

Hospital Donations Continue Climb

A post-campaign committee last month obtained $1,250 in new pledges to help construct the area medical center which will be built in Wayne.

The new pledges, which help replace pledges cancelled by persons who have moved from the city and area, bring to $373,462 the total pledged toward the hospital, according to drive officials.

Some $166,027 was pledged during a six-month fund-raising drive which ended in March last year. Since the drive ended, another $10,435 has been pledged, including the amount the post-campaign workers have recently obtained, officials said.

Working on the committee, which will continue contacting new families and businesses and persons who were not asked to donate during the regular fund drive, are Dean Pierson, Jim Hein, B. J. Hirt, Robert Carhart and O. K. Brandstetter and Morris Anderson.

The money raised through donations from local and area individuals and firms will be matched by $750,000 from the Missionary Benedicline Sisters at Norfolk. The order originally agreed to donate $500,000 toward construction of the 26-bed, $1.5 million medical center. If a fund drive could raise an equal amount, After the drive went over the top, the order agreed to donate another $250,000.

The one-story facility, which will be called Providence Medical Center, will be built just east of Wayne State College.

Operated by the Norfolk order, the facility will provide medical care for local and area residents. It will replace the present outmoded municipal hospital in Wayne.

The hospital will enable Wayne State to initiate several academic programs as well as upgrade the student health program, according to Dr. Lyle Seymour, interim president at Wayne State.

Four hospital beds and examination areas will be made available for student use, he said, and medical records will be kept at the facility.

Programs the college plans to offer in cooperation with the hospital after it is completed in the fall of 1974 include those for associate registered nurse, medical records librarian and records technician. Other programs which will be offered include dietetics, histology and cytology, medical secretary and medical technology.

Some of the programs are currently offered by the college, but the hospital will provide students with more extensive and practical training.

All the programs will not be available immediately after the hospital is constructed, according to college officials.

because it will take time to make necessary changes in curriculum, scheduling and the like.

Although some earth work has been done at the hospital site the past few days, the federal government has not yet given final approval to bids on construction. Bids were opened in late April and are presently being reviewed by federal officials in Kansas City.

When opened, the medical center will mark completion of a joint effort by federal, state, city and private representatives as well as local and area persons.

It will be built on an eight-acre tract of land donated by the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges. The city of Wayne will transfer existing equipment at the present municipal hospital to the new facility.

A $384,300 federal grant will be used to help construct the medical center.

City Seeking Full-Time Administrator

The city of Wayne is seeking a full-time administrator.

Last week's action by the city council in adopting a new organizational set up for the city will abolish the clerk administrator job and create a position for an administrator to handle municipal operations.

The organizational plan is contained in a lengthy efficiency study conducted the past several months by a Denver firm. The completed study was accepted by the council Tuesday night.

Mayor Kent Hall said adopting the organizational plan proposed in the study will have several results.

It will do away with the clerk administrator job, creating the posts of city administrator and office manager city clerk. It will also do away with the council's standing committees such as those concerned with the airport, parks and finance. Many of these duties will be taken over by the full-time administrator, according to Hall.

"Very few cities of Wayne's size have clerk administrators," said Hall, who noted that the change should make city operations run much smoother as well as relieve councilmen of administrative chores.

When the change takes effect, he said, the council will be able to pay more attention to its duties of setting policy and passing laws.

The present clerk administrator is Dan Sherry, who has held that job for the past several years.

He said the dual job is too much work for one man, and he has told the council a change should be made so a full-time administrator can be hired.

Sherry said he is not sure if he will seek the job as administrator or as office manager city clerk.

The new organizational plan adopted by the council suggests that the administrator be responsible for such tasks as purchasing city supplies, preparing the annual budget, controlling city spending, handling public relations, recommending appointment and dismissal of all department heads under him, preparing job classification and pay plan, and supervising all public buildings and property.

2-Day Camp Slated At Northeast Station

The Northeast Station near Concord will hold its third annual plant science camp Thursday and Friday for 4-H members from Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Thurston and Dakota Counties.

Roy Stohler, Dixon County agent, and Russ Moomaw, district agronomist, will direct the two-day affair that features four speakers from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Alex Martin will discuss the different kinds of weeds in addition to a tour showing the various plants. John Furrer will talk about pesticide safety while Duane Foote will have crop judging and grading of grains.

