Miller Gets State OK for Landing Area

Elton Miller, a farmer west of Wakefield, has received approval from the state aeronautics department for a restricted airplane landing area on his land. Miller has been objecting to the building of the 230,000-volt transmission line on his land by Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) because it would create a hazard for pilots using his landing strip.

The approval for the landing strip came last week, Miller said, following a hearing in Lincoln before state officials. Miller attended that meeting, as did NPPD representatives.

State officials have informed Miller that approval of the landing area, which would also be available to pilots in case of emergency, does not mean that NPPD cannot construct its line as it has planned.

Miller said that NPPD may go ahead with construction of the line, but that company officials may think twice now that they know the landing area has been approved by both the state and federal governments.

Miller, who farms about two miles west of Wakefield, is one of two of the latest road blocks facing NPPD as the power company attempts to build its 230,000-volt line between Norfolk and Dakota City.

Also causing the company concern is the protest being filed by city officials in Wayne for building the transmission poles.

Dr. Hassel To Address WH Graduates

A former acting president at Wayne State College, Dr. Milton J. Hassel, will speak to the 1973 Wayne High School graduating class.

Graduation exercises are scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday, May 21, at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium.

Dr. Hassel, currently director of development for the State University of Nebraska, was acting president at WSC for five months in 1956. He taught at Wayne State from 1947 to 1957, serving as campus school principal, director of placement, director of special services and dean of students before becoming acting president after the death of John Rice.

He spent four years as an administrator at Mankato State College at Mankato, Minn., before becoming president of Kearney State College in 1961. He was head of KSC for 10 years. He is now heading the development of innovative and non-traditional higher education programs for SUN.

His talk before the class of 108 Wayne High graduates will be titled "Style for the Future."

Baccalaureate services for the graduates will be held on Sunday, May 20, at 3:30 p.m. in the city auditorium. Sponsoring the event again this year will be the Wayne Ministerial Association.

Judging will be on costume, talent, knowledge of Americanism and patriotism and the number of poppies sold by the contestant during the fall poppy day drive.

Huffin' and A Puffin'

SIX-YEAR-OLD Mary Mahoney huffs and puffs in her attempts to blow up a balloon during Allen's first grade picnic at the town's park last week. After she got the balloon blown up, the next trick was to break it and hurry back to her line so that the next youngster could do the same thing. The first group to finish won a special treat—ice cream. Actually, no one was a loser—the whole class got some ice cream after the game, including Michele Smith (far right), Allen High homemaker students Kathy Moore, Penny Ryan, Roxanne Moore and Sandi Dowling helped out in Miss Nancy Bauer's class by serving refreshments made by the class to the youngsters. Man, Wife Quit Business On Main Street

A man and wife who have run a business on Main Street for just short of 24 years have closed their business in preparation for opening one on the east edge of the city.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Marian Farrens, who began operating The Mint Bar at 118 Main Street in July of 1949.

They will open the El Toro, a package liquor and bottle club establishment, later this year on the east edge of Wayne.

Farrens said the new $0 by 70 foot steel building should be ready for opening in July.

A native of Decatur, Farrens began operating a restaurant in Wayne in 1946. He and his wife, Hazel, ran that business for three years before moving across the street to run the beer tavern. They also operated the Black Knight Lounge above the Mint for several years, selling out that business the first of the year.

Farrens was a machinist in Omaha for three years before moving to Wayne to open the cafe. He was a machinist in California for about three years before going to Omaha.

Marijuana Results in 4 Arrests

Four Wayne youths are out on $2,000 bond each following arraignment in Wayne County court this week on charges of delivering marijuana.

The four: Sam Heppburn, 17; Zachary Harms, 18; John Meyer, 18, and Joseph Roberts, 19.

They were arraigned on the felony charges Tuesday before associate county judge Luverna Hilton. Both Harms and Roberts have two counts against them; the other two youths were charged with one count each.

County attorney Budd Bornhoff said their arrest Monday followed an extensive investigation by the state patrol, county law officials and city police.

Meyer and Roberts posted bond and were released Monday. Heppburn and Harms were held overnight in county jail when they failed to post bond. They were released Tuesday.

Bornhoff said he does not know when the preliminary hearings for the four will be held in county court. If there is sufficient evidence against them, they will be bound over to district court for trial, he said.

Wakefield Population May Double for Saturday Scout Event

The town of Wakefield is expected to have more than double in size when Scouts from throughout the Lewis and Clark District hold their Scout-O-Rama there Saturday.

Between 1,000 and 1,500 persons are expected to attend from Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Thurston and Cuming Counties.

The event will be held at the elementary school from 1 to 6 p.m. Scouts will begin setting up at 9 a.m.

Three other Scout O-Ramas will be held the same day—at Norfolk, Fremont and Council Bluffs—as Scouts in the Mid-America Council continue their annual display of skills and crafts. Some 17 different Scout-O-Ramas will be held this spring at different sites in the Midlands.

Holding the events at different sites is one of the changes in the Scout O-Rama this year. Scout officials note. Also new this year will be including girls in the events and inviting Explorers to exhibit the skills they are learning in their special interest groups.

Purpose of the changes, according to Scout officials, is to make the shows a community effort, with each show tailored to a specific locality.

Tickets to Saturday's event are available from Scouts at $1 each. Some 45,000 boys and girls in the Scout council hope to sell 100,000 tickets to the events. Money will be used to support Scouting events and activities.

Robert Porter, science teacher at Wayne High School and president of the group, said a "brain storming" session will be held tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 o'clock in the Carhart Hall Science Building at Wayne State College.

Anybody interested in the group and its activities is invited to attend the meeting, he said.

Ground Breaking Ceremony For New Hospital May 14

The formal ground breaking ceremony for construction of the new area medical center to be built in Wayne will be held Monday, May 14, at 1:30 p.m.

The ceremony will be held at the site for the new facility, to be called Providence Medical Center, just east of Wayne State College campus.

Bob Carhart, president of the Wayne Hospital Foundation, said he hopes a large crowd turns out for the ceremony.

Construction on the new medical center will begin within a few weeks, according to Carhart. Federal officials are now reviewing bids submitted last week by contractors, he said.

Apparent low bidders on the $1.5 million facility were Christensen Construction Co., Pender, for general construction, $823,150 base bid; Hansen Plumbing and Heating, North Platte, mechanical work, $431,000; Simpson Electric Co., Pender, electrical, $198,720; Pegler and Co., Lincoln, kitchen equipment, $38,808.55, and King's Carpets, Wayne, carpet, $7,571.

It is expected the facility will be completed by the fall of 1974, offering medical services to residents of Wayne and the surrounding area.

Funding for the medical center will come from a $384,300 federal grant, donations from local and area residents, and funds from the Benedictine Order of Sisters at Norfolk.

The one-story facility will replace the existing municipal hospital in Wayne. It will feature 26 beds.

A committee is currently contacting new persons in the community who have not been asked to donate money to help pay for the medical center.

Methodists Vote Down Plan for New Church, To Consider Next Step

The administrative board of the United Methodist Church in Wayne will meet Friday night to discuss alternative steps for providing a new or remodeled church.

Congregation members voted last weekend 121-86 against building a new church on the north edge of the city.

Bill Cummins, chairman of the board, said a committee will be set up to determine what the congregation wants to do now that the building plan has been voted down.

"We will have to find out exactly what the church members want to do—whether they want to remodel the present church or whether they want the building committee to revise the plan so it won't cost so much," he said.

The committee will probably draw up a questionnaire and talk with church members individually to get their feelings on what should be done, he said.

The committee will report back to the administrative board, governing board for the church, within 60 days.

Cummins said there are a number of alternatives open to the congregation, including remodeling the present church at Sixth and Main to provide more room for Sunday school classes, revising the building plan so a new church could be built for $200,000.

Doris Stipp, Wayne County deputy assessor for about the past seven years, will move up to the assessor's job June 1.

She will replace Henry Arp, who this week resigned his job effective the end of May.

County commissioners Tuesday named Mrs. Stipp as acting assessor to fill out the 19 months of Arp's four year term. She has worked in the assessor's office for 10 years.

Arp, 79, said he finally decided he wants to have some free time to spend as he chooses. He has been assessor for just over 22 years, being appointed to the job in January of 1951 following the resignation of Alex Jeffrey.

Arp said he and his wife, Lillie, plan on spending a few weeks this summer in their home at Northridge, Calif., where their son, Harold, lives.

They will return to their home in Wayne before going to California for the winter, he said. The Arps plan on keeping their home in Wayne and their farm land northwest of Wayne.

