Hospital Ground Breaking: 'Goal Finally Reached'

MOTHER IMELDA digs, lifts, tosses and laughs during Monday's ground breaking ceremony at the site of the new hospital which will be built in Wayne. Looking on approvingly are others who took part in the ceremony, including Adon Jeffrey, Father Paul Begley, Kent Hall, Dr. Lyle Seymour, Dr. Robert Benthack and J. Alan Cramer.

"Today is the day we've all been awaiting for the past weeks, months, years," said Wayne mayor Kent Hall during Monday's formal ground breaking ceremonies at the site of the new hospital which will be built near Wayne State College. "Today wouldn't have come without the help of many, many people," Hall told the crowd of more than 100 which turned out for the event.

He complimented local and area residents for pushing the fund drive over its $500,000 goal, fund drive workers, the Missionary Benedictine Sisters of Norfolk for matching local contributions, the local city council for taking prompt action on issues related to the drive for the hospital and the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges for donating the land. Construction on the 26 bed,

$1.5 million facility will begin as soon as federal approval is given on bids opened in April. Approval is expected within the next few weeks, officials say. Replacing the present outdated municipal hospital in Wayne, the facility will be constructed on former college ground donated by the state board. It is expected to be completed by the fall of 1974. It will provide modern hospital services to a large area surrounding Wayne.

Speakers at Monday's ceremony noted that the day marks the beginning of a new time for this part of the state.

Dr. Lyle Seymour, interim president at Wayne State, said the hospital will improve medical facilities for students at the college as well as permit the college to offer more classes in the fields of health. The college is currently studying what courses might be offered through use of the hospital facilities.

J. Alan Cramer of Wayne, board of trustees member, said the decision to donate the land for the hospital shows the board members' interest in the communities where state colleges are located and the desire to see them prosper and progress.

Mother Imelda of the Missionary Benedictine Sisters at Norfolk told the crowd that "the key is in the lock and we will all help turn it." The door is about to open on a whole new period for this part of the state, she said, and everybody who has helped make the dream become possible should feel proud they had a part in it.

108 Seniors Will Graduate From Wayne High Monday

A total of 108 seniors will graduate from Wayne High School during commencement ceremonies at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium Monday night at 8 o'clock. Speaker for the event will be Dr. Milton J. Hassel, former acting president at Wayne State and currently in charge of developing innovative and non-traditional higher education programs for the State University of Nebraska.

Title of his talk "Style for the Future."

Named during the evening will be this year's valedictorian and salutatorian. Also named will be recipients of all scholarships and financial awards, including the winners of the seven scholarships to Wayne State. The scholarships, which pay half the tuition for four years, are made available by the college in recognition of the school's accepting student teachers.

Baccalaureate services for the class will be held Sunday afternoon at the city auditorium. Speaker for the 3:30 program will be the Rev. Robert Swanson, associate pastor for the Wayne United Methodist parish.

Sponsoring the services again this year will be the Wayne Ministerial Association.

Dr. Hassel was acting president at Wayne State for about five months in 1956. He taught at the college from 1947 to 1957. After four years as an administrator at Mankato State College at Mankato, Minn., he became president of Kearney State in 1961, holding that job for 10 years.

'Millionairess' Says Some of Prize Money To Buy Husband's Gift

A rural Wayne woman who was named "Millionairess for A Day" said she plans on spending some of her day's interest on a million dollars on her husband.

She is Mrs. Ernest Siefken, whose name was selected in a drawing Saturday as the winner in the total business promotion aimed at honoring mothers on Mother's Day.

Her prize was a check from the Chamber of Commerce for $137, a day's interest on one million dollars.

She said she wants to buy a new chair for her husband with the money to go into their newly remodeled home southeast of Wayne.

"I wish I could spend some of the money in every store in town, but that's not possible," she said. "I plan on buying the chair at a local furniture store because the Wayne businesses made the prize available," she added. "Maybe I'll be able to buy two of them, one for him and one for me."

The promotion, first of its kind in the city, offered friends and relatives a chance to register names of their favorite mothers in local businesses.

Inside today . . .

Two stories of interest to persons concerned about the fuel shortage appear inside this issue of The Wayne Herald.

One is by Congressman Charles Thone, who reports in his weekly letter to constituents that farmers will get top priority in the new federal plan for allocation of gasoline and diesel fuel. The article appears on the farm page.

The other is by the head of the National Chamber of Commerce, who says Americans can expect "informal rationing" in the future. His article appears on the editorial page.

Also inside today you'll find: —An in-depth look at Wayne High's opening round opponent in the class B state baseball tournament Monday at Lincoln — and a similar look at the local club. Turn to the sports page.

Find the most number of errors in this issue of The Wayne Herald and win yourself a $25 savings bond.

The staff of the newspaper is challenging its readers to see just how many errors they can find in one copy of the newspaper in its first "Find the Typos" contest.

All errors which appear in this issue of The Herald are eligible — spelling errors, lines which appear out of order, typographical goofs in advertisements, stories and information underneath pictures, wrong dates and the like.

Contestants have until Friday, May 25, to submit the total number of errors found and a copy of the newspaper with all errors circled in ink.

"We doubt if our readers will be able to find very many errors even though we have made no special effort to weed them out," said Norvin Hansen, editor.

"However, we could be in for quite a surprise," he added.

"The contest should be a lot of fun — for the readers as well as the staff," he said.

Search Group Inviting Nominations

Residents of the Wayne area have an invitation from the Wayne State presidential search committee: submit nominations for the presidency.

Dr. Ed Elliott, chairman of the committee, said nominations should come soon because the deadline for applications is July 15. If the committee is to invite nominees to apply, the applicants would need several weeks to react and send formal applications.

