TO MRS. MABEL KENNEDY, the town her father founded—Melvin still lives. Her memories of her childhood days in the four building town are as clear today as they were back in the late 1890's. She even has the old plat book of Wayne County showing the location of the town near Hoskins.

Melvin Died Many Years Ago, But Founder's Daughter Remembers It Well

By BOB BARTLETT

How many people remember the town of Melvin, Nebraska?

Mrs. Mabel Kennedy of Wayne does, even though the town ceased to exist about '68.

On March 31, 1898, Melvin became a town complete with its own post office.

Melvin Benedict, the town's founder, started up the four-building community on his farm about three miles north and two miles west of Hoskins to serve the farmers around the area, recalls Mrs. Kennedy, Benedict's daughter.

"I remember when my father would go after the mail," the spry woman of 82 said. "He would saddle his horse and ride off to Hoskins to pick up the mail."

Benedict collected the mail twice weekly and placed it in the post office boxes on the farm. Then the neighbors would pay a quick visit to the Benedict family to pick up their mail.

Before Benedict originated the idea of a town, he had one building in his backyard to store various farm supplies in addition to the mail.

Later he decided to apply for a post office permit to cut down on the trips to Hoskins. It wasn't too long after it was granted that he erected a small blacksmith shop, grocery store with a grain scale and an ice house.

Mr. Benedict came across all this information when she was cleaning out her house in Norfolk after her father died in early March.

There she found pictures and a plat book of Wayne County dating back to 1898. Inside, she had pictures of her sister, Ada—Both Ada and Mrs. Kennedy, two of five children, helped their father. "It was Ada," Mrs. Kennedy pointed out, "who really helped out."

In 1905 Ada died at the age of 26, and so did the post office.

A new mail route, according to a book on Wayne County history, started north and west of Hoskins and eventually absorbed the post office.

Benedict then returned to full time farming of his 800 acres.

Presently, Mrs. Kennedy is living with her daughter, Mrs. Alvin Reeg and her family in Wayne. Mrs. Kennedy remembers her father as a very busy man. "He never was idle. I can tell you that much."

Remodeling Work at WS One Step Closer

Governor J. James Exon has approved a contract for architectural services and a program statement review of the proposed $90,000 renovation and remodeling of the physical education facility at Wayne State College.

Wayne State is proposing the conversion of 7,460 square feet of unfinished (dirt floor) area located in the basement of the existing addition to the physical education facility into the following programmed areas:

—A men's locker and dressing room for instructional physical education program; the area will have sufficient spaces allotted for showers and restroom facilities.

—A separate locker and dressing area for football and physical education classes.

—An equipment and laundry storage and check-out area for use by both the men's and women's physical education programs; accomplished by an open cage system for the men's use and a closed portal system for the women; the combined facility will limit duplication and maximize utilization of space.

—Existing equipment room into an "adaptive physical education area" for handicapped students.

Wayne State will award the contract for architectural and engineering services on this project to Leo A. Daly Company of Omaha.

Salary Talk On Tap for School Board

Members of the Wayne-Carroll school board will consider approving a salary schedule at their regular monthly board meeting.

The meeting is scheduled for the high school at 7:30 p.m.

Board members are expected to vote in favor of the salary schedule okayed by the teachers in March. The salary schedule calls for a hike in base salary from $6,650 to $6,800, an increase of just over two per cent.

Expected to meet with the board are several persons interested in offering athletics for girls in the school system. Board members have discussed the subject several times during the past few months, but they have decided to offer limited intramural sports activity for girls rather than inter-school competition.

Horsemen Plan Trek In Area

Iowa horsemen will travel through Wayne County this coming Saturday as they participate in the first Nebraska Pony Express Ride for Crippled Children.

The riders, members of the Iowa Pony Express Riders, Inc., will enter Nebraska at South Sioux City and continue through Dakota, Dixon, Wayne, Madison, Platte, Butler and Seward Counties.

During their ride, they will be kicking up dust while telling residents about Easter Seal's Camp Kiwanis, the Nebraska Easter Seal Society's resident camp near Milford for handicapped children and adults.

The Iowans, who recently held a ride in Iowa to raise funds for the Iowa Easter Seal camp, will accept donations along the route and carry the money by horse back to the camp.

All funds raised will be used for construction of the Nebraska camp. The Iowa riders' "reward" a chuck wagon feed at the camp Saturday afternoon.

The Iowans will join with Nebraska riders at Seward for the trek to the camp near Milford.

Girls Stater

RENEE HARMEIER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Harmeier of rural Carroll and a junior at Wayne High School, has been named by the Carroll American Legion Auxiliary and the Carroll Women's Club to attend Girls State at Lincoln June 9-15. No alternate was chosen.

Preston Named JC President

Dale Preston, this year's first vice-president of the Wayne County Jaycees, was elected president for the coming year Thursday night during the regular JC meeting.

Preston will take office June

Elected to the first and second vice president offices were Craig Tiedtke and Bob Woehler respectively. They will replace Preston and Rebensdorf in those positions.

Other officers elected were Bob Bartlett, secretary; Roger Madden, treasurer; David Ley, internal director; Terry Karel, external director; and Jack Manske, ways and means.

Appointed as chaplain was Glen Hood. Bob Bartlett was named editor of the group's newsletter, and John Rebensdorf was named co-editor.

DALE PRESTON

NPPD Dislikes Values Set by Condemnation, Goes to District Court

Nebraska Public Power District of Columbus has appealed to district court in Wayne County to change land values set in condemnation procedures arising from the power company's construction of a large transmission line across the county.

The power company, which is building a 230,000 volt transmission line between Norfolk and Dakota City, last week appealed seven cases to district judge George W. Dittrick of Norfolk.

The seven cases are among 24 condemnation procedures initiated by power company officials after they were unable to obtain easement rights across pieces of property in the county.

Several of the 24 have already been settled out of court, according to associate county judge Luvera Hill of Wayne. Dead lines for appealing the land values arrived at by appraisers in the other cases—either by NPPD or the land owners—are April 26 and May 1, she said.

Judge Dittrick will hold district court in Wayne again on May 2 and may consider the appeals at that time, a court official said.