Born in Rodney, Ia., Arp grew up in Cedar County before moving to Wayne County to operate a farm. He served as precinct assessor before becoming county assessor.

Secretaries in the assessor's office are Susan Wert and Eleanor Owens.

WAYNE BODY SHOP won the rollofts in the Tuesday night city men's league to capture first place in the league. The team includes Wayne Tietgen (left front) and Don Sund, (standing from left) Ray Murray, Jim Marsh and Rich Wurdinger. They rolled a 2,773 three-game series to beat second-place Einung's, which had a 2,683 total.

Devil Cindermen Nip Stanton To Capture Triangular Meet

Wayne High School's 64 points was all the track team needed to nip the Stanton Mustangs at their own triangular Tuesday.

The Devils managed to squeak past the host school by 1 1/2 points to win the triangular. Norfolk Catholic High mustered 25 1/2 points to finish last.

Coach Al Hansen's cindermen scored five first places before the wet, cold rains forced all three schools to finally cancel the relay events.

Wayne's speedster in the 100 and 220-yard dashes — Dick Chapman — paced the Devils with two wins. The sophomore letterman raced off a :26.0 clocking in the 220 and ran a :11.1 in the 100.

Gordon Emry, Brad Pflueger and Mark Smith added three more wins when they captured their individual events.

Smith ran an 11:52.0 in the two-mile run, while teammate Tom Maier finished fourth in that event. Pflueger — Wayne's 440 specialist — ran the dash in 56.7. He was followed by teammates Ken Baier, second, and Dave Lessmann, third.

In the field events, Emry was the only Devil to take a first. He had a 34-11 leap in the triple jump for the No. 1 spot. Pflueger grabbed third.

In addition to Wayne's capturing the first three places in the 400, the locals also went 1-2-3 in the 100.

Training Chapman who won first were Galon Miller in second place and Rich Workman, who tied for third with Norfolk's Marrett.

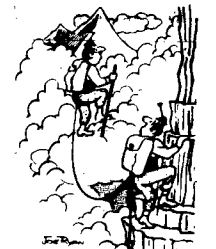

Friday Wayne will compete in the Husker Conference track meet at North Bend. The afternoon and night events will feature all 16 teams from the conference.

Wildcats Third at Springfield Meet

Wayne State harriers pulled in two first and three seconds Monday afternoon to place third at the University of Dakota at Springfield's track invitational.

The Wildcats scored 49 points to trail host University of South Dakota and Westmar College with 100 and 68 points respectively. Dakota Wesleyan placed fourth with 36, followed by South Dakota Technical's 34, Huron College's seven and Yankton College's three.

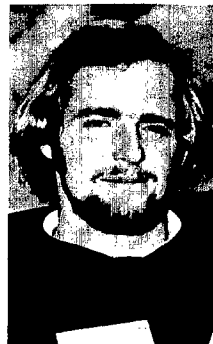

Layne Herber and Ed Brogie paced the locals with first in the discus and triple jump.

Brogie went 41-11 to beat out Tech's Dapp, who leaped 41-7.

Herber, who holds the school discus record of 167-1, threw the plate 149-10. Last Saturday Herber set a new school mark during the Madison invitational.

Kevin Carper, Bob Zitek and Brent Moeller each took second in their events.

Zitek finished the 120-yard high hurdles in :16.3, one-tenth of a second off winner Carl's of Westmar. Carper had a 6-0 performance in the high jump — two inches short of the top height by USD's's Walton. Moeller leaped 21-3 1/2 in the long jump.

The only other Wayne State man to place in the 19-event meet was Bob Cooper, who finished fourth in the 440-yard dash with a :24.6 clocking.

Rain, Cold Hamper WH Golfers at Norfolk; Take 2nd at Bloomfield

May 1 is one day Wayne High golf coach Harold Maciejewski and his team won't forget.

Tuesday afternoon the Wayne team, playing one of its worst games, lost to the Norfolk High golfers 227-215 at Norfolk.

The cold, wet weather played a big role in the outcome of the game, the coach said. Mark Schram, the team's No. 1 man, had the biggest problem of the day. He fired a soaring 48 (he usually shoots in the high 30's or low 40's) for the team's high. Randy Workman had the team low of 43, followed by Scott Ehlers' 44, 45 for Tod Bigelow and 47 for Robin Kudrna.

Norfolk's Dee Nedrow took medalist honors for the day with a 39.

In B action, the locals also went down in defeat, 257-239. Mark Lowe and Tom Johansen, each had 46's while Dave Hix and Scott Brummond fired 52's. The fifth man, Mike Manes, skied to a 61.

In a third meet, Monte Lowe and Vince Jenness competed against two of Norfolk's players, only to lose in a double sudden death play. After the regular nine holes, Lowe and Jenness had 49 and 56 respectively to tie Norfolk with 105. Both teams again tied after one hole of play before deciding the match in the second hole.

Today (Thursday) Wayne will enter the Husker Conference tournament at Beemer.

Saturday afternoon the Wayne team captured second place in the six-team Bloomfield invitational, with an 18-hole total of 442.

Mark Schram was the team leader with an 80 — good for third place medalist honors. Robin Kurona fired an 85 to put them in a three-way tie for fourth with Plainview's Roger Millnitz and Mike McElhose of O'Neill. But Kudrna had to settle for sixth place in the playoffs. Medals were given to the top five only.

Norfolk Catholic High School's Larry Sock and Mike McFadden finished one-two, each scoring 79s. Sock won the playoff for the top position.

The NCHS team also took the No. 1 spot in the tourney with a 438. O'Neill was third at 443 one stroke behind the Devils. Harrington Cedar Catholic fired a 487. Plainview a 493 and host Bloomfield a 514.

The scores were high. Wayne coach Harold Maciejewski pointed out, mainly due to the high winds.

Randy Workman shot a 91 for the third low on the Wayne team while Scott Ehlers had a 92 and Dave Hix completed the course with a 94.

Hospital Releases Laurel Youth Following Accident

A Laurel youth, Gary Anderson, 15, was released from Wayne Hospital Sunday following treatment for injuries received in a one-car accident west of Wayne late Saturday night.

He was injured when an eastbound car driven by Randy Rees, 17, of Concord went out of control and rolled over into a ditch about two miles west of Wayne on Highway 35. Rees was not hospitalized.

The accident happened shortly after midnight when Rees attempted to pass a car and was forced back into his lane by an oncoming vehicle, according to the Wayne County sheriff's office. He lost control of the car and rolled into the south ditch, an official said.

The automobile was a total loss.

Potts Wins 4th At Columbus

Wayne's Jim Potts won fourth place in all-events Sunday in the finals of the WNAX bowling tournament at Columbus.

Potts shot a 1,357 six-game series to win $150 prize money. Laure's Virgil Buss also placed in the top 10.

In addition to his fourth place showing, Potts came in seventh in the singles. He shot 11 out of 12 games over the 200-pin mark. The local team of Red Carr implemented had a 6,076 six-game total for third place and $100. Bowling on Carr's team was Red Carr, Ernie Swift, Jim Potts, Virgil Buss and Val Kienast.

LORI CHACE

Mortar Board Singles Out Laurel Grad

Lori Chace, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Chace of Laurel, is one of 21 University of Nebraska Lincoln coeds to be named "Notable Women" by Mortar Board, the senior women's honorary.

The coeds will be honored along with new members of Mortar Board at a luncheon to be held Saturday.

Miss Chace, a 1971 graduate of Laurel High School, is majoring in home economics education.

She is a member of Y Pals, Tassels, Alpha Lambda Delta honorary, the Union style show committee, Phi Epsilon Omicron and Omicron NU honoraries, and Gamma Phi Beta sorority. A 4-H leader and chairman of the East Union Hospital community committee, she received Regents' and Drake scholarships.

Nebraska Rivers Offer Canoeers Scenic Routes

Outdoor men who want a close up look at nature and a little adventure in the bargain should find the Platte River in central and eastern Nebraska of special interest the next few weeks, as a substantial flow of water is making the river ideal for canoeing.

According to Conservation Officer Bill Earnest of Riverdale, usually shallow channels of the Platte are now running full so that canoes can move along without running aground. These conditions should prevail in the Platte Valley below Overton into mid May.

The high water conditions are the result of the melting of snow in the mountain regions of the upper Platte drainages and recent rains.

However, such a trip is not for the entire family, especially if pre-teen children or grandma and grandpa are involved. Canoeing on the river can be strenuous and is best left to more vigorous teenagers and adults. The sortie should provide many rewards, however, as the scenery is at its springtime peak and wildlife is abundant.