Dr. Elliott said the committee has had more than two dozen inquiries from potential candidates. The college has sent about 1,100 notices of the presidential opening.

Among qualifications for the office are these: the president should have an earned doctoral degree or equivalent, experience in teaching and administering, and should be, preferably, in the age range of 30 to 55.

Poppies on Sale

The Wayne American Legion Auxiliary will hold Poppy Day today (Thursday), with proceeds to go for needy and disabled veterans.

Mrs. Alvina Bush and Mrs. Larry Skokan are chairmen.

Seymour Tells Students To Accept 'Special Challenge'

Fifty-one students were issued a challenge Monday night to demonstrate and continue their leadership.

Dr. Lyle E. Seymour, president of Wayne State college, addressed the honor students in grades seven through 12 during the ninth annual Wayne Kiwanis scholastic achievement banquet at the Wayne State Student Union.

"Your presence here," he told the students and their parents, "proves that you are a cut above the average. It is your job to do something different—to continue your leadership."

Dr. Seymour pointed out that the students have shown themselves. See CHALLENGE, page 10

A BUTTERFLY TIE sets off the contrasting top stitching on Mark Schram's white shirt, and gives a dressed up look to the season's new vest top, a knit style with super wide bottom cuff available in several patterns and colors.

SCOTT EHLERS chooses a pocketed double knit polyester shirt with full fashion collar and textured trousers which show a two-and-a-half inch cuff.

Men To See Fashion Changes

By SANDRA BREITKREUTZ
Dramatic but not so bold describes the men's shirt scene for spring and summer, with refreshingly subdued shades replacing the bright, deep colors of the past two seasons.

Collar models are changing also, and many of the mellow pastels will be available for shorter, more widely spread collars which prove a perfect foil for the new butterfly bow ties. Button down collars are making a comeback, but they are wider and a half inch longer than their predecessors of several years ago. All the new colors and styles are available in double knit and dependable dacron cotton permanent press fabric blends.

Snatched from the 1950's and widened up to four and a half inches this season's bow ties will be featured in bold plaids, bright solids, sepruckers, crushed velvets and velours as well as basic black.

Double knit fabrics are almost completely dominating the dress pant scene, but with two new dimensions for spring—texture interest provided by textured weaves which are known as blister weaves, and cuffs.

The very large bell bottoms have become, with the addition of a single pleated front and a two-and-a-half-inch cuff, the now popular "baggy cuffs."

"If the pant is a moderate gentleman's flare (20" to 22") the cuff should be maintained at a two-inch width," our source tells us. "If the bottom measures or exceeds 24 inches, a full two-and-a-half inch cuff is the thing."

The young look in shoes is the super high or full platform heel (1 1/2" to 2 1/2"). Some are available in bright crinkle patent leather ready to be paired up with matching crinkle patent belts.

Also popular are the low-cut spring and summer hikers done up in brown waxed leather and featuring the blunt, box toe and plantation mottled crepe sole.

Belts, some perforated and many reversible, are running an inch and a half to two inches wide.

City Board Approves Backstop

The Wayne recreation board Monday night gave the go ahead to city recreation director Hank Overin to build a new backstop at the southwest corner of the city ball diamond to accommodate the growing number of baseball players.

Wayne Tietgen, secretary, said Overin intends to construct the backstop sometime in the early summer. Tietgen said the only cost to the city would be for wire and labor. Overin believes he has enough wood for the project.

Bruggeman 2nd

Despite another cold night at Norfolk's Riviera Raceway Sunday, area race drivers continued their winning ways.

For the second Sunday in a row, Hoskins' double O. Gerald Bruggeman, captured the A feature in the modifieds. Bruggeman also added the trophy dash award to his growing collection after taking a second in the third heat of the modified division.

Another Hoskins' native, Harold Brudigan, put in his bid during the wild B feature when he placed fourth in the modifieds.

Wakefield's Dennis Crippen grabbed two third-place finishes in the late model entries when he drove in the late model division and the A feature of the late model.

During the monthly board meeting the members announced that the city swimming pool will open Memorial Day, May 28. Also discussed was expanding the present swim meet schedule to include more area towns.

In other business, Overin told the board he will not head this year's men's softball league due to the increasing number of junior league baseball players. Overin did say he would help the team captains set up the program.

The board also: —Okayed the Wayne midget baseball team's annual trip to Aurora and St. Paul. The group is expected to leave May 29, return May 31.

—Approved paying $3 per person to students helping Overin in the baseball program who are not able to work because of rain. Generally, four students help Overin and receive about $6.50 a day.

—Gave the $150 annual allowance to the Wayne Girl Scouts and the $100 annual allowance to the Cub Scouts.

W-C school board deserves a round of applause

A tip of the hat to Wayne-Carrall school board members for their progressive thought in approving a girls volleyball program at the high school for next year.

And a round of applause for the board's adopting a resolution making girls and boys athletics equal to other programs in the school.

At last, girls in the school will have a chance to complete their education through competitive activity. What this means is that girls will have a chance to learn to cooperate with fellow human beings in working together as a team.

The lessons they learn in doing that should carry over after their high school days.

Perhaps some parents feel adoption of a girls volleyball program is a waste of time and money. Some may feel, as does the writer of a recent letter to the editor, that girls belong in the academic halls studying their lives away or occasionally peering from the sidelines with a cheer or two.

But the majority of parents with girls in school probably welcome this opportunity for girls to participate in sports.

In my talks with the various people on the subject, the majority feel that if there are enough girls interested in going out for volleyball — and are willing to work hard — why should parents be against offering such a program.

It may mean an increase in the school budget, but if the girls and instructors in charge of the program look around there are ways the financial burden on the school might be reduced.