Cases and appraised land value figures being appealed by NPPD involve land owned by the following persons and firms:

—Emma O. Lawrence and Bonnie Sprouls, $5,430.

—Albert E. Prescott, Lawrence and Bonnie Sprouls, $3,381.

—Victor and Janet Kniesche and Federal Land Bank of Omaha, $3,588.

—Emil Thies, Rosina Thies, Donald and Betty Thies, $5,005.

—First National Bank Building Corporation, Carl Wright, Stanley Soden, $6,200.

—Victor Kniesche, Lydia Kniesche, Gerald Kniesche, $8,165.

—August Vahikamp, Alvina Vahikamp, Edwin and Gertrude Vahikamp, $7,457.50.

Area Student Receives State Farmer Degree

Kent Sachau, senior at Allen High School, was named State Farmer Thursday in Lincoln during the 45th annual state convention of the Nebraska Association of Future Farmers of America.

Kent, who was one of 114 members in the state to receive the honor, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sachau of Allen.

The three-day convention began Thursday. Members spent much of their time in a series of judging contests and other tests of skill.

Council Sets Hearings on Liquor Requests

Public hearings on three applications for liquor licenses will be held Tuesday night during the regular meeting of the Wayne city council.

Applying for bottle club licenses are William Scott, operator of Scotty's Place, and Dan Johnson of Wayne and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Goelowski of Lincoln, who will operate The Inn at Wayne, proposed motel on the east edge of the community.

Applying for a retail package liquor license are Ken Dahl of Wayne and Dennis McGonigal of Omaha.

The public hearings are scheduled between 8 and 8:30 p.m.

Expected to be discussed during the meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Woman's Club rooms at the city auditorium, is a proposal by Nebraska Public Power District to tie into Wayne's electrical system.

Councilmen have been considering the proposal for several months. The tie-in would guarantee the city electrical power in the event of an emergency such as a tornado put the local power plant out of operation.

Art Taking Shape

THE HANDS of Terry Henshke gently caress a glob of clay into the shape of a vase as it spins on a potter's wheel. Henshke, a senior at Wakefield High School, demonstrated the skill during Wakefield's education fair Friday night. Held in place of an open house, the fair attracted several hundred persons. Regional Jail Study Is Approved; City-County May Merge Facilities

A regional study of county jail facilities which recommended that Wayne County merge its jail with County's received approval Thursday night.

Approval of the study came at a meeting of the Region 11 and 25 Joint Planning Commission for Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice. The meeting was held in Norfolk.

The study recommended that the county and city jails in Wayne be combined to take advantage of the 24-hour surveillance now provided by the city police department.

It also recommended that an addition be built onto the county jail facility to provide space for officers and dispatchers now working in the city police station.

Norris Weible of Wayne, secretary of the regional group, said that Wayne County will likely submit its application for a $40,000 federal grant at the commission's next meeting, slated for May 3 in Norfolk.

If that grant is approved by the regional and state crime commissions, he said, it would be matched by local funds for construction of an addition to the south side of the present county jail facilities.

The addition, which would probably be about 59 feet by 30 feet, would include a garage, interrogation area and office space for the county sheriff and city police chief, Weible said.

Thursday night's approval by the regional commission permits the individual counties which took part in the study to start putting the recommendations in to effect if they wish, according to Weible.

Wayne County commissioners and local city councilmen have already passed resolutions stating their willingness to cooperate in establishing a combined city county jail.

Because those resolutions have been passed and because a preliminary plan for the addition to the county jail already has been drawn up, Wayne County is further ahead in putting the recommendations in to effect than the other counties are, according to Weible.

The study, released in March, recommended that Cedar County's jail be replaced because the 80-year-old facility is not worth remodeling. It also recommended that Dixon County continue using its jail to house prisoners overnight and that the county continue contracting with other counties for holding long-term prisoners.

Two recommendations in the study were rejected by the regional commission, however.

Those were suggestions that an executive committee be appointed for the eight-county region and that the position of regional corrections coordinator be established.

The study covered only six of the eight counties: Wayne, Stanton, Pierce, Madison, Dixon and Cedar. Antelope and Knox Counties did not participate in the study.

Attending Thursday night's meeting with Weible were Don Weible, Wayne County Sheriff and Vern Fairchild, city police chief.

Media Fair Will Highlight WH Open House Tuesday

The spotlight will be on media this Tuesday as the Wayne public schools stage their first media fair in conjunction with the open house to be held at Wayne High School.

The fair, to include demonstrations of learning aids from the elementary, middle and high school levels, will be held in the high school auditorium. Parents and other interested individuals are invited to visit the displays between 2 and 5 in the afternoon and again that evening during the 7 to 9 p.m. open house.

Teachers and students will be demonstrating the various aids which are becoming an increasingly important part of the instructional program in today's schools.

Media centers are gradually taking the place of school libraries, offering audio and visual aids such as slides, film strips, records, tapes, film loops, vacuum form molds and talking books as well as regular books. Many of these are commercial productions and others are made by teachers for supplementary class material or by students as class assignments.

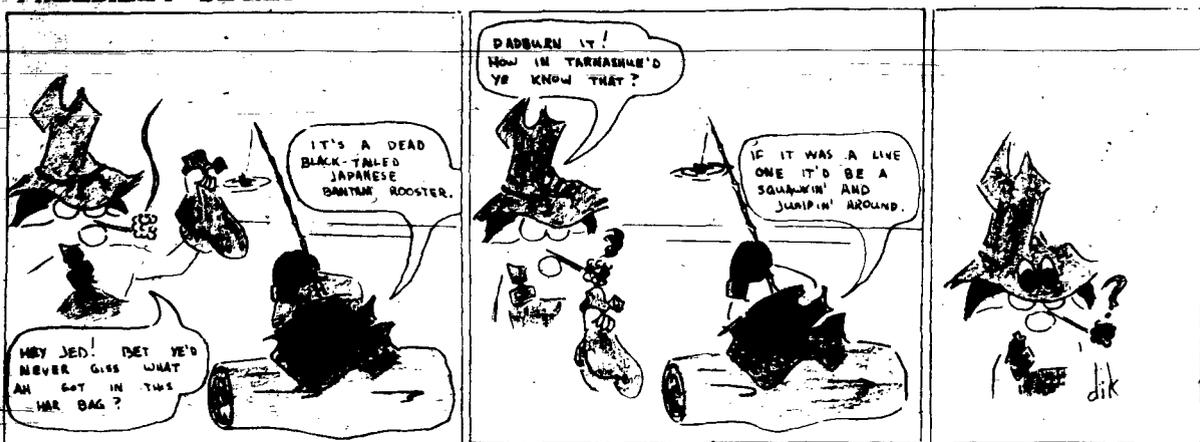

Laura Fredrickson, director of media services in the Wayne School system, works with librarians, teachers and students in producing such materials. The production center includes equipment such as the vacuum former which turns out three-dimensional maps or replicas of parts of body for detailed study.

