

'Project Success' Named 1 of Top 7 Programs in Nation

National Spotlight To Focus on Wayne-Carroll School District

Project Success, an innovative program developed by the Wayne-Carroll school system to help youngsters who have language disabilities, has been named one of the top seven Title III projects in the nation.

The U. S. Office of Education selected the program for the honor after reviewing numerous federally funded education projects across the country, according to Cecil Stanley, state commissioner of education.

As a result, the program will receive national recognition at an education fair scheduled for Washington, D. C., May 8-11, said Francis Haun, Wayne-Carroll school superintendent.

"Congressmen, local and state education officials, members of educational organizations and federal agency personnel will have a chance to study the project at the fair," said Haun.

"Congratulations are due to more people than I can name, but they include parents, volunteer aides, teachers, board of education members and particularly project director Richard Metteer and Mrs. Dorothy Ley, who provided the technical expertise necessary to facilitate the writing and implementation of the project," he said.

"Actually, all of the faculty and staff of our school system can share in the glow of this significant recognition," Haun added.

In February the federally funded project was validated as one of the outstanding programs in the nation and was recommended for adoption by schools nationally.

The program offers new approaches to teaching language skills — reading, writing and spelling — to intelligent children whose learning style is not geared to the conventional methods of teaching.

Lloyd Lockwood, one of a validating team who heads a five-county diagnostic clinic in Salina, Kan., said that the fact that between 10 and 20 per cent of intelligent children are not being taught successfully indicates that a change in educational technique is long overdue. Project Success was designed to fill that need, he said.

Metteer noted, "On behalf of the entire staff, children, parents and community council of Project Success, I want to express our pleasure in being selected as one of the top seven Title III projects in the U. S. We will strive to continue to improve our program for the benefit of our Wayne-Carroll children and also for the many thousands of other children across the country who will benefit from this type of instruction if their schools adopt the program."

Materials from the project have already been secured by schools in 40 states and four foreign countries, he said. Two states with the widest distribution are Minnesota with 90 and Iowa with 42.

Earlier this year the project was selected by the Nebraska Title III Advisory Council as the outstanding project for children with special needs in the state of Nebraska.

Implemented in 1969 with federal funds provided by a grant from the state department of education, it is a three-part program. It includes a language arts division, motor perception division and a curriculum modification division.

Fertilizer Shortage Possible

A telephone survey by federal workers reveals there is going to be a large shortage of dry fertilizer in a 12 county area of Northeast Nebraska during the next several weeks.

The survey was taken last week by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service officials in Wayne, Dixon, Cedar and nine other counties.

Ray Butts, executive director of the Wayne County ASCS, said federal officials in Washington, D.C. requested the survey but did not stipulate why.

The survey showed that there will be a shortage of 14,270 tons of dry nitrogen and a shortage of 12,910 tons of dry phosphate from the middle of April into late May.

The shortage of dry nitrogen from April 15 to April 30 will be 3,850 tons, the survey showed. From May 1 to May 15 there will be a shortage of 6,610 tons, and the shortage from May 15 on will be 3,760 tons, according to the survey.