Canoeists should remember that most of the land on both banks is private property. While state law allows portages around an obstacle such as a fence or falls by the most direct route without asking permission, all other entrance on private land is covered by laws governing trespassing. Even islands and sandbars are usually private property.

Rest stops and overnight camp sites should be scouted in advance and permission to use them obtained before setting out. A look at maps on hand in county offices should provide information valuable in navigating the river, planning such special interest the next few weeks, as a substantial flow of water is making the river ideal for canoeing.

A canoeing guide to Nebraska rivers is appearing in the June issue of NEBRASKAland Magazine, and reprints of that section will be available free of charge by writing the Game and Parks Commission, P.O. Box 30370, Lincoln. Included in the guide are suggested trips on segments of several rivers in the state, including the Missouri, Platte, Blue, Galumus, Dismal, Niobrara, Elkhorn and Republican.

By Bob Bartlett

at the high school until the May meeting (this Monday night). At that time the group might give the nod to a girls' volleyball program, but the question of a girls' basketball and/or track teams probably will be left undecided.

Wayne school superintendent Francis Haun pointed out in the April meeting that salaries and cost of equipment for one sport would reach $2,250. And the figures for transportation and the like would increase the total.

IN LOOKING at other girls' sports programs around the area, Wakefield, Winside, Laurel and Allen are very strong on girls' athletics with all four having both girls' track and volleyball teams.

The idea of a girls' basketball team, though, still remains in the air.

Talking with some school officials, I found out that not only the cost of implementing such a program would increase the need for a bigger school budget, but also the lack of proper playing facilities and an open night seem to raise problems.

One area administrator explained that it's hard to schedule a basketball game when you have boys' basketball on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday nights, while at the same time the wrestlers are competing during the week.

Monday, Wednesday and Thursday night activities complicate the situation even further.

Thursday night is when stores are open in Wayne. Wednesdays are church nights for most people, and Monday nights are often reserved for school board meetings and the like.

Another point brought out is that most of the parents of both boys and girls participating in athletic programs could become quite tired of sports if they attended a sport's function about every night of the week.

As far as facilities go, there are very few high schools in the state that have both girls' and boys' gyms. As a result, the use of one practice facility is on a limited basis.

ALL THESE comments from around the area are not to put down girls' sports activities. On the contrary,

I'm all in favor of building up the girls' volleyball and track programs in our area. As G.I. pointed out, girls have a better opportunity for self-fulfillment through sports competition under proper guidance and leadership.

But the beginning of a basketball program might work out best through an intramural program such as the one in Laurel. If interest grows in that area—and there is enough support both in participation and finance—then would be the best time to start a competitive program with other high schools.

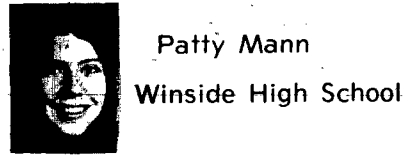

BEFORE I LET this note get away from my desk, a quick congratulatory to Dallas Schellenberg of Winside and Hoskins' Dwight Bruggeman.

Both men were on the bowling team that captured the No. 1 spot in the state tournament recently.

The five-man crew rolled a 3,203 three-game series to take home a nice $500 check.

Both men started bowling in the 1950's and now are competing in Norfolk's classic and mixed double leagues.

The rest of the Norfolk No. 1 team includes Steve Getfred, Jerry Pospisil and LeRoy Krueger.

Patty Mann Winside High School Athlete of the Week

Winside High's Patty Mann doesn't need both track shoes to be a winner—she can run with one shoe on and still help her team set a new school record.

Last Friday that's what she did when she and three teammates erased the old 880 relay mark of 2:02.2 with a 1:58.3 showing.

"Patty was taking the handoff from Lori Jenkins when Lori stepped on Patty's heel," coach Jim Winch explained. "But she still kept on going without the shoe."

Patty, this week's Athlete of the Week, combined her running talents with Lori, Gail Grone and Nancy Morris to beat the 1972 mark.

During the meet with Winnebago and Beemer, the sophomore also set a new school record in the 440-yard dash, bettering her old mark of 1:06.9 set last year with a 1:05.7 performance.

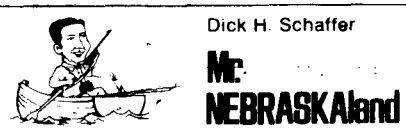

"Pat is a girl who improves at every meet," Winch said. "She learns quickly and uses her abilities to keep setting new records."

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mann of Hoskins, she could be a strong contender for setting new school records as well as bidding for state marks in coming years.

Right now she has the second best time in the 80-yard hurdles—14.1. Last Friday, teammate Joni Langenberg broke that mark with a 14.0 sprint.

But that kind of competition doesn't slow down Winside's 440 specialist. Coach Winch pointed out that she still runs in the hurdles and will do more of it next year. "We're mainly concerned with her running in the 440—saving up her energy for the big meets."

In addition to being a member of the Winside High girls' volleyball team, Pat also is secretary treasurer of the girls' letter club.

Martins Increasing

Purple martins have returned to much of NEBRASKAland in good numbers. Since earlier reportings in this column, additional martins have been reported in Grand Island (April 18), North Platte, and many in Lincoln (March 29).

Mrs. Art Freeman, Grand Island, writes, "We put our martin house up at noon on April 15. On the 18th we saw one martin, on the 19th there was a pair on the house, and on the 21st, another pair."

Sparrows are a problem at the Freeman martin house as they are almost everywhere. Cleaning out the house frequently is one of the most effective ways to discourage sparrows, which is what Mrs. Freeman has done. However, to do so, she has to tilt the house to the ground.

Since this would possibly damage any martin nests, Mrs. Freeman asks when martins begin nesting.

The answer is anytime now. Fact is, some martins possibly already have eggs. Most martins occupy a nest a week or so before there are eggs. Incubation lasts 12 to 13 days, sometimes up to 15. The young remain in the nest from 24 to 28 days.

It is possible that the early nesting martins could bring off a second brood.

The wooden Mr. NEBRASKAland martin house was replaced by an aluminum version with 24 apartments. Two days after martins were first seen in the yard (April 21), at this time three martins, possibly last year's occupants, have been inspecting the towering house but none have become tenants as yet. Wish they would get the word that the rent is still the same—free!

BONANZA OF BOATS

All kinds of boats are available to campers today, including those made of rubber, fiberglass, wood and canvas. These fold up, out, down, can be blown up, fitted together, or go in one piece.

Car-top and trunk boats are available in more different kinds than ever before.

Inflatable rubber boats, which fold into small, lightweight packages, are great for campers with motor-homes, for they can be tied down on a rack atop the vehicle.

Folding (jointed) aluminum boats, which usually fold into a long, slender package that is compact and easy for one person to handle, are popular with families carrying lots of gear on top of their cars. Those persons headed for high mountain country where any strenuous activity is physically demanding favor fiberglass and aluminum skiffs and canoes weighing under 75 pounds.

TROUT ON A DIET?

Fee fishing for trout at Two Rivers near Venice is as productive as ever in numbers of fish caught, but the trout appear to be running smaller... about 9 to 10 inches. A tiny Chepps springer and small red-and-white Dandevite produced five trout in about two hours. Cheese-baited hooks would probably have turned the trick sooner.

For young and old alike, Two Rivers almost guarantees a near limit. Since the April 1 opening, fishermen have averaged about four fish each—8,139 anglers and 32,678 trout. One day, every angler had a perfect score—limit of five trout. However, it was so cold and windy that day (April 9) only four fishermen braved the elements.

Bluestem Lake near Sprague produced three lunker walleye—7 pounds, 4½ pounds, and 4 pounds—plus three bass from 1½ to 2½ pounds, all on yellow doll flies, for this writer, son and his buddy. A switch from artificials to small minnows produced 8 to 10½ inch crappie, in the same spot, on almost every cast.

Why doesn't Wayne High have a girls' athletic program?

WAYNE STATE girls' athletic coach G.I. Willoughby laid it on the line in Monday's letter to the editor: Why doesn't Wayne High School have a girls' athletic program?

G.I. pointed out in her letter that Wayne is the only school out of the 16 team Husker Conference that doesn't have a girls' volleyball team.

"Why do other towns in our area and state recognize the values of sport competition for both their boys and girls, and yet Wayne recognizes these opportunities for their young men in high school but not for their young ladies?" she wrote.

It seems that Wayne High is one of very few schools in the state that do not offer some kind of girls' sports program. Out of 372 Nebraska high schools Wayne is one of about four that does not offer inter school athletics for girls.

