City to Spend $104,800 for Large Electrical Substation

Wayne is one step closer to hooking up its electrical system with Wayne County Public Power District (WCPPD) and Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD).
The council voted 8-0 to hire an electrical contracting company from Ralston to build a substation and do other work necessary before the city can tie its lines into WCPPD's line south of Wayne so power can be purchased from NPPD.
Cost of the work $104,800.
The contract calls for the project to be done in 300 days, but a company representative said it may be finished by Dec 1.

Council has been discussing interconnecting the city's power system with NPPD for several months as a method of avoiding having to curtail or shut off electrical power to the city in case of future fuel shortages or an emergency.
Last winter local power plant officials became worried about being able to continue producing power because the company supplying the plant with fuel cut back the amount it would supply. Although no power cutbacks were necessary, city officials began looking for ways to avoid similar problems in case the current fuel shortage continues or worsens.

Cost of connecting the city lines with NPPD's, however, will run much higher than $104,800.
The city already has ordered a transformer, which will cost about $25,000, and the city will have to build about two and a half miles of transmission line at a cost between $10,000 and $13,000 a mile.
Yet to be completed is an interim agreement stipulating when the city will purchase power from NPPD, how much it will pay for it and how long the contract will run.

The city attorney was scheduled to meet with NPPD officials to discuss the contract Wednesday.
No purchase of property would be necessary to build the substation, according to Bill Mellor, line chief. He said the equipment could be installed just west of the present substation at the municipal power plant.
Besides providing the city with power in case fuel would not be available, the interim also would enable the city to distribute electricity in case an explosion or tornado put the power plant out of operation, city power officials note.

Invisible 'Swatter' Awaits Town's Pesky Mosquitoes

Mosquitoes apparently won't be much of a problem in Wayne this summer, considering the council agreed to purchase a new machine to help control the pesky insects.
Council voted 5-3 to spend about $2,500 on a machine to replace the fogging device in use past years but now out of commission.

The new machine won't be nearly as noticeable as the old one, however, and may do the job better, according to reports.
It will spray an almost invisible mixture into the air rather than the thick smoke which poured from the fogger in past summers.
The vote to purchase the machine took a little prod from the mayor, however.
Council first tied 4-4 on the vote to buy it.
But after a gentle reprimand from mayor Kent Hall, who noted the machine would be ~~invisible~~ invisible to our citizens but also for their health," councilman Ivan Beeks changed his mind and agreed to go ahead with purchase.
Voting against purchase were Frank Prather, Harvey Brasch and Vernon Russell.
Russell and Prather argued that the poison used to kill the mosquitoes has a harmful effect on the city's wildlife. Russell also said there are other ways to control the insects, such as making sure water doesn't stand in ditches.
Earlier, council took steps which may result in purchasing about 12 and a half acres of land near the new hospital site for use as a park.
Councilmen gave the city atorney authority to gather information for the council before deciding whether to participate in a federal state city plan for purchasing the land.
The city has received state approval for purchasing the land for an approximate $38,000.

If federal approval is given and the city agrees to participate, the three governmental units would share in the purchase price. The city would pay 25 per cent, state 25 per cent and federal government 50 per cent.
The city currently has an option to purchase the land.
Council also voted 8-0 to deny a request from Andy Manes to permit him to sell beer on Sundays. Manes, who runs Andy's Pizzeria House, said he closes on Mondays during the summer and wants to sell beer on Sundays to make up for it.
Current city ordinance prohibits taverns from selling beer on Sunday.
In other action the council ~~voted 8-0 to purchase liability insurance covering councilmen and city employees. The coverage, from Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency in Wayne, will cost $963 a year.~~
~~Agreed to meet with the Wayne Carroll school board to discuss finding a way city police can enforce traffic regulations.~~

MILES PEARSON
Honor Student At Wakefield Road Victim

A Wakefield youth who planed on studying the night was buried Tuesday afternoon, the victim of a Sunday night automobile wreck.
Dead is Miles C. Pearson, a spring graduate at Wakefield High School.
Pearson, 18, was the driver of an automobile which collided with another car about five miles north of Lyons at the junction of Highways 77 and 51, according to the state patrol.
Riding with him in the car was Jack Boss, 17, of Allen, who suffered face and arm cuts.
Pearson was killed when his car collided with one driven by Gerald Denker, 29, of Fremont, officials said.

Five Youths To Attend Halsey Camp

Five young people from Wayne will attend the week long German Summer Camp at Halsey in August.
They are Diana Atkins, Susan Jacobmeier, Rhonda Kriesche, Phil Koerber and Mike Schmidt.
Students of German teacher Mrs. Inge Atkins at Wayne High School, they are among high school juniors and seniors from across the state who will attend the camp, scheduled for Aug. 12-19.
The youths will take part in a variety of activities, including folk dancing, preparing a German newsletter and passing through customs. They also will take part in hiking, canoeing, swimming, singing, acting in skits, crafts and arts.
Purpose of the camp is to further the foreign language education of the students.
Helping sponsor the camp are the state 4-H organization, state chapter of the American Association of Teachers of German, state department of education and the Omaha public school system.

New Priest Begins Duties At Dixon

The Rev. Thomas J. Adams of West Point begins serving St. Anne's Catholic Church at Dixon today (Thursday).
He also will serve Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Waterbury and will be co-chaplain of the Wayne State College Newman Club with the Rev. Paul J. Begley of Wayne.
Father Adams replaces the Rev. Anthony M. Milone, who has been serving the Dixon church since October of 1968.

Waitin' to Ride

PLENTY OF area horsemen were ready to ride Sunday afternoon at Carroll's annual horse show. For many of them — 78 at least — the long wait in the blowing wind and hot sun had its rewards when they won trophies and ribbons during the day long event. For a list of the winners, turn to the sports page.

Local Student Among Best At NE Tech

A student from Wayne is among the 27 students on the President's Honor List for the spring quarter at Northeast Nebraska Technical College in Norfolk.
He is Robert Musack, a sophomore studying architectural drafting.
The 27 students have perfect 4.0 grade averages.
Students from Wayne, Wakefield, Dixon, Pilger and Winslow are among the 56 students listed to the Dean's Honor List for receiving grade averages of 3.5 or above.
They are David Baier, Wayne, Keith Boeckenhauer, Merlin Feit and Mark Meyer, all of Wakefield, Gaylord Strivers, Dixon, Stuart Stulthman, Roger Kuester and Glenda Hunke, all of Pilger, and Donald Holtgrew and Hall Wade, both of Winslow.
Another Wayne County student, LeRoy Janssen of Carroll, was one of 51 students who made the scholastic honors list for the second semester at Northeast Tech. The students had grade averages of 3.5 or better during the grading period.