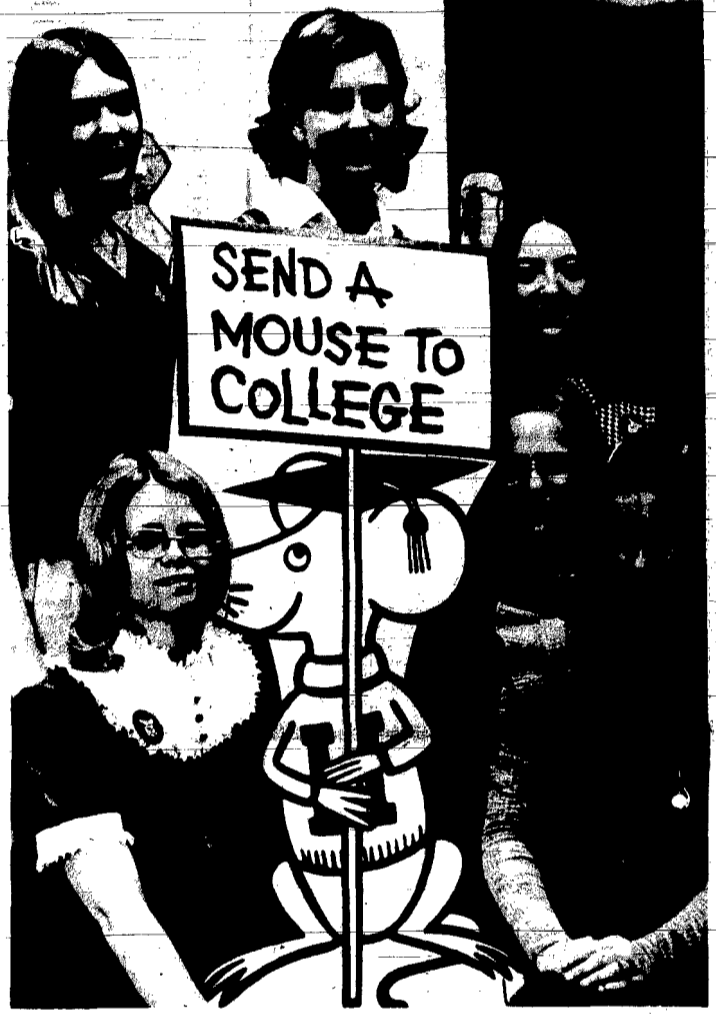

The phosphate shortage will be 5,850 tons from April 15 to April 30, 5,510 tons from May 1 to May 15 and 1,550 tons from May 15 on, it revealed.

Wayne County will have a shortage of 700 tons of dry nitrogen and 800 tons of dry phosphate during the rest of April, 400 tons each during the first two weeks of May and no shortage from the middle of May on, the survey showed.

Dixon County will have a shortage of 300 tons of phosphate and no nitrogen shortage the rest of this month, a shortage of 400 tons of nitrogen and 100 tons of phosphate the first two weeks of May, and no shortage from then on.

Cedar County may experience a shortage of 450 tons of nitrogen and 100 tons of phosphate the rest of this month, a shortage of 650 tons of nitrogen and no phosphate shortage the first two weeks of May, and short-ages of 750 tons of nitrogen and 600 tons of phosphate from the middle of May on.

ASCS county executive directors in each of the 12 counties took part in the survey. Butts said, calling up fertilizer suppliers in their counties to find out whether they will be able to meet farmers' demands this planting season.

Off to College

WHO CAN send the most mice to college? This week, high school and elementary students at Allen will start competing this week to round up the most money for the American Cancer Society in order to supply various participating research colleges with mice. The price to send a mouse to college is 51 cents, said superintendent Gail Mitter. Heading up the committee will be Kim Jackson, standing second from left, along with, clockwise from bottom left, Melodie Davenport, Karen Schulz, (Kim) LeAnn Nobbe, Joy Kjer and Denise Linafelter.

Spreader Flips Over On Highway 35

A loaded fertilizer spreader broke loose from a truck about 11 a.m. Thursday and partially damaged Highway 35 on the west edge of Wayne before flipping over.

The driver of the westbound truck, William Fletcher, 825 Valley Dr. in Wayne, told the Wayne police department that the spreader began jumping and dug a hole in the highway. The spreader broke off and landed near the intersection of the highway and Oak Drive.

About 3:30 that afternoon a car driven by Faye Thomsen Greve, Wakefield, struck another vehicle driven by Alfred Koplin, 112 E. Fourth. According to the police report, the Greve vehicle was backing from a parking stall on the 300 block of Pearl when the mishap occurred.

Barclay, who will be head football and head wrestling coach next year at Winside, received his undergraduate degree from Wayne State College in 1970 and his master's degree there the following year. He is finishing his second year of teaching at Winside.

The Ak Sar Ben scholarship program, now in its 16th year, is designed to help teachers improve themselves in their professions and render greater service to the youth of the state, according to Nick Newberry, chairman of the organization's scholarship committee.

Bids, NPPD Proposal, Liquor Application on City Council Agenda

Wayne city councilmen will open bids on fuel storage tanks and municipal airport work during Tuesday night's meeting.

Bids have been asked for on a variety of sizes of storage tanks, including ones with 300,000 gallons capacity. The council has been considering purchasing storage tanks as a form of insurance in case there are future fuel shortages in Nebraska.

Work on the taxiways at the airport has been estimated by the city's engineering firm to cost just short of $25,000. The proposed work would include building taxiways to the newly constructed hangars.

Also on the agenda: discussion of Nebraska Public Power District's proposal to connect its power lines with the city's, discussion of extending the ambulance agreement and refuse service, a subject the council has labored with several evenings during the past few months.

Council also may set a hearing date on a request for a package

Cutting

The mayor was the only person who knew all the facts in connection with the firing of Wayne police chief Vern Fairchild recently.

At least that's what one of the city councilmen says in a guest editorial on today's editorial page.

The newspaper was wrong in judging the case, the councilman contends, and that's just another instance of how the press is daily overstepping its bounds.