DURING THE Wayne Carroll school board meeting last month the members decided to table the issue of girls' sports

WSC Girls Seeded First At Softball Tournament

The Wayne State girls' softball team won first seeding for the state women's college softball tournament in Omaha this Friday and will open action at 8:45 p.m. after drawing a bye in the first round.

Coach G.I. Willoughby's defending state champs will enter the tourney with an 8-3 record after sweeping a doubleheader from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday.

The Wildkittens, playing on their home diamond, ripped the UNL girls for 15 runs in both games with the help of two three-run homers by pitcher Mary Gerken and catcher Bonnie Benz.

Gerken slammed the first game's round-tripped with two girls' runs off 15 hits to swamp UNL, 15-2. Gerken took the win after fanning 11 foes. Leading the hitters were Jan

Nyquist, Jan Miller and Carol North with three hits each.

In the second game, the hosts limited the Lincoln girls to one run while piling up 15 on 10 hits.

Susie Schee finished with the win on a five-hitter. Benz posted her homer in the second game as Lori Tienken, Gerken and Sherril Harpole each had two hits.

Last week, Wayne split two doubleheaders with Kearney and Fremont.

In both games Wayne won. Gerken and Schee hurled one hiters. Martha Schrick hit a grand slam in the second game at Fremont before Wayne took the win, 9-1.

There is no bag or possession limit in Nebraska on non-game fish and on panfish such as crappie, bluegill, perch, rock bass, and sunfish.

Laurel Golfers Take 2nd in NENAC Meet

The Laurel golf team fired a 235 for nine holes Tuesday to finish second in the Northeast Nebraska Activity Conference's golf match. That was five strokes behind winner Neligh.

Laurel's Tom Anderson, fourth in medalist honors, shot a 41 to lead the Bear team. Scott Huelig had a 46 for second low with Greg Wendel and Jerry Johnson shooting 47 and 49 respectively. Kevin Gade, the fifth man on the team, rounded out the squad with a 52.

According to Bob Olson, substituting for coach Joel Parks, whose father died Monday night, the meet was set for 18 holes. But the schools decided to go only nine due to the wet weather.

Other teams participating in the tourney were Plainview, Bloomfield, O'Neill and Randolph.

2 Students Rank High In Contest

Two students from Wayne Middle School won first places in a mathematics contest held at Norfolk Saturday.

Taking first place in the sixth grade division was Anita Sandani, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sandani of rural Wayne. Janne Kerl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Kerl of Wayne, won first place in the seventh grade competition.

Winning second places in the contest sponsored by the Norfolk Junior High mathematics club, were sixth grader Bob Bornhoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Budd Bornhoff, and seventh grader Ron Uelch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Uelch. Both youths are from Wayne.

Nine students from grades five, seven and eight at the middle school took part in the competition.

BONANZA OF BOATS

All kinds of boats are available to campers today, including those made of rubber, fiberglass, wood and canvas. These fold up, out, down, can be blown up, fitted together, or go in one piece.

Car-top and trunk boats are available in more different kinds than ever before.

Inflatable rubber boats, which fold into small, lightweight packages, are great for campers with motor-homes, for they can be tied down on a rack atop the vehicle.

Folding (jointed) aluminum boats, which usually fold into a long, slender package that is compact and easy for one person to handle, are popular with families carrying lots of gear on top of their cars. Those persons headed for high mountain country where any strenuous activity is physically demanding favor fiberglass and aluminum skiffs and canoes weighing under 75 pounds.

TROUT ON A DIET?

Fee fishing for trout at Two Rivers near Venice is as productive as ever in numbers of fish caught, but the trout appear to be running smaller... about 9 to 10 inches. A tiny Chepps springer and small red-and-white Dandevite produced five trout in about two hours. Cheese-baited hooks would probably have turned the trick sooner.

For young and old alike, Two Rivers almost guarantees a near limit. Since the April 1 opening, fishermen have averaged about four fish each—8,139 anglers and 32,678 trout. One day, every angler had a perfect score—limit of five trout. However, it was so cold and windy that day (April 9) only four fishermen braved the elements.

Bluestem Lake near Sprague produced three lunker walleye—7 pounds, 4½ pounds, and 4 pounds—plus three bass from 1½ to 2½ pounds, all on yellow doll flies, for this writer, son and his buddy. A switch from artificials to small minnows produced 8 to 10½ inch crappie, in the same spot, on almost every cast.

40 4-H'ers Attend Swine Camp

Forty 4-H members attended the second annual swine project camp at the Northeast Station on Friday and Saturday.

Nine Northeast Nebraska counties were represented as 4-H'ers heard University of Nebraska Lincoln and industry speakers lecture on nutrition, swine production developments, feed and leg problems in swine confinement, product promotion, swine judging, showing and fitting and live animal evaluation.

The camp members were also given a tour of the swine research facilities at the North east Station.

At the close of the camp a written examination was given covering information presented during the lectures. Daryl D. Peed of Verdell won the first place trophy and Lonnie Bermet of Randolph won the second place trophy. Trophies were sponsored by the Northeast Pork Producers Association.

The 4-H swine camp was sponsored by the UNL Extension Service.

Students Take Pimsleur Test

Eighth grade students at Wayne Middle School took the Pimsleur Language Aptitude Test Monday.

Administered by Ken Carlson, high school counselor, the test is used to help school officials advise next year's freshmen regarding taking German in high school.

The tests help students determine their ability to successfully study foreign languages, Carlson said. If it uses a tape recording of a relatively unknown foreign language and attempts to determine the student's ability to distinguish different sounds which make up words.

Four years of German are available at the high school.

WHS Students Score High in National Test

Five Wayne High School students are among the 27 Nebraska high school German students who scored 90 or above in the national German tests.

Three of those five students are eligible for a free trip to Germany which will be awarded one student from each state. A total of 30 second, third and fourth year German students from Wayne High took the tests.

Mike Schmoltd, who had the highest score of the WHS students, 98, does not qualify for the free trip because of his age.

A freshman, Schmoltd completed two years of German in his first year.

The tests were given in early March but results were not announced until last week, she said.

Senior Joyce Haun, who received a test score of 97, did not apply for the free trip. Julie Stephens, a sophomore, received a 96, senior Lisa Lesh, a 95 and junior Lee Ann Richardson a 90.

The state winner will be announced by the awards director in Pennsylvania after consideration by a committee of academic ratings, grade point averages and letters of recommendation for each of the applicants.

If the city permits NPPD to construct poles higher than the zoning limit, the city could jeopardize state and federal funds to help with future work at the airport, said Dan Sherry, city clerk.

Familiar Faces Make Area Teacher Happy

By BOB BARTLETT
 It took Wakefield's Elaine Reher 30 years to graduate from college, but to her it was worth the time.
 Mrs. Reher, a substitute teacher at Emerson-Hubbard and District 25, nine miles south of Wakefield, gave up going to college in 1942 after only one year to take up one of her greatest loves — teaching.
 "I love kids," she cited as her reason for going into the teaching ranks, "and I want to help them." Mrs. Reher took the rural job at the now defunct District 27 near Wakefield.
 "I went to Wayne State during the 1941-42 term," she pointed out, "and decided to start teaching after 41 hours of studies."
 But in the fall of 1943 she gave up teaching and the possibility of going back to college to get married.

 During her year at District 27, Mrs. Reher taught some of the fathers of several children she has been teaching the past few weeks at District 25. One was Pael Henschke of rural Wakefield. At that time, he was in the sixth grade—the same grade his son Tony is in now.
 "I wondered at first when I came here if I would recognize any of the kids' faces," she noted, pointing out that the name Henschke was quite familiar to her when she saw it on the class roster.
 The name Greve rang another bell in her memory. Harley and Hayley Greve are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greve. Howard also was Mrs. Reher's pupil at District 27.

"This is one of the rewards of teaching," she said, "seeing the children of your former students and having them in your class."
 The area teacher reflected for a bit on the reason she returned to college and teaching while her class took time out for recess.
 She decided to go back to college in 1968 after her husband and daughter were killed in an auto crash.
 "The doctor thought it would be best for me to get my mind off of things I at that time she owned the TNT motel near Wakefield) and start doing something," she said. She made up her mind to go back to college after she recovered from the accident.
 Mrs. Reher, who still owns the motel, said that after she returned to college and began to get involved in her studies, she "knew that I had to share my knowledge and the best way to do that is through teaching."