ASC Staff Won't Be Reduced

No employees in the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office will lose their jobs because of trimming federal spending.
Ray Butts, executive director of the county office, said his office will not lose any employees because of the federal government's abandoning its Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP).
At least 84 ASCS employees in the state will lose their jobs by June 29 because REAP has been dropped. Associated Press reported recently.
"We were already understaffed," said Butts, "so we got authorization to keep what employees we have."
Wayne State College will receive $194,044 in federal funds to help 280 needy students go to college this fall, reports Congressman Charles Thone.
There is a ~~aid~~ aid exceptionally needy students will be given from $200 to $1,500 for the coming school year by the U.S. Office of Education.
The grant to Wayne State is part of $877,844 in federal funds which will go to 13 colleges and schools in Nebraska's first congressional district. The funds will be used to help 1,262 needy students attend college.
Also receiving funds will be Northeast Nebraska Technical Community College at Norfolk. It will receive $7,286 to help 11 needy students.
Butts, who noted the ASCS office in Dixon County was cut by one employee last week, said he was not sure what would happen in the future.
He currently has three program assistants Irma Ulecht, Lillian Granquist and Lynn Kramer.
The 36 year old federal program offered farmers annual payments to cover part of the costs of anti pollution and conservation measures. It fell victim to the Nixon administration's economy cutbacks.
Eighty four employees represent nearly 18 per cent of the 480 person work in Nebraska, a state ASCS official said.

Rural Carroll Woman Is Top 'Budget Buster'

Mrs. Gene Rethwisch of rural Carroll is thinking about using some of her "Budget Buster" winnings to buy an adding machine.
Those who competed against her in The Wayne Herald contest would probably be among the first to say she has little need of such a contraption.
Mrs. Rethwisch topped all other contestants in the news paper promotion, coming closest to the maximum $10,005 in savings which could be realized by comparing prices in all advertisements in the June 7th issue of the newspaper.
As a result, she received $100 from the newspaper to spend as she wishes in any firms or businesses which placed ads in that issue.
The contest, one of the most successful promotions sponsored by the newspaper, attracted 77 entries from budget-conscious readers in all area towns and a few out-of-the-area.
Readers in Allen, Carroll, Concord, Dixon, Emerson, Hoskins, Laurel, Pilger, Wakefield, Wayne and Winslow entered the contest. Entries also were received from readers in Crete, Omaha and Rosalia.
Mrs. Rethwisch said she spent only about two hours one afternoon going over all the advertisements in the June 7 paper looking for savings from a few pennies to several dollars and more.
Did she think her entry, which was only a few dollars away

FATHER THOMAS ADAMS

Father Milone will be going to Omaha to serve the St. Bernadette Parish.
A native of Omaha, Father Adams was ordained in 1964 at St. Cecilia's Cathedral in Omaha and comes from St. Mary's Church in West Point where he has been associate pastor. He has also served St. Isidore's at Columbus and St. Thomas More at Omaha.

State Officials Urge Forming SLAP Groups

State officials Tuesday night encouraged residents from Wayne and Dixon Counties to set up groups to help combat highway accidents.
The state officials met with 10 area persons at a meeting in Wakefield to encourage them to organize Selective Localized Accident Prevention (SLAP) committees. Similar committees

Okay, Ladies, Give Us Your Favorite Recipes

Sharpen your pencils, ladies, and don your thinking caps, er, maybe that should be chef hats.
The Wayne Herald is seeking recipes for the annual farmer-leader supplement to come out in late July. We invite all area women to get into the act with old family favorites, original concoctions, party specialties, kid favorites and others.
Young cooks, too, are welcome to contribute, and if dad has a specialty — outdoor barbecue variety or some other gourmet delight — we want it.
Deadline is July 13, so hunt up your recipe file and send your favorites to: Recipes, Wayne Herald, 114 Main, Wayne, Nebr. 68787. Be sure to include your name and address.

Woman Picked To Serve Hoskins Church

One of only a few Methodist women ministers in Nebraska began serving the Hoskins United Methodist Church this month.
The Rev. Carol Roeltmer, 26, has been appointed to the staff of the Norfolk United Methodist Parish, which includes the Hoskins church and First United Methodist and Westridge United Methodist Church in Norfolk.
Miss Roeltmer replaces Glenn Watt, who resigned from the ministry several months ago. After July 1 she will be making her home in Norfolk.
Miss Roeltmer, a native of Omaha, attended North High School in Omaha and received a degree in secondary education from the University of Nebraska.

1st Birthday Bucks Winner

WINNER in Wayne's first Birthday Bucks drawing last week was Leland Thompson of rural Wayne, whose birthday was closest to the one announced in stores Thursday night. Since his birthday did not fall on the exact date drawn at random, he won $50 in Birthday Bucks, good as cash in stores and firms participating in the weekly drawing. If his birthday had been on the date drawn, he would have won $300 in Birthday Bucks. Presenting him with his winnings Tuesday was Bob Fleming, right, who runs the Black Knight Lounge where Thompson was when the date was announced. The $300 prize and $50 consolation prize are offered each Thursday night at 8:15 p.m.

MEMBERS OF THE PLEASANT VALLEY CLUB, who attended the 60th anniversary supper Sunday evening are (seated from left) Mrs. Albert Damme, Mrs. Minnie Heikes, Mrs. Mae Young, Mrs. Russel Preston, Mrs. Walter Baier, Mrs. Charles Nichols, Mrs. Don Pederson, (standing

Pleasant Valley Meets for 60 Years

Sunday evening the 19 members of Pleasant Valley and their families and guests met for a smorgasbord at Les' Steak House to mark the 60th anniversary of the organization. Thirty-seven were present for the occasion.

Mrs. Mae Young registered guests and corsages made by Mrs. Russel Preston, were presented to all the women. Mrs. Preston also served as emcee for the program and read a humorous club poem.

Mrs. Minnie Heikes read the club's history and Mrs. Erwin Filer reported on former members. Gifts were presented by Mrs. Albert Damme, president, to Mrs. Mae Young, Mrs. Minnie Heikes and Mrs. Russel Preston, long time members.

Mrs. Damme, Mrs. Earl Bennett and Mrs. Erwin Hagemann decorated the tables and baked the cake which was decorated in pink and white, club colors. The cake was cut by Mrs. Damme.

Mrs. Don Pederson and Mrs. Ivan Fries were in charge of entertainment. Prizes at pitch were won by Mrs. Hazel Whitely, Mrs. Harvey Beck, Erwin Filer, Charles Nichols and Russel Preston.

Out of town guests included Hazel Wiltse of LaVerne, Calif. and Evelyn Walmborg of San Luis Obispo Calif.

In 1913, a group of 14 women met informally in various homes to sew carpet rags and mend

The group dissolved after about 1908, but reorganized formally in June of 1913 as the Pleasant Valley Club. Charter members were Eva Ash, Fannie Miner, Jane Morgan and Effie Cunningham. Mae Lower joined the following month.

Program books were not printed the first two years but a traveling library was set up the second year. For a couple of years the club programs were connected with the extension services.

One year the group received second prize with a Fourth of July float. "Back to the Girl I Left Behind," Mrs. Lloyd Gildersleeve had portrayed the bride, Mrs. Minnie Heikes, the bridegroom; Esther Thompson, the preacher; Everett Heikes, the page boy.

For many years an annual all day meeting was held in the larger homes each January. Social gatherings are held regularly now at the Wayne Woman's Club rooms and an annual picnic which was once held each August, as been changed to June.

Benshoof Family Reunion Is Held Early Reservations Advised

Forty four members of the Benshoof family were present for the reunion dinner held Sunday at the Winside auditorium.