Guest Editorial

'Only the mayor knew all the facts'

Many times, as in the police chief incident, the mayor has to make decisions that are delicate, and he knows full well as the mayor, private citizen and businessman: all of the implications a decision of this magnitude brings. He knew there would be reaction and disagreement as well as agreement. He did not act out of haste or spite. He felt, knowing all of the facts, even previous facts and incidents the councilmen may know nothing about (since the chief of police is the only department head that answers directly to the Mayor), that only as the mayor could he have made the decision in this situation, no matter which way it would have turned out.

In short, the news media did not have all the facts on this incident and was wrong in prejudging the case.

Whether the Mayor is right or wrong from a legal standpoint in doing what he did is not the point at this time. The chief has his legal right and the case will be determined in court, where it should be settled.

The point of this whole situation, is that only the mayor, in his position as mayor, had all the facts necessary to do the job that he felt had to be done. I am in no way speaking for the Mayor or any of the other councilmen.

However, while I am at it, it should be pointed out, contrary to the editor's convictions, that I, as a councilman, reserve the right to agree or disagree, publicly or privately, with other councilmen or with the mayor on any issue. I will respect these same rights of the mayor and other councilmen.

I point this out because I personally talked with the editor about the police chief situation and told him what I thought about it, but in his editorial, he failed to mention that some of the councilmen did state their views.

Unfortunately, this is the alleyway which we, the public, have allowed the media to travel more each day. They print and broadcast what they damn well please, sensationalize to whatever degree they so desire, and distort and tell half truths to serve their own purpose. Because of this, I feel sorrow and bitterness, because a good newspaper can be a real asset to the community.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

Windshield Wipers — Foul-Weather Friends

The most frequently overlooked safety device on our cars are the windshield wipers. We generally think of them only when it rains or snows or when they skip, streak or smear. The truth is that it is usually our neglect, not design or quality of materials, that is the culprit when our wipers don't work properly.

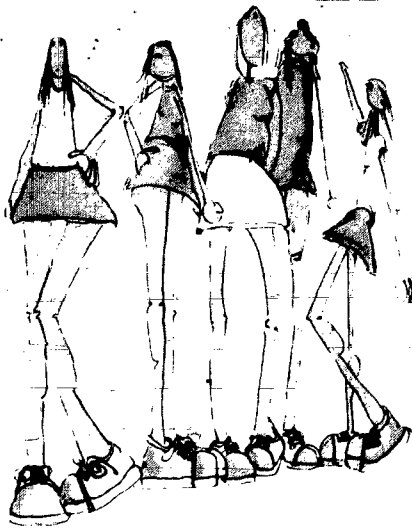

It's been a long time since windshield wipers were little more than a thin strip of rubber, held in a straight metal arm and operated by engine vacuum. The car manufacturers have developed multi-speed electric motors that meet a wide range of wiping needs. They've developed precisely tensioned wiper arms that closely conform to curved materials and clear larger areas for better visibility. They've improved blade materials and have even changed the blade profile for longer service and more thorough wiping. You may not have noticed, but they've also adopted a dull satin finish for the wiper arms to reduce stray light reflections which could hamper visibility in dry weather driving.

Because they are constantly exposed to the elements, the rubber blades age, crack and wear out. Usually, you aren't aware of these failings until you encounter a heavy rain and discover the wiping is below par. You can avoid that situation, however.

Whenever you wash your car, check your wipers and replace the rubber blades if they wipe unevenly, streak or smear. Pull the arms about an inch away from the glass and release them. If they don't snap back there may not be enough tension to wipe glass clean. If the tension cannot be adjusted, the arm should be replaced, merely changing the blades won't solve the problem.

By checking the wipers periodically, you can be sure they'll be ready to go to work for you when you need them. Treat them right—they can be your best foul-weather friend.

'Give the young a chance'

Dear Editor: I was very disgusted to read the article "A Wealth Going to Waste" in your newspaper.

I am an older ex-teacher myself, but I do not think these older teachers (whose families are through college) should continue to take these jobs from this generation of college graduates. Especially when we live in a college town.

I know these people are very good teachers, etc. But it's only the extreme high salaries of late years that is the incentive to keep them teaching. If salaries were $75 or $100 a month like they received 40 or 45 years ago, few would be teaching at 64 years today. Older people are better taken care of today than ever in our history. I believe in "giving our young people a chance."

A Wayne Taxpayer

'Who would tell the teacher when time to retire?'

Dear Editor: Do you put editorials in the paper for people to take issue with? If so, I guess I like to take the opposite side, just for the fun of it.

The article "A wealth going to Waste" has some very good points, but I do not agree that we should let teachers teach until they are 64 or 65 years old, and if the age were omitted altogether we would have aged people in the schools who would be like the aged people we have in the government. There are some who have been in the schools too long now and should give some middle aged or younger people a chance to try to make a living.

Most of the teachers have husbands who are teachers, principals or superintendents and both are making big money. There are some of us who have to live on only one salary and that might be even a farmer's salary.

