Inside today...

A study by The Wayne Herald reveals that Wayne State College pumps nearly $3.4 million into the city's economy each year.

That amounts to $625 per person for each of the town's approximate 5,380 residents.

For an in depth story about how much money goes into the local economy through college spending, student spending and spending by college-associated firms, turn to page nine of the third section.

Other features inside today's issue of the Herald which should interest many readers include:

- A photo display of activities during Sunday's Easter egg hunt at West Elementary School in Wayne. Turn to page three of the second section.
- Letters commenting on the recent action by the Wayne mayor in firing the chief of police; turn to the editorial page.
- A glimpse of girl track enthusiasts at Laurel, Wakefield, Winside and Allen; turn to the sports page.

Winside, Carroll 4-H'ers To Vie at District Level

Gail Grone of Winside and Gary Hansen of Carroll were named Monday night to represent Wayne County in the district Timely Topics Speech Contest scheduled for May 12 at Norfolk.

Gail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Grone, was named top among the girls taking part in the senior division of the county contest. She received a purple ribbon for her speech "4-H, A Symbol of Success and Achievement." She is a freshman at Winside High School.

Gary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hansen, received a blue ribbon for his speech, "Gas Shortage." He is a Wayne High sophomore.

The two will compete in the district contest for the right to advance to the state contest at Lincoln in June.

A total of 39 county 4-H members participated in Monday night's contest, judged by Mr. and Mrs. George Phelps of Wayne. Six of the contestants were in the senior division, 33 in the junior division.

All contestants received a $1 cash award from the county 4-H council.

Receiving blue ribbons in the senior division were Vicki Baird and Judy Janke. Lynette Grnk and Sharon Strate received red ribbons.

Four junior division contestants received purple ribbons. They were Jodi Fleer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fleer; Leslie Greunke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Greunke; Holly Mallette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mallette, and Mike Retchwisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Retchwisch. All are from Wayne.

Receiving blue ribbons were Kelli Baier, Kim Blecke, Jane Edmunds, Barbara Gnirk, Cindy Gnirk, Mike Gnirk, Patty Gnirk, Laura Haase, Shirley Kicensang, Tracy Baier, Marvin Hansen, Anne Liska, Fran Pfister, Marcia Retchwisch, Anita Sandahl and Gloria Splitzger. Red ribbons were awarded to Jeff Baier, Carol Baird, Jolene Bennett, Carla Berg, Lori Kay Jensen, Shelly Malcolm, Michelle Kubik, Elizabeth Prather, Angie Schulz, and Judy Temme. White ribbons went to Sandra and Stacy Jacobmeier and Jill Kar.

Wakefield Gets Speech Honors

Thirteen students from Wakefield High School, accompanied by Dennis Crippen and Mrs. Thea Meinders, attended the state high school speech contest held at Doane College at Crete Saturday.

Miles Pearson, whose category was extemporaneous speaking, won fourth place in state competition for Class B schools.

The oral reading group, composed of Kitty Fischer, Ruth Bressler, Steve Luhr and Dennis Byers, received a superior rating for their presentation.

A cutting from "Anna Christie," by the duet acting team received excellent. Members of the team are Kitty Fischer and Cindy Keagle.

Winside, Wakefield Residents Latest 'Neighbors'

Winside's George Voss and Wakefield's Esther Turney are among 71 individuals and couples named winners of awards in the 30th annual Good Neighbor competition sponsored by The Knights of Ak Sar-Ben. Nominated by friends and neighbors, for their unselfish work, they will receive a framed citation and the Good Neighbor pin.

Voss, a member of the Winside rescue unit and chief of the volunteer fire department, was nominated because of his successful efforts in keeping Brent Miller alive while he was taken to a Norfolk hospital following a farm accident.

Because of knowledge gained through attending first aid courses, Voss was able to administer oxygen to Miller to keep him alive during the trip to Norfolk. Miller was transferred to Omaha after the Norfolk doctor said there was little chance he would live. Miller spent 11 days in the intensive care ward at an Omaha hospital and several more weeks in the hospital before returning home.

Voss is credited with doing much for his community, serving in the community club and several other groups and organizations.

TOP SPEAKERS in the Wayne County 4-H speaking contest Monday night were Gary Hansen and Gail Grone, who will represent the county in the district speech contest at Norfolk in May.

Lions Pick New Head

Charles Maier, biology teacher at Wayne State College, was named president of the Wayne Lions Club during an election of officers Tuesday night.

Maier, who will be installed along with the other new officers in June, replaces John Vokoc as head of the club.

Other officers named during the election include B. J. Hirt, first vice president, replacing Maier; Ray Bufls, second vice president, replacing Hirt, and Bob Vokoc, third vice president, replacing Bufls.

Bill "Skip" Kinslow was named to another term as treasurer, and Don Langston was named to replace John Melena as lion-temer.

New directors are Don Peder sen, Dwayne Retchwisch and Henry Baker. They replace Clarence Boling, Chris Tietgen and Charles Denesia.

Speaking to the group during the evening was Oliver Nazare nus, district representative for Christian Record Braille Foundation, Inc., of Lincoln.

Nazare nus showed slides and outlined the services available through the foundation. Services include records, tapes, large

Voss is credited with doing much for his community, serving in the community club and several other groups and organizations.

Mrs. Turney, former publisher of the Wakefield Republican, was nominated for her efforts in assisting her community's housing authority obtain low rent housing for senior citizens.

She also served on a steering committee studying the feasibility of building a nursing home addition to the Wakefield Community Hospital to replace the home closed by stronger state regulations.

Also cited by the person nominating her was her work in helping the community obtain new Christmas lighting for the downtown area.

Farm Families Appeal Values Set on Land

Three more Wayne County farm families have appealed to district court concerning the land values arrived at in condemnation-procedures initiated by Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD).

They are the latest to appeal the values set by appraisers after NPPD was unable to obtain permission to build its 230,000-volt transmission line across their property. NPPD has appealed several of the figures established by the appraisers also.

More than 20 condemnation procedures were started by NPPD when the power company was unable to buy easement rights on farm property for construction of the poles to carry the overhead transmission line.

The appeals by NPPD and the landowners may be considered by district judge George W. Dittrock of Norfolk when he next holds court in Wayne on May 2.

Latest to appeal the easement values placed on their land and the appraised amounts: Glen and Maxine Olson, $2,185; Willis and Margaret Nelson, $3,175; and Rollie and Tinabelle Longe, $2,100.

Applications Being Screened For Chief Job

No action will be taken on replacing Vern Fairchild as chief of police in Wayne for probably another month, mayor Kent Hall said Wednesday.

Hall fired Fairchild last week following an investigation of several taverns and bottle clubs.

Hall said two council members, Darrel Fuelberth and Jim Thomas, are acting as an initial screen for persons applying for the position.

The council will probably further screen the applicants and name a new chief at a coming meeting, according to the mayor. Hall said he would let the council have a major hand in selecting the new chief. City ordinance permits the mayor to select the chief with approval from the council.

Several applications for the job have already been received, Hall said, and more are expected.

WH Students Place in State Meet

Several Wayne High students brought home honors from the state high school speech contest at Doane College at Crete Saturday.

Erin O'Donnell, a sophomore, placed second in original public address among the Class B contestants. She spoke on women's liberation.

Earning a superior rating — the third straight superior this year — was the oral interpretation of drama group. Members were freshmen Mary Proett, Joan Hochstein, Lori Lesh and Virgil Kardell and sophomore Mark Cramer.

Senior Jay Kohl won fifth place in extemporaneous speaking, and freshman Phil Koeber took fifth in after dinner speaking.

More than 1,000 students from 142 schools in the state took part in the day long contest, making it the largest speech meet in the state's history.

Easter Hunt Set For Allen Kids

The Allen Community Development Club will sponsor an Easter egg hunt at the Allen park this Saturday afternoon for children through nine years of age.

The hunt will get underway at 3 p.m. Youngsters will be divided into two groups, one for children through the age of five and the second for six to nine year olds. Three prizes will be awarded for each age group.

YARC To Host Confab

The local Youth Association for Retarded Children (YARC) will host April 27-29 to the sixth annual state YARC convention.

Over 225 young people between the ages of 13 and 25 are expected from all over Nebraska for the convention, scheduled for Wayne State College.

Theme for the conference will be "To Touch One Life." Registration is set for 10:30 a.m. the 27th, with meetings beginning that afternoon.

Speakers will include Bridget Brown, past state president from Omaha and former youth consultant for advocacy in YARC. Sharon Racksdachel from the Lincoln Office of Mental Retardation, and Don Koenig, Wayne, who will conduct a group activities session.

Registration is being handled by local YARC president Deb Carroll and YARC sponsors Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sitzman, all of Wayne.

Local Girl Gets FHA Scholarship

The recipient of one of three $250 educational scholarships awarded at the annual Future Homemakers of America state leadership conference in Lincoln this week was Ranee Kniesche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kniesche of Wayne.

The scholarships are awarded annually to outstanding FHA members who plan to enroll in a four-year accredited Nebraska college or university to major in vocational home economics education.

The state FHA conference took place on the University of Nebraska east campus at Lincoln Monday and Tuesday.

District V officers elected Monday afternoon are Holly Oldbering, Randolph, president; Janet Liibbe, West Point, vice president; Cheryl Meyer, Wakefield, secretary; Deb Lundgren, Allen, treasurer; Nancy Waddell, Norfolk, publicity chairman; Judy Koopman, Stanton, parliamentary; Connie Gemelke, Wayne, historian; Barb Creamer, Allen, song leader; Julie Arens, Randolph, recreation chairman, and Marilyn Schwantz, Wisner Pilger, degree chairman.

Plans were also made at the Monday afternoon meeting for the District V meeting to be held in October at Wisner Pilger High School.

Sue Meyer, state first vice president from Randolph, presided at the Monday sessions.

Election of state officers took place Monday afternoon and the awards ceremony was held that evening.

Wakefield High School received the state Red Rose chapter award for completion of goals. Nancy Hodgkinson, National FHA president from Garden City, Kan., spoke Tuesday on ENPACT, the new work program.

Retail Group to Seek Members This Week

Block captains have been named for the drive to enroll local business firms in the Wayne Retail Association.

They are Bob Merchant, Bill Richardson, Jim Marsh, Dale Gushall, Al Wiffig, Larry Turner, Arnie Reeg, Dick Keidel, Larry Johnson and Gene "Swede" Fredrickson.

Each captain will select his own workers for his designated area.

The drive is slated to be kicked off Monday, with the first report meeting April 27.

Any firm not contacted can get in touch with Bob Carhart or Clarence Kuhn, co-chairmen of the organization.

The chairmen announced hopes of 150 participating firms. As soon as members are enrolled a board of directors will be elected by ballots which will be mailed to all members of the association.

Chamber of Commerce manager Floyd Bracken will act as secretary treasurer for the new organization.

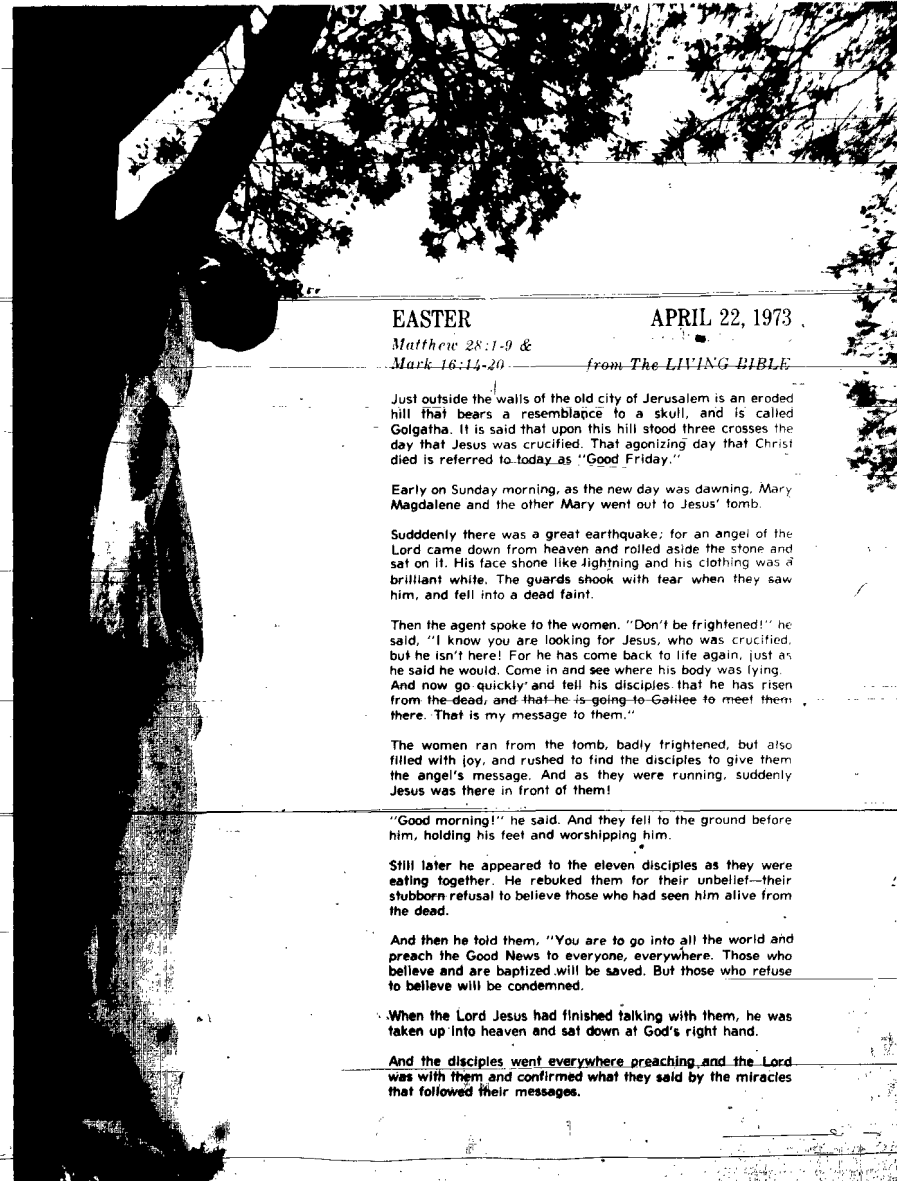

Complete details of the Happy Birthday drawing for Thursday nights will be announced at an early date. It is hoped that the first drawing can be conducted either May 1 or May 10.

Student Council At LHS To Hold Sale, Car Wash

Members of the Laurel High School student council will be operating a car wash and bike sale at the Laurel city auditorium from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. this Saturday.

While their automobiles are undergoing the $2 inside cleaning, car wash and polish job, customers can drink which pies and cakes to take home with them.

Student council sponsor is Fenton Crookshank, principal. The organization is responsible for elementary track, intramural sports, homecoming, coronation and school yearbook program.

EASTER APRIL 22, 1973

Matthew 28:1-9 & Mark 16:14-20 from The LIVING BIBLE

Just outside the walls of the old city of Jerusalem is an eroded hill that bears a resemblance to a skull, and is called Golgotha. It is said that upon this hill stood three crosses the day that Jesus was crucified. That agonizing day that Christ died is referred to today as "Good Friday."

Early on Sunday morning, as the new day was dawning, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary went out to Jesus' tomb.

Suddenly there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord came down from heaven and rolled aside the stone and sat on it. His face shone like lightning and his clothing was of brilliant white. The guards shook with fear when they saw him, and fell into a dead faint.

Then the angel spoke to the women. "Don't be frightened!" he said. "I know you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified, but he isn't here! For he has come back to life again, just as he said he would. Come in and see where his body was lying. And now go quickly and tell his disciples that he has risen from the dead, and that he is going to Galilee to meet them there. That is my message to them."

The women ran from the tomb, badly frightened, but also filled with joy, and rushed to find the disciples to give them the angel's message. And as they were running, suddenly Jesus was there in front of them!

"Good morning!" he said. And they fell to the ground before him, holding his feet and worshipping him.

Still later he appeared to the eleven disciples as they were eating together. He rebuked them for their unbelief—their stubborn refusal to believe those who had seen him alive from the dead.

And then he told them, "You are to go into all the world and preach the Good News to everyone, everywhere. Those who believe and are baptized will be saved. But those who refuse to believe will be condemned."

When the Lord Jesus had finished talking with them, he was taken up into heaven and sat down at God's right hand.

And the disciples went everywhere preaching, and the Lord was with them and confirmed what they said by the miracles that followed their messages.

Hanks Home in Concord

Now settled in their home at Concord are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hank who were wed in March 31 at the Denison, Ia., Zion Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Hank, nee Rhonda Jurgensen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jurgensen of Denison. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Hank of Wakefield.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Denison High School and a 1972 graduate of the Lincoln School of Commerce. The bridegroom, a 1971 and a 1972 graduate of the Lincoln School of Commerce, has been working with Prairie Enterprises, Inc., of Madelia, Minn. He is currently engaged in farming with his father.

Attending the couple at their double ring marriage ceremony were Denise Jurgensen, Robin Jurgensen and Van Kastner of Denison; Jim Hank and Marlin Bose of Wayne and Kim Sudbeck of Laurel. Candles were lighted by the ushers, Barry Jurgensen of Denison and Willie Nixon of Wakefield and ring bearer and flowergirl were Cal Kastner of Schlesweg, Ia., and Starla Petersen of Denison.

The Rev. Robert Maschke officiated. Hank Henningsen of Denison was soloist and Mrs. Fred Rabe was organist.

The bride's dress was an empire style of toe length or ganza, featuring a high neckline and A line skirt. Her mantilla veil cascaded to floor length.

The attendant's dresses, empire styles in toe length rayon, were in blue and pink. They wore pink and blue ribboned hats and carried mums.

Mrs. Jim Hank of Wayne registered guests and gifts were arranged for the reception by Karen Baker of Koron, Ia., Clarice Weinbrandt of Omaha, Donna Doescher of Wayne and Marlys Nixon of Wakefield. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hank of Wakefield and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Denker of Denison served as hosts.

The cake was cut and served by Vernett Baker of Kiran, Linda Pehrson of Laurel and Ruby Johannsen of Denison poured and Lorna Petersen of Denison served punch.

Waitresses were Debbie Baker of Schlesweg, Ia., Val Kastner of Denison, Monaca Weinbrandt, Nancy Weinbrandt and Elaine Weinbrandt of Omaha.

Party For Shufelts Saturday

A party was held Saturday evening in the Jim Jensen home, Norfolk, honoring the 35th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Shufelt of Carroll. Hosts were the couple's children, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jensen and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Shufelt, all of Norfolk.