Brent Hoadley will conduct a tour of the Wayne State College campus the last day to view the landscape as well as talk about 4-H garden projects. Richard Gavitt, district forester at the station, will help out.

A representative of the Ciba-Geigy Chemical Co., Russ Heitman, will present a slide program on ecology after Moomaw discusses plant growth.

The programs start at 2 p.m. at the station, with the camp to finish about 3 p.m. the following day.

Area Students Receive Degrees

Two students from the Wayne area were among those graduates from the University of Nebraska School of Technical Agriculture recently.

They are Joseph Coughlin of Dixon, who received a degree in commercial horticulture technology, and Phillip Fisher of Laurel, who received a degree in production agriculture technology.

Adding A Different Color

TWO STATE Department of Road workers brighten up Main and Seventh Streets with a coat of white paint to mark off the different turning lanes. John Thiel (left) and Keith Rohrer, both of Wayne, applied the coats Thursday. According to Thiel, the state intends to apply the yellow lines sometime in the future. About two weeks ago the state did paint the yellow stripes, but most of the color has worn off.

Footo to Head Farmers Night

Lee Footo has been named chairman to head up this fall's annual Chamber of Commerce Farmers Night.

Chamber president J. J. Liska named Footo to the job Thursday.

Footo was chairman of last year's Farmers Night, an event which attracted about 400 businessmen and farmers from the area.

Businessmen in Wayne each year put on the free dinner to show farmers and feeders around the community that they are appreciated.

County Has New Assessor

Doris Stipp became Wayne County assessor Friday, replacing the retired Henry Arp.

Mrs. Stipp, deputy assessor the past seven years, will fill out the next 19 months of Arp's term.

Arp, 79, stepped down as county assessor after just over 22 years in the job. He first began as assessor after being appointed in January of 1951 following the resignation of Alex Jeffrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Arp plan on spending a few weeks this summer in their home at Northridge, Calif. They will return to their Wayne home later this summer and then spend the winter in California. He said they plan on keeping their home in Wayne and their farm land northwest of Wayne.

4 Local Youths Plead Guilty to Drug Charges

Four Wayne youths pleaded guilty Thursday to reduced drug charges in Wayne County court.

The four, who have been out on $2,000 bond each since being arrested on charges of delivering marijuana early in May, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana.

Fined $50 on each of two counts of possession, a misdemeanor, was Joe Roberts, 19.

Fined $75 on each of two counts was Zachary Harms, 18.

John Meyer, 18, and Sam Hepburn, 17, were fined $50 each on charges of possession.

The four appeared before district court judge Joseph Hunter of West Point. They were arraigned before him Thursday on the felony charges before the charges were reduced to possession and their cases heard.

County attorney Budd Bornhoff said after their arrest that an extensive investigation by state, county and local law officials led to the charges.

In another drug case in county court, bond of $2,000 was set Friday for Dennis Linke, 22, who Taverns Can Set 'Em Up Until 1 a.m.

Taverns in Wayne will be able to stay open until 1 a.m. starting today (Monday).

The extended closing hour becomes effective today with publication of a legal notice in this issue of The Wayne Herald.

Council Tuesday night approved extending the closing time from midnight to 1 a.m.

The 7-1 vote on the subject came about a month after the council was asked to make the closing time the same for all liquor establishments in the city.

Prior to the change, taverns selling beer were required to close at midnight while bottle clubs and the non-profit club which sell liquor by the drink could remain open until 1 a.m.

Voting against the change was Frank Frather. Favoring the change were Pat Gross, Keith Mosley, Darrel Fugelberth, Jim Thomas, Harvey Brasch, Ivan Beeks and Vernon Russell.

Carroll Board To Discuss Revenue Check

What to do with Carroll's federal revenue check of over $800 will be one of the main topics Tuesday night during the board's monthly meeting, according to secretary Bob Johnson.

The members also may discuss the use of police in the town he said. Presently the members are talking with the Winside board about using Winside's police to patrol Carroll.

WELDER Stan Acklie of Norfolk works on a steel beam during construction of El Toro, a drive-in package liquor store and lounge being built on the east edge of the city. The steel building should be completed sometime this summer. Constructing the business are Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Farrans, former owners of the Mint Bar and Black Knight Lounge.

Allen School Board Fills Post Of Assistant Superintendent

The Allen school board, in a special meeting last week, named Garland Mills of Philip, S.D., to the newly created position of assistant superintendent.