There is a 35 millimeter visual maker for turning out slides; a movie camera for producing movies; cassette tape recorders, video tape recorder, video camera; a television monitor and receiver; movie and slide projectors and photo copier and drymount press for making transparencies.

The television monitor allows the school to video tape an educational television program for playing back on one of the television receivers available in each school.

Materials produced in the schools which will be on display at the media fair include six super-eight movies; six super-eight cartridge loop films;

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

Madison and Norfolk are competing for the site of a new Madison County jail under consideration.

Madison has proposed a plan for building the jail and courtroom facility adjacent to the present courthouse in Madison. Under the plan, the city of Madison would finance the building and lease it to the county, with the city paying 20 per cent of the cost for the privilege of using it as a city jail.

Norfolk's plan calls for a $45,000 addition to the rear of the present city jail in Norfolk. Cost of the building would be paid by the county, with payments being made over a 10-year period.

John Melton, member of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln football coaching staff, will be featured speaker at the annual sports banquet scheduled by Oakland-Craig High School Tuesday night.

Melton, in his 12th year of coaching at UN-L, is mentor for the tight ends and wingbacks.

Junior Randy Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Anderson, has been chosen Boy's Starter by the American Legion Post in Weaust. He will take part in the annual event at Lincoln June 9-15.

A bit of humor comes from The Neligh News and Leader: In filling out a job application form, a man puzzled for a long time over the question of who to notify in case of an accident. Finally, he wrote: "Anybody in sight."

The West Point plant operated by Iowa Beef Processors will not be affected by the company's recent decision to curtail slaughtering operations.

The company has said it will cut operations at Mason City, Ia.; Fort Dodge, Ia., and Luverne, Minn.

Blamed for the curtailment: the ceiling set by the Nixon Administration on retail and wholesale beef prices. The company called this move "artificial manipulation."

Ellen Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mort Henderson, was recently named FFA Sweetheart Queen at Emerson-Hubbard High School.

Voting for the new queen and a benefit basketball game raised $65 for the March of Dimes.

A young man from Pender, Charles Puls Jr., died recently when his car smashed into a bridge railing two miles north of Pender. The car was torn apart in the crash, with the motor being thrown about 85 feet from the car.

Investigating officers said a blowout may have caused the accident.

Joel Wedergren, present superintendent of Nishna Valley Community Schools at Hastings, Ia., has been hired as superintendent of schools at Plainview.

One of 22 persons applying for the job, he will replace Thomas Brown, who will go to New York to attend graduate school.

Wedergren, 38, is a native of Uehling. He received his undergraduate degree from Midland College in Fremont, his graduate degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

7. A famous explorer of the West in the 1840's suggested an Oto name Ni-brath-ka (meaning "flat water"), for the area which is now the state of Nebraska. Who was he? Stephen A. Douglas; John C. Fremont; Kit Carson or George Catlin.
8. Nebraska Territory once included parts of all these states except one: North Dakota, South Dakota, Colorado, Iowa, Montana, and Wyoming. Name it.

ANSWERS:

1. "Veins" of petroleum had been found in Nebraska during the 19th century. It was not until 1940, however, that Nebraska's first successful oil well, Buchholz No. 1, was drilled near Falls City, Richardson Co., Nebr. Although other producing wells have been drilled in that area, the bulk of Nebraska's present oil production is centered in the southwestern panhandle.
2. Bess Streeter Aldrich spent most of her adult life in Elmwood, Cass County, Nebraska. Her books are widely read, and she is regarded as one of Nebraska's most accomplished authors. Mrs. Aldrich died in Lincoln August 3, 1954. In 1972 she was elected to the Nebraska Hall of Fame.
3. The area of present Nance County, Nebraska, was set aside as the Pawnee Indian Reservation in 1859. Genoa, originally a Mormon settlement, was the site of the Pawnee Indian Agency. The Pawnee was relocated in 1874 to a reservation in what is now Oklahoma. Nance County was organized by the State Legislature in 1879. The county is named

OBSERVATIONS

Why a boycott?

Boycotting meat because the price is too high is like kicking your dog because he's not the pup he was when you got him.

Meat costs more today than it did 10 or 15 years ago, there's no disputing that, but try to name one thing that hasn't gone up during the past decade or so. You might be able to find one, but we're betting you'll rack your brains before you come up with it.

Let's just look at a few facts before we start complaining about the price of meat at the grocery store.

According to Oscar Breadthauer, president of the National Livestock Feeders Association, a pound of choice beef at the store costs about 75 cents in 1950. Had the price of beef gone up as much as the price of a first class postage stamp since 1950, that pound of beef would cost you $2.01 today. If it had gone up as much as the average hourly wage rate, it would cost $2.11 today. And if it had gone up as much as the price of having a child in a hospital, it would cost $3.11.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that the average retail price for choice beef in February was $1.30 plus a pound. Some other facts gathered by Senator Carl Curtis might also help a person trying to understand what the clamor about meat prices is all about.

Sen. Curtis notes that the price of food has gone up about 43 per cent since 1952. Here's what has happened during that time to the price of some other things families have to purchase.

—A man's suit costs 87 per cent more today than it did in 1952.

—A pair of women's shoes costs 94 per cent more.

—A stay in the hospital is 371 per cent higher.

