Wayne is the new superintendent of the golf course. He takes over the job today, said Del Stoltenberg, club president.

Don will be responsible for taking care of the golf course itself, including the tees, greens and fairways," Stoltenberg explained. He is replacing Harry Neiman.

Last week, the board approved Echtenkamp's appointment as the grounds keeper. As yet, the club hasn't found anyone to take over the clubhouse, Stoltenberg noted.

Last year, Wayne State students Randy Rolfson and Jon Harvey worked in the clubhouse.

Swimmers 'Best Ever' In National; No Points

Wayne State's swimming team did not score a point in the NAA National Meet, but this, the coach said, is no indication of their performance.

The Wildcats set three school records and one individual "best" in the Thursday-Saturday meet at Pittsburgh, Kan.

Coach Roger Bentley said, "The kids were disappointed, but I was pleased. All Wayne Staters should be proud of the swimmers because all you can ask from a team is their best, and the Wayne swimmers did just that."

Doug Krecklow, zipped through the 50-yard freestyle in his best-ever time of :22.94—but that was only the 31st fastest clocking.

Bob Floerchinger ranked 25th in the 100 butterfly with a school record of :57.19.

The 800 freestyle team (Dave Just, Floerchinger, Krecklow, Mitch Veeder) posted a school record 7:45.4.

The 400 free relay (Just, Jim Batten, Veeder, Krecklow) also swam a school record 3:24.7.

Simon Fraser College of Vancouver, British Columbia, repeated as team champion, and West Liberty State, W. Va., was second.

Mat Fans Donate $48 for Machine

Fans attending the wrestling tournament for youngsters in grades four through eight at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium Saturday night donated about $48 to help pay for an exercise machine purchased recently by the Wayne-Carroll school system.

The exercise and weight lifting machine cost the school about $2,500.

The Wayne County Jaycees recently donated $325 to help pay for the machine. The money was raised through memberships in the Jaycees' Sunday afternoon athletic club.

dry up in order to make it playable," he added.

WITHIN THE next two weeks, club secretary Phil Griess will be sending to all the prospective members notices to pay their 1973 membership dues by mail.

It is difficult to contact each prospective member personally, so we are appealing to each one to pay his membership by mail," Stoltenberg said. Right now committees are working on social affairs, golf leagues, tournaments and various other activities.

The prices sound reasonable for the many activities the club holds each year. For a full family membership, the rate is $120. Both the out-of-town family and the college student can get a membership for $80, while a high school student can join for $30. For those interested in just the social aspects of the club, the cost is $35. Those who desire to make partial payments may make them through June," Stoltenberg said, "but all dues are to be paid in full by July 1 or green fees will be collected."

IN CASE some of you still have that boxing fever left over from the last smoker (Jan. 13), members of the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity at Wayne State and the Wayne County Jaycees are going to sponsor another one.

John Ramsey, in charge of the smoker for TKE, tentatively has set April 13 as the date for the bouts at the city auditorium. This time around, he's hoping for more Wayne men to be on the card. As it stands, right now, local favorites Jim Neiman, Rick Looock and Jerry Ferricks will be heading the card.

More information, Ramsey said, will be available later.

THERE'S NOT too many people who don't know that Ken Monroe—Wayne State's No. 1 wrestler—has done it again. Yep, he captured his third straight National Association of Intercollegiate Athletes 167 pound crown last Saturday at Sioux City.

In today's issue of the paper you can read about his come from behind battle to decision Tom Carter of Central Oklahoma State.

If you would like to see an interesting photo display of his feat, check this week's issue of the Wayne Stater (campus newspaper).

Although it might be a little tough to get a hold of one, chances are that if you know someone on campus, he or she will let you take a peek. It's worth it.

Golfing Season Opens April 1 At Country Club

MEMBERS of the Wayne County Club probably are anxious for April 1 to roll around. That's the date set for the opening of the club's course according to president Del Stoltenberg.

"If the weather should improve within the next few days," he said, "I wouldn't doubt if a lot of the men would get out and shoot a few holes."

But, Stoltenberg cautions, if the players get out on the greens before the opening date, they could ruin the playing surface.

"The grounds need a little more time to

Coed Cagers Place 2nd On Heart-Breaker Loss

Injury and a three point play with 1:52 remaining in the championship game with Kansas State University last Saturday at Warrensburg, Mo. ended Wayne's comeback surge in the Women's Regional Basketball Tournament.

Wayne, trailing K State 26-13 at halftime, battled back to a 37-37 tie when Wendy Shol, hopped by a knee injury since the state tourney, reentered her knee in the final minutes of the game.

Jan Nyquist, trying to call time out for Miss Shol, drew her fifth foul trying to stop a K State drive. The basket and foul shot were good and Wayne was never able to recover, dropping the game 43-39.