Superintendent Gail Miller said the new position was created after the board eliminated the position of principal.

Miller explained that the current principal, LaVern Nelson, intends to retire this year. The board decided that with the decrease in the number of students attending the high school, a principal would not be needed, Miller said.

The new position was created due to Miller's role for the 1973-74 school year at Allen. He largely will be devoting his time to counseling and working on a career education curriculum. Miller also will work closely with lower elementary teachers to help initiate an individualized teaching program in reading.

"We had to have a person on the faculty who could assume all the principal's duties plus a large share of my present chores," Miller said.

"There also is the possibility that we may receive a federal grant to develop a career education curriculum," he went on, "and if this happens I would become director of this project."

In that case, the assistant superintendent would become superintendent, he explained.

"We are not optimistic about the federal funds, but we are proceeding on our own," Miller concluded.

In other action, the board agreed to put up for bid the jobs of lunch room manager and cooks.

Miller said the present cooks may submit bids if they want the jobs.

"Any other positions interested must submit their bids by June 11."

As of last Tuesday, all teachers have signed their contracts, Miller said, with the exception of George Saunders and Darlene Roberts.

Two new teachers will be joining the staff. They are Mrs. Doris Furness of Allen and Keith Simkins of Philip, S.D.

Simkins will instruct the new trades and industries course (industrial arts) at the high school. He is replacing Gary Lockhorn, who formerly taught agriculture and was a counselor. Lockhorn resigned at the end of

Results of a study I had a wife do might be of interest to persons planning on entering the newspaper's unique "Budget-Buster" contest this Thursday. The wife — not mine — found she could save more than $15 by shopping the sales and specials in two issues of The Wayne Herald. Those savings more than pay for a year's subscription to the newspaper... so any savings she would make in the other 101 or 102 issues of the newspaper would be gravy. And those were just savings the wife made in figuring what she might buy for her family of five in grocery stores. A smart shopper who compared prices in all the other ads which appear in the newspaper in just one week would probably double or triple that amount. And the savings over a year would easily pass the $100 mark. For a $7.50 investment, that's a pretty good return. Now we're offering readers a chance to win $100 in our "Budget-Buster" contest. The person who is able to tally up the most savings by comparing special and regular prices in individual ads in Thursday's newspaper will receive $100 in coupons which can be used to purchase items or pay bills in any firms with an ad in that paper. Just glad I don't have to go through the paper and figure out what the maximum savings a person could chalk up. I'm sure the figure is going to be pretty high. What that wife's study and this coming promotion simply point out is that the newspaper has no equal for shoppers looking for ways to stretch their spending money. It can't be beat by radio (who can remember an announcer's pitch a couple minutes later even if you are tuned to that station?), television (same thing) or shoppers (unwelcome guests in a home don't get treated very well). On top of that, newspapers — at least most weeklies — are the only medium that really give a damn about the community and area they cover. They print the news, pictures and commentary — if they are any good — that their readers want to keep up on. Enough about ourselves, now to something else.

Barb Ludwig, Phi Mu Sorority member at Wayne State who helped promote the Nike for HOPE between Wayne and Wakefield recently, received a nice letter from two persons aboard the USS HOPE. The letter comes from Sharon Agler of Hay Springs and Lois Givens of O'Neill. Said the two: "We were pleased to hear of your success in raising money for Project HOPE. Not everyone is able to personally work aboard the Ship, but your personal contribution is equally synonymous with ours." The two have been on the mercy ship which visits countries around the world since February. They will return home the end of this year. Their compliment probably wasn't meant for the sorority alone. A few rambling thoughts: —Wish we had a couple councilmen sporting long hair and mod clothes. An uninformed outsider taking in a council meeting might get the idea the council is several years behind time. I'd be the last one to say anything like that. Still, it would be nice to see a member with new ideas about his looks. They — the ideas — might carry over. —Can't understand the mayor's reasoning in putting off a vote on whether to cancel the city's contract with its engineering firm. Fully half the council wanted to put the question to a vote, but the mayor broke the tie in favor of tabling the motion to cancel the contract. It seems the mayor campaigned on the issue of possibly hiring another firm in place of Consolidated Engineers. He must have changed his mind. Quite a few of his constituents haven't, it's rumored. —Wish somebody on the federal level would get off their duffs and tell us whether those contracts for work on the new medical center in Wayne have been approved. We've been waiting around for weeks since the bid opening was held. All that is needed, apparently, is the OK to get to work on the project. It's going to take quite some time to build the facility, so what is not needed is some bureaucratic dillydallying. —Wouldn't it be great to live in a town called Sleepy Eye? That's where one of the teachers who will be coming to St. Mary's School has lived the past four years. She is Sister M. Jamesine of Sleepy Eye, Minn. Wonder if a person living in a town with a name like that worries much about Watergate and such?