Thirty-five friends and relatives attended from Seward, Norfolk, Wisner, Randolph, Carroll and Wayne. Entertainment consisted of ten-point pitch with prizes going to Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Wittler, Mrs. Duane Shuffell and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gries.

An anniversary cake was presented to Shufelts by their children and four grandchildren.

Married April 14, 1938 in Wayne, the Shufelts have spent their entire married life farming in the Carroll vicinity.

Club Meet Friday

Members of the Wayne Federated Women's Club met Friday for a covered dish luncheon and Easter worship service conducted by Mrs. Clifford Johnson.

Mrs. Frank Kirtley sang "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," and "Crown Him with Many Crowns," accompanied by Mrs. Alfred Morris. Others taking part in the program were Mrs. Julia Haas, Mrs. Carlos Martin, Mrs. Ken Parke, Mrs. Howard Will, Mrs. Lucille Larson, Mrs. Harry Bressler and Mrs. Robert Haas.

Thirty-eight members were present. Reports on the April 35 state convention were given by Mrs. Mathilde Harms, Mrs. Celia Assmussen and Goldie Leonard.

Bake Sale Nets $107 For Wayne Auxiliary

Mrs. Carl Lentz, chairman of the Wayne Hospital Auxiliary bake sale held Thursday, has announced that proceeds came to $107.56. The group was sold out by 4 p.m.

The group in charge, which included Mrs. R.E. Gormley, Mrs. Julia Haas, Mrs. Robert Bentback, Mrs. W.G. Ingram, Mrs. Clifford Wait, Mrs. Tillie Harms, and Goldie Leonard, expressed their appreciation for the donations and assistance with the sale.

Church Will Sponsor Workshop

Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne will host to the spring Tuesday Missouri Synod Lutheran congregations will be in attendance from Winslow, Laurel, Wakefield, Martinsburg, Newcastle, South Sioux City and Wayne.

Leading the workshop which this year will follow the theme, "Strengthening the Home Through Communication," will be Mrs. E. A. Binger of Wakefield. The forenoon will be taken up by hearing reports from a similar two day workshop held at Sioux Falls, S. D., in November.

The meeting will break for an hour at noon, and the afternoon will be devoted to John Steinbacher, of Anaheim, Calif., managing editor of The National Educator newspaper, and author of such books as "The Child Seducers," "Bitter Harvest" and "The Conspirators — Men Against God." Steinbacher is also a teacher and is sought for his views on school sex education, sensitivity training, new consciousness education and PBS and the new school innovations. Steinbacher's talk, "Keep That Classroom What It Ought To Be," will be followed by discussion and questions. Because of the general interest in Steinbacher and his message, the afternoon session, to begin at 1 p.m., has been opened to the public. Registration for the all-day event will be at 9:30 a.m. The Rev. E. J. Bernthal, host pastor, will give the opening devotions.

Spring Work and Play Safety

Taking time to check outdoor tools and play equipment stored in the garage or tool shed during the winter can pay dividends in avoiding accidents and work time loss.

Inspect garden tools or power tools for loose parts, dull blades, faulty wires and prongs. Wipe excess dirt or rust off with a clean dry cloth. A once-over cleaning with a damp sponge wrung from soapy suds will bring new life to tools. Dry thoroughly, then decide if a coat of paint is needed.

Rungs and hinges on ladders or stepstools need careful inspection to prevent a serious fall. Replace broken, split or loose rungs.

Gym sets, bicycles, roller skates and scooters could be given the same considerations. Look for loose belts, worn chains and rusty parts.

See that swings are well-anchored. See that bicycles do not have missing parts, damaged tires or bent fenders. Let youngsters help in cleaning, painting, greasing and overhauling their own possessions.

Osmond Wins First L-C Girls' Track Meet

Favored Osmond High School won the first Lewis and Clark Conference track meet Monday at Winside with a total of 56 points to walk away with top honors in the 12-team contest.

The Tigergette's two relay teams (440 and 880) led the club to the first place showing along with firsts by Jackie Kahler in the 440 yard dash and Diane Brunck's 30-second dash in the 220.

Since this is the first meet for the conference, all marks set Monday are considered league records.

The Osmond girls also had six second place finishers along with two who came in third.

Two area teams, Winside and Allen, came in third and fifth respectively with at least one runner from each school winning an event.

Wildkitten Patty Mann breezed to a 1:07.4 clocking in the 440 yard dash, and Jill Stenwall won the shot put with a heave of 35.9 lbs for their team's only wins.

Allen's JoAnne Roberts captured the long jump with a leap of 14.3 for her team's only first place showing.

Saul Belts Homer With 1st Homer

For the second time this season, Wayne High used the 10-run homer to eliminate its foe, 10-0 over the winless Homer club at the city ball diamond Tuesday.

Shortstop Roger Saul delivered the game's big blow with a two-run round tripper (first of the year) in the third inning to push Wayne's score to 3-0.

Pitcher Earle Overin, who went the full five innings, got on first via a walk before Saul blasted one over the left field fence.

The Blue Devils, sluggish in the first two frames, untied the knot after the third and added three runs in the fourth and four in the fifth.

Right fielder Doug Sturm opened the fourth with a walk and took second on a fielder's choice by second sacker Kim Baker. First baseman Charlie Roland, substituting for starter Bob Keating, also walked to put runners at first and second.

Left fielder Marty Hansen connected for a single to collect two RBI's. Terry Pfeiffer, playing third, singled to take first while Hansen stole third. The final run of the inning came when Overin's sacrifice fly brought in Hansen.

The fifth inning was the most productive with four runs scored. Center fielder Gordie Cook and Bill Schwartz, relief catcher for Mike Meyer, got on base on walks and advanced on a double steal before Sturm connected on his first hit of the season to drive in Cook.

Two sacrifices, by Paul Mallette and Roland allowed Schwartz and Sturm to score, boosting the total to 9-0 before Larry Creighton crossed the plate for the final run on a single by Dave Nuss.

The Homer team — which lost to Wayne in its first battle, 24-0 in five innings — continues the search for its initial win in three starts. This is the second year for baseball at the high school.

Overin, 2.0, gave up only one hit, a single by center fielder Dan Pearson in the fifth — while striking out six and walking four.

Wayne, now 5-0, travels to Bancroft Tuesday.

Wayne State golfers won a couple of duals Tuesday after losing two Monday.

Oddly, they did their winning out of town — on Sioux City's Spring Valley course by 12 1/2 to 7 1/2 over Morningside and 14 to 6 over Briar Cliff. Tom Keenan and Mark Harrison both shot 79 for Wayne to share medalist honors. Morningside downed B. C., 12-8.

Wayne Golfers Take Two Duals

On the Wayne course Monday, Wildcat linksmen took a 16 1/2 to 11 1/2 passing from the University of South Dakota and 14 to 4 from UN Omaha. Keenan and Harrison shared Wayne's best score in that outing too, but their 84 was far off the medalist pace of 77 — by USD's Brent Ehnesteck of Laurel.

USD beat UNO, 13 1/2 to 4 1/2, in the double dual scoring.

Wayne Ends 7-Year Plague Tops Wisner, Lyons Tracksters

The seven-year plague has ended at Wayne High School. Nine first place finishes for the Blue Devil track club topped Wayne's drought Monday and gave the locals their first meet win in seven years.

Coach Al Hansen's crew, powered by wins by each of the three relay teams and two firsts by seniors Randy Nelson and Dan Chapman, and three by Dick Chapman, a sophomore, collected 88 points to host Wisner-Pilger's 50 and third-place Lyons' 40 at Wisner's triangular.

Chapman won the 100-yard dash in 10.8 and ran a 24.3 in the 220 for another first. He also helped the 880 yard relay team to its top showing.

Nelson won the long jump with a leap of 13.8-lbs and ran on the winning 880 relay team Hansen grabbed the best time in the 880 yard run with a 2:12.7 showing and ran on the winning mile relay team.

Two other Blue Devils taking first were sophomore Gordon Emry and senior Brad Pfeuiger. Pfeuiger won the 440-yard run in 55.6 while Emry had a 16.7 finish in the 120 yard high hurdles.

All three of Wayne's relay teams won in grand fashion — mile relay (Tom Kerstine, Dan Hansen, Ken Baier, Dave Lammann), two-mile relay (Lane Ostendorf, Brian Magnuson, Rob Mitchell, Don Nelson) and 880 relay (Randy Nelson, Dick Chapman, Galon Miller, Rick Workman).

"The last time we won a meet," coach Hansen reflected, "was in a triangular with Winside and Cateridge."

The coach credited the victory to the good showing of the senior members of the team. "They provided the leadership we needed to get things going," Hansen said.

Today (Thursday) Wayne will travel to the Randolph invitational for an all day meet

Growth Good

Results from the current snagging season on paddlefish, in the tailwaters of Gavins Point Dam, indicate that the population is in good shape. The season ends April 30.

Nebraska's paddlefish is one of only two members of the paddlefish family known to exist today. While Nebraska's record fish weighed a whopping 89 pounds, it and others like it in the Mississippi River system are dwarfed by the other member of the family, a gigantic species in the great rivers of China which reportedly reaches a length of over 22 feet.

In recent years paddlefish in the Missouri River were decreasing in size, causing concern as to whether or not this large freshwater fish was being overharvested. Apparently not!

An estimated 4,200 paddlefish including some that were tagged have been crested in the tailwaters so far this season, with ages ranging from two to 15+ years. This indicates a good population.

Allan Carson, fisheries supervisor at Norfolk, said the State now hopes to find areas where habitat is right for paddlefish spawning. Very little is known about their spawning habits. Carson said a promising spot is on the Boyd County line where there's an extensive rocky area.

How do you age a paddlefish? Take a thin cross section from the jaw and place under the microscope. It has annual rings, or annuli, much like the growth of a tree, or even that on a fish scale.

Unfortunately, paddlefish don't dress out very well, even though boneless. Only about 20 per cent remains after the notu cord, huge fat bodies, and red meat are removed. The remaining white meat, however, is delicious.

While Nebraska's season ends April 30, South Dakota's paddlefishing is year-round. Limits, too, are different. Officials are striving for identical regulations for both states.

Horse Diapers vs. Pollution
Horses used for logging in Oregon's Bull Run Reservoir area, a vast timberland, reportedly are being fitted with disposable diapers. Loggers report the diapers keep horse wastes from "leaching into a major watershed and contaminating the drinking water."

Horses are used rather than machinery during winter months because they do less damage to the soil, reducing erosion and drainage problems.
"With horses wearing diapers, the water quality reportedly has improved and the terrain in the heart of the state's timberland is in better condition when the summer logging season rolls around."

Martins at Norfolk
Purple martin scouts were reported in Norfolk last week. Still no visitors at the Mc NEBRASKALAND martin house. Griggsville, Ill., purple martin captain, reported its first pair of martins on March 13, a day before Doyle Rainer's martins in Falls City.

Trojans Explode for 21 Hits To Rip Logan View, 13-5

Wakefield batters ripped off a 21-hit attack against Hooper-Logan View Monday to set a new season-high in hits enroute to the team's third win of the season, 13-5.

Shortstop Doug Soderberg, second baseman Dave Rouse and pitcher Sam Utecht connected for 10 hits — three doubles and a single by Soderberg, Rouse's double and two singles, and Utecht's three singles.

Rouse led off the bottom of the first with a double and scored on Soderberg's solo single to tie the score at 1-1.

Wakefield continued its attack in the first when Utecht and Soderberg crossed the plate after left fielder Randy Hallstrom walked and Keith Siebrand and Bob Twite singled.

The Wakefield crew added two more runs in the bottom of the second to up the score to 5-1 before Logan View rallied for three runs in the top of the third for a 5-4 score.

Trojan first baseman Steve Kay opened up the bottom of the third frame with a triple and came home on Doug Fischer's single to give Wakefield a 6-4 edge.

Rouse's single and another double by Soderberg put the Trojans ahead by another run before catcher Kirk Gardner connected for a single to bring Rouse home. At the end of three, Wakefield was in command, 8-4.

Three more runs in the bottom of the fourth and two in the fifth closed the Trojans scoring spree. Logan View pushed across its final run in the seventh on two singles and an error.

Wakefield, with its fourth consecutive win at home covering two seasons, saw all 19 players in action for the second time this season.

Sam Utecht hurled his first complete game of the year for a

1-0 record. He gave up seven hits and five runs while walking five and striking out 16.

Wakefield's 21 hits, combined with 20 hits against Bancroft last week, gives the Trojans a total of 50 hits and 35 runs in their first four games. They have held their opponents to 19 hits and 12 runs.

Today (Thursday) the Trojans travel to Homer for a 4:30 p.m. double header with the Knights. On Tuesday the Wakefield nine will head for another double header, this time with Leigh Hooper-Logan View 103 000 1-5

POWERFUL Mark Schram of the Wayne High golf team breaks loose with another strong tee shot Tuesday during a triangular meet at the Wayne Country Club. Schram finished the meet with the individual low of 37.

Men Golfers Start Action Wednesday

Members of the Wayne Country Club Wednesday night golf league will start action next Wednesday promptly at 4:30 said club president Del Stoltenberg.

In a news letter to all players, Stoltenberg listed the teams and their weekly assignments through Aug. 29.

This week's starting lineups include 1 19; 2 18; 3 21; 4 20; 5 23; 6 22; 7 25; 8 24; 9 27; 10 26; 11 29; 12 28; 13 31; 14 30; 15 33; 16 34; 17 32.

Stoltenberg noted that if golfers miss any holes because of being late, they will have to forfeit them.

Wayne Women Hit UNL, 13-1

Wayne State women built their softball record to 4-1 Monday with their 13-1 conquest of the University of Nebraska Lincoln, played at Lincoln.

Mary Gerken spun a one hitter while Wayne bats rapped 14 hits. It was the third win, with no losses, for the George, La. mound ace.

Martha Schrick, also of George, and Jan Nyquist of Omaha both hit a single, a double and a triple in the Wayne bombardment.

Line score:

Wayne 500 008—13 14 2
UNL 000 010—1 1 6

Mary Gerken and Bonnie Benz
Sherry Matika and Becky Anderson

Varsity, B Teams Win Devils' 1st Triangular

Wayne High golfers won their first triangular of the season Tuesday when they outshot South Sioux City and West Point High at the Wayne Country Club.

Mark Schram had low honors for the locals, firing a nine-hole total of 37. Scott Ehlers shot a 39 followed by Robin Kudrna's and Randy Workman's 41 and Dave Hix's 45.

The team had a 207 total to defeat South Sioux with a 211 and 238 for West Point.

The B team, noted coach Harold Maciejewski, also did a fine job, and there is a chance that some on the second five will be pushing the varsity for a spot on the top five.

Mike Manes led the B winners with a 42. Tod Bigelow had a 45, followed by Tom Johansen 46, Scott Brummond 47 and Mark Lowe 50 for a team total of 230. Again South Sioux finished

Laurel girls lead area tracksters in top 10 showing

LAUREL HIGH girl tracksters are at it again.

Both June Pearson and Deanna Erwin are in the top 10 of the state shot put and 50 yard dash listings.

For June, last year's state contender, being in the top is nothing new. The senior member of the Laurel squad made the top bracket last year and is continuing the same pace for the 1973 season.

So far June has broken her own shot put record twice—once with a toss of 36 1/2', the second with a toss measuring 37 1/2'. That last throw didn't push her up from her fourth place in the state standings, but it did bring her within 2 1/2 inches of third place holder Patsy Klein of Adams. Her mark measured 37 3/4'.

Deanna, a junior, grabbed the 10th spot in last week's Omaha World Herald rated runners. She clocked a :06.3 in the 50 yard dash to tie with three other runners.

During the Plainview invitational she ran a :06.5, said first year coach Al

Rainbolt. "This is not a bad time," he admitted, "but she is capable of a faster time."

LAUREL MAY have some pretty fast girls, but let's not forget about the Wakefield and Winside girls. Both schools possess running talent as well as talent in the field events.

Susi Kober, Wakefield's speedster, seemed to be all over the place during the Emerson-Hubbard invitational.

She left the meet with four first—100 and 50-yard dashes, long jump and the 880-yard relay team. Although Susi hasn't placed in any of the state listings this year, coach Tim Pehrson figures that she will make the top 10 sometime soon.

Several other Trojan girls helping to make the Wakefield team a solid contender at invitationals are Cindy Keagle and Kris Kraemer.

Kris' specialties—the 220 yard dash and the 80-yard hurdles—earned her firsts at Emerson. She also took second in the 50 yard dash.

Cindy, on the other hand, competes in the 440-yard run (second at Emerson) and the high jump (third at Emerson).

All three girls, plus Judy Lovelace, starred on the winning 880-relay team.

TURNING TO Winside, coach Jim Winch has some impressive people.

Jan Stenwall set a school record in the shot put at her own invitational last week—35.5, bettering the old mark of 32 feet. She should be among the top 10 in this week's World Herald shot put leaders.

Jan Trautwein also set a school record in the 50-yard dash when she ran the record—:06.8, not quite fast enough to earn a spot among the 10 best but good enough to place on the list of school record setters.

Joni Langenberg, another member of the Wildkitten club, placed first in the long jump with a leap of 13-3/4" while helping teammates Sheryl Peterson, Pat Dangberg and Gail Grong win the 440-yard relay.

As of Monday, these were the new times set by area girls. But things could have changed during the Lewis and Clark Conference meet at Winside on Monday.

Right now record keeping at Allen High School is on the sketchy side.

First-year coach Lorna Stamp says she doesn't know where the records from last year are or if any were kept. As a result, it is hard to compare the girls' times for this year against the previous years.

Maybe something will turn up after Monday's conference meet.

TWO-NOTES came across this typewriter.

A "Welcome to the Club" goes to Junior Ferabee, superintendent at Walthill High School; Don Vanderhiden, superintendent Osmond and Richard Barrett, Walthill athletic director, on being named the new Lewis and Clark Conference officials last week.

Ferebee and Barrett will take over as president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, replacing Don Leighton, superintendent at Winside High, and Ron Kramer, Winside principal.

Also, the finals of the Big Eight men's gymnastic championship can be seen Easter Sunday at 2 p.m. on the Nebraska E.T.V. Network.

The 1973 finals competition—hosted by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln March 24th—will feature floor exercises, pommel horse, still rings, horizontal bars, parallel bars and vaulting.

Bears Beat Hartington School in Triangular

Laurel High School captured its own golf triangular Monday with a sweeping victory over Hartington Cedar Catholic and Hartington High at the Cedarview Country Club in Laurel.