Coach G. I. Willoughby felt that had the officials called time out, the outcome of the game may have been in favor of Wayne. "The team just lost their momentum with Wendy and Jan out of the game," Miss Willoughby noted that when Miss Shol was injured, she was away from the ball and this was the reason no official time out was called.

During the first half Wayne could muster no better than 10 per cent of field goals, but in the second half began to find the range, hitting 40 per cent.

Wayne was led by Claudia Paulson with 13 points. She was Wayne's leading scorer in the tourney with 38. Kansas State was paced by Janet Reusser with 11.

Wayne defeated Westmar College in the first round, 47-44. During the second half Wayne was down by as much as 10 points and had to play catch-up ball.

Paulson hit 14 points, followed by Marsha Schrick with 12 points and 16 rebounds. Gwen Hokstra flipped in 14 for Westmar.

In the second round Wayne slipped by a tough University of Northern Iowa team, 50-48.

Monroe Mounts Throne At NAA Tourney For 3rd Straight Time

Wayne State College's Ken Monroe mounted the national NAAI champion throne for the third time in a sterling career. Then he gained still another honor in ceremonies closing the NAAI National Wrestling Tournament Saturday night in Sioux City.

He was announced as Outstanding Wrestler among 402. The 167 pound senior from Arlington Heights, Ill., earned his title in a tense 5-3 decision over Tom Carter of Central Oklahoma State. Several observers described the match as "probably the finest of the finals," and for suspense that had to be true. Four of the five matches ended in pins another by disqualification for stalling, and the rest by decisions of wider margin.

Monroe came from behind 1-3 early in the second round to take a 5-3 lead with a takedown 34 seconds from the end. He made it stick, keeping the powerful Carter under control till time ran out.

Asked afterwards if he had any "battle plan" in advance, Monroe said, "I just went out and played it as I saw it." Although his usual style in a Wayne career of 91 wins, 9 losses and 2 draws has been furious attack, Monroe played it cautiously this time. So did Carter, whose stalling in the third period gave Monroe a tying point at 3-3. Finally the defending champion saw a break and swarmed over Carter for the decisive takedown. The win gave Monroe a 17th national meet record. The single loss came in the 1971 finals on a 10-9 decision.

The victory lifted Wayne to 38 1/2 points, good for sixth place among a record 102 teams, and the sixth straight year that Wayne has finished in the top eight.

Adams State of Colorado won the team championship with 67 1/2 points, for its fourth title in the last six years. Central Washington State finished with 48 1/2, Huron of South Dakota 46.

Gregory won his first two, then ran into three time national champion Chuck Jeff of Adams State, who had won an earlier scrap on a 24 second pin. Un daunted, Gregory raged out and took Jean down pronto. The champ, who won his first two titles at Iowa State, related with a 44 second pin. Jean received a post tourney award for the most and fastest pins, plus his fourth 177 pound championship.

Monroe was down 3-1 before rallying at three all and finally gaining a takedown to win the championship.

First Week Leaders Being Tossed Around in Tourney

L Bar-K Lounge of Norfolk dropped Cheatum Irrigation of Elgin to third place last week-end by rolling a 3,053 series in the second week of the Wayne St. Mary's Open bowling tournament.

Norfolk 007 grabbed the second spot with a 3,016 total during the tournament at Melodee Lanes in Wayne.

The Elgin team, holding first during the initial week of the tourney, claims the third rung with a 3,003 total, followed by a 2,990 count by Ken's Rexall of Pender. Thurston Lockers stands in fifth place with 2,948.

A total of 12 teams entered last week's competition, reports secretary Harold Murray. Last week seven teams rolled during the first Sunday of the five-Sunday meet.

The local doubles team of Jim Potts and Val Penast fell one notch from their 1,294 first place showing last week to second behind Jumbo Sanders Jim Drop of Sioux City, who finished with a 1,307 total.

Another Wayne team, LeRoy and Rick Barner—captured the fourth spot with a 1,270 six-game series. The number of doubles entered took a sizable jump to 31 last week entered. After the first Sunday only 18 had entered.

Two area men, Bob Gustafson of Wakefield and Wayne's Jerry Baier, rank one and two after the second week of singles action. Both area men broke the 700 barrier, with Gustafson shooting a 725. Baier followed with a 702.

Like the rest of the categories, singles also increased the second Sunday with 40 competing in the second round. Last week only 37 bowled.

The all-events leader from last week—Dan Sund of Wayne and Laurel's Virgil Buss—are no longer the top two. Sioux City has taken over with Dale Rude and Rick Goergen as the city's representatives.

Rude holds the lead with a 1,876; Goergen is only 11 pins behind at 1,865.

Murray warns that reservations for the remaining three Sundays are becoming scarce. The best thing, he advises, is to get registrations in as soon as possible and not wait until the last week.