The point I am making here is who will tell a teacher when it is time for her to quit? An example of this is my child had a teacher ten years ago. At that time she was a very good teacher. I talked to a friend about a year ago and she told me that her child became ill when he had to go to this teacher's room. Evidently the teacher had changed in the last 10 years and was not able to cope with small children any more.

There comes a time in some women's lives when they would be better off not teaching during the '50's.

Also, there is a time when mothers of small children should not be teachers either, because babies need a mother, not a baby sitter.

You admit that people do not do as well when they get to 60 or 70 so why not let younger people take over? I'm not saying that we should tell older people that they are of no use, but they can find places among people more their age group. Sometimes the older ideas don't fit with the younger ones, as those of high school age, and then we have the generation gap. The older people don't like anything the younger ones do and the way they dress, and there is the problem.

I am not against the older people because I enjoy working with them, but they seem to enjoy being together. I would never tell them they are useless, but I don't think there would be as much a problem with the high school teens if we didn't have teachers who were so old that all they can say is, "When I was your age, I did this or that." The teens are of the now generation, and it's different than 60 years ago.

Let some of us middle aged women have a chance to work, too. I would like to earn some of that big money.

You missed a mighty fine program if you didn't take in the sixth graders' choral pageant Tuesday night.

The youngsters took the audience on a trip through the country's history — all the way from drawing up the Constitution and Bill of Rights through the space age.

Included in the program, titled "Our Country 'Tis of Thee," were skits, songs and narration about such important events as the uniting of the railroads and driving of the Golden Spike, Civil War, crossing of the Plains by the settlers, World War I, the stock market crash, Eisenhower's election and the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

They even spotlighted the nation's inventors — the guys who found out how to fly an airplane, send telegrams, make a fountain pen, build an elevator and put together an automobile horn.

The songs and skits were surprisingly well done, and there were few goofs during the program. All in all, it was a program the kids can be proud of.

Not surprisingly, it was dedicated to Eleanor Edwards, a woman who has devoted her whole life to teaching.

Miss Edwards will retire when this school year ends after teaching elementary school children 45 years. For 28 of those years she has been teaching in the Wayne school system, and for 25 of them she has taught sixth grade. She is currently teaching language training to fifth and sixth grade students at the local middle school.

A graduate of Carroll High School, she taught in a rural school about two miles east of Carroll after graduating from college at Wayne in 1937. She taught there for two years before returning to college. She spent a total of nine years teaching at a rural school two miles south and two west of Carroll before taking on a teaching job at Osmond. Six more years of teaching there, then back to Wayne in 1945.

She's leaving teaching because she has reached the mandatory retirement age. "But I don't feel like retiring," she says. "Next year I'll probably be wishing I was back in school."

With that many years in one profession, could she feel any other way?

The grandson of Calla Assmus of Wayne put a book she gave him for Christmas to good use and won himself a 20-volume encyclopedia set in the process.

While looking through the book, Tod Assmus decided he wanted to know more about the taya: a furry little animal that lives in South America. Tod, who lives with his parents in Sioux City, sent his question to "Ask Andy," the popular column carried in newspapers and devoted to answering the countless questions kids have a habit of coming up with. It was chosen for use in the column.

Wayne did better in the Nebraska Press Association contests than it appeared on the surface.

Besides the two awards The Herald received, one for feature photography and one for advertising ideas, several awards went to former Wayne residents, some who once worked at The Herald.

Duane Hamm, who bought the Wausa Gazette last year after several years of running the linotype here, won second place for best front page among newspapers with circulation between 1,000 and 1,999.

And the Syracuse Journal-Democrat, owned by former Wayne State College teacher Francis Moul and his wife, really cleaned up in the competition.

Ron Anderson, former employee at The Herald who is now with the Journal-Democrat, won a first place for the best feature photo and a third place in the best news photo competition for newspapers with circulation above 2,000.

Dick Hursey, who is now running the fledgling newspaper at Peru, won a first place for his sports photograph used last year while he was writing for the Journal-Democrat. Hursey also is a former teacher at Wayne State.

Residents in Wayne and Wayne County have a $200,000 bonanza just waiting to be tapped to help make life a little bit better.

The money is their portion of the federal revenue sharing funds distributed since the first of the year.

The city has just under $64,000 stashed away, according to city clerk Dan Sherry. County clerk Norris Weible reports the county currently has just over $139,000 drawing interest while county officials ponder how it is going to be spent.

Both men say deciding how to use the money is one big headache. Considering that the government makes it almost impossible for a normally intelligent person to even fill out his income tax anymore, we can only imagine the heights the federal bureaucrats will go to stipulate how or how not those federal funds can be used.