 During her time in college, she added, it was "kind of a low blow" to see two of her three children get college degrees.
 "My youngest daughter, Cindy, was in the eighth grade, really helped me," she pointed out. "Actually, I think she got a college education at the same time I did."
 Before graduation in 1971, Mrs. Reher received considerable help from the two other members of her family. Her son, Ron of Blair, and daughter, Mrs. Charles Cashell of Omaha, were always ready with advice, she said. "It use to be that when my daughter was about to take a tough college test, she would ask me to say a prayer for her."

 The things turned around.
 Before Mrs. Reher had a hard exam, she would ask her daughter to say a prayer for her. Her youngest daughter's comment at the time: "You know, it sure takes a lot of prayers to put someone through college."
 Last Friday Mrs. Reher finished her role as a substitute teacher at District 25.
 Beginning next fall she will take on a distinctive title, the only rural teacher in Thurston County.
 Mrs. Reher, who will have about 14 pupils, will take over for two rural Thurston County teachers who will retire.
 Because the number of children going to rural schools is ABOUT 30 years ago Mrs. Reher taught the fathers of these children. Paul Henschke, Tony's father, was a sixth grader at that time — the same grade Tony, left, presently is in. Harley and Harvey Greve's father, Howard, was in the first grade during her first year of teaching at District 27 near Wakefield.

Ak-Sar-Ben Completes Show Plans

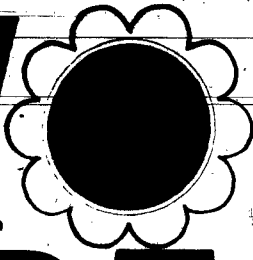

Plans have been completed for Ak Sar Ben's four summer shows, reports Willis A. Strauss, chairman of the Member Shows Committee.
 Because of the record crowds which attended the Wayne Newton Show last month, Ak Sar Ben has arranged to expand the final four shows to six nights each. All four will run Monday through Saturday.
 Mr. Green Jeans of the daily morning television show, "Captain Kangaroo," will host the Second Family Show, Aug. 27-Sept. 1. The show will be complete with fireworks.
 A record 51,160 attended the Newton Show. The previous high had been the 38,450 who attended the Debbie Reynolds Show last September. The Newton Show attracted 45,685 for the five regularly scheduled performances and 5,475 for a special matinee on Sunday.
 Seating capacity for the indoor shows is 8,500 which had been previously exceeded only once since Ak Sar Ben began scheduling each show for five nights.
 "Ak Sar Ben is very sorry for the inconvenience to many members who could not get in or who had to stand for the Newton Show," Strauss said. "We are doing everything possible to assure our members the finest in entertainment and the finest in accommodations."
 The revised schedule: July 23 July 28, First Family Show, Guest host Sesame Street's Bob McGrath; Aug. 6 Aug. 11, Tony Sandler & Ralph Young Show; Aug. 20 Aug. 25, Florence Henderson-Ray Price-The Imperials Show; Aug. 27-Sept. 1, Second Family Show, Guest host, Mr. Green Jeans of Captain Kangaroo Show.

Two Injured In Accident At Wakefield

Two rural Wakefield people were treated and released from the Wakefield Hospital following a two-car crash Saturday night at the intersection of Seventh and Michener in Wakefield.
 Debra Gerling and Ed Gustafson were taken to the hospital by the Wakefield rescue squad, with minor injuries. Gerling was released the same day while Gustafson was held over and released Sunday.
 According to the investigating officer, police chief Darrel Iverson, Gerling was headed south on Michener when she stopped at a stop sign before proceeding into the intersection and striking the Gerling vehicle. The force of the impact then sent Gustafson's eastbound car into a ditch.
 Gerling was issued a summons for failing to yield the right of way, Iverson said.

A Look at Waldbaum's

ABOUT 60 macaroni firms were represented by some 78 persons during a tour of the Milton G. Waldbaum Co. egg plant in Wakefield Tuesday as the representatives got a glimpse at how eggs are processed at the plant. During the morning session, Wakefield employees fielded questions from the visitors as they explained the plant's operations. At top left, Don Miller of Wakefield listens to Angelo Capozzi, plant manager at Primo Importing and Distributing Co. in Ontario, Canada, during one of the question periods. Above right, Laura Backstrom of Wakefield checks over the eggs after the shells have been broken as the tour continues behind her. At right, Wakefield plant manager Dan Gardner takes a time out during the tours to talk with the representatives. The representatives were in Omaha this week for tours of food processing plants.

Medicare payments to Nebraskans amounted to approximately $62,221,000 in the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1972, Congressman Charles Thone announced.

Of the total, about $45,328,000 was disbursed under the hospital insurance program which benefits almost all persons aged 65 and over.

Placed in the cornerstone during the Sunday ceremony were the following items, as described by Walter Moller, chairman of the remodeling committee: church directory, list of present elders, list of ministers who have served the church since its origin, an April 22, 1973 copy of The Wayne Herald, a copy of the 75th anniversary program, a list of committees and a United Presbyterian Women's Association program.

Mrs. Marie Skokan and committee members served at the reception which followed the ceremony.

Members of the remodeling committee were Walter Moller, chairman; Mrs. A. T. Kavanaugh; Mrs. Robert Bentzack; Mrs. Alan Cramer; Roy Christensen; Francis Haun; Joyce Haun; Ralph Beckenbauer; Dr. Ken Liska; Gerald Jackson; Carl Lentz; Adon Jeffrey; Jackie March; Raymond Schreiner; and William Moller.

Exon's 'no' on acquiring Hiram Scott leaves some senators, Panhandle residents fumin'

LINCOLN — Gov. J. James Exon said "yes" and "no" to the Legislature last week.

He said "yes" to the operations budget bill while expressing some misgivings.

And he said "no" to the Hiram Scott College acquisition measure, arousing the ire of sponsor Terry Carpenter.

The fire-breathing senator from Scottsbluff, who had shepherded through by the barest possible margin a measure in which the state would receive a gift for the University of Nebraska the defunct college's buildings, wasn't at all pleased with the governor's veto.

He promised to attempt an override when lawmakers regathered this week after Easter recess. But Carpenter, recalling that the bill received only 25 votes when it passed and would need at least 30 to override an Exon veto, said he expected his effort would be futile.

As for the budget bill, Exon put his signature on it and said it was the "first step" toward reducing next year's state income tax rate by 33 per cent — from 15 per cent to 10 per cent of federal income tax liability.

But he said the legislators still would have to exercise fiscal restraint in the coming days of the 1973 session if they expected the tax cut to come true.

The sales tax could be cut back from 2½ per cent to 2 per cent, he said, if the Legislature would agree — and as of the Easter recess there had been no such agreement — to make the federal revenue sharing money available for general fund expenditures.

The governor also indicated he still was peeved that the lawmakers — in their decision to adopt the Exon budget without amendments, his or theirs — hadn't tacked on the $366,105 in recommendations he had endorsed after the original bill was drafted.

Furthermore, Exon said in an announcement when he signed the bill that he hoped the senators would adopt his $18 million capital construction bill.

At the time of the recess, a decision to skip any appropriations for buildings during the 1973-74 fiscal year still was in force. That was subject to change this week, however.

Turning back to the Hiram Scott situation, Exon said in his veto message there needs to be more planning before the state accepts new facilities, even as a gift.

"Let us recognize that the offer of some free land and buildings which have recently been professionally appraised at less than $1 million at Hiram Scott is not the critical test as to whether or not the university should expand westward," he said.

"As appreciative as the state and the university are for such an attractive proposal, we should realize that such an offer does not, in and of itself, justify the proposition."

"If and when the university accepts such a gift," the veto message said, "it should be forthrightly recognized that staff, administration and related expenses are the major multi-million dollar expenditures that would be faced in the future."

The university has said it would operate agricultural research and rural medicine programs at Hiram Scott if it received the facilities. Exon said the programs weren't specifically drawn and he wouldn't support a move to acquire the campus until they were and until "realistic costs can be projected at least five years into the future."

There was no money included for operating Hiram Scott in the Exon budget recently passed and signed, so the governor said.

"It is difficult to see how the university could immediately accept any physical plant without at least funds for insurance, surveillance and upkeep."

Carpenter, who had been the leader of the legislative move to get the Exon budget adopted without change, said the Exon veto was based on politics.

He said Exon had looked at the political clout of the Scottsbluff area and at the potential votes from the areas of the four state colleges — which had opposed the acquisition bill on grounds that Hiram Scott would amount to competition — and decided to go with the state colleges.

Carpenter wasn't the only Scottsbluff resident who was unhappy with the veto.