Starting time for the third Sunday is from 10:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Carroll Farmers Get $98,000 FHA Loan

A Farmers Home Administration loan of $98,000 to the Del Grazing Association of Wayne County was announced Wednesday by Congressman Charles Thone.

The association is composed of three Carroll farmers — Erwin Morris, Lynn Roberts and Donald Harnseler. The association will use the loan to purchase 420 acres of land about 15 miles northeast of Norfolk. Some of the land is now in crops, but it will all be converted to pasture. Thone said.

Each of the farmers plans to have about 70 yearling steers grazing on the land.

Farm, Home Show Draws Over 2,000

Over 2,000 people jammed into the Wayne auditorium Friday through Sunday to view the various displays at the Wayne County Jaycee's annual Farm and Home Show.

Craig Tiedtke, project chairman, termed this year's event a success. "Although it wasn't perfect, the JC's who helped with this year's project, made it a good one."

At least three of the many who attended the event probably think the program is great. Marvin Husmann, Joe Rieken and Faye Bates each won $25 from the JC's as part of the many gifts given during the three-day event. All three are from Wayne.

The opening day found more than 500 people flowing in and out during the day. According to Tiedtke, Friday and Sunday were the biggest days for the Home Show. Saturday the crowd attendance fell off, mainly due to the rainy weather.

At one time in pioneer Nebraska, market hunters were paid $6.25 for 25 wild ducks.

Dairymen from Winside, Laurel Get Recognition

Dairymen from Winside and Laurel received recognition Wednesday for owning herds producing between 460 and 499 pounds of butterfat.

Receiving their bronze awards were Ronald Kittle of Winside and Keith Bartling of Laurel.

The two were recognized at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Dairymen's Association.

Lions Sell Dance Tickets Monday Night

Members of the Wayne Lions Club Monday night sold about 175 tickets to Saturday night's St. Patrick's Day dance during a house-to-house campaign in the city.

Playing at the dance, scheduled to start at 9 p.m. at the city auditorium, will be Bob Haberer and The Wranglers.

Proceeds from the dance will be donated to help pay for the new ards medical center to be constructed in Wayne.

The dance is the club's second annual one held on St. Patrick's Day.

Winside Girls Track Team Young

Youth will be accented on coach Jim Winch's girls' track team at Winside High this year. "We only have five seniors trying out this season," Winch said, noting that none of the five is a starter from last year's team.

The only one of the five to see any action is Mary Landanger, who participated two years ago. A total of 27 girls turned out for the recent cold practice sessions on the Wildcat field. Despite cold winds, Winch said most of his troops are sticking to the sessions and working out.

"I expect a couple more to drop out by the end of the week, but by that time the team as a whole should be pretty well in shape," he said. "Nine veterans will help the Wildkittens during their short season. Six sophomores — Nancy Morris, Pat Mann, Deb Kruger, Theresa Kleensang, Lori Jenkins and Jan Trautwein — will help the team in the running events.

"Nancy will be our strongest contender in the 220," Winch pointed out. "Pat, who won a ticket to state last year in the quarter mile, will be trying for another bid to state and another attempt to break the school record.

"I'm not sure if the record is 66.9 or 67.9," Winch admitted, "but we're going to try and get Pat down to a 62 or 63 second clocking for state."

Of the six, Deb will be running in the half mile, while Theresa will be working out in the 50 or 100 yard dash events. Lori is one of Winch's top contenders in the 220.

Winch is not sure where the rest of the girls will fit in, but his best bets are Jan in the 50 yard dash and junior vet Joni Langenberg taking on the 50 and 100 yard runs.

Barb Longnecker, another junior with experience, will try out for the discus and shot put. Rounding out the top nine, Mary Landanger probably will run in the 220.

Winch has his eyes on some promising freshmen to give his team more depth. "Gail Grone will take advantage of the new state ruling this year and run in four events instead of the usual three. Gail will run in the 100, 200 and two of our relay teams," Winch explained.

The name Grone might sound familiar to Winside people last year her sister, Karen, was a sparkplug on the team, especially in the 100 yard dash.

Tami Koll will be another strong contender in the 50 and 100 Jill Stenwall and Barb Ritze are good prospects in the discus and shot. As yet Winch doesn't know where he'll place Cindy Thomas.

Winside's first action will be either March 28 or 30. According to Winch, the school has an option to go to the Beecher Invitational on the 28th, if invited, or host Laurel on the 30th. Other listings: April 12- dual at Hartington High 16 Lewis and Clark Conference at home; 24—Osmond Invitational; May 3—district at Norfolk; 19—state meet in Grand Island.

Winch is hoping he can line up three to four more duals during the season.