Relatives attended from Torrington and Jay, Wyo.; Chamberlain and Harrold, S.D.; Wymore, Laurel, Dixon, Norfolk, Carroll, Osmond, Lincoln, Winside and Wayne. Earl Mason of Laurel, 1973 president, conducted the business meeting.

Officers chosen for 1974 are Mrs. George Voss of Winside, president; Wayne Hahn of Torrington, Wyo., vice president; and Mrs. Kermit Benshoof of Carroll, secretary/treasurer.

Youngest present was Pammy Mason daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mason of Dixon, and oldest there was Mrs. Maude Auker of Wayne. The birthday song honored Wayne Hahn and wedding anniversary greetings were extended to Mr. and Mrs. William Mason of Laurel.

Former Wayne Prep High School graduates who are planning to attend the first all school reunion scheduled for July 20-21 in Wayne are advised to contact Mrs. Paul Offe of Wayne, registration chairman, as soon as possible.

Early reservations are advised because of limited lodging accommodations available. There is a possibility that one of the college dormitories can be used for alumni and their families who cannot find motels and who do not have families or friends to stay with in the area.

About 300 former students and faculty members have responded to the letters which have been sent out to announce the two-day reunion.

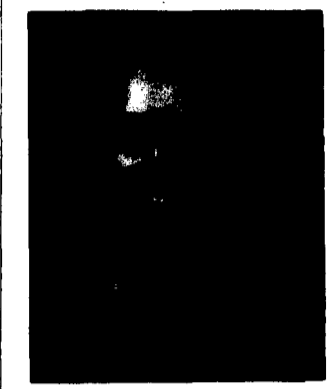

General chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Kent Hall, Mrs. Ray Murray is contacting faculty members and individual class members have been appointed to reach students.

Mrs. Paul Offe has charge of pre registration and will be at the registration booth to be located at the WSC administration hallway Friday afternoon and all day Saturday.

Joe Nuss, assisted by Bill Corbit, is making arrangements for a Friday night pork barbecue at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

A chairman will be appointed later for the tours to be conducted Saturday. Mrs. Merle Beckner is in charge of the Saturday night banquet and Cletus Sharer is handling arrangements for the entertainment.

Stanley "Slack" Samuelson of Osceola, Ia. is donating his printing services for an information book to be distributed at the registration booth, and a memory book which will contain graduates' names, addresses and family statistics and possibly a picture coverage of the reunion. Orders for the memory book will be taken at the time of registration.

Johanson-Kamish Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Johanson of Wakefield announce the engagement of their daughter, Pam Johanson, to Steve Kamish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Kamish of Wayne.

Miss Johanson, a 1973 graduate of Wakefield High School, is employed in Minneapolis, Minn. Her fiancé, a 1971 graduate of Wayne High School, is employed in Minneapolis and will continue aeronautical schooling this fall.

An Aug. 18 wedding is planned at Evangelical Covenant Church in Wakefield.

Friends Call Sunday For Mrs. Good's 80th

Mrs. Vivian Good of Allen was honored Sunday afternoon with an open house reception at the Allen First Lutheran Church. The fête was in observance of Mrs. Good's 80th birthday June 13.

Mrs. Good's daughter, Mrs. Mirie Von Minden and her granddaughters, Mrs. Bob Russell and Lori Von Minden, presented a short program for the 60 guests who attended.

Grace Lutheran Church Scene of Goodrich-Lesch June Ceremony

In a 7 p.m. ceremony June 7 at Grace Lutheran Church Shirley Goodrich daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Roemholdt of Wayne, became the bride of Martin Lesch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lesch of Waterloo. Guests, registered by Cynthia Lesch of Waterloo and Peggy Banner, were ushered into the church by John Emery and Donald Rowell of Waterloo. The Rev. E. J. Bernthal officiated at the double ring rites. Beth Bergsang "Wedding Song" and "Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Trixie Jones of Carroll.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Sherry Kraemer of Concord and Shelley Goodrich. The bridegroom's attendants were Tim and Chris Lesch of Waterloo.

The bride chose a floor length dress of white whipped cream, trimmed in lace and fashioned with an empire bodice, square neckline and fared gathered skirt. She wore a white hat and carried pink roses, blue stephanotis and baby's breath.

Her attendants wore similarly styled dresses in blue and pink organza with short puffed sleeves and matching hats. They carried smaller versions of the bride's bouquet.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Roemholdt chose a blue knit dress. Mrs. Lesch wore a pink knit.

A reception for 200 guests was held at the church parlors following the ceremony. Gifts were arranged by Shari Campbell and Karen Holman of Omaha and Kathy Kerl of Columbus.

Patricia Steele of Omaha and Doris Meyer cut and served the cake and Mary Buskirk of Gretna and Deb Madden poured. Deb Kruse of Omaha and Mary Rowell of Waterloo served punch.

Waitresses were Elizabeth Lesch of Waterloo and Dawn Leonardo and Diane Gausden of Omaha.

The couple will be at home at 412 Davenport, No. 3, Omaha. The bride, a 1970 graduate of Wayne High School, is a senior at the University of Nebraska-Omaha, majoring in library science. The bridegroom, a 1968 graduate of Waterloo High School, graduated in 1972 from Wayne State College and will be teaching this fall at the Ralston Middle School. He is a member of the Army Reserve.

Hot And Windy

OVER 100 area riders, both young and old, turned out for the Carroll Saddle Club's 11th annual horse show Sunday. Despite blowing winds and hot temperatures, the youngsters were ready to ride. For Larry Hank of Carroll, left, the gusty winds meant one thing — hold on to your hat. Deb Davis, center, also from Carroll had to fight the winds trying to keep track of the entry blanks. Every time a gust would come up, papers started flying. On the right 14-year-old Terrie Schultz of Wisner had the right idea — sitting in the fall, shady grass to wait her turn. Two unidentified riders compete in the potato race and musical tire event.

Hoskins Riders 'Walk' Off With Ribbons, Trophies At Carroll Horse Show

Two Hoskins riders nearly rode away with the top honors in the open events at the Carroll Saddle Club's horse show Sunday.

Mark Fleer and Brian Frink picked up a total of six wins out of nine categories, with Fleer winning the majority — four.

If one of the two area youths didn't take first in the open events, the other would, leaving second or third place ribbons to the other.

In addition to Fleer's wins, he also finished with two seconds and a third. Fleer won the open

Brudigan Races To Two Wins

Gene Brudigan won the first heat in the modified division at Norfolk's Riviera Raceway Sunday night, then went on to capture the trophy dash.

The Hoskins driver finished the night with a second in the A feature.

Brother Harold Brudigan came in fourth in the B feature, while another Hoskins man, Gerald Bruggeman, won the B feature and was fifth in the second heat.

In the stock car category, Dennis Crippen of Wakefield drove to a third-place finish in the second heat and fourth in the A feature.

Friday night at Columbus Gene Brudigan won the B feature and took third in the first heat. Gerald Bruggeman came in second in that race before placing third in the A feature. Harold Brudigan was fifth in the A feature.

four in line, innertube race, circular baton and rat race. Seconds came in the balloon and flag races, a third in the ribbon race.

Frink, on the other hand, captured open wins in the balloon and ribbon races before taking second in the innertube race. He also had thirds in four in line and flag race.

About 150 riders from North-east Nebraska and Iowa participated in the 11th annual event.