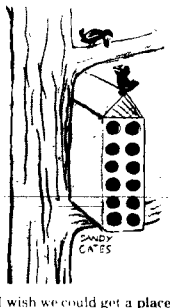

The Bears, led by mediaist Tom Anderson with a 41, shot a nine hole total of 181 to outdistance Hartington CC by five strokes. Hartington High finished with a 238.

Other team members were Craig Wendel, 44; Terry Johnson, 47; and Scott Huetig, 49.

In B team action, Laurel again posted a 153 198 win over Hartington Cedar Catholic, one other B team entered.

Kevin Gade had a 48 to lead the squad while Mark Anderson had a 49 and Greg Anderson shot a 56 for the only three men entered.

Wednesday Laurel was scheduled to play at the O'Neill invitational.

"I wish we could get a place of our own and get out of this public housing."

Fire Damages Reeg Trailer

A fire at the Rodney Reeg residence in Woehier's Trailer Court in Wayne did an estimated $300 damage Tuesday when a blaze apparently started in a wall adjoining the double trailer, according to fire chief Cliff Pinkeman.

The chief said damage was limited to a wall, drapes, rug and part of the bathroom. The fire was detected about 5:30 p.m. by Reeg and court owner Bill Woehler, who extinguished the fire before the department arrived.

Seniors Whip Sophs For Title

Steve Mordhorst's 22 points Monday night led the seniors to a 74-67 victory over the sophomores for the playoff title of the local city recreation basketball A league.

The tanky forward popped in 16 of his total points in the second half, including five of seven shots from the field in the last period.

The seniors, with help from Randy Nelson's 19 points, Roger Saul's 12 and Larry Shupe's 11, took a two point lead in the first half, 38-36, before moving out in front, 59-53, in the third quarter.

Sophomores Earle Overin and Marty Hansen were high men with 22 each, followed by Bob Keating's 13.

In the other game of the night, the Boys Club made it a clean sweep for the senior members by clipping the juniors, 71-70.

Charlie Roland and Ron Magnuson pumped in 25 and 24 points respectively for the winners along with Sharle Giese's 17.

For the juniors, Randy Workman had 17, Tod Bigelow 16, Bill Schwartz 11 and Kim Baker 10.

At the end of the first half, the juniors had a three-point margin. But the Boys Club came back to jump into a four point lead, 54-50, after three periods of play before winning third place in the high school A league.

Nearly 23,000 disabled persons benefited from the equipment loan program of some 600 Easter Seal societies nationwide last year. Most commonly lent items were ambulatory aids such as wheelchairs, walkers and crutches.

Wesleyan Drops Wayne Netters

Nebraska Wesleyan's tennis team blanked Wayne, 9-0, here Tuesday afternoon. The visitors won straight-set decisions in five of the six singles matches. Only Doug Poshman of Wayne managed to win a set. He took the first one, 9-7, but dropped the other two, 2-6 and 1-6. In doubles, Poshman and partner Dan Rose, also a Wayne native, won the first set, lost the next two. And the WSC pair of Al Roth and John Warner won a first set, only to lose the next two.

Athlete of the Week

"When you think of the name Keith Olsen, the sport of basketball may cross your mind.

Make no mistake about it, that's true. But Olsen, selected to The Wayne Herald's first all-area basketball team this spring, is making a new record for himself—in pole vaulting.

During last year and the present season Olsen holds the distinction of never placing any lower than first in the pole vaulting event—with no exception. Last year, the red-headed senior had to take second.

That's quite a remarkable feat for this week's "Athlete of the Week."

Laurel coach Bob Zohner will be the first to admit that Keith is a very valuable part in making the Bear club a strong outfit.

So far this year, Olsen has won all four of his events with a 12.0 showing. No more, no less.

"Keith could do a lot better," Zohner said. Last week at the South Sioux Invitational he won the event with an easy vault of 12 feet. "He could have gone higher, but the wind didn't help matters," Zohner said.

As the season progresses, Olsen is expected to go beyond the 12.0 mark to 12.4 and possibly 13.

In addition to his vaulting ability, Olsen also won the 180-yard low hurdles in :21.4 at South Sioux.

"This was kind of a surprise to me," Zohner stated, noting that Keith has run the event only twice. In his first showing, Olsen finished in 22 seconds. "In just a short time he really has improved," the coach pointed out. As a result he may make the World Herald's top 10 low hurdle men in class C.

Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Olsen, racked up a total of 12 of Laurel's 35½ points Friday in helping the Bears to second place at the South Sioux City Invitational.

Park Commission to Set '73 Regulations April 27

Regulations for Nebraska's 1973 deer, antelope, cottontail and squirrel seasons will be set at the April 27 meeting of the Game and Parks Commission, following a public hearing and testimony from game biologists and the general public.

Opening dates already have been set on these seasons, but other regulations must be decided at the April meeting. For cottontails and squirrels, these include bag and possession limits, shooting hours and closing dates.

The deer and antelope hearings will involve regulations on both firearm and archery seasons. This will include shooting hours, closing dates, units to be open, the number and types of permits in each unit.

On May 10, Nebraska residents may begin applying for deer and antelope permits, and any application received through June 1 will be considered for a June 18 drawing to allocate permits in oversubscribed units.

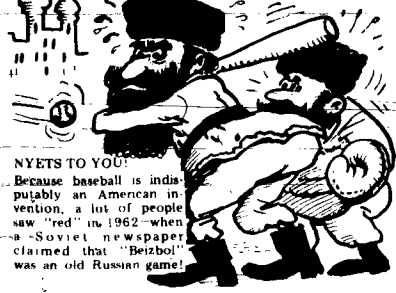

Antelope hunters face a new wrinkle in application this year. Anyone who had a regular firearm antelope permit in 1972 will not be eligible to put in for one during the initial application period under provisions of a legislative act that became effective this year. Technically, they can apply starting on June 2, but all pronghorn permits are usually allocated through the drawing.

The remainder of Nebraska's

1973 hunting regulations will be decided at two upcoming meetings. In June, the Commissioners will set the snipe and rail seasons, and in August decide all waterfowl dates and regulations, plus the remaining fall turkey and upland game regulations.

Opening dates for 1973 seasons include: archery-antelope, Aug. 18; cottontail, Sept. 1; squirrel, Sept. 1; archery-deer, Sept. 15; grouse, Sept. 22; firearm-antelope, Sept. 22; fall turkey, Oct. 27; pheasant, Nov. 3; quail, Nov. 3; firearm deer, Nov. 10. No opening dates for waterfowl season have yet been decided. The Game and Parks Commission cannot set any waterfowl regulations until federal guidelines are made available in mid-August.

WSC Rips Midland in Twin Bill

First baseman Jack Shupe launched three home runs to lead Wayne State in a pair of wins over Midland College here Tuesday, 13-7 and 7-5.

Shupe, senior from Bedford, Ia., got two round-trippers in the first game, the second one putting Wayne ahead after Midland had gone on top by 6-5. His second-game homer also lifted the Wildcats to a winning margin after a third-inning tie count at 2-2.

Relief pitchers collected both wins for Wayne. Ron Nelson of Wausa took over from first-game starter Kevin Peterson after the Warriors went on the warpath in the third frame. Nelson, allowing only one more run, got his third win.

In the nightcap, starter Mark Prather of Sioux City yielded in the second to Greg Kamp of Omaha. He stayed two innings, long enough to subdue the threat. Freshman Bob DeVaul of Pocahontas, Ia., held Midland scoreless till the seventh when Dennis Clark banged a three-run homer, with two out. DeVaul quickly got the final out to preserve Wayne's record unblemished at 8-0.

FIRST BASEMAN Jack Shupe led Wayne State in a pair of wins over Midland College Tuesday with three home runs.

Local Student Heads Frat At College

Two Wayne youths, Jerry Brasch and Patrick Vrtiska, are listed on the first Dean's List released by Nebraska Technical College at Millard.

A total of 120 students were named to the first Dean's List. A grade point average of 9.0 (12.0 is A) must be achieved by students to be listed.

Brasch is studying building construction technology, Vrtiska electronic data processing technology.

Midland, though winless in 14 games, scored three times as many runs as all the previous Wayne opponents combined. The Wildcats have outscored the foe by 65-16.

Wayne will host conference rival Kearney State Friday in a twin bill at 1 p.m. on the college diamond.

Line scores:
Midland 006 0010—7 11 3
Wayne 414 202X—12 15 1

County Workers Get Monday Off

Wayne County officials and employees along with other county workers across the state will not work Monday.

The employees will have the day off in observance of Arbor Day.

Police Check 3 Accidents In Wayne

Three separate minor traffic mishaps happened over the past week, according to the Wayne police department.

About 5:10 p.m. Tuesday three cars were involved in an accident on the 300 block of Main. Parked cars owned by Andy Manes of Wayne and Dennis Robinson of Route 2 were struck.

Little Zapp of 108 Pearl was attempting to drive out of a parking stall when she inadvertently put the car in forward gear instead of reverse, police said.

The force of the impact shoved the Manes' vehicle into the Robinson car. No one was hurt. Monday about 2:30 p.m., a parked car owned by Fred Denkinger, 3204 Walnut, was struck on the right side on the 100 block of West Third.

Last Wednesday two motorcycles collided near the intersection of West 10th and Main. Gary Jeffrey of 620 W. Second, told police he was headed south on Main when Steve Hall, 934 Nebraska, apparently came from behind and tried to pass Jeffrey on the right side.

Jeffrey stated that he did not see Hall when attempting to make a right-hand turn. Jeffrey suffered a bruised right leg.

HOSKINS Bake and Take Day Set For April 27

Mrs. Hans Asmus
Phone 543-4412

Nine members of the A. Teen Home Extension Club met in the home of Mrs. Fred Bargstadt April 11 to discuss what plants to grow in their 1973 gardens, what to collect in fields during the summer and how to dry materials for distinctive arrangements.

Mrs. George Ehlers was the lesson leader and distributed the home extension pamphlet, "Winter Bouquets and Other Dried Arrangements."

The meeting was opened with the State Extension song, "We Prepare for Tomorrow." Roll call was an exchange of homemade Easter favors.

Mrs. Irving Anderson reported on "Patients Who Drive Doctors Wild," and Mrs. Elmer Koepke read "State Safety Plan Un-realistic." The birthday song was sung in honor of Mrs. Guy Anderson and Mrs. James Robinson and the anniversary song in honor of Mrs. Irving Anderson and Mrs. Fred Bargstadt.

A thank you for two lap robes delivered to the Dahl Nursing Home was read. President Thoenel explained that the $50 scholarship was still available to a Wayne County high school graduate or graduate daughter of a member of a Wayne County Home Extension Club planning to enter the field of Home Economics this fall.

Delegates from Wayne County to the State Convention June 28 and 29 are Mrs. Leo Hansen, Mrs. Esther Batten and Mrs. Ernest Sietken. Alternate delegates are Mrs. Val Damme and Mrs. James Robinson.

Group members were assigned Spring Tea Duties and plan to meet in the Guy Anderson home at 7 p.m. May 4, to share rides to the Wayne City Auditorium.

Members plan to observe state-wide "Bake and Take Days" by baking and taking to a neighbor April 27. A free pamphlet entitled "National Bread Recipes 1972" is available from Sue Smith, home economist, Department of Agriculture, 101 Terminal Building, Lincoln, Nebraska 68508.

President Thoenel won the hostess gift.

Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. James Robinson, May 9.

Mrs. Ella Broekemeier and son and Mrs. Emma Summers, Columbus, were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Meta Pingel and Richard. In the afternoon they and Mrs. Pauline Wubbenhorst, Osmond, were supper guests in the Johanna Broekemeier home in Osmond.

The John Asmus, Mrs. Dora Deck and Dale and Mrs. Lucille Asmus were among dinner guests Sunday in the Beemer community hall in honor of the confirmation of Melinda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Asmus.

Mrs. Marie Puls, Mrs. Kathryn Schmeckpepper, Mrs. Art

Low, Mrs. Everett Wetzler, Mrs. Edna Puls and Mrs. Raymond Walker were Friday afternoon visitors in the Erwin Ulrich home in honor of Mrs. Ulrich's birthday.

The Gary Asmus and Mrs. Kathleen Asmus returned home Sunday after spending the past week in Utah and Denver.

Society -

Birthday Guests
Mrs. Erwin Ulrich entertained relatives and neighbors in her home Sunday evening in honor of her birthday.

Ten point pitch was played with prizes going to Mrs. Edwin Meierhenry, Carl Hinzman, Dennis Puls, Janet Gunter, and Marvin Schroeder.

Schwedes Host
Members of the Helping Hand Club met in the Harry Schwede home Wednesday night.

Following the business meeting the evening was spent playing ten point pitch. High was awarded to Mrs. Henry Mittelstaedt and Lester Acklie and low to Mrs. Edwin Strate and Henry Mittelstaedt. Traveling went to Mrs. Lester Acklie and Robert Marshall.

WMS Meets
Members of the Immanuel Women's Missionary Society met Saturday in the Peace church basement for a 1:30 p.m. no host luncheon.

Program chairman was Mrs. Walter Fenske. Amelia Schroeder read two poems entitled "Judea Hills are Holy" and "Palm Sunday." Guest-day was discussed and thank you letters were read from the Goodwill and the Lutheran Home in Beatrice. Easter hymns were sung with Christine Lueker at the piano.

The May 12 meeting will be in the Fred Johnson home.

Meet Tuesday
Members of the 20th Century Extension Club met Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Fred Offen home with nine attending.

Mrs. Alvin Wagner, president, opened the meeting with a poem, "No Hogs in My Heaven." Roll call was answered with "An Easter You Remember."

The group decided to bake and take food to shut ins or neighbors April 27 and 28. The Spring tea to be held May 4 in Wayne was also discussed. Mrs. Richard Doffin gave the lesson on winter bouquets.

A sympathy card was sent to the Scheurich family and a get well card to Mrs. Minnie Maas.

Next meeting will be a 1 p.m. dinner at Prengers in Norfolk.

Mark Birthday
Twenty five relatives and friends from Pierce, Norfolk and Hoskins were entertained in the Lester Koepke home Sunday evening for the host's birthday.

Pitch prizes were awarded to Mark Herbolzheimer, Ed Oppel, the Art Mays, Mrs. Ida Koepke and Larry Koepke.

17 Members Meet
Mrs. Bill Fenske entertained 17 members of the Highland Club Thursday in her home.

Mrs. Ron Lange, president, opened the meeting with two poems, "Spring Fever" and "An Easter Poem." Roll call was a favorite spring flower.

Mrs. Orville Brockmeier, citizenship chairman, read an article on Womens American Milk Association. Plans were made for the Spring Tea. Mrs. Art Behmer will be the model for the club at the Spring Tea.

The birthday song was sung for Mrs. Ron Lange, Mrs. Emil Gutzman, Mrs. Mary Kollath and April Marotz. The lesson, "Winter Bouquets," was given by Mrs. Lane Marotz and Mrs. Alfred Bronzanski.

Mrs. Emil Gutzman will host the May 10 meeting.

Called to Fire
The Hoskins Fire Department was called to the Willis Falk home north of Hoskins Thursday at 10:45 p.m. to help extinguish a grass fire.

Card Club
Members of the Hoskins Card Club met in the Robert Nurnberg home Thursday evening. The Harry Nurnbergs were guests.

Ten point pitch was played with prizes going to Mrs. Harry Schwede, Mrs. Herman Opler, Vernon Behmer and Walter Strate.

Next meeting will be Sept. 2 in the home of Mrs. Marie Rathman.

Birthday Club
Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schroeder entertained the Birthday Club last week for the host's birthday. Guests were the Clinton Rebers, the Lyle Marotz, Lucille Asmus and Meta Pingel.

Card prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Meierhenry, Erwin Ulrich and Mrs. Lucille Asmus. Birthday cakes were baked by Mrs. Reber.

Mrs. Asmus spent from Sunday until Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Agnes Hahn, Granger, Utah. Wednesday evening she attended the wedding and reception of her son, Gary and Agnes Hahn in Salt Lake, Utah.

She also visited in the homes of H.C. Mittelstaedt, Arvada, Colo.; Bill Opler, Lakewood, Colo.; Jerold Mittelstaedt, Arvada, Colo.; Chester Witt, Denver and Woodrow Mahan, Arvada.

CCC Offers to Defer Payments on Loans
The Wayne County ASCS of rice has announced that producers with CCC loans on small grains can request to defer payments.
Ray Butts, executive director of the County ASCS, reported that all loans on small grains will mature on April 30. Reseal programs are not offered for any loans for the 1973-74 storage period, he said.
The loans will have to be repaid or the commodity delivered to CCC to satisfy the loans, he said, but present market prices make it more profitable to sell the grain.
There are approximately 45,500 bushels of oats and 2,000 bushels of barley under loan in Wayne County, according to Butts.
Producers are not able to market grain readily through normal channels at this time, and warehouses are busy handling and drying wet corn and are not able to move grain readily due to the box car shortage.
Therefore, CCC is offering producers an opportunity to request to defer payment of the loan. Butts noted the period for deferring payment is 30 days.
If marketing channels remain restricted CCC may extend the period for an additional 30 days, he added.
Other CCC loans that will mature include 1969, 1970 and 1971 corn under resale May 31, soybeans on June 30, 1972 corn and 1969, 1970, 1971 and 1972 grain sorghum on July 31.

did you KNOW?

That with the increased yield of new A-3 Polaris and Poseidon reentry vehicles and their independently targeted warheads, a sea-based deterrent is expected to provide a high probability that as many as 1000 enemy targets could be destroyed even after losing some U.S. submarines to an enemy attack?

That sea-basing appears to be the ideal deterrent - yet the idea of depending only on sea-basing has been rejected because it simply wouldn't meet the needs of a credible U.S. nuclear strategy for the future?

Letter writers criticize mayor for overstepping bounds, firing chief of police

Dear Editor:

After reflecting for over a week upon the city council's decision in regard to the resolving of the Westwood storm sewer controversy, I find one aspect of that resolution particularly revolting.

A letter dated March 20, 1973 was sent out to all members of the city council by mayor Kent Hall. By way of this letter, mayor Hall states that "I am going to attempt to aid you in your decision pertaining to the assessments on the storm sewer in the Westwood Addition."

I would suggest that at this point the mayor stepped beyond the propriety of his office and assumed the ill fitting roles of legal advisor, judge, historian, prophet and moral evaluator. All, of course, aimed to influence the city council.

I would further suggest that the council can function best in the clear light of communication with their constituency as opposed to the clouded innuendo of a presupposing mayor.

John Vukoc

Dear Editor:

The credibility gap has continued to widen with the recent action of the mayor and council members.