Don Jacobson, manager of the Scottsbluff-Gering Chamber of Commerce, put it bluntly:

"I trust the governor will not include the Scottsbluff-Gering area on any future itinerary."

One of the reasons put forward for the acquisition of Hiram Scott was that it would help tie the Panhandle to the remainder of the state. Scottsbluff Mayor C. A. Thomas recalled that Exon had promised to do something about a feeling the area had been "forgotten." Said Thomas of the veto: "Today, he apparently did."

The governor's four-page veto message carried some compliments for western Nebraska, pointing to its "excellent environment and recreational facilities" and its "unlimited development potential," but he didn't stop the complaints from the west.

May 13, 1943: Fire which is thought to have started near the separator destroyed the Leland Johnson farm home near Concord last Wednesday night. Harry Sellin suffered a wrenched back and neck injury Monday when a team ran away. A cold rain amounting to a half inch fell early Wednesday. The Methodist Church is making extensive improvements in the church parlors. The first of weekly parades of Wayne college army air corps detachment will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. at the parade grounds east of the college physical training building. Wilbur, son of Henry Nolte, northeast of Wayne, fractured his right arm Friday evening when he fell from a telephone pole while repairing a line.

Rev. Robert Bulkeley, who has served the local Baptist Church since March, 1945, has resigned effective May 23.

April 30, 1953: Last Tuesday afternoon's grass fire was on the Oscar Bjorklund farm. Eighteen doctors attended the district meeting held at Hotel Morrison Thursday night. Gary Miller, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller, fell and broke his right leg while playing at morning recess at District 48 Tuesday morning. It has been cold, damp and miserable this past week. Cold weather came back into the region just when everyone thought sunshine was on the way. Mrs. Fred Jochens, Hoskins, suffered a broken arm and several cracked ribs in a fall Friday night. A call for the first baseball practice of the season has been issued by Norris Weible, head of Wayne's baseball organization for 1953.

OBSERVATIONS

Time for a closer look?

We're wondering if some public commission should be formed to look into the way Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) has been conducting construction of its 230,000-volt transmission line between Norfolk and Dakota City.

Numerous farmers have publicly said that persons sent out by NPPD to negotiate prices for easement rights across their land have lied to them, telling them one thing during one meeting and then coming back and telling them something else at a later meeting. Another farmer has said that NPPD will not move one of the poles on his land so he can use central irrigation unless he drops all his complaints against the company.

Many farmers have said that NPPD is running roughshod over them, refusing to abide by laws or common decency in negotiating prices for their land. One farmer says NPPD built part of the transmission line without applying to the state for a construction permit, something which the power company knew full well it was supposed to do.

We do not know how many of these charges are true. We do know that the power company has made a large number of farmers and landowners in this area very angry over the way it has gone about constructing the line. Maybe it is impossible to build such a line without making people angry. And maybe there is something behind some of the charges being made by the farmers. A public commission might be just the thing to glean the truth from all the charges.

Do a little promoting

It looks like the new hospital which will be built in Wayne is already serving as a magnet to attract more medical personnel to the city.

A doctor now practicing medicine in California has decided to move back to Wayne, the community he practiced in several years ago. Another doctor from a large city in the Midwest was in the Wayne area recently visiting with doctors and others about the possibility of his moving to some small town in northeast Nebraska to set up practice.

But the hospital isn't going to attract these doctors, nurses and others to the community without work by everybody in the area. If you have a relative or friend who is a doctor in some large city, tell him about the new hospital which will be built here. Invite him to come to the community and see what it has to offer. To many doctors living in large cities, a small town like Wayne might be just the place he would like to practice and raise a family. It would be quite a feather in your cap if you could look back at some future date and say you had a hand in getting another doctor, nurse or the like to move to this part of the state.

Metrics — New Rulers

American motorists may have to face some new rulers in the not too distant future.

Adoption of the metric system of measurements was recommended by the National Academy of Science in 1866, but it has been actively ignored by the public, government and industry ever since. Now, Congress is re-examining possible benefits gained from putting the universal system into practice. When and if it happens, we will be the last major country in the world to make the change-over.

Detroit cars are moving gradually toward metric measurement specifications, particularly in their new compact models, but the conversion to metrics will not take place overnight. Some authorities say it will take 10 to 20 years, others expect it to take longer.

Much psychological pain is anticipated during the transition period. Adjusting to the new number language will affect everything from groceries to gasoline, from barometer calibrations to highway speed limit signs. During the transition period, if you want five pounds of potatoes, you'll have to ask for 2.26 kilograms of them. Of course, you also could ask for three kilos and receive slightly over 6½ pounds of potatoes.

Although 60 mph speed limit signs could be changed to the direct metric equivalent — 96 kilometers per hour — this is not likely to happen. The speed limit, for instance, could be raised to 62 mph and posted at 100 kph.

In buying 10 gallons of gas, instead of asking for 37.85 liters, more than likely you'll continue to ask for $2 worth or have the station attendant "fill 'er up." In time, you'll begin thinking in the new, easy-to-work-with measurement language and wonder why we held to the more difficult system so long.

It's expected that inches, quarts and pounds will remain in use, side-by-side with meters, liters and kilos for many, many years. The speedometer in one new car is calibrated in both miles per hour and kilometers per hour and metrics are widely used in identifying bolt and spark plug sizes. Like the dual-calibrated speedometer, many companies already are helping to make the transition less painful by displaying both the U. S. and metric measurements on straight edge and tape rulers and on many packages ranging from engine anti-freeze to oil.

Blind Children Leading Productive Lives

Blindness doesn't have to be a handicap. Just ask the children at the Nebraska School for the Visually Handicapped.

Gwen Conley and Robert Kalin have been partially handicapped since birth. But both sixth graders are learning about life the same as normally sighted children.

"We are trying to teach the visually handicapped to become contributing members of the community," said Jerry Regler, the school's superintendent, during Monday's Kiwanis meeting in Wayne.

Gwen, from Omaha, and Robert, from Burchard, demonstrated use of a Braille typewriter and how to read the letters during the meeting.

"Not all the kids at the school are required to know Braille," Regler said, "just those whose sight is so impaired they cannot see clearly."

A program of general education is provided from kindergarten through high school, at the Nebraska City school, he said. The serious study of Braille is introduced and used as a medium of instruction for those who require it, he said.

Basic academic subjects as well as homemaking, shop, physical education, typewriting and music are offered as a part of each child's education.

For Gwen, her school day starts out with an 8 a.m. band session, followed by hourly classes in science, language arts and homemaking. After lunch and a half hour break, she resumes classes at 1 p.m. with typing, physical education and piano. At 3:30 she goes back to her dormitory.

"Most of our 60 children live in the dorms at the school," Regler explained, adding that some of them go home on the weekends.

The school, which runs for nine months of the year, derives funds from state taxes and is administered by the State Department of Education. Room, board and education facilities, he noted, are provided without charge to all visually handicapped individuals in Nebraska.

"To be eligible for admittance a child must have a loss of vision to such an extent that the local school district cannot provide him the opportunity for an adequate education," he said.

When the school was established in 1985, the central thought in mind was to help the child be self-sufficient. That goal hasn't changed, Regler commented, "but we have added a few things to it."

The Nebraska City school has a good recreational program, including wrestling, bowling and skating, dancing and a new course—track—to help the child develop new skills.

Turning to the business side of the meeting, Don Spitze, Wayne County agricultural agent, was inducted as a new member.

President Bob Carhart announced that Monday each of the committees will meet, along with the board.

Documentary To Spotlight NEN Center

"Take Another Look," featuring the Northeast Nebraska Opportunity Center in South Sioux City, is a special documentary on community-based programs for mentally retarded adults which will be presented this Saturday from 6:30 to 7 p.m. on television Channel 14 in Sioux City.

Community based programs such as the opportunity center have been recognized as an alternative to state institutions and county homes for retarded citizens, according to personnel at the Region IV office of Developmental Disabilities in Wayne.

Major goal of community-based programs is to keep retarded citizens in their own communities, providing training and guidance in vocational, social and personal skills.

The Northeast Nebraska Opportunity Center, which serves Burl, Cedar, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Thurston and Wayne Counties, has been in operation since February of 1972.

Stumped?
I was stumped — both figuratively and literally — the other day when Arnold Marr of the Soil Conservation Service brought into the office a cottonwood tree stump with the bark eaten off at the soil line and below.

The stump sat around the office several days while I tried to figure out what caused the damage.

Because of the nature of the damage most rodents could be eliminated.