Merlin Jenkins of Carroll was the announcer while Harold Sorenson of Onawa, Ia., served as the judge.

In the two junior events, plenty of Iowa visitors won their share of ribbons along with those competing in the senior category.

In the junior events (12 and under), Skip Deck, another Hoskins rider, claimed two wins — potato and hat races. In the class for riders 14 and under, Carroll's Kevin Davis and Dixon's Dave Cunningham were the only area winners. Cunningham took first in the run-ride lead event and Davis won the hat race.

Hoskins riders again were strong in the senior events, taking four of eight, with Robin Fleer taking the hat race and pole bending contests. Frink won the run-ride lead event and Rodger Langenberg captured the western reining category.

Newcastle Nips Wayne, 2-1, in Pitching Duel

The duel of two title pitchers ended in a draw Sunday night. Wayne town team's Paul Eddie whiffed 15 Newcastle batters, the same as Jon Ege pitched for Newcastle.

But the draw ended there. Ege, who pitched for the 763 Wayne State baseball team, landed himself another win in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League with a 2-1 nipping of Wayne.

The winning run came on an error in the eighth by second baseman White when he couldn't get a hit to right field. Mike Ginn took the ball after it bounced off the fence and fired to catcher Dennis Paul, but Paul's attempt to tag New-castle's Peterson failed when the ball hit Wayne man dropped the ball.

Newcastle playing at home, got on the board in the third frame when right fielder Nelson made it to first on a walk and Wayne shortstop Randy Helgren picked up an error to allow the first score.

It wasn't until the top of the eighth that the locals were back in the game when Helgren redoubled himself for Wayne's only strain.

The shortstop connected for Wayne's only hit a single and advanced to second and third on steals before knocking the ball out of the Newcastle third baseman's glove and a second home.

At that point it looked like both teams might have to go into extra innings. Until, however, the home squad struck back in its half of the eighth.

Both Newcastle's scores resulted when two men walked to get on base.

Ege ended with a one-hitter compared to Eddie's three-hit performance.

But tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock it may take a lot more than a three hit pitching show to top league front runner Ponca Sunday night. Dakota City will come calling for an 8 p.m. matchup.

ART TOPICS

Printmaking an Art

There are two kinds of "original" art, the single one-of-a-kind piece, such as an oil painting, water-color, or drawing, and the multiple "original" which includes the lithograph, etching, and all works generally called "prints."

In printmaking, although a number of copies of the same picture are produced, they are nevertheless originals because each is made separately, by hand, and in limited quantity, by the artist.

There are three main processes used in printmaking: relief, intaglio, and lithography.

The best example of the relief process is the wood cut or wood-engraving. The method used is just like the one you used to make a linoleum cut in grammar school. A design is cut or carved into the surface of a wooden block; sometimes the background is cut away so that the picture itself is raised; sometimes the picture is incised into the surface. Next, ink is rolled onto the raised portions of wood and a piece of paper placed over it. The artist rubs the back of the paper, transferring the design, in reverse, onto the paper. Depending on how the wood was cut, the picture will be either black-on-white, or white-on-black.

Intaglio is the name given to the process when the design is cut into the surface of metal plate (usually copper, zinc, or steel); this produces a concave effect, like the reverse of a cameo. Seals and signet rings usually have intaglio designs, so that when they are stamped upon wax, the result will be an impression in relief.

In an etching, the metal plate is covered with a layer of wax. The artist draws with an etching needle through the wax, creating his designs in lines of exposed metal. The plate is then immersed in an acid bath; the acid attacks the exposed metal and eats it away. The wax is washed away, and ink rolled over the surface. The ink used is fairly stiff, and the metal plate is usually warmed to make it more workable. The surplus ink is wiped off, leaving residue only in the incised lines. When a paper is laid on the plate and very heavy pressure applied, the paper will pick up the ink and thus the print.

In lithography, the artist works on a surface of stone. He draws directly onto the stone with a greasy crayon, then covers the surface with a film of water. When the stone is inked for printing, the ink will adhere to the greasy design but not to the wet parts of the surface. These inked areas will transfer their image to the artist's paper as each lithograph is carefully "pulled" from the stone.

You may have noticed small pencilled numbers in the lower left hand corner of prints. If you see, for instance, the number "15/30," you are looking at number 15 of a total edition of 30 prints. Sometimes as few as 10 or 15 prints are pulled, though as many as three hundred fine proofs can be taken from one stone.

Once the edition has been completed, the picture is ground or scraped off the surface. Thus the rarity of the edition is guaranteed, and its value is enhanced.

Only in original printmaking is it possible to transfer faithfully the vividness of the drawing to the paper. This distinguishing trait of the original can never be achieved by any mass mechanical reproduction.

Sheryl Wittler June 2 Bride

The marriage of Sheryl Wittler to Dwane-Piere of Macy was solemnized June 2 in 2 p.m. rites at Redeemer Lutheran Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wittler of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Piere of Macy.

The Rev. S. K. deFreese officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Rodney Reeg sang "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Vernon Predoehl.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, appeared in an A-line silhouette gown of white organza, accented with pleated ruffles and Venice lace and styled with a high ruffled neckline, long fitted sleeves and chapel length train which extended from the skirt.

She carried a cascade of Wobin Aby roses, white daisies, baby's breath and ivy.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Daniel Jaeger and bridesmaids were Lynette Hauptman and Debbie Codling of Omaha. Their ruffled, floor-length dresses of white eyelet lace over apricot were made by the bride. Each attendant carried one Wobin Aby rose and one bud with baby's breath.

Terry Piere of Macy was best man and Richard Link and George Sappingfield, both of Omaha, were groomsmen. Ushers were Rodney Storm and Arlan Lienart of Walthill and Dave Wittler. The men wore gray and black tuxedos with black trousers and ruffled shirts.

Janey Link of Walthill was flower girl and candlelighters were Terry Novak and Doug Novak of South Sioux City. Ringbearer was Lance Corbit of Wayne.

Mrs. Wittler wore a powder blue jersey knit in floor-length and Mrs. Piere chose a mocha pink knit. Both had corsages of Wobin Aby roses and baby's breath.

About 350 guests, registered by Jackie Baumer of Walthill, attended the wedding and reception held at the church parlors following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Randal Novak of South Sioux City and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Link of Walthill served as hosts. Gifts were arranged by Mrs. Dale Black of Kearney.

Mrs. Joe Klima of Pilger and

Susan Klima of Lincoln cut and served the cake and Mrs. Paul John Fredrickson of Pender and Mrs. Jim Corbit poured. Punch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Greg Meyer of Walthill.

Waitresses were Mrs. Fredrick Mann, Mrs. Lowell Reth-wisch, Lila Magn and Joy Reth-wisch.

The couple took a wedding trip to the Rocky Mountains and are at home in Walthill where they will farm. The bride is a 1969 graduate of Wayne High School and the bridegroom is a 1969 graduate of Walthill High School. Both are students at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

David Borgs Observe Golden Anniversary

Guests were present from Sioux City, Ia.; Sacramento, Calif.; Wakefield, Allen, Emerson, Thurston, Pender, Lincoln, Bellwood, Wisner, Concord, Dixon, South Sioux City, Omaha and Norfolk to help Mr. and Mrs. David Borg of Wakefield observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon at the Wakefield Presbyterian Church.