—A repair bill on your automobile is 97 per cent higher.

What this points out is that the price Americans must pay for their food — including meat — has not risen as greatly in recent years as the price for about everything else we consume.

Rather than starting a boycott against meat, we should thank the American farmer and others in the food processing business for holding down the price in recent years. We've got a good thing going for us, so let's not start any foolish boycott.

A bit of humor

We've added a little humor to this editorial page with the "Hillbilly Blues" cartoon up on the top.

Although we don't know a lot about the art of drawing cartoons, we think this little strip shows that the person who sketched it has quite a bit of talent.

It was drawn by young Richard Carlson, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carlson of Wayne. A sophomore at Wayne High School, he seems pretty interested in drawing humorous cartoons such as this one, and now he is working on some other strips as well as trying to come up with additional characters.

In many ways, drawing cartoons or editorial pictures is a lot harder than writing a humorous piece or an editorial on some subject. The cartoonist has to get hold of a good idea and then explain it completely and clearly in as few lines, figures and words as possible. If he uses too many pictures in his strip, if the talk between the characters isn't easy to follow, if the characters are not distinctive and appealing or if the idea isn't any good, the cartoon just doesn't come off.

We think this one succeeds. Carlson's art instructor at the school must think so, too, because he suggested Carlson see whether the newspaper would be interested in printing it.

We would like to hear your comments about the cartoon — whether you think it is good or bad, whether you think it shows enough promise for the cartoonist to continue improving his talent, whether he should contribute them to the newspaper regularly.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786.

A closer look...

By Marvin Hansen

Our reviews of high school class plays are needed about as much as an extra toenail.

At least that's what one "Disappointed Student" thinks.

The student writes that Sandra Breikreutz did more harm than good in her review of the opening night production of "Fiddler on the Roof" at Wayne High School. Students don't need criticism, according to the writer of the unsigned letter, but they do need encouragement.

If the students had been famous actors from Broadway, a critical review would have been in order, the letter writer continues.

Well, the writer makes a few good points... although I'll argue that he (or she) is wrong on some of them. I read the review over several times and can find only about two places where the reviewer was critical of the production. Considering that the review went on for some length, that's not bad.

It's certainly true that high school actors and singers are not professionals. Mrs. Breikreutz would be the first to agree with that, and I don't think she watched and listened during the production as if they were professionals.

On the other hand, the student's very participation in such productions indicates that he has more than a passing interest in the stage. And it is assumed that the serious drama buff would welcome the opportunity to know how he came across to his audience.

It's a cinch that his friends, though they will eagerly tell him how great he sang in Act II, won't be inclined to say, "You really fell flat in that love scene, buddy."

It's our intention in reviewing such productions to present the total response (negative and positive) to the presentation, though it should be remembered that this is the response of just one person and doesn't necessarily reflect how the entire audience or even a major portion of it might have felt.

A review of a play or musical is one person's view—another individual might review it in an entirely different manner, handing out praise where the other reviewer didn't, criticizing things passed over by the other writer.

Reviewing any type of production — whether professional or amateur — is a tough job. There's no way the reviewer is going to get the job done without making at least a few people angry or upset. That's not the reviewer's intention, it's probably safe to say, but it's a good bet that will happen because of the very nature of the review.

We would like to hear more comments on the reviews of high school productions — good or bad. Maybe it is something we are doing which is not worth the time, effort and expense it involves.

The review of "Fiddler on the Roof" did fail to mention three actors. Doug Proffitt and Doug Pierson had minor roles as village boys, and John Agler, whose songs were particularly impressive, portrayed Perchik, the student. The oversight was not intentional, just a result of hurriedly writing the review for an early Saturday morning deadline.

We've got friends out there in space. At least that's what British astronomer Duncan Lunan says.

Lunan has reportedly deciphered a message sent to earth from another solar system. The message, which he says has been sent intermittently since the 1920's from an unmanned robot satellite placed in orbit around our moon between 13,000 and 15,000 years ago, comes from inhabitants of a planet unimaginable distances away.

If the scientist has interpreted the message correctly, the "people" who sent it live something like 103 million light years from earth. A light year is the distance that light travels in one year — roughly 5.9 trillion miles. (You figure out how many miles that is, I flunked general math in high school.)

What's the message say? Here's part of it: "Start here. Our home is Upsilon Bootis, which is a double star. We live on the sixth planet of seven. Check that — the sixth of seven counting outwards from the sun, which is the larger of the two."

Lunan is probably being called a nut by most of the "people" who read or heard about his "translation." It does sound weird, I'll admit, but he just might have latched onto something.

There's life out there somewhere, there's little doubt about that. The only thing we have to find out is where it is, how advanced it is and whether we want to make contact with it.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

New Light on Auto Lighting
Automobile lighting has become even more sophisticated in recent years to help you see other vehicles and to help you be seen by other drivers. It also has become one of the most abused and misused safety systems in the car.

Modern auto lighting is designed to help you recognize the presence of other vehicles on the road and to determine instantly what they're doing. Amber and red side marker lights on cars, for instance, warn you of a car crossing the road in front of you well before that car is caught in your headlights. Directional signals have a long safety record in warning both following and oncoming drivers of your maneuvering intentions. The more recent development of emergency flasher lights identify and locate disabled cars to warn of potential roadside dangers. Some states also require their use when cars or trucks are forced to run below the speed limit on steep grades.

Headlights are misused in two ways. Poorly aimed lights are the biggest troublemakers, primarily on vacationers' cars. Even if the driver has thoughtfully had the lights aligned before starting his trip, he frequently overlooks the change in aim that takes place when he loads the trunk with luggage and other vacation gear. Solution: the lights should be aimed to compensate for the added weight at the rear and re-aligned for normal driving conditions after the vacation trip. The second biggest misuse is overdriving the beam. Standard headlight high-beams illuminate a 250-foot path ahead of the car, when properly aimed. Adding average reaction distance (40 feet or more) to the distance covered while braking hard from 40 mph (200/50 feet) means that many motorists are overdriving their headlights at speeds above 60. Even a light film of dirt on the headlights or windshield can reduce forward visibility at night and result in overdriving the lights at speeds below 60 mph.