It probably started with the passage of Ordinance 720 to amend Ordinance 2.801. It became a little wider when statements were made that when and if any package liquor license should become available persons who had made previous application would be given priority consideration for that license. These good intentions seem to have gone down the drain.

The chasm became unbelievable with the suspension of the chief of police for doing the job he was instructed to do. A very similar method was used to fight a drug problem not too long ago. It calls for an outsider to infiltrate and gain the confidence of a group and then to make purchases of the illicit material. This material is used as evidence to obtain a conviction, and the offenders in the story, lonesome No word was sent out to the pot smokers and pushers to cool off because an investigation was being made.

Wayne

It does not require too great an intellect to realize that the whole plan would be very unpopular with the local liquor dealers.

I would suggest that Mr. Hall read and adopt as his own the two often-quoted ideas of the late President Truman:

Number one — "The buck stops here."

Number two — "If you can't stand the heat get out of the kitchen."

Dick Banister
Norfolk

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to the recent dismissal of Wayne police chief Vern Fairchild. It appears to me that we are at a crossroads in this country and we must decide just how much or what kind of law enforcement we want.

From the current situation in the city of Wayne, those in the city administration are not aware of this fact, or if it is known to them they have chosen to ignore it. When a chief of police is fired for doing a good job and giving fair and impartial treatment to everyone, there is no doubt that there must be a change in city personnel. However, the process should be reversed and the elimination should take place in city hall.

It appears to me that a small segment of the city of Wayne is trying to impose their particular type of law enforcement on the majority of the citizens of Wayne.

There is no one in the city of Wayne who knows more about what constitutes entrapment than chief Fairchild. The city of Wayne should consider itself fortunate to have a man of Fairchild's caliber. It is not easy to stand up and enforce unpopular laws and take the criticism that follows. A lesser man than Fairchild would have given in to the dissidents who would have him turn his back on his sworn responsibilities.

If a case of entrapment does exist, the victim of the entrapment is Fairchild, and not someone who has chosen to disregard the law at his own convenience. It is a good fact that someone as honorable as Fairchild, has to suffer for being too good a policeman.

Michael A. Stoley

OBSERVATIONS

A time for silence?

At least two members of the Wayne city council feel that mayor Kent Hall was wrong in firing the chief of police last week. There may be others.

You wouldn't know it, however, because they are keeping their feelings to themselves. Something to do with "adding more fuel to the fire" or the like.

If some councilmen think the mayor was unfair in firing the police chief, we think they owe it to the citizens they represent to say so publicly. That's one reason they were named to the council—so they would voice their feelings about how the city is being run. By not saying so, many persons will assume that they back the mayor in his decision.

And they owe it to the chief of police as well. He was carrying out orders in conducting an investigation of local taverns and bottle clubs. To be fired after conducting the investigation seems, to say the least, unfair.

Isn't it time for those councilmen who disagree with the firing to say so? If they don't, can they complain if they lose the respect of other city workers?

The fiddler has to be paid

There's a story circulating about a grocery store owner who noticed a woman with a large placard parading back and forth in front of his store.

He sent a stock boy out front to see what was printed on the sign. The boy reported that the sign administered shoppers not to buy lettuce because it was priced too high. He reported also that the woman carrying the placard was the same one who picketed the store a year earlier and admonished shoppers not to buy lettuce until the growers signed exorbitant labor contracts with their field pickers.

That's reminiscent of the old saying something to the effect that if you want to dance, you've got to pay the fiddler.

Today's shopper demands a lot from the grocery store—everything from convenience foods to better packaging to ample parking space. Somehow, these things have to be paid for. To demand that the farmer absorb all or much of the cost is unfair, however.

We still can't see what all the uproar over food and meat prices is all about. It takes only 15.7 per cent of a person's income for food today. Twenty years ago it took 23 per cent.

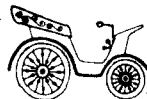

If food prices had increased in the past 20 years at the same rate as farm tractors—from $1,200 to $4,800—we'd be paying $3.28 a dozen for eggs, $3.10 a pound for chicken, $4.05 a pound for beef and $1.94 a gallon for milk.

We've got it pretty good as far as prices go. Maybe it would do us all some good to remember the children's story about the goose that laid the golden eggs.

WAY BACK WHEN

Nebraska

Women and the Legislature

It was not the first time in Nebraska's history that women of the state descended upon their capitol and legislature when they did so on February 22. The well organized 1973 invasion, which spilled out of the legislative chamber into the rotunda, had been anticipated for weeks by the Unicameral. It was the female constituency's response—both pro and con—to the proposal to repeal the 1972 ratification of the equal rights amendment to the U. S. Constitution. Over three quarters of a century ago in March, 1891, there was a similar occurrence in Nebraska. Women were then trying to persuade the Legislature to extend the franchise.

A new spirit of reform pervaded in the Populist controlled Legislature in 1891, and ranking first among the measures it enacted was the Australian Ballot. This "act to promote the independence of voters at public elections, to enforce the secrecy of the ballot, and to provide for the printing and distributing of ballots at public expense" was approved March 4, 1891. Prior to the introduction of the Australian secret ballot into the United States in 1888, American elections had not always been orderly. Some still are not.

While Nebraska elections have been singularly free of irregularities when compared to many states, there were at the time instances of election-day difficulties. What is like in some states may be traced in sources of the Nebraska State Historical Society. "Sham battles were frequently engaged in to keep away elderly and timid voters of the opposition. Many electors had their coats torn from their backs, ballots snatched from their hands, and others put in their place, with threats against using any ballot except the one substituted." In addition to instances of intimidation, bribery, and stuffing of the ballot box, the "noise, violence, and confusion about the polls were disagreeable."

Bold and determined to get some advantage from the Legislature, the women concentrated their efforts on gaining the franchise in municipal elections. The Omaha Bee of March 6, 1891, reported:

"A strong delegation of suffragists and prohibitionists filled the floor and the galleries and the colonels and the generals (the legislative leaders) flitted back and forth, giving their orders to those independents who have fallen into the toils of the lobby and practically deserted their own party interests to advance the cause of female suffrage.

"After waiting more than two hours of time, roll call on final passage of the bill commenced," and the representative of Fillmore County (an avowed opponent) "sent a thrill of joy through the hearts of the suffragists" by voting for the measure. Joy was short-lived, because the municipal suffrage bill was defeated. Undoubtedly, many members deemed it advisable to explain their votes. One sage Lancaster County legislator was influenced by the newly adopted system of balloting. He "reasoned":

"Under the Australian ballot system, (which has) just become a law in the state of Nebraska, the passage of this bill extending to women the right of municipal suffrage, would create untold mischief in the canvassing of votes. The secrecy of the ballot under the new regime is absolute. Many villages, towns, and some cities in the state of Nebraska hold municipal and special elections on the same day with general and state elections. How with this restricted franchise to women, could any canvassing board determine the sex of the ballot? I therefore vote no."

The Bee concluded its coverage of the confrontation between the women and the Legislature by commenting that the suffragist contingent was excused in order that elected representatives could "get down to solid work."

Long before the 1891 encounter, Nebraska's Legislature, then meeting at the state capital in Omaha, heard its first women's rights speech. It was given by the redoubtable Mrs. Amelia Bloomer, feminist of Council Bluffs whose name has become associated with an article of women's apparel: An impressed reporter, probably self-possessed — not a nerve sensitive to be moved by excitement, and the voice did not tremble." The year was 1855.

Not until 1920 and the passage of the 19th Amendment were Nebraska women given the complete right to vote. Nebraska, the fourteenth state to ratify the amendment, did so on August 2, 1919.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By The Automotive Information Council

Brakes — Margin of Safety

Modern brakes are designed to give you a dependable margin of safety for tens of thousands of miles of driving. In repeatedly slowing and stopping the car at your command, they absorb enormous punishment — without complaint. But they shouldn't be expected to do the impossible.

Contrary to popular opinion, the brakes will not stop a car "on a dime." Although you can stop your car in about five feet from 10 miles per hour, stopping distance from 60 mph is closer to 200 feet — not counting reaction distance. At 40 mph, you travel 88 feet every second, and even with a lightning-fast reaction time of a half-second you'll travel 44 feet before you can hit the brake pedal. Total stopping distance: about 240 feet, or nearly the length of a football field.

Another misconception concerns power brakes. On cars so equipped, a special vacuum booster reduces the effort required to apply the brakes. Power brakes, however, do not slow or stop the car any faster than non-power brakes.

Safe stopping depends on a combination of factors, including the condition of the brakes, the tires, the road and your own reaction time. Whenever you have your car's engine oil changed, have the serviceman check the brake fluid level in the master cylinder. If the level is low, the system should be checked for leaks. When brake fluid is added, insist on super heavy-duty fluid — there's no room for second best where safety is concerned.

At least once a year (more frequently if you drive more than 10,000 miles a year or do a lot of stop-and-go city driving), the brake linings should be inspected to determine the amount of wear. If allowed to wear too far, the rivets or a portion of the brake shoe may score or scratch the drum. Then the brake drum must be reconditioned with special equipment — or possibly replaced.

You can prolong the life of your car's brakes by avoiding heavy braking except in emergencies. "Riding" the brakes also accelerates wear and needlessly reduces the margin of safety designed into the system.

SETTING A WORLD'S RECORD IN 1956, TWO-YEAR OLD VIKIE DAVIS OF MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN, SURVIVED A BODY TEMPERATURE OF ONLY 60.8 DEGREES FAHRENHEIT — WHICH IS ALMOST 38 DEGREES BELOW THE "NORMAL" BODY TEMPERATURE!

Capital News —

Alas! Inflation is finally having an affect on crime in Nebraska

LINCOLN — Everything is going up. The price of bicycles, for example, is so high that a thief who steals one of the better two-wheelers could be committing grand larceny under existing Nebraska law.

The Legislature's Judiciary Committee agreed last week that it had better consider what inflation is doing to classifications of crime.

The committee voted to send to the floor for action a bill which would boost the grand larceny minimum from $100 to $500.

Also advanced was a measure which hikes the minimum amount of a bad check which still would be a misdemeanor — from $75 to $1,000. Anything beyond $75 now is a felony and carries a possible prison sentence.

Abortion Bill Advanced

Another bill moved to floor consideration by a committee last week was a measure rewording a measure dealing with abortion.

Before LB 286 was given committee approval, it had been the subject of a lengthy public hearing, numerous informal discussions and a barrage of amendments.

What finally emerged was a proposal which Committee Chairman Thomas Williams said would be a "misadventure" in the light of a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

Opposition to the high court's ruling, however, has been less than enthusiastic. Williams said there will be no session on the subject until something new is enacted.

according to several senators. Kennedy said the biggest question the Public Health Committee wrestled with before it reached a decision was the determination of when an unborn child becomes a "viable" human being.

The language, as it went to the floor, says abortions would be illegal after a fetus "reaches that stage of human development when the life of the unborn child may be continued by natural or life support systems outside the womb of the mother."

The exception to that would be in a case where an abortion was considered necessary to save the mother's life.

Exon Bills Heard

The Education Committee was busy last week, too.

In an extraordinary evening session, the committee listened to three hours of testimony on the state school aid and spending limit bills proposed by Gov. J. James Exon.

More than 500 persons crammed into the East Chamber of the Statehouse and all but four of them were opposing the Exon measures.

Chappell Sen. Ramay C. Whitney, who sponsors the two bills the governor has had drafted, and State Tax Commissioner William E. Peters were the chief witnesses on behalf of LB 570 (which would appropriate $28 million in revenue sharing funds to the schools) and LB 571 (which would limit local school spending to a formula based on the cost of living and wholesale price indexes). Opposition was offered by representatives of teachers, administrators and school boards.

The governor's bills and two school aid plans prepared by senators are expected to go to the floor for the full Legislature to choose among.

Water Issue Discussed

The lawmakers last week made a tentative decision to approve a bill which would require municipal water supplies to be fluoridated — unless local voters say they don't want the tooth decay-fighting chemical added.

The bill was advanced off first reading on a 31-9 vote after it was amended to allow an escape for those communities which put the fluoridation issue on the ballot by petition and reject the fluoride.

Trudy's Bill Signed

Gov. Exon last week signed "Trudy's bill" into law.

He put his signature on LB 25, which formally was sponsored in the Legislature by Sen. Calvin Carsten of Avoca. But Carsten said he was just a pinch hitter for the real sponsor, a 15-year-old Plattsmouth High School sophomore named Trudy Lebens.

Trudy had suggested to Carsten that judges be allowed to sentence minors convicted of possession of alcohol 75 to 90 days' work on public works projects — such as picking up trash or mowing park lawns.

The Legislature passed the bill and Exon signed it, putting the finishing touch on what began as a social studies assignment.

Indoors or Outdoors - Easter Egg Hunt Is Always Fun

Boys and girls 10 years old and under packed the West Elementary School multipurpose room Sunday afternoon in search of the Easter eggs hidden by members of Wayne State's Chi Omega sorority during their annual Easter egg hunt.

Wet, cold weather forced the event inside after it had been scheduled for Bressler Park in Wayne.

Youths collecting the most eggs earned prizes, as did those with the best costumes.

Gathering the most eggs in the contest (top left) were, from left, Shari Buckendahl, Osmond, 8-10 year olds; Russell Long, Wayne, under 4, and Duane Pate, Wayne, 5-7.

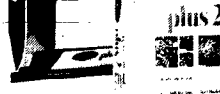

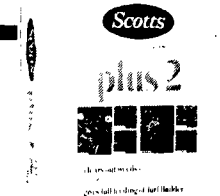

Top dressers (top right) were from left, Terri Scott and David Daescher, both of Wayne and both 8-10 division, and Kipp Lesh, Wayne, 5-7. There was no winner in the under 4 division.

Grandchildren May Qualify For SS Check

Some children can now get social security payments on a grandparent's earnings record, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

Because of a recent change in the social security law, grandchildren who are supported by their grandparent can get monthly social security payments if the grandparent is getting payments or died after working long enough under social security.

Generally, the child's parents must be deceased or disabled at the time the grandparent began getting payments or died. The child must be under 18 and dependent on the grandparent.

In some cases, grandchildren can get social security payments if they are legally adopted by their grandparent.

These new provisions are designed to help children who live with grandparents who take care of them.

For more information about social security for grandchildren, call, write or visit any social security office.

Pardon My Modesty
I'd always thought of myself as a very modest person until the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association presented me an award at their recent banquet in Wayne.

Instead of quietly going up to the speaker's stand and accepting the award, I found myself stepping on people's toes and elbowing people out of the way so I could receive the award before they changed their mind and gave it to some one else.

I was neither so modest as to turn down the award or so honest as to suggest the names of people much more deserving than I. At least I didn't pull a Marlon Brando. Seriously I do appreciate the honor.

Swine Management
Bob Fritschen, area swine specialist at Northeast Station, passes along some tips on better management of lactating sows.
It probably isn't necessary to turn lactating sows out of farrowing crates for feeding and exercise, at least for the first three weeks, and the costs are about equal.

Research indicates that turning sows out twice daily requires one-half more labor, but less investment per sow capacity than when sows are fed in crates during the 21-day period. Total costs are about the same either way.

Incidentally, this research project used slatted floors to reduce daily cleaning need when sows were confined and not turned out.

When sows are constantly confined some animals may need individual attention and exercise to avoid constipation problems. And don't be in too much of a hurry to put sows back into the crates after you feed and water them in outside pens.

A sow consumes about four pounds of water for every pound of feed eaten. That means, if a lactating sow consumes 10 pounds of ration per day, she will drink nearly five gallons of water. If a sow is limited in time to drink, her milk production will be reduced.

Hot Tips for Lawn, Garden Foes
Kentucky blue grass should receive four to six pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn each year. If quick release forms of nitrogen, such as ammonium nitrate or ammonium sulfate is used, never apply more than one and one-half pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet at any one time or grass may be burned.

Keep the mower blade sharp and properly adjusted. A dull blade bruises and tears grass, causing an unsightly yellowish color. Cutting blue grass with the blade set two to three inches high will help prevent weeds.

Radish seeds mixed and planted with slow germinating vegetable seed such as carrot, beet and onion will help mark the row for early weed control. When the radishes are harvested their space will be used by the roots of the other crops.

Large onion sets are most likely to produce plants with seed stalks. It is a good idea to sort and plant larger onion sets separately to be used for fresh green onions and allow the smaller ones to grow into bulbs for storage.

It is best to prune early spring flowering shrubs immediately after blooming. Their flowers develop from buds produced or branches that grow in the summer. These flowering branches will be lost when shrubs are pruned in the fall or winter.

Roy Stohler discussed projects available to 4-H members. Lunch was served by Steve Anderson and Bob and Jim Dahlquist.

Next meeting will be May 1 at the Northeast Station. Hosts will be Brad Erwin and Todd and Danny Nelson.

Bad Weather, Muddy Lots Poor Weight Gains Mean Big Beef Production Drop

Inclement weather, horrible feedlot conditions and resultant poor feed conversion have added up to an estimated loss of more than 1.8 million fewer pounds of beef produced per day in Nebraska in recent weeks than under normal weather conditions.

The estimate was contained in the newsletter, Cornhusker Economics, released last week by University of Nebraska Extension economists.

In the report, Dr. P. A. Henderson noted that although the number of cattle on feed in Nebraska Jan. 1 was four per cent higher than a year ago, average daily gains in feedlots were 1.18 pounds below average. An aggregate loss of 1,865,580 pounds of beef "manufactured" daily in feedlots was computed, using "normal" prices and weather, 1973 cattle and feed prices and normal weather and 1973 or "actual" prices and weather.

Daily rate of gain this year was set at 1.68 lbs. per head per day on yearling steers being fed to slaughter weight of 1,100 lbs., compared to normal of 2.86 lbs. per day. In addition, death losses have been much higher this year, the figures show — in some cases as high as 10 per cent, compared to normal expectations of one to three per cent.

"To make matters worse," Henderson pointed out, "a much higher proportion of death losses have occurred late in the feeding period — after a substantial portion of the total feeding costs have been incurred."

The analysis included costs which might be experienced by farmer feeders having 200-300 head on feed at a time. Cost figures are based on past records of feeding costs, labor requirements and other inputs, and the actual experience of one eastern Nebraska cattle feeder this year.

Rising feed costs and the greater amount of feed required to fatten steers this winter and spring are reflected in estimates of $78.25 feed cost per animal under normal prices and weather conditions, $99.40 under 1973 prices, but assuming normal weather patterns, compared to a whopping $130 under 1973 actual conditions.