The open house event, hosted by the couple's children, was attended by 125 guests. Borgs have two sons, Bertin Borg of Sioux City, Ia., and the Rev. Warren Borg of Omaha, and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Haffing of Somerville, N. J. There are nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Douglas Neiman of Sioux City and included Mrs. Dorsey Haines of Sacramento and Mrs.

Della Chittenden of Wisner who had been attendants at the wedding. Gifts were arranged by Mrs. Margaret Cisney of Wakefield.

The Rev. Warren Borg extended the welcome and gave the "Wedding Prayer," at the afternoon program. Solo numbers, "O Perfect Love" and "Bless This House," were sung by Tom Sherlock of Wakefield, accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Paulson of Wakefield.

Mrs. Verner Fischer of Wakefield cut and served the cake and coffee and punch were served by Mrs. Robert E. Anderson, Mrs. Ivar Carlson and Mrs. Lloyd Anderson, all of Wakefield. Members of the United Presbyterian Women's Ruth Circle assisted in the kitchen.

Borgs were married June 13, 1923, in Thurston, and have spent many years in Wakefield.

ASCS Offices Increasing Loan Fees

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced increases in fees charged by county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service for servicing of commodity loans to producers, cooperatives and others for cotton and for grains and similarly handled commodities.

The new fees are effective on all loans made beginning with the 1973 crop year, according to the Wayne County ASCS office. The increases are necessary to keep fees more nearly in line with the actual cost of processing commodity loans, officials said.

Collection rates have not changed in several years. USDA officials point out, while such county office costs for salaries and travel have steadily increased.

For grains and similarly handled commodities, fees for farm storage loans are increased from a flat charge of $8 per loan to (1) $10 per loan for quantities up to 2,000 bushels or hundredweight and (2) $10 per loan plus 1 cent per bushel or one cent per hundredweight for each bushel or hundredweight over 2,000 bushels or hundredweight, not to exceed $25 per loan. Fees for warehouse storage loans are increased from a flat charge of $4 per loan to a charge of $6 per loan with a single receipt plus $1 for each additional receipt.

Preston, Woehler Named Outstanding JCs for 1973

Dale Preston, last year's Wayne County Jaycee of the Year, won another award Saturday night — the Outstanding Jaycee of the Year honor for 1973.

The new president of the county organization was awarded a plaque during the 19th annual JC banquet at the Vet's Club in Wayne.

Former president Bill Woehler presented Preston the honor, noting his hard work in the past year as an integral part of the club.

About 30 people attended the dinner, including state JC vice president John Lemkuhl of Pen der and Mrs. Jan Kramer of Pierce, state Mrs. JC vice president.

This year's Outstanding Mrs. JC award went to Judy Woehler, recently elected for another term as head of the women's organization.

Two Wayne JCs, Bob Bartlett and Bob Woehler, were named the First Year JC of the Year and Second Year JC of the Year respectively.

Also receiving awards: Glenn Hood, Rich Kraemer, Jack Manske, Craig Tiedtke and Bartlett — Spoke awards.

Tiedtke Speak Up Bill Workman Sparkplug, and Ken Sitzman and Workman Exhausted Roosters.

Five JCs were presented Key awards for their outstanding committee work during the past year. Preston, Bob Woehler and John Rebersdorf won the Bronze Key while the Silver Key went to Hood.

Manske won the Gold Key, the highest honor for his work in organizing the Wayne Athletic Club to raise funds for Wayne High's new weightlifting machine.

Prior to the awards, Workman paid tribute to the various Wayne businesses and the local governmental departments for their contributions in helping the Wayne County JCs.

Mayor Kent Hall received a certificate of appreciation on behalf of the City of Wayne. Also receiving certificates were the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department, Chamber of Commerce, police department, The Wayne Herald, KTCH Radio, and the Wayne branch of the Youth Association for Retarded Children.

Wayne County's Young Farmer Rancher, Don Liedman of Carroll, received a plaque from the group for his participation in the state farmer rancher competition earlier this year. Liedman won first runner up honors in the state contest.

Two Wayne youths, Lori and Terry Lessmann, also collected a plaque honoring the brother and sister for their dual entries in the soapbox derby contest in Norfolk last year.

Deadline for Some Taxpayers Is Friday

If you are filing an estimated tax return in 1973, you must pay the second installment of tax due by Friday, says Richard Vinal, district director of Internal Revenue for Nebraska.

If you first met the requirement for filing an estimate after April 1, but before June 2, you are required to file on Form 1040 ES and pay at least one-third of the tax by June 15, he said. You should file declaration voucher two.

If your anticipated income during 1973 has changed, you may be required to amend your declaration, Vinal stated.

Deadline for Farmers Is June 25

Final day for feed grain program participants to report their set aside acres and planted crops to the county ASCS office is June 25.

Ray Butts, executive director of the Wayne County ASCS, reports that approximately 650 farms out of 1,090 farms have certified their acres to date.

Reporting of set aside and crop acreages and certifying that the farm is in compliance with the feed grain set aside program is an important step towards earning payments, according to Butts, who said that any farm not certified by the deadline will not receive payments and will not be eligible for CCC loans on feed grain crops.

It is the farm operator's responsibility to do the certifying, Butts said.

It is not necessary for the owner to come in if he does not operate the farm, according to Butts. The operator was furnished a photo copy of the farm when he signed up in the program last spring, and it will help speed up his certifying if he fills out the crops and acres on this photo copy and brings it with him when he certifies, he noted.

Producers who did not participate in the feed grain program have received cards to report their planted acreages. Butts urged all producers to return the cards promptly.

A farmer not returning the card loses base acreage history for the farm, the history can be very important for the farm in future years, said Butts.

June 11 Stan Stenwall, no age available, Winside, speeding, paid $11 fine and $8 costs.

June 12 Jimmie B. Hurlbert, 40, Lincoln, speeding, paid $11 fine and $8 costs.

Picture Editorial

Confusing . . . and dangerous

"Somebody is going to get killed at that intersection!" The words aren't ours. They were spoken by somebody else who uses the Seventh and Main intersection in Wayne almost every day. We do agree with those sentiments, however, and we have spoken editorially about the dangerous way the state has painted directional signals. If you can call them that and if you can see them — on the pavement. Many drivers, including those who use the intersection frequently, have little idea which lane they should be in when driving through it. If a driver believes the long, straight arrow, he ends up driving right down the middle of the two lanes, using up half the lane meant for those turning left; half the lane meant for those going straight or turning right. What is needed, and we are not the only ones who believe so and have said so, is overhead signs. State officials apparently do not agree. Maybe that's because they don't have to drive through the intersection very often.