AHS Play To Be Mystery-Comedy

Three girls from Ohio — eager, excited and hoping to establish careers in New York — are compelled by circumstances to rent an old gloomy, run-down apartment from a greedy landlady on their first night in town. And what a night it turns out to be!

The apartment is dimly lit; poorly furnished and throbbing with strange noises. The place abounds in inexplicable oddities, the most fascinating of which is a locked closet. Elusive, shadowy figures slip silently out from under the door from time to time carrying mysterious packages.

This is the plot of "Come Out of the Closet," three-act mystery comedy to be presented this Friday at 1:15 p.m. and at 8 p.m. at the Allen High School gym. The matinee performance is for the benefit of students in grades K-6 and adults who are not free in the evening.

Afternoon admission is $1 for adults and 50c for K-6 students. The evening admission is $1 for adults and 75c for students.

Center Director To See Film At Regional Center

Mrs. Eldon Bull, director of the Wayne Senior Citizen Center, will be in Norfolk this Wednesday to preview a slide tape presentation, "An Alternative to Aging," at the Norfolk Regional Center.

The color presentation explores a model program of library services for those over 65 in Nebraska.

Special consultants will be Dr. Charles Waite, staff psychiatrist, member of the Governor's commission on aging; Jerry Kaup, coordinator of the Northern Library Network of the Nebraska Library Commission; and Mrs. Nancy Wiederspan, community information specialist for the elderly, also with the Nebraska Library Commission.

An informal discussion will follow the film to consider library and community resources available to older citizens, blind and physically handicapped.

Center Band Plays At Dahl's Thursday

The Wayne Senior Citizen Center Bobbles and Bubbles Band entertained at Dahl Retirement Center Thursday afternoon. They were accompanied by other center members for the monthly trip.

Posting of Meat Prices In Effect Today

Meal ceiling prices must be prominently posted by today (Monday), according to Richard Vinal, district director of Internal Revenue for Nebraska.

The IRS will make available to meat retailers, wholesalers and processors technical and interpretive assistance and a standard form for computing ceiling prices, said Vinal.

The ceiling price, Vinal noted, is the highest price at or above which at least 10 per cent of a particular cut of meat sold during the 30-day period prior to March 28, 1973.

After posting, IRS will spot check retail, wholesale and processing firms for compliance with the ceiling prices. Monitoring will be done on an item basis (for example, chuck roast, bacon and pork loin).

After today, consumers who detect counter prices exceeding posted prices or who cannot find the posted prices should contact the IRS. The IRS telephone assistance numbers may be used for this purpose, Vinal said.

Firms with annual sales of less than $100,000 are exempt from the new ceiling price regulations, Vinal said.

Open House Set

ALL FRIENDS and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lundin of Wakefield are invited to attend the open house reception honoring the couple's golden wedding anniversary. 32 Runs Power Wayne Past Foes

No one yet has felt the full sting of Wayne High's baseball power, but Allen and Homer have tasted a pinch of it.

Thursday night Wayne upped its record to 2-0 by whipping Allen at Wayne, 8-0.

Right fielder Gordie Cook ripped off a triple in the second stanza to collect his only RBI of the night when he drove in pitcher Earle Overin from first. Overin got on when he was ruled safe on a fielder's choice.

Another triple, this one by shortstop Roger Saul, gave the locals a 2-0 edge in the fourth. Saul crossed home on a perfect squeeze bunt by Overin.

In the fifth frame, Terry Pfeiffer slapped a single and scored on Bill Schwartz' double before Schwartz tagged home base on Saul's grounder.

The sixth inning proved to be the most productive for the home squad as the team scored four runs.

Kerry Jech opened with a walk, stole second and scored on Mike Meyer's single. Marty Hansen and Terry Pfeiffer then walked and scored on successive hits by Saul and Roland.

Roger Saul was the offensive leader with a triple and a single in four times at bat. Charlie Roland walked three times and singled home two runs in his only official time at bat.

Mike Meyer also was on for one and had an RBI. Wayne played errorless ball, with Overin taking his first win against no losses, while Allen committed two miscues.

Bombs Homer
Wayne High had its 20 walks to advantage Wednesday after noon when the Devils glided past Homer, 24-0.

The locals connected for 13 hits during the five-inning match, with Roland leading the way—two doubles and a single in four at bats. Kerry Jech was two for two at the plate.

Wayne's starters built a 7-0 lead after two innings and watched the rest of the game from the bench.

Roger Saul (11) got the win

Wakefield's 'Miss Speed' Powers Trojanettes With Four First at Emerson

Wakefield High's 'Miss Speed' Susie Kober did it again. The 5-2 whirlwind picked up four first-place ribbons Thursday to help her team rack up 58 points and second place at the Emerson-Hubbard invitational. The host team bettered the Trojanettes by 3 1/2 points to win the eight-school meet. Kober came in a distant third with 17 1/2 points. The other schools competing: Hartington Cedar Catholic, 17; Ponca and Allen, 13 each; Newcastle, 12, and Walthill, 0. Kober clocked 12.2 in the 100-yard dash to outdistance her opponents. According to coach Tim Pehrson, the wind was one factor in the slow times. In the 50-yard dash, she ran .045—about 3 slower than her fastest time. The Wakefield senior won the long jump—her first try at the event—with a 15-2 1/2 mark. Kober, along with Judy Love-lace, Cindy Keagle and Kris Kraemer, powered the 880-yard relay team to another win—the team's second first place finish in as many meets—with a 2:03.5 showing. "The time isn't too bad for this early in the year," Pehrson said, "but I know the girls can do a lot better." The coach hopes to get his 880-yard relay team down to a 1:54 clocking near the end of the season. Another member of the Trojanette squad winning first place ribbons was junior Kris Kraemer. Kris won the 220-yard dash in 30.4 and then went on to take first in the 80-yard hurdles with a 12.6 showing. Today (Monday) Wakefield is scheduled to host Pender in a dual beginning at 4 p.m. High jump—Won by Lisa Rhode, Emerson, second, Graham, Homer, third, Cindy Keagle, Wakefield, fourth, Ruth Bressler, Wakefield, fifth, Hanson, Emerson, Height—4.8. UN-L Visitor Tours Area

Dr. Willie Ford, specialist in food and nutrition at the University of Nebraska Lincoln recently spent a week in this area of the state becoming acquainted with the home economics extension program and the area home extension agents. She visited the Lunar Home Extension Club with Myrtle Anderson in Cedar County and in Thurston County she attended an O.E.C. meeting with Gladys Stout, expanded nutrition home agent, and met with an Indian women's group at Macy with Anna Marie Kreitels. She attended the annual Dixon County extension board meeting at Allen and with Joycelyn Smith she presented the "Eat Better, Live Longer" workshop at South Sioux City. The week was concluded by her attending the District III Extension Agents' Program Planning Conference.