Steinbacher Will Tell Views On Sex Education; Public Invited

Guest speaker for the afternoon session of the LWML-Christian Growth zone workshop being held this Tuesday at Grace Lutheran Church, is John Steinbacher of Anaheim, California. Because of the general interest in Steinbacher's topic, "Help Keep that Classroom What It Ought to Be," the 1 to 3 p.m. session will be open to the public.

Steinbacher, who is the author of such books as "Child Seducers," "Pavlov's Children," "Bitter Harvest," "They Died for Nothing," "It Comes Up Murder," and "The Conspirators. Men Against God," first gained national prominence in 1968 when he exposed a consociatorial meeting of sexologists in Anaheim. From that report and subsequent articles dealing with sex education, came the whole nationwide school battle over sex education.

His articles were reproduced by the millions, and it is estimated that 25 million copies of his famous "Charter House Hotel" expose are now in print.

As managing editor of "The National Educator," Steinbacher travels throughout America, speaking before college and high school audiences, service clubs, PTA meetings, school committee meetings and political and educational gatherings.

Steinbacher warns "If the children of America are seduced into the ways of freason, drugs, crime and immorality, parents will have only themselves to blame for not knowing what is going on in the neighborhood schoolroom. A nd if parents stand idly by while their children are lost to all reason, they will be held blameless before the Creator of us all."

Over 200 Expected For YARC Meet This Weekend

Over 200 young people from all over Nebraska will be converging in Wayne this weekend for the sixth annual Youth As sociation for Retarded Children (YARC) convention, to be held at Wayne State College.

The local YARC is hosting the three-day conference which will get underway Friday with registration, movies, nomination of state officers, and meetings for local officers, public relations and membership groups.

An evening get-together will be held from 5 to 6 p.m. with the banquet to follow at 6:15 p.m. Doug Eicher of Milford, state YARC president, will extend the welcome and introduce state officer nominees. A slide presentation, "Such Good Friends," will be shown and Bridget Brown, former Youth Advocacy Consultant and past state president from Omaha, will speak.

A basketball game, advisors' meeting and rap session and recreation at the physical education building will round out the evening.

Breakfast will be served Saturday at 8, followed by the general business meeting and election of officers. A series of workshops with retarded children taking part, will be held throughout the afternoon.

Conducting the workshops will be Sharon Racksdachel from the Lincoln Office of Mental Retardation, John De Makas, who will be working in the area of epilepsy; Don Koenig of Wayne, Clayton Ilian, who will conduct a swimming workshop; Ben I Warren, a youth consultant with Advocacy in Lincoln, Karen Hoffman from Omaha, Bridget Brown, Martin Retunnon, director of Kearney Park recreation, and Carol Niemonoff, from the Department of Education in Lincoln, Diana Kalsason, working in cerebral palsy and Dennis Champ, state Special Olympics coordinator.

The Saturday night banquet will be at 7 p.m. and a surprise event is scheduled for midnight Saturday.

Nine o'clock Sunday morning has been set aside for church and a wrap-up. Branch will follow from 10 to 11:30, after which YARC members may wish with others from various YARC programs before leaving for home if they wish.

Handling arrangements for the convention are local YARC president, Deb Carroll, and ad-

Wayne Takes Sixth Win After Shakey 1st Inning

Bancroft bats unnerved Wayne High Wednesday for two runs in the first inning before the home team favorites streaked across three runs in the bottom of the first and went on to top the visitors, 7-2.

Devil hurler Roger Saul earned his third win of the season against no losses, but not before he gave up seven hits — the most so far — and turned over pitching duties to shortstop Charlie Roland in the fifth.

Roland pitched the remaining three frames and collected two strikeouts. He got double-play assistance from shortstop Saul and first baseman Earle Overin for the remaining two outs in the fifth.

Saul, who totals 23 strikeouts so far this season, ran into trouble the first inning when Bancroft center fielder Dave Wegner slapped a single and made it to second on a sacrifice by Gerch. An RBI by Ronnenkamp made the score 1-0. Dohi connected for the team's third single and Bancroft had a 2-0 lead.

Wayne then turned on its batting performance with two doubles — by third baseman Terry Pfeiffer and catcher Bill Schwartz. Schwartz's hit brought the speedy third sacker in for the locals first run.

A base-on-balls put Saul on first. Then the inning's big play came to light.

Roland rapped a hit to Bancroft second baseman Tim Anderson only to have him fumble the ball for one error and allow one run to score. His loss to pitcher Craig Copple went wild and pushed across another run to make the score 3-2.

During Roger's five innings, the Bulldogs punched seven singles.

"Bancroft apparently thought they could hit off Roger," said Wayne coach Mike Mallette, "and when the kids get this kind of confidence going, it can be pretty rough."