Five Days Left to Buy Tickets to Pork Feed

Only five days remain for interested men to get tickets for the sports banquet scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Monday at the city auditorium in Wayne.

The Second Guessers and a host of Wayne businessmen will be sponsoring the feed to honor Wayne State and Wayne High athletes who participated or are out for basketball, wrestling, swimming, baseball, golf and track.

Tom McClain and Ken Dahl, co-chairmen for the dinner, invite fathers and other Wayne men to the stag feed, featuring a pork dinner.

Cost of the tickets will be $5 each, McClain said. The price covers cost of admission for a father and his son or an athlete. "We encourage all the fathers in the area to join in and help us honor the athletes," McClain added.

Tickets are available from any member of the Second Guessers by contacting McClain or Dahl.

COUNCIL

(Continued from page 1) pay for part of that project when similar projects elsewhere in the city have been paid for by billing only those who benefit from the improvements.

An attorney representing Vacko, and others who signed the petitions told the council that a previous council's commitment to help pay for the work by billing the general public does not bind this council.

Councilmen had noted in previous discussions of the assessments that an earlier council had said the general public would help pay for the work.

The subject will be taken up again at 8 p.m. at the council's meeting on March 27.

In other action the council: Approved issuing permits to Carlson Construction Co., Wayne, for razing two houses on East Seventh Street. The houses, just east of Dearborn on the south side of Seventh, are being removed to make way for a new filling station to be built on the corner. The company will have to post a $500 performance bond to obtain the permits.

Approved a request from Roy Coryell for rezoning a small piece of land on the west side of the city from multiple dwelling to highway business. Coryell, car dealer in Wayne, plans on building display space and other facilities in the area.

Discussed but tabled without action the ordinance governing refuse and garbage haulers in the city. Vernon Russell, councilman and owner of Wayne Refuse Service, has been asking the council to change the present ordinance because it doesn't prohibit who can haul for commercial accounts.

Approved the low bid from Tilden Construction Co. of $55,797 for providing sanitary sewer and water service to the site of the proposed new medical center to be built near Wayne State College. Also bidding on the work were Central Sand and Gravel, Columbus; and Penro Construction Co., Pender.

Examined preliminary plans from the city's engineering firm for asphalt work at the municipal airport east of the city. Engineer's estimate on the work is $26,500 to provide paved access to the new hangars at the airport and to do miscellaneous work at the airport. The engineering firm was given authorization to draw up detailed plans so bids can be taken on the project.

Gave city clerk Dan Sherry and electrical power plant superintendent Norbert Brugger authority to search for large tanks to store fuel for the city power plant. The city has been considering purchasing storage capacity up to about 500,000 gallons to avoid another fuel shortage at the plant next winter.

Approved restricting parking on Logan Street from the railroad tracks south to Fairground Avenue. There will be no parking on the east side of the street, no truck parking on the west side from midnight to 5 a.m.

Agreed on a 5-3 vote to spend $950 to purchase doors for two city buildings in the southeast part of the city. Voting against purchase were Prather, Beeks and Thomas.

Turned down an offer by LeRoy Barner of Wayne to take over maintenance of the city parks this summer. The city parks this summer will be maintained by a contractor. Voting to accept the offer were Mosley, Fuchsbirth, Branch, Russell and Beeks.

Norfolk Couple Hospitalized After Mishap
 A Norfolk man, Douglas Farrens, remained hospitalized in Wayne earlier this week for treatments of injuries sustained in a one-car accident early Sunday morning about three miles north of Winsde on Highway 35.

Farrens and his wife, Linda, both 23 years old, were injured when the southbound car he was driving hit a bridge railing, flipped into the air and landed on its top, according to the investigating officer, state patrolman Roger Bordman of Norfolk.

Bordman said it was sleeting at the time of the mishap, about 3 a.m., and the highway was slippery.

Farrens' wife was released from the Wayne hospital Tuesday morning following treatment for injuries she suffered in the crash.

Mrs. Farrens walked to a nearby farm home to report the accident after she crawled out of the demolished automobile, Bordman said.

The two were taken to the local hospital by the Wayne ambulance.

Capital News —

State senators seeking 63 per cent pay boost, upping yearly salary to $8,100

LINCOLN — With living costs on the rise, many persons are thinking about a raise in wages.

So are Nebraska's legislators. They got their last one in 1968 — a 100 per cent boost, from $200 to $400 per month.

This year, they are considering asking their employers — the voters — for an increase of about 63 per cent. A proposed constitutional amendment is on the legislative track to hike the lawmakers' salary to $675 monthly, or $8,100 per year.

The sponsor of the bill is Sen. George Syas of Omaha, dean of the Legislature and a machinist in the Union Pacific shops.

The $675 per month figure isn't Syas' idea of a proper salary for a state legislator. "It isn't enough by a long ways," he said.