Other costs which have increased this year, largely due to the lengthened feeding period to achieve market weight, include variable power and machinery costs, labor costs, interest on both the steers and on operating expenses, and fixed costs on facilities.

A whopping estimated cost per one hundred weight of gain of $48.53 during the current feeding period compares to $29.05 under normal prices and weather and $24.94 under the hypothetical situation of 1973 prices and normal weather.

Total costs of putting the steer on the market are set at $509.12 under present conditions, compared to $454.77 under current prices but given normal weather conditions and $431.19 for normal prices and weather.

NU economists have concluded that the "break-even price" required for finished steers would be $39.20 under normal prices-weather, $41.34 under 1973 prices-normal weather but $46.28 under prevailing 1973 prices and weather.

However, the report pointed out, the average January-February, 1973 price of choice 1,100 to 1,300 lb. steers on the Omaha market was $41.42, nearly $5 per cwt. below the breakeven figure.

In commenting on the figures, Henderson noted that "costs (1973 actual conditions) are believed to be conservative estimates of those actually experienced by many feeders because conditions in the lot used as a basis for making adjustments are considerably better than in many, many lots."

"But even on the basis of costs shown, it is apparent that farmer feeders did not experience exorbitant profits this winter. In fact, it wasn't until cattle got up to the $45 level that farmer feeders were able to break even."

Henderson emphasized that the weekly average price of choice slaughter steers did not reach the cost of production level until the week of March 17-24, meaning that during adverse feedlot conditions in January and February, prices received for steers fell well below production costs.

A longer term effect of the slower turnover of cattle on feed means that properly taxes assessed against animals on hand January 1 must be averaged out over fewer animals during the year, Henderson analyzed. "Likewise the fixed costs on lots and equipment must be borne by fewer animals," he added.

Following Is a Telegram Sent Cost of Living Council By Ex-Cattle Feeder

To Dr. John Dunlop - Cost of Living Council
Washington, D. C.

I offer you my interest in cattle on feed, Parmer County Feedlot, Bovina, Tex., at my cost. When the government tells me I have to sell cattle to a non-existent market at a loss, it's time to get out of the cattle business and get a government position. I'll even take a job. Please advise what jobs are available in Washington, D. C. P.S. If I get the job I want you to guarantee me that I can buy my house, car, clothes, utilities, cigarettes, booze, boat, camper, fishing gear, etc. for less than cost. With a 40-hour work week instead of 60-70 I should have time to spend all that money and buy my steaks from you at less than cost. Also, please advise my return wire. An ex-cattle feeder, C. C. Nagle.

Farmers Can Save on Fuel, Tractor Wear

Farmers can save fuel during this fuel-short year and also save wear and tear on their tractors, according to statistics from the Tractor Testing Laboratory at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln East Campus.

According to Delbert E. Lane, NU Extension agricultural engineer, the savings can be made when pulling light loads by shifting up a gear and throttling back.

This will put more of a load on the engine and make it run more economically, he said.

However, he warned, care should be taken not to overload the engine. If there is no response or slow response when the throttle is opened quickly, the load is too big.

All of the tractors tested at the Nebraska Tractor Testing Laboratory in 1972 are more economical at 50 per cent pull, reduced throttle, than they are at 50 per cent pull, full throttle, Lane said.

The best used 1.82 gallons per hour less fuel and the worst used 0.142 gallon less.

With 100 hours of reduced throttle operation this amounts to 182 gallons less fuel for the best and 142 gallons for the worst, he said. Since few row crop machines have the same power requirements most field operations could be at reduced throttle, for a substantial saving in fuel.

Slower engine speeds and good loading, 70 to 80 per cent of full load, reduce the wear and tear on the engine, Lane said. The temperature in the engine is more uniform and the stresses from the rapidly moving parts are not as great. There also is not as much loss in the engine from pulling in the air that the engine needs.

"Considering all of these things, it is well to operate an engine near optimum loading and at a reduced speed, where at all possible," Lane concluded.

Still Time To Apply Herbicides

There's still plenty of time to apply pre-emergence herbicides for grass weed control in lawns, says John Furrer, extension agronomist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Actually, pre-emergence chemicals used late in the spring are most likely to give effective control of crabgrass and foxtail during late July and August, he says. Materials applied extra early could be reduced in effectiveness when needed most.

Dacthal, Betanex and Tuperan are the active ingredients in practically all pre-emergence weed control products sold for use on lawns. Products containing Tuperan can be used on new grass plantings.

Proper lawn preparation and application are just as important as chemical choice for effective pre-emergence lawn weed control Furrer says.

Start by removing all excess dead grass, trash and leaves from the lawn. Next apply the pre-emergence product as directed, distributing evenly. Double coverage at half rate in two directions assures more uniform distribution than a full rate applied in one direction.

Finally, water the chemical into the soil. Watering moves the material down where it can perform the intended job on germinating weed seeds.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Show Slides
The Clousdale 4-H Club held their meeting April 9 in the home of Art Greves.

The county extension agent presented slides of his trip to Florida and suggested that toll call be answered by naming projects and how many years of club work.

Tammy Meier was a guest. Gwen Victor gave a demonstration on cinnamon toast and Lori Tullberg presented a demonstration on hills and bike sandwiches. Oatmeal cookies were judged.

Next meeting will be May 14 in the home of Kathy and Kelly Murphy. News reporter, Corvita Meier.

Tips from Dairy Specialists

TWENTY-SIX youths from Northeast Nebraska got some tips on raising dairy cattle during a two-day dairy camp at the Northeast Station near Concord over the weekend. Don Kubik, dairy specialist at the research facility, explains some of the techniques of handling dairy cows during Friday night's opening session. Phil Cole, extension dairyman from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, was among the other speakers during the event. Also speaking: Bill Ehrisman, Boemer purebred Holstein breeder, and Dr. Alex Hogg, also with UNL extension. Area youths at the event include Pat Domsch, Deb Domsch, Carl Domsch and Gene Gosch, Wakefield; David Anderson and Dwight Anderson, Laurel; Cindy Bull and Renee Kniesche, Wayne; and Jim Loberg and Ken Loberg, Carroll.

beginning to get hungry for fresh green onions and radishes. Maybe you can get one of the kids to help her spade up a little patch for onions and lettuce.

All the plans you made at the kitchen table or in the barn last winter are put into action now. Any decisions made about spring plowing and planting will soon be done and can't be changed until next year.

While you're plowing you can make a few changes about planting more beans and milo and less corn, or maybe you'll plant all corn this year.

But now is the time when everything seems to come to life. The birds are singing and the trees are beginning to get a bud here and there. The pastures are getting greener and greener, even the yard is getting greener in a few places.

Everything seems to have had a swig of two of spring tonic. You're even glad to be back out working the good earth. Well, you were for a couple of days. Now, all of a sudden, you're so deep in work that has to be done today that you haven't time to enjoy anything about the new spring.

Now the mad rush is on again. And you patiently waited all winter for this?

4-H Club News

Elect Officers
The Wednesday Workers 4-H Club met April 10 in the home of Mrs. Oberg. Members answered roll by naming their favorite cookie or bar.

The meeting was led by Carolyn Muller. The 4-H pledge was led by Louaine Woodward and Lisa Roeber led in the pledge of allegiance.

Newly elected officers are Lisa Roeber, president; Geraldine Urbanic, vice-president; Karen Woodward, secretary; Carolyn Muller, treasurer; Karen Woodward, news reporter, and Mrs. Marvin Muller, organizational leader. Geraldine Urbanic was welcomed as a new member.

Members filled out their 4-H year book and chose projects for the coming year.

Next meeting will be April 30 in the home of Mrs. Oberg. Karen Woodward, news reporter.

Busy Bees

Becky Glassmeyer was hostess April 7 when the Busy Bees 4-H Club met in her home at 1:30 p.m. Sixteen members answered roll by bringing a baby picture. Mrs. Louise Spittiger, Pilger, was a guest.

Lesson leader was Mrs. Allen Spittiger and demonstrations were given by Gloria Spittiger, peanut butter cookies; Connie Gemelke, basting, and Kim Blocke, chopping celery.

The May 5 meeting will be in the home of Lori and Jan Mikkelson at 1:30 p.m. News reporter, Kim Blocke.

Hi-Raters

The Hi-Raters 4-H Club met at the Wayne County Courthouse April 12 at 8 p.m. Eleven members answered roll by giving ideas for a fair booth.

Membership pins were given to new members and Michael Rethwisch gave the speech which he plans to enter in the speech contest. A demonstration on making a quick-mix devil's food cake was given by Tim Maier.

Hosts for the meeting were the Elmer Wackers and the Lowell Rethwisches. The May 10 meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the courthouse.

Michael Rethwisch, news reporter.

Modern Misses

Twelve members of the Modern Misses 4-H Club met April 10 in the home of Jodi Fleer. Tim Dunlap was welcomed as a new member.

Jodi Fleer gave a demonstration on coffee cake. The club will host a skating party May 9 at the Wakefield roller rink.

Lori and Leslie Graunke will host the May 8 meeting.

Helping Hands

Helping Hands 4-H Club met Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the George Voss home. Twenty-one members answered roll by naming a famous person. Leaders, Mrs. William Holtgrew, Mrs. Dean Warren Holtgrew and Mrs. Dean Janke were also present.

Guests were Mrs. George Jaeger, Mrs. Edwin Vahlkamp, Mrs. Robert Jensen and Mrs. George Voss.

Demonstrations were given by Lisa Jensen on how to boil eggs; Eric Vahlkamp on how to refinish wood; Ron Holtgrew on how to make a wagon frame and Darci Janke on the difference in flowers.

Carla Berg, Lori Jensen, Della Holtgrew, Margie Vahlkamp and Brenda Voss were in charge of games.

Lunch was served by Brenda Voss and Eric and Margie Vahlkamp. The June 22 meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. in the Dean Janke home.

Lori Jensen, news reporter.

Loyal Lassies

All members of the Loyal Lassies 4-H Club met April 9 in the Marvin Dranselka home. Barb Schwartz was a guest.

Among the topics discussed were the speech contest, a skating party, a bowling party, a camp out and a tour.

Suggestions were given for changes in the fair book. Demonstrations were given by Laura Haese on curve stitching and Cindy Bull on modeling clay.

The May 8 meeting will be in the Harold Ekberg home. Deb Nelson, news reporter.

Present Speeches

Pleasant Valley 4-H Club met April 3 in the Martin Hansen home. Boys presented speeches of their choice in connection with the speech contest.

Cyril Hansen spoke on tractors and Roy Gramlich explained what makes a good 4-H leader.

The May 1 meeting will be in the Stanley Hansen home.

Area Pork Association Urges Producers Be Cautious at Market

"Pork producers should be extremely cautious in marketing their hogs during the next few days," warns LeRoy Wolfe of Coleridge, president of the Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers Association, "because establishing the ceiling prices of meat at wholesale and retail levels can't be accurately predicted overnight."

Pork producers must proceed with orderly marketing to stabilize prices and obtain the fullest benefit under the new price ceilings," he added.

That's also the advice of the National Pork Producers Council of Des Moines, who late in March advised the nation's pork producers to not panic, not hold their hogs and not rush underweight animals to market even in face of the 25 per cent drop in hog prices almost overnight.

The council advised all pork producers to proceed with their customary marketing procedures with caution until prices stabilized.

"Common sense and cool thinking were the requirements for bringing the price fluctuations under control," said J. Marvin Garner, NPPC executive vice president, "and we believe that pork producers, individually and as a group asserted their business management ability and reacted correctly to those violent market fluctuations."

The NPPC has requested Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz to investigate the events which led to that 25 per cent price drop, Garner explained.

These yo-yo prices have not only startled producers, but have been disastrous to many packers who operate with labor on a guaranteed weekly wage, according to Garner. Many had to close their plants, first because they couldn't move their product and later because they couldn't obtain enough hogs to slaughter, he said.

"Yes, pork producers had one of their best years in 1972," said Garner, "but they still earned only 83 per cent as much as their fellow citizens in the city. Consumers have got to realize that they are not only living but eating in 1973, and can't expect to eat at 1953 prices any longer. Pork and other meat producers can no longer subsidize the meat supply of this country. Higher meat prices are here to stay."

Now Is the Time for Just About Everything

The time is now. It's time to disk and drag the ground so you can sow oats. You'll probably keep one of the kids out of school to ride the seeder wagon unless you can talk the Mrs. into it.

If the oat field wasn't fertilized before planting, chances are you couldn't get a spreader. You have the Mrs. call the fertilizer company. Oh, well, you sure thought you told them when you wanted it right now. You want to get the fertilizer on and the oats dragged in before it rains.

And now is the time to put the fertilizer on the pasture and alfalfa. You thought about doing it last fall and again during that warm spell in February, but just didn't get around to it. Now you have to get it on if you want any results this year.

Now is the time to sow that new seeding of alfalfa since the old crop was beginning to thin out last fall. Maybe you can get the Mrs. to help.

Now is the time when that old tractor has to do its stuff! You almost wish you'd have traded it last winter when you were pricing the newer ones, but maybe it'll hold up until after cultivating.

Now is the time when Momma Pig has to take care of her little ones without any pampering from you three times a day. All the chores have to be cut down so the Mrs. and the kids can handle them.

Even Old Bossie will have to aggravate something else for a couple months. Funny how the Mrs. can get along with her when Old Bossie did nothing but cause you trouble all winter.

Now is the time to get the newly sharpened plow shares back on the plow. Cripes, you forgot to take them to the blacksmith shop. Well, you'll have to see if he can't do it right now.

The Mrs. says this time of the year does have a few good points. The noon meal is usually on time, and she can usually tell what you're going to be doing most of the day. That is, unless you break down.

Now is the time they usually bring the seed corn. Neighbor John could have told you that he was bringing it today. You haven't had time all winter to get that garage bench cleaned off, but now you'll have to do it.

Now is the time the Mrs. begins packages of garden seeds in the mailbox. She doesn't say too much yet, but you're sure to get it done.

ON JULY 1, 1972 NATURAL RESOURCES DISTRICTS
BECAME A REALITY IN THE STATE OF NEBRASKA.
THE FOLLOWING IS A LIST OF QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS MOST COMMONLY ASKED CONCERNING NRD'S.

—What are Natural Resources Districts? They are local subdivisions of government with an array of authorities to develop soil and water resources. The voters in each District will elect their own Board of Directors creating strong local governing boards in the field of natural resource development.

—What was the principal criteria for determining boundaries of Natural Resources Districts?
(x) Hydrology
(x) Include areas having common natural resources problems
( ) Soils
( ) Man made boundaries (for example — counties and townships)
( ) Building block delineations of State Planning Agency

—Are Natural Resource Districts just another layer of Government? No. There were 150 districts absorbed by the 24 Natural Resource Districts — 86 Soil and Water Conservation Districts, 58 Watershed Conservancy Districts, 3 Watershed Advisory Boards, 2 Watershed Planning Boards and 1 Watershed District.

—What is the requirement for eligibility to be a director of an NRD?
( ) Resident males over 21 years of age
( ) Landowners of the district
( ) Rural residents
( ) Urban dwellers
(x) Registered electors residing in the districts

—If a NRD wants a manager, who will he be?

(x) Employee appointed by the district board
( ) Executive Secretary of the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission
( ) District Conservator with the Soil Conservation Service
( ) County Agent
( ) State Senator from the area

—What programs are Natural Resource Districts authorized to develop? 1) specific programs, 1) erosion prevention and control, 2) prevention of damages from flood water and sediment, 3) flood prevention and control, 4) soil conservation, 5) water supply for any beneficial use, 6) development, management, utilization and conservation of ground water and surface water, 7) pollution control, 8) drainage improvement and channel rectification, 9) development and management of recreational and park facilities, 10) forestry and range development, 11) development and management of fish and wildlife habitat.

—Will Soil Conservation Service Offices remain at their present locations? Yes, and the Soil Conservation Service personnel will work with the Board of Directors of each Natural Resource District as they have been with the Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Supervisors in the past.

The Natural Resources District programs have to be coordinated with the State Water Plan, the State Comprehensive Plan of Development and the State Recreation Plan?
(x) Yes ( ) No

—Who will make up the initial Board of Directors? Those individuals who have been elected and are serving on current subdivisions of government that will be consolidated into Natural Resources Districts, that is, the Soil and Water Conservation Districts, Watershed Conservancy Districts, Watershed Planning Boards, Watershed Advisory Boards and Watershed Districts. The first election for each Natural Resource District will be in November 1974.

Can the NRD supply tree and seed stock and equipment to cooperators if it is readily available from private sources?
( ) Yes (x) No

—What source of revenue will the District have? For some purposes the Districts may obtain grants from the State, Federal and other Governmental units. Self-sustaining revenue will be available from the following possible sources: a tax levy of not to exceed one (1) mill on taxable property for projects of general benefit in the District; revenue bonds; special assessments from owners of property receiving benefits of local special benefit projects; investment of surplus funds; and borrowing. It is important to note that the Natural Resource District Legislation does provide for a maximum one tax mill authority, however, the same legislation eliminates the following tax authorities: Soil and Water Conservation District — $500,000.00 annually across the State through County Boards; Watershed Conservancy District — 2 mills; Watershed District — 2 mills; and Watershed Planning Boards — several thousand dollars through County Boards.

Are NRD's required to adopt any long-range plans for operations?
(x) Yes (1 yr. 6yr.) ( ) No

The Lower Elkhorn NRD is of the opinion that the Nebraska Legislation creating NRD's is progressive, positive and sensible. Natural Resource Districts should be most helpful in developing the Elkhorn River Basin as well as playing a big part in implementation of the Nebraska State Water Plan. Remember, Nebraska does have the potential and capability of being NUMBER ONE in Water Resource Development.

County Follows Trend Toward Bigger Debts

How much does the average family in Wayne County owe in the form of installment debt? To what extent are local residents using the buy-now, pay-later plan in their purchases of big ticket items? More than they did a year ago, according to the findings. There has been a steady increase in recent months, locally and elsewhere, in the use of installment credit.

Laurel School

Notice has been received by Laurel High School of the school's inclusion in the list of secondary schools approved for the 1972-73 school year by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The association approved the school system during their annual business meeting held in Chicago last month.

ers have finally loosened their purse strings, after a period of restrained buying, to purchase the cars, dishwashers, furniture, hi-fi equipment and other expensive articles that they have long been wanting. And, as spending for such items picks up, so does the demand for credit.

The net result, nationally, is that installment debt at the beginning of this year reached approximately $129 billion, or about $19 billion more than in January last year.

It was equivalent, on the average, to about 16 cents out of every dollar of family income after taxes.