OBSERVATIONS

A worthy project, Project Success

The governor of Nebraska issues many proclamations during his term in office. It is seldom, however, that he issues a proclamation which singles out one school system for recognition. Wayne and Carroll should feel proud that Gov. J. James Exon saw fit to give recognition to their schools Monday by declaring the day Project Success Day in Nebraska. In doing so, Gov. Exon emphasized what many people in these communities already realize: that the Wayne/Carroll school system has something going for it which deserves honoring. That something is Project Success, an educational program which aims at helping youngsters who would not be able to learn by conventional teaching methods because of learning disabilities. The project has its doubters, just as most other unconventional, innovative efforts do regardless of the area or profession where they are being tried. Not being directly involved in the field of education, we have to take the word of those who are as to the worth of this project. When they name it one of the top 25 federally funded programs in the nation — not to mention one of the top seven Title III programs — we assume they know what they are talking about. That's their business, to know what programs are getting the job done. Doubters and critics considered, we still wish to echo Gov. Exon in complimenting the Wayne/Carroll school system for its "concern about quality education." We agree with him when he says, "With such projects as Project Success, I believe that my hope will be realized and that Nebraska may well point the way for other states to follow in providing a classroom based model that is economical and effective."

WAY BACK WHEN

30 Years Ago

June 24, 1943. A meeting of northeast Nebraska editors is scheduled to be held in Wayne next Sunday afternoon. Wayne County Ration Board reports the addition of three new members to the price panel: Earl Jensen, William Coryell and A. L. Swan now bring the board total to nine. A Vultee basic army trainer was forced to land at Wayne municipal airport Sunday evening because of engine trouble. Aviation students of Wayne College detachment will be honor guests Saturday evening when the Chamber of Commerce sponsors another in a series of dances at the auditorium. The Wayne County Livestock Association with Herman Dinklage, chairman, was organized at the city hall Tuesday night.

25 Years Ago

June 17, 1948. Beckenhauer chapel this week completed the installation of new pews which replaced the chairs formerly used for services. Wayne County's share of the state gasoline tax money for May amounted to $4,694.60. Of this total, the county bridge fund received $986.84, the road district fund, $253.83, the county road fund, $3,453.94. For the second time in six months the William Fredricksons, two miles north of Wayne, have suffered loss by fire. Damage estimated at nearly $300 resulted to their home last Thursday when a kettle of tallow boiled over in the oven and caught fire. Wilham Byers, Wakefield, baritone, won second place in the men's division in the music festival solo vocal contest in Omaha Sunday. Jim Nielsen, Winside, left Wednesday for a six week's trip which will take him to his native land, Copenhagen, Denmark.

20 Years Ago

June 11, 1953. Rev. Robert Hupp, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church here since Nov. 2, 1950, has been transferred to Omaha. Day-long rains hit the Wayne area Sunday. Weather recorder Archie Wert reports 2.47 inches fell in Wayne. One person was injured and considerable property was badly damaged by wind storms at Randolph Sunday. Ray Larsen, Wayne, had a shipment of 83 head of choice quality butchers at Sioux City last week. The hogs weighed 244 pounds and brought $24.50 a hundred. Wayne's Church of Christ will be host today to the district convention of King's Daughters. Dr. Wilbur Sprain, professor of chemistry at Wayne State, will resign at the end of the summer term to take a position at San Jose State College, San Jose, Calif.

15 Years Ago

June 19, 1958. Wayne Boy Scouts this week began a mailbox beautification project in which they will try to repaint and stencil names on rural mailboxes on Wayne routes. Janice Olson, daughter of Mrs. Martha Olson, Wakefield, has been awarded the Ardath Conn scholarship in music for the 1958-59 second semester at WSTC. Two Wayne County 4-H members will attend the state conservation camp at Chadron Monday through June 27. They are Joanne Olson, Wakefield, and Jane Kant, Winside. Good neighbors harvested hay and cultivated corn for Irven Graves, hospitalized Carroll farmer, during the past week. Warren Ellis was elected Wayne Jaycee president at a meeting of the organization's directors Thursday night at Gene's Cafe.

10 Years Ago

June 12, 1963. Leon E. Wallwey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wallwey, Emerson, was graduated with "high distinction" Saturday from the University of Nebraska. He received a Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering degree. The Hoskins post office was burglarized sometime Sunday night and $7.45 was stolen. A new honorary fraternity in education, Kappa Delta Pi, was established at Wayne State Teachers College Saturday with 16 charter members initiated. Ralph M. Carhart, Wayne, was elected and installed as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of Nebraska, at its 106th annual communication on Wednesday, at the Pershing Municipal Auditorium at Lincoln. Stuart Bernthal, 15, Wayne, is one of four young men to win 1963 World Herald Carrier Scholarships. A tornado touched down late Sunday afternoon at the Bill Haskell farm, four miles north and two east of Laurel, doing extensive damage.

Capitol News —

Legislative quiet replaces five months of wrangling

LINCOLN. Quiet has returned to the legislative chamber where Nebraska's state senators spent five months wrangling over a wide variety of policy issues. The time has come to assess what happened during those five months. Well, the income tax rate was trimmed, for one thing. As one of their last acts, the legislators adopted a bill cutting two percentage points off the state's personal income tax rate, retroactively to Jan. 1. That means that when Nebraskans file their 1973 returns early next year they will have to pay 13 per cent of their federal income tax liability to the state instead of 15 per cent. If, for example, you owe Uncle Sam $1,000, the state is due $130, instead of $150. Wage earners will begin seeing the difference before long in the withholding on their paychecks. But they will have kicked in at the 15 per cent rate for about a half year, and most taxpayers can expect a fair sized refund after they've filed their returns. Gov. J. James Exon, who at first called the legislative rate cut "irresponsible" and "petty partisan politics," decided at the last minute to sign the bill. One reason was that he had successfully stayed off a legislative attempt to make significant changes in the state aid to schools program. The major school aid bill, sponsored by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, was passed with 35 supporting votes, but when two attempts were made on the last day of the session to override Exon's veto only 29 votes — one fewer than the minimum necessary to overturn the governor — were counted. The bill would have lowered property taxes and increased, starting next year, the sales and income tax levies. The governor and the legislators, however, did endorse a $20 million addition to the previous $35 million per year program. The extra money, presently scheduled only for the 1973-74 school year, will come from federal revenue sharing funds. Exon conceded when he announced he was signing the bill that it would be difficult to cut back from the new $55 million level and that there won't be as much revenue sharing cash available after this year. (That's because the state had 18 months' worth of revenue sharing to spend this one time only.) Warner said he would be back in 1974 with a rerun of his bill to have the state pay half of the local school operating expenses. The governor made another senator angry with his vetoes in the last days. Sen. Roland A. Luedtke of Lincoln, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said the governor "snuffed out the life blood of penal and correctional modernization" by applying line item vetoes to appropriations for reformatory type facilities in Lincoln and Omaha and an adult diagnostic and evaluation center at Lincoln. "The governor is fond of the word 'irresponsible' when he applies it to the Legislature," Luedtke said. "History will record that the governor's unnecessary 'meat ax' approach in his untimely line item veto of LB 256 will win the prize for the most irresponsible act of the 1973 legislative session." Luedtke, like Warner, said he would try again right off the bat in 1974 to get approval for the projects he says are necessary to achieve penal and correctional reform. Hopping through other major developments in this year's session: —An abortion bill called as restrictive as possible was adopted. It's certain to be challenged in the courts and is expected to go all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court, which had decided earlier that abortions during the first three months of pregnancy are legal. —On another matter of interest to women, the 1972 ratification of the equal rights amendment was rescinded after some of the most lively debates in years. —Capital punishment was returned to Nebraska's lawbooks. —A motion was passed accepting Hiram Scott College at Scottsbluff as a gift to the state. A bill to do the same thing had passed but fell to a veto. —Memorial Day was returned to May 30 and Veterans Day to Nov. 11. Both had been legislatively set on Mondays a few years back. —A bill for a constitutional amendment calling for a partisan legislature missed passage by a single vote. —Major fuel distributors were prohibited from discriminating against independent customers. —And the senators advanced to next May's primary election ballot a proposed constitutional amendment which would raise legislative salaries from $4,800 a year to $8,100.