But the 23-year veteran said $675 is about all the legislators can ask the voters for and have any chance of approval. The Syas bill originally was pegged at $600, but it was raised after the hearing before the Constitutional Revision Committee.

Debate in the committee and on the floor have indicated the senators are searching for a salary range which would be adequate to allow persons of modest means to afford to serve, without getting so high it would encourage persons to become "professional senators."

Although the salary hike being sought in LB 232 amounts to a 63 per cent increase, the lawmakers stressed in their arguments that they aren't allowed any expense money for the months they have to live in Lincoln or commute.

The Constitution grants them only expenses for one trip to Lincoln at the start of a session and one trip home when it's all over. All the traveling in between (sessions last from four to five months each year under the new annual meeting format) and hotel or apartment expenses in Lincoln are paid for out of the senators' pockets.

Several senators said they figure their expenses alone come to about $10,000 annually, especially when campaign costs are added to the total.

The result, they contend, is that only persons with independent incomes, businesses they can afford to leave, retired persons or young persons who don't yet have families can consider legislative service unless they are willing to make significant sacrifices.

Sen. Ralph Kelly of Grand Island doesn't argue with that. But Kelly said he isn't satisfied that $675 per month is anything other than "a figure picked out of thin air."

Kelly has proposed that the constitutional amendment — due to go on the May, 1974 ballot if it passes the Legislature — should be set aside until some research has been done on what a senator's paycheck should be.

The Grand Island lawmaker has urged that an interim study should be conducted, asking Nebraskans for comments on what they think a reasonable wage should be for legislators.

The results of such a study, he said, would give the Legislature some justification for proposing a constitutional amendment.

The language of LB 232 would change the Constitution to say a senator's salary may not exceed $675 per month. That's the same as the present wording, except the figure now is $400.

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh said that kind of wording is a trick. If voters are asked to approve a proposal which says a salary can't exceed a certain figure, DeCamp contended, they think they're putting a lid on the wages instead of increasing them.

DeCamp tried to amend LB 232 to say the salary would be increased by 63 per cent to $675 monthly. He was turned down by an overwhelming margin. Only Sen. Steve Fowler of Lincoln voted with DeCamp.

The Syas bill originally was ticketed for the November ballot next year, but that was changed by an amendment offered by Sen. Gary Anderson of Axtell.

By scheduling the proposal for the primary election ballot, the senators put LB 232 in a position where it will take 40 of the 49 lawmakers to pass it. A four-fifths vote is necessary on constitutional amendments to be placed on a ballot other than in the general election. At least 30 votes are needed to forward a proposal to a fall election.

The Syas bill had its first floor test last week and it was given 32-5 endorsement. The five dissenters were Sens. Kelly, DeCamp, Orval Keyes of Springfield, Blair Richendier of Walthill and Glenn Goodrich of Omaha.

Office Building Compromised

Gov. J. James Exon has agreed to a compromise which may lead to construction soon of a state office building north of the Capitol.

The governor, who has opposed immediate construction, accepted a proposal which would finance a bonding program with cigarette tax revenues. The compromise agreement still needs to get approval of the full Legislature.

OBSERVATIONS

Green Thumb worth looking into

Wayne and area communities should look into the possibility of taking part in the federal Green Thumb program which provides employment for people on social security who need additional income.

The Department of Labor program attempts to put to use the many skills of elderly people in community projects.

Congressman Charles Thorn is currently seeking funds so the program can be expanded in Nebraska. He says the program "has brought a tremendous return for the dollars invested." If it were not for the program, most of those taking part would require Old Age Assistance payments in order to survive, he said.

Knox County is currently taking part in the program. It has resulted in improved restrooms at Lewis and Clark Lake and Niobrara State Park, refurbished children's play equipment at Crofton park and landscaping of the county home at Niobrara. Senior citizens are currently taking advantage of the program to turn a vacant store building into a skating rink and a senior citizens center at Wausa.

The program doesn't seem to be another of the government's something-for nothing offer. Workers receive $1.60 an hour, with local communities supplying equipment and supplies to enable retired workers to complete projects to benefit the public. Mrs. Ed Bull, director of the Senior Citizens Center in Wayne, said there are a lot of elderly people who would probably take part in the program if it were started locally. There are probably others living in and around Winside, Hoskins, Carroll, Laurel, Allen, Dixon, Concord and Wakefield, who would also take advantage of the program.

Projects on which the retired persons could work certainly aren't lacking in Wayne and the surrounding area.

For example, local residents could tackle a project such as building benches and tables for the park being developed along Main Street in the south part of the city.

If the city decides to turn the present municipal hospital into a city offices building when the new medical facility is finished, retired persons could be hired to help with the remodeling.