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

A group called Madison County Court-house Committee is attempting to put to a vote the question of choosing a location for the county seat. The committee, headed by Burt Nixon, revealed its plans recently during a meeting to study jail and courtroom facilities. The move grew out of efforts to have the county jail moved from Madison, present county seat, to Norfolk. That became impossible when the state's attorney general said all offices must be located in the county seat. From "Thought of the Week" column in last week's Oakland Independent and Republican: "Some people say that the big trouble with modern day leaders is that you can't tell whether people are following or chasing them." Boone County voters will cast ballots Tuesday to decide whether to issue $500,000 in bonds to finance a new courthouse at Albion. The present courthouse is under threat of condemnation by the state fire marshal if a decision is not made by July 4 on whether to renovate or repair the facility to meet state safety standards. An architect hired by the county said renovation could cost $75,000, not including cost of a new jail. The current jail has been condemned and is no longer being used. Randy Grosse, a 1969 graduate of Plainview High School and May graduate of University of Nebraska-Omaha, becomes editor of the Neligh News this week. He has been editor of the employee's newspaper at Lozier Corporation in Omaha the past year. Persons around West Point can now drink liquor and beer in West Point's city park and auditorium. The city council recently passed an ordinance permitting consumption of alcoholic beverages in the two places. Frank Raubicek of Creighton has been named Knox County attorney, filling the vacancy which will be left when Henry Reimer resigns this week. Reimer, whose resignation is effective Tuesday, plans to move to O'Neill. Raubicek and Phillip Riley, also of Creighton, were the only applicants for the office. Raubicek received four votes for the job, Riley three during voting by the county commissioners. More than 100 youths around Wisner and Pilger have signed up for the Wisner-Pilger Day at Omaha's Henry Doorley Zoo. The youths will make the trip to the zoo on Saturday. St. Peter's Catholic Church in Newcastle will mark its 100th anniversary Wednesday. Founded in 1873, the church has had only five pastors during its 100 years. Present pastor is Father Floyd Fischer. The present church was built in 1954, followed by construction of a new rectory and parish center.

OBSERVATIONS

Random thoughts after recent council meeting

Some random thoughts on last week's city council meeting in Wayne. We said several years ago the city should get off its duff and put some overhead signs at Seventh and Main, regardless of what the state says. It's simply a matter of poor design to have an intersection with more than two lanes — on the crossing roads without clearly showing motorists what lane they are to be in to go straight or turn. The state built the intersection that way, thinking the painted stripes on the pavement would suffice to direct motorists. They do... until a little mud or snow gets on them or they get worn off a few weeks after painting. About the only people who don't realize overhead signs are needed are the state officials who, luckily, don't have to use the intersection day in and day out. Everybody else knows it, including city officials. What we should do is buy or make the signs ourselves and install them so somebody doesn't get badly injured or killed in an accident which is just waiting to happen the way things are now. If the state chooses to come up and pull the signs down, you can't say we didn't try to make it a safer intersection. Now the city has told the clerk-administrator to write the state requesting overhead signs. That was attempted a few years ago, and there aren't any up there now. We can only assume the state will do the same thing — nothing — this time around. The council kicked around but took no action on whether the city should be represented at all, some or none of the state hearings on liquor licenses requested locally. The mayor apparently told the city attorney to represent the city at the hearing on the request from Bill Scott for a bottle club license. We can't understand why that was necessary, but we will agree that the city should be consistent and shouldn't send its attorney to the hearings at the whim of the mayor or any other city official. What the council did by not deciding what to do in the future — councilmen voted to table the subject — is leave it in a gray area. Presumably, the attorney will go down to some hearings but not necessarily all of them. Wonder who's going to decide which ones he should attend? We're glad to see that the council, the majority of the members at least, feel that all liquor and beer establishments should have the same closing hour. They're all in the same kind of business, whether they sell beer or liquor by the drink, and it seems only fair to let them have equal chance at bringing — and keeping — customers in their places of business.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