In Wayne County, based upon the latest local income and spending figures and upon national studies by the Federal Reserve Board and others, the amount of installment debt outstanding is estimated at $1,310 per family.

That is the average. It ranges from no debt at all, in some families, to considerably more than average in others.

For the local population as a whole, the amount of installment debt at the end of the last fiscal year was close to $3,936,000.

The largest part of it consisted of loans for automobile purchases. The remainder was for other installment buying for personal loans and loans for home repair and modernization. Not in this category are mortgage debt, charge accounts and single payment loans.

Making repayments at a regular rate takes nearly $1 out of every $6 that a family has left after taxes.

In Wayne County, that amounts to $110 per month per family, on average.

The big question among bankers and credit men is whether the American public is taking on more debt than it can carry.

Their experience has been that most people use their credit with discretion and do not go overboard

Local Students On Dean's List

Jim Palmer of Wayne is the new president of Epsilon Pi Tau national honorary fraternity in industrial education at Wayne State College.

Other officers elected for the coming year are Rod Unger, Mondamin, Ia., vice-president; Merlin Oswald, Madison, secretary; Ed Hansler, Ralston, treasurer; and Terry Munter, Wayne, formerly of Cole ridge, publicity chairman.

The Wayne chapter also initiated new members, including three of the new officers, Palmer, Hansler and Unger, plus Rick Burt, Winslow; Harry Lindner, Wayne; Ivan Johnson, Pocahontas, Ia.; Claude Struve, Peterson, Ia.

Lawn Damage Showing Up

Hoadley, extension horticulturist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Also, this has been an excellent winter for snowmold disease to develop, he adds.

Dr. Hoadley recommends the following for persons hoping to have a healthy and attractive lawn this summer:

As soon as the soil dries and becomes firm enough to walk on, cut the lawn at 1 1/2 inches, collecting the clippings and debris. Subsequent mowings for cool season grasses should be at two inches until June 1, then raise the mower to three inches for the remainder of the summer.

Dead, matted areas can be the result of the past winter, but they might also indicate poor drainage, soil compaction, thatch, lack of fertility, or a poor choice of lawn grasses. It would be a mistake to reseed these areas until you diagnose the cause of the lawn problem.

Wyant: Beatrice State Home on the Grow

M. E. Wyant wants to thank cigarette smokers for their help. It was through cigarette sales taxes that Beatrice State Home was able to begin building a new activities building.

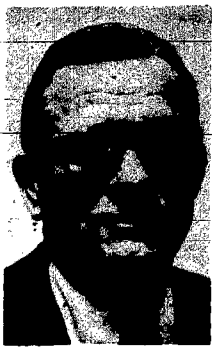

The high school-size gym, the superintendent said, is about one-fourth completed. Its projected cost is $495,000.

During Monday's Kiwanis luncheon, Wyant explained the Home has changed its name from the Nebraska Home for the Feeble Minded to its present name because things are changing at the institution.

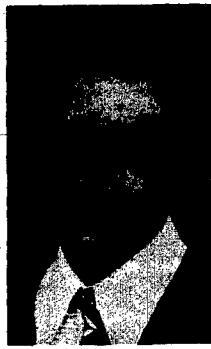

In 1887, two years after the home opened up, two people were the only patients. The rate of growth was slow, he noted, and it wasn't until 1968 that the population reached nearly 2,300.

The home at that time was considered a place to store the mentally retarded. As a result, few people came to the home," he said.

Wyant noted that the home is geared to help those who are mildly and moderately retarded to try to help them adjust to present working conditions so they can become a part of the community.

M. E. WYANT

In 1968 when the institution became overcrowded former Governor Norbert Tiemann appointed a task force to study the Beatrice Home and recommend improvements to upgrade the quality of help and provide better housing.

A year later the home received money and professional help to improve the programs to help the mentally retarded.

Wyant pointed out that helping the severely retarded is, not neglected. Presently the home is undergoing what Wyant labels a "great exodus" of people. He said out of the peak 2,300 population, already 1,280 have left the home.

"There is a population change," he said, "but some times it is hard to tell with so many people trying to get into the home for health care while at the same time quite a number of people are able to leave." Wyant credits part of the turnover to the foster-parent grant from the federal government. Those persons 65 years of age or older are allowed to work two to three hours a day helping the patients. "Their sole mission is to give tender loving care," he emphasized.

One problem, the home hasn't been able to solve, yet, he explained, is the high rate (40 per cent) in employee turnover.

One reason, he went on, is the low salary — $328 a month — offered to trained personnel. "We are trying to get the legislature to give us more money to improve the pay scale," he said.

Before closing, Wyant noted that the Kiwanis chapter in Beatrice has just completed a six-year program aimed at collecting $80,000 for a new chapel at the rest home. This is one of the great jobs completed by a Kiwanis chapter, he commended.

Prior to Wyant's talk, Duane Upton was initiated into Kiwanis. Upton is with Consolidated Engineers, which has an office in Wayne.

Easter Seal Drive In County Nears End

The 1973 Nebraska Easter Seal Society fund campaign is nearing completion, says Leon Meyer, Wayne County Easter Seal chairman.

County residents have been asked to participate in the fund drive in a variety of ways. For the first time rural residents were given the opportunity to participate in the unique Neighbor to Neighbor program. Through this, residents placed their Easter Seal contributions in the kit and passed it along to their neighbors.

Residents of Wayne were also invited to use this method of contributing.

But if persons chose not to contribute in this way, there was another option. Many Wayne County residents were also contacted by letters telling of the work the Nebraska Easter Seal Society does for the handicapped.

"We are not asking for two donations from people," Meyer said. "We are just trying to give Wayne County residents a choice on how they would like to give to Easter Seals."

Easter Seal service in Nebraska includes transportation to medical centers and special schools; physical and speech therapy; day and resident camping; equipment such as wheelchairs, braces and orthopedic shoes and scholarships. Of all funds raised in Nebraska through Easter Seals, 96 per cent of it stays in the state to directly serve the handicapped.

The 1973 campaign will end Easter Sunday.

Scout-O-Rama To Be May 5 At Wakefield

The annual Scout O Rama for Cub Scout and Boy Scout packs and troops in the five county Lewis and Clark District will be held at Wakefield Saturday, May 5.

The 1 to 6 p.m. event will feature exhibits, contests and displays of scouting skills and work.

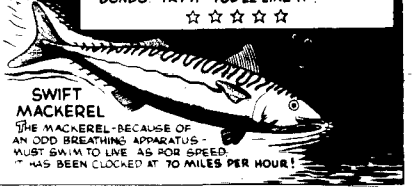

Tickets may be obtained from Cub and Boy Scouts.

Cost of Food Just 1 Reason For Gardening

The increasing cost of food is just one good reason for growing a home vegetable garden, says a home vegetable garden extension specialist.

New varieties have been developed for the home garden which can produce superior quality vegetables compared to produce shipped in from distant areas, according to Dr. Brent Hoadley.

Volunteer Fire Chief Urges Making A Date With EDITH May 12

Wayne volunteer fire chief Cliff Pinkeiman is urging all residents of Wayne to make a date with EDITH on Saturday, May 12.

It could be one of the most important dates in your life, he says.

EDITH is the operation in which all citizens of Wayne and surrounding communities are urged to practice an Exit Drill In The Home.

Only by planning escape routes and then rehearsing procedures can residents of Wayne and other towns be sure of knowing how to act in case of a fire or other emergency, he said.

"Operation EDITH is a good way for the people to plan what to do so lives won't be lost when fires do occur," he said.

The Wayne volunteer fire department and several other volunteer departments in the area are promoting EDITH along with groups across the state.

"About 6,500 people die every year from fires in their own homes in the United States, and some 500 in Canada," declared the fire chief.

"National Fire Protection Association studies indicate the majority of these lives could be saved if people had planned escape routes in their homes and had practiced emergency escape procedures.

"Every family is urged to draw up an escape plan now, working on the basic principle of two ways out of every room. Then be ready to practice what you have planned on the evening of Saturday, May 12.

At 8:30 p.m. that night, the signal will be given, and it is hoped that every family will go through their own exit drill, according to the fire chief.

VA Q & A

Q. I recently read where the Veterans Administration operates 148 hospitals. Just how many veterans do they treat?

A. A record high of about one million veterans will receive VA hospital care in fiscal year 1973, the greatest number in history, and 150,000 more than the record number treated in fiscal year 1972. Outpatient medical care will go up from 9.2 million visits to nearly 11 million, compared to about 7 million visits in 1969.

Q. It seems to me that even the small-town Veterans Administration hospitals have young medical trainees around and they sure brighten up the place. Are all VA hospitals helping train health workers?

A. Yes. All of the 1968 VA hospitals are now affiliated with colleges and universities for training purposes. About 62,000 medical and allied health trainees will receive clinical experience in VA hospitals this year.

Top Prices For Meat Now Posted

All retail food stores, food wholesalers and packers should now have their meat ceiling prices computed and conspicuously posted, says James W. Friel, IRS economic stabilization manager for Nebraska.

Friel urged meat customers to report violations of posting requirements and ceiling prices to the IRS for investigation.

Retail firms that have not posted ceiling prices or paired price lists in accordance with regulations will be advised by the IRS to comply promptly. Firms which fail to comply will be issued a notice of violation and face a potential penalty of $2,500 per day for each pricing division or zone not in compliance from the date the notice was issued, he said.

Any firm receiving a Notice of Violation may request a conference with the IRS.

Firms found to be charging prices for meat above the authorized ceiling price are also in violation and IRS investigators will document the amount of overcharge and issue a letter of findings to the firm, Friel noted. The letter will order an immediate rollback to the authorized price and disgorgement of the total amount of overcharge to the market place.

Firms overcharging and failing to comply after being given the opportunity to do so will be referred to the Cost of Living Council in Washington, D.C. They face triple damages and penalties over and above damages.

Computer Helping Design Safer Highways

Provides Accident Facts for Every 500 Feet of Ontario Motor Roads

Ontario's highways are some of the most closely watched roads in the world. Since 1945, the province has built up an accident reporting system that gives Ministry of Transportation and Communications personnel an accurate picture of the accident rate and traffic volume for every 500 feet of the 13,000 miles of highway in the province.

One of the originators of the program, Tom Mahony, MTC's Administrator of Transportation Safety, worked closely with the Ontario Provincial Police to set up a key point system in 1947.

"The province is divided into 17 O.P.P. districts and we related our system to this division," he explains. "In each district we agreed to designate well-known points such as junctions of highways, district boundaries, or county lines as reference or key points."

"We also established the mileage between these points.

Accidents Noted

"If an accident occurred at one of these points or near them, the investigating officer was asked to note this on the collision report.

"Eventually, the key points were situated every 500 feet or 1/10th of a mile on the highway, and we gradually got a very detailed picture of what was happening on the road."

Mahony further explained that this knowledge greatly assisted highway engineers in the planning and design of highways. In addition, Traffic Engineers gain precise knowledge of the effect of lane markings or other physical aspects of the road on drivers.

When the system was first set up, copies of the accident report were sent to Mahony and processed by the former Department of Highways. Inevitably however, the computer began to play a large role in the program.

Paul de Valence, Computer Services Project Engineer, explained that in early 1968, accident data was fed into the computer.

"At that time," he said, "we were using the old collision report form and since it was not designed for use by a computer, we set about codifying all the data. Of course, the O.P.P., local police, and at that time, the Department of Transport were also doing the same thing."

Close to Automation

One year ago, all police forces in Ontario began to use a new collision report form. Says de Valence, "This form has taken us one step closer to complete automation, which will no doubt come within five years and is a tremendous achievement when you consider we have to process approximately 150,000 collision reports annually."

But does this vast information gathering network affect the final design of highways?

"It certainly does," says Mahony. Out of all the data comes a book called Traffic Volumes and Collision Rates. "We watch the collision rates rather closely and if a particular stretch of road starts to record a collision rate higher than the provincial average, we identify it as a problem area and try to find out what's wrong.

"We base our collision rate on the number of accidents occurring per million vehicle miles of travel. The fatality or death rates, however, are based on 100 million vehicle miles of travel."

Mahony says that the difference in the method of computing collision and death rates is simply the result of a policy decision to follow the system set out by the U.S. National Safety Council. "The resulting figures are easier to handle and compare to U.S. figures," he says.

Liaison Important

Personal liaison with the O.P.P. officers in the province is important. Mahony, accompanied by Ministry of Transportation and Communications engineers, meets with O.P.P. officers on a regular annual basis to discuss traffic problems and methods of resolving these conflicts.

There are 186 O.P.P. detachments in 17 districts around the province and representatives from each detachment attend district meetings. Says Mahony, "We follow up on all their complaints, suggestions and observations. Their comments in many instances enable us to carry out studies of potential accident locations."

First-Hand View

Mahony augments his impression of the statistics with his own first-hand experience by travelling 15,000 miles a year to collision scenes and trouble spots.

According to Mahony, to a certain extent, the re-design of Highway 400 between Toronto and Barrie and Highway 11 north of Barrie, the re-design of Wheels of computer tape help solve the problems of wheels on the highway at Ontario's Ministry of Transportation and Communications' transportation safety center. The tapes store information on the rate of accidents and traffic volume for every 500 feet of the 13,000 miles of highway in the province. Thus any factors of highway design that affect safety can be determined and corrected. (Ontario Traffic Safety photo.)

Queen Elizabeth Way and the construction of highway 417 to replace highway 17 east of Ottawa are dramatic examples of collision statistics affecting high level policy decisions.

HERE'S YOUR TICKET TO CAREFREE MOTORING

Perhaps one definition of a young old-timer is someone who recalls those long railroad passenger tickets. On a cross-country trip, a ticket could be several feet in length, with each coupon representing one stop on the journey. Since the automobile now carries about 85 percent of all vacation travelers, it might be a good idea to resurrect the old train ticket to remind the motorist of vital services. Each portion of the "Carefree Car Vacation" ticket above describes a service that will help keep your car in top condition during your vacation. Car Care Council suggests that you use it as a reminder when getting these services performed at your favorite service facility. In that way you'll be sure that you're on the right track every mile you're on the road.

TUNE-UP

Good for surer starting, better gasoline mileage, peppier performance, reducing harmful emissions.

Should include new spark plugs, points, condenser; distributor and wiring check; set timing, compression test and servicing of anti-pollution devices.

Also battery, electrical system and carburetor check.

LUBRICATION

Good For Optimum Wear of Vital Moving Parts.

Change oil and filter, lubricate the chassis and check all hydraulic fluid levels.

TIRES & WHEELS

Good For Longer Tire Wear.

Check Tires For General Condition and Rotate Them. Check wheel alignment and balance.

BRAKES

Good For Safe Stopping.

Have linings inspected, seals, fluid and adjustments checked.

COOLING SYSTEM

Good For Preventing Overheating.

Clean and flush and refill with fresh anti-freeze. Check thermostat, fan belt, water pump, hoses and radiator cap.

SHOCKS

Good For Smoother Ride, Better Control on the Road. Check for condition.

VISIBILITY

Good For Safe Vision.

Check windshield wipers, washer system, headlights, turn signals, backup and brake lights.

Auto Transmissions Make Driving Easy and Pleasurable

By JODY CARR

Other than the self starter, probably nothing has contributed more to driving pleasure than the automatic transmission. As trouble-free as this complicated mechanism is, it is not indestructible. There are a few things which can shorten its life.

Jody Carr

For example: a driver stalls his car at a traffic light, finally gets it running again and, with engine roaring, moves his shift lever to "D". Or on a steep upgrade, he is waiting for a red light to turn green. He uses the gas pedal instead of the brake, allowing the engine to hold him in position.

If cars could talk, his would cry!

These are two of the most common abuses to which automatic transmissions are subjected. But there are more.

Have you ever seen someone park by giving the car ahead (or behind) a good solid nudge to make extra space? If the nudged car is in "park," a little gadget inside the transmission can be broken. This happened more than once.

Use your parking brake instead of "park" whenever there is a possibility of being bumped or pushed by another car.

While we're on the subject of "park," NEVER move your shift lever to "park" while the car is in motion. This can have the same unfortunate result as being bumped.

Some drivers manage to put their cars in reverse while they are going forward. Although the automatic transmission has a special locking device to prevent this from happening, who knows if the device is working?

The jar when a wheel suddenly contacts dry surface after spinning fast on ice can be disastrous to a transmission. So can extended periods of pushing or being pushed.

Treat your automatic transmission with respect and the care recommended in your owner's manual, and it will keep shifting for you for years and years.

Abuse it, and you may be faced with a whopping repair bill.

Competency Examinations Help Mechanics Earn Certification

If a car with an automatic transmission starts in all selector positions, what is the cause of the malfunction? What must be done to correct disc brakes that are overly sensitive to light pedal pressure?

In 165 cities throughout the country late this fall, mechanics will be answering similar questions contained in a four-part series of tests. Successful completion of the battery will demonstrate that an individual has the necessary competence and skills to be certified as a General Automobile Mechanic.

The voluntary mechanic certification program is the first project of the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence. Headquartered in Washington, D.C., the independent, non-profit body was organized by concerned segments of the vehicle service industry to improve the quality of automobile repairs through testing and educational projects.

The Institute will work with the public government and the service industry to create new approaches, new methods that will help bring into being improved automobile servicing standards and reliable measurements of service competency.

10. If the accelerator-pump inlet check ball is accidentally left out of a carburetor, which of the following is the most likely result?

Here reproduced from one of the Institute for Automotive Service Excellence manuals are some of the types of questions those who will be taking the tests must cope with in earning certification as a General Automobile Mechanic.

Tuesday evenings, mechanics will take an 80-question, multiple-choice examination on one of the four automobile areas in which a good mechanic should have knowledge.

Those passing all four tests and who have at least two years of automobile work experience will be certified. The recognition certificate will be valid for three years after which time a recertification test will be necessary.

Each test will cost $10 and if the mechanic so chooses he may spread out completion of the battery over a one or two year period. Although he is recognized for successfully completing each part, full certification will not be granted until all four tests have been passed.

The certification examinations were developed by Educational Testing Service, a nationally-known organization which will also administer and score the tests.

The questions do not relate to specific vehicle makes or models — domestic or imported, but focus instead on basic systems. The first covers power plants—a car's basic engine, fuel induction, ignition and exhaust systems. The second asks questions about transmissions, clutches, drive-lines and axles.

Test number three involves suspension steering and brake systems while the final test covers starting and charging systems, basic body, electrical and air-conditioning systems.

Those mechanics who do not pass the tests the first time, may retake an exam when it is again offered six months later. It was emphasized that mechanics who are competent in a given test area should pass the first time. Those who do not will find out in which areas skills are lacking so that they may prepare accordingly for eventual certification.