UN-L Frat Recognizes Initiates

The University of Nebraska Lincoln chapter of Alpha Zeta, a national undergraduate agricultural honorary fraternity, recognized 46 new initiates Sunday at the club's annual awards banquet. Students enrolled in the College of Agriculture are selected for membership on the basis of scholastic and leadership abilities. Fall semester initiates include Dale Magnuson and Larry L. Smith, both of Laurel, and Jim Erwin, Concord. Spring semester initiates include Layne Mann of Wayne.

WSC to Host Board Members On April 23

Wayne State College will be the site of one of 10 drive-in conferences for school board members later this month. The conference, sponsored by the Nebraska State School Boards Association, will be held Monday, April 23, beginning with registration at 4 p.m. The meeting will end at 9:30 p.m. Persons attending the conference will view 10 film strips which will offer them a chance to make decisions similar to ones they make as board members. The consequences, good and bad, of their decisions will then be spelled out. Other conferences are slated this month and next at Ainsworth, Chadron, Scottsbluff, Peru, Columbus, Kearney, North Platte, Omaha and Lincoln.

Osmond Man Will Head GOP Effort

Dick Adkins of Osmond has been named area chairman for the counties of Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Dakota, Antelope, Pierce, Wayne and Thurston for the Nebraska Republican Roundup Dinner. Mr. Adkins will head up the ticket selling efforts in the various communities in these counties. The dinner, which will be a $50 a plate affair and feature George Bush, National Chairman, will be held at Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium on May 16 at 6:30 p.m.

Winnetoon Student Top Grad

Charles Kienow of Winnetoon ranked first academically in the April class of seniors graduating Sunday at Wayne State College. With a grade point average of 3.91 and a major in business administration, Kienow is among three earning degrees summa cum laude. Also summa cum laude are Ronald Albin, Norfolk, and Wanda Mackey of Bancroft, both 3.85 on a 4.0 scale. Among 25 graduating magna cum laude are two who participated in the honors program: Mark Henderson of Havelock, Ia., 3.72 overall and with highest honors, 4.0 in English; Carolyn Blue, Omaha, 3.66 and with honors in English. Other from the Wayne area graduating with honors: Magna cum laude—Nancy Hamley, 3.58, and Mary Relling, 3.61, Wayne; Kenneth Graffis, 3.52, Laurel. Cum laude—Steven Carman, 3.31; Ronald Juefs, 3.41, and Pamela Renner, 3.34—all of Wayne; Phyllis Prince, 3.25, and Leon Trautwein, 3.23, Winside.

Youths, Adults At Winside Plan Cleanup

Youths and adults will join forces this week to clean up the town of Winside and the area surrounding it. The occasion will tie in with the national observance of Earth Week. Grades one through eight will participate by drawing posters with an ecology theme, vying for silver dollar cash prizes and ribbons to be given by the Community Club to the youths who come up with the best entries. "Clean up today for a better tomorrow." Work during the week will include painting of park benches, with the town purchasing all the paint needed for the project, and cleaning up trash in town and a mile outside the community, along Highway 35. Mayor Vernon Hill has proclaimed the week "Clean-up Week" in connection with the effort. The Game and Parks Commission administers approximately 180,000 acres for wildlife and recreation areas.

Local Science Buffs Score High at WSC

High school science students from West Point, Humphrey and Wayne won the top prizes for projects they explained at the annual Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science meeting Thursday at Wayne State College. In the chemistry-physics-mathematics competition, top awards went to Jody Hunke with her project, "My Mathematical Proofs of the Engineer's Parabola and Ellipse," and to Dan McNamara for his "Study of Cholesterol." Both are from West Point Central Catholic. In biology competition, the top awards were won by Jackie Hunke of Central Catholic on her project, "Light—What is Its Role in the Fruiting of Slime Mold," and to four boys from Wayne High School, Read Anderson, Ron Boyce, Mike Rhodes and Rich Carlson, for their study, "Production of Amino Acids under Possible Primitive Earth Conditions." In junior high competition, the winners were Janice Preister of Humphrey St. Francis on "Balance of Nature," Jean Neesen and Jody Smith of West Point Guardian Angels on their "Main Soils of Cuming County." The judges—high school teachers and Wayne State faculty and students—also awarded first-place awards to these: John Say, Norfolk; Carol Peterson and Julie Park, Wayne; Keith Nebuda, Central Catholic; Dan Hansen, Wayne; Gerald Brunnett, Central Catholic; Denise Erickson, Logan View; Mary McNamara, Central Catholic; Brenda Hunke, Guardian Angels; Peter Lueninghoener, Stanton; Doreen Guenther and Jane Reeson, Susie Steuter, Judy Steuter and Anne Heimann, Harvey Brunner, Janice Batenhorst, and Peggy Hassler, Guardian Angels; Connie Guenther, Central Catholic. The academy elected these officers for the coming year: Sister Antonita and Mrs. Margaret McNamara, co-presidents; Central Catholic; Ed Mundill, president-elect, Logan View; Harland Pankratz, secretary, Wayne State. Retiring president Robert Porter of Wayne presided over the meeting.