Mallette said Saul had a good fast ball going throughout the innings he pitched, but the Bancroft club was able to hit the fast ones.

When Roland came on the mound, the visitors had trouble adjusting to differences in style and ended up without any runs or hits.

Catcher Schwartz had the hottest bat for the locals, collecting two hits while twice at bat. The lanky junior had two doubles good for three runs batted in, and scored one run.

Trojan Banquet Will Be May 8

League Winners

THE BEN FRANKLIN bowling team won the Tuesday night title in the Community League last week to take home the team and individual plaques. Rolling on this year's team were, left, captain Jean Nuss, Paul Telgren, Ray Starman, Harold Murray and Joe Nuss. Not pictured is the sixth man, Dave Schulte.

Olsen Sets New Mark In Vault

Laurel's Keith Olsen vaulted himself to a season high mark Thursday when the senior went 12'3 in the pole vault.

Olsen, competing with the rest of the Laurel squad at the Randolph invitational, also placed fifth in the 180-yard low hurdles.

Bill Dalton, Laurel's state man in the hurdles, jumped one place ahead of Olsen, taking fourth before teammate Dave Blachford took second in the high jump.

Three area teams, including Laurel which scored 13 points ran in the invitational that saw Columbus Scotus come out on top. The Shamrocks piled up 42 points, three better than host Randolph.

Wakefield took seventh place, behind the leadership of Mr. Steady, Dave Scheel, while Laurel finished ninth and Wayne High came in 13th out of 14 teams.

Scheel broke the Trojan record in the triple jump with a leap of 41 9/16. His, and the school's old record, 40-5, was set earlier this season.

Scheel didn't stop there in helping Wakefield attain their 26 points. The 6-4 senior also placed second in the pole vault with a 10-6 showing and a 19-8 leap in the long jump. He also ran in the second place 880 relay team.

FIVE MEMBERS of the Logan Valley Gun Club won first place honors recently in the high school division of the Cornhusker Regional Trapshoot in Norfolk. Greg Swinney, left, Lane Ostendorf, Steen Anderson, Ken Baier and Steve Jorgensen had a team total of 786 markers out of 1,000. They beat out Scottsbluff High (699x1,000) and third place Bellevue High (629x1,000).

Meyer's Team Workman's To Coltfde

Mike Meyer's team dropped Roberts' Tuesday night to remain in a first place tie with Workman's in the Tuesday night high school recreation B league at the city auditorium.

Meyer and teammate Mark Lowe, poured in 22 points each to out hustle the Roberts' five, 63-61.

Dave Nuss added an extra 10 points to the winners' cause.

For Roberts' team, Mark Smith carried home high honors with 24 while Rick Barner hit 16 and team captain Brian Roberts had 10.

Two other teams, Stammer's and Hoop's, are in a deadlock for second place.

Hoop's skipped past Brandt's, 46-40, on the 17 point shooting of Rod Hoops Kirk Wacker was next high with 15.

Brandt's top scorers were Mike Manes and Gary Glass with 12 each and Randy Pikelman with 10.

In the final game of the night, front runner Workman's ripped Stammer's, 79-33, on the hot shooting of five team members.

Rob Mitchell and Larry Creighton each connected for 22 points while Dennis Magnuson collected 15 and Dave Hix and Mike Sharer finished with 10.

Greg Stammer had 12 points for the losers.

Tonight (Monday) Workman's and Meyer's teams will face off in a playoff to determine the league winner. Game time is set for 8:30.

In the early game, Stammer's and Hoop's will collide for the third and fourth place positions.

Speedy 3 Power Junior High To Second at Wayne Triangular

The fleet-foot three—Mark Brandt, Terry Lessmann and Mike Wieseler, took a total of eight first places Wednesday to help Wayne Middle School finish second during the school's junior high triangular.

Wayne scored 69 points, ahead of Wisner Pilger's 29, but behind Hartington Cedar Catholic's 103 1/2.

Brandt, Wieseler and Lessmann piloted the winning 400 yard relay team along with Monte Dowling to take the event in :54.2.

Brandt and Wieseler added three individual firsts while Lessmann took a win in the 60 yard dash with a :07.5 clock.

Brandt was the only one of the top three to erase a school mark. He broke the school record of 1:01.9 in the 440 with a time of 1:01.5. That record was set in 1971 by Rod Hoops.

Brandt also went on to capture firsts in the long jump (17 1/2') and the 100 yard dash (1:17.7).

Teammate Mike Wieseler grabbed wins in the high jump with a 5'4" showing while winning the 60 yard and 100 yard low hurdles in 09.3 and 14.2 seconds respectively.

WAYNE STATE'S Ron Nelson spins a two-hitter in a 17-0 win over Kearney State Friday at Wayne.