There are other things local and area retired persons could do if the program were started. It would be worthwhile to look into it.

Wayne

Dear Editor:

Thank you for publishing the two articles in the March 8 and 11 editions of the newspaper. Hopefully, they will serve to stimulate interest in the Wayne County Historical Society.

May I take this opportunity to call attention to an error in the March 11 article on Mrs. Paul Harrington. You used the word Victoriola instead of Victoriana. Victoriola refers to an authentic relic of the late Victorian era, namely the old Victor talking machine with the morning glory horn.

I sincerely praise you for your public-spirited paper.

A Victoriana Buff

(Editor's Note: The writer refers to the March 8th article about a $1,144.92 gift from an estate to the county historical group. The story noted that the gift will make possible immediate payment for basement and foundation work done at the museum site east of Wayne and will allow the group to proceed with further plans for development of the museum. The writer also refers to the March 11th feature story on Wayne's Mrs. Paul Harrington, who speaks to groups at her home about Victoriana, artifacts of the Victorian era.)

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

Proven By Years of Development

Many features on modern cars have been with us a long time. What seems new or unique today may actually have appeared in a primitive form on much earlier vehicles and, through the years, been improved to perform better in today's traffic situations.

Did you know that four wheel hydraulic brakes first appeared on the 1920 Duesenberg car? Many critics thought the new fangled system would be a passing fad, but more than 50 years later, we know they were wrong. One of the significant improvements in hydraulic brakes, the dual-brake system, first appeared on all 1962 American Motors and Cadillac models, and now is the standard throughout the industry.

The 1926 Rickenbacker sported a safety glass windshield. It had a sheet of transparent celluloid sandwiched between two layers of glass. The inner material has changed and other improvements have been incorporated, but today's safety glass windshields use much the same principle.

The first electric tail light appeared on the 1910 Owen, and automatic back-up lights were first installed on the 1921 Wills St. Claire. Today, rear end lighting incorporates directional signals, emergency flashing lights, tail lights, back-up lights — and the universally recognized stop lights.

In 1936, Packard offered an air conditioning unit. Today, it's the fastest-growing passenger comfort option and has the added advantage of keeping the driver alert at the wheel for greater safety.

Some features are not accepted by the public immediately. Seat belts, which combine safety and comfort for drivers and passengers and which have for many years been considered mandatory by professional racing drivers, were first offered on a 1950 car. The public responded with a surge of apathy. Today, 85 to 90 per cent of all cars on our roads have seat belts, but surveys continue to show that fewer than 30 per cent of the nation's drivers use their lap belts regularly.

And now a look at the local news.

When it comes to local reporting of the news, eight out of ten people turn to their local newspaper for a complete report.

People turn to local newspapers for a full report on all local news. Where's the fire? Who got married? Who won last week's football game? All this, and a complete report on your City Council, school board meeting, or a possible bond issue, is news in your community. And, your local newspaper reports it.

People believe strongly in newspapers for several reasons: newspaper reading is a habit with most people; it's part of the daily routine; people regard their newspaper as a friend they can't do without.

With over 80% of all adults, and 70% of all teen-agers reading a newspaper every week, no other news medium can match local newspapers for speedy, thorough saturation of your town.

Newspapers deliver the local story

News That's Fit to Eat
Are you growing extra hay for possible emergency feeding to your cows? Maybe you are on the wrong track and should be saving your old newspapers instead!

Some test at Beltsville, Md., indicated that newspaper could replace some forage in the ration. Newspaper was ground in a hammermill and blended into a ration with molasses. Newspaper did not appear to have any adverse effects on the animals studied, and up to at least eight per cent can serve as a roughage substitute.

Bromegrass Pastures
Bromegrass is very easy to grow in this area. But because bromegrass is so easy to establish and grow we tend to mismanage it.

4-H Club News

The Hi Raters Boys 4-H Club met Mar. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Wayne County Courthouse. Their teen members discussed roll by naming a type of car.

Members made a complete check of projects being taken this year. Melvin Utecht is the new assistant leader.

Hosts for the meeting were the Jim Teeters and the Melvin Utechts.

Nine dairy project members met Mar. 6 in the John Anderson home to practice judging calves.

Next regular meeting will be Apr. 12 at 8 p.m. at the courthouse.

Michael Rethwisch, news reporter

Bromegrass, like most grasses needs fertilizer for best production. Several years ago a two-year study in Cedar County indicated that one pound of fertilizer applied to bromegrass pasture returned one pound of beef.

Unfertilized bromegrass pasture over these two years produced an average of 61 pounds of beef per acre. When a $20 per acre pasture charge is placed against the land, dollars were actually lost when fertilizer was not used.

The addition of 60 pounds of nitrogen per year boosted beef yields to 139 pounds of beef per acre. The bromegrass then became profitable, yielding about $8.75 per acre net return above fertilizer and land costs.