I checked with our extension wildlife specialist, and he said the damage was caused by field mice that burrowed into the ground to keep warm and then needed food — hence the eating of the bark and outer part of roots below the soil line. In trees damaged by mice, I've always found the damage at the soil line and up instead of the other way around. Just proves that there are exceptions to every rule.

More Questions
One of the more frequent questions I'm asked is whether certain herbicide-fertilizer combinations are physically compatible. The best answer to that question is to make your own test.

1. Add about one quart of the liquid fertilizer to a jar. 2. Add the required herbicide in the same proportion as you would in the field. There are available compatibility check charts that will supply this information. 3. Shake the jars and allow to stand 10 minutes and observe.

If after standing the herbicide does not separate either as a precipitate or oily layer, a mixture has been formed which can be used. If a precipitate or oily layer does form but shaking reforms the mixture, the combination can be used with vigorous agitation.

Another possibility in helping the compatibility problem is using a so-called compatibility agent. Use the above mentioned test but add one teaspoonful of a compatibility agent to another jar of the mixture. If after two days standing the ingredients are still mixed, you can go ahead and use it.

Mixing Herbicides
Here are some tips on mixing herbicides. Make a slurry of wettable powder herbicides before addition to the spray tank. If you don't do this you may end up with globs of unwetted material in the tank.

When making a tank mixture of a wettable powder and an emulsifiable concentrate, first make a slurry of the wettable powder and add it to a tank 3/4 full of water. The emulsifiable concentrate should then be added followed by the water. If you reverse the procedure you may have real problems.

Strawberries and Weeds
Mulches of straw or black plastic can help you control weeds in strawberries. Plastic works best when the strawberries are maintained as bushes in rows.

Dacthal does a good job of controlling annual grass weeds in strawberries. It can be used on established beds or new plantings. Make certain it is used before weed seed germination.

Use four and a half table spoons of Dacthal 75W to one gallon of water applied to 250 square feet. On lighter soil you may need to use only three level table spoons of Dacthal per 250 square feet.

Complications Come One After Another

For the life of me I can't figure out why people keep complicating already complicated things. For instance, a bag of certified seed corn.

Now that may not sound like such a complicated thing. But it is.

I can remember (and I like to think I'm not too ancient) when we used to set in the corn crib in March, selecting the choice ears of corn and hand shelling the center kernels for spring planting. The remainder of the corn on the cob was a mid-day treat for the pigs.

But, of course, mechanism and big farming have outdated this pioneer way of getting seed corn. If you have about 200 acres of corn to plant it would take most of the spring to shell enough corn.

First, the farmer is confronted by numerous excellent brands of corn. Usually the selection of brand is influenced by whatever brand Neighbor John, Bob or Marion is selling.

But choosing one of the umpteenth brands available is only the beginning of the complicated decision.

Practically every type of every brand is available in many sizes. Beginning with small, medium and large. Each you forget a thing like that when you knew very well right where you planted that corn.

But that was last year — before cultivating, haying, oat harvesting, pig farrowing and lots of other things you were going to remember. At least this year you're going to take a pencil with you to the field. That is, if you don't get in too big a hurry to get started planting.

And then, again, maybe you'll take time to read the tag on the bag of seed corn. It's sort of interesting to see about where the seed came from. At least it tells which state and which lot — wherever that may be. It also tells you which percentage is inert seed.

That'll be the day when they get all the inert seed out.

The tag will also tell you about how many kernels of that sack is going to germinate. Well, if it says 99.50 per cent is good germination, you know that just about every kernel in that sack will grow.

Someone even won the argument over the number of seeds in each sack. Several years ago someone decided that some sizes of corn had more kernels per bushel. Therefore, if you bought that size you'd have more hills of corn for your money.

Heck, a fellow can't even get away with that now. Someone came up with the idea of putting the same number of kernels in each sack.

Then about the time they get things beyond figuring out, someone comes up with some thing new. The way out of the complicated, graded corn con-

Lower Elkhorn NRD Okays $200,000 for Land, Water Programs

A land and water assistance program which will help replace the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP), which was terminated by the federal government in December, has been adopted by the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District.

The Lower Elkhorn NRD board has allocated $200,000 annually to fund the program for the 13-county area in the district. The money will be raised by a one-half mill tax on tangible property, according to the district's general manager, Steve Oltmans.

Areas to be developed include multi purpose dams, terraces, livestock waste control systems, diversions, grass seeding, road structures and park and recreational facilities.

Oltmans noted that the action of the NRD board will be watched closely throughout the state and the nation because "this is the first program of this type to be initiated." It is more extensive than any proposed by any other local division of government, he said.

The program is available to landowners, cities and counties in the NRD. Applications may be made at any Soil Conservation Office throughout the Lower Elkhorn NRD.

The NRD board has committed itself to helping complete the soil surveys in the 13 counties that either have considerable work left or have not begun mapping soils of their area.

Where available, soil surveys have been used to determine the capability of the soil to support certain kinds of crops.

Recently, the use of soil surveys has saved large sums of money in the development of highways, irrigation and watershed development in addition to making fair and equitable rates for taxing purposes, according to Oltmans.

Assistant manager Gene Stoklasa reported to the board recently that aerial photos have been taken and are now being plotted for the survey work on the proposed Maskenthine dam site one mile north of Stanton.

Operation EDITH Is Near

Are you getting ready for your own family fire drill when Operation EDITH time arrives on Saturday, May 12, at 8:30 p.m.?

Operation EDITH is the life-saving project which urges every householder to prepare an emergency escape plan for his home, and to practice it on this special night of Fire Recognition Day.

To help you plan for your own home, here are pointers from Wayne volunteer fire chief Cliff Pinkelman:

—Carefully figure out at least two routes to the outside from every room and floor in the house, especially bedrooms. Allow for blocking of stairways and halls by fire.

—Particularly for nighttime fires, remember that closed bedroom doors will hold back flame and smoke, allowing extra time for escape.

—For upper floor escape, use any available porch and garage roofs, ladders or trees as ways down to safety. Be sure exit windows work easily, and that they are low and large enough to get through.

—Pick an outside assembly point where the family will meet, and be sure everyone understands the rule, "once out—stay out."

—Know how to call the fire department, by neighbor's phone, and do this as quickly as the house is clear of people in case of actual fire.

To be effective, says Pinkelman, the children in the family should participate fully in your fire drill.

—Experience proves that children who have been well-trained will react intelligently in a fire emergency," according to the fire chief. "This added protection for children is one of the biggest dividends from family fire drills," he declared.

Improving home seen as better way to modern living

The national concept of home ownership appears to have achieved a maturity over the years that opens the way to a better life for more families through improvement of their existing properties.

Or, as Edgar V. Hall, Executive Director of the National Home Improvement Council, an organization with chapters almost everywhere in the United States, puts it:

"The home owner of not so many years ago parted begrudgingly with a few hundred dollars to keep his home in good repair."

"But now, home owners look upon outlays of moneys which may amount to much more, as an investment in better living."

In addition, it is generally recognized that money spent for home improvements in the modern sense — which means up-dating their appearance and their facilities for living — can contribute substantially to the value of a property.

Thus, should a time come when the owner may want to or have to dispose of the home, it is going to be a lot more marketable than it might have been without improvements.

Impressive total

All this accounts for the fact that an estimated $17 million a year is now being put into home improvements by more owners of existing homes.

Their objectives are made easier to achieve by an industry that has innovated new materials, by contractors who have extended their capacities and skills beyond the basic "fix-up paint-up" jobs into the creative areas of home improvement in terms of planning and installing modern new kitchens, luxurious bathrooms.

Yet more assistance is available to the home owner who has the opportunity through the development of an exciting variety of power tools to actively engage in making many home improvements himself.

Advancing skills

In fact, the advancing skills of many do-it-yourselfers, further assisted by the new materials now on the market, have graduated them from making bird houses and installing storage shelves, to artisans in their own right, able to execute their own original ideas.

The considerable variety of easily handled wall-board decorative panelling and tiles available from building supply-stores, come to mind here.

Yes, the day is here when the home without its "workshop" fitted out with basic tools for use by the head of the house may no longer be considered completely equipped.

Apartment department

The advancing skills of the do-it-yourselfers — and they now include many women as well as men — spill over into the apartment house. Whether the apartments are condominiums, cooperatives or just rented, there are many opportunities for improvements the do-it-yourselfer can accomplish to reflect the personality and enhance the way of life for the occupants.

For the individual home owner there are overwhelming reasons why home improvement should go beyond the essential need for maintaining the property in good condition by making repairs as required by wear and tear and the weather.

Among these reasons is one that is social in its significance, economic in its importance.