Drive a Cool Car. An automobile air conditioner does a lot more than cool the interior of your car. Most units also dehumidify the air and filter out dirt and pollen. With the windows closed, you shut out traffic noise and keep wind from buffeting passengers when you're driving at turnpike speeds. But to get the most from your air conditioner, you should understand something about its operation and maintenance. Automobile air conditioners work on the same principle as household units, but live a harder life. The heat load on a home air conditioner is relatively constant, changing only as the position of the sun changes or clouds come and go. The unit is rigidly mounted and is driven by an electric motor at constant speed. Your car's air conditioner has to compensate for sudden changes in heat load as you alter your course on a blazing late-afternoon sun. All parts of the system get a pounding as the car hits bumps and potholes. Power doesn't come from a constant-speed electric motor, but from the car's engine, which may be idling one minute and driving the car at 60 mph the next. To ease the load on the air conditioner, open the windows for a minute or two after the car has been sitting in the hot sun. Letting trapped hot air escape will help the unit cool the interior more rapidly. Read the owner's manual and familiarize yourself with the air conditioning controls. Many units have a position labeled "Max Cool" or "Recirc," by which cool air can be recirculated inside the car while admitting little or no outside air. It's handy for fast cooling and can also be used to eliminate outside smoke and odors. When the control is set to "Fresh Air," outside air flows in and stale air and cigarette smoke are expelled. Your air conditioner should be checked before the hot summer weather or anytime it fails to provide adequate cooling. Your serviceman has special instruments for detecting refrigerant leakage, recharging the system with fresh refrigerant if necessary. The compressor drive belt should also be adjusted or replaced. Leaves and dead insects should be removed from the condenser in front of the radiator. The drain hose should be checked to be sure that condensation drains under the car and not on the floor.

Papillion Church Scene of Sandahl Wedding Saturday

Bouquets of mixed spring flowers in rainbow colors appointed the altar of the First Lutheran Church in Papillion for the May 26 wedding of Susan Kay Krist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern E. Krist of Louisville, to John M. Sandahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sandahl of Carroll.

Guests, registered by Mrs. Ken Everingham of Wakefield, were ushered into the church by Ed Sandahl, a brother of the bridegroom, and Charles Morris, both of Carroll, Ken Everingham of Wakefield and John Riha of Omaha.

Doug Nielsen of Omaha, who had sung at the wedding of the bride's parents, was vocalist, and Keen Ruff of Papillion was organist. The songs were "The Lord's Prayer" and "Wedding Song."

The Rev. Otto Truog of Papillion officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Patty Krist of Louisville as maid of honor; the bridegroom's sister, Jennifer Sandahl of Carroll, Mrs. Lyle Grone of Wayne and Mrs. Rick Boeshart of Omaha.

Best man was Ken Austin and groomsmen were Bill Richardson Jr., Lyle Grone and Roger Heftl, all of Wayne.

The bride appeared at her father's side in a floor-length gown of white organza which was styled with lace overlays on the bodice, hemline and cuffs of the sheer bishop sleeves. The slightly gathered skirt fell from an empire waistline, extending into a short train in back. She chose a bouffant veil which was caught to a headpiece of flowers and carried blue daisies, white roses and stephanotis.

The bride's attendants wore floor-length gowns of blue organza, fashioned in empire lines with tiered ruffles forming the short cap sleeves. The skirts ended in deep flounces. The attendants wore fresh flowers in their hair and carried coordinating bouquets of rainbow colored spring flowers. Personal attendants were Mrs. Bill Kast of Omaha.

The men wore gray tuxedo jackets trimmed in black velvet with striped trousers and ascots. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Krist chose a blue double knit dress with lace bodice. Mrs. Sandahl wore a pink knit jacket dress and both had orchid corsages.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Nelson of Laurel and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Arps of Fremont greeted the 350 guests who attended the champagne reception at Mr. Kelly's that evening. Gifts were arranged by Barb Rastede and Paulette Hourigan of Omaha and Mrs. Ken Everingham.

Mrs. Wally Carlson and Mrs. Ronald Keiser of Omaha cut and served the cake and Mrs. Roger Heftl of Wayne poured. Mrs. Mark Snover of Walnut, Ia., served punch.