Wakefield Kids Teach Adults

The adults around Wakefield learned quite a bit Friday night during the school system's education fair—and most of it was from the students. Youths all the way from kindergarten through the 12th grade had displays of their school work and demonstrations of what they are learning in class ready for those attending the fair, held in place of an open house. If you wanted to have your blood typed, see how you turn clay into a piece of art, watch the blood flowing in the tail of a fish, see demonstrations of jumbling, learn how the castle was used in the Middle Ages or taste the tidbits being turned out in home economics classes—all you had to do was walk around the school. Inspecting moss in the spore stage with the aid of a microscope (left picture) is sophomore Doug Schwarten. Taking the blood pressure of seventh grader Chuck Sherer are Wes Luehl, left, and Kurl Dolph, both eighth graders. The fair attracted several hundred persons during the evening.

Children's Show Cast Plays to Over 4,800 People

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Monday, April 9, 1972

A REVIEW BY SANDRA BREITKREUTZ

A liltling musical introduction by Bill Wolfe on the piano, Tim Sharer on drums, Carter Leaks on string bass and Cheryl Wier on flute hinted to the audience of the delights to come in "Wizard of Oz," the children's play presented by the Wayne State College drama Department at Ramsey Theater last week.

"The Wizard of Oz," which has thrilled youngsters and adults alike for years, drew a crowd close to the total population of Wayne in its seven performances. Box office records showed ticket sales reached the 4,865 mark.

The story is of Dorothy Gale, a young girl who is caught up by a twister and carried to the other side of the rainbow for a host of adventures in the land of Oz.

She takes up with a trio of unfortunates who join her in seeking favor of the great Wizard of Oz. Dorothy needs to find her way back to Kansas, the Scarecrow is searching for a brain, the tin woodsman needs a heart and the cowardly lion is looking for a little courage.

Success, of course, finds the little company after they succeed in ridding the land of the wicked witch of the West, and Dorothy accompanies the wizard, who turns out to be a misplaced magician from Omaha, back home in a balloon.

As the fantasy gets underway, Aunt Em, played by Pam Nelson; Uncle Henry, played by Gordon Yunker, and Joe, the farmhand, played by Ron Kluck, hurried for the cave to avoid the storm which announced its presence with a swirl of debris flung realistically on stage by a wind machine.

Dorothy, portrayed by Sherri Skelton, ran back to the house to retrieve a bouquet of flowers and was carried away to Oz for scene 11.

Among the first to find special favor with the audience were the Munchkins, played by Ken Graffis, Jay McCarthy, Ken Reimers, Mike Burchett, Elaine Ritter, Janet Prazak, Jodie Butler, Marcella Foster and Brenda Canning. The residents of Munchkinland are very short, round people, a costuming feat achieved by the creation of colorful, flowing robes which extended over the feet of actors who scurried and danced about on their knees.

THE SHOW'S OVER and now it's autograph time for the Wayne State "Wizard of Oz" cast. Swarms of youngsters besiege all of the costumed actors, especially the celebrities—from left, Dorothy (played by Sherri Skelton), the Scarecrow (Ed Havlovic) and the Tin Woodman (Greg Black). This was a typical scene at all six children's theater matinees, which packed Ramsey Theater. One night show for older youngsters (sometimes called adults) also filled the theater.

The audience loved Maggee Hartin, who stormed onto the set as the foaming, angry wicked witch of the West, and her witch friends, who joined her in a later scene, played by Jill Nesvan and Terri O'Donnell.

In the land of Oz, Dorothy also encountered the sorceress of the North, who descended in typical white fairy garb on a string from the sky. The sorceress, played by Beth Bergt, insured Dorothy of her protection during her travels. The rendition of the lovely songs by both Dorothy and the sorceress were a tribute to their parts.

Ed Havlovic was a charming scarecrow, waking and dancing for all the world like a scarecrow would walk and dance—if he could. Havlovic displayed a great knack for both song and dance.

Greg Black did a fine job in his part of the tin woodsman, and Martin Torrey made a cuddly, cowardly lion. The lion costume, with a human face, was not as realistic as those of the scarecrow and tin woodsman, which seemed to have stepped right out of the picture book.

The jitterbugs, played by Mary Harrison, Patty Francois, Katie Batenhorst, Joel Miller, Maria Evans and Kristy Maxwell, were beautifully costumed for their brief dance scene.

The townspeople of Oz, played by Dave Borron, Linda Hamm, Katie Batenhorst, Joel Miller, Maria Evans, Kristy Maxwell, Ken Reimers, Mike Burchett, Janet Prazak, and Jodie Butler, were something of a letdown after the colorful Munchkins and jitterbugs. And the Emerald City of Oz, after all the color of the forest seemed a bit drag. The wizard was played by John LaPuzza.

The witch's castle, however, was beyond all expectations, very foreboding and ancient appearing.

Tibia, the witch's assistant, played by Mike Carruthers, was an interesting composite of English butler and ghoul. Gordon Yunker and Ron Kluck played the ghosts.

Jon Voss played a private and Elaine Ritter was an old lady.

Special surprise effects include the witch who took off on a roaring vacuum cleaner, motorcycle helmet on her head, and a beautiful fairyland snowfall which froze the jitterbugs and saved Dorothy and her friends.

Response was overwhelming as the wicked witch, thrown into the shrinking formula, emerges as a tiny replica of herself. A five-year-old local boy, Christopher Nuss, played the part of the shrunken witch, catching onto the lion's tail and running about the witch's castle until he was thrown back into the pot to make way for a still smaller version of the witch.

The college cast played to a full house for all of its performances, winning a standing ovation at their Wednesday evening student performance.

Comedy Team Will Visit in Winside

Carolyn Perry and Jose Alvarez, members of the Kaleidoscope Players, official State Theatre of New Mexico, will be in Winside this Thursday afternoon to present a 2:45 p.m. program at the Winside High School.

The comedy team, which is touring the upper midwest under the auspices of the Division of Independent Study, State University Station, Fargo, N.D., will explore the question, "What Makes People Laugh?" The humor of Simon, Twain, Feyter, Thurber and others will be portrayed through music, pantomime, mini-scenes and monologues.

Carolyn Perry, has performed in her hometown of Nashville, Tenn., with Andy Williams and Minnie Pearl. She won best actress awards in school and has acted, sung and served as choreographer for many plays and musicals.