GREAT SCOT!
ONLY IN AMERICA

With one notable exception, when you ask for "whisky" any place in the world you get "Scotch." In the United States, "whisky" is understood to mean "bourbon."

The word is derived from the Scottish Gaelic phrase "uisge beatha" meaning "water of life."

This difference in word meaning may change in the next 15 years, according to researchers at the Teacher's Scotch Information Center. Scotch, researchers say, is the best selling distilled spirit in the world but currently ranks third in total sales in the United States.

Sales projections, however, indicate that, by 1986, Scotch will be number one in America, too. With the growing popularity of Scotch in the United States, "whisky" may soon automatically mean "Scotch" here, making the word universal.

Now, a new kind of "whisky rebellion" may well be underway in the United States.

Veterans' Benefits Questions, Answers

Q What should I do if my Veterans Administration benefit check does not arrive on time?
A Two things. Wait long enough to be sure the mails have cleared. Then write to the VA regional office which has your claim file including your name if you're a veteran, or the deceased veteran's name, if it is a death claim, and your claim number. Never write to the Training Department, as this will only prolong the delay in receiving your check.

Q Several years ago I elected to receive Veterans Administration benefits under the new pension law because my income exceeded the $1,600 annual income limitation that would result in termination of benefits under the old pension law. Now that income limitations under the old law have been increased, can I go back to drawing pension under the old law?

A No. Once a pensioner has chosen benefits under the new law, he cannot go back to the old law.

Ready... Set... Go!

FORTY EIGHT YOUNGSTERS were enrolled in the bicycle safety school conducted by the Wayne police department last week. The three day school ended Wednesday morning with refreshments at the Rice Auditorium. The youngest rider was a 7-year-old girl, Patricia "Pat" Haily, who starts a group on a race. Haily noted that more adults disregard bicycle safety rules than children. He reminds parents that if they want their children to be safe riders they should set an example and abide by the rules themselves.

Survey to Ask Couples About Coming Births

A survey in this area next week will answer such questions as which way is the birth rate going, will it continue its recent downward course or will it reverse the trend.

Information on birth expectations will be collected from a sample of households in this area Monday through Friday.

Census Bureau interviewers will ask wives how many children they expect to have within the next five years. The responses will indicate the future growth and composition of the nation's population, data vital to planners both in government and private business.

Householders in the sample also will be asked about benefits from various government and private programs. Answers to these questions will be used to evaluate the effect of such income on the economy of the country.

The questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Census Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor.

Results of this monthly survey provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation. The April survey showed that employment, at 83.9 million seasonally adjusted, was little changed from March. Unemployment remained essentially unchanged at 5.0 per cent, but was substantially below the 5.8 per cent of April a year ago.

The households in this area taking part in the survey are among the 50,000 across the country scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all households.

All information about individual and families provided the Census Bureau is held confidential by law and can be published only in statistical totals.

DON C. SPITZE
WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

How Not to Become A Millionaire
I can recall when my father sold hogs for $5 cwt. back in the "Dirty Thirties." So anyone today with a lot full of market hogs selling in the $38 range looks like he is taking a short cut to becoming a millionaire. But is he?

Larry Bitney, extension economist, did some pencil pushing the other day and came up with these figures. When corn was worth $1.10 per bushel and soybean meal was selling at $100 per ton, it cost $17.55 per hundred for feed costs and $9.60 for non-feed costs for a total of $27.15 per hundred weight to raise a hog.

Sounds pretty good until you change the corn to $2 per bushel and the soybean oil meal to $350 per ton. This ups the cost of feeding a pig to $26.25, plus the same non feed costs of $9.60 per cwt., leaving a whopping $35.85 total cost per hundred weight.

Although the above figures will vary from farm to farm, they show that hog prices aren't out of line with cost of production, and raising hogs that sell at today's $38 per cwt. is not a short cut to becoming a millionaire. Similar situations apply to feeding other classes of livestock as well.

County extension service has done to be of greater assistance to farmers in this county is to install a WATS telephone line to the university at Lincoln. This enables us to make unlimited telephone calls to the University, putting us in direct communication with the hundreds of specialists. This telephone service has already been used to contact swine nutritionist, marketing specialist and agronomy researchers. It is in addition to a radio network that keeps us in contact with the specialists at the Northeast Station.

Another service available to farmers from the extension office is the Great Plains Cattle Feeding Handbook. Used as a reference book, it covers a whole list of information that every up to date cattle feeder should have. So far we have 20 fact sheets, and we expect at least 40 more before the year is up.

This information is excellent reference material when those tough problems come up. The book is a 105 page research effort, and once you get on the mailing list you will be kept up to date when the material becomes available. And it is all free.

Cutting Feed Costs
It's pretty obvious that the place to make big cuts in swine costs is in the feeding end.

A University of Nebraska swine nutritionist says that up to 25 per cent of the total protein of the swine feeding ration can be good quality ground alfalfa hay and up to 20 per cent of the corn may be substituted for cheaper oats. (This can be up to 35 per cent if no alfalfa is fed). This will lessen gain somewhat, but the reduction in feeding costs should more than offset this. In general I'm referring to hogs that weigh 100 pounds or more.

Lower Elkhorn NRD Schedules Budget Hearing
A public hearing on a proposed one mill levy for the 13 county Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District will be held June 28.

The hearing will be at 8:30 p.m. at the district offices on Highway 81 south of Norfolk.

The one mill levy will finance the district's land and water assistance program, conservation construction and various other land and water conservation measures.

Major items in the budget are construction, personnel, operations and maintenance.

Eighty per cent of the proposed levy is allocated for use in the district's land and water assistance program, land purchase, rights of way and construction on public projects.

The one mill levy is the maximum levy allowed by law for a natural resources district.

Name of the Game
"The twentieth century is here, and management is the name of the game." This is a quote I read in a recent newsletter from the Omaha National Bank. No truer words were ever spoken.

In these days of inflation, shortages and all the other problems farmers have always had to contend with, management is going to be even more important.

Farmers Asked to Report Fuel Shortages, Practice Conservation in Fields
To help assure that farmers don't run short of fuel this season, the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is asking farmers to...

USDA has been working with the Departments of Treasury and the Interior to encourage farm fuel conservation practices. Farmers can conserve fuel use by keeping tractors tuned and using minimum tillage practices, officials note.

USDA officials also urged farmers not to buy more fuel than they need in the near future. Officials stressed that equitable distribution is necessary if all farmers are to have enough fuel.

the first big payoff comes at farrowing.

The 114-day gestation period is as critical for you as it is for the sow. While pigs develop, potential for eventual profit is also developing.