WS's Kamp Shines Friday In 2 17-0 Blankings of KS

Greg Kamp proved he's a rare one among pitchers again Friday. The junior from Omaha hurled Wayne State to a two-hit 17-0 blanking of Kearney State, and he hit 3 for 3, with one home run.

Then in the second game, the Benson High product took his customary role as designated pinch hitter—this time for pitcher Ron Nelson of Wausau—and lofted another homer among two hits in three at bats. That lifted his season batting to a neat .533 on 16 hits in 30 trips to the plate. He has banged five home runs while playing as pitcher or DPH in nine of Wayne's 10 games—all victories.

Nelson duplicated Kamp's first game pitching as he spun a two-hitter while Wildcat bats and defense lagged conference

Live Rabbits Make Easter Come Alive

Becky Pospisil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pospisil of rural Wayne, treated the six members of Mrs. Gertrude Vahikamp's special education class to a treat Wednesday—a look at some live rabbits.

All six students looked around the cage containing the small bunnies before Mrs. Vahikamp and her assistant, Mrs. Lowell Glassmeyer, took some of the rabbits out of the cage and let the children hold them.

Mrs. Vahikamp pointed out that Becky, dressed as a rabbit, helped to give out some of the candy treats donated each year by her grandmother, Mrs. Frank Lindsay of Wayne, and Clarence Morris, both janitors at the Middle School.

Photo identification Rodney Bauermeister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bauermeister of Wayne, found out that touching a baby rabbit can be a real experience. Holding the rabbit is associated with Becky's "ears." Rick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Kenny of Carroll. Before Mrs. Vahikamp released the rabbits, the other four members of the class got a close look at the furry animals. From left, are Cindy Sitzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sitzman; Keith Berner, son of Charles Berner of Laurel; and MarFaye Maroff, daughter of Warren Maroff.

Policy on Weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a column underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Important News about the News Media.

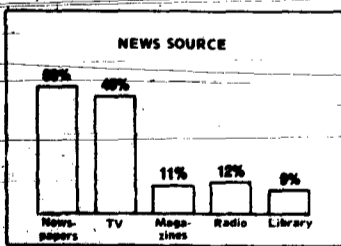

Today, as never before, Americans need information — about events, about people, about products. Read how they use the news media to meet this need.

In March, 1971, Opinion Research Corporation was commissioned to find out how Americans gather the information they need to conduct their daily lives.

Here, from a nationwide sample of 2,023 men and women age 18 and over, are some of the key findings of that research.

1. When people want to find out about news they are very much interested in, they rely on the newspaper more than any other medium.

Opinion Research Corporation asked: "Suppose there is some news you are very much interested in. Where would you be most likely to find out all there is about it?" Here's how people answered:

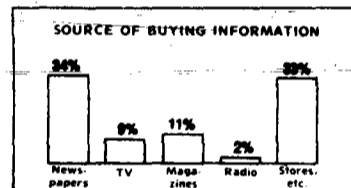

Clearly, newspapers are America's prime medium for news. Your best customers, then, rely very heavily on newspapers for their news. But that's not all. Read on.

2. When people are ready to buy, they turn to newspapers for the facts they need by more than 3 to 1 over any other news medium.

Opinion Research Corporation asked: "When you are ready to buy something, where are you most likely to find the kind of advertising that gives you the facts you want to know?" Here's how people answered:

Obviously, when people actually start shopping for something in your product category, your advertisement had better be in the newspaper.

3. People trust advertising in newspapers far more than in any other medium.

Opinion Research Corporation asked: "Where are you personally most likely to find advertising that can be trusted? And where are you least likely to?" Here's how people answered:

Trust in advertising is concentrated in newspapers. With today's growing need for believability, advertisers who use newspapers to carry their messages are getting an important advantage.

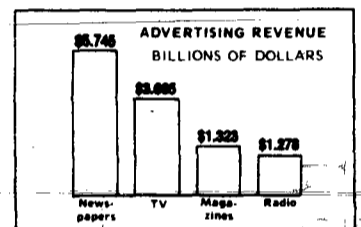

To summarize: Americans rely on the newspaper as their most complete, most trustworthy source of information, whether it is news or advertising. And the better the education and income level, the more this is true.

The findings of the Opinion Research Corporation are strongly confirmed by other equally unbiased statistical data.

Simmons '70, for example, reports that 78 out of every 100 adult Americans read at least one newspaper on the average weekday, far more than are exposed to any other news medium. Simmons also confirms the newspaper's leadership among "best customer" groups, too: daily readership is 87 per cent among college graduates, 84 per cent among those earning $10,000 or more, 86 per cent among under-25 married couples.