Not at all unique is the widespread interest on the part of many people in good homes that have been "lived in" — that have stood the test of family life. The only other requirement of these people is that such homes be "up to date" in appearance and in built-in facilities that are in step with modern living.

Keep pace

Obviously the home that has kept pace with this trend is going to be a lot more marketable.

Among such homes are the ones that come on the market when the children have grown up and moved away, to make a home of their own.

Similarly the mobility of young couples with one or more children — young couples on the way up who find it necessary to move from city to city as they advance in their careers — constitutes a market for "lived in" homes. They will want the most modern up-dated homes they can find.

And in reverse, these same young couples, who no doubt have already acquired a home in the city from which they are moving, will be better off when it comes to disposing of it, if the home they are leaving has been improved, up-dated to the moment of their departure.

The concept of home improvement opens wide the opportunity for a new and approved way of life for all families — to serve some practical need, some internal urge toward bettering one's way of life, to enhance one's economic security.

Kitchen triangle works wonders for saving steps

A most reliable check for a kitchen plan is what is called the work triangle.

Measure the distance from the front edge of your sink to the front of the refrigerator, and the refrigerator to the sink. This path across the floor should not be less than 4 feet nor more than 7 feet with the exception of the path from the refrigerator to the range, which could be 8 or 9 feet.

Those who bear in mind the work triangle when planning a new kitchen will have a beautifully planned kitchen.

It's as simple as measuring for a pattern, so explains Joyce Hartwell, the Lady Carpenter, as she instructs one of her apt pupils in the art of measuring for wall panelling. In the above photo, they prepare to panel a mini-kitchen area using U.S. Plywood's new Surfwood pattern, Autumn Smoke.

Homeowners' brick wall an economical investment

Brick walls may not only be an attractive choice for your home, they could save you a pocketful of money.

Because the walls represent only a small part (five to 10 per cent) of the cost of your home, the choice of fireproof brick or brick veneer over another siding material increases monthly mortgage payments by just a few dollars, according to the Brick Institute of America.

Five years later, however, the brick homeowner will find himself merely washing his brick walls with a few pennies worth of water, while his neighbor spends $750 to $1,000 having his home repainted.

These and other considerations are discussed in the new full color BIA booklet, "Home Buyers Guide to Brick." For a copy of the 16-page booklet, send 25 cents in coin to the Brick Institute of America, 1750 Old Meadow Road, McLean, Virginia 22101.

HANDY IDEA

Wearing an old pair of gloves helps save hands while painting and staining around the home.

OPEN SUGGESTION

Ventilation is important when painting or staining. Be sure windows are open to be safe.

Wide variety of sinks calls for pre-planning

When you select your kitchen sink you will be confronted with a variety of colors, sizes and number of bowls and materials from which to choose.

Because of its relative low cost, porcelain enamel on steel has long been the most widely used. The heavier, stain-resistant porcelain enamel on cast iron sink has generally been found only in more expensive kitchens.

Stainless steel sinks, which are easier to install because they are lighter and have a self-rim, are quite popular these days, even though there have been reports that they are noisy, scratch easily and show finger marks.

Seek recommendations when selecting qualified contractor

Probably the most critical step in a major home improvement project is the selection of a qualified and reliable remodeler. While most contractors are reliable and competent businessmen, there are always exceptions in any business. If you lack specific recommendations from friends who have been satisfied with a contractor's work, there are other sources of information about qualified contractors.

Excellent sources: Your banker, savings and loan association, building materials dealer are excellent sources. Another source is your local chapter of the National Home Improvement Council whose member contractors subscribe to and comply with an exacting code of ethics.

The Better Business Bureau in your locale can often be of help in your search for a reputable remodeler.

If you plan to get competitive bids from at least three contractors, which is a wise practice, remember to give each contractor exactly the same plans and specifications on which to bid.

You should advise them that you are getting bids and you shouldn't feel bashful about asking for customer and bank references. If you could arrange to inspect some already completed projects, this would be helpful in making your final decision.

If plans are required, insist that you okay them before work begins. See the plan and study it. You may want to discuss changes. When the plan meets your requirements, then approve it.

Remember that all materials should be specified by brand names and quantity.

Lastly, take your time making your selection. Don't be stampeded into a situation which you may regret. Improving your home can and should be a joyous experience. A poor relationship with the contractor will guarantee it to be a nightmarish experience.

Nails come in many sizes. Be sure you have the correct size for the job.

Realistic Remodeling

The National Home Improvement Council cautions the homeowner who expects to recover his investment in home improvement when he sells his present home not to put more money into the remodeling project than he can realistically hope to retrieve.

For example, if a homeowner's house is presently worth $50,000 on the market and his remodeling investment is $25,000, he will most likely not find a buyer for $75,000.

The Council also provides a rule of thumb estimate for various remodeling projects. Naturally, costs vary from region to region. Also, the variety of work done under the various classifications and the size of the space affected will influence costs.

Kitchen Remodeling	$2,500 to $6,500
Bathroom Modernizing	$1,500 to $4,000
Adding a Room	$20 to $40 per square foot
Finishing Basement
Recreation Room	$1,000 to $4,500

YARC Confab Attracts Over 200 Persons to WSC

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Thursday, May 3, 1973

LESLIE 11 Members Meet Thursday

Well over 200 persons turned out for the sixth annual state meeting of the Youth Association for Retarded Children (YARC) held this weekend in Wayne.

The group, which included YARC members, advisors and workshop participants, was the largest yet for a state convention, according to Mrs. Kenneth Sitzman of Wayne, local advisor.

Hosted by the local YARC, the convention was held on the Wayne State College campus. Students who spent more than one day stayed at Berry Hall and meals were served at the cafeteria.

The early part of Friday was set aside for registration and the executive meeting.

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Bill Woelter, Mrs. Jaycee, helped with registration. In the afternoon officer meetings were conducted by Doug Eicker of Milford, state president; Jeannie Ruml of Milford; Bev Diamon of Kearney; Deb Carroll of Wayne; and Ginni Bruce of Kearney.

Candidates for state offices were introduced by Eicher at the banquet Friday evening and slide presentations were given by the Omaha GOYARK and the Scottsbluff YARC. Keynote speaker was Bridget Brown of Omaha, a past state president.

YOUNG RICK KENNY of Carroll gets comforted by Deb Carroll of Wayne during one of the sessions for retarded youngsters at the Youth Association for Retarded Children held in Wayne over the weekend.

Her topic was "What Friends Are For."

A Friday evening basketball game between YARC members was highlighted by cheers led by two retarded youngsters. Retarded youths, ranging in age from 10 to 20, were present from Broken Bow, Aurora, Blair, Wakefield and Wayne to take part in the convention.

Present for the 9 p.m. advisor meeting Friday were Steve Sultes of Scottsbluff, Mr. and Mrs. David Berens of Superior, Mrs. Daphne Kuloldt of Clarks, Pat Henry and Helen Zaihu of Omaha, Lynn Hartman of West Point, Susan Kay of Hartington, Mrs. Watkins of Grand Island, LaVonne Maldonado of Kenard, Don Sutton of Hastings, Mrs. Robert Poritz of Milford and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Sitzman in charge of the meeting was state advisor Mrs. Gladys Maciezewski of Grand Island.

Kyle Heyen of Milford, second vice president; Lori Wolpa of Omaha, secretary; Judy McMahon of West Point, treasurer; and Jennifer Jenkins of Grand Island, public relations.

Saturday workshops focused on communication skills, cerebral palsy, group activities, swimming, make-it workshop, advocacy, SWEAT, leisure time, epilepsy and sexual education.

A special attraction Saturday was the appearance of 40 members of an 80-piece retarded children's band, directed by Dale Caris of Sioux City. YARC members gave the group its first standing ovation, and the performance as well as a special vocal selection by one of the musicians were dedicated to Deb Carroll.

Deb Carroll and Mrs. Sitzman were recognized at the Saturday night banquet and presented with corsages by Denise Hansen, state first vice-president. The outstanding boy and girl in each YARC group were recognized and certificates were presented newly affiliated organizations from Blair, York, Wahoo, Columbus, Broken Bow, Fremont, Lincoln and a group of communities which comprise the Centennial-YARC.

Convention participants were treated to a surprise event,

"The Dating Game," conducted by Mike McCurdy, following the Saturday night banquet.

The Rev. Paul Reimers from the Cooperative Christian Ministry on the WSC campus, conducted a worship service at the campus chapel in Connell Hall Sunday morning and the meeting wound up with a rap session and brunch.