Why don't the girls go out and sell candy or cookies or the like? Maybe that wouldn't pay for the entire cost of the volleyball program — estimated at $2,300 — but it could shave off that portion for, say, uniforms.

Figuring that there will be 18 girls selected for the varsity crew, the cost for uniforms should be about $400. Those girls interested in playing probably would be willing to go out and earn money for the program.

Note about the reserves or third string teams: At that level most of the girls would need a pair of shorts and white T-shirt with a numeral pasted or attached to the shirt. If that both schools agree, and most generally do — is all that would be needed to play interschool volleyball.

If both schools agree, and most generally do — is all that would be needed to play interschool volleyball.

There may be a lot more that I don't know about, and if there is I would welcome a comment or two.

If you wish your comment to be anonymous, please state so. The letter has to be signed, however.

If I am wrong about the majority of parents favoring a girls sports program, let me hear about it. Those in favor can drop me a line also.

A thousand apologies to Winside and Allen High Schools.

Two weeks ago the Lewis and Clark Conference held its annual track meet. I got the story with all the details, but it did not run in the newspaper.

Coeds Face SD Team in World Series

It's back to the College World Series for Wayne State's coed softball team. They are paired against the South Dakota champion at 7:45 p.m. Thursday in Omaha.

Coach G. J. Willoughby did not know Wednesday which South Dakota team.

The 16-team field, including defending champion Arizona State, will battle Thursday through Sunday at the Dill Softball Complex, 70th and Ames Streets.

Wayne State and the University of Nebraska Omaha will represent Nebraska in the World Series although they finished fourth and third, respectively, in the state tournament last week. Reasons champion Kearney State and runnerup Midland had not paid dues to the national organization before the November deadline, so were ineligible for World Series entry.

Kearney protested, but the Nebraska Intercollegiate Women's Sports Council ruled that national rules on dues had to stand. Therefore, only those colleges that had paid would be eligible to advance from the state meet to the World Series. This limited it to Wayne, UNO and UNL.

Wayne coeds have a season record of 9-5.

On Paper Devils Edge Cougars, But...

by BOB BARTLETT

"When you look at our statistics," said Omaha Gross High School baseball coach Stan Macaitis, "we don't look impressive. But we do have the potential."

Monday afternoon the Wayne High Devils will get a chance to see what Macaitis means when they take on the Cougars in the first round of Class B state baseball tournament at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln diamond.

Before the Omaha team entered the districts last week, the team's batting average was about .280. Gross completed its season with a 4-5 record before taking two district games to qualify for state.

"Most of the teams we played during our season were Class A teams from the Omaha region," Macaitis explained. Teams like Creighton Prep, Millard, Omaha Northwest and Papillion were on the roster.

"We hardly played any B teams until we came to the district," he noted. The Cougars knocked off Waterloo and Pope Paul VI by the scores of 2-0 and 5-2 to win the right to meet Wayne in the 12:30 p.m. game Monday.

Although the team's record is not impressive, one thing that does stand out is that Gross knows what it is like to be in state competition.

The last two years the Omaha team has won the Class B state championship. Utica Centennial was its first victim, 3-0, before Dodge was knocked out of the running in 1972, 4-2.

Wakefield coach Lynn Tomjak probably recalls his meeting with the Cougar team last year when his team fell 6-1 after taking an 8-4 decision over Wayne in the districts.

One name that should bring a lot of memories to the Trojan crew is Jim Kantor. The 6-1, 185-pound senior hurled against the Wakefield team, and has been chosen to open the match against Wayne.

The left-hander has both a good fast ball and curve ball, says his coach. His record so far this year is 4-2, with the two losses going to Northwest and Papillion.

"We might have won both games," the coach went on. "If our young club would have been more alert. Our mental errors made the difference."

A further note about the Cougar hurler — Kantor has been selected to pitch in the Omaha Metro high school benefit baseball game this summer. That speaks highly of the Gross lad, figuring there are a lot of excellent pitchers in Omaha to choose from to play the game.

Kantor isn't the only member of the pitching staff. In fact, Macaitis has five.

Leading the hurlers is 6-4 Joe Stanek, a 170-pound senior who now has a 1-1 record.

Last year, though, the team leader had a 5-0 record, with his sixth win coming in the state finals. "Joe also has a good curve ball," Macaitis pointed out, but he is having trouble keeping over the plate.

As you probably can tell, size dominates the Gross pitching crew. Junior Dan Dudley (6-3, 190) and sophomore Roger Glynn (6-3, 205) currently are battling for the third-place spot in the pitching duties. Macaitis noted that both men have experience and can be a threat.

The fifth man in the lineup is another junior, Joe Hazuka. This left hander stands 5-11 and weighs 155. "Joe is what I call our short relief pitcher," the coach said, noting he is the second left-hand pitcher on the squad.

All together the Cougars have 16 men out — 10 of which are lettermen.

Most of the vets show up in the batting lineup, starting with Jerry Jaksich. The senior shortstop has a .400 average and the team's solo homer.

Next in line is sophomore Frank Szeliga with a .385 average. The third baseman is the top triple hitter.

Macaitis' other men battling over .300 are senior Jim Chladek and junior Joe Ramirez. Ramirez is the Cougars' lead off man with a 333 average. When not at the plate he will be playing center field.

Chladek, on first, ties down the third best batting average at .375 and is the leading RBI man with five.

Macaitis, who is in his fifth season at Gross, believes his team is more sound on defense than in hitting. "Often we can get hits, but when it comes to that clutch hit, we can't seem to get it."

Maybe that will be the one difference that can mean a victory for the Wayne club. But Omaha Gross should not be taken lightly — the teams they have played are, for the most part, Class A powerhouses.