Some other tests in this area indicated that by adding 40 pounds nitrogen per acre on bromegrass resulted in a profitable return of about $1.75 feed for each fertilizer dollar invested.

These figures are several years old and the cattle prices used were only 25 cents per pound, so you can see that returns from fertilizing bromegrass would be much greater at today's cattle prices.

In field practice, 60 to 80 pounds of nitrogen to bromegrass should give maximum net return. In addition, phosphorus fertilizer may be needed on eroded pastures. A soil test is a reliable guide to determining fertilizer needs.

An additional benefit from using nitrogen fertilization on bromegrass is improved forage quality. Protein content of the grass will be increased about two per cent where 60 pounds of nitrogen is applied.

Bromegrass pastures improve with repeated fertilization. The full benefit from fertilization is not reached the first year, but during the years following fertilizer use.

Weed control will also be necessary to attain full production potential from bromegrass pasture. Overgrazing should be avoided.

It is a profitable idea to remove cattle from bromegrass pasture when summer dormancy occurs and substitute Sudan or warmseason grass pasture during these periods.

Regardless of DST, Farmers Work by The Light of the Sun

At the first hint of day the rooster yawns, stretches, jumps atop the barbed wire fence and announces the approach of Old King Sol. The dawn comes like a royal court of jesters, joyfully following their master.

Then Old King Sol peeps over the horizon and a new day is officially underway.

Regardless of what some may think, daylight savings time or central standard time has little to do with the ascent or descent of Old King Sol.

Farmers are still laughing about the woman who, several years ago, wrote to the editor of a widely circulated newspaper and publicly expressed her perplexity over farmers complaining about daylight savings time.

She reasoned that it was to their advantage — corn would have an extra hour of growing time each day — and what would be wrong with that?

Nothing if it were true! But a farmer is acutely aware of how many daylight hours there are in each day — not enough, regardless of how many there are.

Not enough daylight hours to get all your work done. Not enough night hours for enough sleep to rest from the day before or to prepare for the day after.

Daylight and darkness are determined by two things — sunrise and sunset. Not by the clock.

Years ago the time on the clock was determined by the sun. When Old King Sol was directly overhead and you were standing on your shadow, it was time to go in for dinner.

During daylight savings time, you would be an hour late.

When the majority of people began working by the clock instead of the sun, man changed his clock so he could enjoy the sun rather than work in it. Farming is not the occupation of the majority; the farmer's work hours are determined mostly by Old King Sol.

He doesn't punch a time clock when he goes to work or when he quits.

A farmer's work day often begins when that conceited rooster lets everyone and every thing on the farm know he has arisen. You often wonder if he doesn't go back to bed after he gets everything up for the day.

Sunrise and sunset differ during the various seasons of the year. And a farmer, as well as those who changed the clocks, are acutely aware of the seasonal changes and the shorter and longer periods of daylight and darkness.

Even the before-dawn trumpet is aware of the earlier dawn during spring and summer. But how do you explain to a rooster why you are suddenly getting up earlier than he does?

How can you explain it to him when you can hardly explain it to yourself?

So you let out a loud cock a doodle doo to him as he sets nodding in the barn. While he regains his poise and unfrills his feathers, you begin your morning chores.

Even though it's mucky underfoot, a bright, spring shaft of sunlight streaks through the east barn door, carrying all the germs of spring fever.

Your winter lounging is over for another year. You're going to get all the work done in one day that you've put off all winter.

No more staying in bed until 6 in the morning, no more afternoon naps, no more putting off grinding feed or cleaning sheds so you can go to a sale. No more going to sales, either, unless it's absolutely necessary.

About the time you've recuperated from your bout with spring fever you suddenly realize it's time to make hay while the sun shines. It's time to get up by that internal ringing of the clock, and you don't get back to bed until long after Old King Sol has retired for the day.

And there will probably be days when you shouldn't pay any attention to either of them.

NRD Hoping to Start Cost Share Program To Replace REAP

Members of the Lower Elk Horn Natural Resource District and conservation contractors may have found their own answer to the now defunct Rural Environmental Agricultural Program during a meeting in Norfolk Friday night, providing the NRD board of directors grants its approval.

A cost share program aimed at continuing conservation practices similar to REAP could become a reality, said Arnold Marr of Wayne district conservationists, upon the board's decision March 27 at Clarkson.

Marr pointed out that the NRD is willing to put up part of the cost of the program to cover what formerly was the federal government's portion of the program in order to continue the practices.

There are four major points in REAP we want to stress, building dams, waterways, feedlot pollution abatement and

Now available in Amoco. anhydrous ammonia

Now there's something new in anhydrous ammonia — our Agricultural Crop Additive (ACA). It could mean bigger yields for you. In our tests it produced wider, greener leaves—vigorous growth—better developed root systems and stronger stalks. And in 85% of the tests conducted, these growth differences resulted in increased yields compared to regular ammonia application.