Alvarez, who had his training at the University of Texas, the Bilingual Theatre in El Paso and the Teatro Paramino in Chihuahua, Mexico, has played "Marrin Sam" in "Lil Abner," "Sancho" in "Man of La Mancha" and Bellamy in "The Ferris Fick."

The Kaleidoscope Players conduct a training school in theatre for high school and college students. The New Mexico School for the Performing Arts.

PEO Meets
PEO met Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the Robert Blatchford home with Mrs. Richard Pospisil, co-hostess.

The program was the continuation of "The Restless Years," 1920-1930, presented by Mrs. Craig Williams, Allen, and Mrs. Thomas Gustafson. They discussed the era of jazz, the flight of Charles Lindberg, the beginning of radio and the finanfor Albinus Nance, governor of Nebraska, 1879-1883.

4. Charles W. Bryan, younger brother of William Jennings Bryan, was governor of Nebraska for one term, 1923-1925 and for two terms, 1931-1935. Until 1966, state governors were elected for two-year terms.

5. In 1937, the 1st Session of the Nebraska Unicameral met at the State Capitol. Then, as now, it was the only one house legislature in the U.S.

6. Peru State College was incorporated as Mt. Vernon Seminary on June 20, 1867. Later that year, the State of Nebraska assumed responsibility for its operation and it remains today as a part of the state college system under the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges.

7. Army Lt. John C. Fremont. Known as "the Pathfinder," he made trips in 1842 to the Rocky Mountains and back, both by way of the Platte Valley. He was again in this area in 1843. The city of Fremont is named for him.

8. Iowa, which was admitted to the Union in 1846, was never part of Nebraska Territory. Congress created Nebraska Territory in 1854 to include the following area: land west of the Missouri River, north of the 40th parallel (Kansas border), south of the 49th parallel (Canadian border), and east of the Continental Divide.

transparencies, nine talking books and three dimensional vacuum form models.

Several slide projectors will be set up for the continuous showing of 26 slide tape presentations made by students and teachers. Included will be "African Trilogy," "Alice in Wonderland," "Martin Luther King," "Fads of the 60's," "Flower Arrangements," "Big Red," "United Nations" and "Insects."

To demonstrate how mathematics, science, language arts and social studies are programmed for various grades, there will be a display at the fair of commercially produced media used in grades K-12.

Television sets will be set up to play video tapes of "Role of Media in Our Schools," "Video Tape and Instructional Television" and "Media in the Classroom."

"We are very fortunate in having a good media production center and good media centers in each of the schools," said Miss Fredrickson. "The media programs in most schools are not yet this extensive," she explained. "But it has to come. This is the electronic age."

B.F. Goodrich

You Would Expect A Tire This Good To Cost Much More.

LIFESAVER RADIAL XL-100

HOW'S A RADIAL TIRE DIFFERENT?

Unique radial construction reduces damaging heat build-up. Sidewalls remain flexible to help absorb shock and keep the tread flat on the road.

The Lifesaver Radial XL-100 has 4 belts of tough Dynacor rayon cord directly under the tread — to minimize squirm and scuff-off, major factors in tire wear. What's in it for you? Long mileage.

WHY BFG RADIALS?

B.F. Goodrich introduced the first American radial in 1965. Every Lifesaver Radial XL-100 is soundly backed by years of BFG experience and leadership in radial tire technology.

WHO NEEDS RADIALS?

You do. If your kind of driving demands a hard-working tire that gives you superior mileage.

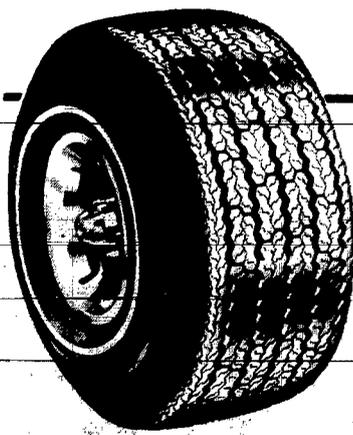

You be the judge. Think about how you drive and under what conditions (highway or city, rough roads or smooth). Then consider what you expect from the tire you depend on.

HOW ARE RADIALS ECONOMICAL?

Long mileage, tough impact-resistance, great handling, smooth ride, cornering and traction... it all adds up. Radial tires are a better value in the long run.

Whitewalls size DR70-13 plus Fed. Ex. tax of $2.51 and trade

STEEL RADIALS Guaranteed 40,000 Miles

The only radials in the world with Cushioned Steel Construction. Steel for strength and long wear. Cushioned between double layers of Dynacor rayon cord for a smooth ride.

40,000 MILE GUARANTEE
In normal driving you'll get at least 40,000 miles of tread wear from the Lifesaver Radial Steel R/S on your car. If you don't get 40,000 miles, take the guarantee back to your BFG retailer. He'll show you credit for the difference toward the going trade-in price of new ones. And add a small service charge.

Veterans' Benefits Questions, Answers

Q. I am a Vietnam veteran interested in training under the GI Bill, but I am not sure what courses to take. Can the Veterans Administration help me decide?

A. Yes. Eligible veterans may receive vocational counseling from the VA at no cost to help them derive greater benefits from their training. Application should be made to the VA office nearest the veteran's home.

Q. How many spinal cord injury treatment centers does the Veterans Administration have? How many prosthetics treatment centers for amputees?

A. The VA has 15 centers for treatment of spinal cord injury patients and 18 prosthetics treatment centers for amputees. These are geographically dispersed around the country.

VA Booklet Off Presses

A 35-page pamphlet off government presses which brief describes GI Bill changes and other benefits for veterans and their dependents.

Formally titled "Federal Benefits for Veterans and Dependents," the Veterans Administration publication also carries a government filing reference, Fact Sheet (VA IS 1).

Each year the booklet is updated to incorporate latest improvements in veterans' benefits such as GI Bill education assistance, vocational rehabilitation, compensation, pension, home loans and life insurance.

The VA booklet also covers veterans' programs administered by other government agencies. These include job finding assistance by the Department of Labor, Civil Service job preference rules, loan programs in the Small Business Administration and Department of Defense information.

Copies of the booklet are available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20403 for 30 cents each.