The Wayne High baseball team probably isn't too concerned that Monday's game with Omaha Gross will be No. 13.

After 12 wins in a row, the Devils haven't time to think about superstition—especially when the state championships hangs in the balance.

For the fifth year in coach Mike Mallette's eight years of coaching at Wayne, the Devils will make the trek to the state championship — this time with an eye on taking the title for the third. During the 1968 campaign, his team beat Utica Centennial, 7-1, then topped Grand Island Catholic, 4-3, in 1970 to win the state title.

If the Devils are to get past the Cougars in the first round, Wayne's pitching staff and defensive work will be put to the test.

Senior Roger Saul holds the best mark among the three hurlers, but his 6-0 record doesn't show that he has collected 53 strikeouts.

In his 41 1/3 innings on the mound, Saul has given up 25 hits and 12 runs. All together he has walked 10.

Right behind him is Charlie Roland, a senior who has a 4-0 record with 23 strikeouts to his credit. So far Roland has given up 14 hits and six runs in 27 1/3 frames.

Earle Overin, a sophomore, has a 2-0 mark. In 11 1/3 innings he has 15 strikeouts, two runs on four hits and seven walks.

Defensively, the Wayne squad is solid. Looking at the outfield, left fielder Marty Hansen, center fielder Doug Sturm and right fielder Gordie Cook, possess strong throwing arms once the snag is made.

One example is last week's district game at Wakefield. Hansen, in the second inning, pegged off a fly ball and rifled it to home plate in time for catcher Bill Schwartz to get the third out.

Cook and Sturm are another pair with good throwing arms, and all three are quick to back each other up when the fly balls head to the outfield.

The infield probably is the place where most of the action takes place, and again strong arms play an important part.

Take for instance third sacker Terry Pfeiffer. Not only is he quick to make one-handed dive catches but also fast enough to fire the ball to first baseman Earle Overin.

When it comes to second base and shortstop, both Kim Baker and Charlie Roland are ready in their positions to help out on double plays.

During the season Roland was third in put outs with 18. Ahead of him was Schwartz with 97 and Overin with 54.

There's not too much more that can be said of the mound crew that already hasn't been said. They are steady and dependable — the opposition had best watch out if the starting hurler has a good day.

The scoring part of the Wayne club can prove to be awesome.

With three batters over the .400 mark, Wayne can rip open a ball club.

Leading the way after 12 games is Gordie Cook at .429. During the season, he collected 12 hits in 28 times at bat. He has one triple.

One of the team's surprises is Doug Sturm second leading batter. The senior member of the club started out in slow fashion, going zero for seven before getting his first hit.

The switch hitter decided to start swinging with his right midway through the season and boosted his average from about .230 to .409 after 12 games.

Right now he is tied for fourth in the hitting department with nine, two of which were doubles.

Pinch hitter Kerry Jech, occasionally playing second, has a .500 mark after nine games. Jech has socked three hits while six times at bat. He also has one double.

Turning to the .300 hitters Wayne has a total of four players with 12-game experience.

The team's leading RBI man, sophomore Marty Hansen holds a .360 average coupled with 17 runs batted in. Hansen, leader in four categories, has four doubles and two triples plus eight stolen bases. In the hitting area, he also leads with 13.

Next in line is Terry Pfeiffer with a .323. He has 11 hits—good for three doubles and one triple. Charlie Roland comes in third with .322, followed by 308 for Kim Baker. Baker is second in RBI's with 12.

The only round trippers this year have been two by Saul and one by Hansen.

The team batting average stands at .312—92 hits in 292 at bats. In 12 games the Devils have scored 101 runs compared to just 20 for their opponents.

All these stats may make the Wayne team look impressive. But what isn't shown is the caliber of competition this team has played.

Compared to Omaha Gross, it looks like the Cougars have the edge in team competition. When a team plays Class A schools, it is bound to pick up a lot of tips to improve its game.

If the Wayne team does beat the Cougars in the first round, chances are the seniors may have to miss part of their graduation ceremonies Monday night.

Right now the second game is slated for 4 p.m. and figuring 2 to 2 1/2 hours driving time back home, the team should arrive in Wayne about 9 p.m., an hour after the ceremonies begin.

Music Camp At WS Slated July 29-Aug. 5

With high schools finishing the spring term and students gearing up for vacation, Summer Music Camp at Wayne State College beckons.

The 29th annual music week is scheduled for July 29 to August 5.

Camp director Raymond Kellton, head of the Wayne State music department, said the camp is open to high school students, including fall freshmen and 1973 graduates.

Campers will perform in at least two of the three major organizations — band, orchestra and choir. They also can enroll in two limited classes or ensembles — keyboard workshop, vocal solo coaching, wind instrument solo coaching, sight-reading for singers, wind instrument fundamentals, string instrument instruction, stage band, swing choir or string orchestra.

The annual workshop for directors and college students also is scheduled in conjunction with the camp.

Further information and registration forms can be obtained from Dr. Kellton at Wayne State.

We Salute the Wayne National Guard

On Its 25th Anniversary!

Company A of the 134th Infantry, 67th Infantry Brigade, was formed May 22, 1948 in Wayne with Bob Nelson (Livingston, Texas) serving as the unit's first commander. Meetings were held in the old National Guard building at Thirteenth and Main across from Wayne State College. The new armory on East Seventh Street was built in 1963 and is the present headquarters.

Company A, currently an infantry unit, originated as an artillery unit. In 1962 it became a selective reserve force with high priority. Meetings were switched from Monday nights to once-a-month weekend drills with two weeks of summer camp.