Complete details of the program are contained in a Bulletin of Information which may be requested by writing to: Certified Mechanic Program, Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 2811, Princeton, New Jersey 08580.

RFI 'Ear' Pollution Ills Becoming Thing of Past

There's air pollution and there's ear pollution.

Both conditions are in part attributable to the automobile. While curing air pollution, caused by excessive harmful emissions, is being brought under control, it still remains an environmental problem.

Fortunately ear pollution in the form of radio signal interference has been eliminated and will not be a problem if proper maintenance is practiced.

According to Champion Spark Plug Company, two major developments have controlled radio interference (RFI). In the past, noise from the automotive ignition system has interfered with radio signals. As a result, radio and television reception in cars and in the home have been interrupted by electrical interference emanating from passing vehicles (much in the way a vacuum cleaner in operation will distort radio and TV reception in the same room).

With the development of resistor-type ignition cables and resistor spark plugs, RFI is virtually eliminated. Cars manufactured today come equipped with the resistor cables. In most new cars, resistor-type spark plugs also are original equipment.

When replacing resistor cables and resistor-type spark plugs, make certain your service man uses RFI-suppressing replacement components. Cables should be replaced, according to one manufacturer, at about 38,000 miles or when cracked or otherwise damaged. Plugs should be replaced at 10,000 miles as part of a tune-up.

That way, you'll be doing your share to make RFI ear pollution a thing of the past.

How to Assure a Joyful Vacation

Make Certain Your Car Is Ready for Safe Trouble-Free Motoring

Is your car in shape for the strenuous schedule of summer travel you have planned? Or, like too many in this country, is it a candidate for an exasperating, expensive and possibly dangerous breakdown?

It's a lamentable fact that too many motorists will expect a thoroughbred's performance from a car that is, in fact, more like a candidate for the Swayback Derby.

Study after study shows that in critical safety and performance areas, the average car is not equipped to handle the long, hard driving most vacation trips require.

Why is this so? Why do John and Jane Owner allow their cars to deteriorate?

Champion Spark Plug Company recently conducted a survey which sought to determine the reasons for tune-up neglect. While the survey concentrated on tune-up, it is probable, that the rationalizations given for not buying needed tune-up apply to other maintenance musts as well.

The major reasons cited were:

My car is running fine just the way it is.

I don't have time.

I don't have the money.

As plausible as these reasons may have seemed to the motorists, they often defy either fact or logic (or both).

Consider these facts.

Are most cars running fine just the way they are? Not according to compulsory vehicle check lanes or private diagnostic clinics.

More than half the cars inspected at these facilities show dangerous safety and operational defects, many of them unknown to the car owner.

Is "I don't have time" a valid excuse?

Certainly, most people live busy, active lives. But a busy person soon learns that to accomplish what he must, he has to schedule activities.

It may be inconvenient to bring a car in for service but it's even more inconvenient to ruin a vacation trip by having an undermaintained car break down in a strange location.

Who said, "I don't have the money"?

Few of us have all the money we need. But a few dollars spent on preventive maintenance can save a lot of dollars spent on corrective maintenance. A squirt of lubricant often can forestall the breakdown of an expensive part.

Certainly, there are reasons and excuses for everything. But you've invested too much money in your car to allow it to deteriorate. And you'll be investing too much hard-earned time and money on your vacation to let it be spoiled by a malfunctioning car.

Bring your car in for a pre-vacation check at your favorite service outlet and really enjoy your summer driving.

Car Care Makes Roads Carefree

A scenic highway is a great place to enjoy life on a vacation trip. When a car is purring along the open road, the cares of the shop and the office seem as remote as the moon. That's why the smart car owner will make sure his vehicle is in shape for the trip — to keep those troubles remote. For, somehow, a beautiful stretch of highway can become a nightmare if your car is disabled along the shoulder. Care for Your Car to make sure every mile you travel is a joyous one.

ADVICE TO WOMEN

who DRIVE... and MEN, Too...

from DeDe BENNIN... a woman who does

Dear DeDe:

My husband is a commercial pilot and understandably is very finicky about the condition of his plane. But what drives me batty is that he is also a dingbat when it comes to our car. We are always late wherever we go because Bob insists on performing what he calls a "pre-flight check" before he gets into the car. He checks the tires, the wipers, the oil and water and a dozen other items before he'll even move out of the driveway. I'm all for safety but don't you think he's carrying this thing too far?

Mrs. R.W.

Chicago, Illinois

Dear Mrs. R.W.:

Perhaps your husband is carrying things too far. But, if he is, at least he's on the side of the angels. (A good place for a pilot to be.) Too many motorists pay no attention to fundamentals like proper tire pressure, oil levels, good wipers and other basics necessary for trouble-free performance. At best, neglect can lead to premature deterioration of the car. At worst, carelessness can lead to a serious accident. Bear with your husband's carefulness. He wants to fly now and drive later in a safe manner.

Dear DeDe:

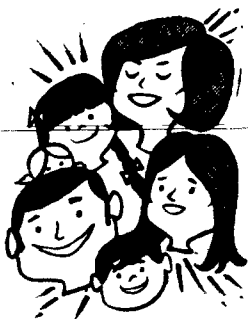

Will you please help me out of a tight spot at home? I just met Jeff and he's the kind of guy I could get serious over. There's only one trouble. Jeff has his heart set on being a race driver. When my parents heard that, they blew their stacks and forbade me to see Jeff again. Now, I've driven with Jeff a number of times and he's a lot safer driver than some of the boys my parents approve of. How can I convince my parents to let me go out with Jeff?

WRONG TRACK WINNIE
Mobile, Alabama

Dear Winnie:

You are right in one respect. Successful race drivers are the safest drivers in the world. They must adhere to the rules of the road and have their cars in the best possible condition to be successful. Why not arrange for a double date with your parents with Jeff driving. Once they see he's a better bet at the steering wheel than the average driver, you two may reach the winner's circle together.

Enjoy summertime travels

How to Get Maximum Safe Miles Out of Tires, Told by Expert

By RODGER WARD

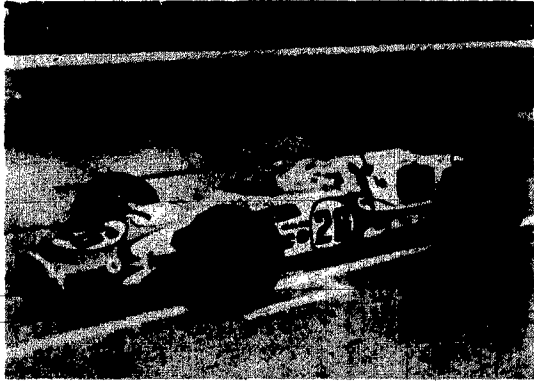

I've learned a lot about tires and what makes them last longer, perform better, thanks to my years as a race car driver and professional tire tester. Now that I have a performance safety tire on the market with my name on it I'm even more interested in seeing that motorists everywhere get the right facts on prolonging tire life.

The tricks to getting those extra miles of tire life aren't all connected solely with the condition or quality of the tires installed on a car however. Improved driving techniques will help extend tire life, as will taking care of your car's tires from time to time. I have a list of seven things to do that I know will prolong the life of your tires.

WATCH THAT INFLATION: Perhaps the greatest single determining factor in tire mileage is the air pressure at which tires are run. Check the owner's manual for your car — this is where the load range data will be useful — and follow the recommended air pressure for the tires you now use.

The Department of Transportation estimates that some 33 million tires a year are destroyed by under-inflation. This represents a loss of some $750 million to car owners. So remember, the few minutes a simple tire pressure check takes will save you money.

If you get a tire that is larger than normally called for on a given car, this is all right — as long as the wheel rim will accept the larger tire. Undersized tires could fall you in a stress situation. An undersized tire will not safely carry the weight of your car and its payload.

Another point about tire sizes. Be sure that the same tire sizes are in service on the same axle.

CUTS, BRUISES AND BUBBLES: Tires that have sustained actual damage are a serious safety hazard. A sidewall cut can let go when it's least expected, sometimes with disastrous results. So for safety's sake check your tires for cuts, bruises and bubbles.

This kind of checking must be done with the tire free of the road, so that it can be spun and checked on the entire circumference of the tread as well as the sidewall that faces into the car. If the tire rubber is abraded over a considerable distance, and the tire looks as though it may be damaged, there's only one thing to do. Have the tire removed and the inside checked for possible cord damage.

Bubbles that indicate rubber layer separation are cause for immediate replacement also. A young tire with a sidewall bubble should be taken back to the point of purchase for warranty consideration.

SUSPENSION ADJUSTMENTS CRITICAL TOO: Proper alignment of a car's front-end will help to get more miles out of a set of tires. And if you rotate tires regularly, accurate front-end alignment will improve the wear of all road tires.

Another point to remember is that shock absorbers also should be checked regularly for effectiveness and correct operation. If the shocks are weak they won't keep those tires on the road and frequent bouncing impact will take its toll in shortened tire life.

High-mileage cars should have their ball joints checked since wear of these components also can lead to rapid tire wear. Maintaining regular wheel balance is another key to longer tire life. The wheels should be balanced according to the car maker's suggestions, or when you feel any unusual minor vibration in the chassis or steering.

STARTS, STOPS, CORNERS AND CURBS: Even if you're in a hurry, you should take your time when pulling away from a stop. On the other side of the coin, you should never as a habit use the panic stop, or other such hard-driving techniques as late breaking, unless you absolutely must as an evasive maneuver.

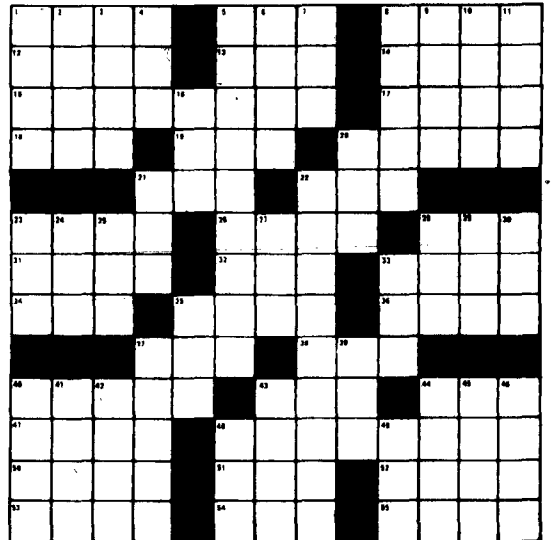

Taking corners and curves at high speeds is one of the best ways I know to reduce tire mileage. When your car builds up a lot of forward momentum, and you ask the tires to absorb the sideways force of a quick turn, you're burning rubber.

If you must drive over curbs or driveway entrances where you work or where you live, take them very slowly. A curb taken at high speed can do more damage to ply cords than the average driver knows, and a wheel can be deformed or even destroyed.

WATCH THE WEATHER: When the weather turns extremely cold, tire pressure drops approximately one pound for every 10° F drop

HELPFUL HINTS FOR SAFE DRIVING

When an engine misses as the car is accelerated but runs fine at light load or idle, the probable reason is that a worn plug may misfire because of increased compression pressure at heavy load.

In temperature. Conversely, tire pressure increases by one pound for every 10° F rise in temperature.

Regular tire pressure checks should catch pressure changes due to temperature shifts. But the driver who travels from a cold northern state to a warmer part of the nation — or vice versa — should be particularly alert to the need for tire pressure adjustments.

TURNPIKES & FREEWAYS: Finally, a tip that will destroy one of the oldest and most harmful myths about tire wear.

Ask almost any driver how he should prep his tires before doing any prolonged high-speed driving and he'll tell you to take out some air. And he'd be wrong. You're supposed to add air — about 4 psi over normal, in fact.

Some ignition problems don't show themselves except in wet weather. That's when cracked insulation is most likely to fail. Avoid trouble by having boots and cables inspected when you buy new spark plugs.

If you should be adding water to your car's battery, be careful not to overflow. Spilled acid will attack metal hold-downs, cables and other parts adjacent to the battery.

When cleaning your windshield, don't force the wiper blades aside. Some of the late model electrically driven wipers can be permanently damaged by forcing them to another position.

Time to Summerize Recreational Vehicles

Removal of All Signs of Winter Recommended as First Step To Roadworthy Operation

"Before making extensive summer use of a recreational vehicle, owners should first make sure it is properly de-winterized," says Mike Radigan, National Director of the Recreational Vehicle Institute. He referred to the process of readying an RV for hot weather use as "summerizing" and said the first step in summerizing is to remove signs of winter.

"Anti-freeze should be drained from the radiator and fresh water should be back-flushed through the cooling system," the RVI head suggests.

"Engine oil should be changed and summer oil used — a new oil filter should be installed. At the same time, it is a good idea to have the entire chassis lubricated.

"It shouldn't be necessary to change transmission fluid or differential oil but these should at least be checked, as should the power steering oil.

Check Spark Plugs

"Master cylinder brake fluid should also be checked."

Other steps toward "summerizing," according to Radigan, include cleaning and gapping (or replacing) spark plugs and points, recharging battery condition, checking and replacing if necessary such items as light bulbs, windshield wiper blades, muffler and tail pipe, springs and shock absorbers.

Radigan also suggested front end alignment checks, inspection of tires and a general underneath check for damage of any kind.

"As for the living quarters, the water storage tank should be thoroughly flushed out to remove any anti-freeze you may have used and to clean out the tank and water lines. Thorough flushing should continue for at least 15 minutes," the RVI director advises.

Look for Leaks

"This is a good time to make sure your pump is working properly and that there are no leaks anywhere in your water system," Radigan advised, suggesting similar treatment for the holding tank.

He emphasized that special attention should be paid to appliances including range, furnace, refrigerator, water heater, etc., and said that gas appliances should be carefully tested for correct pilot flames, in accordance with manufacturers' instructions.

Remember These

"An additional check of all windows, doors, ventilators, cabinets, and a little oil or graphite on noisy or stiff hinges... a final check of your interior lights, careful inspection of your hitch and safety chains, and you should be ready for a summer full of fun," Radigan concluded.

Adventurous vacationers who want to take their camper trailers off the beaten path into scenic areas such as the above — with its magnificent view of the Grand Tetons — will do well to make sure their rigs are checked thoroughly before they consider off-road maneuvers.

Some Motor Accidents Traced to Missed Meal

Abnormally low blood-sugar levels, induced by missed meals, may be a direct cause of accidents.

This is the view of Miss M. S. Christian, Head of the Accident and Emergency Department at Wexham Park Hospital, Slough, England. In accident studies she found that several truck drivers who crashed for no apparent reason had extremely low blood-sugar levels.

In three cases, the drivers were either confused, faint or ill but each recovered after a shot of intravenous glucose and a meal. None of them was diabetic and all were young and healthy. The common factor was that each driver had at least 12 hours' starvation.

This new danger was discovered by Miss Christian during a survey she is undertaking of the "unknown factors" in road accidents.

The survey, which will also look into the effects of such factors as tranquilizers and diabetes, includes a question to establish the relationship between the time of the accident and the last meal.

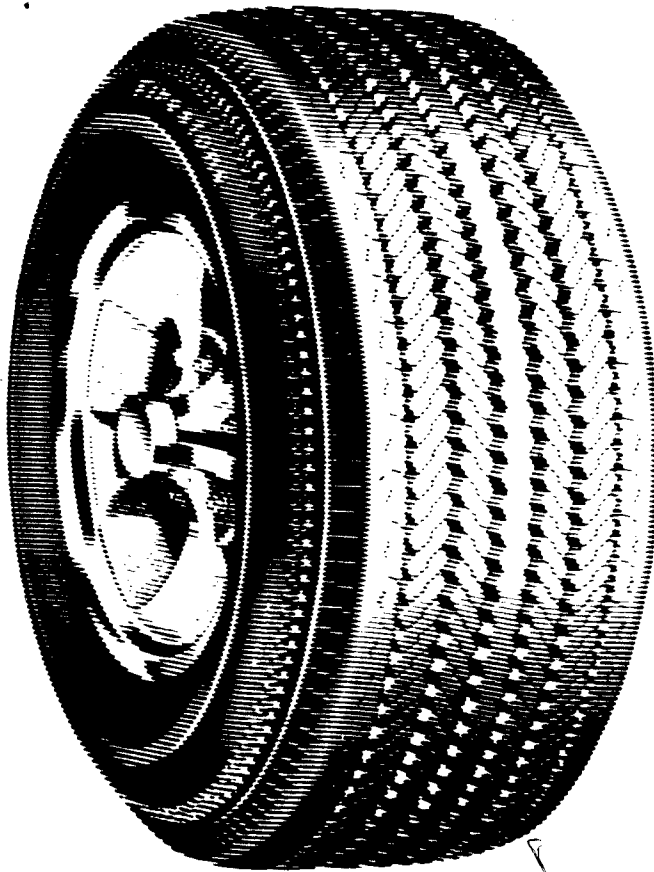

Symptoms associated with low blood-sugar are weakness, drowsiness, dizziness, mental confusion, double vision, aggression and other abnormal behavior. Because symptoms can show at levels not much lower than those after the normal 12 hour overnight fast, anyone undertaking a long journey should not skip a meal.

Truck drivers who make early starts without breakfasts are obviously at risk but so may be people on slimming diets. Just how widespread the problem is is not known, but clearly should be a matter of concern.

STEEL RADIALS 40,000 MILE TIRES

STEEL RADIAL 500

The top of the great Firestone "500" line! This tire combines the strength of steel with the long mileage, superb handling and traction provided by Firestone radial construction. Two tough steel belts under the wide tread offer outstanding resistance to road hazards and keep the tread firm on pavement enabling us to guarantee 40,000 miles of treadwear.

Prices plus taxes and tire off your car. Blackwalls available in some sizes.

RADIAL V-I STEEL

This wide 70 series tire features precise handling and excellent traction PLUS Firestone laminated steel construction. One steel stabilizer belt is compressed between four rayon stabilizer belts—a total of five belts under the tread for exceptional impact and cut resistance. The aggressive European-type tread is guaranteed for 40,000 miles of wear.

40,000 MILE GUARANTEE

The Firestone Steel Radial 500 and Radial V-I Steel are guaranteed to give you 40,000 miles of treadwear in normal passenger use on the same car. If they don't, take your guarantee to any Firestone Store or participating Dealer. He'll replace the tire with a new one and give you credit for the mileage not received based on the then current adjustment price (approximate national average selling price) plus Federal excise tax. A small service charge may be added.