The couple returned from a wedding trip to Lake Okoboji, Ia., to make their home at rural Laurel. The bride is a 1969 Louisville High School graduate and a 1973 Wayne State College graduate. The bridegroom is a 1970 graduate of Wayne High School and attended Millard Technical College. The couple is engaged in farming.

Heying Wins Cats' MVP Title

Steve Heying has the honor of most valuable player on the 1973 Wayne State College baseball team, which finished with a 26-3 record.

STEVE HEYING
dij of Cedar Falls, Ia., 343, and Nick Danze, Omaha, 324.

Players elected the senior third baseman from Granville, Ia., and Coach Fred Pierce added his comment on Heying: "He is a fine team leader, and he came through many times with clutch hits and crucial fielding."

Surprisingly, Heying's batting average of .334 ranked fourth among Wildcat regulars, and his average was even below the team's lofty .342. However, Heying led in home runs, 12, a school season record, and he had the most at-bats, 110. He tied with Jack Shupe in runs batted in, 45.

Shupe, senior first baseman from Bedford, Ia., batted .500, a figure exceeded in Wayne history only by Tom Fulcher's .537 in 1946. In 104 times at bat he hit a school record 52, led the team in doubles, 11, and also hit 10 homers.

Greg Kamp doubled in honors—as the No. two batter on a .482 pace (40 for 83) and as the top pitcher with a 7.0 record and ERA of .98. His bat was so potent that he performed as designated hitter in all but one game. He whacked nine home runs, three triples, seven doubles.

Ray Miller, junior outfielder from Fonda, Ia., batted .425 to give Wayne three 400-plus hitters, and he lofted seven home runs. Thus all four leading batters broke the previous season four-bag record of six, set by Bill Goodwin.

Barl Kneiff, senior outfielder from Newcastle was the fifth Wildcat regular hitting over .300. He batted .333. Two others who played often but did not start were above .300—Bob Pu-

Other batting averages: Ray Nelson, Sioux City, .288; Jim Kopecky, Omaha, .265; Ken Ridley, Omaha, .262; John Ege, Sioux City, .214; and Jim Wetzel, Grand Island, .211, among the regulars.

Ege, a fixture at shortstop in four seasons, also compiled a 7-1 pitching record—the one loss legged on him in the first inning of Wayne's final game of the NAIA Area Three playoff. He had pitched nearly nine innings in relief the night before.

Ron Nelson, senior from Wausa, pitched a 6-1 record; Kevin Peterson of Harlan, Ia., 5-1.

Five Wildcats gained NAIA District All-Star honors: Shupe, Kamp, Heying, Miller and Ege. Ron Nelson was named by coaches to the second team; Peterson received honorable mention.

Legion Club Raps Aurora

It didn't take long for the Wayne Legion team to get back on the winning road. Friday night the locals blanked Oakland, 2-0, to move their season mark to 2-1.

In what appeared to be a sluggish contest, Wayne mustered its only runs off three hits in the third frame.

Center fielder Ron Janke started out with a double before Reb Mitchell struck out. Shortstop Randy Nelson then ripped a single to push across Wayne's first run. He then stole second.

After the team's second out, third baseman Roger Seul connected for the second double and the final run.

Wayne took its first loss Thursday when it dropped first-round competition of the Chuck Ellis Baseball tournament to Sioux Falls, 11-1.

Wednesday the locals got by a strong Aurora team, 6-4, with the help of a good snag by left fielder Randy Workman in the bottom of the seventh.

Workman made a shoestring catch after Aurora's catcher slapped one to left field. That play stopped a possible go ahead scoring threat by the home team when Aurora had the bases loaded.

Wayne started out the game with two runs in the first on center fielder Kerry Jech's one of four RBIs. Jech slammed a single with first baseman Doug Sturm and second sacker Kim Baker on first and second to give the locals a 2-1 lead after the first.

The area team stepped up its lead with two more runs in the fifth on shortstop Charlie Roland's single. But Aurora came back with one run to make it 4-2.

It was in the sixth inning that Jech came across again for the locals with two more RBIs off a single before Aurora closed out the game with two runs in the seventh.

Today (Monday) the Legion faces Wisner at home in the first game of the Ralph Bishop League.

Midgets Start Season With 2 12-Run Wins

The Wayne Midget team upped their record to 2-0 Friday night when the locals hit Oakland, 12-2.