Anniversary Celebration

The Wayne National Guard will celebrate its 25th Anniversary Saturday, May 19, at the Armory. A happy hour will start at 5 p.m. followed by a smorgasbord dinner. A dance will follow. Everyone who is a present or former member of the Wayne unit is invited to attend. Call Dennis Spangler (375-3034 or 375-1761) for reservations.

WH Program Offers Students Chance To Help Teach Elementary Students

Because of a recent addition to the curriculum, Wayne High School students now have the opportunity to gain better insight into the educational process while earning credit hours and providing valuable assistance to individual students and teachers in the lower grades.

The teaching lab course originated three years ago with just one student enrolled under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Merriman. This year 42 students enrolled in the teaching lab, conducted by Mrs. Merriman, and in the mathematics teaching lab, conducted by Robert Porter.

Porter's students work strictly in the field of mathematics, but Mrs. Merriman's students have more varied roles.

High school students enrolled in the classes spend one hour per day working with teachers in the elementary or middle school. As teacher helpers, the students score papers, keep daily progress records and help individual students get started on projects or with lessons.

The students work directly under the supervision of the teachers they are assisting, referring to Mrs. Merriman or Porter if problems arise which cannot be handled within the classroom.

As a result of the program, many students have indicated a better understanding of teachers and their problems, noted Mrs. Merriman.

"The program gives the students an opportunity to work with children and gives them a taste of the rewards of serving other people," said Porter. "It helps them see if this might be an occupational choice they want to pursue," he added.

JODY JENSEN finds math much easier when helper Deb Carroll is there to encourage him through rough spots. Deb is one of the helpers in Mrs. Shirley Straight's second grade room.

Mrs. Wagner Hosts
Mrs. Marie Wagner entertained members of the Birthday Club Friday afternoon. Mrs. Alfred Bronzynski was a guest. Bunco prizes were won by Mrs. Edwin Meierhenry, Mrs. Carl Hinzman and Mrs. Mattie Voss.

Also during the board's meeting last week, the members adopted an ordinance requiring all dogs in the town to be tied up or fenced. The ordinance does not require dogs to be licensed.

In other action, the members approved removing junk cars from the town. Owners of junk cars on their property first will be contacted, Young said, before any legal action will be taken.

Two Area Youths Sent to Hospital Following Crash

A one car accident on West First Street Wednesday morning sent a Windside youth and a Wayne girl to the local hospital where they were treated and released for minor cuts and bruises. Brian Nelson of rural Winside, and Peggy Langston of 107 Maple, were headed west, according to the Wayne police report, when Nelson apparently lost control of the car and struck a tree.

Nelson told the police he had stopped at First and Douglas and started to turn right when the sun blinded him. After making the turn another car came up from behind causing him to swerve his car into the curb, he said. The car jumped the curb and struck a tree. The vehicle was a total loss, police reported.

Poppy Day Proclamation

Whereas, the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary adopted the Memorial Poppy as its memorial flower in 1919; and

Whereas, by wearing the Poppy, Americans everywhere and especially in this city of Wayne both pay tribute to those who have died and aid the living by assistance to veterans and their families in time of need; and

Whereas, the Poppy Day program contributions are used solely for the programs of child welfare and rehabilitation in our community and state;

Now, Therefore, I, Kent Hall, mayor of the city of Wayne, do hereby proclaim the month of May as Poppy Month and May 17 as Poppy Day in our city and I urge all citizens of our town to join with me in the wearing of this memorial flower as together we remember the sacrifices of so many in defense of our freedom.

NETV to Show Senate Hearings On Watergate

The U. S. Senate hearings on the Watergate investigation will be carried on the Nebraska Educational Television Network, according to Ron Hull, program manager of the network.

The hearings will be recorded by the Public Broadcasting Service and will be aired on NETV in an unedited version each day of the hearings, beginning today (Thursday). Hull said. As of now, the Senate has scheduled hearings for today and Friday and for three days next week, Tuesday through Thursday.

"The only interruptions in the continuous coverage of the hearings will be made for some local programs we already are committed to broadcast, such as the daily coverage of the Nebraska legislature and the TV high school series 'Your Future Is Now,'" Hull said.

"However, the Watergate hearings will be resumed immediately upon conclusion of these exceptions to the schedule, so that Nebraska viewers may see the full events of the Senate hearings exactly as they occur," he said.

The Watergate investigations will be carried on NETV tonight beginning at 7 and 11 p.m. Friday they will be carried at 7:30 and 11 p.m. Schedule for next week: Tuesday, 7:30, 10 and 11 p.m.; Wednesday, 7 and 10 p.m. and 11 p.m. Thursday, 7 and 11 p.m.

A little money magic performed down Lincoln way

LINCOLN — There was some money magic performed in the Statehouse recently.

Members of the governor's fiscal staff conceded during a public hearing before the Legislature's budget committee, they had used what one described as "sleight of hand judgment" in putting together recommended adjustments in the operating appropriations bill passed in mid-April.

Immediately after the budget was passed, Gov. J. James Exon complained because the lawmakers hadn't made $366,105 in additions he had authorized after the bill was drafted.

(Actually, the Legislature didn't make any amendments to that bill — not the governor's and not those prepared by the budget committee or any individual senator.)

So, the governor had a bill introduced making some monetary amendments to the earlier bill. But the total of his additions was $607,274 and it covered many more than the four agencies which were beneficiaries of his original amendments.

However, the governor also included in the second bill reductions of $241,169. They came from welfare and mental health programs.

Those cuts left a net increase of $366,105 — the exact figure Exon had said he wanted tacked onto the authorized appropriations for the 1973-74 fiscal year.