Tune-Ups Most Vital in Coping with Pollution

Progress in Fight for Cleaner Air Calls for Regular Car Maintenance

If you're adept at creating HC, CO and NOx, you may get a good grade in a chemistry class. But you'll be flunking in a more important area, helping protect the nation's environment.

The three chemical designations are the elements of the harmful emissions that are byproducts of fuels that power automobile engines. They are part of the air pollution problem.

HC (or hydrocarbons) is a scientific designation for fuel. The amount of fuel that is unburned and enters the atmosphere through exhaust or vaporization is one element that, when exposed to sunlight, creates smog.

Invisible Gas

Another smog-creating byproduct of combustion is NOx (nitrogen oxide). CO (carbon monoxide) does not create smog but enters the atmosphere as an odorless, tasteless and invisible gas. In enclosed areas, such as the interior of a car, CO can be lethal.

If automotive fuel were burned to 100 per cent efficiency, the byproducts would be H<sub>2</sub>O and CO<sub>2</sub>. H<sub>2</sub>O is water and CO<sub>2</sub> is carbon dioxide, both harmless to the atmosphere.

Fortunately, all signs point to the near-future time when the automobile will no longer be a significant part of the air pollution problem. One indication of this trend is that today, more than 85 per cent of automobile-caused pollution comes from cars built before 1968.

Later-model cars, incorporating anti-pollution devices, have become a minor part of the problem.

In fact cars built today create only 10% of the pollutants as did cars manufactured in the early 1960's.

As the older cars are scrapped, the pollution picture in this country is brightening significantly. And as devices such as after-burners or catalytic converters are introduced in a few years, cars will be virtually pollution-free, according to the car manufacturers.

Maintenance Needed

Despite all the efforts and money invested by the car makers, the fight against air pollution will not be totally successful unless the car owner adheres to a schedule of maintenance.

The service most vitally affecting emissions is tune-up.

According to tests conducted by the University of Michigan and the State of New Jersey, a tuned engine produces about 50 per cent fewer pollutants than the same engine in need of tune-up (at idle).

SEE AND BE SEEN!

Among the most common reasons for rejection at vehicle inspection stations throughout the country are items affecting visibility. In some areas as high as a 50 percent rejection rate occurs on items such as lights and windshield wiper and washer systems.

Experts say that headlight aiming should be checked several times a year. Wiper blades should be replaced every six months.

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that if you drive a car an average of 10,000 miles per year its spark plugs have probably fired some 15 million times during that period? That's why they should be serviced at 5,000 miles and replaced at 10,000 miles.

National Check Your Vehicle Emissions Month in April was established in the U.S.A. to remind motorists that engines in good condition do not pollute excessively. Many service facilities like this one offered clean engine checks to help combat air pollution. Mechanics perform a 15-minute check of vital engine components to see whether the car is a polluter or not.

Rotary Engines Still Require Maintenance

Some experts say the Wankel (rotary) engine is the automotive power source of the future. Other equally qualified authorities maintain that the present-day piston engine, although modified, will be with us for an indefinite period.

No matter who is correct, two facts are beyond dispute. The rotary engine is already an on-the-road reality. And this rotary engine, despite its simplified design, will continue to require regularly scheduled maintenance.

However, as different as the rotary engine is, there are still familiar basic maintenance needs. The rotary engine uses a conventional ignition system. So periodic tune-up is as important to the Wankel-type engine as it is to the piston engine.

The Mazda version of the rotary employs two rotors (combustion chambers) and each rotor uses two spark plugs, or four per engine. These plugs fire three times in each engine revolution and the combustion chamber environment in which they perform is much more demanding than in a conventional engine. As a result, service or replacement is recommended at 4,000 miles.

Since two plugs are used per rotor, two separate distributors are needed to fire the plugs in proper sequence. In other respects the Mazda ignition system is normal. Therefore, when tuning the engine, attention should be paid to:

- Cleaning, regapping or replacing spark plugs
- Compression check
- Carburetor check
- Idle and timing settings
- Condition of distributor components
- Spark plug wiring
- Air, oil and fuel filters
- Battery and electrical system

Other important maintenance checks on a rotary engine concern the cooling system and the oil supply.

LOTS OF AIR

An average automobile engine uses about 9,000 gallons of air for every gallon of gasoline. Have your air cleaner serviced regularly for top performance.

It costs not to tune every 10,000 miles.

Putting off a tune-up can cost you plenty. Costs that affect your wallet. Your safety. Your car's dependability. And your health.

Tests have shown that an untuned car wastes, on the average, a gallon of gas from every tankful . . . takes an average of 7½ car lengths longer to pass a vehicle moving 50 mph . . . has over twice as many "won't starts" . . . and spews substantially greater amounts of harmful pollutants into the air we breathe.

Consider the costs. We think you'll see why it's smart to take your car in for a tune-up every 10,000 miles—or once each year—with Champion spark plugs. The brand that's always right. For every engine.

Three Nations Test Reveals How . . . . .

Changing Spark Plugs Can Save You Gas

Getting better gasoline mileage always has been an attractive proposition to the motorist. Who could argue with the proposition that when gasoline consumption goes down, the bank balance edges up?

Today being stingy with gasoline is more than a matter of dollars and cents. The same factors that affect gas economy also have a strong bearing on reducing exhaust emissions. And there's still another compelling reason to be concerned with gasoline conservation. The world is faced with an impending shortage of petroleum, the source of gasoline.

Key to Saving

According to David L. Walker, Champion Spark Plug Company automotive technical services director, engine condition is the key to gasoline consumption.

Walker, speaking to a group of technicians at Champion's new West Coast Technical Center in Santa Ana, California, reported that untuned engines are wasters of fuel.

He cited results of a three-nation Champion test program that showed an untuned engine (one that hasn't been tuned in more than 10,000 miles of operation) wastes between one and two gallons of gasoline per tankful. Merely replacing worn spark plugs with new ones can save better than a gallon per tankful the tests revealed.

David L. Walker, director of automotive technical services, Champion Spark Plug Company, tells a group of automotive technicians about the gasoline savings that result from a tuned engine. The students at Champion's new West Coast Technical Services Center in Santa Ana, California, were reminded that a tuned engine saves from one to two gallons per tankful, thereby reducing air pollution and helping to preserve the world's petroleum resources.

Habits Have Bearing

Driving habits also have a bearing on good gasoline mileage, Walker said.

• Excessive speed is a notorious waster of fuel. Keeping within the posted speed limits will help save gasoline, not to mention reducing accident dangers.

• Keeping a light and steady foot on the gas pedal is also a fuel saver. Jack rabbit starts and sudden acceleration while driving require excessive fuel.

• Stay mentally ahead of traffic, "playing" traffic lights and avoiding situations such as tail-gating other cars. Sudden stopping and starting are major causes of wasted gasoline.

• Avoid prolonged idling.

If you must wait in your car for more than a few seconds, such as at a railroad crossing or for someone to come out of a store, it's more economical to shut off the engine. It also helps cut down on pollution.

• Make sure your tire pressure is proper. Under-inflated tires, particularly, hurt gas economy.

Don't Pass Up Free Services

Maybe the best things in life aren't really free, but if you pass up those free services offered by service outlets, it may cost you.

Take the simple precaution of checking battery water levels. It requires only a few seconds of time and absolutely no money. But if battery fluid levels are allowed to drop and the condition is not detected, it could mean premature deterioration of the battery. It could cause an inconvenient "can't start" as well.

During hot, dry periods of summer, battery water is more likely to evaporate. So, especially during warm weather months, have the battery checked every time you stop for gas.

In addition to water levels, have the battery checked for corrosion and soundness of the cables.

Another free service that can save you money is checking the tires for proper inflation. Both under-inflation and overinflation can be harmful to tires, wearing them out prematurely. For accurate readings, do not have the tires checked after you've driven more than a few miles.

Other free checks that will help prevent trouble include inspection of oil level and windshield washer fluid.

CAR CARE QUIZ THE NUMBERS GAME

If you are the typical driver, you'll put considerably more mileage on your car during spring and summer than you do in the cold weather months. That means your odometer will be spinning a lot faster. If your odometer could talk as well as spin, it might be the best car care adviser you've ever had. Why?

The mileage recorded on the odometer is often an indication of when to have vital maintenance performed.

This quiz links mileage with suggested service intervals. So, see how well you can listen to your silent odometer.

HERE'S HOW TO FIND . . .

A Good Place

TO SERVICE YOUR CAR

Currently, 28 per cent of U.S. families own two or more cars and the routine maintenance of these automobiles is being looked after increasingly by the woman of the house. The American Petroleum Institute suggests that the same care be given to selecting the right service dealer as is given to choosing the family doctor, dentist, or attorney.

How do you find the right service outlet where you are confident your car is in competent hands? API has these suggestions:

• Ask your friends, to find out which place they patronize.

• Shop around before you have to call for serious help. Drive in sometime when the outlet is not too busy. Have something definite in mind to have done to your car, something that can be done while you wait. Observe the manner in which the work is being done, the caliber of the manager and attendants, and ask some questions. If the place is a busy one, you may have to make an appointment, but a busy facility is usually an efficient one.

• See if the attendant uses test equipment. Since automobiles run on a series of chain reactions, test equipment will help check all the links of the chain, protect you from unnecessary expense and help you get better overall performance from your car.

• Appearance is another thing to consider. A sloppy shop may be a sign of inefficiency. All the test equipment in the world can't do much good if it's kept in the back of the shop covered with old rags. This is a good indication that the equipment is seldom used, and probably won't be used on your car either.

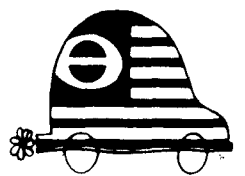

• Notice displays of accessories and tires. A neat and adequate supply is a good sign that the part or product you may need will be available when you need it.

• If the atmosphere smacks of bargains, beware! Sales are one thing, bargains another. Cut-rate brake jobs and such are dubious at best. A good serviceman knows what has to be done, and he knows how much he must charge to cover his cost of doing it right.

• Finally, don't go in with the notion that a man who wants to check this, that, and the other, without being asked, is a sharp salesman. Checking and servicing your car is his business, and a part of this service is to call to your attention problems you may not have noticed—a bald tire, a leaking radiator hose, a loose fan belt—any of which, if neglected, can cause trouble, even danger for you.

You have the option of buying or not buying what your serviceman recommends, but at least you'll know what lies ahead. Preventive maintenance—or servicing your car properly before serious trouble strikes—saves money in the long run, not to mention time and aggravation.

Thousands Flock to Classrooms Even into Grease Pits to Learn More about Family Car

If a recent survey by the Automotive Information Council is any indication, the day may be coming when the lady of the house knows as much about what makes the family car tick as her husband does.

The AIC survey shows that thousands of women across the country are flocking to the classroom and even the grease pit.

They're donning coveralls (at least in some classrooms, where they are provided free) and taking a cool, calculating look at that erstwhile mystery, the family car.

Finding Out What Makes It Go

They're finding out what makes it go, what illnesses it may be subject to, how some of these can be avoided, what to do if repairs have to be made, how to handle emergency situations and how to keep the family chariot in safe operating condition.

The classes, which may run from a single day-long session to once-a-week courses of several weeks, are being sponsored as a consumer service by an increasingly broad spectrum of the automotive industry, ranging from small independent repair shops to major car manufacturers, from franchised dealers to manufacturers of auto testing equipment and parts.

Surprisingly, though some are sponsored nationally by manufacturers and industry groups, many seem to have sprung up independently in response to the needs of women drivers.

Goal Is Same
Though formats and sponsorships vary, the courses all have the same goal: to aid the woman motorist in understanding her car — not necessarily to make her an expert mechanic, but to enable her to handle minor problems and to deal confidently and decisively with service technicians when their help is needed.

Almost all of the courses offer both classroom lectures and actual demonstrations in shops and service facilities.

Response has been terrific, sponsors report, with many classes enrolling two and three times the students originally expected — in turn resulting in more frequent scheduling of classes, often on a year-round basis.

Seven-Week Program
In Cedarhurst, N. Y., Mrs. Edna Frelfeld, who has been an auto service technician since World War II and is the only female licensed state auto inspector in New York, has been conducting a seven-week program for women motorists. It includes such subjects as brake operation, battery care, tire changing and emission controls, as well as guest appearances by automotive experts from Bronx Community College and other institutions.

All shop personnel are on hand for demonstrations — which also cover some of the techniques used by fast buck artists — and she reports that many of her students taking the course have stayed on for an advance class she has just initiated.

Some Sponsors
Among firms conducting classes for women are:

Bear Manufacturing Company, in Rock Island, Illinois.

Chrysler's Women on Wheels program, now offered through 280 Chrysler dealers.

American Motors Sales Corporation in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Members of the Independent Garage Owners of America.

Automotive Transmission Specialties, in Salem, Oregon.

Chances are that similar courses are being conducted or planned in your area. How do you locate them? The Automotive Informa-

Putting the car up the hoist at women's automotive class in Rock Island, Ill., conducted jointly by the YWCA and a leading manufacturer of auto testing and service equipment. The class is one of hundreds offered to women to help them understand how to maintain a car for safety and trouble-free performance.

Seven Points Cited as Way To Cope with Brake Trouble

Powered or unpowered, drum or disc, your car's brakes are one of the simplest systems in your car and one of the most critical to your safety. So an understanding of the following seven common points of failure is vital, says the Canadian Safety Council.

1. Fade is one of the most common problems.

Although cheap or defective linings, fluid or drums may be at fault, the usual cause of fade is simply overheating from severe service. Three things can happen, any of which can cause partial or total brake failure. If two or three happen simultaneously, you tion Council points out that in many cases, they will be advertised in local papers. If not, contact your local dealership, a member of Independent Garage Owners of America, the YWCA or a member of AIC.

have very little hope of stopping your car.

FIRST, excessive heat can temporarily weaken the drum and cause it to distort from the pressure of the shoes inside it. This may allow excessive movement of the shoes and cause the pedal to go all the way to the floor.

SECOND, heat may cause the brake fluid to boil and become compressible; this would also allow the pedal to go to the floor.

FINALLY and most commonly, heat glazes the lining, giving it an almost liquid coating that acts as a lubricant, preventing the buildup of friction necessary to stop the car.

In a minor case, all the cure that's needed is time—15 to 30 minutes at the most — to allow the brake parts to cool. When they do, they will operate normally if they have not been damaged by excessive heat. The trick is to recognize the onset of brake fade and get the car stopped before it gets worse.

2. When the brakes don't take hold until the pedal almost touches the floor, this is known as excessive pedal travel and is a serious problem.

If not corrected, it will lead to a total brake failure.

A simple adjustment may cure the problem, but a complete system check is called for because there may be a leak or other critical hydraulic defect. If the pedal goes all the way to the floor, do not attempt to drive; have your car towed to a repair shop.

3. Spongy pedal is usually caused by air getting into the hydraulic system when the fluid level is low.

Correction may require only a simple "bleeding" job that usually costs a few dollars for an hour's labor. But there could also be a serious mechanical failure; get a thorough inspection.

4. Wheel pull or failure of the car to stop in a straight line can result from a defective brake or simple maladjustment.

It can also be caused by excessive wear somewhere in the steering system or an oil leak from an axle.

But don't treat it as an annoyance; it will probably get worse — perhaps suddenly — and it could easily cause you to lose control of your car. Have it looked at right away.

5. Squeal sometimes comes from certain brands of extra-hard brake linings.

It's annoying, but not necessarily a danger sign. On the other hand, the noise may result from a mechanical malfunction or worn lining.

Excessive or sudden new brake squeal calls for a checkup.

6. Drag may be caused by many things, but the scraping sound is a sure sign that something is wrong.

To neglect dragging brakes (partly engaged) will not only allow them to ruin themselves but will inevitably lead to a total failure.

7. Pulsation or chatter, a vibrating sensation you may feel at the pedal or notice at the wheel, comes from a loose support plate or from a broken or out-of-round drum.

It is usually a minor problem to correct but it needs immediate attention.

Keep this in mind about brakes: when defective they never get better of their own accord; they only get worse. And when a defect shows up, total failure may be only seconds away.

WIPE OUT NOISE

If you have car radio interference when your electric windshield wipers are on, check your wiring. Improperly-grounded two-speed wipers can cause the trouble.

Mysteries of Single-Car Accidents May be Traced To Worn Out Shocks

One of the fastest growing and most mysterious fatal accident statistics is the single car accident. It results when, for some undetermined reason, a car leaves the road and strikes a fixed object.

Since victims of the single car accident cannot explain what happened, causes of the tragedy are difficult to determine.

According to some traffic experts, a possible reason for at least some of the single car fatalities could be worn shock absorbers. When shocks are worn, a panic stop, possibly caused by an animal darting onto the roadway, could result in the car's front wheels lifting off the road's surface. This action could result in loss of control by the driver.

Also, when shocks are defective, taking a curve at high speeds could mean loss of control.

The average effective life of shock absorbers is about two years or 24,000 miles of driving. Beyond that point, shocks generally lose effectiveness and pose a safety hazard.

Therefore, the motorist is advised to have the condition of the shocks checked routinely when the car is on the hoist for an oil change, lube job, wheel alignment or similar service.

Motorists are also advised to match up the replacement shocks with the type of driving they do. In over-the-road driving with normal loads, regular shocks generally suffice. However, with frequent driving over rough roads and at high speeds, a heavy duty shock may be needed. Motorists who frequently haul trailers or other heavy loads may need load leveler stabilizing units.

If front-end sag due to worn springs is evident, front end stabilizing units are recommended.

Signs of worn shock absorbers include a bobbing of the car after a stop, rough riding characteristics and instability on curves.

Cleaner Engines Call For Better Cooling

In designing anti-emission systems to help reduce air pollution, car manufacturers are installing hotter-running engines in today's vehicles. Therefore, it has become even more critical that cooling systems be in top condition to handle the higher engine temperatures.

This means that the cooling system should be checked twice a year for the following:

Leak-free radiator; soundness of all hoses and connections; properly operating thermostat; radiator cap is sealing efficiently; water pump is working, and coolant levels are normal.

Proper mixture of coolant, for both summer and winter operation, is about 50 per cent ethylene glycol-type anti-freeze and 50 per cent water. This 50-50 permanent-type anti-freeze should be replaced every two years or 30,000 miles, whichever ever comes first.

While on the subject of anti-freeze, the "self-sealing" variety that claims it can stop radiator leaks offers only a temporary solution to a leak problem. Containing, generally, an asbestos-type compound, the "leak-proof" anti-freeze is effective only for a short time. Once revealed, the leak should be located and repaired by a competent auto service technician.