Left fielder Marty Hansen and third baseman Earle Overin were team leaders, collecting three RBIs each during the six-inning contest. Hansen brought in two men on a single in the third and collected another RBI in the sixth via a single.

Overin matched that number with a double in the first frame—scoring two men—and a sacrifice in the fourth for another run batted in.

Wayne started out with three runs in the first and second innings before adding two in the third, fourth and sixth.

Pitcher Paul Mallette displayed good hitting at the plate, going two for two while scoring two. Mallette had a double and a single in the second and third frames respectively before being relieved by Dave Hix in the fourth.

As far as the strong bats go, center fielder Gordon Cook had the biggest night when he slammed a triple in the beginning of the fourth. Earlier he started the game with a single, good for an RBI.

During the team's road trip to Aurora and St. Paul, the locals collected their initial win of the season with a 12-0 shutout over Aurora. The game with St. Paul was rained out.

Overin started the pitching duties, collecting nine strikeouts in the first four innings of the five-frame match. The only hit Overin gave up was a single in the second inning. Altogether, Overin and substitute Mallette gave up just two hits.

Again the game was another case of Wayne batting power. The locals fired across 12 runs on eight hits—including seven singles and a double. Hansen went three for three at the plate—all singles—to lead the team, while shortstop Ritch Workman had a pair of singles while twice at bat.

Wayne's biggest output came in the fourth inning when the visitors rapped out seven runs on four hits.

Today (Monday) Wisner will visit the Wayne team starting at 6:30 p.m.

Tonight (Monday) Allen travels to Jackson in the third game of the Northeast Nebraska softball league.

Wakefield, Wayne Teams Out of Tourney

Both area legion teams—Wayne and Wakefield—were knocked out of the first round of the Chuck Ellis Memorial Baseball Tournament at Wakefield last week.

Wakefield bowed out of the rain-delayed contest Wednesday night when a strong Norfolk club nipped the clan, 7-6. Sioux Falls ended Wayne's hopes Thursday night with a crushing 11-1, rout.

As of Saturday, Columbus—which beat West Point, 4-1—was to take on Sioux Falls Sunday in the early game, followed by the final match, pitting the winner against Remsen St. Mary's.

Wayne, not scheduled to play in the meet due to game conflicts in St. Paul and Aurora, found the gate open Thursday night when Sioux City West—invited to take Wayne's place—could not make it. As a result, the locals go into the tourney after the rainy Memorial Day weekend postponed the action.

Wakefield started out the eight-team meet, dropping its match to Norfolk. The area team had a 4-4 lead in the sixth before Norfolk ripped off three runs to advance in the meet.

Thursday night Sioux Falls hurler Scott DeGeest and his squad proved too much for the locals as DeGeest hurled a no-hitter while teammate Jeff Schirp pounded a three-run homer. Wayne gathered its sole run when Gordie Cook stole home in the second frame.

Wayne County Fair Gets Cash From Ak-Sar-Ben

The Wayne County Fair has received $1,000 from Ak-Sar-Ben, according to president Leiland Herman and secretary Marilyn Koch, both of Wayne.

Half the money represents Ak-Sar-Ben's second contribution to a four-year project for construction of a new grandstand on the fairgrounds. The balance is being used for extensive repair on livestock buildings, relocation of outside exhibit area, re-roofing of the chicken house and restructuring of the septic tank.

The County Fair Improvement Program, now in its 20th year, is one of a series of projects of financial assistance to county fairs—made possible by funds from Ak-Sar-Ben's annual race meeting, according to Richard Becker, general manager of Ak-Sar-Ben.

The popular county fair program follows the "dollar-matching" principle, in that Ak-Sar-Ben agrees to match dollars with each county fair which will match its contribution with an equal amount.

This year Ak-Sar-Ben has offered two programs to the county fairs. The first is the $500 matching grant for new construction; the second is the $500 "spruce-up" grant for repairs, painting, landscaping, cement work, roofing and beautification.

Thus, Ak-Sar-Ben has offered a maximum of $1,000 to each county fair in Nebraska on a matching basis. Ak-Sar-Ben sets aside $90,000 for this improvement program, plus approximately $30,000 annually for county fair premiums for direct payments to exhibitors by Ak-Sar-Ben.

The first 19-year period of the program has seen almost $3 million spent to benefit the fairs. All state admission taxes at the races are also earmarked each year for county fairs.