When quizzed about the coincidence of the amounts, Don Leuenberger of the executive budget office said it was the result of some "sleight of hand judgment." He and his boss, budget officer John Jacobson, said the cuts were valid because there are fewer recipients than expected in the old age, blind and disabled welfare categories and fewer mental patients at the three regional centers.

Then the committee performed some magic of its own.

It advanced the bill with the Exon increases, but snipped out the two cuts the governor had recommended. That left the bill with a $607,274 additional impact.

Abortion Bill Advances

The abortion issue hit the legislative floor last week.

The Legislature decided to challenge the U. S. Supreme Court by giving initial approval to a bill which claims the high court was wrong in saying abortions were legal during the first three months of pregnancy.

If the Nebraska bill goes on to passage and gets signed by Gov. Exon, it is almost certain to get tested in courts and the senators said it ought to go all the way to the Supreme Court to give the justices a chance to reverse their earlier decision.

The bill says every effort should be made to save the life of an unborn child. Even in cases where abortions are considered necessary for the health of the mother, procedures should be used which wouldn't jeopardize the child.

Before amendments criticizing the court were affixed, the lawmakers considered amendments prepared by the Nebraska Medical Association. Those amendments would have been as restrictive as possible and still within the guidelines established by the justices in Washington, according to sponsor David Stahmer of Omaha.

The Stahmer amendments, however, were soundly defeated and the stronger changes sponsored by Gary Anderson of Axtell were tacked on instead.

Ag Measure Moved

The Legislature last week gave first-round approval to a bill designed to give agriculture a stronger voice in the University of Nebraska.

Instead of a dean, agricultural activities at the university would be represented by a vice chancellor who would report directly to Chancellor James Zumbarge at UNL and NU President Durward B. Varner.

Agricultural interests have been complaining that they have been downgraded recently at the university.

Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora, during the brief debate on the bill, said agriculture had been "forced to accept the crumbs that fall from the table."

Price Law Endorsed

The lawmakers gave an initial okay to a bill which would require liquor retailers to charge at least 15 per cent more than their produce cost wholesale.

Senators said the measure is necessary to protect the small retailer from competitive practices used by cut-rate stores.

OBSERVATIONS

An important time

Monday's formal groundbreaking ceremonies at the site of the new hospital which will be built in Wayne was an important time for a great number of people.

It was the first physical act which those people have dreamed of and worked for during the past several months and years. In a short time now, construction crews will move onto the site to start tearing up the ground and laying the foundation for what should be one of the finest medical centers in Northeast Nebraska.

Almost every speaker at Monday's ceremony remarked that it has taken the hard work of numerous individuals and groups in Wayne, surrounding communities and the state to bring the dream this close to coming true. They noted that their work will reap many dividends, because the hospital will stand for generations, offering medical care to area residents, visitors and even strangers.

The hospital will be a plus for this part of the state in another way, too. Wayne State College officials are currently studying what courses might be offered in the fields of health which could make use of the hospital facilities once the center is completed. That should give the college another advantage in the increasingly competitive job of attracting students. As a story in this newspaper pointed out a few weeks ago, the economic strength of Wayne and the surrounding area is closely linked to the success of the college. The new hospital should make it a little easier for the college to continue to be a strong educational force in the state.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786.

Americans should expect 'informal' fuel rationing

By Arch Booth
Executive Vice President,
National Chamber of Commerce

By now just about everyone knows there's a gasoline shortage. It's not something we'll have to worry about "a few years" in the future. It's here.

What we need to know is: How bad is it? What caused it? What can we do about it?

The limiting factor at the moment is refinery capacity. Available crude oil is also limited, but no matter how fast we increase the supply of crude oil, we cannot get more gasoline (and other fuels) any faster than the refineries are able to process it. Since it takes four or five years to build a refinery, we'll have to make do with present capacity for at least that length of time.

That means we'll have enough gasoline to get by, but not as much as we would like. Expect "informal rationing." Some gas stations will run dry occasionally, or be forced to limit customers to a fixed amount, such as 10 gallons per person. Speed limits may be lowered on the nation's highways. The flight schedules of commercial airlines may be reduced. And some air pollution regulations may have to be relaxed.

With luck, that's as bad as things will get.

Causes

Why isn't "present capacity" enough? For a number of reasons.

First, the sudden rush of environmental protection measures put an enormous strain on our energy supplies. Automobiles with pollution control equipment use more gasoline (power accessories like air conditioning reduce gas mileage, too). High sulfur coal and oil that was once burned to produce electricity has been banned, increasing the demand for "clean" oil. Nuclear power plants are behind schedule because of court fights and mechanical "bugs." Conservationists object to the construction of refineries. Limited supplies of crude oil also reduced the incentive to build new refineries.

Second, we are using more energy per person. There are millions of more cars on our roads now than there were a few years ago. More homes and office buildings have air conditioning, which balloons the demand for electricity. And, of course, there are more of us.

Third, bad breaks with the weather have contributed to the immediate problem. Refineries usually produce heating oil in the late summer and fall, stockpiling it for the winter, then switch to gasoline so there will be enough of that for summer driving. But last winter was so severe in many parts of the country that the refineries had to continue producing heating oil longer than usual. So, we are heading into summer with gasoline stockpiles 10 to 12 per cent lower than last year.

Solutions

How do we get ourselves out of this mess? Well, we have two choices: Increase fuel supplies or reduce energy consumption drastically. I doubt that many Americans will vote for the latter alternative, after getting a taste of it this summer.

But if we are to increase fuel supplies, we must take a more realistic approach to environmental protection. We simply cannot ban offshore drilling, supertanker ports, Alaskan pipelines, new refineries, atomic power plants and strip mining and then expect to get the energy we need out of a hat. There are indeed many promising techniques for expanding supplies of "clean" energy. They should be explored, and they will be. But these techniques are years — probably decades — in the future, at best. The problem is here, now.