While television ratings have dropped over the past five years, the newspaper business has never been healthier. In 1970, circulation increased to a record daily average of 62,107,527.

Advertising revenue is growing still faster. In fact, newspaper advertising revenue has consistently outpaced even the massive growth of the Gross National Product since 1945. In 1970, advertisers spent $5,745,000,000 on newspaper advertising, $3,665,000,000 on television, $1,323,000,000 in magazines, and $1,278,000,000 on radio. To put it another way, advertisers spent almost as much in newspapers, as in TV, magazines and radio combined.

Further, preliminary figures show that for the first 8 months of 1971 newspaper advertising revenues increased 6.6 per cent overall, with national advertising up an impressive 12.7 per cent.

As an advertiser, you might want to take an especially hard look at that last figure. Even national advertisers, wedded so long to the computerized cost per thousand efficiencies of television, are once again realizing that their customers are flesh-and-blood people rather than mere numbers. And that — as the Opinion Research Corporation study shows — the way people use the mass media is at least as important to an advertiser as simple exposure to advertising messages alone.

Retailers, whose advertising must produce traceable results in a day or two, have never forgotten this stern fact. They cannot hide behind exposure figures: they must have sales. That is why department stores quite wisely spend an overwhelming 80 per cent of their advertising budgets in newspapers.

If you are not taking advantage of the newspaper's unique place in your customers' lives and overwhelmingly strong position as the Number One medium for news information and advertising information, let us show you how newspaper advertising can help you.

Following is a Telegram Sent Cost of Living Council By Ex-Cattle Feeder

UWU We Farm Union Telegram

To Dr. John Dunlop - Cost of Living Council Washington, D. C.

I offer you my interest in cattle on feed, Parmer County Feedlot, Bovina, Tex., at my cost. When the government tells me I have to sell cattle to a non-existent market at a loss, it's time to get out of the cattle business and get a government position. I'll even take a job. Please advise what jobs are available in Washington, D. C. P.S. If I get the job I want you to guarantee me that I can buy my house, car, clothes, utilities, cigarettes, booze, boat, camper, fishing gear, etc. for less than cost. With a 40-hour work week instead of 60-70 I should have time to spend all that money and buy my steaks from you at less than cost. Also, please advise my return wire. An ex-cattle feeder, C. C. The Old Malt Shop Rings with 'See ya later, alligator!'

By SANDRA BREITKREUTZ

Were the 50's really that funny? They were according to about 50 Wayne High School senior girls who Thursday rummaged through attics or otherwise improvised to come up with several versions of what the fads of two decades past were like.

After school about a dozen of the braver masqueraders tramped down to the malt shop (Felber's Pharmacy) for cokes. Ponytails tied jauntily on top of their heads, the girls smiled very red smiles and tried to reconstruct the great bubble gum masterpieces another generation was so apt at. And when it was all over they went off down the street, jeans rolled above bobby socks and dirty sneakers, and full skirts whipping in the wind, calling, "See ya later, alligator!" (It was whispered about that the senior boys weren't brave enough to get into the dress up act).

Caught in action at the soda fountain were (clockwise from left) Jill Froehlich, Lisa Einung and Jan Sherry, Jeannie Wacker with the bubble, Lisa Lesh applying fresh paint, and Jill Froehlich, Barb Schwartz and Sally Lesberg talking about some of the groovy things they are planning.

ATTENTION DOG OWNERS!!

DOG TAX IS DUE MAY 1, 1973, AND DELINQUENT AFTER MAY 10, 1973.

Due to State law requiring all dogs to be vaccinated every 2 years, all dogs vaccinated in 1971 must be re-vaccinated before a license will be issued. UPON PAYMENT OF TAX, PROOF MUST BE SHOWN THAT THE DOG HAS HAD RABIES SHOTS. Dog tax may be paid at the Village Clerk's office.

All dog owners must keep their dogs on a leash or confined to their own premises at all times.

Dogs that are allowed to run loose within the Village of Winside will be destroyed. Owners of such dogs are subject to a maximum fine of $100.00 upon conviction of violating provisions of this dog ordinance.

CORNING RANGES

THE COOKING SYSTEM - Model K-32 Gourmet cooktop is at home in any style kitchen. You'll find it matches its good looks with excellent cooking performance. You get even heat and such control over cooking temperatures that you can melt butter or chocolate, make delicate sauces like Hollandaise over low heat without a double-boiler.

THE CORNING RANGE - FOR ALL YOUR POTS AND PANS - The Family Counter range electric range is shown here in a free-standing version (Model R-30JB). It is also available as a slip-in (Model S-30JB) which has the same top and control panel. Special heating elements in the Family series let you use your own pots and pans. And when you need new utensils you can purchase Cookmates cookware that match the cooking surface.