Try Amoco ammonia (ACA) on your farm. The additional cost per acre is less than the price of a bushel of corn. It's recommended for corn and certain other crops, but don't apply it to wet, poorly drained soils. See us for complete details.

Get the facts on the big beef factory

Find out how HARVESTORE is helping others multiply manpower, landpower production and profit.

Cattle producers across the nation are packing on more economical gains by harvesting high-moisture corn, other grains and forages early when protein and TDN are highest and field losses are lowest.

These valuable nutrients are then locked in and processed through a HARVESTORE System. Many cattlemen also process cornlage (low-moisture silage) and stover through their HARVESTORE. This permits them to save valuable feed and "pasture" corn stalks right in the feedlot.

Add the time and labor saved by HARVESTORE bottom unloading and automated feeding and you know why HARVESTORE holds the key to increased efficiency, profit and production.

Easter Seal Fund Drive To Begin in County Soon

Residents of Wayne and Wayne County will be asked to donate to the Nebraska Easter Seal Society during a fund raising campaign which will begin either late this month or early in April, reports the general chairman for the drive.

Mrs. Mathilda Harms of Wayne, chairman of the drive for the past three years, said the drive this year will include solicitations in the rural areas, something that has not been done in past years.

Mrs. Harms has been recruiting volunteers to distribute the packets for the neighbor to neighbor fund drive. She said she has contacted about enough volunteers so the drive can begin within the next two or three weeks.

The red, white and blue kits carry a picture of 1973 Nebraska Easter Seal Child Susie Smerok of Columbus. Inside the kits is information about Easter Seal services and envelopes for contributions.

After making their contributions, the donors should pass the kit to their neighbors. When the kit has been circulated it should be returned to the neighborhood volunteer.

Many residents may receive both the kit and an appeal letter. In this way they may select which way they wish to contribute.

Last year nearly $109,000 in Easter Seal service was provided to handicapped Nebraskans. These programs included transportation to medical centers and special schools; physical and speech therapy; rental or purchase of equipment such as wheelchairs, braces and walkers and research.

Of all funds raised in Nebraska through Easter Seals, 96 per cent stays in the state to directly serve handicapped Nebraskans.

Last year's drive in Wayne raised about $900, Mrs. Harms said.

Three Kiwanis Teams 'Vying' For Cold Pancakes Monday

The members of Bob Carhart's team can breathe a little easier this week. They are out of the running for the "cold pancake" treat in store for the team that sold the least amount of tickets to last week's Kiwanis pancake feed.

"Next Monday," said Freeman Decker, in charge of ticket sales, "I'll have the complete results of which team sold the fewest tickets. And then we'll watch the members eat the cold pancakes."

To add to the losers' woes, a bit will be given to the team captain as he enjoys his serving of cakes.

The three teams left to vie for the "honor" are those of Kent Hall, Keith Mosley and Jim Hummel.

During Monday's Kiwanis meeting, Decker told the gathering that Bob Carhart's team claimed the top spot by selling 244 tickets.

Anton Netherda, presenting a film, "Road Talk," during the luncheon.

Netherda, an instructor in Industrial Education at Wayne State, pointed out that the purpose of driver education is to touch the positive aspects of driving.

"Safety is a matter of courtesy," he told the members. But to be safe, a driver should understand three aspects of driving—recognize the hazard, and understand the proper defense, and act accordingly.

Presently, a bill before the state Legislature calling for a $25 fine for drivers not using their seat belts stands a good chance of being defeated, Netherda said.

"The whole bill boils down to the matter of proper enforcement," he said.

Netherda went on to say that some insurance companies are already enforcing their own safety belt law. Under some policies a driver may be completely or partially at fault if he or she is not wearing a seat belt, he explained.

"This is where the initiative lies," he added.

Veterans' Benefits Questions, Answers
Q—If I purchase a mobile home with a Veterans Administration guaranteed loan, just what does this guarantee?

A—The VA guarantees up to 30 per cent of loans up to a maximum loan of $10,000 for mobile homes. The VA could also issue an additional 60 per cent guarantee for a loan up to $2,500 to purchase a lot and to make certain improvements on the lot on which the mobile home will be placed. The guarantee usually permits eligible veterans and widows to arrange "no down payment" loans with private lending institutions.

Q—To settle a disagreement in my family, can you tell me if many veterans participate in job and farm training programs under the GI Bill?

A—In fiscal year 1972 (ending June 30) there were nearly 170,000 veterans in on-job training programs, which is 20,000 more than in fiscal year 1971 and nine times the total in fiscal year 1968.