Finally, we must recognize that businessmen in a free society are willing to risk their money only where there is the prospect of a reasonable return. For many years, the government held the price of natural gas so low that producers simply quit looking for it — it wasn't worth the expense. So now we're running out of gas. Today it's popular to attack tax "loopholes" for the petroleum industry, and we are short of oil.

No matter what we do, supplies are going to be tight for a few years, and the price of all forms of energy will go up. Even with all systems "go," cheap foreign crude just isn't available. If we act wisely, future supplies will be sufficient for our needs. If we do not, the summers of '73 and '74 will be a foretaste of worse to come.

'Pioneers' To Be Honored For 18th Year

The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben and the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers have announced that for the 18th straight year they will continue their program to discover and recognize Nebraska Pioneer Farm families whose land has been owned by the same family for 100 years or more.

have been honored at 44 county fairs during the first 17 years of the project. Again this year the honored families will receive an engraved walnut plaque and an aluminum gate post marker for each farm from the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben, plus a special framed citation from the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers.

In addition, Ak-Sar-Ben will host the honored families at a special banquet during the organization's 46th annual Livestock Show and Rodeo in September. All nominations must be submitted by June 1 to the secretary of the local county fair board.

Concord to Get Street Paving

Part of Concord will be getting new paving sometime this summer, according to Norman Anderson, member of the town board. Last week the board gave approval for a block of paving on the south edge of town. Cost of the project, Anderson said, will be approximately $2,000. During the meeting, the members voted to use the town's $1,539 federal revenue sharing check to improve the fire department.

Anderson pointed out that $1,000 will go for reroofing the present department building while the remainder will be used to purchase a resuscitator.

'Farmers Get Top Priority In Fuel Allocation Plan'

"Farmers are being given number one priority in the new federal plan for allocation of gasoline and diesel fuel," Congressman Charles Thone says in this week's letter to his constituents.
"If the public is cooperative, there will be no more shortages of fuel this year," he notes.
The plan will be a voluntary one, with the threat of a mandatory program if persuasion doesn't work, according to Thone. It should involve no rationing, he adds.
"The basic plan requires that all petroleum refineries and wholesalers must give all their customers the same percentage of fuel this year as those customers received last year," he writes.

Thone says that only if shortages occur after the petroleum has been distributed under last year's pattern will priorities go into effect.

A supplier can obtain an additional 10 per cent to supply certain priority activities if necessary, according to Thone. "The first priority is for farming, dairy and fishing activities. Other priorities are for food processing and distribution, health, police and fire fighting, public transportation and government activities," he notes.
"We avoided a shortage of gasoline last summer by making some from crude oil that would normally have been made into home heating oil," Thone writes.

"The petroleum industry prevented the fuel oil situation last winter from reaching major crisis stage by producing more fuel oil at the expense of building up gasoline stocks for the heavy use periods of this summer."
The federal government has taken steps to avoid this "borrowing from Peter to pay Paul," Thone notes. American refineries are being encouraged to import more crude oil and restrictions have been removed.

Wayne Mayor Proclaims May 'Beef Month'

Wayne mayor Kent Hall has proclaimed the month of May Nebraska Beef Industry Month.
The mayor's proclamation noted that numerous components of the beef industry are major factors "in the force of the economy of this city and its surrounding community."
The beef industry is important to this community because it helps support several other businesses, such as trucking firms, auction markets, feed suppliers, veterinary and pharmaceutical firms, farm equipment dealers and order buyers, the proclamation noted.

What can be done with an Easter lily?
Remove the plant from the pot but take care to leave the dirt around the lily. Plant it in soil four inches above the potting soil, strip off the lower leaves if necessary, and put on a sunny side of the property. Lilies will overwinter and will bloom next year.

Backyard Farmer Question

What about a summer schedule for treatment of lawn insects?

A summer schedule to treat lawn insects is a "must" for good lawn care. Here is a recommended schedule:
—Lawns damaged by billbugs in 1972 can be sprayed with diazinon or Sevin the last week of May to kill adults before eggs are deposited, to reduce injury this summer.
—Turf that has been infested with white grubs can be treated with chlordane granules now. Use five pounds of five per cent granules, OR 2 1/2 pounds 10 per cent granules, OR one pound 33 per cent granules (Beit) to 1,000 square feet. Water in thoroughly and keep all animals off treated areas until completely dry.
—Sod webworms usually do not require control until hot-dry weather in June, July and August. Do not apply chemicals until the problem is definitely diagnosed as webworms. Many other problems can cause lawns to turn brown in the summer.

What can be done with an Easter lily?
Remove the plant from the pot but take care to leave the dirt around the lily. Plant it in soil four inches above the potting soil, strip off the lower leaves if necessary, and put on a sunny side of the property. Lilies will overwinter and will bloom next year.

Insects
You ever wonder where the insects come from?
Take for instance the lowly grasshopper. The average female grasshopper lays at least 200 eggs. If only one per cent of the eggs hatch the population of grasshoppers will remain about the same, but if for some reason three per cent of the eggs hatch you will have a serious infestation of grasshoppers. It's no wonder we have so many in sects.

Such as picking vegetables long before they are ripe so they can stand the trip and be consumed many days after they are picked in the field.
If the consumer wants fruits or vegetables that taste just like they used to, they will have to settle for home grown produce. This home grown produce would be available only during our relatively short growing season instead of the year around.