Hubbard's Skip-A-Day sow feeding program can provide maximum opportunity for larger, healthier litters, whether you self-feed sows using Lean-Cut® Pork Supplement or hand-feed Hubbard Sow Cubes.

In recent Hubbard Research tests on over 300 litters, pigs were 3 to 4 pounds heavier when weaned at four weeks.

State Fair's Auction To Disappear
The traditional premium auction will disappear entirely from the State Fair 4-H livestock scene this year.

A new sealed bid method is being used to provide cash premiums for champions in the 1973 Nebraska State Fair 4-H beef show on Sept. 23, according to Dave Williams, University of Nebraska Lincoln extension 4-H livestock specialist.

Under the new program, participating business firms bid for

NE Station to Spotlight Weed Control Research
Herbicide, weather and cultural practice interactions will be featured during a twilight weed control research tour at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station near Concord on June 21 at 4 p.m.

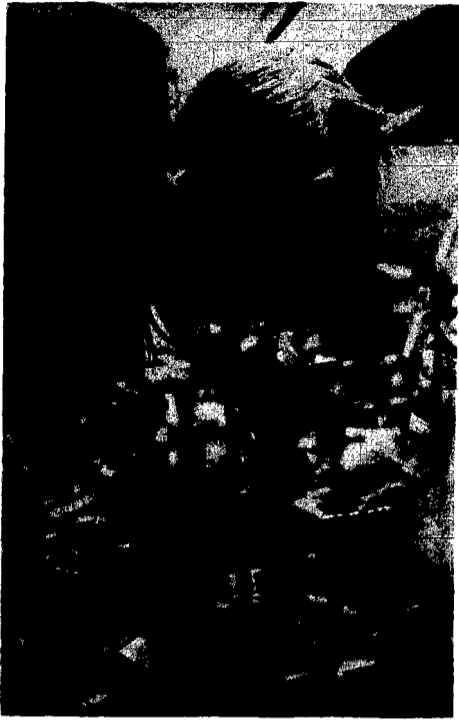

Agronomist Russell Moomaw notes that the tour may be of special interest this year because changing cultural practices and dry surface soil conditions in Northeast Nebraska have influenced corn herbicides this year.

One tour stop will feature corn herbicide performance on two different soil preparation methods.

Top Campers

TWO AREA 4-H members, Kathy Gustafson of Wakefield and Lyle George of Dixon, were selected as the top campers during Thursday and Friday's Plant Science Camp at the Northeast Station near Concord. The area youths received trophies from the Ciba-Giegi Chemical Co. for their performances during the two-day gathering.

the grand and reserve champion steers, market heifers and breed champions. Exhibitors of these animals will be given cash premiums from the winning bidders when they receive their ribbon in the showing.

At the show's conclusion, all animals that sell will be sold directly to packer buyers on the basis of carcass merit and weight, doing away completely with the auction system. The traditional premium auction of individual champions was replaced last year with a group method of auctioning and a cash premium incentive program designed to place more equal emphasis on both live animal excellence and carcass merit.

Beef Field Day

MORE THAN 250 AREA FARMERS and feeders gathered at the Northeast Station's annual Beef Field Day Thursday to view and learn about some of the new techniques in feeding being researched. Feeders from South Dakota and Iowa also took in the day despite the warm temperatures. For some, a fence provided the needed back rest during the talks, but a younger pair, Gary and Tom Jackson of Laurel, roamed through the feed bunker area.

Pig's feet just not made for confinement, specialist says

A pig's feet just aren't made for confinement, according to Bob Fritschen, swine specialist, at the Northeast Station near Concord. Fritschen told those attending the National Feed Ingredients Association Swine Confinement Seminar at Des Moines that since the pig's evolutionary development occurred on soil, he may be less adaptable to other surfaces.

He pointed out that leg problems also may be caused by nutritional deficiencies which seldom cause feet or claw problems. Few people, when considering lameness in swine, consider claw injuries as the cause," Fritschen said. Unpublished studies from the Northeast Station show that slats made of various materials cause considerable injury.

Other studies show that the greater degree of injury to the bottom of the foot, the greater abnormality of the legs, he said. The size of the claws also influences the extent of injury. Since the claws of pigs reared on 25 per cent slatted floors are significantly larger than those reared on 100 per cent slats it suggests less wear and tear on the claws on the lesser number of slats. "Certainly the difference in claw size has an influence upon how the animal walks or stands," Fritschen said.

He added that the disproportionate claw size contributes to the overall problem by concentrate a greater degree of injury to the outside claw and by causing the pig to turn its leg out as it walks.

There are many reasons for feet and leg problems. Nutrition, genetics, disease and management appear to contribute fundamentally, he said.

Gardening Tips

Strawberries Strawberries should be considered by more Nebraskans as a home fruit crop. Easier to grow than most fruit, they also bear fruit earlier than most other home fruit crops.

Success with strawberries depends on careful attention to cultural practices. Small, well-cared for plantings will usually produce more fruit per plant than larger plantings which receive minimal care. One can expect almost a full quart of berries per plant if good cultural practices are followed.

A good bulletin available from Kansas State University, C-401 "Growing Strawberries," contains information on cultural practices.

Alfalfa Value Varies According to Its Use

What is the value of alfalfa hay today? Probably $12 to $14 per ton standing in the field or $20 per ton harvested at the field.

But is it really, asks Don Kubik, dairy specialist at the Northeast Station near Concord. With the price of corn and soybean oil meal today, Kubik suggests that dairymen look at how they might figure the value of alfalfa when fed correctly to dairy cattle.

To establish the value of alfalfa hay a dairyman must first establish the value of some of the other primary ration ingredients today. Listed in the table below are the costs and values of these ingredients on the basis of the cash value of corn and soybean oil meal they will replace. The table also shows how much more each of these ingredients is worth in relation to what they are bringing at current market prices.

If a dairymen feels he must feed corn and soybean oil meal as his grain ration the value of alfalfa hay would be $106 per ton, according to Kubik. "If however," Kubik says, "a dairymen will feed corn and urea, the value of alfalfa hay is $38 per ton." Urea has been proven by research to give satisfactory results when fed correctly to dairy cows, he notes.

"If a dairymen adjusts his ration and buys the most economically priced feed stuffs, which today would be barley, oats and urea, the value of alfalfa is $29 per ton," Kubik concludes.

These figures are based on prices which are changing very rapidly, Kubik explains. When alfalfa is used in the dairy ration it appears to be a good buy for 1973, and as always, alfalfa hay is an excellent dairy cow feed.

4-H Youths Get Ready For Camp

About 17 area 4-H youths are registered for the Northeast Station's annual foods project camp today (Thursday) and Friday.

The two day project will include instruction in such things as barbecued meats, nutrition, time schedules in cooking, table manners and microwave ovens.

The group also will participate in food demonstrations and sessions on blending, fondue cooking, careers and spending the food dollar.

Joycelyn Smith, area home extension agent in charge of the affair, said any 4-H member who has completed the better breakfasts 4-H project may attend camp.

Guest speakers will include Dr. Willie Ford, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, who will talk on food and nutrition, and Dr. John Orr, state 4-H leader, who will talk on recreation and food demonstrations. Assisting the instructors will be Pam Heller, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln student from Wisner.

The program will start with a 2 p.m. registration period and will continue until 3 p.m. Friday.