Treatment of Lawn Insects
Here is a recommended schedule for treatment of lawn insects.
—Lawns damaged by billbugs in 1972 can be sprayed with diazinon or Sevin the last week of May to kill adults before eggs are deposited and reduce injury this summer.
—Turf that has been infested with white grubs can be treated with chlordane granules now. Use five pounds of five per cent granules, or two and one half pounds of 10 per cent granules, or one pound 33 per cent granules (Beit) to 1,000 square feet. Water in thoroughly and keep all animals off treated areas until completely dry.
—Sod webworms usually do not require control until hot-dry weather in June, July and August. Do not apply chemicals until the problem is definitely diagnosed as webworms. Many other problems can cause lawns to turn brown in the summer.

Quotes
Farmers, especially livestock farmers, have been getting it in the neck for a long time in regard to high food prices. One of the most sensible remarks I have heard on this situation comes from C. W. Stall of the Hoosier Farmer.
"Politicians, labor union leaders, consumer advocates and a lot of other people continue to look for who's to blame for rising food costs, and point the finger at nearly anything except the real cause — inflation. Inflation, which has brought increases in demand for not only food, but everything else, results from people having more money to spend than there are goods to buy."
Enough said

Taste of Foods
The complaint is often heard that vegetables and fruits don't taste like they used to. Often this complaint is justified, but it's not because the flavor has been taken out by plant breeders, chemical fertilizers or pesticides.
The difference in flavor is because fruit and vegetables used to be grown locally, ripened in the field and eaten by the consumer almost immediately.
Now much of the fresh fruits and vegetables are grown in either Florida or California and shipped to Nebraska because the consumer wants fresh fruits and vegetables the year around. Shipping produce this distance causes all kinds of problems,

GOOD BETTER BEST!

OUR THANKS TO THE AMERICAN FARMER

BECAUSE OF YOU,
There's an abundance of food on the American Table

BECAUSE OF YOU,
We Americans spend less time earning our dinner than most people in the world

BECAUSE OF YOU,
There's a need for Americans to build tractors, and washing machines, tools and refrigerators, and the thousands of other items that bear the label made in America

BECAUSE OF YOU,
52 Americans are fed by one American farmer, instead of 4 people eating the produce of 1 European farmer.

BECAUSE OF YOU,
Food prices have risen only 3 1/2%, while the per capita American income has climbed 42% in the same period

BECAUSE OF YOU,
We are a better nation of Americans, who spend a smaller share of our per capita income for food than other nations of the world

WE KNOW,
Food prices have climbed, but we also know you have not forced them up. Your production cost have risen tremendously since you have been forced to compete with foreign buyers on many ingredients. Your market is limited by what the packer will bid for your livestock, and there's nothing you can do to increase his bid. When a hog's ready for market, you've got to sell. Sure, we all know that livestock are bringing a record bid at the farm. BUT WE MUSTN'T FORGET PRODUCTION COST ARE ALSO AT A RECORD HIGH.

WE KNOW,
Groceries takes more dollars to buy, even if we left out the pop, toothpaste and toilet paper. But you haven't reaped the full harvest. Every step along the way from farmstead to feast table has contributed to the climb.

WE KNOW,
Your income climbed in 1972, so that now it only lags 17% behind the rest of the Americans.

OUR THANKS TO THE AMERICAN FARMER FOR STAYING ON THE FARM AND FEEDING THE REST OF US SO WELL.

Financial Assistance for Conservation Practices Now Available to Applicants in the Lower Elkhorn NRD

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District Land & Water Assistance Program is a reality. The program is the first of its kind to use local tax monies for the development and conservation of the Natural Resources of an area. The Board of the NRD has allocated $200,000.00 annually to fund the program for the 13 county area administered by the Lower Elkhorn NRD. This amounts to one-half mill of taxation returned directly to the land in the NRD.

The Program basically is one to replace the Rural Environmental Assistance Program that was terminated by the Federal Government in an inflation fighting move in December, 1972. The Land & Water Assistance Program is scheduled to pay the major portion of installing permanent conservation practices of which have benefit to the general public.

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District Land & Water Assistance Program is available to landowners, cities, and counties in the NRD and applications may be made at any of the Soil Conservation Offices throughout the Lower Elkhorn NRD.

The goal of the Lower Elkhorn NRD Land & Water Assistance Program is to prevent or abate environmental pollution, provide the maximum public benefit and conserve our Natural Resources so as to assure their continuing ability to produce the food and fiber necessary for the maintenance of a strong healthy people and economy and also provide for wildlife, landscape beauty, and outdoor recreational opportunities.

As objectives, the Lower Elkhorn NRD has set the prevention or abatement of pollution of Water, Land, and Air for community benefit and the general public good, reduction of the loss of Soil, Water, woodland and wildlife resources such that we may assure ourselves of an adequate supply of food, fiber, water, wildlife, open space and outdoor recreational opportunities for the future, to encourage lasting conservation practices in sound land-use systems to deal with critical environmental problems on public and private lands, also to achieve annually established goals, objectives, and priorities in a manner consistent with community and national needs now and for the future — while moving as rapidly as feasible toward effectively meeting conservation, pollution prevention and abatement, and other environmental needs.

The Land & Water Assistance Program of the Lower Elkhorn NRD is specifically authorized to assist in the funding of:

- Livestock Waste Control Systems
- Diversions
- Terraces
- Grassed Waterways
- Tile Outlets for Terraces
- Permanent Native Grass Seedings
- Road Structures
- Park & Recreational Development

Erosion loss from just a 2 to 2.5 inch rain in rolling terrain south of Clarkson.

The conservation and development of the water and land resources of the area are a vital and ongoing project throughout the Lower Elkhorn NRD and the delay and possible cancellation of these projects is a price that the economy and the resources of this area cannot tolerate. The Board of the Lower Elkhorn NRD has taken it upon itself to do what they can to stimulate the use and installation of those conservation practices that benefit the General Public.
